

Business Directory.
Wilkison & Reeve,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law,
 Solicitors, Conveyancers, &c. Nap-eanee, Ontario.
OFFICE—South west Corner of Dundas
 and Bay Streets.
W. A. WILKISON, W. A. REEVE, M.A.
 County Court Attorneys.

WILLIAMS & MORDEN
ATTORNEY at Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notary Public,
 Conveyancers, &c. Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, A. L. MORDEN.

DAVY & MCKENZIE,
SOLICITORS in Chancery and Insolvency, Attorneys at Law.
 Warren's Block, East Street, Napanee,
 next door to the 'Express' Office.
R. C. DAVY, F. MCKENZIE, 19th Barrister. Solicitor.

MONEY TO LEND,
 ON ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
 Apply to
Messrs. WILLIAMS & MORDEN.
 Solicitors, &c.
 Napanee, Ont.

D. H. PRESTON, LL. B.,
BARRISTER and Attorney at Law,
 Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer,
 &c.
OFFICE—Rennie's Building, Dundas
 street, Napanee.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, SOLICITOR
 in Chancery and Insolvency, Con-
 veyancer, Notary Public, &c. &c.
OFFICE—Next door to the Registry Office.
 Napanee, June 5, 1868. 144

W. S. WILLIAMS,
OFFICIAL Assignee, Insolvent Act 1864, for the County of Lennox and Addington.
OFFICE—Messrs. Williams & Morden,
 Barristers, &c., Napanee.

S. T. CLEMENTS,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist, Na-
 panee, Ont.
OFFICE—Over J. Coates' Harness Shop.
 Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned is for himself, and will be found for the present next
 to Paisley's Tavern. Persons favoring him with their work may feel assured that they will get a fit. Cutting done on Reasonable Terms.

JAS. BLAIR.
 Napanee, February, 1868.

O'Reilly & MacNamara

ATTORNEYS at Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notaries
 Public, &c.
OFFICE—North of Yates' Hotel, Na-
 panee, Ont.
JAMES O'REILLY, Q.C. M. J. MACNAMARA.

THOMAS S. CARMAN,
PUBLISHER and PROPRIETOR.
VOL. 6.

Business Directory.
BOYLE & WRIGHT,
DEALERS in Heavy and Shell Hardware,
 Stoves, Ploughs, Japanned, Pressed,
 and Stamped Tinware, Dairy Vats, Cans, etc., kept constantly on hand and made to order.
 Store opposite M. T. Roger's Dry Goods Store, Dundas St. Napanee, Ontario.

BOYLE & WRIGHT

W. H. BRUTON,
DEALER in Groceries, Provisions,
 Bacon, Green and Dried Fruit, Fancy
 Articles of all descriptions, Opposite R.
 Downey's Dry Goods Store, Dundas
 Street.

Napanee Sept. 14, 1867.

Blakely's Terminus Candy!

Dead Shot for Worms.

IS becoming very popular where it has been used. It is known in several cases where the use of a single box has expelled over one hundred worms. They are easily taken; any child will eat them
 as readily as any sugar candy. For sale by all medicine dealers. Price only 25 cents a box.

Frontenac Brewery.

KING STREET, KINGSTON, C. W.
 Creighton, Brewer of the best
 PALE ALE in Canada.

E. L. DERRY,

ARCHITECT and CIVIL ENGINEER,
 has had extensive experience in the above science, and feels confident to give satisfaction to all parties who may favor him with their patronage. Drafts of Buildings and Bridges, Mill Work and Patterns, &c., executed on short notice.
 The best of references given and required.

E. L. DERRY,
 9th Grange Block, Napanee

A CARD.

THE undersigned begs to return his thanks to his numerous Friends
 in the Town and County for their patronage and liberal support for the past
 Fifteen years as an Auctioneer, &c.
 He has removed his residence to the Town of Napanee where he solicits
 orders as before.

Any person having Goods to be sold on commission; also Land Sales, Farming stock, &c., &c., Promptly attended to on the most reasonable terms.

JAMES ALLEN,

Auctioneer.
 Napanee, May 31, 1867. 15

NOTICE.

CAME in my enclosure on or about the 15th of July, a chestnut mare

Business Directory.
STEVENSON & BRO.,
DUNDAS STREET, NAPANEE. Importers and Dealers in Dry Goods,
 Groceries, Hardware, Boots and Shoes,
 and Ready Made Clothing.

R. RENNIE & CO.,
IMPORTERS of DRY GOODS,
MANUFACTURERS of CLOTHING,
 DEALERS in Boots and Shoes, Groceries,
 Crockery, &c.
 28 NAPANEE.

GEO. WILSON,

DEALER in STAPLE and FANCY
 Dry Goods, Groceries, &c., Hardware, Crockery, &c.
GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
 Napanee. 29

William Miller,

IMPORTER and DEALER in Dry Goods,
 Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, Boots
 and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Cigars,
 &c.
GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
 Napanee. 29

John Herring,

MANUFACTURER of the BUCKEYE
 Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs,
 Stoves, Threshing Machines, &c.
JOHN HERRING,
 Napanee, 29

GIBBARD & SON

HAVE always on hand the Largest,
 Best and Cheapest stock of
FURNITURE and CHAIRS
 In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!

Always on hand. HEARSE will attend Funerals when wanted. Planning done
 as usual.

Please Give them a Call.

WAREROOM—East of Webster & Byles.
 29

JOHN DWYER,

MANUFACTURER OF

Business Directory.
Porter.
CONTENT NOT.

CONTENT NOT.
 Content not with thy brother
 Although he cannot see
 The truth that to another
 In life and liberty.
 Perhaps an angel holds it
 A veil before his eyes.
 While God is heart and soul
 The truth to make him wise.
 He may be slowly growing
 Through sorrow, tears, and strife,
 And heaven withhold the knowing
 Till days of better life.
 He may be only striving
 With foes that smite him down,
 Or even now arriving
 To glimpse of his crown.

GEO. WILSON,

DEALER in STAPLE and FANCY
 Dry Goods, Groceries, &c., Hard-
 ware, Crockery, &c.
GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
 Napanee. 29

William Miller,

IMPORTER and DEALER in Dry Goods,
 Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, Boots
 and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Cigars,
 &c.
GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
 Napanee. 29

John Herring,

MANUFACTURER of the BUCKEYE
 Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs,
 Stoves, Threshing Machines, &c.
JOHN HERRING,
 Napanee, 29

GIBBARD & SON

HAVE always on hand the Largest,
 Best and Cheapest stock of
FURNITURE and CHAIRS
 In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!

Always on hand. HEARSE will attend
 Funerals when wanted. Planning done
 as usual.

Please Give them a Call.

WAREROOM—East of Webster & Byles.
 29

JOHN DWYER,

MANUFACTURER OF

CONTENT NOT.

CONTENT NOT.
 Content not with thy brother
 Although he cannot see
 The truth that to another
 In life and liberty.
 Perhaps an angel holds it
 A veil before his eyes.
 While God is heart and soul
 The truth to make him wise.
 He may be slowly growing
 Through sorrow, tears, and strife,
 And heaven withhold the knowing
 Till days of better life.
 He may be only striving
 With foes that smite him down,
 Or even now arriving
 To glimpse of his crown.
 "But love him though he serveth
 Another God; than thine,
 And bless him though he serveth
 From virtue's golden line;
 He cannot be uplifted
 Till mercy's gentle dove
 Shall sing within him, gilded
 With voice of perfect love.

Literature.

THE OLD MILL.

Rural life has always a charm—
 a romance which clings around it,
 especially to one whose childhood
 was free and happy amid the society of books and vales and vales
 and foliage and pleasing rural haunts. Continually will some germ of old remembrance uncover itself from the dust and cobwebs
 of dim recollection, and come up
 fresh and possessing an interest,
 with a kind of weirdness of pleasure, causing pangs of severe regret that childhood had not always lasted.

A little stream that formed the outlet of a lake embowered among the hills, as if to add only the charm
 of a ray of sunlight to the beauty of the landscape, ran, concealed along by the alders and flags, the meadow and plunged into a thick forest, and was lost to comprehension.

One summer day, I was tired of wondering where this trout stream
 ran to; for like the 'Brook' of Tennysen, there was a poetic romance about it which was irresistible.
 Tempted by the wildness of the scene, I made a journey to its source and wandered along its fringed banks. A slight rushing sound as of distant falling water

Porter.

CONTENT NOT.

CONTENT NOT.
 Content not with thy brother
 Although he cannot see
 The truth that to another
 In life and liberty.
 Perhaps an angel holds it
 A veil before his eyes.
 While God is heart and soul
 The truth to make him wise.

GEO. WILSON,

DEALER in STAPLE and FANCY
 Dry Goods, Groceries, &c., Hard-
 ware, Crockery, &c.
GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
 Napanee. 29

William Miller,

IMPORTER and DEALER in Dry Goods,
 Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, Boots
 and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Cigars,
 &c.
GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
 Napanee. 29

John Herring,

MANUFACTURER of the BUCKEYE
 Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs,
 Stoves, Threshing Machines, &c.
JOHN HERRING,
 Napanee, 29

GIBBARD & SON

HAVE always on hand the Largest,
 Best and Cheapest stock of
FURNITURE and CHAIRS
 In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!

Always on hand. HEARSE will attend Funerals when wanted. Planning done
 as usual.

Please Give them a Call.

WAREROOM—East of Webster & Byles.
 29

JOHN DWYER,

MANUFACTURER OF

CONTENT NOT.

CONTENT NOT.
 Content not with thy brother
 Although he cannot see
 The truth that to another
 In life and liberty.
 Perhaps an angel holds it
 A veil before his eyes.
 While God is heart and soul
 The truth to make him wise.
 He may be slowly growing
 Through sorrow, tears, and strife,
 And heaven withhold the knowing
 Till days of better life.
 He may be only striving
 With foes that smite him down,
 Or even now arriving
 To glimpse of his crown.
 "But love him though he serveth
 Another God; than thine,
 And bless him though he serveth
 From virtue's golden line;
 He cannot be uplifted
 Till mercy's gentle dove
 Shall sing within him, gilded
 With voice of perfect love.

Business Directory.

Wilkinson & Reeve,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law,
Solicitors, Conveyancers, &c. Nap-
anee, Ontario.
OFFICE—South west Corner of Dundas
and Post Streets.
W. H. WILKINSON, W. A. REEVE, M.A.
County Court Attorneys.

WILLIAMS & MORDEN

ATTORNEY at Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notary Public,
Conveyancers, &c. Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, A. L. MORDEN.

DAVY & MCKENZIE,

SOLICITORS in Chancery and Insol-
vency, Attorneys at Law.
Warner's Block, East Street, Napanee.
next door to the 'Express' Office.
B. C. DAVY, F. MCKENZIE, 191y Barrister. Solicitor.

MONEY TO LEND,

ON ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
Apply to
Messrs. WILLIAMS & MORDEN,
Solicitors, &c.,
Napanee, Ont.

D. H. PRESTON, LL. B.,

BARRISTER and Attorney at Law,
Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer,
&c.
OFFICE—Rennie's Building, Dundas
Street, Napanee.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, SOLICITOR
in Chancery and Insolvency, Con-
veyancer, Notary Public &c. &c.
OFFICE—Next door to the Registry Office.
Napanee, June 5, 1898. 14U

W. S. WILLIAMS,

OFFICIAL Assignee, Insolvent Act 1864, for the County of Lennox and Addington.
OFFICE—Messrs. Williams & Morden,
Barristers, &c., Napanee.

S. T. CLEMENTS,

URGICAL and Mechanical Dentist, Na-
panee, Ont.
OFFICE—Over J. Coates' Harness Shop.
Teeth operated on in the most scientific
and approved styles.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned is for himself, and will be found for the present next
to Paisley's Tavern. Persons favoring
him with their work may feel assured that they will get a fine Cutting done on Reasonable Terms.

JAS. BLAIR.

Napanee, February, 1898.

O'Reilly & MacNamara

THOMAS S. CARMAN, PUBLISHER & PROPRIETOR.

VOL. 6.

Business Directory.

BOYLE & WRIGHT,

DEALERS in Heavy and Light Hardware,
Stoves, Ploughs, Japanned, Pressed
and Stamped Tinware, Dairy Vats, Cans,
etc., kept constantly on hand and made to order.
Store opposite M. T. Roger's Dry Goods Store, Dundas St. Napanee, Ontario.

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

W. H. BRUTON,

DEALER in Groceries; Provisions
Green and Dried Fruits, Fancy
Articles of all descriptions, Opposite R.
Downey's Dry Goods Store, Dundas
Street.
Napanee Sept. 14, 1867.

Blakely's Vermifuge Candy!

Good Shot for Worms.
IS becoming very popular where it has been used. It is known in several cases where the use of a single box has expelled over one hundred worms. They are easily taken; any child will eat them
as readily as any sugar candy. For sale
by all medicine dealers. Price only 25
cents a box.

Frontenac Brewery.

KING STREET, KINGSTON, C. W.
Creighton, Brewer of the best
PALE ALE in Canada.

E. L. DERBY,

ARCHITECT and CIVIL ENGINEER.
has had extensive experience in the
above science, and feels confident to give satisfaction to all parties who may favor
him with their patronage. Drafts of Buildings and Bridges, Mill Work and Patterns, &c., executed on short notice.
The best of references given and required.

E. L. DERBY,
Grange Block, Napanee

A CARD.

THE Undersigned begs to return his thanks to his numerous Friends
in the Town and County for their patronage and liberal support for the past
Fifteen years as an Auctioneer, &c.
He has removed his residence to the Town of Napanee where he solicits
orders as before.

Any person having Goods to be sold
on commission; also Land Sales, Farming stock, &c., &c., Promptly attended
to.

The

PUBLISHER & PROPRIETOR.

Business Directory.

DUNDAS STREET, NAPANEE, Im-
porters and Dealers in Dry Goods,
Groceries, Hardware, Boots and Shoes,
and Ready Made Clothing.

G. A. STEVENSON, 301, 303 & 305 N. STREET;
Wholesale of G.W. Armstrong and Co.

R. RENNIE & Co.,
IMPORTERS OF DRY GOODS,
MANUFACTURERS OF CLOTHING,
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes, Groceries,
Crockery, &c. NAPANEE.

CEO. WILSON
DEALER in STAPLE and FANCY
Dry Goods, Groceries, Teas, Hardware, Crockery, &c.

GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street
Napanee. 29

William Miller,
IMPORTER and DEALER in Dry Goods,
Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, Boots
and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Cigars,
&c.

All Warranted to give satisfaction, and
as Cheap as the Cheapest.

John Herring,
MANUFACTURER OF THE BUCKEYE
Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs,
Stoves, Threshing Machines, &c.

JOHN HERRING,
Napanee.

GIBBARD & SON
HAVE always on hand the Largest,
Best and Cheapest stock of

FURNITURE and CHAIRS

In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!

Always on hand. HEARSE will attend Funerals when wanted. Planning done
as usual.

Please Give them a Call.

Poetry.

CONTENT NOT.

"Content not with thy brother
Although he cannot see
The truth that is another
In life and liberty.
Perhaps an angel holdeth
A veil before his eyes,
While God in heart enfoldeth
The truth to make him wise.
He may be slowly growing
Through sorrow, tears and strife,
And heaven withhold the knowing
Till days of better life.
He may be only striving
With foes that smite him down,
Or even now arriving
To glimpse of his crown.

"But love him though he serveth
Another God than thine,
And bless him though he swerveth
From virtue's golden line;
He cannot be uplifted
Till mercy's gentle dove
Shall sing within him, gifted
With voice of perfect love.

Literature.

THE OLD MILL.

Rural life has always a charm—
a romance which clings around it,
especially to one whose childhood
was free and happy amid the society of books and vales and vales
and foliage and pleasing rural haunts. Continually will some germ of old remembrance uncover
itself from the dust and cobwebs
of dim recollection, and come up
fresh and possessing an interest,
with a kind of weirdness of pleasure, causing pangs of severe regret that childhood had not always lasted.

A little stream that formed the outlet of a lake embowered among
the hills, as if to add only the charm
of a ray of sunlight to the beauty
of the landscape, ran, concealed
along by the alders and flags, the
meadow and plunged into a thick
forest, and was lost to comprehension.

One summer day, I was tired of Business Directory.

Wilkinson & Reeve,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys at Law,
Solicitors, Conveyancers, &c. Nap-
anee, Ontario.
OFFICE—South west Corner of Dundas
and East Streets.
W. A. WILKINSON, W. A. REEVE, B.A.
County Court Attorneys.

WILLIAMS & MORDEN

ATTORNEY at Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notary Public,
Conveyancers, &c. Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, A. L. MORDEN.

DAVY & MCKENZIE,

SOLICITORS in Chancery and Insol-
vency, Attorneys at Law.
Warner's Block, East Street, Napanee,
next door to the Express Office.
B. C. DAVY, F. MCKENZIE,
191st Barrister. Solicitor.

MONEY TO LEND,

ON ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
Apply to
Messrs. WILLIAMS & MORDEN,
Solicitors, &c.,
Napanee, Ont.

D. H. PRESTON, LL. B.,

BARRISTER and Attorney at Law,
Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer,
&c.
OFFICE—Rennie's Building, Dundas
Street, Napanee.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, SOLICITOR
IN Chancery and Insolvency, Con-
veyancer, Notary Public, &c., &c.
OFFICE—Next door to the Registry Office.
Napanee, June 5, 1868. 140

W. S. WILLIAMS,

OFFICIAL Assignee, Insolvent Act 1864, for the County of Lennox and Addington.
OFFICE—Messrs. Williams & Morden,
Barristers, &c., Napanee.

S. T. CLEMENTS,

URGICAL and Mechanical Dentist, Na-
panee, Ont.
OFFICE—Over J. Coates' Harness Shop.
Teeth operated on in the most scientific
and approved styles.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned is for himself, and will be found for the present next
to Paisley's Tavern. Persons favoring
him with their work may feel assured
that they will get a fit. Cutting done on Reasonable Terms.

JAS. BLAIR,
Napanee, February, 1868.

O'Reilly & MacNamara

THOMAS S. CARMAN,

PUBLISHER & PROPRIETOR.
VOL. 6.

Business Directory.

BOYLE & WRIGHT,

DEALERS in Heavy and Light Hardware,
Stoves, Ploughs, &c. &c. &c. &c.
and Stamped Tinware, Dairy Vats, Cans,
etc., kept constantly on hand and made to order.
Store opposite M. T. Roger's Dry Goods Store, Dundas St. Napanee, Ontario.

BOYLE & WRIGHT

W. H. BRUTON,

DEALER in Groceries, Provisions,
Green and Dried Fruits, Fancy
Articles of all descriptions, Opposite R.
Downey's Dry Goods Store, Dundas
Street.
Napanee Sept. 14, 1867.

Blackley's Vermifuge Candy!

Dead Shot for Worms.

IS becoming very popular where it has been used. It is known in several cases where the use of a single box has expelled over one hundred worms. They are easily taken; any child will eat them
as readily as any sugar candy. For sale
by all medicine dealers. Price only 25
cents a box.

Frontenac Brewery.

KING STREET, KINGSTON, O. W.
Creighton, Brewer of the best
PALE ALE in Canada.

E. L. DERRY,

ARCHITECT and CIVIL ENGINEER.
has had extensive experience in the
above science, and feels confident to give satisfaction to all parties who may favor
him with their patronage. Drafts of Buildings and Bridges, Mill Work and Patterns, &c., executed on short notice.
The best of references given and required.

917

E. L. DERRY,
Grange Block, Napanee

A CARD.

THE undersigned begs to return his
thanks to his numerous Friends
in the Town and County for their patronage and liberal support for the past
Fifteen years as an Auctioneer, &c.
He has removed his residence to the Town of Napanee where he solicits
orders as before.

Any person having Goods to be sold
on commission; also Land Sales, Farming stock, &c., &c., Promptly attended
to.

The

PUBLISHER & PROPRIETOR.

VOL. 6.

Business Directory.

STEVENSON & BRO.,

DUNDAS STREET, NAPANEE, Im-
porters and Dealers in Dry Goods,
Groceries, Hardware, Boots and Shoes,
and Ready Made Clothing.

G. A. STEVENSON, J. W. STEVENSON.

Dealers of every description of clothing, hats, shoes, &c.

R. RENNIE & Co.,

IMPORTERS OF DRY GOODS,
MANUFACTURERS OF CLOTHING,
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes, Groceries,
Crockery, &c. NAPANEE.

28

GEO. WILSON,

DEALER in STAPLE and FANCY
Dry Goods, Groceries, Meats, Hardware, Crockery, &c.

GRANGE'S BLOCK, Dundas Street,
Napanee. 29

29

William Miller,

IMPORTER and DEALER in Dry Goods,
Groceries, Hardware, Crockery, Boots
and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Cigars,
&c.

All Warranted to give satisfaction, and
as Cheap as the Cheapest.

29

John Herring,

MANUFACTURER OF THE BUCKEYE
Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs,
Stoves, Threshing Machines, &c.

JOHN HERRING,
Napanee,

29

GIBBARD & SON

HAVE always on hand the Largest,
Best and Cheapest stock of

FURNITURE and CHAIRS

In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!

Always on hand. HEARSE will attend Funerals when wanted. Planning done
as usual.

Please Give them a Call.

Poetry.

CONTENT NOT.

"Content not with thy brother
Although he cannot see
The truth that is another
In his and liberty.
Perhaps an angel holdeth
A veil before his eyes,
While God in heart enfoldeth
The truth to make him wise.

"He may be slowly growing
Through sorrow, tears and strife,
And heaven withhold the knowing
Till days of better life.
He may be only striving
With foes that smite him down,
Or even now arriving
To glimpses of his crown.

"But love him though he serveth
Another God than thine,
And bless him though he swerveth
From virtue's golden line;
He cannot be uplifted
Till mercy's gentle dove
Shall stung within him, gifted
With voice of perfect love.

Literature.

THE OLD MILL.

Rural life has always a charm—
a romance which clings around it,
especially to one whose childhood
was free and happy amid the society of books and vales and vales
and foliage and pleasing rural haunts. Continually will some germ of old remembrance uncover
itself from the dust and cobwebs
of dim recollection, and come up
fresh and possessing an interest,
with a kind of weirdness of pleasure, causing pangs of severe regret that childhood had not always lasted.

A little stream that formed the outlet of a lake embowered among
the hills, as if to add only the charm
of a ray of sunlight to the beauty
of the landscape, ran, concealed
along by the alders and flags, the
meadow and plunged into a thick
forest, and was lost to comprehension.

One summer day, I was tired of

W. S. WILLIAMS,
OFFICIAL Assignee, Insolvent Act
1864, for the County of Lennox and Addington.
OFFICE—Messrs. Williams & Morden,
Barristers, &c., Napanee.

S. T. CLEMENTS,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist, Na-
panee, Ont.
OFFICE—Over J. Coates' Harness Shop.
Teeth operated on in the most scientific
and approved styles.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned is for himself, and will be found for the present next
to Paisley's Tavern. Persons favoring
him with their work may feel assured
that they will get a fine Cutting done on Reasonable Terms.

JAS. BLAIR,
Napanee, February, 1868.

O'Reilly & MacNamara

ATTORNEYS at Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notaries
Public, &c.
OFFICE—North of Yates Hotel, Napanee, Ont.
JAMES O'REILLY, Q.C. M. J. MACNAMARA.

F. W. CAMPBELL,
SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY, Attorney at Law, Conveyancer, &c.
Office in Warner's Buildings, East-St.,
Napanee.

Insolvent Act of 1864.

W. S. ROBINSON,
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE AND COMMISS-IONER OF B. R.

For the County of Lennox and Addin-ton.
OFFICE, over R. RENNIE & Co's STORE, Napanee.
Public Accountant and Auditor, and General Commission Agent; and from great practical experience in England public Companies, Firms, or individual financial matters or difficulties, satisfactorily adjusted with business promptitude.

T. K. ROSS, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON, &c.
Office and residence, Dr. Yeoman's old Residence, Odessa, Ont.

Mair's Machine Shop,
NAPANEE.

STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order; also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.
Remember the place, opposite the Hotel, in Nelson's old stand.

Alex. C. DAVIS,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES,
Napanee, Ontario. 2417

Wm. BUNT,
BLACKSMITH, HORSESHOER and GEN-ERAL JOBBER,

BEGS to announce that he has rented William Mooney's Blacksmith shop, and is prepared to do all kinds of work on the shortest notice and in the best style, and hopes that the public will patronize his shop.
WM. BUNT,
Napanee, July 29, 1868.

WARNER & BRO.

HAVE just Received a choice lot of China and Glassware, which they

Frontenac Brewery.
KING STREET, KINGSTON, O. W.
Creighton, Brewer of the best
PALE ALE in Canada.

E. L. DERRY,
ARCHITECT and CIVIL ENGINEER,
has had extensive experience in the
above science, and feels confident to give satisfaction to all parties who may favor him with their patronage. Draughts of Buildings and Bridges, Mill Work and Patterns, &c., executed on short notice.
The best of references given and required.
E. L. DERRY,
Grange Block, Napanee.

A CARD.

THE Undersigned begs to return his thanks to his numerous Friends
in the Town and County for their patronage and liberal support for the past
Fifteen years as an Auctioneer, &c.
He has removed his residence to the Town of Napanee where he solicits
orders as before.
Any person having Goods to be sold
on commission; also Land Sales, Farming stock, &c., &c. Promptly attended
to on the most reasonable terms.

JAMES ALLEN,
Auctioneer.
Napanee, May 31, 1867. 11

NOTICE.

CAME in my enclosure on or about
the 15th of July, a chestnut mare with bunch on the fore foot similar to a ringbone, two white hind feet, about thirteen years old. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges. Lot 4 in the 7th concession of Erneststown.

W. R. DORAN.
August, 26, 1868. 3-in

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.

THE Agricultural Mutual Assurance Association, of Canada, Head Office, London, Ont.
A Farmer's Association, insuring nothing more hazardous than Farm Property. It is larger than all the other Farmer's Mutuals, in Ontario, combined.
Capital, 1st January, 1868, $218,000.00. Number of Policies in force 28,768.
Only 50 to 75 cents (according to class) for a three year's risk, on isolated Farm Property. No
Premium Note. No further liability, whatever.
Parties preferring the Premium Note system can still be accommodated on it as heretofore.
Apply to W. H. SNIDER, Newburgh.
Sole agent for Frontenac, Lennox & Addington.
12-3in

First Prize, Paris, '67.

THE World Renowned Howe Sewing Machines, and the unequalled Wheeler and Wilson are the best Machines in the world for Shoemakers, Tailors and Families, at J. Cunningham's, King Street,
Kingston.
Special attention given to repairing Machines of all kinds. Oil, Needles, &c., on hand, from 2 upwards.

C. A. SMITH,
HOUSE, SIGN, CARRIAGE PAINTER
&c.
Orders left at Bower's Drug Store.
Napanee, May 7, 1868. 10-11

Patent Lap Rustic Window Blinds.

W. C. SHOREY of Napanee would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Lennox and Addington that he has purchased the exclusive right of selling the above window blind for these counties. These blinds are pronounced by those who use them as the most durable, and at the same time handy and ornamental.
For further particulars apply to the undersigned or to J. Gibbard & Son's Cabinet Shop. I have also a door stop used under doors which will prevent snow, rain, or cold from going in.

WILLIAM C. SHOREY,
Napanee, June 5th 1868.

NOTICE.

and Epps', nearly all kinds of Cooking, &c., &c.
All Warranted to give satisfaction, and
as Cheap as the Cheapest.

John Herring,
MANUFACTURER of the BUCKEYE
Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs,
Stoves, Threshing Machines, &c.
JOHN HERRING,
Napanee, 29

GIBBARD & SON
HAVE always on hand the Largest,
Best and Cheapest stock of
FURNITURE and CHAIRS
In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!
Always on hand. HEARSE will attend
Funerals when wanted. Planning done
as usual.
Please Give them a Call.

WAREHOOM—East of Webster & Bayes'.
29

JOHN DWYER, MANUFACTURER OF Stoves,
Ploughs, Castings, &c.,
Of all kinds;

Tin and Sheet Iron Worker,
NUNNAN STREET - NAPANEE.

J. D. TROUSDALE, M.D.
Provincial Licenciate.
OFFICE and RESIDENCE:

New Brick House on Dundas Street, two blocks west of the Campbell
House, South of Presbyterian Church,
Napanee. 36

WILLIAM. S. JUDD,
Watch Maker and Jeweler.
A good Assortment of CLOCKS, WATCHES,
and JEWELRY.
Kept constantly on hand.
All kinds of Repairing done to Order and Warranted. C. H. JUDD, Agent.

Also Agent for Thomas Russell and Son's renowned Chronometers, and the celebrated American Watch.

Dunning's Block,
Dundas-St. - Napanee.

J. C. GREEN,
Builder and Manufacturer!
OF Sash, Doors, Blinds and Mouldings, Planing, Sawing, Turning, and Scroll Sawing; Dressed Siding and Ceiling for Sale.
Factory Canal Street, Napanee.

D. D. BRISTOL.

THE OLD MILL.

Rural life has always a charm—
a romance which clings around it,
especially to one whose childhood
was free and happy amid the society of books and vales and vales
and foliage and pleasing rural haunts. Continually will some germ of old remembrance uncover
itself from the dust and cobwebs
of dim recollection, and come up
fresh and possessing an interest,
with a kind of weirdness of pleasure, causing pangs of severe regret that childhood had not always lasted.

A little stream that formed the outlet of a lake embowered among
the hills, as if to add only the charm
of a ray of sunlight to the beauty
of the landscape, ran, concealed
along by the alders and flags, the
meadow and plunged into a thick
forest, and was lost to comprehension.

One summer day, I was tired of wondering where this trout stream
ran to; for like the 'Brook' of Tennessee, there was a poetic romance
about it which was irresistible.
Tempted by the wildness of the scene, I made a journey to its
source and wandered along its fringed banks. A slight rushing sound as of distant falling water, or the hastening of the wind thro' the foliage, led me to go down the gradually sloping declivity and by the increasing rugged banks, now across the stream upon a high-suspended log, or picking my footholds among the rocks which rose above the rapid.

Over the bed of the stream, as it deepened into the forest, hung the birch and elm, forming a continuous shade and vista down which my eyes peered with all the admiration of a young poetic soul. Here and there a white cascade broke the regularity of the descent, and wound around the base of jutting hills or rock, growing every step more wild varied and picturesque.

As the descent grew steeper, the roughness of the banks compelled me to leave the shore and clamber around a distance of a few rods, when I again came full upon the stream and beheld the pouring waters, the sound of which had grown more and more distinct as I approached. Turning suddenly to the left, around a projecting ledge, the stream plunged down a height of a hundred feet or more into a ravine still more dark and wild, and forming a beautiful cascade which broke in spray and sprinkled the mosses and wild flowers upon its banks with a delicious coolness.

Upon the brow of the opposite shore and shelving rocks, the fir and hemlock grew so close and dense as to completely shut out all view of the scene beyond. The vine and gooseberry intermingled with the dark grey rocks, while over the fall the mingling branches of the trees formed a beautiful gateway from which the white cascade darted like a thing of life, and fled away down the deepening vista.

At the foot of the fall stood the ruin of an old mill, the stones grow-en over with moss and weeds, while a little green plot of grass and wild flowers spread out before it. As I clambered upon the ruins, lost in the roar of the falling waters, and unconscious of outer things,
I discovered a pretty summer hat, decorated with ribbons and wild times becom six let the d longer she m

The distrac sleep i of wild eluding foaming the eff
ed, I q conten theru l absent to me, my pu made passed had gr oughb vorite.
My long w sh-res
tures,
I straw upon a garlan girls, t liness, upon f strolle the w laved
I ha none c ing to remar lar it i a trac
I ha
first, n
I left of des the ap one la oblige grand a hast the m ideal great my fa pictur
"Co ed, a consu satisf
Mrs. I
merol thoug was t
I c tate, early ions, me a one c other
the cons good the r until on he of n satis
moth
I ha
Th
with
the into frequ flow whic enou wher flow ping my suffi hear

Public Accountant and Auditor, and General Commission Agent; and from great practical experience in England public Companies, Firms, or individual financial matters or difficulties, satisfactorily adjusted with business promptitude.

T. K. ROSS, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON, &c.
Office and residence, Dr. Yeoman's old Residence, Odessa, Ont.

Mair's Machine Shop, NAPANEE.

STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order; also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.
Remember the place, opposite the Hotel, in Nelson's old stand.

Alex. C. DAVIS,

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES,
Napanee, Ontario.

Wm. BUNT,

BLACKSMITH, HORSESHOER and GENERAL JOBBER.

BEGS to announce that he has rented William Mooney's Blacksmith shop, and is prepared to do all kinds of work on the shortest notice and in the best style, and hopes that the public will patronize his shop.

WM. BUNT,
Napanee, July 29, 1868.

WARNER & BRO.

HAVE just Received a choice lot of China and Glassware, which they will sell at a very small margin.
Store next Douglass'.

THROW AWAY

YOUR old Feather Beds, and go to Gibbard & Son's and get Mattresses which are healthier and cheaper than feathers. All kinds made to order.

J. GIBBARD & SON.

GRANGE BLOCK.

GRANGE BROS.,

Druggists and Booksellers.

Uncurrent Money bought and sold.

Merchants desirous of having good Job Work done on short notice and in first-class style should send their orders to the 'Weekly Express' Printing Office, Warner's Block, Napanee.

MONEY TO LEND

HAVING BEEN APPOINTED Agent for the

SECURITY COMPANY,

LIMITED,

OF ENGLAND

I am prepared to Lend Money on advantageous Terms.

NO COMMISSION CHARGED.

W. S. WILLIAMS.

Napanee, January 22nd. 1868. 46

Premium Note. No further liability, whatever Parties preferring the Premium Note system can still be accommodated on it as heretofore.
Apply to W.H. SMITH, Newburgh.
Sole agent for Frontenac, Lennox & Addington.
12-3a

First Prize, Paris, '67.

THE World Renowned Howe Sewing Machines, and the unequalled Wheeler and Wilson are the best Machines in the world for Shoemakers, Tailors and Families, at J. Cunningham's, King Street, Kingston.

Special attention given to repairing Machines of all kinds. Oil, Needles, &c., on hand, from 2 upwards.

C. A. SMITH,

HOUSE, SIGN, CARRIAGE PAINTER &c.

Orders left at Bower's Drug Store.

Napanee, May 7, 1868.

Patent Lap Rustic Window Blinds.

W. C. SHOREY of Napanee would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Lennox and Addington that he has purchased the exclusive right of selling the above window blind for these counties. These blinds are pronounced by those who use them to be the most durable, and at the same time handy, and ornamental. For further particulars apply to the undersigned or to J. Gibbard and Son's Cabinet Shop. I have also a door stop used under doors which will prevent snow, rain, or cold from going in.

WILLIAM C. SHOREY,
Napanee, June 5th 1868.

NOTICE.

I forbid any person purchasing a note given in Oct., 1867, signed by Hiram Hoskins, and payable to James M. Fraser, South Fredericksburgh, as I have not received value for the same amount of note, thirty dollars.

HIRAM HOSKINS

South Fredericksburgh, June 23, 1868.

The Church, Rome and Dissent.

By the Rev. Herbert Smythe, Tamworth.

Published by J. Creighton, Kingston

"A Book to be subscribed for."—Night Rev. H. J. Whitehouse, Bishop of Illinois.

Copies of the work can be obtained the Drug Store of Dettlor & Scott, and J. Bower.

J. BOWER,

Chemist & Druggist

Dundas-st., Napanee,

DEALER in genuine Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oil, Lamps, Lamp Fixings, Toilet Soap, Fancy Goods, &c.

PROPRIETOR OF

CASTILIAN OINTMENT.

A. H. RUTTAN, M.D.

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON,

and Accoucheur.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE:

Opposite the Market Square,
NAPANEE.

C. W. MILLER,

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES,

Switzerville Ernestown.

NEW DRUG HOUSE ON CAMPBELL STREET, two blocks west of the Campbell House, South of Presbyterian Church, Napanee.

WILLIAM S. JUDD,

Watch Maker and Jeweler.

A good Assortment of

CLOCKS, WATCHES,

and JEWELRY.

Kept constantly on hand.

All kinds of Repairing done to Order and Warranted.

C. H. JUDD, Agent.

Also Agent for Thomas Russell and Son's renowned Chronometers, and the celebrated American Watch.

Dunning's Block,

Dundas-St. - Napanee.

J. C. GREEN,

Builder and Manufacturer

OF

Sash, Doors, Blinds and Mouldings, Planes, Sawing, Turning, and Scroll Sawing; Dressed Siding and Ceiling for Sale.

Factory Canal Street, Napanee.

DR. BRISTOL,

PHYSICIAN & SURGEON

OFFICE and Residence.—East Street,
Napanee. 30

WM. McMULLEN,

GENERAL DEALER

IN

Boots and Shoes,
Leather.

Hides,

Groceries,

Produce.

and Feed of all kinds.

Opposite Campbell House,
Napanee. 30

J. C. PARKS,

Grocery and Provision Store,

Opposite Haslem's Hotel,

30 DUNDAS-ST., NAPANEE.

J. B. McGUIN,

AGENT

Home Insurance Co'y,

Capital $1,000,000,

INSURES property as Cheap as any other reliable company, and

NO CHARGE FOR POLICY, OR SURVEY.

OFFICE AT

COURT HOUSE,
NAPANEE.

hills or rock, growing every step more wild varied and picturesque. As the descent grew steeper, the roughness of the banks compelled me to leave the shore and clamber around a distance of a few rods, when I again came full upon the stream and beheld the pouring waters, the sound of which had grown more and more distinct as I approached. Turning suddenly to the left, around a projecting ledge, the stream plunged down a height of a hundred feet or more into a ravine still more dark and wild, and forming a beautiful cascade which broke in spray and sprinkled the mosses and wild flowers upon its banks with a delicious coolness.

Upon the brow of the opposite shore and shelving rocks, the fir and hemlock grew so close and dense as to completely shut out all view of the scene beyond. The vine and gooseberry intermingled with the dark grey rocks, while over the fall the mingling branches of the trees formed a beautiful gateway from which the white cascade darted like a thing of life, and fled away down the deepening vista.

At the foot of the fall stood the ruin of an old mill, the stones grown over with moss and weeds, while a little green plot of grass and wild flowers spread out before it. As I clambered upon the ruins, lost in the roar of the falling waters, and unconscious of outer things, I discovered a pretty summer hat, decorated with ribbons and wild flowers, lying partially concealed by some overhanging branches, and I suddenly recollected having caught an indistinct strain of a song as it mingled and seemed lost in the sound of the waters, so as not to have before left a distinct impression upon my ear. I listened and gazed about carefully, searching for some indication of the fair owner, but to no purpose.

Whether the wearer had noticed me and hastened away, fearing to stay to claim it, or whether some accident might not have befallen her, were thoughts which engaged my curiosity until near the sinking of the evening sunshine into twilight. The soft air grew cool and balmy, and the fall more beautiful in the contrast of the deepening shade, but still I waited thoughtlessly, carving a device upon a shelving rock, and musing until the moon was up and shining, when I wound along by the ravine outward, bearing and admiring the hat, to my youthful fancy the embodiment of beauty and artless loveliness. I doubted not the waving tresses of the fairest flower of sixteen summers had often been concealed beneath it.

Many a year later, I strayed again to the thicket and the fall, still hidden in the depth of a larger forest. There lay the old millstone—a tree of considerable size growing through it, and the wild flowers and the brambles were thicker and coarser. The ruins suddenly called to mind the incidents of the former visit, so long before that the precise time was not recalled; but before I left, my eyes fell upon the following inscription—

June 15, 1845.
Found a Hat, and lost my Heart

my favo pictured
"Conf
ed, and consult satisfac
Mrs. Bi merous though was the I can late, an early st ious, w me and one of other i the lac consen good-m the nat until ev on her of my satisfac
mother
I had s
The
with it the ac into ad frequ flowers which enough when I flower ping to my fa suffici heard lost a
'Ye!
travel little heart.
'W! learn tery w fulness
'I fe
sat do an ov take t
'Yo surpri beaut
'I c heart
'The excite her l upon mome
As I stray the l night for i comp hat v the i
She
and curio
Ti as a garr out, hear
We
and had tion
'Fou
Ti
Bell
4th
S. S. corn

In same nt profit.
as eat anad ring se so

NAPANEE, ONTARIO FRIDAY, OCT. 16, 1868.

CONTEND NOT

"He may be slowly growing,
 Through sorrow, tears and strife,
 And heaven withhold the knowing
 Till days of better life.
 He may be inly striving
 With foes that smite him down;
 Or even now arriving
 To glimpes of his crown.

Literature.

THE OLD MILL

Lost my Hat, but found no Horse.
I called to mind my impression at the time that the hat was of a style and trimming unusually worn in the country, and that it was to doubt that of a visitor to the locality, who had, unattended, strayed to gratify a curiosity for romantic scenery, similar to my own, and that rambling away from the locality had mistaken the place where the hat was left.

It was in a moment, my full determination to discover who was the fair 'A. B.' and then for the first time in my life I seriously thought of the idea of matrimony as a companion to add to the romance of nature.

"Yes," said I, "she could not have done so, unless tempted by some one, and if the germ building so slowly in her was cultivated, she would be a good one. Imagine both a good and a bad one."

...to the world spread at
...and with a staff of
...years while I have
...I have
...any of the twenty
...aphid, yes, at
...And was
...country and [illegible]

BY A. TAMBRAY

A sedentary life being against the principles of the dervish character which I assumed, I was often obliged wilfully or unwillingly to take my knapsack round my shoulders and to make expeditions, sometimes alone, sometimes in company of my hadji comrades. There happened always some extraordinary thing on these little excursions. Sometimes I witnessed a heart-rending scene of slavery and cruelty; at other times I saw striking examples of rude virtue and humanity. My dervish blessings named W or U were wasted. I learned to make horse, but I filled my sack richly with cheese and with hare or wild donkey meat, and I got always the present of a piece of felt or a handful of camel or sheep's wool, and sometimes even a piece of old garment when the nomads threw off, resembling rather a boy's raga.

[illegible]

and vices are often found amongst the nomads of Central Asia. I had certainly a curious glimpse of barbarian life in this adventure with the hospital and honest robber!

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION AT HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Sept. 25, 1868.

Being fresh from the Montreal exhibition, the first points in that of Hamilton which struck me were those of contrast, and the first of these was the aspect of the ground. The enclosure at Hamilton is much larger than that at Montreal, and instead of being nearly a level field it is all heights and hollows, with here and there level places of sufficient size for rings or courses for the various kinds of stock. The sheds round part of the ground have a permanent character, and the general aspect is within the enclosure. There were also quite a number of new sheds erected for the sheep, fowls, hares and swine. A large part of these being new, and the new and old things together gave a new and interesting appearance to the exhibition.

and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Cigars, etc.

All Warranted to give satisfaction, and as Cheap as the Cheapest.

John Herring,

MANUFACTURER of the BUCKEYE Mower and Reaper, Steel Ploughs, Stoves, Threshing Machines, etc.

JOHN HERRING, Napanee.

GIBBARD & SON

HAVE always on hand the Largest, Best and Cheapest stock of

FURNITURE and CHAIRS

In the County, Wholesale and Retail.

COFFINS!!

Always on hand. HEARSE will attend Funerals when wanted. Planing done as usual.

Please Give them a Call.

WAREROOM—East of Webster & Bayes' 29

JOHN DWYER,

MANUFACTURER OF

Stoves, Ploughs, Castings, &c.,

Of all kinds;

Tin and Sheet Iron Worker,

NUMAS STREET - NAPANEE.

J.D.TROUSDALE, M.D.

Provincial Licenciate,

OFFICE and RESIDENCE:

New Brick House on Dundas Street, two blocks west of the Campbell House, South of Presbyterian Church, Napanee. 36

WILLIAM. S. JUDD,

Watch Maker and Jeweler.

A good Assortment of

CLOCKS, WATCHES, and JEWELRY.

Kept constantly on hand.

All kinds of Repairing done to Order and Warranted.

C. H. JUDD, Agent.

Also Agent for Thomas Russell and Son's renowned Chronometers, and the celebrated American Watch.

Dunning's Block,

Dundas-St. - Napanee.

J. C. GREEN,

Builder and Manufacturer!

OF

Sash, Doors, Blinds and Mouldings, Planing, Sawing, Turning, and Scroll Sawing, Dressed Siding, and General Building for Sale.

Factory Canal Street, Napanee.

THE OLD MILL.

Rural life has always a charm—a romance which clings around it, especially to one whose childhood was free and happy amid the society of books and vales and vales and foliage and pleasing rural haunts. Continually will some germ of old remembrance uncover itself from the dust and cobwebs of dim recollection, and come up fresh and possessing an interest, with a kind of weirdness of pleasure, causing pangs of severe regret that childhood had not always lasted.

A little stream that formed the outlet of a lake embowered among the hills, as if to add only the charm of a ray of sunlight to the beauty of the landscape, ran, concealed along by the alders and flags, the meadow and plunged into a thick forest, and was lost to comprehension.

One summer day, I was tired of wondering where this trout stream ran to, for like the 'Brook' of Tennessee, there was a poetic romance about it which was irresistible. Tempted by the wildness of the scene, I made a journey to its source and wandered along its fringed banks. A slight rushing sound as of distant falling water, or the hastening of the wind thro' the foliage, led me to go down the gradually sloping declivity and by the increasing rugged banks, now across the stream upon a high-suspended log, or picking my foot-holds among the rocks which rose above the rapid.

Over the bed of the stream, as it deepened into the forest, hung the birch and elm, forming a continuous shade and vista down which my eyes peered with all the admiration of a young poetic soul. Here and there a white cascade broke the regularity of the descent, and wound around the base of jutting hills or rock, growing every step more wild varied and picturesque.

As the descent grew steeper, the roughness of the banks compelled me to leave the shore and clamber around a distance of a few rods, when I again came full upon the stream and beheld the pouring waters, the sound of which had grown more and more distinct as I approached. Turning suddenly to the left, around a projecting ledge, the stream plunged down a height of a hundred feet or more into a ravine still more dark and wild, and forming a beautiful cascade which broke in spray and sprinkled the mosses and wild flowers upon its banks with a delicious coolness.

Upon the brow of the opposite shore and shelving rocks, the fir and hemlock grew so close and dense as to completely shut out all view of the scene beyond. The vine and gooseberry intermingled with the dark grey rocks, while over the fall the mingling branches of the trees formed a beautiful gateway from which the white cascade darted like a thing of life, and fled away down the deepening vista.

At the foot of the fall stood the ruin of an old mill, the stones grown over with moss and weeds, while a little green plot of grass and wild flowers spread out before it. As I clambered upon the ruins, lost in the roar of the falling waters, and unconscious of outer things, I discovered a pretty summer hat, counted years, while how many times might be fancied 'A. B.' have become B.—any of the twenty-six letters of the alphabet, yes, and the 'B' besides. And I was no longer a resident of the country, and she might be abroad.

The meditation was well nigh distracting, and the moments of sleep that night were but snatches of wild song and fairy nymphs just eluding my gaze and grasp by the foaming spray. To free myself of the effect the madness had produced, I quickened my departure to a contemplated tour among the northern hills and lakes. The long absence from these had a new charm to me, or else the interruption of my peace of mind had suddenly made me more appreciative. I passed a week at a fine hotel which had grown up on the shores of Willoughby Lake which was now a favorite resort.

My unsettled fancy led me to long wanderings among the forest shores and by the new found pastures, in search of a wild flower or strawberry. One afternoon I came upon a party of ladies wreathing garlands, for a couple of bright girls, the very embodiment of loveliness and health, and placing them upon their summer hats, the party strolled down to the lake to watch the white-fringed waves as they laved the shining sand.

I had not heeded the ladies, for none could be beautiful nor charming to me but 'A. B.' but a sudden remark caught my ear, 'How singular it is Annie, that we never had a trace of your lost hat!'

I hardly understood the words at first, nor did I catch the meaning of despair, as I had no doubt, from the appearance of the group, that one lady was the mother of the children, and the other an aunt or grandmother. I, however, caught a hasty glance at the features of the mother, and beheld all my fancy ideal with but a bearing of still greater loveliness and grace than my favored imagination ever had pictured.

'Confound the fortune!' I ejaculated, and turned away to the hotel to consult the record. But nothing satisfactory was gained. Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow were there, and numerous others B's, but no 'A. B.', although I was satisfied that 'Annie' was the real 'A. B.'

I cared not to learn further of my fate, and came near quitting on the early stage for the Queen's dominions, when the landlord accosted me and asked if I would not make one of a party upon the lake; another gentleman was wanted, and the ladies had proposed you. I consented, was presented to the good-natured company, but forgot the name in my thoughtlessness, until every indication of attention on her part, and frequently rillery of my melancholly, proved to my satisfaction, that she was not the mother of the two lovely children I had seen her in company with.

The boating party returned, and with it my drooping spirits, while the acquaintance began ripened into admiration. The rambles were frequent, and the wreaths of wild flowers often suggested a subject which I could not summon courage enough to touch upon. One day when her hat had received a few flowers of my culling, I, while stopping to pluck a flower, and with my face turned away, mustered sufficient courage to say that I

where we halted amongst the Yomut-Turkians; and, as the number of my acquaintances grew always larger, I felt not the slightest hesitation to extend my roaming expeditions a little farther into the interior to such tribes as were on the friendliest footing with my hosts. It is true, the latter often warned me to be cautious, but as I wore nothing on me besides my wretched dervish grab, and my meagre purse containing about twenty krans (sixteen shillings), I thought it superfluous to listen to prudent advice as to my safety, and pursued my route for days together without taking the trouble to return every evening to my quarters.

One day, after having wandered about from one group of tents to another, I felt toward the evening quite exhausted. I espied from afar one solitary tent, to which I turned my weary steps. An isolated tent in the desert is never recommended; but I had nothing to choose and soon decided to ask the hospitality of its inhabitant for that night. I entered with the usual dervish chants, and with a loud 'Selam Aleikum' (Peace on you.) A tall wild Turkoman received me at the door. He told me to sit down. We exchanged the customary salutations, and soon found ourselves in deep conversation on religion, horse-breeding and forays, the favorite topics of these nomads. When the sun was nearly set on the vast and wild desert landscape, I saw my host growing more restless and unquiet. He sat down and rose again, went out and came back, without speaking to me a line.

As I was about to approach, and with a rather bashful air asked me if I would not lend him some krans (money), as he intended to treat me with a dish of rice meat (a special meal for guests), and was highly puzzled from his not possessing a single farthing to buy rice. To lend money, I thought, is certainly better than to be robbed of it. I opened my purse and gave him five krans, which he hastily took, and hurried away to make the necessary purchase at a tent which he said was distant about a quarter of a mile.

When he returned his face was beaming with joy, and I really compassionated the poor but honest man who was so anxious to honor his guest.

The supper was soon ready. A huge plate, enough to satisfy half a dozen empty stomachs, was placed before me. He and his wife, whom I ought to have already mentioned, sat opposite. It was only after my long insisting that I could induce them to share the meal with me. At length they began to eat. We became more and more friendly. As we could not finish all our rice at once, the hospitable woman asked me to stop a day longer with them, and to have a gaggled dinner the following evening. My refusal of the kind offer will be readily understood.

The next morning I rose early, bade farewell to my host, who appeared to be extremely touched, and after I gave him and his horse (as is the custom) a parting blessing, I left the tent for my return to Gomushtep.

I had not been distant more than half an hour's walk from the tent when I suddenly heard a loud shouting behind me, which summoned me to stop in the most thing going so crowded difficult to get into the swept along current, where one for ladies many were of people and the nun and buggies were very good. 25,000 people the course of her on Thor These were and the families, being important pleasant to or or brogues was Yorkshi thumberland there were land Scotch and north of represented part of the with Penryn takable New tion, however women born a great mea their parents

In the dep sheep and very good. marked that Canada, had fine animals was not any Canada at M

There was ly exhibited had none at namely, the black, without very advan believe, how short-born b to the Ayers prizes and grades (the Merino r than any w Pigs at both perfection at

The show very limited either as a v There is a g but the dahl to compare from Quebec exhibition. Quebec in fl in fruits. T least, three variety muc assortments however, b ments; bu and grapes, far, far ab In vegetable surpassed.

In poultry, passed Mon greater nun fowls of gr at Montreal to see such fowls, a bre aspect equal the cruel pi hope is not Hamburgs, very fine, b tor of the breed.

The de agricultura extensive l and there from their eation. C engine, wh pretty sme inequalities drawing at other was huffed, for which was it to a bo either side is all b.

—
T.
Y. er n's ra-
—
lan-
—
IN ect.
—
IR
—
nds,
ISC,
—
ORE,
I, NEE.
—
OY,
O, s any IOY,
—
E,

wound around the base of jutting hills or rock, growing every step more wild varied and picturesque.

As the descent grew steeper, the roughness of the banks compelled me to leave the shore and clamber around a distance of a few rods, when I again came full upon the stream and beheld the pouring waters, the sound of which had grown more and more distinct as I approached. Turning suddenly to the left, around a projecting ledge, the stream plunged down a height of a hundred feet or more into a ravine still more dark and wild, and forming a beautiful cascade which broke in spray and sprinkled the mosses and wild flowers upon its banks with a delicious cosiness.

Upon the brow of the opposite shore and shelving rocks, the fir and hemlock grew so close and dense as to completely shut out all view of the scene beyond. The vine and gooseberry intermingled with the dark grey rocks, while over the fall the mingling branches of the trees formed a beautiful gateway from which the white cascade darted like a thing of life, and fled away down the deepening vista.

At the foot of the fall stood the ruin of an old mill, the stones grown over with moss and weeds, while a little green plot of grass and wild flowers spread out before it. As I clambered upon the ruins, lost in the roar of the falling waters, and unconscious of outer things, I discovered a pretty summer hat, decorated with ribbons and wild flowers, lying partially concealed by some overhanging branches, and I suddenly recollected having caught an indistinct strain of a song as it mingled and seemed lost in the sound of the waters, so as not to have before left a distinct impression upon my ear. I listened and gazed about carefully, searching for some indication of the fair owner, but to no purpose.

Whether the wearer had noticed me and hastened away, tearing to stay to claim it, or whether some accident might not have befallen her, were thoughts which engaged my curiosity until near the sinking of the evening's sunshine into twilight. The soft air grew cool and balmy, and the fall more beautiful in the contrast of the deepening shade, but still I waited thoughtlessly, carving a device upon a shelving rock, and musing until the moon was up and shining, when I wound along by the ravine outward, bearing and admiring the hat, to my youthful fancy the embodiment of beauty and artless loveliness. I doubted not the waving tresses of the fairest flower of sixteen summers had often been concealed beneath it.

Many a year later, I strayed again to the thicket and the fall, still-hidden in the depth of a larger forest. There lay the old millstone—a tree of considerable size growing through it, and the wild flowers and the brambles were thicker and coarser. The ruins suddenly called to mind the incidents of the former visit, so long before that the precise time was not recalled; but before I left, my eyes fell upon the following inscription—

June 15, 1845.
Found a Hat, and lost my Heart
S. S.

greater loveliness and grace than my favored imagination ever had pictured.

"Confound the fortune!" I ejaculated, and turned away to the hotel to consult the record. But nothing satisfactory was gained. Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow were there, and numerous others B's, but no A. B., although I was satisfied that 'Annie' was the real 'A. B.'

I cared not to learn further of my fate, and came near quitting on the early stage for the Queen's dominions, when the landlord accosted me and asked if I would not make one of a party upon the lake; another gentleman was wanted, and the ladies had proposed you. I consented, was presented to the good-natured company, but forgot the name in my thoughtlessness, until every indication of attention on her part, and frequently railery of my melancholy, proved to my satisfaction, that she was not the mother of the two lovely children I had seen her in company with.

The boating party returned, and with it my drooping spirits, while the acquaintance began ripened into admiration. The rambles were frequent, and the wreaths of wild flowers often suggested a subject which I could not summon courage enough to touch upon. One day when her hat had received a few flowers of my culling, I, while stopping to pluck a flower, and with my face turned away, mustered sufficient courage to say that I heard her once remark that she had lost a hat decked with flowers.

'Yes,' she replied, 'I lost my travelling hat once when I was a little girl, and I would give my heart to know who found it.'

'Why?' suggested I, musing, and learned that there was some mystery which she concealed with playfulness.

'I found the hat,' said I, as we sat down upon a knoll, shaded by an overhanging maple, 'and I will take the heart.'

'You, Mr. Smith?' said she, in surprise, 'you found my hat by that beautiful waterfall?'

'I did, Miss Annie, and lost my heart.'

There followed no surprise nor exclamation at my last remark, but her hand unconsciously dropped upon mine, as we both, at the same moment, asked how it came about. As I divined, she had thoughtlessly strayed away from the spot where the hat was left, until too near night, and too far away to return for it. Upon returning with a companion the next morning, the hat was not to be found, but instead the inscription as I had made it. She added the playful suggestion, and returned, harboring the same curiosity as I had done.

The hat had been carefully kept as a bachelor relic, stowed in my garret, but it has since been pulled out, and embodies to two happy hearts a bright page of childhood. We have both since visited the fall and the mill ruins, while somebody had added to the former inscription:

FOUND THE HAT, AND FOUND THE HEART.

The customs receipts at the port of Belleville for the quarter ending Oct. 4th are 50 per cent. in advance of the corresponding quarter last year.

certainly better than to be robbed of it. I opened my purse and gave him five krans, which he hastily took, and hurried away to make the necessary purchase at a tent which he said was distant about a quarter of a mile.

When he returned his face was beaming with joy, and I really compassioned the poor but honest man who was so anxious to honor his guest.

The supper was soon ready. A huge plate, enough to satisfy half a dozen empty stomachs, was placed before me. He and his wife, whom I ought to have already mentioned, sat opposite. It was only after my long insisting that I could induce them to share the meal with me. At length they began to eat. We became more and more friendly. As we could not finish all our rice at once, the hospitable woman asked me to stop a day longer with them, and to have a second dinner the following evening. My refusal of the kind offer will be readily understood.

The next morning I rose early, bade farewell to my host, who appeared to be extremely touched, and after I gave him and his horse (as is the custom) a parting blessing, I left the tent for my return to Gomushtepo.

I had not been distant more than half an hour's walk from the tent when I suddenly heard a loud shouting behind me, which summoned me to stop in the most threatening terms. Seeing a well-armed horseman in pursuit I stopped immediately. My persecutor approached at a slow pace, and you may fancy my astonishment when I recognized in his person my host of the past evening, that very Turkoman I blessed an hour before! "Stop hadji!" cried my friend with a deep voice and a downcast eye? "give me your purse and all you have on you, or I—"

My astonishment had no limits, and, as I took the whole affair for a joke, and laughed in his face, the Turkoman grew angry, and said: "Don't delay, Hadji or I will be obliged to offend you."

As robbery is not an offence in the eyes of a Turkoman, I thought it advisable to obey his summons. I handed him my purse, also about three or four spoofuls of green tea I had on me, and a piece of old cloth which I used instead of a handkerchief. He took all of my property without the slightest compunction, put it in his sack, and just when I was ready to continue my way, he called me back opened my purse (now his own) and gave me five krans from it, saying:

"There, Hadji, take my debt of yesterday evening! I think it was just five krans. I don't like to be a debtor!"

"What a strange honesty!" I thought to myself, as I took the money. The robber now appeared quite satisfied. In his views of moral and social life he had accomplished a noble deed, and was impudent enough to ask me, on parting, for a second blessing, which of course I could not refuse. I believe his untainted conscience was perfectly satisfied in the whole transaction.

Such pictures of mingled virtues

either as a whole, or in any of its parts. There is a good assortment of gladiolus, but the dahlias were few, and not at all to compare with those that are sent from Quebec, annually, to the Montreal exhibition. But if Ontario is behind Quebec in flowers, it is far ahead of us in fruits. The quantity exhibited is, at least, three times as great, and the variety much better. There are fine assortments of apples here, not better, however, than some Montreal assortments; but in pears, plums, peaches and grapes, the Hamilton Exhibition is far, far ahead of that at Montreal. In vegetables, Lower Canada cannot be surpassed.

In poultry, the Hamilton show surpassed Montreal considerably, having a greater number and variety, and some fowls of greater beauty than any I saw at Montreal. I was, however, very sorry to see such an extensive show of game fowls, a breed which is not in any respect equal to other breeds, except for the cruel practice of fighting, which we hope is not common in Ontario. The Hamburgs, Cochins, and Brahams are very fine, but there is only one exhibitor of the latter, and he has a white breed.

The department of machinery and agricultural implements is much more extensive here than in Lower Canada, and there were two machines which, from their novelty, attracted much attention. One of these was a traction engine, which went over the ground pretty smartly, notwithstanding some inequalities. It was not, however, drawing any vehicles behind it. The other was a machine drawn by two horses, for cutting drains. The cutter was a wheel furnished with teeth, which loosened the earth and elevated it to a hopper, that throw it out on either side. By going over the same track several times, a drain was dug out very evenly, about a foot wide and two feet deep. It would hardly operate, however, in stony ground.

A remarkable feature of the show was a railroad passenger-car, of a new and beautiful style and luxurious finish from the Great Western carfactory. This car was greatly admired by the many thousands who passed through it, and its soft cushions and easy-backed seats will render sleeping cars scarcely necessary.

There was one feature in which we are sorry to say Hamilton greatly exceeded Montreal,—which was bad enough,—and that was the number of liquor-tents, booths, and shanties in the vicinity of the show-ground. Nay, there appeared to us to be several places for the sale of liquors even within the enclosure; and the effects of the traffic, thus encouraged, became distinctly visible towards evening in the loud talking and boisterous conduct of youths, and feeling of old men and even some in the prime of life. Will the virtue of Ontario not put a veto on such goings on at her Provincial Exhibition? On account of more general education, she should be far ahead of Quebec in this respect, instead of being, so far as we could judge, far behind.

We are happy to close with a point of contrast in which Ontario was far ahead of Montreal. The Hamilton Young Men's Association had free liberty to circulate tracts and books in the grounds,—a liberty denied to the French Canadian Missionary Society in Montreal, which only sought to sell the Scriptures and circulate uncontroversial tracts and books.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.
There were very few exhibitors from Montreal, or indeed from Lower Canada, and almost as few visitors. This is to be regretted as each Province should keep up a lively interest in the progress of the other, and cherish a spirit of amicable rivalry in everything that is good. The press of Hamilton and Toronto, which was pretty much occupied with exhibition matters for three or four days, spoke very favorably of the portions of the exhibition which were from the Province of Quebec.

or large. Another load lot coming heretofore, be every load mus and seventy-five thereon. This I police of trying by establishing course between are mutually a policy which have been ran anomalous position which has ravenous for these colonies the desire for our neighbours.

It is a plea Great Western being swift, smooth, and, the last cars making one fear the track. The suppose, what to be; name English railroads.

I learned that Mr. Chinin, time Province one of his study among the that four of the Knox Colle to complete the try. J. D.—Mr

An English great speed with a velocity lunge a locom

Correspond Slavonia, of horses are the Italian artillery purp

In 1871 t census of its population is and fifty milli

A minister a congregat persona. Pe assessed to p

Prompt p does not a feature of so St. John jour has, gives a full, of the Lapra is dated 22 Brunswick a number of p representative

There is a who has a what game n Hazzard.

The Chinese things in th a thorough the principl

A white have been r Kent count

At L'Ass been cons of Montrea Diptheris sion Bridg

Senator l on account

Mrs. A Europe on

Crinolin reduced fo

Black la the adorni A comi seized bec It was tak Majesty.

Express,

AMERICAN.

Sept. 16, 1868.

TERMS.—$2 PER ANNUM, $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

NO. 33.

and vices are often found amongst the nomads of Central Asia. I had certainly a curious glimpse of barbarian life in this adventure with the hospital and honest robber.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton, Sept. 25, 1868.
Being back from the Montreal exhibition, the first points in that of Hamilton which struck me were those of contrast and the local. There was the aspect of the ground. The scenery of Hamilton is most attractive. In fact, it is a fine site for a city. The water is pure and the air is fresh. The places of amusement are numerous and courses for the various kinds of sports. The roads round part of the ground have a perfect view of the city and the water.

There were many fine specimens of the various kinds of the exhibition. The local products were very fine. The foreign products were also very fine. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

bed. Among these were an extensive assortment of paper collars, cuffs, fronts, &c., from the manufactory of Messrs. Rice Brothers of Montreal, and a fine assortment of glass ware, from the St. Lawrence Glass Company, also of Montreal, which took first prizes. I have already mentioned the fact, that Mr. Cochran's stock took quite a number of first prizes, but great disappointment was expressed here as it was thought that he had not brought in his thousand times better in the exhibition. There is no doubt about it, but the amount.

There was, however, one department in the show room which attracted me, and had been described to me by a friend of mine, a merchant, named Mr. Deane. He had a building, named, and so forth. There were specimens of most of these important sources of wealth, but they were very common, and I did not see any thing new.

There were, however, some fine specimens of the various kinds of the exhibition. The local products were very fine. The foreign products were also very fine. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it. The exhibition was a great success. The people of Hamilton were very pleased with it.

Select Reading.

DR. JAMES BURNS.

While residing in Perth, he joined the society whose bond of union was devotion to the use of ardent spirits, and Dr. Burns adopted the more complete and absolute abstemious plan. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same.

He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same.

He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same.

He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same.

He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same.

He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same. He was a member of the Perth Temperance Society, and for many years he was the secretary of the same.

CRIME IN GERMANY.

A young lady in Munich, named Emma Schlegel, was recently detected in a singular crime. For some weeks the families inhabiting the hotel where Mrs. Schlegel lived had been subject to frequent alarming but exceedingly varied attacks of illness. After a long police investigation it was discovered that the young lady had a lover, a student named Von Beck, who was an enthusiastic devotee to physiology, toxicology and similar branches of study that he passed no one as a subject of his experiments. Most of his time was spent in devising or investigating the most subtle poisons, and those difficult of detection, and his mistress aided him in these studies by administering his drugs to her fellow tenants.

This trial revealed the fact that Von Beck and Emma had spared themselves as little as other people, their bodies being marked with scars of experiments which had involved a terrible amount of long continued pain, while the young lady boasted with triumph of the poisons and antidotes which she had swallowed. The pair escaped with a nominal punishment, and received a decided eulogy in the columns of the "Tagblatt" for their "heroic, though mistaken devotion to the cause of science."

At Rastatt, in Swabia, a little boy named for his beauty and goodness, the son of a miller, was detected in stealing money from his father and in being questioned, declared that Black John, a well-known name and outlaw of the neighborhood, had threatened to cut off all his fingers unless he would bring him, Black John, every day a certain sum. He was let off with a reprimand but he was in terrible alarm that John should carry out his threat. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story.

The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story.

The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story.

The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story.

The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story.

The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story. The boy had no other way of escape but to go to the police and tell the whole story.

16. 1868.

TERMS — $2 PER ANNUM, $5.50 IN ADVANCE

NO. 33.

and vices are often found amongst the nomads of Central Asia. I had certainly a curious glimpse of barbarian life in this adventure with the hospital and honest robber!

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton, Sept. 25, 1868.
Being fresh from the Montreal exhibition, the first points in that of Hamilton which struck me were those of contrast, and the first of these was the aspect of the ground. The enclosure at Hamilton is much larger than that at Montreal, and instead of being nearly a level field it is all heights and hollows, with here and there level places of sufficient size for rings or courses for the various kinds of stock. The sheds round part of the ground have a permanent character, and the rest of the place is within the enclosure. There were also quite a number of new sheds erected for cattle, sheep, fowls, fruits and flowers &c., and part of these being in the form of enclosed buildings, together with a number of refreshment tents gave a fine appearance to the grounds.

The second point of difference was the greater concourse of people, in fact this was the chief attraction of the show. During Wednesday and Thursday, every part of the building and everything going on in the open air was so crowded that it was in many places difficult to see anything, and when one got into the current he was necessarily swept along until he met a counter-current, when the jam became dangerous for ladies and children, of whom many were in the crowd. The stream of people constantly coming and going, and the number of farmers' wagons and buggies standing in the streets, were very great. It is estimated that 25,000 people were on the ground in the course of Wednesday, and the number on Thursday was equally great. These were for the most part farmers, and the grown up members of their families, being the most numerous and important people of Canada, and it was pleasant to overhear the many dialects or brogues spoken among them; there was Yorkshire in its integrity, and Northumberland with its rolling burr; there were highland Scotch and lowland Scotch (the latter very numerous,) and north of Ireland, all respectfully represented and in fact almost every part of the three kingdoms together with Pennsylvania Dutch and the unmistakable New Englander. A large portion, however, were young men and women born in Canada, who had lost in a great measure the peculiar brogue of their parents.

In the department of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs, both exhibitions were very good. It is, however, to be remarked. Among these were an extensive assortment of paper collars, cuffs, fronts, &c., from the manufactory of Messrs. Rice Brothers of Montreal, and a fine assortment of glass-ware, from the St. Lawrence Glass Company, also of Montreal, which took first prizes. I have already mentioned the fact, that Mr. Cochrane's stock took quite a number of first prizes; but great disappointment was expressed here, as at Montreal, that he had not brought on his thousand-guinea heifer to the exhibition. There is considerable curiosity to see that animal.

There was, however, one department of the show upon which sufficient care had not been bestowed,—namely, that of minerals, coal-oil, salt, peat, marble, building-stone, and so forth. There were specimens of most of these important sources of wealth, but they were very obstructive and easily overlooked. Had some geologist procured and arranged abundant specimens of all the treasures of this kind in an attractive and striking manner, it would have been one of the most important departments of the exhibition. There should especially been a little stock of peat from the Welland bog of the Anglo-American Peat Company, instead of a few bars. What was displayed, however, was very satisfactory, being about as hard, dry, and heavy as coal. The exhibition at Montreal was equally deficient in mineral products. The rain this morning, doubtless, diminished the attendance on this last day very considerably, and caused a great number to leave by the morning trains, who would otherwise have remained till the afternoon. The train for the west, for instance, consisted of fifteen first-class passenger-cars, all crowded; three-fourths of which were probably filled with parties returning from the exhibition. The train on Thursday night was about as long, besides special mixed trains, in which great numbers of platform cars had been furnished with covers and seats for the occasion. The excursion-tickets in every direction, were made very low, a policy which drew out an immense number of visitors to the exhibition, variously estimated at from sixty to eighty thousand.

OTHER MATTERS.

Windsor, Sept. 26.
In passing through Ontario, I find farmers and merchants somewhat jubilant over two unforeseen sources of profit. The cattle disease in the West has so frightened the consumers of meat in the States, that cattle from Canada, where there is no disease, bring a very high price, and buyers are scouring the country to purchase and accept all the beef cattle they can find. Barley also has risen far higher than was expected, and many American Select Reading.

DR. JAMES BURNS.

While residing in Perth, he joined the society whose bond of union was opposition to the use of ardent spirits; and in 1856 he adopted the more consistent total abstinence platform, lectures, and speeches almost innumerable. For seven years he edited the weekly 'Temperance Journal,' and for twenty-eight years successively has preached an annual temperance discourse in his own place of worship. When the United Kingdom Alliance was formed in 1853, he extended to it an earnest welcome, and delivered in the October following its inaugural sermon, which was published under the title of 'Drinking and Lawlessness,' and widely circulated. During the first years of this agitation, he rendered it important assistance as one of its deputations, and his interest in its progress continues unabated to the present day. Beside pastoral and philanthropic claims and the labors of authorship, Dr. Burns's engagements are of a multifarious character, and include the duties of a vestryman of Paddington, in which parish he has resided since 1846. A ruddy complexion and hale appearance give to Dr. Burns, though in his sixty-third year, the visible signs of superior vigor, which is maintained by attention to the simple but too often neglected rules of health. Time seems to have pressed gently upon him, except in the silvering it has bestowed upon his hair. He is still 'strong to labor,' and he must greatly change before the desire to labor falls below the measure of the former.—'Christian Times.'

UTAH AND POLYGAMY.—A correspondent of the San Francisco 'Bulletin' says the traveller arriving from the East into Utah comes to it prepared to be easily pleased with everything he finds. The trip over the desert from the Missouri river is a rough one, and getting back again into civilization is of itself such a luxury that everything pleases. The consequence is that Utah has been represented as a garden, which, indeed, it is, when compared with the surrounding country. But, with few exceptions the farms will not compare with those of California, or the Mississippi valley. The system of irrigation, too, for which the Mormons have received so much credit, has really involved but little labor, owing to the numerous streams which course down the mountain sides, and which are easily diverted. There is evidence of much poverty among the farm settlements. Two-thirds of the houses are

A young lady, in London, named Emma Schuyler, was recently detected in a singular crime. For some weeks the landlady inhabiting the hotel where she had been had been subject to frequent alarming but exceedingly varied attacks of illness. After a long and tedious investigation it was discovered that the young lady had a lover, a student named Von Beck, who was so industriously devoted to physiology, anatomy and similar branches of study that he seemed to cut no subject of his experiments. Most of his time was spent in devising or investigating the most subtle poisons and those difficult of detection, and his mistress aided him in these studies by administering his drugs to her fellow inmates.

This trial revealed the fact that Von Beck and Emma had secured themselves as little as other people, their bodies being marked with scars of experiments which had involved a terrible amount of long continued pain, while the young lady boasted with triumph, at the poisons and antidotes which she had swallowed. The pair escaped with a nominal punishment, and received a decided eulogy in the columns of the 'Tribune' for their 'heroic, though mistaken devotion to the cause of science.'

At Hellenburg, in Swabia, a little boy noted for his honesty and goodness, the son of a miller, was detected in stealing money from his father and on being questioned, declared that Black John, a well-known rascal and outlaw of the neighbourhood, had threatened to cut off all his fingers unless he would bring him, Black John, every day a certain sum. He was let off with a reprimand but he was in terrible alarm lest John should carry out his threat. The next day he came running to his father in extreme agony, declaring that Black John had chased him with a knife, and being seized with convulsions, actually died of fright.

The father of the boy being a man of great strength and impetuous passions, at once seized a knife and rushing forth encountered Black John with the irresistible fury of a madman, and having beat him to helplessness and bound him, deliberately cut off all his fingers and thumbs, heedless of the screams of his victim. The editor of the 'Criminal Zeitung' observes that, while every detail of this case is reported with fidelity, it resembles in a striking degree an event which occurred near Altoning in 1784, the only difference being that the former case was a girl, and that the criminal did actually cut her fingers off.

The Romance of a Lead Mine.

A correspondent of the Chicago 'Republican,' describing a visit to the lead region of Illinois and Wisconsin, tells this story: 'One of the richest mines in Mineral Point has a story of some interest. Many years ago a party of speculators, adventurers all, three in number, bought up a tract of land on which to demonstrate a theory in regard to mining, which one of the party had originated. The other men, his companions and partners, were the money men of the company, who had been duped by the one who had the pet theory. One entire season, from early spring to autumn, was spent in hard labor by these men. Their expenses were ruinous. No matter, it was all in vain; labor and money were alike unavailable, and when the winter of that year (1848) came on, they found themselves unable to proceed, and still very far from success. They 'pulled up stakes' and went away to a neighboring settlement, where they tarried for a few weeks, putting up at the only public house in the place, hoping, as a last resort to effect a sale of their prop-more than the tent was a loud rich sum-

An English amateur has attained the great speed of fifteen miles per hour with a velocipede, and intends to challenge a locomotive.

To illustrate the need of the criticisms, a single instance of bad management shall suffice. Last May a meeting was announced, and a plea was informed the public, that the attraction would be 'revival narratives of what God had wrought in so many places during the winter past. But, the dismay of the great congregation, the first speaker read from a manuscript a sermon an hour long, upon 'revivals,' and no facts were related to conversions, though the preacher came from the midst of a wonderful work of grace. The crowds who came up, at great expense, to attend the anniversary, will continue to diminish.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The account of this disaster as given by Archibald Graham a deck hand, is as follows:—
About 1 o'clock this morning, when 20 miles off Putneyville, we were called up and found the propeller on fire. The fire commenced near the smoke pipe and in less than fifteen minutes the boat was burned to the water's edge. The two mates, porter, wheelman and myself launched a life boat, and were picked up by the propeller "Enterprise," about five o'clock this morning. The crew consisted of seventeen men, and two women, fourteen of whom were lost including the captain. I think none of the others made any attempt to save themselves. I do not know the names of the crew.

either as a whole, or in any of its parts. There is a good assortment of gladioli, but the dahlias were few, and not at all to compare with those that are sent from Quebec, annually, to the Montreal exhibition. But if Ontario is behind Quebec in flowers, it is far ahead of us in fruits. The quantity exhibited is, at least, three times as great, and the variety much better. There are fine assortments of apples here, not better, however, than some Montreal assortments; but in pears, plums, peaches and grapes, the Hamilton Exhibition is far, far ahead of that at Montreal. In vegetables, Lower Canada cannot be surpassed.

In poultry, the Hamilton show surpassed Montreal considerably, having a greater number and variety, and some fowls of greater beauty than any I saw at Montreal. I was, however, very sorry to see such an extensive show of game fowls, a breed which is not in any respect equal to other breeds, except for the cruel practice of fighting, which we hope is not common in Ontario. The Hamburgs, Cochins, and Bantams are very fine, but there is only one exhibitor of the latter, and he has a white breed.

The department of machinery and agricultural implements is much more extensive here than in Lower Canada, and there were two machines which, from their novelty, attracted much attention. One of these was a traction engine, which went over the ground pretty smartly, notwithstanding some inequalities. It was not, however, drawing any vehicles behind it. The other was a machine drawn by two horses, for cutting drains. The cutter was a wheel furnished with teeth, which loosened the earth and elevated it to a hopper, that throw it out on either side. By going over the same track several times, a drain was dug out very evenly, about a foot wide and two feet deep. It would hardly be of use, however, in strong ground.

A remarkable feature of the show was a railroad passenger-car, of a new and beautiful style and luxurious finish from the Great Western carfactory. This car was greatly admired by the many thousands who passed through it, and its soft cushions and easy-backed seats will render sleeping cars scarcely necessary.

There was one feature in which we are sorry to say Hamilton greatly exceeded Montreal,—which was bad enough,—and that was the number of liquor tents, booths, and shanties in the vicinity of the show-ground. Nay, there appeared to me to be several places for the sale of liquors even within the enclosure; and the effects of the traffic, thus encouraged, became distinctly visible towards evening in the long talking and boisterous conduct of youths, and reeling of old men and even some in the prime of life. Will the virtue of Ontario not put a veto on such goings on at her Provincial Exhibition? On account of more general education, she should be far ahead of Quebec in this respect, instead of being, so far as we could judge, far behind.

We are happy to close with a point of contrast in which Ontario was far ahead of Montreal. The Hamilton Young Men's Association had free liberty to circulate tracts and books in the grounds,—a liberty denied to the French Canadian Missionary Society in Montreal, which only sought to sell the Scriptures and circulate uncontroversial tracts and books. J. D.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

There were very few exhibitors from Montreal, or indeed from Lower Canada, and almost as few visitors. This is to be regretted as each Province should keep up a lively interest in the progress of the other, and cherish a spirit of amicable rivalry in everything that is good. The press of Hamilton and Toronto, which was pretty much occupied with exhibition matters for three or four days, spoke very favorably of the portions of the exhibition which were from the Province of Quebec. At instance, would confiscate every cargo or load. Another regulation is, that a large lot coming in by teams cannot, as heretofore, be entered altogether, but every load must be entered separately, and seventy-five cents of fees paid thereon. This looks like a return to the police of trying to coerce annexation, by establishing a practical non-intercourse between two countries which are mutually nourished by each other. A policy which probably would not have been renewed but for the very anomalous position of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. As the young lion which has tasted blood becomes ravenous for prey, so the attitude of these colonies seems to have aroused the desire for expansion on the part of our neighbours.

It is a pleasure to come over the Great Western Railroad, the motion being swift, smooth, and comparatively noiseless, and, however large the train, the last cars are free from that undulating and swinging motion which makes one fear that they will swing off the track. The Great Western is, we suppose, what Grand Trunk was intended to be; namely, equal to a first-class English railroad.

I learned here from Rev. Mr. Kemp that Mr. Chiniquy is still in the Maritime Provinces, where he has placed one of his students as the first missionary among the Acadians; I also learned that four of these students are going to Knox College, Toronto, this winter, to complete their studies for the ministry. J. D.—'Montreal Witness.'

An English amateur has attained the great speed of fifteen miles per hour with a velocipede, and intends to challenge a locomotive.

Correspondence from Croatia and Slavonia mentions that great numbers of horses are being purchased there by the Italian government, evidently for artillery purposes.

In 1871 the first really thorough census of India is to be taken. The population is estimated at one hundred and fifty million souls.

A minister in Lee, Mass. preaches to a congregation averaging about five persons. Few rents must be high if assessed to pay the minister.

Prompt publication of intelligence does not appear to be a prominent feature of some provincial papers. A St. John journal, which shall be nameless, gives in the number this day to hand, a full, true, and particular account of the Laprairie Prize meeting; which is dated 22nd September last. New Brunswick claims great credit for the number of prizes carried off by its representatives.

There is a gallant Colonel in town who has a weakness for poultry. To what game may be likened? Chicken Hazzard.

The Chinese ambassadors learned many things in the United States, including a thorough and practical knowledge of the principles of euche.

A white woman and colored man have been robbed and murdered in New Kent county, Ky.

At L'Assomption, a new church has been consecrated by the R. C. Bishop of Montreal.

Diphtheria is prevalent at the Suspension Bridge.

Senator Sumner is forbidden to speak on account of a throat disease.

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln sails for Europe on Thursday next.

Crinoline is to be enlarged instead of reduced for the coming season.

Black lace is no longer confined to the adornment of evening toilets.

A comic paper in Spain was recently seized because it glorified thin women. It was taken as a slur upon her porosity. Majesty.

ANNIVERSARY MEETINGS.

A correspondent, in accounting for the declining interest in our anniversaries, says:

First, a practice prevails, and it is the death of the meetings, of bringing forward third-rate speakers, merely by way of compliment. The managers say, 'A. B. is a good friend to our cause; we will gratify him with an invitation to address the meeting.' Thus A. B. is delighted and two or three thousand others are disgusted. The best orators should be relentlessly preferred, without consulting private feelings.

Again, that only should be said which the audience came to hear. They do not desire, but simply endure, the tedious 'reports' of officers, vociferous common-places, and glib triteness; they want thought, relevant, concise, and powerful. The right men, speaking on specified points and limited in time, will make the anniversary meetings profitable and crowded as in former days.

To illustrate the need of these criticisms, a single instance of bad management shall suffice. Last May, a meeting was announced, and a placard informed the public, that the attraction would be 'revival narratives,' of what God had wrought in so many places during the winter past. But, to the dismay of the great congregation, the first speaker read from a manuscript a sermon an hour long, upon 'revivals,' and no facts were related as to conversions, though the preacher came from the midst of a wonderful work of grace. The crowds who go up, at great expense, to attend the anniversaries, will continue to diminish, and the whole system will be run into and under the ground, unless those who have the conduct of the meetings can be induced to turn over a new leaf.—Boston paper.

Small acts of kindness, how pleasant and desirable do they make life! Every dark object is made light by them, and every tear of sorrow is brushed away. When the heart is sad, and despondency sits at the entrance to the soul, a trifling kindness drives away despair and makes the path cheerful and pleasant.

I would not give much for your religion unless it can be seen. Lamps do not talk, but they do shine. A light-house sounds no drum, it beats no gong, and yet far over the waters its friendly spark is seen by the mariner. So let your actions shine out your religion. Let the main sermon of life be illustrated by your conduct, and it shall not fail to be illustrious.

The French fishery of Newfoundland has been a bad failure this year.

The baptismal register of Dieraeli has been found. He was baptised in 1817, when he was 12 years old.

The elder Dumas is writing a romance from the incidents of Ada Menken's melancholly life.

A new club for English Reformers is about to be started. It is to be called the Adelphi, and will be cheap.

Gov. Orr, of South Carolina, is about to remove to St. Joseph, Missouri, to practise law.

It is said that Mr. Cunard has decided to replace the English steamers withdrawn from Boston a few months ago.

The Titusville Herald says that the coming winter promises to be the busiest ever known in the Pennsylvania oil regions.

A highly-educated constable somewhere in the North-west exposes for sale a roan horse, 'or so much thereof as may be necessary' to satisfy the judgment.

way. Once there, he found only a wretched little cabin, which would but poorly shelter a man at such a season. However he held on hopefully and patiently, confident that his day would soon come. So he wore out the long hard winter, and when the spring finally came he was found at work with a will. In spite of continued failure, he kept on month after month, loath to leave all in which his money was invested. In time, however, just as the poor man was on the point of abandoning the place, a stranger came to his cabin. He was a geologist and miner of practical experience. He had traced a rich vein of mineral through a long distance, and located it at last right in the midst of the poor Welchman's possessions. The two men went to mining together, and before two years secured independent fortunes. Right there are still some of the richest mines in the region.'

LOSS OF THE PROPELLER PER SEVERANCE.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept 6.—The account of this disaster as given by Archibald Graham a deck hand, is as follows: About 1 o'clock this morning, when 20 miles off Putneyville, we were called up and found the propeller on fire. The fire commenced near the smoke pipe and in less than fifteen minutes the boat was burned to the waters edge. The two mates, porter, wheelman and myself launched a life boat, and were picked up by the propeller 'Enterprise,' about five o'clock this morning. The crew consisted of seventeen men, and two women, fourteen of whom were lost including the captain. I think none of the others made any attempt to save themselves. I do not know the names of the crew.

The Ottawa 'Times' pitches into the police for its bad management.

Government expenditure in Oswego is attracting newspaper discussion.

The corner stone of a new House of Assembly has been laid in Springfield, Ill.

'Satan in Paris' is delighting crowded audiences at the Montreal theatre.

A bear has been caught in a trap at Oak Bay. Mr. Bruin had been making free with the farmer's sheep.

The Victoria 'Warder' [Lindsay paper] is crying out for the police to protect the public.

Arrangements for spending the coming winter evenings in an agreeable manner are being announced in all parts of the Dominion.

Sporting watches are being pushed through everywhere in view of the near winter season.

An attempt has been made to fire the train of Lexington, Miss., but was checked in time to prevent serious results.

The Chicago 'Evening Post,' referring to a contemporary, says it utterly 'discards all regards for truth, or anything approaching it.'

Thieves are giving Chicago a deal of trouble, and the police require sharpening up.

Satisfaction is expressed by the Lower Province newspapers at the regular running of the Canadian mail boats this season.

The potato blight has appeared in the neighborhood of Picton. The crop is unusually good.

A new line of clipper ships is established between Glasgow and Montreal. The first vessel, the Lake Ontario, has arrived at Quebec and was immediately towed up the river.

An union of tobaccoists is being organized throughout the State to protest against the tobacco tax law. Truly 'union is the order of the day.'

robbed a whole, or in any of its parts. There is a good assortment of gladioli, but the dahlias were few, and not at all to compare with those that are sent from Quebec, annually, to the Montreal exhibition. But if Ontario is behind Quebec in flowers, it is far ahead of us in fruits. The quantity exhibited is, at least, three times as great, and the variety much better. There are fine assortments of apples here, not better, however, than some Montreal assortments; but in pears, plums, peaches and grapes, the Hamilton Exhibition is far, far ahead of that at Montreal. In vegetables, Lower Canada cannot be surpassed.

In poultry, the Hamilton show surpassed Montreal considerably, having a greater number and variety, and some fowls of greater beauty than any I saw at Montreal. I was, however, very sorry to see such an extensive show of game fowls, a breed which is not in any respect equal to other breeds, except for the cruel practice of fighting, which we hope is not common in Ontario. The Hamburgs, Cochins, and Bantams are very fine, but there is only one exhibitor of the latter, and he has a white breed.

The department of machinery and agricultural implements is much more extensive here than in Lower Canada, and there were two machines which, from their novelty, attracted much attention. One of these was a traction engine, which went over the ground pretty smartly, notwithstanding some inequalities. It was not, however, drawing any vehicles behind it. The other was a machine drawn by two horses, for cutting drains. The cutter was a wheel furnished with teeth, which loosened the earth and elevated it to a hopper, that threw it out on either side. By going over the same track several times, a drain was dug out very evenly, about a foot wide and two feet deep. It would hardly be of use, however, in strong ground.

A remarkable feature of the show was a railroad passenger-car, of a new and beautiful style and luxurious finish from the Great Western carfactory. This car was greatly admired by the many thousands who passed through it, and its soft cushions and easy-backed seats will render sleeping cars scarcely necessary.

There was one feature in which we are sorry to say Hamilton greatly exceeded Montreal,—which was bad enough,—and that was the number of liquor tents, booths, and shanties in the vicinity of the show-ground. Nay, there appeared to us to be several places for the sale of liquors even within the enclosure; and the effects of the traffic, thus encouraged, became distinctly visible towards evening in the loud talking and boisterous conduct of youths, and reeling of old men and even some in the prime of life. Will the virtue of Ontario not put a veto on such goings on at her Provincial Exhibition? On account of more general education, she should be far ahead of Quebec in this respect, instead of being, so far as we could judge, far behind.

We are happy to close with a point of contrast in which Ontario was far ahead of Montreal. The Hamilton Young Men's Association had free liberty to circulate tracts and books in the grounds,—a liberty denied to the French Canadian Missionary Society in Montreal, which only sought to sell the Scriptures and circulate uncontroversial tracts and books. J. D.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

There were very few exhibitors from Montreal, or indeed from Lower Canada, and almost as few visitors. This is to be regretted as each Province should keep up a lively interest in the progress of the other, and cherish a spirit of amicable rivalry in everything that is good. The press of Hamilton and Toronto, which was pretty much occupied with exhibition matters for three or four days, spoke very favorably of the portions of the exhibition which were from the Province of Quebec, should confiscate every cargo or load. Another regulation is, that a large lot coming in by teams cannot, as heretofore, be entered altogether, but every load must be entered separately, and seventy-five cents of fees paid thereon. This looks like a return to the police of trying to coerce annexation, by establishing a practical non-intercourse between two countries which are mutually nourished by each other. A policy which probably would not have been renewed but for the very anomalous position of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. As the young lion which has tasted blood becomes ravenous for prey, so the attitude of these colonies seems to have aroused the desire for expansion on the part of our neighbours.

It is a pleasure to come over the Great Western Railroad, the motion being swift, smooth, and comparatively noiseless, and, however large the train, the last cars are free from that undulating and swinging motion which makes one fear that they will swing off the track. The Great Western is, we suppose, what Grand Trunk was intended to be; namely, equal to a first-class English railroad.

I learned here from Rev. Mr. Kemp that Mr. Chiniquy is still in the Maritime Provinces, where he has placed one of his students as the first missionary among the Acadians. I also learned that four of these students are going to Knox College, Toronto, this winter, to complete their studies for the ministry. J. D.—Montreal Witness.

An English amateur has attained the great speed of fifteen miles per hour with a velocipede, and intends to challenge a locomotive.

Correspondence from Croatia and Slavonia mentions that great numbers of horses are being purchased there by the Italian government, evidently for artillery purposes.

In 1871 the first really thorough census of India is to be taken. The population is estimated at one hundred and fifty million souls.

A minister in Lee, Mass., preaches to a congregation averaging about five persons. Pew rents must be high if assessed to pay the minister.

Prompt publication of intelligence does not appear to be a prominent feature of some provincial papers. A St. John journal, which shall be nameless, gives in the number this day to hand, a full, true and particular account of the Laprairie Prize meeting; which is dated 22nd September last. New Brunswick claims great credit for the number of prizes carried off by its representatives.

There is a gallant Colonel in town who has a weakness for poultry. To what game may be likened? Chicken Hazzard.

The Chinese ambassadors learned many things in the United States, including a thorough and practical knowledge of the principles of euche.

A white woman and colored man have been robbed and murdered in New Kent county, Ky.

At L'Assomption, a new church has been consecrated by the R. C. Bishop of Montreal.

Diphtheria is prevalent at the Suspension Bridge.

Senator Sumner is forbidden to speak on account of a throat disease.

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln sails for Europe on Thursday next.

Crimoline is to be enlarged instead of reduced for the coming season.

Black lace is no longer confined to the adornment of evening toilets.

A comic paper in Spain was recently seized because it glorified thin women. It was taken as a slur upon her porosity. Majesty.

ANNIVERSARY MEETINGS.

A correspondent, in accounting for the declining interest in our anniversaries, says:

First, a practice prevails, and it is the death of the meetings, of bringing forward third-rate speakers, merely by way of compliment. The managers say, 'A. B. is a good friend to our cause; we will gratify him with an invitation to address the meeting.' Thus A. B. is delighted and two or three thousand others are disgusted. The best orators should be relentlessly preferred, without consulting private feelings.

Again, that only should be said which the audience came to hear. They do not desire, but simply endure, the tedious 'reports' of officers, vociferous common-places, and glib triteness; they want thought, relevant, concise, and powerful. The right men, speaking on specified points and limited in time, will make the anniversary meetings profitable and crowded as in former days.

To illustrate the need of these criticisms, a single instance of bad management shall suffice. Last May, a meeting was announced, and a placard informed the public, that the attraction would be 'revival narratives,' of what God had wrought in so many places during the winter past. But, to the dismay of the great congregation, the first speaker read from a manuscript a sermon an hour long, upon 'revivals,' and no facts were related as to conversions, though the preacher came from the midst of a wonderful work of grace. The crowds who go up, at great expense, to attend the anniversaries, will continue to diminish, and the whole system will be run into and under the ground, unless those who have the conduct of the meetings can be induced to turn over a new leaf.—Boston paper.

Small acts of kindness, how pleasant and desirable do they make life! Every dark object is made light by them, and every tear of sorrow is brushed away. When the heart is sad, and despondency sits at the entrance to the soul, a trifling kindness drives away despair and makes the path cheerful and pleasant.

I would not give much for your religion unless it can be seen. Lamps do not talk, but they do shine. A light-house sounds no drum, it beats no gong, and yet far over the waters its friendly spark is seen by the mariner. So let your actions shine out your religion. Let the main sermon of life be illustrated by your conduct, and it shall not fail to be illustrious.

The French fishery of Newfoundland has been a bad failure this year.

The baptismal register of Dieraeli has been found. He was baptised in 1817, when he was 12 years old.

The elder Dumas is writing a romance from the incidents of Ada Menken's melancholy life.

A new club for English Reformers is about to be started. It is to be called the Adelphi, and will be cheap.

Gov. Orr, of South Carolina, is about to remove to St. Joseph, Missouri, to practise law.

It is said that Mr. Cunard has decided to replace the English steamers withdrawn from Boston a few months ago.

The Titusville Herald says that the coming winter promises to be the busiest ever known in the Pennsylvania oil regions.

A highly-educated constable somewhere in the North-west exposes for sale a roan horse, 'or so much thereof as may be necessary' to satisfy the judgment.

way. Once there, he found only a wretched little cabin, which would but poorly shelter a man at such a season. However he held on hopefully and patiently, confident that his day would soon come. So he wore out the long hard winter, and when the spring finally came he was found at work with a will. In spite of continued failure, he kept on month after month, loath to leave all in which his money was invested. In time, however, just as the poor man was on the point of abandoning the place, a stranger came to his cabin. He was a geologist and miner of practical experience. He had traced a rich vein of mineral through a long distance, and located it at last right in the midst of the poor Welchman's possessions. The two men went to mining together, and before two years secured independent fortunes. Right there are still some of the richest mines in the region.

LOSS OF THE PROPELLER PER SEVERANCE.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept 6.—The account of this disaster as given by Archibald Graham a deck hand, is as follows: About 1 o'clock this morning, when 20 miles off Putneyville, we were called up and found the propeller on fire. The fire commenced near the smoke pipe and in less than fifteen minutes the boat was burned to the waters edge. The two mates, porter, wheelman and myself launched a life boat, and were picked up by the propeller 'Enterprise,' about five o'clock this morning. The crew consisted of seventeen men, and two women, fourteen of whom were lost including the captain. I think none of the others made any attempt to save themselves. I do not know the names of the crew.

The Ottawa 'Times' pitches into the police for its bad management.

Government expenditure in Oswego is attracting newspaper discussion.

The corner stone of a new House of Assembly has been laid in Springfield, Ill.

'Satan in Paris' is delighting crowded audiences at the Montreal theatre.

A bear has been caught in a trap at Oak Bay. Mr. Bruin had been making free with the farmer's sheep.

The Victoria 'Warder' [Lindsay paper] is crying out for the police to protect the public.

Arrangements for spending the coming winter evenings in an agreeable manner are being announced in all parts of the Dominion.

Sporting watches are being pushed through everywhere in view of the near winter season.

An attempt has been made to fire the train of Lexington, Miss., but was checked in time to prevent serious results.

The Chicago 'Evening Post,' referring to a contemporary, says it utterly 'discards all regards for truth, or anything approaching it.'

Thieves are giving Chicago a deal of trouble, and the police require sharpening up.

Satisfaction is expressed by the Lower Province newspapers at the regular running of the Canadian mail boats this season.

The potato blight has appeared in the neighborhood of Picton. The crop is unusually good.

A new line of clipper ships is established between Glasgow and Montreal. The first vessel, the Lake Ontario, has arrived at Quebec and was immediately towed up the river.

An union of tobaccoists is being organized throughout the State to protest against the tobacco tax law. 'Truth is the order of the day.'

Latest from Europe.

(By Atlantic Cable.)

LONDON, Oct. 12.—At Blackburn, a market town in the county of Lancaster, and twenty-two miles from Manchester, a liberal procession was attacked on Sunday by a mob of Tories. Several fights occurred, in which one man was killed and several severely injured.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A despatch from Bombay says that favourable reports have been received of the progress of the expedition against the tribes in the North-Western part of India. The troops have so far met with but slight opposition.

The Fenian prisoners at Dartmoor are to be released.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The Gaulois newspaper publishes a letter from Gen. Prim, which earnestly favors the calling together of the Cortes, and the formation of a kingdom at once. It is said that Prim himself aspires to be king.

PRAGUE, Oct. 12.—The political tumults which had broken out in this city have been suppressed by the Austrian troops who dispersed the various assemblages of the people.

MADRID, Oct. 12.—The following substance of what was said on both sides at the interview between the American Minister and the Duke de Latorre. Mr. Hale, addressing the Duke in the name of the United States, congratulated the Provisional Junta and the people of Spain on a success so marked in a revolution of such grand proportions. He was happy to return the greeting which Spain gave the United States on their entrance into the family of free and sovereign people. The relations between Spain and the United States had always been friendly. Under the present circumstances all his efforts of mind would be exerted to augment the friendship of both peoples. The Duke de Latorre in the course of his reply, said that, amid the ruins of the old rule a structure would be formed, which he believed would merit the approval and sympathy of the United States. Spain now deserved and needed the support of all free nations, and that of the American Government was highly esteemed. The duke concluded by saying the interview would serve to maintain unbroken the relations between two nations, both claiming and exercising successively the principal of national sovereignty. Gen. Dolce has been appointed Captain-General of the island of Cuba.

MADRID, Oct. 12.—The United States is the first nation to recognize the new Provisional Government of Spain. The Madrid Gazette to-day publishes the official recognition made through Mr. Hale, the American minister.

The Junta has declared in favor of additional reforms, among which are the abolition of the death penalty, and the sanctity of private

AMERICAN DETPATOHES.

NEW OCEAN ROUTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—The agent of the Australian and New Zealand Steamship company is in this city, making enquiries and arrangements, looking to a probable change in the route. If sufficient inducements are found to justify it, San Francisco will next spring be made the terminus of the line instead of Panama.

CUBA.

HAVANA, Oct. 12.—The Captain General has issued a proclamation to the inhabitants of Cuba, and to the army here, announcing the creation of a provisional government in Spain, and acknowledging the same. He invites all to join him in allegiance and loyalty to the authorities, and recommends all to peaceably await the course of events. The proclamation has been well received.

PORTO RICO.

Advices from Porto Rico state an official proclamation announces the insurrection at Larrea and Pippino to be insignificant revolts. Private accounts however report them as extensive, and that an outbreak among the native soldiers is feared by the authorities.

MEXICO.

Advices from Mexico state that rich gold mines have been discovered in Guadaluajara.

VENEZUELA.

Advices from Venezuela to the 21st, state that a government vessel had arrived before Maracaybo, and it was supposed a blockade would be established. General Perez has been repulsed by the troops from Madagabo, and has retired higher up the river. The state of Trujillo declared in favour of the central government, and it is expected that Merida will follow.

HAYTI.

A Haytian letter states that the revolutionists gave vent to the most violent outbreaks of indignation and hatred against the United States and the American nation at large, whom they accuse of open assistance to President Salnave, for which assistance they are to recompense the port of Moo, St. Nicholas.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 13.—Weather clear, cool and delightful. Considerable fighting going on in 16th and 20th wards between the police and sheriff's officers. Votes will be very large.

Horrible Tragedy in Brookline, Mass.

Boston, Oct. 9. 1868.

One of the most painful tragedies which has startled the community for a long time took place in the town of Brookline, about four miles from Boston, at an early hour this morning. The act was produced by insanity on the part of the perpetrator, and the victims are his two little sons.

Mr. G. L. Richardson, during the intense heat of last summer, was exposed to the sun in such a manner as to become a victim of sun stroke, ever since which time he has suffered mental depression, and for the past week or ten days he has been too ill to engage in business. Last evening he retired early, and at about one o'clock this morning his wife awoke and found him very nervous. In a few moments he got up took a razor, and going into an adjoining room where his sons were sleeping, he instantly cut the throat of Henry from ear to ear, and then attempted in the same manner to kill his second son. The wounds inflicted were very deep and ugly, and it is possible he may not survive. Mrs. Richardson, hearing the cry of the youngest

FROM MILL POINT.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

MILL POINT, Oct. 5th, 1868.

DEAR SIR,—The writer being aware of the great interest you will take in all matters pertaining to Belleville and its neighborhood, takes the liberty of sending you for publication, the following in regard to this stirring little village.

Leaving Belleville on Saturday afternoon by the steamer 'John Greenway,' which by the way, under the management of the enterprising proprietor, Capt. Porte, is working up a trade between the several ports on the bay and our town, that cannot but result in considerable advantage to our merchants. This idea was impressed upon us during our trip down the bay. The number of passengers on board was quite large, while the quantity of parcels, baskets, barrels of salt, &c., showed that the people who patronize the boat do not come to Belleville for nothing. We were informed by the captain that the season so far has been successful, eighty and 100 people coming to Belleville on one trip. We hope to see this little steamer long continue to flourish on our waters. After enjoying a delightful trip of some two hours and a half down our bay—which although beautiful at all times, is doubly so at this season of the year when the foliage along its shores are covered with the variegated hues of Autumn—we arrived at Mill Point.

The prosperous condition of this village is in the main due to the indomitable energies of that enterprising firm, the Messrs. Rathbun & Son, who since the purchase of the Bogart Mill in our town, may be said to have effected a bond of union, and a unity between the two places, which we trust will result in mutual advantages. The extensive steam saw mill at Mill Point owned by these gentlemen, is in excellent running order, and may be said to be a model of what a mill should be. The Messrs. Rathbun, understand the advantage of systems, and also of having the right men in the right place; consequently everything connected with the establishment goes along like clock-work.

The following particulars will give your readers an idea of the extent of the enterprise of these gentlemen. They refer to the Mill Point establishment, which is the headquarters of the firm. Two hundred and fifty men are employed by them in the different capacities of carpenters, wagon makers, blacksmiths, shipwrights, sawyers of lumber, tailors, gardeners, teamsters, harness-makers, foremen, &c., &c., to whom is paid about fifteen hundred dollars for wages weekly. Also they own house accommodation for 55 families, worth at least yearly a rental value of $2,000. Last year was manufactured, twelve million feet of lumber, one and three quarters million heading, and over two million lath, besides a large quantity of pickets and shingles. In the month of September this season, 1,854,000 feet of lumber was cut. They have shipped this season, already, about 20 million feet of lumber, as well as large quantities of lath, heading, pickets, shingles, &c., &c. In the ship yard where 20 men are employed, 3 vessels have been built, one old one rebuilt, and the fourth new one (intended for the Bay trade) is at present on the stocks.

The firm are also owners of three vessels and one steam tug, constantly employed in their shipping trade. A large store owned by them, containing all the requirements of the workmen and their families, is in full operation in the village.

The principal employees of the firm are W. R. Aylsworth, P. J. S., who attends to everything concerning law matters, &c.; Tobias Butler, Sweeney

Propeller Perseverance Burned.

Oswego, Oct. 8.—The propeller Perseverance, Capt. John Fitzgibbon, of the Welland Railway line, took fire fifteen miles off Pultneyville, about two o'clock this morning, and burned to the water's edge. The fire was first discovered by the engineer, who showed it to the first mate, he being then on watch, and almost before they could realize the appalling fact the propeller was completely enveloped in flames. Two of her boats were on fire before they could be reached, but the third was launched and put off with the two mates, two men and a boy. There were nineteen persons aboard, 14 of whom, including the captain, perished in the flames. The propeller Enterprise, of the same line, was about 15 miles astern of the Perseverance, and she picked up the boat containing the persons above named, and arrived with them at port this afternoon. The Enterprise remained near the burning steamer until daylight, at which time the wreck was still afloat. The captain's son, who was first mate, is among the saved.

The cargo of the Perseverance consisted of 20,147 bushels of corn for P. S. Matt, of Oswego, and both boat and cargo were insured.

The Perseverance was a first-class propeller and was employed wholly in the grain trade between the Welland Railroad and Oswego.

This is one of the most heart-rending accidents which has ever occurred on Lake Ontario, and has cast a gloom over the whole community. Captain Fitzgibbon formerly resided in this city and was well known and much respected.

The following are the names of those lost:—John Fitzgibbon, captain; Michael Fitzgibbon, steward, and son of the captain; Alex. McArthur, first engineer; Charles Mason, second engineer; Andrew and James Patrick and Henry Scott, firemen; Dolf Bisnet, wheelman; four deck hands with unknown French names, and Eros Davis and daughter.

The survivors are Morris Fitzgibbon, first mate, and son of the captain; Wm. Thorp, second mate; Peter Leggo, wheelman; a deck hand, name unknown, and Patrick Lynch, the porter.

The account of the disaster as given by Archibald Graham, a deck hand, is as follows:—"About one o'clock this morning, when about twenty miles off Pultneyville, we were called up and found the propeller on fire. The fire commenced near the smoke pipe, and in less than fifteen minutes the boat was burned to the water's edge. The two mates, porter, wheelman and myself launched a life-boat and were picked up by the propeller Enterprise about five o'clock this morning. The crew consisted of 17 men and two women. I think none of the others made any attempt to save themselves. I do not know the names of any of the crew.—'Leader'.

List of New Advertisements.

Minstrels.—Fish & Thornton. Large Supply.—Boyle & Wright. Farm for Sale.—Jno. Vrooman. Lost.—J. G. Sharp. Insolvent.—W. S. Williams. Axe Helves.—Boyle & Wright. Marriage License.—T. Beenan. Leather Belting.—Boyle & Wright. Insurance.—Jno. Twigg. Hinges.—Boyle & Wright. Mammoth Watch.—W. H. Judd. Brooms &c.—Boyle & Wright. Farm for Sale.—D. Haight. Stove Polish.—Boyle & Wright. New Goods.—Stevenson & Bro. Apple Parers.—Boyle & Wright. Just Opening.—R. Downey. Traces Chains.—Boyle & Wright. Swiss Bell Ringers.—D. G. Waldron, Agt.

fanning
ited in the dep
some ex Huffman and oth this pla dark bu Vain, E was an beasts
Our or we making other an
The sides—
JUDGES—1st Be Hall.
1st Br
2nd N. J
1st Sp
Geo. I. E
Scherm
1st Sp
J. C. Ha
Gordan
1st Sp
Nagett, stine.
1st J
M. Files
Vanelyk
1st ye
H. Houg
1st Sir
Allen, 2n
1st Sw
Wm. Ma
1st Tr
W. J. Sh
1st tw
2nd J. W
JUDGES—1st bee
Nelson D
1st tw
2nd Joh
Files.
1st Hei
Huffman
1st Oxe
3rd R. C.
1st ag
L. and U.
1st Bul
Kaylor 3
1st ye
C. Hawle
1st 2
2nd F. D.
uan.
1st ye
E. Gussol
JUDGES—M
CHAS. O
1st Ran
Hawley 3 1st She 2nd John Gibbard.
1st Ewe
Hyran H
1st 1 sh
2nd Donal
1st Ewe
O. I. Prun
1st Ram
H Hoffman
1st aged bogart 3rd
1st abea
P. R. Davy
Dawson.

MADRID, Oct. 12.—The United States is the first nation to recognize the new Provisional Government of Spain. The Madrid Gazette to-day publishes the official recognition made through Mr. Hale, the American minister.

The Junta has declared 'in favor of additional reforms, among which are the abolition of the death penalty, and the sanctity of private letters and domiciles. The Junta has ordered the restoration of the barque 'Tornado' to England, and the payment of damages for her wrong detention and the imprisonment of the Spanish officer who ordered her seizure.

HAVE, Oct. 12.—The Journal des Débats says that General O'Donnell has declared his adhesion to the revolution. The Cubans in Spain will be permitted to choose two members of the Junta.

Orosaga has declined the offer of a place in the Cabinet, but will probably be appointed President of the new Cortes.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Direction announces that the cable known as the 1866 cable, between Ireland and Newfoundland was repaired at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and is now in perfect working order.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Despatches from Madrid state that general interest is manifested in Cuba in regard to the representation of the island in the government of Spain, and also in regard to the abolition of slavery and the action of the constitutional Cortes on these questions is awaited with great anxiety. The Ministers promise Cuba equal liberties with Spain.

MADRID, Oct. 13.—Provisional Junta is sure of the adhesion of Lersundi, the Captain-General of Cuba. Despatches were sent to him by the steamer which left Cadiz on the 2nd, which, it is believed, will remove all doubt and hesitation on his part of the course to be pursued.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Mr. Gladstone commenced the political canvass in Lancashire with an able speech at Warrington, in which he denounced the Tories for their bad financial policy, and for their course in the Irish Church question.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Daily News this morning says, there is no doubt the protocol of the treaty proposed by the American representative will be approved by the English Parliament, and the American Congress.

It is announced here that the British mails will not go forward by the Hamburg line after the 30th inst.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Bonds 74½; Ill. C. 95½; Erie, 31½.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 13.—Cotton buoyant; 10½.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 13.—The steamer 'Malta' from New York has arrived.

Peers as well as ladies are struck out of the English list of voters, though it was without any law to justify it.

Petersburg is noted for its hot houses, and flowers.

"Madam," said an old gentleman to his housekeeper, "in primitive countries, beef is often the legal tender; but madam," said he, "all the law in Christ-

days has been too ill to engage in business. Last evening he retired early, and at about one o'clock this morning his wife awoke and found him very nervous. In a few moments he got up took a razor, and going into an adjoining room where his sons were sleeping, he instantly cut the throat of Henry from ear to ear, and then attempted in the same manner to kill his second son. The wounds inflicted were very deep and ugly, and it is possible he may not survive. Mrs. Richardson, hearing the cry of the youngest ran to the room and pulled her husband back. A moment of reason came and he exclaimed, 'Great God, what have I done!' and immediately left the house clad only in his night shirt, and shortly after jumped into a mill-dam near by. He extricated himself immediately and proceeded in his almost nude state in the direction of Boston. He stopped at the house of a neighbor and demanded admission. The man was sleeping, and when he awoke, Mr. Richardson went off, and calling at the house of Mr. Green, knocked at the rear door. The domestics, inquired what he wanted, when he implored admission, stating that he was cold. Before they had time to consider he rushed away. As was found this forenoon in his own barn under the hay, and taken to the Insane Asylum in Somerville, laboring under great mental depression, and though unaware of the deed that he had perpetrated, impressed with the sense of having committed some great crime.

THE BEETLES IN UTAH.—Utah is not only plagued with locusts but with an insect called the 'elephant beetle.' A creditable person who returned from the neighborhood of Salt Lake recently, saw myriads of them covering the earth with their shining brownish-black bodies, and destroying everything which they met in their path. Even small animals, he was informed by the ill-fated residents, did not escape the voracity of these borers. Their bodies were crowded upon, and worried and wounded cruelly with the powerful antennae until they fell down exhausted by their struggles and loss of blood, when they were feasted upon by thousands and devoured. The entire carcass of a sheep was eaten, and the bones picked clean in two and a half minutes, and it is said that a dead ox would be gobbled up by them in a quarter of an hour. So ferocious are these giant beetles that mothers are afraid to let their children go out unless attended by a grown person. In their frequent bloody contests the wounded are devoured on the instant.

A NEW PAPER.

We publish the following prospectus as decidedly rich:

I propose to start a religious paper on the gift enterprise plan. It will be devoted to sanctity and sewing machines, piety, politics and patent medicines.

Subscribers for one copy of the 'Church Cancer' will be presented with a box of petroleum paste blacking. This is a very superior article; it will black boots or stoves and may be used as a hair dye (See testimony from leading clergymen, statesmen and boot blacks).

Subscribers for two copies will receive a box of Sardines.

Subscribers for ten copies will be presented with a pair of ironed spectacles with glass eyes warranted to suit any age as well as another.

Subscribers for twenty five copies will receive a tilting hoop skirt and a marble bureau with a mahogany top.

Subscribers for five hundred copies will receive a nomination for Congress, with a library consisting of a bottle and pack of cards.

Subscribers for a thousand copies will be presented with a farm in New Jersey, fenced in and mortgaged.

Clergymen acting as agents for the 'Cancer' will be presented with a pair of brass knuckles and an acre of court plaster.—Bruce Review.

A LAMENTABLE CASE.—A woman by the name of Sarah Ann, one of our rebuilt, and the fourth new one (intended for the Bay trade) is at present on the stocks.

The firm are also owners of three vessels and one steam tug, constantly employed in their shipping trade. A large store owned by them, containing all the requirements of the workmen and their families, is in full operation in the village.

The principal employees of the firm are W. R. Aylsworth, P. J. S., who attends to everything concerning law matters, &c.; Tobias Butler, Superintendent of Shanty and River Business; John Drowry, head book-keeper and Cashier; M. H. Williams, Manager of Store and Paymaster; H. B. Sherwood, Superintendent of General business; W. McCrary, Millwright, and Superintendent of repairs, &c., in this mill as well as the Belleville mill, and a third one owned by Messrs. Rathbun, on the Salmon River; James Whitton, Head Brumlett, Head Surveyors; J. B. Benson, in charge of yard, shipping, &c.; Charles Dryden, Purchaser of Horses, Cattle, &c.; John Young in charge of the lath, heading, and picket mills, while the whole is under the immediate supervision of E. W. Rathbun, the junior partner and general business manager of this enterprising firm, who have in full operation two steam and one water-power mill, containing altogether 249 saws, besides those used in the manufacture of edging, butting, lath and heading.

Quite a number of new dwellings are in course of erection in the village, evincing unmistakable signs that the place is 'going ahead.' The Mill Pointers feel much elated over the prospect of having a new church, which is at present rapidly approaching completion, beautifully situated on the brow of the hill which slopes to the bay, and upon which the village is situated; it will be quite an acquisition to the place. As it is the only church in the village, the people feel quite proud of it. The ladies of Mill Point, not to be behind hand in the examples set them by those of other towns and villages, and feeling that it was but due on their part to render any assistance in their power towards defraying the expenses incident to building the new church, met in solemn convocation on Saturday last, and organized themselves into a sewing society. There being no short hand reporters present that your correspondent is aware of, he was unable to obtain any full account of the proceedings, but learns that Mrs. E. W. Rathbun was duly installed as President; Mrs. Drowry, Vice President; Miss Wilson, Secretary and Treasurer. A deputation was also appointed to canvass the place, to the end that their funds may be increased.

On Sunday morning we had the pleasure of attending worship in the very prettily located Indian Church—about a mile from the village. A very able discourse was delivered by the Rev. G. A. Anderson, the Rector, on the subject of 'Confirmation,' which beautiful and very important rite of the Church of England, was to be administered in the church on the following Tuesday, by the Lord Bishop of Ontario. There was quite a number of the dusky brethren in attendance, all very cleanly and neatly attired, and who listened with marked attention, to the discourse of the Rev. gentleman. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Anderson, favored us with some choice music.

During the evening, we went to 'meeting' in the school house. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Sing, who preached a very excellent sermon, but during the delivery of which we were not a little disturbed by the sonorous sounds emanating from the nasal organs—or in other words, the 'snore' of some present, who were inviting the embraces of the drowsy god. They were suddenly brought to the 'right about,' however, by the modest request of the minister, that they would be so kind as to defer their 'woonings' 'in that line' until 'church was out.' The gentle hint was effective for with the exception of the voice of the speaker, silence reigned supreme,

Marrage License.—T. Beeson.
Leather Belting.—Boyle & Wright.
Insurance.—Jno. Twigg.
Hinges.—Boyle & Wright.
Mammoth Watch.—W. H. Judd.
Brooms &c.—Boyle & Wright.
Farm for Sale.—D. Haight.
Stove Polish.—Boyle & Wright.
New Goods.—Stevenson & Bro.
Apple Parers.—Boyle & Wright.
Just Opening.—R. Downey.
Trace Chains.—Boyle & Wright.
Swiss Bell Ringers.—D. G. Waldron, Agt.

THE Weekly Express.

NAPANEE, OCT. 16TH, 1888.

THE AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

The annual County Show took place at the new building of the society in this Town on Thursday of last week. The weather was too often occurs on such occasions was unpropitious at least to the tastes of pedestrians, but notwithstanding the number present was large and the Exhibition very successful. In all departments the show was more than an average; as to quality and the number of entries fairly in advance of previous years. Taking these facts in connection with the new building provided by the Society, and the pleasant and convenient location of the grounds, and it may be fairly assumed that the agricultural interests in this County have entered upon a new era. And thanks be to our social organization—this fact has no abstract relation. A new era in Agricultural interests if it be open to improvements such as are alluded to, is of equal importance to every other interest in the community—whether mechanical, mercantile, or commercial in the broader sense. It is a sure precursor of increasing wealth with all its attendant blessings—and from its streams flow good to every branch of industry however grand or insignificant its character. We note these facts, therefore, with great pleasure, and hope that each recurring year will show more clearly the wisdom that prompted to the good work that now rears its head in our midst a monument of enterprise, liberality, and thrift.

It is barely possible there are those who do not understand the entire significance of the very fine Agricultural building reared for the accommodation of the Society in this County. To such we have pleasure in stating that few such buildings exist in central Canada by and for the Agricultural societies. In the rich County of Hastings no such building exists, neither has the society of Frontenac a building of their own, and in no County that we can call to mind is there a building so appropriately constructed, and so pleasing to the eye withall, as the one we now refer to. In the short to donor of the ground—Mr. Cartwright, the society

1st I
2nd Do
1st E
O F Pri
1st R
H Hoff

1st a bogat.
1st el
P R Da
Dawson
1st W
F Vand
1st el
F Vand
1st R
F Vand

Judges
1st bogat.
1st
H B Al
Elliott
1st Vausly
1st S
Madden

Judges
1st W don 2nd
Wright
1st I
Boyle a 1st 2
J C Hn
1st B Sicker
1st R
2nd Joh
1st C
1st H
Davy 3
1st F
W T G
1st H
1st J Webste Sills,
1st L
2nd L F
1st St
R Davy
1st Cl
Madden
1st Cl
K Sills,
1st W
2nd J P
1st C
Miles 3
1st Cl
Linsey
1st Ho
2nd B B
1st Cl
Ham 3rd

Judges
1st W
W Miller
Empey.
1st M
John D Kaylor.
1st R
3rd N B
1st B
John H
Ham.
1st Oat
3rd A W
1st Os and Fras Dawson.
1st Ind
Madden
ser.
1st Tin
Wm Mad
B Miles.
1st Clo
Dollar 3rd Sills.
1st Fla
Dawson

announces the cable between the cable known as the 1866 cable, between Ireland and Newfoundland was repaired at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and is now in perfect working order.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Despatches from Madrid state that general interest is manifested in Cuba in regard to the representation of the island in the government of Spain, and also in regard to the abolition of slavery and the action of the constitutional Cortez on these questions is awaited with great anxiety. The Ministers promise Cuba equal liberties with Spain.

MADEIR, Oct. 13.—Provisional Junta is sure of the adhesion of Lersundi, the Captain-General of Cuba. Despatches were sent to him by the steamer which left Cadiz on the 2nd, which, it is believed, will remove all doubt and hesitation on his part of the course to be pursued.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Mr. Gladstone commenced the political canvass in Lancashire with an able speech at Warrington, in which he denounces the Tories for their bad financial policy, and for their course in the Irish Church question.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Daily News this morning says, there is no doubt the protocol of the treaty proposed by the American representative will be approved by the English Parliament, and the American Congress.

It is announced here that the British mails will not go forward by the Hamburg line after the 30th inst.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Bonds 7 1/2; Ill. C. 9 3/4; Erie, 3 1/4.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 13.—Cotton buoyant; 10 1/2.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 13.—The steamer 'Malta' from New York has arrived.

Peers as well as ladies are struck out of the English list of voters, though it is said without any law to justify it.

Petersburg isolated for its hot houses, and flowers.

"Madam," said an old gentleman to his housekeeper, "in primitive countries, beef is often the legal tender; but madam," said he, "all the law in Christendom could not make this beef tender."

The wine crop in France—for '65—1,496,000,000 gals; for '66, 1,386,000,000 gals; for '67, 1,430,000,000 gals; and for '68, it is estimated at 1,584,000,000 gals.

Messrs. Canchon and McGreevy, of Ottawa Building notriety, have it is said purchased lots of ground and buildings in localities situated on the line of the Intercolonial Railway, with the view it is said of selling the same to government for depots, shops, etc.

The Portland (Maine) papers are busily engaged solving the question 'Have we a police force among us?' Many people begin to doubt the existence of a police force at all in view of daily increasing murders and robberies.

The Eastern Star Lodge of Free Masons has been formed in Dartmouth, N. S. The following persons were nominated as officers of the Lodge for the ensuing year:—John Allen, W. M.; G. L. Coleman, S. W.; J. Fuller, J. W.; W. W. Graham, Treas.; J. Hollies, Sec.; T. C. Cahill, E. D.; C. H. T. Horne, J. D.

at depression, and through unwearied the deed that he had perpetrated, impressed with the sense of having committed some great crime.

THE BEETLES IN UTAH.—Utah is not only plague-stricken with locusts but with an insect called the 'elephant beetle.' A creditable person who returned from the neighborhood of Salt Lake recently, saw myriads of them covering the earth with their shining brownish-black bodies, and destroying everything which they met in their path. Even small animals, he was informed by the ill-fated residents, did not escape the voracity of these borders. Their bodies were gnawed upon, and worried and wounded cruelly with the powerful antennae until they fell down exhausted by their struggles and loss of blood, when they were feasted upon by thousands and devoured. The entire carcass of a sheep was eaten, and the bones picked clean in two and a half minutes, and it is said that a dead ox would be gobbled up by them in a quarter of an hour. So ferocious are these giant beetles that no shepherd is afraid to let their children go out unless attended by a grown person. In their frequent bloody contests the wounded are devoured on the instant.

A NEW PAPER.

We publish the following prospectus as decidedly rich:

I propose to start a religious paper on the gift enterprise plan. It will be devoted to sanctity and sewing machines, piety, politics and patent medicines.

Subscribers for one copy of the 'Church Cancer' will be presented with a box of petroleum paste blacking. This is a very superior article; it will black boots or stoves and may be used as a hair dye (See testimony from leading clergymen, statesmen and boot blacks.)

Subscribers for two copies will receive a box of Sardines.

Subscribers for ten copies will be presented with a pair of ironclad spectacles with glass eyes warranted to suit any age as well as another.

Subscribers for twenty-five copies will receive a tilting hoop skirt and a marble bureau with a mahogany top.

Subscribers for five hundred copies will receive a nomination for Congress, with a library consisting of a bottle and pack of cards.

Subscribers for a thousand copies will be presented with a farm in New Jersey, fenced in and mortgaged.

Clergymen acting as agents for the 'Cancer' will be presented with a pair of brass knuckles and an acre of court plaster.—Bruce Keweenaw.

A LAMENTABLE CASE.—A woman by the name of Seuse was arrested this morning (Monday) by the police in a state of imbecile intoxication, with an infant in her arms. Upon removing the baby from her arms at the station house, it was found to be a stark stiff corpse. It is reported that the woman has been wandering round for some days from tavern to tavern in a maudlin condition, with this dead child in her arms, earnestly begging an additional stimulant to her fearful appetite. Of course the people with whom she came in contact were not aware of the condition of the child. Her husband is in the R. K. Rifles, and a very respectable man, who has vainly endeavored to rescue his wife from her infatuation for strong drink. The coroner has appointed an inquest for to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock, and will order the body of the infant to be examined in the meantime.—News.

CONNECTICUT AND DELAWARE ELECTIONS.—The Republican gain at the recent election in Connecticut was even more favorable to the Republicans than as at first reported. But little Delaware has the most northerly of the old slave States, has gone the other way, as, of course, it was expected to do.

gether 249 saws, besides those used in the manufacture of edging, butting, lath and heading.

Quite a number of new dwellings are in course of erection in the village, evincing unmistakable signs that the place is 'going ahead.' The Mill Pointers feel much elated over the prospect of having a new church, which is at present rapidly approaching completion, beautifully situated on the brow of the hill which slopes to the bay, and upon which the village is situated; it will be quite an acquisition to the place. As it is the only church in the village, the people feel quite proud of it. The ladies of Mill Point, not to be behind hand in the examples set them by those of other towns and villages, and feeling that it was but due on their part to render any assistance in their power towards defraying the expenses incident to building the new church, met in solemn convocation on Saturday last, and organized themselves into a sewing society. There being no short hand reporters present that your correspondent is aware of, he was unable to obtain any full account of the proceedings, but learns that Mrs. E. W. Rathbun was duly installed as President; Mrs. Drewry, Vice President; Miss Wilson, Secretary and Treasurer. A deputation was also appointed to canvass the place, to the end that their funds may be increased.

On Sunday morning we had the pleasure of attending worship in the very prettily located Indian Church—about a mile from the village. A very able discourse was delivered by the Rev. G. A. Anderson, the Rector, on the subject of 'Confirmation,' which beautiful and very important rite of the Church of England, was to be administered in the church on the following Tuesday, by the Lord Bishop of Ontario. There was quite a number of the dusky brethren in attendance, all very cleanly and neatly attired, and who listened with marked attention, to the discourse of the Rev. gentleman. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Anderson, favored us with some choice music.

During the evening, we went to 'meeting' in the school house. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Sing, who preached a very excellent sermon, but during the delivery of which we were not a little disturbed, by the sonorous sounds emanating from the nasal organs—or in other words, the 'snore' of some present, who were inviting the embraces of the drowsy god. They were suddenly brought to the 'right about,' however, by the modest request of the minister, that they would be so kind as to defer their woeings 'in that line' until 'church was out.' The gentle hint was effective for with the exception of the voice of the speaker, silence reigned supreme, until meeting was over.

A Cincinnati detective was recently pursuing his occupation got up as a vagrant. The Chicago city police apprehended him, and he was at some trouble to prove his identity, as the grip of the law was loose.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade at Montreal this week, it was stated that $10,000 to $12,000 had been expended for increasing the wharfage accommodation.

The receipt of the Montreal Ladies' Benevolent Society for the year just ended amount to $5,545 61, and the expenditure leaves a balance to carry forward of $787 81c, being an increase of money in hand of $455 68c.

Ward Brothers are challenged by a boat Club of Greenock, Scotland or America for $3,500 dollars a side.

In the insurance suit at Yarmouth, owners of ship 'Elicia Young vs.' Yarmouth Marine Insurance Company, the verdict was this week given in favour of the defendants.

France is adding sixteen iron clads of various kinds to her present iron clad fleet, twenty-eight in number.

large and the Exhibition very successful. In all departments the show was more than an average; as to quality and the number of entries fairly in advance of previous years. Taking these facts in connection with the new building provided by the Society, and the pleasant and convenient location of the grounds, and it may be fairly assumed that the agricultural interests in this County have entered upon a new era. And thanks be to our social organization—this fact has no abstract relation. A new era in Agricultural interests if it be open of improvements such as are alluded to, is of equal importance to every other interest in the community—whether mechanical, mercantile, or commercial in the broader sense. It is a sure precursor of increasing wealth with all its attendant blessings—and from its streams flow good to every branch of industry however grand or insignificant its character. We note these facts, therefore, with great pleasure, and hope that each recurring year will show more clearly the wisdom that prompted to the good work that now rears its head in our midst a monument of enterprise, liberality, and thrift.

It is barely possible there are those who do not understand the entire significance of the very fine Agricultural building reared for the accommodation of the Society in this County. To such we have pleasure in stating that few such buildings exist in central Canada by and for the Agricultural societies. In the rich County of Hastings no such building exists, neither has the society of Frontenac a building of their own, and in no County that we can call to mind is there a building so appropriately constructed, and so pleasing to the eye with all, as the one we now refer to. In the short to donor of the ground—Mr. Cartwright, the society whose means has thus heavily been taxed, to the Contractor, Mr. Green, and to all concerned is the thanks of community and especially of the Town for the acquisition to its beauty afforded due. But who is satisfied with anything in this mundane sphere? The grounds so beautiful by nature now require a touch of art. It would cost 25 cents a piece or less to plant elms or maples around the whole plot, and in a few years the place would become a public park—a greater ornament to the place than it now is, and a resort for pleasure seekers who most delight to bask in "ambrosial groves" and revel in the dulcet strains of some future to be established Operatic Corps—save the mark (?)

On Exhibition we noticed many articles worthy of especial attention. Mr. Gibbard exhibited some

Judges—

1st W non 2nd Wright.
1st Ir
Boyle a
1st 2
J C Hnt
1st Br
Sicker 3
1st Re
2nd Joh
1st Ch
1st H
Davy 3r
1st Fa
W T Gil
1st H
1st W
Webster Sills,
1st Lu
2nd L F
1st Str
R Davy
1st Ch
Madden.
1st Ch
K Sills,
1st W
2nd J P
1st Cu
Miles 3r
1st Old
Linsey 3
1st Hon
2nd M B
1st Clc
Ham 3rd

Judges—

1st Wi
W Miller
Empey.
1st Br
John Dun Kaylor.
1st Ry
3rd N B 1
1st Ba
John Hoy
Ham.
1st Oak
3rd A W
1st Oa and Fraze Dawson.
1st Indi
Madden 3
ser.
1st Tim
Wm Madd
B Miles.
1st Clov
Dollar 3rd Sills.
1st Flax
Dawson 3
Davy.
1st Shoa Able Hook
Dawson.
1st Pola
Shipman 3
R Doran.
1st Buc
A Brisco Dawson.
1st Varie
2nd W R
F A Oliver
1st Bean
3rd C Linzi

non

Judges—M

Str

1st Cabbi
3rd R S Shi
1st Sweet
Charles Jan
1st Carrot lar 3rd S an 1st Canh
Olmo 3rd G
1st Onlow
W R Sills.
1st Sugar
Shipman 3r
1st Mango

fanning mills. Mr. Herring exhibited in Reapers and mowers, and the department of arts we noticed some excellent oil paintings by Miss Huffman of North Frickburg, and others by Mr. F. Richardson of this place. We also noticed a fine dark bay horse, owned by A. McVein, Esq., of Yarker. This animal was considered one of the finest beasts on the ground.

Our space is now fully occupied or we should take pleasure in making special mention of many other articles on exhibition.

The following is the prize list:

JUDGES—GEORGE LAKE, P. ROWE AND PHILIP BOOTH.

HORSES.

1st Best Stallion E. Fretz, 2nd W. P. Hall.

1st Brood Mare and Colt Q. C. Hawley, 2nd N. Asselstine, 3rd L. F. Fralick.

1st Span of Horses for all purposes Geo. I Smith 2nd Jas. Fraser 3rd Jacob Schermehorn.

1st Span of Match Carriage Horses J. C. Hawley, 2nd J. F. Brown 3rd G. Gordanier.

1st Span of Draught Horses, Arnold Negent, 2nd Abel Rooks, 3rd N. Asselstine.

1st 3 year old Gelding or Mare, John M. Files, 2nd A. D. Fraser, 3rd L. B. Vanslyke.

1st yearling Colt S. K. Miller 2nd W. H. Hough, 3rd, Charles Lloyd.

1st Single horse in harness, H. Allen, 2nd S. K. Miller, 3rd J. R. Billar.

1st Saddle Horse, P. Robinson, 2nd Wm. Madden, 3rd D. W. Wells.

1st Trotting Horse, W. J. Sloan, 2nd G. B. Fraser, 3rd J. W. Wells.

1st two year old Colt Lake & Fraser 2nd J. W. Wells 3rd J. M. Files.

CATTLE.

JUDGES—MESSRS H. ALLESON, JOHN FRASER AND JOHN PURDY.

1st best Cow Wm. Miller 2nd Allan Nelson D. and K. Williams.

1st two year old Heifer J. C. Hawley 2nd John Henderson 3rd John M. Files.

1st Heifer Calf F. Kayler 2nd C. W. Huffman 3rd J. C. Hawley.

1st Oxen P. Kayler 2nd N. Asselstine 3rd R. C. Hawley.

1st aged old Bull P. Cline 2nd L. and G. Caracallen.

1st Bull Calf Grange and Bro.s 2nd E. Kayler 3rd F. Vandeboogart.

1st yearling Heifer F. Kayler 2nd J. C. Hawley 3rd Allan Nelson.

1st 2 year old Bull F. Vandeboogart 2nd F. D. Creighton 3rd Hyram Huffman.

1st yearling Bull John Sharp 2nd J. E. Gussolus 3rd D. and P. Williams.

SHEEP LONG WOOL.

JUDGES—MESSRS SAMUEL PARKER, WM. CHASE, ORO. PAUL AND F. VANDEBOOGART.

1st Ram 2 sheers O T Pruyn 2nd J C Hawley 3rd Wm Dawson.

1st Sheerling Ram Hyram Huffman 2nd John Dunbar 3rd S K Miller 4th W Gibbard.

1st Ewe 2 sheers Donald Fraser 2nd Hyram Huffman 3rd C W Huffman.

1st 1 sheerling Ewe Hyram Huffman 2nd Donald Fraser 3rd C W Huffman.

1st 3rd Geo I Smith.

1st Blood Boats H S Shipman 2nd L. and G. Caracallen 3rd Thos Brooks.

1st Squash Geo I Smith 2nd Wm Caton 3rd Wm Dawson.

1st Celery E Mallory 2 B C Davy 3rd John Gibbard.

1st Variety of Apples J P Anderson 2nd Geo B Ellis 3rd T D Dreighton.

1st Winter Apples Hyram Huffman 2nd D Nagen 3rd E Fretz.

1st Table Apples Wm E Hazard 2nd M Davy 3rd C W Huffman.

1st Peas C W Huffman 2nd G B Ellis 3rd M Davy.

1st Grapes A and A N Hermance 2nd L P Gordanier.

1st Red Peppers 2nd Wm R Ellis 2nd M Huffman 3rd L A Shipman.

1st Tomatoes O T Pruyn 2nd C W Huffman 3rd W R Sager.

1st Variety of Tomatoes Wm Madden 2nd W R Sager 3rd E Fretz.

1st Citron Geo I Smith, and James Shorey 3rd James Wells.

1st Globe Mangolds Wm Gibbard 2nd John Brooks 3rd A and A N Hermance.

ARTS AND MANUFACTURES.

Judges—Messrs J D Ham, John Miller and Ebenezer Perry.

1st Filled Cloths L P Gordanier 2nd T D Creighton 3rd D and P Williams.

1st Salinett Alex Hosey 2nd James Perry.

1st Flannel P Cline 2nd D G Fraser 3rd Wm Spencer.

1st Blankets P Cline 2nd R Denison 3rd B B Miles.

1st Linen R M Brisco 2nd George I Smith.

1st Wool Carpets N Dollar 2nd A B Brisco.

1st Rag Carpeting N Dollar P Cline.

1st Coarse Boots Wilson and Bro 2nd R Denison 3rd Wm R Ellis.

1st Farming Harness R Denison 2nd D A Waddle 3rd W R Ellis.

1st Harness D A Waddle 2nd J O Callen.

1st Upper Leather D F and J Penny 2nd F Fralick 3rd Lake and Fraser.

1st Fine Boots R Denison 2nd Wilson and Bro 3rd Hyram Huffman.

Ladies Gaiters Wilson and Bro recommended.

1st Horse Blankets R Denison 2nd I Schermehorn 3rd Wm E Hazard.

1st Hearth Rug J W Shorey 2nd D and P Williams 3rd Garret Vassalstine.

1st Pe Tweed R Denison.

1st Melodean or Organ T Beeman.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

Judges—Messrs Ham Weller and Perry.

1st Cheese W R Doren 2nd D Unger 3rd N B Empey 4th Geo I Smith.

1st Butter Charles Dollar 2nd John N Dollar 3rd Alex Chisholm 4th Archibald C McKim.

Friday's N. Y. "Express," commenting upon Spanish affairs, and conjecturing as to the regime most likely of adoption in the Peninsula, contains the following candid admission:—

"The United States certainly present nothing to encourage any people to embrace our form of government. On the contrary, our rule for the last past eight years is sufficiently miserable, destructive and oppressive, to sicken the whole world of what are termed 'freedom,' and 'self-government.'"

Bazaar.—The bazaar held by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church, in the Town Hall, on Thursday and Friday of last week was well attended. The display of wearing apparel &c., the handy work of the ladies' hands, was certainly astonishing, and certainly they evinced no little energy in disposing of the same for ready cash, and realized the handsome sum of $400, after paying expenses; thus exceeding their expectations.

SWISS BELL RINGERS.—This Company will visit Napanee on Tuesday 27th.

The N. Y. "Tribune" says of the Alleghians—"Go to their concerts and take your children. We wish every one to enjoy the pleasure of hearing them."

To the "Alleghians."—Nothing has given me more pleasure than to meet you, children of song. Oh! that you might remain upon our fair island always. But it cannot be; like birds of flight, you are away. God bless you in all your journey through life, singing as you go to the realms of immortality. Adieu!

Again, Heaven bless you, POMARE V."

"THE GLOBE"—The Globe is before us in its renewed life, and presents attractive features surpassing any daily journal in Ontario. Its contents are more liberally arranged, and its variety much greater than formerly—especially in the department of literature which we hope never to see less attractive than the present edition. No doubt the example set by the Globe will be followed very soon by other provincial papers, when journalism will then have fairly entered upon a new era in the Dominion—a desideratum very much required.

Sale of Real Estate by auction, Thursday the 22nd of Oct. now advertised in another column by Mr. Benson. These lots are possibly the most desirable lots now vacant in town, situated on one of the best streets, and in one of the best neighbourhoods, besides the site for building purposes are complete laying high and easily drained. For terms see advertisement.

WATCH AND JEWELLRY STORE.—Those of our readers who desire to purchase in the above line of goods will do well to inspect the Messrs. Judd's new stock, which will be found complete in all its branches, consisting of the latest patterns and styles of Jewry &c., &c. In fact we are safe in saying that a finer assorted stock cannot be found in Toronto and prices which will give satisfaction. See advertisement in another column.

SHOP LIFTING.—Miss Storms, a damsel of comely appearance, was

For the Express. Selby, Oct. 13 1848.

Mr Editor, Sir, I noticed in your last week's issue, a notice to the Electors of the Township of Richmond that a poll would be opened on the fourth of Nov. and day following of course, for approval or disapproval of a By-law repealing the temperance act now in force in the Township. I should like to ask the council a few questions together with the Business men of Selby, which I hope they will answer and oblige me and many others. If the expectation of placing a few more dollars in their pockets by way of trade is not the reason why they wish the law repealed or whether the council are afraid of losing a few votes if they support the Temperance cause, I believe the majority of our Council to be temperance men, but will stay at home rather than vote, in hope of gaining a few whiskey votes. Are they working for the best interests of the township to help to place a den of iniquity in our midst, to take the last cent from many a misguided man and send misery and want broad cast through the land? Now when public men have to resort to foul means to accomplish their purposes is it not time others should take their places. They have chosen the fourth and fifth of Nov. for polling days, knowing the orangemen were to celebrate the fifth at Selby, thinking no doubt that they were a drunken pack of rowdies and would be easily duped with the expectation of having plenty of whiskey to drink, they would all vote just as they wanted them to. Are orangemen to be made mere tools of, to accomplish such purposes, are they to be bought at will, will they sell themselves for whiskey I trust not, they know better I do not believe they are willing to entail an endless curse on the Township for the sake of pleasing a few men who think more of money and office than they do of either body or soul of their supporters. If they can only get your votes and your money they will hold their place in public. Will tell you the Dunce Bill, is a humbug, the public need taverns for accommodation. If the public will not support a temperance house why not build a shed at the Town hall the majority of the Township would be willing to be taxed for it, rather than have a constant scene of drunkenness, quarrelling, fighting and swearing in our streets and it would not cost the price of blood to pay for it. Electors of Richmond think before you vote. For the sake of supporting humanity vote for temperance and you will not regret it at the least.

A LOVER OF PEACE.

Snow has fallen at Peel.

Married and single cricketers of Paisies will play a cricket match next Saturday.

A St. Johns' (Prov. of Quebec) baker is delivering bread at 9th and the large loaf.

West Farnham has a cricket club, recently established.

The death of Mr. J. H. Lynn, C. E., of Meaford, is reported. Mr. Lynn, was much esteemed.

Hop growing has received considerable impetus in Esqueving and the neighborhood.

A session of the local Executive Government was opened in Fredericton on the 8th inst.

St. Catharines has a Mechanics' Institute. It is not flourishing. The old, old tale.

Mr. Laidlaw, a well-to-do farmer near Arthur Village, Owen Sound road, has committed suicide by taking laudanum.

Pembroke has voted $250 out of its Corporation funds towards the erection of a drill shed.

NE

FAR red of part C, Can County balance timber lot is w state of and sh first ra Stone Wood lar, th house. or pa agreed

TIT Appl the pre

Centrevil

Valua

The farming of the pose of in the Adolph west ha are nine vated wood. state o fenced enough, ly, wi dwelling large fra attached house. a out buil terns at any pe chase th uation c on the o At least money r the balls ments fo go to the ises.

Adolph's

JUST rec Ten d ning Apple and to the t be made.

TEST race

one (intendpreasent on re of three constantly trade. A containing e workmen ll operation of the firm
J. S., who cerning law
er. Superin-Business;
keeper and Manager of
b. Sherwood,
d business;
nd Superinhis mill as and a third blum, on the itton, Head
; J. B. Ber-
pping, &c.;
of Horses,
a charge of
icket mills, re immediate atbun, the al business g firm, who steam and aining altoose used in butting, lat wellings are the village, us that the
The Mill
over the urch, which aching comed on the pes to the village is acquisition only church feel quite Mill Point, e examples towns and t was but any assists defraying aiding the conclave onized them-
ly. There ers present aware of, full account learns that ily installed Vice Pre-etary and as also ape increased.
d the plea-the very rch—about very able
the Rev.
r, on the ich beauti-the adminisfollowing p of Onta-ber of the ce, all very and who ou, to the man. The of Mrs. me choice went to use. The
the Rev.
ry excel-delivery of disturbed, emanating in other present, ces of the suddenly however,
minister, s to defer ll "church" effective voice of

Axe knives.—Boyle & Wright.
Marriage License.—T. Beeman.
Leather Belting.—Boyle & Wright.
Insurance.—Jno. Twigg.
Hinges.—Boyle & Wright.
Mammoth Watch.—W. H. Judd.
Brooms &c.—Boyle & Wright.
Farm for Sale.—D. Haight.
Stove Polish.—Boyle & Wright.
New Goods.—Stevenson & Bro.
Apple Parers.—Boyle & Wright.
Just Opening.—R. Downey.
Trace Chains.—Boyle & Wright.
Swiss Bell Ringers.—D. G. Waldron, Agt.

THE Weekly Express.
NAPANEE, OCT. 16TH, 1888.

THE AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

The annual GRAND Show took place at the new building of the society in this Town on Thursday of last week. The weather was too often occurs on such occasions was unpropitious at least to the tastes of pedestrians, but notwithstanding the number present was large and the Exhibition very successful. In all departments the show was more than an average; as to quality and the number of entries fairly in advance of previous years. Taking these facts in connection with the new building provided by the Society, and the pleasant and convenient location of the grounds, and it may be fairly assumed that the agricultural interests in this County have entered upon a new era. And thanks be to our social organization—this fact has no abstract relation. A new era in Agricultural interests if it be one of improvements such as are alluded to, is of equal importance to every other interest in the community—whether mechanical, mercantile, or commercial in the broader sense. It is a sure precursor of increasing wealth with all its attendant blessings—and from its streams flow good to every branch of industry however grand or insignificant its character. We note these facts, therefore, with great pleasure, and hope that each recurring year will show more clearly the wisdom that prompted to the good work that now rears its head in our midst a monument of enterprise, liberality, and thrift.

It is barely possible there are those who do not understand the entire significance of the very fine Agricultural building reared for the accommodation of the Society in this County. To such we have pleasure in stating that few such buildings exist in central Canada by and for the Agricultural societies. In the rich County of Hastings no such building exists, neither has the society of Frontenac a building of their own, and in no County that we can call to mind is there a building so appropriately constructed, and so pleasing to the eye withall, as the one we now refer to. In the short to donor of the ground—Mr. Cartwright, the society

Hyman Hoffman 3rd C W Hoffman
1st 1 shearing Ewe Hyman Hoffman
2nd Donald Fraser 3rd C W Hoffman
1st Ewe Lamb Donald Fraser 2nd
O F Pruy 3rd S K Miller.
1st Ram Lamb Donald Fraser 2nd
H Hoffman 3rd O T Pruy.

FINE WOOL
1st aged Ram D Fraser 2nd F Vandebogart 3rd P R Davy 4th W E Hazard.
1st shearing Ram F Vandebogart 2nd
P R Davy 3rd J W Shorey 4th Wm Dawson.
1st Ewe 2 sheers Donald Fraser 2nd
F Vandebogart 3rd P R Davy.
1st shearing Ewe Donald Fraser 2nd
F Vandebogart 3rd Marshall Davy.
1st Ewe Lamb Donald Fraser 2nd
F Vandebogart 3rd Hyman Hoffman.
1st Ram Lamb Donald Fraser 2nd
F Vandebogart 3rd P R Davy.

Pigs.
Judges—Messrs Lawrence Price & E. A. Vanecko.
1st Boar Thos. Brock 2nd
bogat.
1st breeding Sow Wm Caton 2nd
H B Allison 3rd D and P Williams 4th
Elliot Wiggins.
1st Boar Pig T D Creighton 2nd B B
Vauslyke 3rd A B Crooks.
1st Sow Pig T D Creighton 2nd Wm
Madden B B Vauslyke.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.
Judges—Messrs E D Priest, N B Miller and N Silie.
1st Wooden Plough Barker and Shannon 2nd John Herring 3rd Boyle and Wright.
1st Iron Plough John Herring 2nd
Boyle and Wright 3rd John Dwyer.
1st 2 Horse Carriage E Wiggins 2nd
J C Hoffman.
1st Buggy Thos Anderson 2nd Wm
Sicker 3rd F A Oliver.
1st Reaper & Mower C. N. Hoffman
2nd John Herring 3rd Robert Collins.
1st Cutter D Nugen 2nd E Wiggins.
1st Harrows John Herring 2nd P R
Davy 3rd James Close.
1st Fanning Mill John Gibbard 2nd
W T Gibbard.
1st Horse Rake E B Miles
1st Market Wagon double John Webster 2nd E B Miles 3rd W R
Sille.
1st Lumber wagon Geo W Madole
2nd L F Fralick 3rd P Clino.
1st Straw Cutter Thos Empey 2nd P
R Davy 3rd Wm Madden.
1st Cheese Press N Dollar 2nd Wm
Madden.
1st Churn L and C Carscallen 2nd W
K Silie.
1st Washing Machine John Gibbard
2nd J P Anderson.
1st Cultivator P R Davy 2nd B B
Miles 3rd John Herring.
1st Cider Press John Herring 2nd C
Linsey 3rd Wm Madden.
1st Horse Cultivator Boyle and Wright
2nd B B Miles.
1st Clothes Ringer P R Davy 2nd Ira Ham 3rd John P Anderson.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.
Judges—Messrs A Phillips, Jar Lazier and O D Sweet.
1st Winter Wheat E B Miles 2nd C
W Miller 3rd Wm Madden 4th N B
Empey.
1st Spring Wheat Wm Madden 2nd
John Dunbar 3rd B B Vauslyke 4th F
Kayler.
1st Rye N B Brisco 2nd R M Brisco
3rd N B Empey 4th John Huk.
1st Barley Isaac C Alcombrack 2nd
John Huk 3rd Donald Fraser 4th Ira
Ham.
1st Oats Wm Madden 2nd P Dennison
3rd A W Hawley 4th F Kayler.
1st Oats J Alcombrack 2nd Lake and Fraser 3rd W B Gordanier 4th Wm
Dawson.
1st Indian Corn R M Brisco 2nd Wm
Madden 3rd N B Brisco 4th A D Fraser.
1st Timothy See J I Alcombrack 2nd
Wm Madden 3rd Geo Gordanier 4th E
B Miles.
1st Clover Seed G W Madole 2nd N
Dollar 3rd N B Brisco 4th William R
Sille.
1st Flax Seed N Asseletino 2nd W

1st Ducks C. A. Loyd, 2nd Thos.
Brooks, 3rd B. C. Davy, 4th R. Boyce.
1st Black Spanish Fowls J. L. P. Gordamer, 2nd R. Boyce 3rd Geo. J.
Smith.
1st Brahma Fowls Wm. Madden, 2nd
Geo. I. Smith, 3rd W. R. Gordanier.
1st Poland Fowls R. Denison, 2nd
Wm. Gibbard, 3rd Wm. Gibbard.
1st Any other variety of Fowls F.
Kaylor, 2nd J. R. Dollar.

LADIES DEPARTMENT.
Judges.—Mrs. E. D. Priest Mrs. James
Lazier, Mrs. A. D. Fraser, and Mrs. F.
George.
1st Home made Socks Mrs. J. F.
Brown 2nd Mrs J E Gunolus 3rd Mrs
D G Fraser.
1st Stockings Mrs N A Brisco 2nd
Miss Olive 3rd Mrs W B Hazard.
1st Woolen Mittens Mrs Wm Gibbard
2nd Miss Carscallen 3rd Wm W R Silie.
1st Home made Quilt Mrs Hy Hoffman
2nd Mrs J P Anderson 3rd Mrs R
Lambert 4th Quilt Mrs O Dollar
2nd Mrs A B McCay.
1st Coverlet Mrs Hy Hoffman 2nd
C W Miller 3rd Mrs E B Miles.
1st Shawl Mrs J C Hewley 2nd Mrs
John Heldritch 3rd Mrs Wm Spencer.
1st Tuft Quilt Mrs C Dollar 2nd Mrs
J Schamerhorne 3rd Mrs Geo I Smith.
1st Knitted Quilt Mrs E Hooper 2nd
Mrs Wm Gibbard 3rd Mrs J W Bristol.
1st Embroidery in Berlin Wool Mrs
J C Hawley 2nd Mrs Wm Miller 3rd
Miss S Bristol 4th Mrs E Hooper.
1st Wax Fruit and Flowers Mrs W
Madden.
1st Farmers Wreath Mrs R Boyce 2nd Mrs C B Peary 3rd Mrs Wm Ma-dole.
1st Crotchet Work Mrs W Gibbard
2nd Mrs J A Shipman 3rd Miss E B
Perry.
1st Flower Wreath Mrs W Madden
2nd Mrs C James.
1st Hair Flowers Mrs C B Perry 2nd
Mrs J S P Gordanier 3rd Mrs Geo I
Smith.
1st Embroidered Child's dress Mrs C
B Perry 2nd Mrs F Vandebogart 3rd
Mrs Donald Fraser Recommended.
1st Raised Berlin Wool work Mrs W V Deller.
1st Head work Mrs E L Dorby 2nd
Miss Bristol.
1st Embroidered Silk work Mrs W
Miller 2nd Mrs C B Perry.

PAINTINGS & C.
Judges.—Rev W Scott Rev John Scott and Judge Burrows.
1st Oil Paintings Fredrick Richardson 2nd F Richardson 3rd Miss Huffman 4th Miss McKim.
1st Crayon Drawing Mrs Miller 2nd
Miss Caton 3rd Miss Miller 4th Miss Caton.
1st Pencil Drawing Miss Watson 2nd
F Richardson 3rd Miss Watson 4th
Miss F Clapp.
CHARLES JAMES,
Secy.

Fall Assizes opened in Napanee on Thursday.
Beecher's sermons are hereafter to be issued weekly in pamphlet form.
A rare chance, to purchase one of the finest farms in South Fred-ericksburgh, now advertised in another column. This farm is in a high state of cultivation. See advertisement.
Hon. Reverdy Johnson, the American Minister to England, appointed by Andrew Johnson, and known as a Democrat, has repudiated Seymour and Blair and favors the election of the Republican Candidate.
We regret to have to record the loss, by the ill-fated propeller Enterprise, of the American transporta-

Judd's new stock, which will be found complete in all its branches, consisting of the latest patterns and styles of Jewellery &c., &c. In fact we are safe in saying that a finer assorted stock cannot be found in Toronto and prices which will give satisfaction. See advertisement in another column.

SHOP LIFTING.—Miss Storma, a damsel of comely appearance was on Wednesday last, brought before His Worship the mayor charged with abstracting sundry articles of feminine apparel suitable for approaching inclement season such as Boots, Santeags, Hoods, Shawls &c., from various Dry Goods Shops in Town. On hearing the case His Worship sent the accused up to Ashtons Hotel there to be left till called for. We presume the Grand Jury empanelled to-day will make it a point to show her such attention as the nature of her case may require.

POST OFFICE REVENUE.—The 'Globe's' Ottawa correspondent says, a comparison of the receipts from the first quarter shows that the post-office department has sustained a loss of about twenty-five thousand dollars, in consequence of the reduction of letter rates from five to three cents. The estimated loss for the year was one hundred thousand dollars, but as it is believed a considerable sum of old postage stamps were held, it is thought the loss from the reduced rate will be less when the year's returns are in.

We are well pleased to learn that our friend Soby, for some time past favourably known to the public as the "host of the Soby House," has taken a lease of the premises for a further term of five years. Workmen are now engaged in fitting up the upper stories of the spacious new brick building adjoining the former Hotel, which are to be used for the purposes of the House. Mr. Soby is now busily engaged in refitting and furnishing the hotel throughout and putting in all the modern improvements. The large addition and the thorough unovation with the increased comfort and accommodation, will we are confident, make the "Soby House" a first class Hotel, and secure for it that large share of patronage that its conveniences and the care, attention and enterprise of Mr. Soby so deservedly merit.

Secretary Seward—who it is unkindly remarked, was born in 1801—is to be married again next week.
Russian schoolmasters teach 110 days, and have holidays 235 days in the year.
There have been 19,741 barrels of flour, 2,600 barrels of corn meal, 919 hhds, 39 tons and 879 bbls of sugar and 10,534 tons of coal received at Halifax, N.S. from the 1st to the 20th ultimo, inclusive.
Hon. Mr. Moore, son of the Earl of Mountchassel has been wounded by the discharge of a revolver by a soldier of the 69th near the military camp at London.
A sister in the House of Notre Dame, of Boston, named O'Gorman or sister Teresa de Chantal, having brought an action against a Priest, named Walsh, for her seduction, the story got into the newspapers, and Miss O'Gorman published "a card" to deny the fact. Affidavits have, however, since been made by the Attorneys, who brought the action, that they did believe in the

At the M. E. the 4th inst., b
M. A. Mr. M
Mary Ann Garri
By the same,
the 8th, Mr. M
the 1st ult.
By the same,
the same day,
to Miss Lapoint.
Richsburg.
By the same, 1
Japanese Abel

Friday's N. Y. "Express," commenting upon Spanish affairs, and conjecturing as to the regime most likely of adoption in the Peninsula, contains the following candid admission:—

"The United States certainly present nothing to encourage any people to embrace our form of government. On the contrary, our rule for the last past eight years is sufficiently miserable, destructive and oppressive, to sicken the whole world of what are termed 'freedom' and 'self-government.'"

Bazaar.—The bazaar held by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church, in the Town Hall, on Thursday and Friday of last week was well attended. The display of wearing apparel &c., the handy work of the ladies' hands, was certainly astonishing, and certainly they evinced no little energy in disposing of the same for ready cash, and realized the handsome sum of $400, after paying expenses; thus exceeding their expectations.

SWISS BELL RINGERS.—This Company will visit Napanee on Tuesday 27th.

The N. Y. "Tribune" says of the Alleghenians:—Go to their concerts and take your children. We wish every one to enjoy the pleasure of hearing them."

To the "Alleghenians."—Nothing has given me more pleasure than to meet you, children of song. Oh! that you might remain upon our fair Island always. But it cannot be; like birds of flight, you are away. God bless you in all your journey through life, singing as you go to the realms of immortality. Adieu!

Again, Heaven bless you.
POMARE V."

"THE GLOBE."—The Globe is before as in its renewed life, and presents attractive features surpassing any daily journal in Ontario. Its contents are more liberally arranged, and its variety much greater than formerly—especially in the department of literature which we hope never to see less attractive than the present edition. No doubt the example set by the Globe will be followed very soon by other provincial papers, when journalism will then have fairly entered upon a new era in the Dominion—a desideratum very much required.

Sale of Real Estate by auction, Thursday the 22nd of Oct. now advertised in another column by Mr. Benson. These lots are possibly the most desirable lots now vacant in town, situated on one of the best streets, and in one of the best neighbourhoods, besides the site for building purposes are complete laying high and easily drained. For terms see advertisement.

WATCH AND JEWELLRY STORE.—Those of our readers who desire to purchase in the above line of goods will do well to inspect the Messrs. Judd's new stock, which will be found complete in all its branches, consisting of the latest patterns and styles of Jewry &c., &c. In fact we are safe in saying that a finer assorted stock cannot be found in Toronto and prices which will give satisfaction. See advertisement in another column.

SHOP LIFTING.—Miss Storms, a damsel of comely appearance was on Wednesday last, brought before His Worship the mayor charged with abstracting sundry articles of feminine apparel suitable for approaching inclement season such as

For the Express.

Belby, Oct. 13 1868.

Mr. EORROR.

Sir, I enclose in your last week's issue, a notice to the Electors of the Township of Richmond that a poll would be opened on the fourth of Nov. and day following of course, for approval or disapproval of a By-law repealing the temperance act now in force in the Township. I should like to ask the council a few questions together with the Business men of Belby, which I hope they will answer and oblige me and many others. If the expectation of placing a few more dollars in their pockets by way of trade is not the reason why they wish the law repealed or whether the council are afraid of losing a few votes if they support the Temperance cause, I believe the majority of our Council to be temperance men, but will stay at home rather than vote, in hope of gaining a few whiskey votes. Are they working for the best interests of the township to help to place a den of iniquity in our midst, to take the last cent from many a misguided man and send misery and woe broad cast through the land? Now when public men have to resort to foul means to accomplish their purposes is it not time others should take their places. They have chosen the fourth and fifth of Nov. for polling days, knowing the orangemen were to celebrate the fifth at Belby, thinking no doubt that they were a drunken pack of rowdies and would be easily duped with the expectation of having plenty of whiskey to drink, they would all vote just as they wanted them to. Are orangemen to be made mere tools of, to accomplish such purposes, are they to be bought at will, will they sell themselves for whiskey I trust not, they know better I do not believe they are willing to entail an endless curse on the Township for the sake of pleasing a few men who think more of money and offices than they do of either body or soul of their supporters. If they can only get your votes and your money they will hold their peace in public, will tell you the Duncan Bill is a humbug, the public need taverns for accommodation. If the public will not support a temperance house why not build a shed at the Town hall the majority of the Township would be willing to be taxed for it, rather than have a constant scene of drunkenness, quarrelling, fighting and swearing in our streets and it would not cost the price of blood to pay for it. Electors of Richmond think before you vote. For the sake of supporting humanity vote for temperance and you will not regret it at the least.

A LOVER OF PEACE.

Snow has fallen at Peel.

Married and single cricketers of Paisley will play a cricket match next Saturday.

A St. Johns' (Prov. of Quebec) baker is delivering bread at 9½d the large loaf.

West Farnham has a cricket club, recently established.

The death of Mr. J. H. Lynn, C. E., of Montreal, is reported. Mr. Lynn, was much esteemed.

Hop growing has received considerable impetus in Equeusing and the neighborhood.

A session of the local Executive Government was opened in Fredericton on the 8th inst.

St. Catharines has a Mechanics' Institute. It is not flourishing. The old, old tale.

Mr. Laidlaw, a well-to-do farmer near Arthur Village, Owen Sound road, has committed suicide by taking laudanum.

Pembroke has voted $250 out of its Corporation funds towards the erection of a drill-shed.

Mrs. Mary Orr, probably the oldest woman in Ontario, died on Thursday last at Belleville, aged 105 years.

County Bruce is endeavoring to form

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DESIRABLE

FARM for SALE!

CONTAINING one hundred acres, being composed of part of Lot 27, concession C, Camden east, Addington County, eighty acres cleared, balance Beech and Maple timbered. The whole of the lot is well fenced and in a good state of cultivation, large barn and shed accommodation, a first rate one and a half story Stone House, Kitchen and Wood House, a splendid cellar, the whole size of the house. Will be sold for cash or part cash, balance as agreed upon.

TITLE INDISPUTABLE.

Apply to the Proprietor on the premises.

JOHN VROOMAN.

Centreville P. O., Oct. 14, 1868.

Valuable Farm for Sale.

The owner wishing to quit farming and leave this part of the country offers to dispose of his fine farm, situated in the second concession of Adolphustown, and in the west half of lot No. 14. There are ninety acres of good cultivated land, twenty of fine wood. The farm is in a good state of cultivation, well fenced and watered, fruit enough for any ordinary family, with a first class brick dwelling, large and commodious, large frame barn, with sheds attached, tenant house, drive house, and all other necessary out buildings; wells and cisterns at hand that never fail, any person wishing to purchase this most desirable situation can do so by calling on the owner on the premises. At least one half the purchase money must be paid in hand the balance in yearly installments for further particulars go to the owner, on the premises.

D. HAIGHT.

Adolphustown Oct. 8th, 1868.

JUST received at Boyle & Wright's Ten dozen more of those Lightning Apple Papers—Retail 60 cts. each, and to the trade a liberal discount will be made.

BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

JUST received twenty-five (25) gross Dime Lead, (the best Steve Polish in use) wholesale and retail at

BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

A LARGE stock of Brooms Pails

TOWN HALL, NAPANEE

Tuesday Ev'g, Oct. 20th.

Announcement of the appearance of the acknowledged, FAVORITE

FISH & THORNTON'S

Minstrels and Brass Band!

Beautiful Quartette,

Efficient Orchestra,

Splendid Brass Band.

Admission 25 cents. Reserved seats 35 cents.

FISK & THORNTON,

Proprietors.

F. G. BUTLER, Agt. VAG

JAS. FISH, Leader of Brass Band and Orchestra.

Grand Balcony serenade by the Band at 7½ o'clock.

LOST OR STRAYED.

On or about the first of June, 3 yearling heifers, one white with red ears, and a little red about the foot, one red with a small piece of the tail, the third is a line back with a piece of one ear. Any one giving information that will lead to the recovery will be suitably rewarded. Address,

JOHN G. SHARP,

Bath Post Office.

Third Concession of Ernestown, Lot No. 16, Oct. 14, 1868. $3.31m

NOTICE

Office P. Ed. M. Ins. Co.

Pictou, Oct. 2nd, 1868.

THE members of THE PRINCE EDWARD FARMERS' MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY are hereby notified that four Assessments have been laid and declared payable on the amount of Notes in force as follows, Viz:—

2½	per cent, on the 14th November, 1868.
2	do do 30th December, 1868.
1½	do do 31st do 1869.
1½	do do 31st April, 1870.

And that said Assessments, making together the sum of 7 per cent will expire to be paid at my office, on or before the expiration of THIRTY DAYS from the first publication of this notice

by order,

JOHN TWIGG,

Secretary.

(First publication, Oct. 6th, 1868.)

FOUR

BANKRUPT

STOCKS

$500,000

Judd's new stock, which will be found complete in all its branches, consisting of the latest patterns and styles of Jewellery &c. In fact we are safe in saying that a finer assorted stock cannot be found in Toronto and prices which will give satisfaction. See advertisement in another column.

SHOP LIFTING.—Miss Storms, a damsel of comely appearance was on Wednesday last, brought before His Worship the mayor charged with abstracting sundry articles of feminine apparel suitable for approaching inclement season such as Boots, Santsags, Hoods, Shawls &c., from various Dry Goods Shops in Town. On hearing the case His Worship sent the accused up to Aislton's Hotel there to be left till called for. We presume the Grand Jury empanelled to-day will make it a point to show her such attention as the nature of her case may require.

POST OFFICE REVENUE.—The 'Globe's Ottawa correspondent says, a comparison of the receipts from the first quarter shows that the post-office department has sustained a loss of about twenty-five thousand dollars, in consequence of the reduction of letter rates from five to three cents. The estimated loss for the year was one hundred thousand dollars, but as it is believed a considerable sum of old postage stamps were held, it is thought the loss from the reduced rate will be less when the year's returns are in.

We are well pleased to learn that our friend Soby, for some time past favourably known to the public as the "host of the Soby House," has taken a lease of the premises for a further term of five years. Workmen are now engaged in fitting up the upper stories of the spacious new brick building adjoining the former Hotel, which are to be used for the purposes of the House. If Soby is now busily engaged refitting and furnishing the Hotel throughout and putting in all the modern improvements. The large edition and the thorough unobscured with the increased comfort and commodation, will we are confident, make the "Soby House" a first class Hotel, and secure for it that large share of patronage that its conveniences and the care, attention and enterprise of Mr. Soby so deservedly merit.

Secretary Seward—who it is unkindly remarked, was born in 1801—is to be married again next week.

Russian schoolmasters teach 110 days, & have holidays 235 days in the year.

There have been 19,741 barrels of our 2,600 barrels of corn meal, 919 ds, 39 trcs and 879 bbls of sugar and 534 tons of coal received at Halifax, S. from the 1st to the 20th ultimo, inclusive.

Hon. Mr. Moore, son of the Earl of Donchael has been wounded by a discharge of a revolver by a soldier the 69th near the military camp at ndon.

A sister in the House of Notre Dame, Boston, named O'Gorman or sister resed de Chantal, having brought an ion against a Priest, named Walsh, her seduction, the story got into the newspapers, and Miss O'Gorman published "a card" to deny the fact. idavits have, however, since been de by the Attorneys, who brought

A session of the local Executive Government was opened in Fredericton on the 8th inst.

St. Catharines has a Mechanics' Institute. It is not flourishing. The old, old tale.

Mr. Laidlaw, a well-to-do farmer near Arthur's, Mage, Owen Sound road, has committed suicide by taking laudanum.

Pembroke has voted $250 out of its Corporation funds towards the erection of a drill-shed.

Mrs. Mary Orr, probably the oldest woman in Ontario, died on Thursday last at Belleville, aged 105 years.

County Bruce is endeavoring to form a medical association of its own. Well done, Bruce; complete the good work.

The season for fires in the States has commenced in style. Every day new fires are reported in every section.

Portland (Maine) reports strenuously advocate subscriptions to the stock of the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad.

The gas supply in Portland failed one night last week and the city was left unlighted.

A son of Mr. Drummond, of Underwood, was kicked by a horse last week, at the Bruce Fall Show. Both legs were broken. The sufferer is progressing favorably.

The body of a woman has been found washed on the lake shore at Inverhuron. The deceased has not been identified.

Three cents per bushel were paid by Tiverton wheat-buyers last week, more than at Kincardine and Port Elgin.

The death knell of the traction engine is sounded at Kincardine. The 'Review' sings a requiem over its banishment.

A rev. gentleman in a neighbouring county is announced to 'glaborate' on an approaching Sabbath-day—in vulgar parlance, 'preach.' What are we coming to?

A finely contested lacrosse match has been played at Kingston (between Pittsburg and Gananoque (Beaver) Clubs Pittsburg won.

'Sabbath desecration' is the subject of an editorial in the 'Times,' Owen Sound paper. The Mayor has been hauling cordwood on Sunday, and was charged with Sabbath-breaking.

Wine is becoming an important article of manufacture in Kansas. The summer grapes are now being gathered in abundance.

The Catholic Lord Bishop at Hamilton has confirmed a large number of persons at Kincardine, Riverdale, Carrick, Ferguson's Mission. An address was delivered to the rev. Bishop.

Mr. G. L. Vose proposes to 'order a suspension of traffic on the Grand Trunk line, from Portland to Montreal 'until it is repaired.' The 'Daily Advertiser' (Portland) defends the Company.

The talented Port Elgin correspondent of the Paisley 'Advocate' refers to 'an old book wrote about 4,000 years ago,' and desires his readers to find out what he means. Is it a puzzle? We give it up.

Several families have emigrated from Guelph for the Western and Southern States. On the other hand, crowds of States' people make capital in Canada.

A new mode of making gas, introduced by Mr. McKenzie in Scotland, is found, from experiments in New York, equal to 20 to 25 candles. Gas in the States yields a power equal to 12 to 15; in Great Britain 25 to 30.

The gas question is bothering the people of St. Johns (Prov. of Quebec). The inhabitants carry lighted lanterns to avoid running against the gas-lamps at night.

ises.

D. HAIGHT.
Adolph'stown Oct. 8th, 1868.

JUST received at Boyle & Wright's Ten dozen more of those Lightning Apple Parers—Retail 60 cts. each, and to the trade a liberal discount will be made.

BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

JUST received twenty-five (25) gross Dime Lead, (the best Stove Polish in use) wholesale and retail at

BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

A LARGE stock of Brooms, Pails, wash tubs and wash Boards, Cheaper than the Cheapest, wholesale and retail at

BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

THE PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY
MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO.

Head Office,----Picton Ontario.

PRESIDENT.

L. B. STINSON.

VICE-PRESIDENT,

RICHARDS.

DIRECTORS :

H. A. McFAUL, JAMES CAVAN,

JAS. JOHNSON, N. S. DEMILL,

WILLIAM DELONG.

DAVID BARKER, TREAS.

JOHN TWIGG, Sec'y.

R. J. FERGHERALD, SOLICITOR.

THIS Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, insuring farming and isolated property, (not hazardous), in Townships only, and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for 5 years, without the expense of a renewal.

This Company has existed 22 years, during which period it has adjusted all losses in a satisfactory manner. It is managed with strict economy, and affords an opportunity of insuring with safety and reliance, and very little expense, which accounts for its long standing and the successful business which it has been and is now doing.

Picton, Oct. 15, 1868.

Town Hall !
FIRST APPEARANCE in this TOWN
Since their return from

ENGLAND, IRELAND AND SCOTLAND,
And after an absence of Nine Years.

The Old Alleghanians,
VOCALISTS,

AND

Swiss Bell Ringers!!

TUESDAY EVENING,
October 27th, 1868.

ORGANIZED in 1846, and lately from Great St. James' Hall and Crystal Palace, London, England, will appear in two brilliant Programmes.

Admission only 25 cents. Reserved Seats, 50 cents each.

Concert commences at 8 o'clock.

PROF. J. M. BOULARD,

Director.

D. G. WALDRON,

Agent.

Napanee, Oct. 14, 1868.

33-1d

BLIND Hinges and Fastenings a large stock and cheaper than ever at

BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

CRUPT STOCKS

$500,000

WORTH OF

DRY GOODS

SOBY HOUSE, Napanee.

M. T. ROGERS

Offers at Auction the Largest and most complete assortment of Dry Goods, &c., ever imported into Napanee, and must be sold

Without any Reserve,

Whatever. The stock is suitable for

FALL & WINTER WEAR,
And consists of the following :

London best Prints,
New Cobourgs,
New French Merinoes,
New shades in Winceys,
New Velveteen Jackets,
New Seal Skins,
New Cloth Jackets,
New breakfast Shawls,

Grey and white Cotton,
Imported & Canadian Tweeds,
White and grey blankets,
Boots and Shoes of every size and description,

Steam Loom and Factory Cottons,

Broad and other Cloths, Canadian and Imported,

Clouds, White and Colored,

Table Covers, Damask and Table Covers,

Trimmings of endless variety, Est. toos, &c.,

Carpets and stair Linen,

Woolen Shawls, Cotton and jecton Yarn,

Ladies' Winter Hats, and Caps, Ghtlemen's do, do

Men's Ready Made Clothing, China Tea Sets, Glassware and Crockery, Feathers, Flowers and Hat Trimmings, Seas, Spices and Tobaccos.

PRIVATE SALES

Judd's new stock, which will be found complete in all its branches, consisting of the latest patterns and styles of Jewelry &c., &c. In fact we are safe in saying that a finer assorted stock cannot be found in Toronto and prices which will give satisfaction. See advertisement in another column.

SHOP LIFTING.—Miss Storms, a damsel of comely appearance was on Wednesday last, brought before His Worship the mayor charged with abstracting sundry articles of feminine apparel suitable for approaching inclement season such as Boots, Sashes, Hoods, Shawls &c., from various Dry Goods Shops in Town. On hearing the case His Worship sent the accused up to Aislton's Hotel there to be left till called for. We presume the Grand Jury empanelled to-day will make it a point to show her such attention as the nature of her case may require.

POST OFFICE REVENUE.—The 'Globe's' Ottawa correspondent says, a comparison of the receipts from the first quarter shows that the post-office department has sustained a loss of about twenty-five thousand dollars, in consequence of the reduction of letter rates from five to three cents. The estimated loss for the year was one hundred thousand dollars, but as it is believed a considerable sum of old postage stamps were held, it is thought the loss from the reduced rate will be less when the year's returns are in.

We are well pleased to learn that our friend Soby, for some time past favourably known to the public as the "host of the Soby House," has taken a lease of the premises for a further term of five years. Workmen are now engaged in fitting up the upper stories of the spacious new brick building adjoining the former Hotel, which are to be used for the purposes of the House. Mr. Soby is now busily engaged in refitting and furnishing the hotel throughout and putting in all the modern improvements. The large addition and the thorough union with the increased comfort and accommodation, will we are confident, make the "Soby House" a first class Hotel, and secure for it that large share of patronage that its conveniences and the care, attention and enterprise of Mr. Soby so deservedly merit.

Secretary Seward—who it is unkindly remarked, was born in 1801—is to be married again next week.

Russian schoolmasters teach 110 days, and have holidays 235 days in the year. There have been 19,741 barrels of our, 2,600 barrels of corn meal, 919 bds, 39 tics and 879 bbls of sugar and 9,534 tons of coal received at Halifax, N.S. from the 1st to the 20th ultimo, inclusive.

Hon. Mr. Moore, son of the Earl of Montchassel has been wounded by the discharge of a revolver by a soldier of the 69th near the military camp at London.

A sister in the House of Notre Dame, Boston, named O'Gorman or sister ereas de Chantal, having brought an action against a Priest, named Walsh, in her seduction, the story got into the newspapers, and Miss O'Gorman published a card to deny the fact. Affidavits have, however, since been made by the Attorneys, who brought

A session of the local Executive Government was opened in Fredericton on the 8th inst.

St. Catharines has a Mechanics' Institute. It is not flourishing. The old, old tale.

Mr. Laidlaw, a well-to-do farmer near Arthur Village, Owen Sound road, has committed suicide by taking laudanum.

Pembroke has voted $250 out of its Corporation funds towards the erection of a drill shed.

Mrs. Mary Orr, probably the oldest woman in Ontario, died on Thursday last at Belleville, aged 105 years.

County Bruce is endeavoring to form a medical association of its own. Well done, Bruce; complete the good work.

The season for fires in the States has commenced in style. Every day new fires are reported in every section.

Portland (Maine) papers are vigorously advocating subscriptions to the stock of the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad.

The gas supply in Portland failed one night last week and the city was left unlighted.

A son of Mr. Drummond, of Underwood, was kicked by a horse last week, at the Bruce Fall Show. Both legs were broken. The sufferer is progressing favorably.

The body of a woman has been found washed on the lake shore at Inverhuron. The deceased has not been identified.

Three cents per bushel were paid by Tiverton wheat-buyers last week, more than at Kincardine and Port Elgin.

The death knell of the traction engine is sounded at Kincardine. The 'Review' sings a requiem over its banishment.

A rev. gentleman in a neighbouring county is announced to "glaborate" on an approaching Sabbath-day—in vulgar parlance, "preach." What are we coming to?

A finely contested lacrosse match has been played at Kingston between Pittsburg and Ganaroque (Beaver) Clubs. Pittsburg won.

'Sabbath desecration' is the subject of an editorial in the 'Times,' Owen Sound paper. The Mayor has been hauling cordwood on Sunday, and was charged with Sabbath-breaking.

Wine is becoming an important article of manufacture in Kansas. The summer grapes are now being gathered in abundance.

The Catholic Lord Bishop at Hamilton has confirmed a large number of persons at Kincardine, Riverdale, Carrick, Ferguson's Mission. An address was delivered to the rev. Bishop.

Mr. G. L. Vose proposes to order a suspension of traffic on the Grand Trunk line, from Portland to Montreal 'till it is repaired.' The 'Daily Advertiser' (Portland) defends the Company.

The talented Port Elgin correspondent of the Paisley 'Advocate' refers to 'an old book wrote about 4,000 years ago' and desires his readers to find out what he means. Is it a puzzle? We give it up.

Several families have emigrated from Guelph for the Western and Southern States. On the other hand, crowds of States' people make capital in Canada.

A new mode of making gas, introduced by Mr. McKenzie in Scotland, is found, from experiments in New York, equal to 20 to 25 candles. Gas in the States yields a power equal to 12 to 15; in Great Britain 25 to 30.

The gas question is bothering the people of St. Johns (Prov. of Quebec). The inhabitants carry lighted lanterns to avoid running against the gas-lamps at night.

D. HAIGHT.
Adolphinstown Oct. 8th, 1868.

JUST received at Boyle & Wright's Ten dozen more of those Lightning Apple Papers—Retail 60 cts. each, and to the trade a liberal discount will be made.

JUST received twenty-five (25) gross Dime Lead, (the best Steve Polish in use) wholesale and retail at

A LARGE stock of Brooms, Pails, wash tubs and wash Boards, Cheaper than the Cheapest, wholesale and retail at

THE PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO.

Head Office, ----Picton Ontario.
PRESIDENT.
L. B. STINSON.
VICE-PRESIDENT,
RICHARDS.
DIRECTORS :
H. A. McFAUL, JAMES CAVAN,
JAS. JOHNSON, N. S. DEMILL,
WILLIAM DELONG.
DAVID BARKER, TREAS.,
JOHN TWIGG, Sec'y.
R. J. FITZGERALD, SOLICITOR.

THIS Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, insuring farming and isolated property, (not hazardous), in Townships only, and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for 5 years, without the expense of a renewal.

This Company has existed 12 years, during which period it has adjusted all losses in a satisfactory manner. It is managed with strict economy, and affords an opportunity of insuring with safety and reliance, and very little expense, which accounts for its long standing and the successful business which it has been and is now doing.
Picton, Oct. 15, 1868.

Town Hall !
FIRST APPEARANCE in this TOWN
Since their return from

ENGLAND, IRELAND AND SCOTLAND,
And after an absence of Nine Years.

The Old Alleghanians,
VOCALISTS,
AND

Swiss Bell Ringers!!

TUESDAY EVENING,
October 27th, 1868.

ORGANIZED in 1846, and lately from Great St. James' Hall and Crystal Palace, London, England, will appear in two brilliant Programmes.
Admission only 25 cents. Reserved Seats, 50 cents each.
Concert commences at 8 o'clock.

PROF. J. M. BOULARD,
Director.
D. G. WALDRON,
Agent.
Napanee, Oct. 14, 1868.

BLIND Hinges and Fastenings a large stock and cheaper than ever at

CRUPT STOCKS

$500,000

WORTH OF DY GOODS
NEXT DOOR TO

SOBY HOUSE, Napanee.

M. T. ROGERS

Offers at Auction the Largest and most complete assortment of Dry Goods, &c., ever imported into Napanee, and must be sold

Without any Reserve,
Whatever. The stock is suitable for

FALL & WINTER WEAR,
And consists of the following :

London best Prints,
New Cobourgs,
New French Merinos,
New shades in Winceys,
New Velveteen Jackets,
New Seal Skins,
New Cloth Jackets,
New breakfast Shawls,

Grey and white Cotton,
Imported & Canadian Tweeds
White and grey blankets,
Boots and Shoes of every size and description,

Steam Loom and Factory Cottons,
Broad and other Cloths, Canadian and Imported,
Clouds, White and Colored,
Table Covers, Damask and Table Covers,
Trimmings of endless variety, Battons, &c., Carpets and stair Liners,
Woolen Shawls, Cotton and flannel Yarn,
Ladies' Winter Hats, and Caps,
Gentlemen's do do
Men's Ready Made Clothing,
China Tea Sets, Glassware and Crockery,
Feathers, Flowers and Hat Trimmings,
Seas, Spices and Tobaccos.

PRIVATE SALES

loss of about twenty-five thousand dollars, in consequence of the reduction of letter rates from five to three cents. The estimated loss for the year was one hundred thousand dollars, but as it is believed a considerable sum of old postage stamps were held, it is thought the loss from the reduced rate will be less when the year's returns are in.

We are well pleased to learn that our friend Soby, for some time past favourably known to the public as the "host of the Soby House," has taken a lease of the premises for a further term of five years. Workmen are now engaged in fitting up the upper stories of the spacious new brick building adjoining the former Hotel, which are to be used for the purposes of the House. Mr. Soby is now busily engaged in refitting and furnishing the hotel throughout and putting in all the modern improvements. The large addition and the thorough unovation with the increased comfort and accommodation, will we are confident, make the "Soby House" a first class Hotel, and secure for it that large share of patronage that its conveniences and the care, attention and enterprise of Mr. Soby so deservedly merit.

Secretary Seward—who it is unkindly remarked, was born in 1801—is to be married again next week.

Russian schoolmasters teach 110 days, and have holidays 235 days in the year.

There have been 19,741 barrels of flour, 2,600 barrels of corn meal, 919 hhds, 39 tons and 879 bbls of sugar and 10,534 tons of coal received at Halifax, N.S. from the 1st to the 20th ultimo, inclusive.

Hon. Mr. Moore, son of the Earl of Mountchassel has been wounded by the discharge of a revolver by a soldier of the 69th near the military camp at London.

A sister in the House of Notre Dame, of Boston, named O'Gorman or sister Teresa de Chantal, having brought an action against a Priest, named Walsh, for her seduction, the story got into the newspapers, and Miss O'Gorman published "a card" to deny the fact. Affidavits have, however, since been made by the Attorneys, who brought the action that they did bring it, and that the defendant confessed the charge against him, and settled the affair by the payment of money. Abstracts of Miss O'Gorman's declaration in the action, and an affidavit by her sister are also published in support of the statement.

Mrs. Lincoln has left for Europe, without the news collectors knowing anything of the matter.

The late Provincial exhibition, at Hamilton, is credited, as camp meetings sometimes are, with several cases of fallen virtue, and the destruction of domestic peace, which, however, one would think might have happened all the same had there been no exhibition.

A mayor was questioning a ragged school, and asked what were the pomps and vanities of this wicked world. A little boy said, "I know, sir. The mayor and corporation going to church sir."

The Orangemen of Lodge No. 281 Coburg instead of joining in the procession upon Mr. J. H. Cameron's censure were invited to which they good by Toronto, have had the good sense to declare their approval of his defence of Whelan.

The essay on man; a woman's attempt to marry him.

greeting favorably.

The body of a woman has been found washed on the lake shore at Inverhuron. The deceased has not been identified.

Three cents per bushel were paid by Tiverton wheat-buyers last week, more than at Kincardine and Port Elgin.

The death knell of the traction engine is sounded at Kincardine. The "Review" sings a requiem over its banishment.

A rev. gentleman in a neighbouring county is announced to "gloriate" on an approaching Sabbath-day—in vulgar parlance, "preach" What are we coming to?

A finely contested lacrosse match has been played at Kingston between Pittsburg and Gananoque (Beaver) Clubs Pittsburg won.

'Sabbath desecration' is the subject of an editorial in the "Times," Owen Sound paper. The Mayor has been hauling cordwood on Sunday, and was charged with Sabbath-breaking.

Wine is becoming an important article of manufacture in Kansas. The summer grapes are now being gathered in abundance.

The Catholic Lord Bishop at Hamilton has confirmed a large number of persons at Kincardine, Riverdale, Carrick, Ferguson's Mission. An address was delivered to the rev. Bishop.

Mr. G. L. Vose proposes to 'order a suspension of traffic' on the Grand Trunk line, from Portland to Montreal 'until it is repaired.' The "Daily Advertiser" (Portland) defends the Company.

The talented Port Elgin correspondent of the Paisley "Advocate" refers to 'an old book wrote about 4,000 years ago' and desires his readers to find out what he means. Is it a puzzle? We give it up.

Several families have emigrated from Guelph for the Western and Southern States. On the other hand, crowds of States' people make capital in Canada.

A new mode of making gas, introduced by Mr. McKenzie in Scotland, is found, from experiments in New York, equal to 20 to 25 candles. Gas in the States yields a power equal to 12 to 15; in Great Britain 25 to 30.

The gas question is bothering the people of St. Johns (Prov. of Quebec). The inhabitants carry lighted lanterns to avoid running against the gas-lamps at night.

We beg leave to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of G. S. Sexsmith, merchant tailor, to be found in another column.

Parties wishing entire satisfaction, and work done in the last and latest style will save money and time by leaving their orders at once. Save money by wearing the clothes one half longer than from any other place in town, and save time by not having to go back a half dozen times to get alterations made.

Sexsmith's is the place where you will find the finest selection of goods in town.

MARRIED.

At the M. E. Parsonage, Napanee, on the 4th inst., by Rev. I. B. Aylsworth, M. A. Mr. Mark Sixsmith, to Miss Mary Ann Garrison, all of Richmond.

By the same, at the same place, on the 8th Mr. David Meritt, to Miss Jane Little, both of Prince Edward.

By the same, at the same place, on the same day, Mr. James Hiram Loyd, to Miss Lapoint. Both of South Frederickburg.

By the same, at the Campbell House, Napanee, Abel G. Scott, to Miss Catherine Fringle. Both of Richmond.

DIRECTORS:
H. A. McFAUL, JAMES CAVAN,
JAS. JOHNSON, N. S. DEMILL,
WILLIAM DELONG.
DAVID BARKER, TREAS.
JOHN TWIGG, Sec'y.
R. J. Fitzgerald, SOLICITOR.

THIS Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, insuring farming and isolated property, (not hazardous), in Townships only, and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for 3 years, without the expense of a renewal.

This Company has existed 25 years, during which period it has adjusted all losses in a satisfactory manner. It is managed with strict economy, and affords an opportunity of insuring with safety and reliance, and very little expense, which accounts for its long standing and the successful business which it has been and is now doing.
Picton, Oct. 15, 1868.

Town Hall!
FIRST APPEARANCE in this TOWN
Since their return from
ENGLAND, IRELAND AND SCOTLAND,
And after an absence of Nine Years.

The Old Alleghanians,
VOCALISTS,
AND Swiss Bell Ringers!!

TUESDAY EVENING,
October 27th, 1868.

ORGANIZED in 1846, and lately from Great St. James' Hall and Crystal Palace, London, England, will appear in two brilliant Programmes.

Admission only 25 cents. Reserved Seats, 50 cents each.
Concert commences at 8 o'clock.

PROF. J. M. BOULARD,
Director.
D. G. WALDRON,
Agent.
Napanee, Oct. 14, 1868. 33-1d

BLIND Hinges and Fastenings a large stock and cheaper than ever at
BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

BEST English Oak Tanned Leather Belting a large stock all sizes and at Montreal prices at
BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

A XE Helves a large lot just received.
BOYLE & WRIGHT'S.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED BY 33 3m T. Beeman.
INSOLVENT ACT OF 1865 & 1865

In the matter of Theodore P. Williams, an Insolvent.

THE Creditors of the above named Insolvent are notified to meet at the Law Office of Messrs. Williams & Morden, in the Town of Napanee, on Tuesday the third day of November, A. D. 1868, at one o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of examining the Insolvent and for the ordering of the Estate generally, and the Insolvent is notified to attend said meeting.
W. S. WILLIAMS,
Official Assignee.

Dated at the Town of Napanee, this 8th day of October, A. D. 1868.
33-2m

Offers at Auction the Largest and most complete assortment of Dry Goods, &c., ever imported into Napanee, and must be sold

Without any Reserve,
Whatever. The stock is suitable for

FALL & WINTER WEAR,
And consists of the following:
London best Prints,
New Cobourgs,
New French Merinoes,
New shades in Winceys,
New Velveteen Jackets,
New Seal Skins,
New Cloth Jackets,
New breakfast Shawls,

Grey and white Cotton,
Imported & Canadian Tweeds,
White and grey blankets,
Boots and Shoes of every size and description,
Steam Loom and Factory Cottons,
Broad and other Cloths, Canadian and Imported,
Cloths, White and Colored,
Table Covers, Damask and Table Covers,
Trimmings of endless variety, Battons, &c., Carpets and stair Liner,
Woolen Shawls, Cotton and cotton Yarn,
Ladies' Winter Hats, and Caps,
Gentlemen's do do
Men's Ready Made Clothing,
China Tea Sets, Glassware and Crockery,
Feathers, Flowers and Hat Trimmings,
Seas, Spices and Tobaccos.

PRIVATE SALES
AT AUCTION PRICES

ALL DAY

THESE GOODS HAVE BEEN BOUGHT

Cheap for Cash,

AND WILL BE

SOLD CHEAP.

M. T. ROGER,
Proprietor,

T. FLYNN, Auctioneer.
Napanee, Oct. 1st, 1868:

R. RENNIE & COMPANY

Have now opened the greater portion of their FALL IMPORTATIONS.

The Public will find their stock for the present season unusually large and well assorted. Immense stock of Cottons, grey and white,

New Dress Goods,
New Prints,
new French Merinoes,
new Flannels,
new Tweeds,
new Coatings,
new Shawls,
new Beaver Coatings,
new Velvet and Mantles,
new Tapestry Carpetings,
new Felt Carpetings,
new Blankets,
new Cloakings,
new Ribbons,
new Flowers,
new Feathers,
new Damasks,
new Gloves,
new Hosiery,
new Fingering Yarns,
new Linseys,
new Laces,
new Trimmings, &c.

Immense Assortment of Crockery Just Opened, Immense Assortment of Boots & Shoes do

Teas splendid flavor at 60 cents,
Sugars fair quality at 5 pence,

AND OTHER

GROCERIES EQUALLY CHEAP.

Our Tailoring Department.

Under the management of Mr. John Sauviat, who comes from a first class establishment in Montreal. Gents can therefore depend upon getting satisfaction when leaving their Orders for Clothing.

READY MADE CLOTHING.

Immense stock and Cheapest in Town. R. RENNIE & Co.

THE LAST CASE

OF ONE OF THE

CHEAPEST STOCKS EVER BROUGHT INTO THIS MARKET.

Received and marked off at

Stevenson & Bro.'s.

READ THIS!!

W. A. HOPE & CO, NEWBURGH.

For Prints, Brilliants, and Muslins go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Dress Goods, and latest styles, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Fine Lustrous, Alpaca and Cashmere, cheap, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Mourning goods, in Black Berthaes

Coburg,

Lusters,

Alpaca,

Melinoes,

Crape Cloth,

Paramatta,

go to Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

Ribbons,

Flowers,

Feathers,

Bugle Trimmings,

a large stock at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Boots and Shoes in every variety cheap

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

For Tweeds, for Suits 109 Patterns to

Select from,

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

FOR

BLACK SILKS,

go to Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

THE LARGEST,

Cheapest and Best Stock of Ready Made Clothing in the Counties, at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Cotton Yarn.

all Nos. Best quality, at

PRINTS,

SHIRTING,

and Cottons,

all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

TEN DOZEN

Hoop

Skirts

THE NEW STYLE,

Just Received, from

KATE CHURCHMAN

W. A. HOPE & CO, NEWBURGH.

For Prints, Brilliants, and Muslins go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Dress Goods, and latest styles, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Fine Lustrous, Alpaca and Cashmere, cheap, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Mourning goods, in Black Berthaes

Coburg,

Lusters,

Alpaca,

Melinoes,

Crape Cloth,

Paramatta,

go to Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

Ribbons,

Flowers,

Feathers,

Bugle Trimmings,

a large stock at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Boots and Shoes in every variety cheap

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

For Tweeds, for Suits 109 Patterns to

Select from,

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

FOR

BLACK SILKS,

go to Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

THE LARGEST,

Cheapest and Best Stock of Ready Made Clothing in the Counties, at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Cotton Yarn.

all Nos. Best quality, at

PRINTS,

SHIRTING,

and Cottons,

all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

TEN DOZEN

Hoop

Skirts

THE NEW STYLE,

Just Received, from

KATE CHURCHMAN

For Prints, Brilliants, and Muslins go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Dress Goods, and latest styles, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Fine Lustrous, Alpaca and Cashmere, cheap, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Mourning goods, in Black Berthaes

Coburg,

Lusters,

Alpaca,

Melinoes,

Crape Cloth,

Paramatta,

go to Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

Ribbons,

Flowers,

Feathers,

Bugle Trimmings,

a large stock at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Boots and Shoes in every variety cheap

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

For Tweeds, for Suits 109 Patterns to

Select from,

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

FOR

BLACK SILKS,

go to Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

THE LARGEST,

Cheapest and Best Stock of Ready Made Clothing in the Counties, at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Cotton Yarn.

all Nos. Best quality, at

PRINTS,

SHIRTING,

and Cottons,

all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

TEN DOZEN

Hoop

Skirts

THE NEW STYLE,

Just Received, from

KATE CHURCHMAN

For Prints, Brilliants, and Muslins go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Dress Goods, and latest styles, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Fine Lustrous, Alpaca and Cashmere, cheap, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Mourning goods, in Black Berthaes

Coburg,

Lusters,

Alpaca,

Melinoes,

Crape Cloth,

Paramatta,

go to Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

Ribbons,

Flowers,

Feathers,

Bugle Trimmings,

a large stock at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Boots and Shoes in every variety cheap

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

For Tweeds, for Suits 109 Patterns to

Select from,

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

FOR

BLACK SILKS,

go to Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

THE LARGEST,

Cheapest and Best Stock of Ready Made Clothing in the Counties, at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Cotton Yarn.

all Nos. Best quality, at

PRINTS,

SHIRTING,

and Cottons,

all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

TEN DOZEN

Hoop

Skirts

THE NEW STYLE,

Just Received, from

KATE CHURCHMAN

For Prints, Brilliants, and Muslins go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Dress Goods, and latest styles, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Fine Lustrous, Alpaca and Cashmere, cheap, go to

W. A. Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

For Mourning goods, in Black Berthaes

Coburg,

Lusters,

Alpaca,

Melinoes,

Crape Cloth,

Paramatta,

go to Hope & Co's,

Newburgh.

Ribbons,

Flowers,

Feathers,

Bugle Trimmings,

a large stock at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Boots and Shoes in every variety cheap

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

For Tweeds, for Suits 109 Patterns to

Select from,

at Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

FOR

BLACK SILKS,

go to Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

THE LARGEST,

Cheapest and Best Stock of Ready Made Clothing in the Counties, at

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

Cotton Yarn.

all Nos. Best quality, at

PRINTS,

SHIRTING,

and Cottons,

all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,

Newburgh.

TEN DOZEN

Under the management of Mr John Sauriat, who comes from a first class establishment in Montreal. Gent's can therefore depend upon getting satisfaction when leaving their Orders for Clothing.

READY MADE CLOTHING.

Immense stock and Cheapest in Town. R. RENNIE & Co.

THE LAST CASE

OF ONE OF THE

CHEAPEST STOCKS EVER BROUGHT INTO THIS MARKET.

Received and marked off at

Stevenson & Bro.'s.

READ THIS!!

IN STOCK:

Good Wineys for 10 cents.

All Wool Plaids for 30 cents.

French Merinoes for 40 cents.

All Wool Empress cloths for 40 cents.

Heavy Canadian Tweeds for 60 cents.

Prints for 8 cents.

Steam Loom for 8 cents, &c.

ALSO A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

Blankets, Flannels, Shawls, Cottons, Tickings, Linens, Stripes, Jeans,
Cotton Yarn, &c.

Less than they can be purchased elsewhere.

PLEASE CALL, EXAMINE

SEE FOR YOURSELVES:

Stevenson & Bro.

NEW GOODS

JUST OPENED OUT

AT

ROBERT DOWNEY'S

Cottons 4d,

Fast-colored Prints 6d,

Wineys 7d,

74 pieces Red Flannel from 1s 3d,

Home-made Flannel, all colors,

Balmoral Skirts from 4s,

French Merinos, good colors,

[for 2s 6d,

Coburgs,

Lustres,

Corsets 2s 3d,

Gloves, Hosiery, Buttons and Trimmings, all kinds, Shawls and Jackets, a splendid assortment and the newest styles,

TO MILLINERS.

Cotton Yarn.

all Nos. Best quality, at

PRINTS,
SHIRTING,
and Cottons,

all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,
Newburgh.

TEN DOZEN

Hoop
Skirts

THE NEW STYLE,

Just Received, from

5 CTS. UPWARDS,
at W.A. Hope & Co's,
Newburgh.

For the Best and cheapest Stock in the County, go to Hope & Co's
Newburgh.

HATS!

HATS

Of all kinds, of the Latest Styles,

FROM

50 CENTS TO $5,

Hope & Co's
Newburgh.

MUSLIN

Curtains

In great Variety

At

Hope & Co's,
Newburgh.

FOR

GLOVES AND HOSIERY
Call on

W.A. Hope & Co.
NEWBURGH.

AUCTION SALE

OF

VALUABLE PROPERTY

IN THE

TOWN OF NAPANEE.

Great RED IN PRICE

Collar at 810 Cents per box,
Tweeds at Cost, made Splendid &

COME AND SEE

N.B.—Twenty First Class.
immediately.

No apprentices or infer

Oct. 7, 1868.

32tf

A FRESH ST

BOOT AND

Bought since the de

Tailoring De

WE would return our sincere th patronised us in this line, and made a permanent engagement

MR. GEO. B

Will offer superior inducements in Fall Trade.

We are constantly receiving con sign-ments of Tweeds from Houses in the Dominion. All remember we neither sel nor recor
26 E. H

No. 1 COARSE BO

For 11s3d, only

HOOP

STOVES! STOVES

BOYLE & V

HAVE now on hand the largest brought to Napanee, all of whic
the present fall and winter at price
Our stock while being the most var selected from the best Foundries regard to the wants of the people.

Tickings, Linens, Stripes, Jeans,
Cotton Yarn, &c.

Less than they can be purchased elsewhere.

PLEASE CALL, EXAMINE
AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Stevenson & Bro.

NEW GOODS

JUST OPENED OUT

AT

ROBERT DOWNEY'S

Cottons 4d,
Fast-colored Prints 6d,
Winceys 7d,
74 pieces Red Flannel from 1s 3d,
Home-made Flannel, all colors,
Balmoral Skirts from 4s,
French Merinos, good colors,
[for 2s 6d,
Coburgs,
Lustres,

Corsets 2s 3d,
Gloves, Hosiery, Buttons and Trimmings, all kinds, Shawls and Jackets, a splendid assortment and the newest styles,

TO MILLINERS.

We have the best assorted stock of Flowers, Ribbons, Illusions, Plumes, Satin Folds and Fringe,

To be found in Town. Parties wanting these goods to sell again will do well to call and inspect the stock.

OUR GENT'S DEPARTMENT

Will be found complete—Flannel Shirts, White Shirts, Ganzie Drawers, Cardigan Jackets, Scarfs, Ties, Collars, Gloves, etc.

All parties wanting

GOOD CHEAP GOODS

CALL AT

R. DOWNEY'S.

West End Grange Block, Oct. 14, 1868.

Teas!

WATER LIME,

JAPAN, Gunpowder, Imperial, Twan
Key and Hyson, a large lot and low Prices, at MURPHY & WHITTINGTON'S

WATER LIME

Wines & Liquors.

PURE Wines and Liquors constantly on hand, best Quality and very cheap at
MURPHY & WHITTINGTON'S.

Valencia Raisins,

25 BOXES Received this day Fresh and cheap at MURPHY & WHITTINGTON'S

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

Napanee, 7th October, 1868.

HATS

Of all kinds, of the Latest Styles,

FROM

50 CENTS TO $5,

Hope & Co.'s

Newburgh.

MUSLIN

Curtains

In great Variety

Hope & Co.'s,

Newburgh.

FOR

GLOVES

AND HOSIERY

Call on

W.A. Hope & Co.

NEWBURGH.

AUCTION SALE

OF

VALUABLE PROPERTY

IN THE

TOWN OF NAPANEE.

THE following property will be sold by Public Auction on the premises at one o'clock, p. m., on Thursday, 22 October, 1868,

Viz: Lots 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, on the west side of East Street, Napanee, containing 1 1/2 acres, with a frontage of 330 feet, on East Street, by 165 feet on Bridge
Street.

Upon the corner of Bridge and East street is a very comfortable House, occupied as an office and dwelling, with out buildings, &c. Garden, Fruit, and Ornamental trees, and one of the best wells of durable water in town.

The lots are admirably situated for building purposes, being higher ground than most of the neighboring lots, and can be easily drained, besides the great advantage of obtaining the best water by digging down a few feet upon any of the lots, a luxury which many lots in town are deprived of. These lots are in other respects favourably situated, being on the leading road to the G. T.
Railway Depot, in the immediate vicinity of the Court House, Town Hall, and Market, renders them desirable for business offices as well as dwellings.

Since Napanee has become a County town property in good locations is increasing rapidly in value and a more favorable opportunity for intending purchasers seldom occurs.

TERMS OF SALE

Very Liberal—One-Fifth down and the balance in seven equal annual instalments, with interest upon unpaid balance.

Plan of the Lots and Particulars can be obtained at the office of Messrs Wilkinson & Reeve, or from the undersigned on and after the 21st inst.

W. BENSON.

Napanee, Sept. 17th, 1868.

MR. GEO. BOYLE

Will offer superior inducements in various Fan Trade.

We are constantly receiving and having consignments of Tweeds from the finest Houses in the Dominion. All would remember we neither sell nor recommend
E. HOOPER

No. 1 COARSE BOO

For 11s3d, only a

HOOVER

STOVES! STOVES!!

BOYLE & W

HAVE now on hand the largest stock brought to Napanee, all of which are the present fall and winter at prices which Our stock while being the most varied is selected from the best Foundries in Canada regard to the wants of the people, such as use of fuel, durability, perfection in their &c., &c.

LOW OVEN COOKING ST

Monitor, Benefactor, Burlington, Iron Duck,
Union, Empire,
Queen's Choice, Pearl, Mayflower, Star, Queen City Peerless,

ELEVATED OVENCooking

Dominion of Canada, Imperial, Confederate, Northern Farm
Maple Leaf, Hamiltonian,
Ventilator, Prince of Wales

BOX STOVES

Lioness, 48 Inches, Lion 36 Inches, S
Black Giant 21 Inches, Era, Prin do do 25 do Forest Rose No.
do do 30 do do do
do do 36 do

PARLOR STOVES

size 22 inches, Cottage 32 inches,
do 25 do do 24 do do
Self Regulator, Boston Parlor Cooki

COME AND SEE OUR STOCK
PRICES

Napanee, October 1th 1868

CO. H. CLOTHING STORE

And Merchant Tailoring Establishment.

The undersigned having started business in the Shop formerly occupied by

H. T. FORWARD,

Next door to Stevensons,

Have a careful and well selected stock of Fall and Winter Goods, consisting of the following:

- | | |
|-----------------|------------------------------------|
| Broad Cloths, | English and Scotch Tweeds, |
| Cassimeres, | Canadian Tweeds, in great variety, |
| Doe Skins, | Fall Cloths, |
| Beavers, | Velveteens, |
| Fancy Vestings, | Satinetts, |

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS

AS FOLLOWS

- | | | | |
|----------|-----------|---------------|------------|
| Collars, | Neckties, | Under Shirts, | Socks, &c. |
| | | Draws | |

Hats, Caps and Buffs o Robes,

READY MADE CLOTHING

OF our own manufacture. Having secured the services of Mr. James Blair, who has had the longest Experience of any cutter in the Town. All orders intrusted to us will have our best attention.

Cutting done on shortest notice and Reasonable Terms. Don't forget the place, H. T. Forward's old stand. Give us a call and be convinced that we are selling cheaper than any other house in town.

We defy competition.

Napanee, Oct. 7th, 1868.

JUST RECEIVED
10,000 Collars, direct from the Manufactory.

Great REDUCTION IN PRICES.

Collar at $10 Cents per box.
Tweeds at Cost, made to order, in best Style,
Splendid Stock No. 1 Tweeds and Fancy Coatings just arrived

COME AND SEE THEM

N. B.—Twenty First Class. Practical hands wanted immediately.

No apprentices or inferior workmen need apply.

Oct. 7, 1868.

A FRESH STOCK OF

BY-LAW NEW GO

WHEREAS thirty of the Electors of the Township of Richmond,

Have required that the By-Law

Prohibiting the sale of Intoxicating Liquors, and the issuing of Licenses therefor be Repealed.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Township of Richmond that said By-Law be and is hereby repealed, and that this By-Law be submitted to the Electors for their approval or rejection.

THOS. SEXSMITH,
O. D. SWEET, Clerk. Reeve.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given to the Electors of the Township of Richmond, that a Meeting of the Municipal Electors of said Municipality will be held in the

TOWN HALL,

SELBY ON WEDNESDAY,

The 4th day of November next, at the hour of ten in the forenoon.

For the taking of a Poll to decide whether or not the above By-Law is approved by said Electors.

O. D. SWEET,
Town Clerk
Selby Sept. 30th, 1868.

AUCTION SALE

OF VALUABLE
Real Estate

ON

AMHERST ISLAND.

THE Executors of the late WILLIAM HOWARD Esq., will offer for sale at Public Auction, on the premises, on

WEDNESDAY,

The 4th day of November, 1868 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon

The following valuable Property on Amherst Island, containing one and three-quarters acres of land, being composed of

JUST RECEIVED

AT THE DOMINION

A. C. DAY

GIBBARD & SON

New French Merinos and
New Silks and Satins,
New Satin Trimmings and
New Hats and Caps,
New Coburgs and Lustr
New Winceys, Plain and
New Gloves and Hosiery
New Damasks and Toile
New Cottons and Braces
New Flannels and Shirts
New Cottons and Ticking
New 3-Ply Wool Carpet
New 2-Ply do do
New Union do do

establish-n leaving
S & Co.
ENT
's.
nts.
, &c.
NE
O.
Y'S
lors, 2s 3d, haws
styles,

Cotton Yarn.
all Nos. Best quality, at PRINTS,
SHIRTING,
and Cottons,
all bought before the rise

Hope and Co's,
Newburgh
TEN DOZEN

Hoop
Skirts

THE NEW STYLE,
Just Received, from 5 CTS. OUPWARDS,
at W.A. Hope & Co's,
Newburgh.

For the Best and cheapest Stock in the County, go to Hope & Co's
Newburgh.

HATS !
HATS
Of all kinds, of the Latest Styles,
FROM
50 CENTS TO $5,

Hope & Co's
Newburgh.

MUSLIN
Curtains
In great Variety
At Hope & Co's,
Newburgh.

FOR GLOVES
AND HOSIERY
Call on
W.A. Hope & Co.
NEWBURGH.

AUCTION SALE
OF
VALUABLE PROPERTY
IN THE
TOWN OF NAPANEE.

Great REDUCTION
IN PRICES.
Collar at $10 Cents per box,
Tweeds at Cost, made to order, in best Style,
Splendid Stock No. 1 Tweeds and Fancy Coatings just arrived

COME AND SEE THEM
N. B.—Twenty First Class. Practical hands wanted
immediately.
No apprentices or inferior workmen need apply.
Oct. 7, 1868. 321f G. S. SEKSMITH, Merchant Tailor.

A FRESH STOCK OF BOOT AND SHOES,
Bought since the decline in Prices

Tailoring Department
WE would return our sincere thanks to those who have patronised us in this line, and would say that having made a permanent engagement with

MR. GEO. BUDDEN,
Will offer superior inducements in variety and Styles for the Fall Trade.
We are constantly receiving and have received large con signments of Tweeds from the first Manufacturing Houses in the Dominion. All work Warranted, and remember we neither sel nor recommend inferior Goods.
26 E. HOOPER & SON.

No. 1 COARSE BOOTS, dozen
For 11s3d, only a few HOOOPER & SON.

STOVES! STOVES!! STOVES!!!

BOYLE & WRIGHT
HAVE now on hand the largest stock of Stoves ever brought to Napanee, all of which are to be sold during the present fall and winter at prices which defy competition.
Our stock while being the most varied is yet most carefully selected from the best Foundries in Canada, with a due regard to the wants of the people, such as economy in the

OF VALUABLE
Real Estate
ON AMHERST ISLAND.

THE Executors of the late WILLIAM HOWARD
Esq., will offer for sale at Public Auction, on the premises, on

WEDNESDAY,
The 4th day of November, 1868 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon

The following valuable Property on Amherst Island, containing one and three-quarters acres of land, being composed
of

1st. The Village lot as surveyed and laid out on the west half of Lot No. 1, on the north side of Amherst Island, bounded as follows:—On the west by the westerly limit of said Lot No. 1, on the east by a line parallel with said westerly limit, and distant therefrom 95 feet, on the north by the now travelled Road running across said lot, and on the south by a line parallel with said Road, and distant therefrom a sufficient depth to comprise one acre of land.

2nd. Part of said Lot No.
1 on the north side of Amherst Island, containing $\frac{1}{2}$ an acre more or less, bounded as follows:—On the north by the Bay of Quinte, on the east by the western limit of Lot No. 2, together with the use of the road 20 feet wide leading thereto, from the Main Road, between Town Lots sometime owned by John Watson and David Andrews, the said parcel of land being 120 feet in length, running in a direction from east to west and extending in a southerly direction a sufficient distance to comprise $\frac{1}{2}$ an acre.

3rd. Part of said Lot No.
1, containing $\frac{1}{4}$ of an acre more or less, and being immediately south of and adjoining the parcel described secondly above.

Upon the above property is erected a large Frame Store and Dwelling House!
Two stories high, and is

The very best Business Stand on Amherst Island.

The store has an excellent water under it, together with a large yard, good stabling and garden attached. There is also a second frame dwell-

TH
Mer
Bo

Will offer superior inducements in variety and Styles for the Fall Trade.

We are constantly receiving and have received large consignments of Tweeds from the first Manufacturing Houses in the Dominion. All work Warranted, and remember we neither sel nor recommend inferior Goods.

26

E. HOOPER & SON.

No. 1 COARSE BOOTS. dozen.
For 11s3d, only a few

HOOPER & SON.

STOVES! STOVES!! STOVES!!!

BOYLE & WRIGHT

HAVE now on hand the largest stock of Stoves ever brought to Napanee, all of which are to be sold during the present fall and winter at prices which defy competition. Our stock while being the most varied is yet most carefully selected from the best Foundries in Canada, with a due regard to the wants of the people, such as economy in the use of fuel, durability, perfection in their Baking operations, &c., &c.

LOW OVEN COOKING STOVES

Monitor,	Benefactor,	Superior,
Burlington,	Iron Duck,	Monarch,
Union,	Empire,	Canadian,
Queen's Choice,	Pearl,	Home Guard,
Mayflower, Star,	Queen City Peerless,	Bride of the East,

ELEVATED OVENCOOKING STOVES

Dominion of Canada,	Imperial,	Royal Oak,
Confederate,	Northern Farmer,	House Keeper,
Maple Leaf,	Hamiltonian,	British Empire,
Ventilator,	Prince of Wales,

BOX STOVES

Lioness, 48 Inches,	Lion 36 Inches,	Students Stoves,
Black Giant 21 Inches,	Era,	Prince of Stoves,
do do 25 do	Forest Rose No. 2,	Double Prince,
do do 30 do	do do	3. [of Stoves,
do do 36 do

PARLOR STOVES

size 22 inches,	Cottage 32 inches,	Onward [Plain]
do 25 do	do 24 do	do with Russian Iron
Self Regulator.	Boston Parlor Cooking do	Top Signal,

COME AND SEE OUR STOCK AND GET OUR PRICES

BOYLE & WRIGHT
Napanee, October 1th 1868 32th.

comprise one acre of land.
2nd. Part of said Lot No. 1 on the north side of Amherst Island, containing 1/2 an acre more or less, bounded as follows:--On the north by the Bay of Quinte, on the east by the western limit of Lot No. 2, together with the use of the road 20 feet wide leading thereto, from the Main Road, between Town Lots sometime owned by John Watson and David Andrews, the said parcel of land being 120 feet in length, running in a direction from east to west and extending in a southerly direction a sufficient distance to comprise 1/2 an acre.

3rd. Part of said Lot No. 1, containing 1/2 of an acre more or less, and being immediately south of and adjoining the parcel described secondly above.

Upon the above property is erected a large Frame Store and Dwelling House!

Two stories high, and is

The very best Business Stand on Amherst Island.

The store has an excellent water under it, together with a large yard, good stabling and garden attached. There is also a second frame dwelling house on the property.—There are also upon the premises the best wharf and store house upon the Bay of Quinte at which a very large grain and general business has been done.

This property affords a splendid opportunity to any person wishing to embark in business in a place where there is a good opening.

Terms made known at Sale

For further particulars apply to George Howard, Esq., Howard Richards, Esq., or Allan Howard, Esq., Amherst Island, or to Messrs. WILKISON & REEVE, Barristers, Napanee

Amherst Island, Sep., 19, 1868.

LOST.

A NOTE of hand given in favor of George Huffman, of North Fredricksburgh, dated Sept. 17th or 18th, maturing in 30 days from date of note, and against Thos. Empey of Ernestown. I hereby forbid any one purchasing said note for I have not received value.

GEORGE HUFFMAN.

Napanee, Oct. 6th, 1868.

New Velvet and Cloth Jack

THE LARGEST AND Assortment of Men's, Ladeis' Misses' & C

Boots and Sh

To be found in Nap

Splendid Women's Bats a

CLOTHI

MADE TO ORDER

IN THE LATEST STYLES UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF

Mr. D. J. HOG

Formerly with R. Rennie & Co. All garments to fit or no sale.

$2.00 WORTH of Hardware at Cost and under; see 1

- Best Heavy Scotch Iron,
- Oval and half-round all sizes in stock.
- Best Square and Round, half inch and under,
- Best Spring Steel, finest quality,
- 2,000 lbs. Sweeds Iron, worth $6.50 for
- Cast St-el,
- Band Iron, 1 to 3 inch,
- Hoop Iron,
- 1,000 lbs. Best Horse Nails, at
- 10 dozen Hose Reaps, at 40 cents, 45 cents and 50
- 12 Inca Mill Files, best quality, each
- Screws by the Gross at COST
- Knob Locks at COST
- 500 T Hinges, at

TERMS CASH

Small Profits and Ready Sale is 1

D J N

NEW GOODS

JUST RECEIVED

AT THE

DOMINION STORE,

A. C. DAVIS.

New French Merinos and Repps,
New Silks and Satins,
New Satin Trimmings and Buttons,
New Hats and Caps,
New Coburgs and Lustres,
New Winceys, Plain and Fancy,
New Gloves and Hosiery,
New Damasks and Toilet Covers,
New Cottons and Braces,
New Flannels and Shirts,
New Cottons and Tickings,
New 3-Ply Wool Carpets,
New 2-Ply do do
New Union do do

1868. New Goods, Autumn, 1868.

E. HOOPER & SON'S

A SPLENDID LOT OF

CANADIAN and ENGLISH

CLOTHS AND TWEEDS

At the Lowest Prices.

6 Pieces

GREY FULLCLOTH

(Each yard weighing 1lb),

FOR 3s 9 PER YARD.

A GOOD PAIR OF

Ladies' Double Soled Calf Gaitors

FOR 7s 6d.

E. Hooper & Son.

All Persons Interested

TAKE NOTICE.

ALL PARTIES INDEBTED TO ME, EITHER

NOTE, BOOK ACCOUNT, MORTGAGE, &c.
Will now CALL IMMEDIATELY and SETTLE the same without further delay, or they will be PLACED IN COURT FOR COLLECTION
Without respect to person or persons.
JOHN STEVENSON.

Napanee, September 11, 1868.

28

New Store !

NEW PRICES!!

THE Subscriber begs to inform the people of Napanee, and its vicinity that has he just opened in the
SHOP FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
R. Rennie & Co., Corner of Dundas & East Sts.

AN EXTENSIVE AND ENTIRELY NEW STOCK OF

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, HARDWARE, BOOTS & SHOES, CROCKERY, GLASSWARE, &c.,

WHICH HE WILL SELL AT

PRICES

New Silks and Satins,
 New Satin Trimmings and Buttons,
 New Hats and Caps,
 New Coburgs and Lustres,
 New Winceys, Plain and Fancy,
 New Gloves and Hosiery,
 New Damasks and Toilet Covers,
 New Cottons and Braces,
 New Flannels and Shirts,
 New Cottons and Tickings,
 New 3-Ply Wool Carpets,
 New 2-Ply do do
 New Union do do
 New Tapestry Carpets,
 New Floor Oil Cloths,
 New Matting and Matts,
 New Moscow & Beaver Overcoatings,
 New Melton do
 New Trouserings,
 New Cloths & Trimmings, all kinds,
 New Paisley and Woolen Shawls,
 New Velveteens,
 New Cloakings,
 New Velvet and Cloth Jackets.

THE LARGEST AND FINEST Assortment of Men's, Ladeis' Misses' & Children's

Boots and Shoes !!

To be found in Napanee.

Splendid Women's Bats at $1.00.

CLOTHING

NEW STOCK!
NEW PRICES!!

THE Subscriber begs to inform the people of Napanee, and its vicinity that has he just opened in the SHOP FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
R. Rennie & Co., Corner of Dundas & East Sts.

AN EXTENSIVE AND ENTIRELY NEW STOCK OF
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, HARD-WARE, BOOTS & SHOES, CROCK-ERY, GLASSWARE, &c.,

WHICH HE WILL SELL AT
PRICES
LOWER THAN THE LOWEST

B A R G A I N S

That will surprise Purchasers for the Marvellous Cheapness of the Goods, are offered.

The Quality of the Stock, and the Extremely Low Prices before purchasing elsewhere.
 Napanee, Sep. 29, 68.

G. H. PHIPPEN.

SIGN OF THE

Mammoth Watch !!

THO. RUSSELL & SON

THE WORLD RENOWNED CHRONOMETERS.

THE above imported direct by most of the respectable Jewelers throughout the Province.

We caution the public against being imposed upon by Watches marked 'Makers to the Queen,' but which are not manufactured by us.

We have appointed Mr. C. H. JUDD, Watch and Clock Maker, Dundas St., Napanee, as our Agent.

THOMAS RUSSELL & SON.

THE AMERICAN WATCH

HAVING obtained the Agency for these Watches, I am now prepared to keep them in stock, and furnish to order, of any style or price. All guaranteed to give entire satisfaction.

C. H. JUDD, Agent.

HAVING just returned from market I am now prepared to announce to my numerous friends, and the public generally that I have the best selected and most complete assortment of

CLOCKS, WATCHES AND JEWELRY

Ever offered in this Town, and at prices that will compete with any other market consisting of

GOLD and SILVER WATCHES,

Of the best English, Swiss and American manufacture. The stock of

JEWELRY

Has been carefully selected, and consists of a variety of styles and qualities, designed to give satisfaction to all. Always a

New Velvet and Cloth Jackets.

THE LARGEST AND FINEST Assortment of Men's, Ladeis' Misses' & Children's

Boots and Shoes !!

To be found in Napanee.

Splendid Women's Bats at $1.00.

CLOTHING

MADE TO ORDER,

IN THE LATEST STYLES UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF

Mr. D. J. HOGAN,

Formerly with R. Rennie & Co. All garments Warranted to fit or no sale.

$2.00 WORTH of Hardware at Cost and under; see price list below :

Best Heavy Scotch Iron,	$2 25.
Oval and half-round all sizes in stock.	$3 75.
Best Square and Round, half inch and under,	$3 25.
Best Spring Steel, finest quality,	$6 00.
2,000 lbs. Sweeds Iron, worth $6.50 for	$4 75.
Cast St-el,	16.
Band Iron, 1 to 3 inch,	$3 00.
Hoop Iron,	$4 00.
1,000 lbs. Best Horse Nails, at	18.
10 dozen Hose Raps, at 40 cents, 45 cents and 55 cents.
12 Inch Mill Files, best quality, each	35.
Screws by the Gross at COST
Knob Locks at COST
500 T Hinges, at	72.

TERMS CASH.

Small Profits and Ready Sale is the motto.

Mammoth Watch !!

THO RUSSELL & SONS

THE WORLD RENOWNED CHRONOMETERS.

THE above imported direct by most of the respectable Jewelers throughout the Province.

We caution the public against being imposed upon by Watches marked 'Makers to the Queen,' but which are not manufactured by us.

We have appointed Mr. C. H. JUDD, Watch and Clock Maker, Dundas St. Napanee, as our Agent.

THOMAS RUSSELL & SONS.

THE AMERICAN WATCH

HAVING obtained the Agency for these Watches, I am now prepared to keep them in stock, and furnish to order, of any style or price. All guaranteed to give entire satisfaction. C. H. JUDD, Agent.

HAVING just returned from market I am now prepared to announce to my numerous friends, and the public generally that I have the best selected and most complete assortment of

CLOCKS, WATCHES AND JEWELRY

Ever offered in this Town, and at prices that will compete with any other market consisting of

GOLD and SILVER WATCHES,

Of the best English, Swiss and American manufacture. The stock of

JEWELRY

Has been carefully selected, and consists of a variety of styles and qualities, designed to give satisfaction to all. Always a

Good Assortment of Clocks on Hand

From the best manufacturers, consisting of Eight day and Thirty hour. All warranted to give satisfaction. Please call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

WATCHES, CLOCKS, AND JEWELRY

Carefully repaired and warranted. Taking this opportunity I most cordially thank my numerous customers and friends for their liberal patronage for the past four years, I shall try in future to justify merit or continuance of the same.

Sign of the BIG WATCH, Dunning's Block, Dundas Street, Napanee.

Wm. S. JUDD.

IN THE Surrogate Court

Of the County of Lennox and Addington.

IN the matter of Patrick Lacy and James Lacy, two infant sons of Michael Lacy, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Judge of the Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington, at his Chambers in the Court House, Napanee, on Saturday, the 31st day of October, 1868, at 12 o'clock,

Noon, for an order appointing Mary Lacy, of the Village of Centreville, in the County of Lennox & Addington, widow, guardian of Patrick Lacy and James Lacy, two infant sons of Michael Lacy deceased.

GEORGE KIRKPATRICK,
Solicitor for Infants

Dated 6th Oct. 1868.

A VERY Large stock of Spades, Spikes and Forks very low at BROWN & WATSON'S

ADJOURNED QUARTER SESSIONS.

PUBLIC Notice is hereby given that the adjourned sitting of the Court of General Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the County of Lennox and Addington, for the auditing of the public accounts, will be holden at the Court House, in the

TOWN of NAPANEE
in the County of Lennox and Addington on Wednesday, the 4th day of November, A. D., 1868, at twelve o'clock, noon.

By order of the Court.

W. H. WILKINSON,

Clerk of the Peace, County of Lennox & Addington.
Office of the Clerk of the Peace, County of L. and A., Napanee, 7 Oct., A. D. 1868.

ONE Hundred and fifty (150) pairs best trace chains just received and prices reduced at BOYLE & WILKINSON

D J N

OUR BABY.

Did you ever see our baby?

Little Tot,
With her eyes so sparkling bright,
And her skin so lily white,
Lips and cheeks of rosy light—
Tell you what,
She is just the sweetest baby
In the lot.

Oh, she is our only darling!
And to me
All her ways are witty,
When she sings her little ditty,
Every word is just as pretty,
As can be;

Not another in the city
Sweet as she.
You don't think so, you never saw her;
Wish you could See her with her playthings clatter-
ing,
Hear her little tongue a chattering
Little dancing feet come pattering, Think you would Love her just as well as I do,
If you should.

What is smaller than a mite's mouth?
His tongue.

There is a shop kept by a handsome widow in the strand, in the window of which appear these words: "No reasonable offer refused."

The female compositors of San Francisco have started a co-operative printing establishment with a lady manager, and advertise to do printing in all its branches.

A young Albany girl, after receiving the attentions of a young man for several months, abruptly asked him when he intended to marry her. The young man said he was not on the marry. She then broke a teapot, filled with boiling water over his head.

Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars were received for the pews of the new Jewish temple in New York, which have just been sold by auction.
The sum realized pays the debts of the congregation and leaves a fund of $100,000.

FARM

FOR SALE.

THE North-west 1/4 of lot No 16, in 7th Concession of Richmond, 50 acres, composed of

GOOD LAND,

And within 7 miles of Napanee, on an excellent road.

Apply to

WILKISON & REEVE.

Napanee, Sep. 2, 1868. 28th

THE purest of dyes and the best Colors at the Ontario
Drug Store.

PRINTED Receipts, for Dyeing every shade of Color, furnished free at the
Ontario Drug Store.

TEAS & Sugars Good and Cheap at the

Ontario Drug Store.

GROCERIES of all kinds of
the best quality at the
Ontario Drug Store.

REMEMBER that the best

NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that application will be made to the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, at the session thereof next, after the expiration of six months from the date of this notice, by John Hume Stevenson, formerly of the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox and Addington, but now of the City of Toronto, in the county of York, for a bill of divorce from Mary Elizabeth Stevenson, formerly Mary Elizabeth Poole, and now called Mary Elizabeth Perry, on the ground of Adultery.

Dated at Toronto, this 7th day of September, 1868.

BEVERLEY JONES,
Solicitor for Applicant.

FULL Stock of paints, oils glass and putty, constantly on hand at the Ontario Drugstore.

AT THE

ONTARIO DRUG STORE

will be found the most complet and varied assortment of Fancy Goods and Perfumery and Toilet articles ever before shown in town.

Call and inspect the stock.

Horse For Sale

A GOOD FARM HORSE

Apply to

27th

A. C. DAVIS

Cash Store.

ON Tuesday, September 1st, I will open in the Old Stand,

OPPOSITE THE CAMPBELL HOUSE.

A New Stock of Good, which will be sold on a new system, viz.,

FOR CASH

At prices much lower than any house in the trade. After twelve years in business, I have found that the Credit System is injurious to the buyer, and much more so for the seller.

The Stock will consist of the

Staple Goods,

Suited for the Town and County
trade.

BOOTS & SHOES

IN GREAT VARIETY.

Teas & Tobaccos

READY MADE CLOTHING,

LEATHER

Of the best Quality

Cotton Yarn,

CLEAR the TRACK!

I AM

Going to

Cabinet Ware Rooms,

WHERE YOU CAN SEE

Complete Stock of Furniture to select from

And can buy it 10 per cent cheaper than any other place in Ontario.

Remember we are selling at Reduced Prices for one month.

GIBBARD & SON.

Napanee, June 15th, 1868.

CASH! CASH!!

$10,000 worth of Goods to be Sold less than cost, at the store of

GEORGE WILSON,

Next door to Grange & Bros.' Drug Shop, Napanee

THE Subscriber intends to introduce a new system of business; and in order to do it he will sell his entire Stock of Merchandise at unprecedented low prices for Cash viz:—

Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Teas, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Hardware, Crockery, Glassware, &c., &c.

After the present sacrificial sale he will receive the best and most complete assorted stock this fall and winter that was ever offered in Town, consisting of—Staple and Fancy Dress Goods, Teas, Groceries, Boots and Shoes, Crockery, Glassware, and many other articles of merchandise suitable to the various wants of the public; and will sell at such low price that will defy competition. Credit system will not permit Goods to be sold advantageously, neither to the buyer nor seller; but as he will conduct his business in future, strictly on the Cash Principle. With his perfect knowledge of the system, and his many years' practical experience in selecting and buying Goods, will enable him to give Greater Bargains than can be obtained by any other house in Napanee.

Immediate payment of all promissory Notes, Accounts and all other claims due him, is requested. If paid before the middle of September, proximo, Law costs will be saved thereon.

Napanee Aug. 27, 1868.

27th

GEORGE WILSON.

OPPOSITION IS THE LIFE OF TRADE !!!

CHARLES WEGGANDS & SON

WOULD now inform the public that they have on hand a very Large and Complete Assortment of

FURNITURE,

All of their own Manufacture, consisting of Cane-Bottomed Chairs, Wooden Benches, Parlor, Office and Library Stools, and Childrens high and low Chairs, of every quality and description, all other kinds of Cabinet ware, such as—

Tables, Sofas, Bedsteads, Side Boards, Wash Stands, Lounges, Desks, &c., of every description of Furniture.

PARTICULAR attention paid to the UNDERTAKING DEPARTMENT. A good stock of COFFIN TRIMMINGS kept constantly on hand. All the above will be sold 10 per cent lower than can be purchased in Napanee

HEARSE!

We have also procured a fine Hearse and a splendid Black Team of Horses, which will attend Funerals at all times. Shop just below Foster's Dry Goods Store.

A Call is solicited. Credit given from three to six months.

Napanee, June 5, 1868.

14th

C. WEGANDS & SON.

MIED

ANTI

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

PUREY

Drug Store.

PRINTED Receipts, for Dyeing every shade of Color, furnished free at the
Ontario Drug Store.

TEAS & Sugars Good and Cheap at the

Ontario Drug Store.

GROCERIES of all kinds of
the best quality at the
Ontario Drug Store.

REMEMBER that the best
Dyes are to be found at the
Ontario Drug Store.

ANILINE Dyes all shades of Colors, at the

Ontario Drug Store.

JUST to hand a large lot of School Books and Stationery, Cheap, at the
Ontario Drug Store.

CAMPS, Stock Enlarged and Prices reduced at the

Ontario Drug Store.

New Muslins and Ranges,
at reduced prices,

R. RENNIE and Co.

MILLINERY!

If you want anything in the line of Millinery or

TRIMMINGS!

CALL AT

Mrs. E. L. Derby

Having decided to sell for Cash.

Good Bargains

may be expected.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING

done up in short notice, and warranted to give satisfaction.

STRAW & FELT

work done up as usual, in the latest Styles. Remember the Place, up Stairs

GRANGE BLOCK.

NAPANEE.

A New Hand at the New Stand

WHITE BLOCK, CENTRE ST.

J. BURGESS

WOULD respectfully inform the people of Napanee that he

The Stock will consist of the

Staple Goods,

Suited for the Town and County
trade,

BOOTS & SHOES

IN GREAT VARIETY.

Teas & Tobaccos

READY MADE CLOTHING,

LEATHER

Of the best Quality

Cotton Yarn,

Hard re,

Crockery, etc.,

With a full assortment of

FLOUR,

MEAL,

AND PORK,

Also, always on hand, PINE AND

CEDAR SHINGLES.

Remember the Place, the oldest Shop in Town, Opposite the Campbell House.

WM. McMULLEN.

All Accounts must be paid at once, and save Costs.
Napanee, Aug. 18, '68. 25.3m W. McM

NEW GROC'RY

MISS A. McNEILL would respectfully announce to her friends and the public generally that she has started a new

GROCERY AND

PROVISION STORE,

in the building formerly occupied by William Lamphier, next door to Bower
Drug Store, where will be found a choice stock of

Teas,

Coffee,

Sugars,

Tobaccos,

Raisins,

Currants,

Prunes,

and Figs,

Besides other articles too numerous to mention. All of the above goods will be sold at a very small margin, for Cash.

Please call before purchasing elsewhere.

Napanee, Sep. 3, 1868. ANNA McNEILL.

FOR SALE

THE Subscriber offers for sale the Dwelling

HOUSE AND LOT.

Formerly occupied by him, on the east side of Robert Street,

IN TOWN of NAPANEE

Upon the premises are a good Frame
House, Out Houses, Fences, Garden
Well &c., all in good repair, well fitted up and forming a most

DESIRABLE FAMILY RESIDENCE.

ALSO:

The East half of the Lot at the corner of Bridge and East streets, in the Town of
Napanee,

Opposite the Custom House.

FURNITURE,

All of their own Manufacture, consisting of Cane-Bottomed Chairs, Wooden Benches, Parlor, Office and Library Stools, and Childrens high and low Chairs, of every quality and description, all other kinds of Cabinet ware, such as—

Tables, Sofas, Bedsteads, Side Boards, Wash Stands, Lounges, Desks, &c., of every description of Furniture.

PARTICULAR attention paid to the UNDERTAKING DEPARTMENT. A good stock of COFFIN TRIMMINGS kept constantly on hand. All the above will be sold 10 per cent lower than can be purchased in Napanee

HEARSE!

We have also procured a fine Hearse and a splendid Black Team of Horses, which will attend Funerals at all times. Shop just below Foster's Dry Goods Store.

A Call is solicited. Credit given from three to six months.

Napanee, June 5, 1868. 14-47

C. WEGANDS & SON.

MEDICAL HALL!!

DUNDAS STREET, NAPANEE.

J. BOWER,

DEALER IN

Genuine Drugs, Medicines, Patent Medicines, Chemicals,
Perfumery, Pomades, Hair Oil, Sponge, Toilet Soaps, Fancy
Goggles, Brushes, Paints, Oil Colors, Dye Stuffs, Glass, Putty,
Coal Oil, Benzole, Turpentine, Alcohol, Lamps, Chandaliers, Chimneys, School & Miscellaneous Books, Stationery, Albums, Toy Books, Window Shades, Mirrors, Table Mats,
&c., &c., &c.,

Compound extract, Sarsaparilla for purifying the Blood, Castilian Ointment, suture to Piles, Hives Syrup, for Croup Bower's Anti-Bilious Pills, Oil Cakes.

Prescriptions accurately prepared.

Napanee, Dec., 20th

J. BOWER

NEW

FURNITURE MANUFACTORY

IN NAPANEE,

IN GREENS BUILDING,

ON THE CANAL.

Every description of Cabinet Ware made to order and warranted to give satisfaction.

Coffins always on hand,

and made to order. Cheaper than the Cheapest, and as good as the best, if not Better. The public are respectfully requested to call and see for themselves.

Napanee, Jan. 31st, 1868.

LOWRY & GREEN.

LEATHER. LEATHER.

New Muslins and Ranges,
at reduced prices,

R. RENNIE and Co.

MILLINERY!

If you want anything in the line of Millinery or

TRIMMINGS!

CALL AT

Mrs. E. L. Derby

Having decided to sell for Cash.

Good Bargains

may be expected.

DRESS AND CLOAK MAKING

done up in short notice, and warranted to give satisfaction.

STRAW & FELT

work done up as usual, in the latest Styles. Remember the Place, up
Stairs

GRANGE BLOCK.

NAPANEE.

A New Hand at the New Stand

WHITE BLOCK, CENTRE ST.

J. BURGESS

WOULD respectfully inform the people of Napanee that he has settled permanently in this town and has started the BAKING BUSI-NESS, which he has had long experience in and feels confident that he can give every satisfaction to those who may favor him with their custom.

Baking,

Confectionery and Pastry

of every description, besides every variety of Cakes, Biscuit, &c., &c., kept constantly on hand.

Ice Cream, Jellies, and Blanc
Mange made to order;
Hot Breakfast Rolls and Tea Buns
fresh every day.

BREAD

Taken daily to any part of the Town.

Remember the place, Wad-dell's New Building, Centre Street;
a call is respectfully solicited. Ball suppers got up in the best style and on the shortest notice.

30-4

J. BURGESS, 1st and

Napanee, Aug. 18, '68, 25, Jan W. McM

NEW GROC'RY

MISS A. McNEILL would respectfully announce to her friends and the public generally that she has started a new

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

in the building formerly occupied by William Lamphier, next door to Bower
Drug Store, where will be found a choice stock of

Teas,
Coffee,
Sugars,
Tobaccoes,
Raisins,
Currants,
Prunes,
and Figs.

Besides other articles too numerous to mention. All of the above goods will be sold at a very small margin, for Cash.

Please call before purchasing elsewhere.

Napanee, Sep. 3, 1868. ANNA McNEILL.

FOR SALE

THE Subscriber offers for sale the Dwelling

HOUSE AND LOT,

Formerly occupied by him, on the east
side of Robert Street,

IN TOWN of NAPANEE

Upon the premises are a good Frame
House, Out Houses, Fences, Garden
Well &c., all in good repair, well fitted
up and forming a most

DESIRABLE FAMILY RESIDENCE.

ALSO:

The East half of the Lot at the corner of Bridge and East streets, in the Town of
Napanee,

Opposite the Custom House.

This last is admirably situated, possesses capital advantages and cannot but prove a numerous investment.

TERMS EASY,

And made known on application to the Subscriber, or Messrs Williams & Morden, Solicittors, Napanee.

J. W. FULLER.

July 16th, 1868.

STOP. STOP!

A. A. NEVILLE & CO.'S, and examine their stock of

Lamps & Lamp- Trimmings

of all descriptions. They have just purchased a large assortment for Cash, and can please anybody in quality and price. Also,

GLASSWARE

of various kinds, at very low prices.

Remember Mr. Forward's old

DEALER IN

Genuine Drugs, Medicines, Patent Medicines, Chemicals,
Perfumery, Pomades, Hair Oil, Sponge, Toilet Soaps, Fancy
Goggles, Brushes, Paints, Oil Colors, Dye Stuffs, Glass, Putty, Coal Oil, Benzole, Turpentine, Alcohol, Lamps, Chandaliers, Ghimneys, School & Miscellaneous Books, Stationery, Albums, Toy Books, Window Shades, Mirrors, Table Mats,
&c., &c., &c.,

Compound extract, Sarsaparilla for purifying the Blood, Castilian Ointment, suture to Piles, Hive Syrup, for Group Bower's Anti-Bilious Pills, Oil Cakes.

Prescriptions accurately prepared.

J. BOWER

Napanee, Dec., 20th

NEW

FURNITURE MANUFACTORY

IN NAPANEE,

IN GREENS BUILDING,

ON THE CANAL.

Every description of Cabinet Ware made to order and warranted to give satisfaction.

Coffins always on hand,

and made to order. Cheaper than the Cheapest, and as good as the best, if not Better. The public are respectfully requested to call and see for themselves.

LOWRY & GREEN.

Napanee, Jan. 31st, 1868.

LEATHER. LEATHER.

JUST OPENED:==

Five Cases French Leather,

CONSISTING OF

200 FRENCH CALF SKINS,

100 FRENCH KIP, (Whole Skins,)

100 FRENCH KIP, (Whole Skins, Trimmed)

100 FRENCH UPPER, do do

200 SIDES SOLE LEATHER,

BEST Number One.

Barbour's Shoe Thread, Hungarian Nails, Zinc Nails, Iron
Shoe Bilks, Pegs, &c.,

BESIDES AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

GROCERIES!!!

At Wholesale and Retail

J. AYLSWORTH

Napanee, Sept. 25, 1868.

Sweet

Rhet

So

whether ing.

AN

of the nu
ing Certi sion of the every on
the

MARVEL

TE

IN

It has

A few cases are Castilian
by actual

EVI

PERI

"I had a being cur
by a friend Ointment,
after using well as ev

"The bee

"Your
a thorough

"After y and distre
your Oint

"No mor
Ointment

"I cannot

"I cannot

"I cannot

"You mu to any wh

"It has
and it is

"It is, I
CURE for

"Beware

tions.

RE

Casti

IS A S

P

Manufact

OK! BOWERS
MILD APERIENTS
 FOR ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.
WARRANTED
PURELY VEGETABLE
 DISKASES for the cure of which these Pills are adapted, and the Philosophy of their operation Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Dropsy, Violent Colds, Fevers, Scouring, Eruptions, Pimples, Blisters, Headaches, and diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood, or a deranged state of the Liver and Digestive Organs.
 Preventive and Remedy Pills ward off character and properties these Pills in their disease in the incipient stages, and arrest it when it has assumed the Virulent Form.
 They do not debilitate the system; they cause
NO GRIPING PAINS, or unpleasant feeling; yet they vigorously remove all obstructions from the Bowels, while they invigorate and give tone to the secretory functions of the Liver and Stomach.
 Read what people who have used these Pills say for them.
 "I had been troubled with Biliousness for several years, but your Pills have cured me."
 "The Doctors told me that I had Dyspepsia and that nothing would benefit me but a prolonged visit to some Mineral Waters. One box of your Anti-Bilious Pills has made me perfectly well, and saved me from a great expense and untold suffering."
 "One trial will satisfy anyone that Liver Complaint can be cured."
 "I was a martyr to headache but less than a box of your invaluable Pills gave me permanent relief. Send me four boxes; I want to give them to my friends."
 "Your Pills cause no unpleasant feelings yet they act with astonishing rapidity and success."
 "I am cured of the nausea that I used to experience. In the morning the Pills had an almost miraculous effect in giving me an appetite."
 Beware of Counterfeits!
 Enquire for Bower's Aperient or Anti-Bilious Pills. 30 Pills in a Box. Only two Pills in a dose.
 Prepared and Sold by
J. BOWER,
 Chemist & Druggist,
 40-ly Napanee, Ontario

Ontario Drug Store.
Campbell House Block,
NAPANEE.
 Genuine Drugs and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, Oils, Colors, Dye-Stuffs, Fancy Soaps, Fancy Goods, Perfumery, Photograph Albums, Books, Stationery, &c.
 Don't forget the place--Campbell House Block.
 Prescriptions accurately prepared, and the utmost care and discrimination used in the dispensing and sale of Medicines.
DEYLER & SCOTT, Proprietors.
 Napanee, Jan. 2st, 1867.

JUST RECEIVED
 -AT-
J. C. PARK'S
NEW TEAS, OF EVERY QUALITY AND EVERY PRICE,
 Also a very fine Lot of Smoking and Chewing Tobaccos, Cigars of the best quality,
 Caramels,
 Currants,
 Figs,
 Walnuts,
 Almonds,
 Filberts,
 Brazil Nuts, &c.
 ALSO a superior Lot of FLOUR, BRAN, VEGETABLES, &c. His Store, known as the "ROUND SIGN," will be always stocked with the choicest Groceries.
 Napanee, May 20th, 1868.
J. C. PARKS.

$200,000 WORTH
 OF DRY GOODS!
 at Rogers' Old Stand.
STILL SELLING AT COST.
M. T. ROGERS.
 OPPOSITION TO MONOPOLY.

BOOTS and SHOES.
 Hatter's is past and November winds are come.
I HAVE the largest supply of BOOTS and SHOES, of HOME MANUFACTURE,
 in Town, manufactured by SUPERIOR WORKMEN. I am prepared to sell
CHEAP FOR CASH.
 All kinds of FINE WORK MADE TO ORDER, and in the LATEST STYLE.
 Parties leaving orders will get what they want.
 Good Stock,
 Excellent Workmanship,
 And a Sure Fit.
 Remember the place, under the SIGN of the TWELVE BOOTS,
 Opposite the Campbell House.
WM. McMULLEN.

THE BEST
Cough Medicine
 IN THE WORLD.
Dr. JODIN'S
FRENCH Cough LEVERS,
 Should be resorted to in all cases of
 BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, CATARRH, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, SHORTNESS OF BREATH, AND ALL DISORDERS OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS.
THEY are recommended with confidence to Ministers, School Teachers, Public Speakers, Singers, Auctioneers, &c. The Cough Lozenges contain no Opium or any other ingredient that will dry up a cough and thus imperil the patient; they will be found excellent in soothing irritation and promoting the natural secretions of the air passages, and in this manner reduce inflammation.
 Children take them better than any other Cough Remedy, and from their gentle action, with invariable success.

TESTIMONIALS.
 Hall's, Nova Scotia, Nov. 16th, 1867.
 Gentlemen--I have given Dr. Jodin's French Cough Lozenges a full trial and have little hesitation in saying that for a relief from hoarseness and sore throat I much prefer them to either Bryant's or Brown's, which I have frequently used and which are so much lauded.
T. W. CASEY,
 Lecturer to the R.W.G.L. of I.O. of G.T.
 Napanee, Nov. 28th, 1867.
 This is to certify that I have used Dr. Jodin's French Cough Levers with great satisfaction and can confidently say, after testing them for weeks, in special services, that I think them better than any other Throats I have ever used.
J.S. CLARK, Wesleyan Minister.
 This is to certify that I have used Dr. Jodin's French Cough Levers with good effect.
A. CAMPBELL, Wesleyan Minister.
 Moscow, Camden, Dec., 1867.
 I have taken Dr. Jodin's French Cough Levers and much prefer them to any other I have ever used.
J. H. SQUIRE, Wesleyan Minister.
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Sugar Coated Pills.
BLAKELY'S VERMIFUGE CANDIES.

FURNITURE,

re, consisting of Cane-Bottomed Chairs, Wooden Benches, Stools, and Childrens high and low Chairs, of every quality kinds of Cabinet ware, such as—

bedsteads, Side Boards, Wash Stands, Loun-
., of every description of Furniture.

paid to the UNDERTAKING DEPARTMENT. A good IMMINGS kept constantly on hand. All the above will can can be purchased in Napanee

HEARSE!

fine Hearse and a splendid Black Team of Horses, which lines. Shop just below Foster's Dry Goods Store.

1. Credit given from three to six months.

14-11 C. WEGANDS & SON.

PHARMACEUTICAL HALL!!

14-DAS STREET, NAPANEE.

BOWER,

DEALER IN

Medicines, Patent Medicines, Chemicals,
s, Hair Oil, Sponge, Toilet Soaps, Fancy is, Oil Colors, Dye Stuffs, Glass, Putty, Turpentine, Alcohol, Lamps, Chandaool & Miscellaneous Books, Stationary, Window Shades, Mirrors, Table Mats,

saparilla for purifying the Blood, Castilian Ointment, ip, for Croup Bower's Anti-Bilious Pills, Oil Cake.

tions accurately prepared.

J. BOWER

10th

NEW REMANUFACTORY

IN NAPANEE,

GLASS BUILDING,

ON THE CANAL.

Cabinet Ware made to order and war-ed to give satisfaction.

always on hand,

Cheaper than the Cheapest, and as t Better. The public are respectfully see for themselves.

LOWRY & GREEN.

1,1868.

HER. LEATHER.

Prepared and Sold by

J. BOWER,

Chemist & Druggist,

40-ly

Napanee, Ontario

CASTILIAN

ointment,

Certain, Sure, and Effective Remedy for

Hemorrhoids,

OR

PILES,

- Swellings,
- Rheumatism,
- Sore Throat,
- Croup,
- Chapped Hands,
- Bruises,
- Sprains,
- Chilblains,
- BURNS,
- & Ulcers,

whether fresh or of long standing.

AN INSPECTION

of the numerous and daily increasing Certificates now in the possession of the Proprietor, must convince every one who beholds them of the

MARVELLOUS EFFICACY OF THIS OINTMENT

IN CURING PILES

It has Never Failed

A few extracts from these certificates are given to show that the Castilian Ointment has been found by actual experience in

EVERY CASE A

PERFECT CURE!

"I had entirely despaired of ever being cured until being induced by a friend to try some of your Ointment, I am happy to say that after using two bottles I am as well as ever."

"The best preparation I ever saw."
"Your Ointment has wrought a thorough cure."
"After years of intense suffering

at

Rogers' Old Stand.

STILL SELLING AT COST.

M. T. ROGERS.

OPPOSITION TO MONOPOLY,

DOWN WITH HIGH PRICES!

MATTHEW CARNALL

Watch and Clock Maker and Jeweller.

WOULD respectfully announce to the Public generally that he has started a WATCH, AND JEWELLRY SHOP,

NEXT DOOR TO MARTIN'S GROCERY,

Where he will keep a CAREFULLY SELECTED STOCK of Watches, Clocks, &
Jewellery always on hand, and at Prices that defy competition.
From the long experience he have had in Cities in the United States they feel confident that he can give general satisfaction.

ALL WORK WARRANTED!

Don't forget the place, opposite Hooper & Son's Store.

Napanee, June 5, 1868. 14-11. M. CARNALL.

REMOVAL.

THE Subscriber has pleasure in informing his customers that he has removed his store to the premises lately refitted and enlarged, west of Dickens' Bakery where he has on hand a General Stock lately purchased in Montreal, the following Goods

- Dry Goods,
- Groceries,
- Crockery,
- Boots and Shoes,
- etc., &c.,

of every description. The entire stock has been carefully selected and will be sold at prices which will defy competition.

A CALL WILL CONVINC

the purchaser that what he advertises he will do.

Napanee, Feb. 27, 1868.

GEO. QUACKNUSH.

All parties who are indebted to the subscriber, whose accounts are past due are requested to pay up at once.

JUST RECEIVED

AT

WARNER & BRO'S.

Swellings,
Rheumatism,
Sore Throat,
Croup,
Chapped Hands,
Bruises,
Sprains,
Chilblains,
BURNS,
& Ulcers,

whether fresh or of long standing.

AN INSPECTION

of the numerous and daily increasing Certificates now in the possession of the Proprietor, must convince every one who beholds them of the

MARVELLOUS EFFICACY OF
THIS OINTMENT

IN CURING PILES
It has Never Failed

A few extracts from these certificates are given to show that the Castilian Ointment has been found by actual experience in

EVERY CASE A PERFECT CURE!

"I had entirely despaired of ever being cured until being induced by a friend to try some of your Ointment, I am happy to say that after using two bottles I am as well as ever."

"The best preparation I ever saw."
"Your Ointment has wrought a thorough cure."

"After years of intense suffering and distress I am cured, thanks to your Ointment."

"No more suffering for me; your Ointment has made me all right."

"I cannot too highly recommend it."

"I consider the Castilian Ointment the greatest boon of this age sent by Heaven to suffering humanity."

"You may safely warrant a cure to any who are alike afflicted."

"It has never failed to cure Piles and it is equally good for Rheumatism."

"It is, I believe the only SURE CURE for that distressing complaint."

Beware of worthless Imitations.

REMEMBER THE Castilian Ointment
IS A SURE CURE FOR PILLS.

Manufactured only by

J. BOWER
Chemist & Druggist, Napanee.

From the long experience he have had in Cities in the United States they feel confident that he can give general satisfaction.

ALL WORK WARRANTED!

Don't forget the place, opposite Hooper & Son's Store.

Napanee, June 5, 1868. 14-1f. M. CARNALL.

REMOVAL.

THE Subscriber has pleasure in informing his customers that he has removed his store to the premises lately refitted and enlarged, west of Dickens' Bakery, where he has on hand a General Stock lately purchased in Montreal, the following Goods

Dry Goods,
Groceries,
Crockery,
Boots and Shoes,
&c., &c.,

of every description. The entire stock has been carefully selected and will be sold at prices which will defy competition.

A CALL WILL CONVINC

the purchaser that what he advertises he will do.

Napanee, Feb. 27, 1868.

GEO. QUACKNUSH.

All parties who are indebted to the subscriber, whose accounts are past due are requested to pay up at once.

JUST RECEIVED

AT

WARNER & BRO'S,

A CHOICE LOT OF NEW TEAS,

Consisting of Twankay, Young Hyson, Japan, Imperials, Gudpowder and Black, all of which have been carefully selected and will give entire satisfaction.

Also, Fine-cut Tobacco for smoking, chewing of the very best quality, Pure Virginia Leaf, Solace, Prince of Wales and various other brands, Cigars of the very best quality. Porto Rico and Centrifugal Sugar, Yellow Refined, crushed and Dry Crushed, Ground and Extra Ground. Portland, Golden and Amber Syrups. New Layer raisins, new Bunch Raisins, new Valencia Raisins, new Currants, new Figs, S S Almonds, Walnuts, Filberts, Brazil nuts, Canned Tomatoes, de Lobsters, Dried Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Bordeaux and White Wine, Vinegar, W. Lewis and Bro's Tomatoes, Lobsters and Salmon; C. P. Morton & Co's Peaches and Sardines, Crosse & Blackwell's Pickles, Worcester's Suffolk and various other Sauces; Walnut, Mushroom and Tomato Catsup, Spices of all kinds, ground and whole, Pure Java Coffee kept constantly on hand and ground fresh to order. Oswego and Canadian prepared Corn, Fancy Toilet Soap, &c., &c., &c. Also grown by Mr. Geo. Dunning, growth of 1867, which we guarantee to be of the very best quality, all of which will be SOLD AT VERY LOW PRICES.

A BALE OF HOPS,

WARNER & BRO.

Napanee, Dec. 20th, 1867.

section of Canada. On hand and sale cheap, a quantity of Bash, 1 Moulding, and dressed lumber.

J. C. GREEN

Napanee, Nov. 20, 1867.

CANADIAN

WATER LIM

OR

Hydrolic Cem'

For Heavy Masonry or Cement, for sale at the Napanee Plaster Mill.

This Lime is superior to Oswego Lime, and is equal to the Rosendale, and can be afforded at less price. The Lime is taken from the bank of H.M. Wright & Co., to whom all letters by Post must be addressed, prepaid.

Napanee, March, 1868.

For Sale

Valuable Property
the business part of
NAPANEE.

To be sold, that very valuable property, Lot No. 3, Southside of Du wellington House

AND

STORE

With Out Offices, [Lar] the Garden al Store and dwelling, paying a good next doorto Haslem's Hotel, same s

MR. H. T. FORWARD

The owner, has for many years carried a large and profitable Dry Goods, and Crocery trade. Having now retired from business he offers the Property for sale. The house is in the best of repair, no need be expended. For any information in the Town cannot be passed.

TERMS very EASY

only a portion of the purchase money the balance in ten annual equal instalments.

For particulars enquire of

Henry T. Forward, Auctioneer.

Also to be sold, at Clarksville, a lot of acre a good frame house 3 rooms on 1st and 3rd on second, in the very best repair, an excellent gas oven in a high state of cultivation.

Terms very easy. For particulars enquire of Henry T. Forward, Auctioneer.

PRINTED recipes, for Dy every shade of Col furnished free, at the

Ontario Drug Store.

Parker's Drug Store.
PANE.

and Chemicals, Patent Medicines, Paints, & Stuffs, Fancy Soaps, Fancy Goods, & Albums, Books, Stationery, &c. at the place---Campbell House Block.
 accurately prepared, and the utmost care is used in the dispensing and sale of Medi-ELLOR & SCOTT, Proprietors.

RECEIVED
 -AT-PARK'S
TEAS,
 AND EVERY PRICE.

Also a very fine Lot of
 Cos. quality,
 Figs,
 Walnuts,
 Almonds,
 Filberis,
 &c.
OUR, BRAN, VEGETABLES, &c. His Store, know SIGN," will be always stocked with the choicest
 h, 1868.
J. C. PARKS.

1000 WORTH
OF GOODS!
 at Old Stand.

SELLING AT COST.
M. T. ROGERS.
ITIONO MONOPOLY,
TH HIGH PRICES!

BOOTS and SHOES.
Hallowe'en is past and November winds are come.
I HAVE the largest supply of BOOTS and SHOES, of
HOME MANUFACTURE,
 in Town, manufactured by SUPERIOR
WORKMEN. I am prepared to sell
CHEAP FOR CASH.
 All kinds of FINE WORK MADE
TO ORDER, and in the LATEST STYLE.
 Parties leaving orders will get what they want.
Good Stock,
Excellent Workmanship,
And a Sure Fit.
 Remember the place, under the SIGN of the TWELVE BOOTS, Opposite the Campbell
 House.
WM. McMULLEN.

THE BEST
Cough Medicine
 IN THE WORLD.
Dr. JODIN'S
FRENCH COUGH LEVERS,
 Should be resorted to in all cases of
 BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, CATARRH, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, SHORTNESS OF BREATH, AND ALL DISORDERS OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS.
THEY are recommended with confidence to Ministers, School Teachers, Public Speakers, Singers, Auctioneers, &c.
 The Cough Levers contain no Opium or any other ingredients that will dry up a cough and thus imperil the patient; they will be found excellent in soothing irritation and promoting the natural secretions of the air passages, and in this manner reduce inflammation.
 Children take them better than any other Cough Remedy, and from their gentle action, with invariable success.

TESTIMONIALS.
 Hall, N.S., Nova Scotia, Nov. 16th, 1867.
 Gentlemen:—I have given Dr. Jodin's French Cough Levers a full trial and have little hesitation in saying that for a relief from hoarseness and sore throat I much prefer them to either Bryant's or Brown's, which I have frequently used and which are so much failed.
T. W. CASEY.
 Lecturer to the R.W.G.L. of I.O. of G.T.
 Nananee, Nov. 28th, 1867.
 This is to certify that I have used Dr.
 Jodin's French Cough Levers with great satisfaction and can confidently say, after testing them for weeks, in special services,
 that I think them better than any other Throats I have ever used.
J.S. CLARK, Wesleyan Minister.
 This is to certify that I have used Dr.
 Jodin's French Cough Levers with good effect.
A. CAMPBELL, Wesleyan Minister.
 Moscow, Camden, Dec. 1867.
 I have taken Dr. Jodin's French Cough
 Levers and much prefer them to any other
 I have ever used.
C. H. SQUIRE, Wesleyan Minister.
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Sugar
Coated Pills.
BLAKELY'S VERMIFUGE CAN-DIES.
Blakely's Ammoniac Liniment.
 For sale by (Grand & Brown, J.C. Huffman,

CLARK & Co.
WOULD impress upon those who adopt the Sewing Machine, that in order to its proper working, a First Class Sewing Cotton must be used.
 Those commonly sold are useless, the annoyance they give by breaking, and irregular finish causing the Machine to be viewed with disfavor. To obviate this Clark & Co., manufacture an "Extra Quality," sold in neat White Boxes, which they confidently recommend for Machine and hand Sewing. To guide in purchasing, be careful to observe that the Spools are CLARK & CO.'S
'EXTRA QUALITY.'
 With 'Anchor' Bottom Label.
 All numbers Warranted Best Six Cord.
SOLD BY ROBERT DOWNEY.

NELLIGAN'S
NEW FRUIT DEPOT
 Next to Parker's Drug Store,
KING STREET, KINGSTON,
ONTARIO.

THE undersigned, in returning his thanks to the citizens of Kingston, for the patronage so liberally extended to him in the past beg to inform them that he has opened in the store lately occupied by Mr. G. Pisani, on King Street, directly opposite Linton's Auction Rooms, where will be found at all times the best varieties of Fruit and Vegetables in the Market
 He has now on hand a splendid lot of Oranges, Lemons,
 Apples,
 Pine Apples,
 Cocoa Nuts, &c.
 Also a large lot of Lower Canada Maple
 Sugar.
 Remember NELLIGAN'S, next door to Parker's Drug Store, King Street,
 Kingston, Ontario.
B. NELLIGAN.
 Kingston, May 30, 1868.

TO THE POLLS
ONE AND ALL,
VOTERS OF LENNOX &
ADDINGTON.
THE subscriber begs leave to return his sincere thanks to his numerous customers for the liberal patronage bestowed on him for the past years, and solicits a continuance of the same, and also call their attention to the large and well

TO ALL WHOM May Concern
WE WILL RECEIVE
SILVER AT PAR!
 a payment of accounts without reference to any combination to the contrary.
DELLOR & SCOTT.
 Nananee, Sept. 2, 1868.
NOW is the time to buy.
Cheap PLOUGHS at
BOYLE & WRIGHT'S
GO to BOYLE & Write's for Cheap Stoves, of the Latest Patterns,
PAY UP.
IMMEDIATE Payment of all over due Accounts will prevent Costs being made.
R. RENNIE & Co.
 Nananee, September 7th, 1868.

MONEY TO LOAN.
THE CANADA LANDED CREDIT COMPANY are prepared to make advances to Landed Proprietors on the new mortgage system.
 The Loans are for a long period, at 3 per cent interest, and repayable by means of a sinking fund of 2 per cent per annum.
 By borrowing from this Company there is no possibility of the borrower ever being called on suddenly or unexpectedly to pay off the debt.
 The small sum he pays into the sinking fund half-yearly, to which the company adds interest and compound interest, cancels the debt.
 The borrower has the privilege of paying off the mortgage at any time on giving six months notice while the company remains bound to the end of the term of 26 years; and the amount paid into the sinking fund, with interest and compound interest thereon, is then allowed him in settlement. He has also the privilege, as he may find it convenient paying into the sinking fund over and above his regular contribution, any even sum above $100, in reduction of his mortgage, for which he is allowed interest and compound interest.
 No commission charged. No shares required to be taken. No fines and no expenses of renewals.
 For further particulars and forms of application apply to
D. H. PRESTON, Barrister &c.
 Nananee

NOTICE.
NOTICE is hereby given that application will be made to the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, at the session thereof next, after the expiration of six months
 from the date of this notice,
 by John Horace Stevens, Esq.,
 formerly of the Town of Nananee, in the County of Lennox and Addington, but now of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, for a bill of divorce from Mary Anne Stevenston, formerly Mary Anne Foote, and now called Mary Anne Perry on the ground of

at Old Stand.

SELLING AT COST.

M. T. ROGERS.

UTIONO MONOPOLY,
TH HIGH PRICES!
EW CARNALL

Lock Maker and Jeweller.
since to the Public generally that he has started a LLRY SHOP.

TO MARTIN'S GROCERY.

FULLY SELECTED STOCK of Watches, Clocks, &
nd at Prices that defy competition.
e have had in Cities in the United States they feel ral satisfaction.

K WARRANTED!

ce, opposite Hooper & Son's Store.

868. 14-1f. M. CARNALL.

MOVAL.

pleasure in informing his customers red his store to the premises lately vest of Dickens' Bakery, where he has ck lately purchased in Montreal, the Crockery,

Boots and Shoes,
&c., &c.,

The entire stock has been carefully
ld at prices which will defy compe-

WILL CONVINC

the advertises he will do.

868. GEO. QUACKNUSH.

ted to the subscriber, whose accounts are paid du

RECEIVED

AT

R & BRO'S

Napance, Nov. 28th, 1867.
This is to certify that I have used Dr.
Jodin's French Cough Lavers with great satisfaction and can confidently say, after testing them for weeks, in special services,
that I think them better than any other Thooches I have ever used.

J.S. CLARK, Wesleyan Minister.

This is to certify that I have used, Dr.
Jodin's French Cough Lavers with good effect.

A. CAMPBELL, Wesleyan Minister.

Moscow, Camden, Dec., 1867.

I have taken Dr. Jodin's French Cough
Lavers and much prefer them to any other
I have ever used.

G. H. SQUIRE, Wesleyan Minister.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Sugar
Coate'd Pills.

BLAKELY'S VERMIFUGE CAN-DIES.

Blakely's Ammoniac Liniment.
For sale by Gran & Brown, J.C. Hoffman,
J. Power, and Dettlor and Scott, Napance; A. Ca-son, Newburgh, and all Chemists and country Store keepers throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Napance, Feb. 13, 1868.

49-ly.

IMPORTANT TO

BUILDERS.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he has at great expense purchased a new

Planing Mach'ne

and is now prepared to do planing better than can be done elsewhere in this section of Canada. On hand and for sale cheap, a quantity of Sash, Doors,
Moulding, and dressed lumber.

J. C. GREEN

Napance, Nov. 20, 1867.

CANADIAN

WATER LIME,

OR

Hydrolic Cem'nt

For Heavy Masonry or Cistern, for sale at the Napance
Plaster Mill.

This Lime is superior to the Oswego Lime, and is equal to the Rosendale, and can be afforded at less price. This Lime is taken from the beds
of H.M. Wright & Co., to whom all letters by Post must be addressed, prepaid.

Napance, March, 1868.

For Sale.

Valuable Property in the business part of
NAPANEE.

To be sold, that very valuable property, Lot No. 5, South side of Dundas st. West. In peace, on which is a commodious

Dwelling House

AND

STORE,

With Out Offices. Har. ne Garden also a

Also a large lot of Lower Canada Maple
Sugar.

Remember NELLIGAN'S, next door to Parker's Drug Store, King Street,
Kingston, Ontario.

B. NELLIGAN.

Kingston, May 30, 1868.

TO THE POLLS

ONE AND ALL,

VOTERS OF LENNOX &
ADDINGTON.

THE subscriber begs leave to return his sincere thanks to his numerous customers for the liberal patronage bestowed
on him for the past years, and solicits a continuance of the same, and also call
their attention to the large and well selected stock, bought at prices which will enable me to hold out greater induc-ments than ever before, call and see; for yourselves before purchasing elsewhere.
Comprising Pure Drugs, Chemicals, Perumery, Patent Medicines, of every description, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Glass, Putty, Dye Stuffs, School Books, Stationary, Fancy Goods, Toilet Soaps, Brushes of every description.

ROOM PAPER!

I would call especial attention to my stock of wall paper, consisting of over one hundred different patterns, composed of every kind from the common to the most beautiful patterns that art or ingenuity could conceive. A large quantity of Window Blinds of the most improved styles.

ALBUMS! ALBUMS!!

A very large assortment at prices which defy competition.

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Kept constantly on hand of the best qual-
ity. Comprised of TEAS, COFFEE, RICE,
STARCH, BLUEING, CURRANTS, SPI-
CES, &c., &c.,

LAMPS of EVERY PATTERN

The best of Coal Oil, wholesale and retail warranted non-explosive. Best of liquors kept in stock, strictly for medicinal uses. Prescriptions carefully prepared.
All to be had at the Bible Depot.

J.C. HUFFMAN.

114

NOT A NEW THING.

During 1866 and 1867

R. RENNIE & CO.

IMPORTED over $10,000 worth of
Dry Goods direct from Manchester
and Glasgow markets. They are now in receipt of

GLASGOW GOODS,

Ex-STEAMSHIP ST. DAVID,

As follows:—

Plain and Checked Winceys,

French Merinos,

White Muslins,

Linen Handkerchiefs,

Woolen Shawls,

Broche Shawls,

Grey Cottons,

Honocsees Shirtings,

Towelings, &c.

These goods are about as good value as any bought in Montreal, and also will be sold at the smallest advance on cost.

R. RENNIE & CO.

Tailoring Ord'rs

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given
that application will be made to the Parliament of
the Dominion of Canada, at
the session thereof next, after
the expiration of six months
from the date of this notice,
by John Horace Stevens, esq.,
formerly of the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox
and Addington, but now of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, for a bill of divorce from Mary Anne Stevenson, formerly Mary Anne Foote, and now called Mary Anne Perry, on the ground of Adultery.

Dated at Toronto, this the 22nd day of June 1868.

BEVERLEY JONES,

17 Solicitor for Applicant.

BELLEVILLE, PICTON, KINGSTON AND OSWEGO.

The Upper Cabin Steamer

"ROCHESTER,"

CAPT. DEWRY,

will run during the coming Season (until further notice) between BELLEVILLE and OSWEGO, leaving Belleville every

MONDAY, WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY,
at 1 o'clock p.m., touching at Mill Point
2.45 p.m., Elton 4.15 p.m., Kingston 9 o'clock p.m.; connecting at Oswego with the Oswego and Rome, and Oswego and Syracuse Railroads, for all points East,
South and West.

Returning, leave OSWEGO every

TUESDAY, THURSDAY & SATURDAY,

at 1 o'clock p.m.
Pleasure parties, and families wishing to make excursions, will be accommodated
at reasonable rates.

For Freight or Passage apply to Warehouses on the Bay, and

E. M. FORT & Co., or
O. M. JOHNSTON,

C. W. WILKINS, Agent, Oswego,
Belleville.

N. B. Tickets sold on Board for all points in the United States.

VERY CHEAP

BOOKS

COOPER'S NOVELS,

12 Cents Each.

The Pathfinder, The Prairie,
Mark's Reef, Waterwitch,
Deerslayer, Ned Myers,
Borderers, Heidenmaier,
Satanstoe, The Spy,
Sea Lions, Red Rover,
Precaution, Oak Openings,
Lionel Lincoln, The Pilot,
Pioneers, The Headman,
Miles Wallingford, Two Admirals,
Eve Ethingham, The Bravo,
Afloat and Ashore, Wyandotté,
Last of the Mohicans.

MISCELLANEOUS,

At 12 1/2 cts. Each.

Artemus Ward—his Travels,
do —his Book,
do —Among the Feathers,
Nasby Papers,
Notre Dame,
Tristram Shandy,
Sentimental Journey,

ve had in Cities in the United States they feel satisfaction.

WARRANTED!
opposite Hooper & Son's Store.
14-tf. M. CARNALL.

OVAL.

asure in informing his customers his store to the premises lately of Dickens' Bakery, where he has lately purchased in Montreal, the rockery,

Boots and Shoes,
etc., &c., e entire stock has been carefully at prices which will defy compe-

LL CONVINC
advertisises he will do.
GEO. QUACKNUSH.
to the subscriber, whose accounts are paid du

RECEIVED
AT R & BRO'S, ICE LOT OF
TEAS,

g Hyson, Japan, Imperial, Gudpowder een carefully selected and will give king, chewing of the very best quality, ce of Wales and various other brands,
Porto Rico and Centrifugal Sugar, Yelshes, Ground and Extra Ground. Port-New Layer raisins, new Bunch Raisins, uts, new Figs, S S Almonds, Walnuts, oes, de Lobsters, Dried Citron, Lemon White Wine Vinegar, W. Mewis and lmon; C. P. Morton & Co.'s Peaches l's Pickles, Worcester Suffolk and Mushroom and Tomato Catsup, Spices Pure Java Coffee kept constantly on Oswego and Canadian prepared Corn,
Also

OF HOPS,
ing, growth of 1867, which we best quality, all of which will

Y LOW PRICES.
WARNER & BRO.

section of Canada. On hand and for sale cheap, a quantity of Sash, Doors,
Moulding, and dressed lumber.

J. C. GREEN
Napance. Nov. 20. 1867.

CANADIAN WATER LIME, OR

Hydrolic Cem'nt
For Heavy Masonry or Cistern, for sale at the Napance
Plaster Mill.

This Lime is superior to the Toswego Lime, and is equal to the Rosendale, and can be afforded at less price. This Lime is taken from the beds
of H.M. Wright & Co., to whom
all letters by Post must be addressed, prepaid.

Napance, March, 1868.

For Sale.
Valuable Property in the business part of
NAPANEE.

To be sold, that very valuable property, Lot No. 5, Southside of Dundas street, Napance, on which is a commodious

Dwelling House
AND STORE,

With Out Offices, (Lar, e Garden also a Store and dwelling, paying a good rent.
next doorto Haslem's Hotel, same street

MR. H. T. FORWARD,

The owner, has for many years carried on a large and profitable Dry Goods, and Grocery trade. Having now retired from business he offers the Property for sale.
The house is in the best of repair, not a cent need be expended. For any trade the situation in the Town cannot be surpassed.

TERMS very EASY,

only a portion of the purchase money down the balance in ten annual equal instalments.
For particulars enquire of

Henry T. Forward.
Or Thomas Flinn, Auctioneer.

Also to be sold, in Clarksville 5 of an acre a good frame house 3 rooms on first flat and 3 on second, in the very best repair, an excellent garden in a high state of cultivation.

Terms very easy. For particulars enquire of

Henry T. Forward.
Or Thomas Flinn, Auctioneer.

PRINTED recipes, for Dyeing every shade of Color, furnished free, at the
Ontario Drug Store.

ALBUMS! ALBUMS!
A very large assortment at prices which
defy competition.

FAMILY GROCERIES,
Kept constantly on hand of the best qual-
ity. Comprised of TEAS, COFFEE, RICE,
STARCH BLUEING, CURRANTS, SPI-
CES, &c., &c.,

LAMPS of EVERY PATTERN
The best of Coal Oil, wholesale and retail warranted non-explosive. Best of liquors kept in stock, strictly for medicinal uses. Prescriptions carefully prepared.
All to be had at the Bible Depot.

J.C. HUFFMAN.
11 t

NOT A NEW THING.

During 1866 and 1867

R. RENNIE & CO.

IMPORTED over $10,000 worth of
Dry Goods direct from Manchester
and Glasgow markets. They are now
in receipt of

GLASGOW GOODS,
Ex-STEAMSHIP ST. DAVID,

As follows:—

Plain and Checked Winceys,
French Merinos,
White Muslins,
Linen Handkerchiefs,
Woolen Shawls,
Broche Shawls,
Grey Cottons,
Honockses Shirtings,
Towellings, &c.

These goods are about as good value as any bought in Montreal, and also will be sold at the smallest advance on cost.

R. RENNIE & CO.

Tailoring Ord'rs

Attended to promptly, by Mr. SAU-VIAT, who comes from a first class
Montreal Establishment.

27tf R. RENNIE & CO.

CHEAP FOR CASH.

A LARGE STOCK OF ALL KINDS OF

LUMBER,

DRESSED FLOORING,

Lath and Lime,

At the Subscriber's Mill, Comden East.

E. J. HOOPER.
September 5th, 1868. 3 in.

LAST CALL.

ALL persons indebted to me either by note or book account which is over due are requested to call and settle the same without further notice on or before the 15th of October next.

HENRY BOYLE.
Napance, Sept. 1st., 1868.

CART. DEWITT
will run during the coming Season (until further notice) between BELLEVILLE
and OSWEGO, leaving Belleville every

MONDAY, WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY,
at 1 o'clock p.m., touching at Mill Port
2.45 p.m., Elton 4.15 p.m., Kingston 9
o'clock p.m.; connecting at Oswego with
the Oswego and Rome, and Oswego and
Syracuse Railroads, for all points East,
South and West.

Returning, leave OSWEGO every

TUESDAY, THURSDAY & SATURDAY,
at 1 o'clock p.m.

Pleasure parties, and families wishing
to make excursions, will be accommodated
at reasonable rates.

For Freight or Passage apply to Warburgers on the Bay, and

E. M. FORT & Co., or
C. M. JOHNSTON,
Oswego.
C.W. WILKINS, Agent,
Belleville.

N. B. Tickets sold on Board for all points in the United States.

VERY CHEAP
BOOKS

COOPER'S NOVELS,
12 Cents Each.

The Pathfinder, The Prairie,
Mark's Reef, Waterwitch,
Deerslayer, Ned Myers,
Borderers, Heidenmauer,
Satanstoe, The Spy,
Sea Lions, Red Rover,
Precaution, Oak Openings,
Lionel Lincoln, The Pilot,
Pioneers, The Headman,
Miles Wallingford, Two Admirals,
Eve Ellingham, The Brave,
Afloat and Ashore, Wyandotté,
Last of the Mohicans.

MISCELLANEOUS,

At 12 cts. Each.

Artemus Ward—his Travels,
do —his Book,
do —Among the Females,

Nashy Papers,
Notre Dame,
Tristram Shandy,
Sentimental Journey,
St. Clair of the Isles,
Confessions of an Opium Eater,
Essays of Elia,
Vicar of Wakefield,
Roderick Random,
Uncle Tom's Cabin,
Autocrat of the Breakfast Table,

Scott's Novels,
12 cts. Each.

Waverley, The Pirates, Old Mortality, Bride of Lammer-
Guy Mannering, The Monastery, moor
Kenilw rth, The Antiquary, The Antiquary, Rob Roy, Ivanhoe,
Fortunes of Nigel, St. Rouan's Well, Quentin Durward, Red Gannet,
The Betrothed, The Talisman, Peveril of the Peak, Heart of Mid Lothian,

Also Scott's Marston, Lord of the Isles, Rockaby, Lady of the Lake, &c., 12 cts.
each.

Any of these books sent free by mail on the receipt of the price and 5 cts for postage. Address

JOHN HENDERSON,
Bookseller,
Kingston

MACHINERY Oils of a kinds, good and cheap
at the
Ontario Drug Store

PULL Stock of Paints, Oils, Glass and Putty, constantly on hand, at the Ont. Drug Store.

The Weekly Express

A SUPER-ROYAL SHEET.
PUBLISHED every Friday morning, containing 40 long columns, making largest weekly issued between Montreal and Toronto. Its extensive circulation (1,600) makes it the best advertising medium in this part of the Province.

Rates of Advertising.
Eight cents per line for first insertion, two cents per line for each subsequent insertion. A liberal discount given to yearly advertisers.

Terms of Subscriptions
Cash in advance, (per year) $1.50
If not paid within 3 months 1.75
If not paid within 6 months 2.00
If not paid till expiration of the year, 2.50
When delivered by Carrier, 50 cts extra Positively no deviation from these rates will be made.

Our Job Department
Is furnished with all the latest styles of Types and fast Presses, which enable us to execute orders with neatness and despatch.

All advertisements without written directions will be inserted until forbid and charged accordingly.

Advertisements measured by a scale of solid mignon.

T. S. CARMAN Proprietor.

LEGAL

W. A. REEV

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law,
Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer,
Notary Public, etc., Napanee, Ontario.—
County Crown Attorney.
OFFICE—Grange Block, John Street.

CARTWRIGHT & CARTWRIGHT,
ATTORNEYS-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, etc.,
OFFICE—Grange Block, John Street,
Napanee.

JAMES J. CARTWRIGHT, J. R. CARTWRIGHT

S. GIBSON,

BARRISTER, Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor
in Chancery, Conveyancer, etc., OFFICE—Grange Block, Napanee, Ont.

P. PRESTON, LL.B.

BARRISTER, Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, etc.
OFFICE—Mills' Block, Dundas street,
Napanee.

WILLIAMS & MORDEN,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc., Nap-
anee, Ontario.

W. S. WILLIAMS, A. L. MORDEN,

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,

BARRISTER, Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancer, Notary Public, etc.
OFFICE—Next door to the Council Chamber, Market Square, Napanee.

W. S. WILLIAMS.

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, Insolvent Act 1861, for the County of Lennox and Addington.
OFFICE—Messrs. Williams & Morden
Barristers, etc., Napanee.

F. W. CAMPBELL.

SOLICITOR in Chancery, Attorney-at-Law, Conveyancer, etc.
OFFICE—Warner's Buildings, East St.
Napanee.

MR. JAS. O'REILLY, Q. C.,

LAW and Chancery Chamber, Anchor
Buildings, North-east side of Market
Square, Kingston, Ont.

The partnership of O'Reilly and Macnabara, at Napanee, is dissolved.
Parties desiring Mr. O'Reilly's professional services, will please address him at Kingston.

MEDICAL.

Y. K. ROSS M.D.

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc.
Office and residence, Dr. Yeomans',
Odessa, Ont.

DR. CRISTOL

PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accouchement,
etc.,
Office and residence—East Street, Nap-
anee, Ont.

THOMAS S. CARMAN, PUBLISHER & PROPRIETOR.

VOL 10

BOYLE & WRIGHT,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers
in Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves and Plows, and Manufacturers of Tin, Sheet Iron and Copper Ware.

Sole agents in Napanee for Gurney, Ware & Co.'s Scales,
E. C. Gurney's Coal Grates,
A. K. & W. J. Mills' Marble and Marbled Slate Mantles, etc.
Charles D. Edwards' (late Kershaw & Edwards') Safes.
Dundas Street, Napanee.
H. BOYLE. R. O. WRIGHT.

S. T. CLEMENTS,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist,
Napanee, Ont.
OFFICE.—Over Spangenburg &
Smith's Watch Shop.
Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles.

W. H. BRUTON,
DEALER in Groceries, Provisions,
Green and Dried Fruit, Fancy
Articles of all descriptions. Market Square, next door to Paisley's Hotel.
Napanee, Sept. 14, 1867.

PULMONARY BALSAM.
USED AND RECOM-MENDED BY THE MOST EMINENT PHYSICIANS IN NEW ENGLAND FOR THE LAST 45 YEARS.
"NOTHING BETTER."
CUTLER BROS. & CO., BOSTON.
Sole by the Druggists
FOR COUGHS, COLDS &
CONSUMPTION.

Northrop & Lyman Agents, Newcastle

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1869.

W. S. ROBINSON,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE AND COMMISSIONER OF B. R.
For the County of Lennox and Addington.

OFFICE, three doors west of the POST OFFICE.
Public Accountant and Auditor, and General Commission Agent; and from great practical experience in England public Companies, Firms, or individual financial matters or difficulties, satisfactorily adjusted with business promptitude.

LICENSERS.

ALEX. C. DAVIS.

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee,
Ontario.

ROBERT GRAHAM.

ISSUER of MARRIAGE LICEN-SES. Office—in the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

FIRST PREMIUM

SEWING MACHINES

manufactured by
R. M. WANZER & CO.,

Were awarded the Highest Premiums over all competitors At the London Provincial Fair 1861
Do. Toronto do. do. 1862
Do. Montreal do. do. 1863
Do. Kingston do. do. 1864
Do. Hamilton do. do. 1864
Do. London do. do. (extra prize) 1865

The Weekly Express

AND B

R. RENNIE & CO.,
DEALERS in Boots and Shoes,
Groceries, Crockery, etc., and Manufacturers of Clothing, Napanee.

MONEY TO LEND!
I HAVE $50,000.00 to lend. Come and get it, terms easy.
W. S. WILLIAMS.
Napanee, Jan. 28th, 1870.

INSURANCE
IMPERIAL FIRE INSURANCE COY OF LONDON, (ESTABLISHED 1803,) Capital and Reserved
Fund
£1,969,000 — — — Stirling.
Funds invested in Canada.—$105,000
RINTOUL BROS., General Agts.
24 St. Sacrament St. Montreal.
H. L. GEDDES, AGENT,
Napanee and vicinity. 17

HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COY,
ESTABLISHED — 1810.
CAPITAL, $1,000,000.
AMOUNT DEPOSITED IN CAN-ADA in accordance with the Act $130,000.
Insures property against fire as low as any other reliable company. All losses equitably adjusted and promptly paid in Canada funds or Gold. Isolated dwellings insured at exceedingly low rates.
H. L. GEDDES, Agent
for Napanee and vicinity.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.

THE Agricultural Mutual Assurance Association, of Canada. Head Office, London, On-
t. Farmer's Association, insuring nothing mortazardous than Farm Property. This is the only Mutual in the Dominion, which having complied with the requirements of the law has been licensed under Mr. Ross's Act.
Capital $200,000. Deposited with the Receiver
General 25,000. Policies for $5,000.
Only 50 cts per $100 (according to class) for a three year's risk, on isolated Farm Property No
Premium Note. No further liability, whatever.
Parties preferring the Premium Note system can still be accommodated on it as heretofore.
Apply to W. H. SNIDER, Newburgh.
Sole agent for Frontenac, Lennox & Addington

ANDES INSURANCE COMPANY.
OF CINCINNATI.

Capital, - - - $1,000,000.
W. BENNET, PRESIDENT.
Amount deposited in Canada in accordance with the act $50,000, for the benefit of the policy holders in Ontario. This company is thoroughly reliable, and their rates are low.
OFFICE—Grange Block.
H. L. GEDDES,
Agent.
Napanee, 27th. 1871.

H. L. COOK, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon and Accoucheur, Graduate of McGill College,
Montreal.
Office and Residence, Market Square
Napanee, Ontario.

HO FELS.
NEW BRICK HOTEL.
KNOWN as the GREEVES HOUSE,
situated on the Market Square, just opposite the Hay Scales. This House has been built by Mr. Greaves and leased

Poetry.

THE PRINTER'S DEVIL.

BY TYP. O. QUAD.

Ink-bespattered,
Clothing tattered,
With his broom in hand,
Leaning, cleaning,
Rubbing, scrubbing,
Under every stand.

'Neath the cases,
Type and spaces—
Trampled where they fell—
By this Pluto
Doomed to go to Printer's leather "hell."

Running hither,
Darting thither,
Tail of all the staff,
Out and in-doors,
Doing all chores,
Bringing telegraph.

Runs for copy,
Nor dare stop he
For his paper hat;
All the jour men,
Save the foreman,
Yelling for some "phat."

Proves the galleys;
Then he sallies,
On Satanic opinion,
From the news-room
To his sanctum—
Part of his dominion.

And the bosses—
Often cross as Bears within their holes—
Make the devil
Find his level
Stirring up the coals.

Washing roller,
Bringing coal or Lugging water pail;
Time he wastes not
At the paste-pot,
Wrapping up the nail.

When the week's done,
Then he seeks one
Where the greenbacks lay,
There to settle
For the little
Devil is to pay.

In this spirit
There is merit,
Far from a taint of shame;
Often gaining
By his training
Good and honored name.

Legislators,
Great debaters,
Scientific men,
Have arisen,
From the prison,
Of the devil's den.
—Printer's Circular

was false, di

"Yes!"

"By Jove
you no, and has got seve there, at the

Dyke had say anything so he walked the frivolity

women in ge in particular Alma wen room, her fa and as she o prepared to fashion, of a sorrow, by b something fr arrested her,

Mrs. Day chair, as wh professional l ing there, loc

expressible pr
Why, moth
what is the r

He turned
"Don't Mi need of grea ance, just no

This man the contiole fairs, and he remis of her

"What is i weak and wh

"The—
ed."

"Who has
"Your mot
"My moth

"I though richer or pe voice from th

"And you, these speculat
er's request, ing me!"

"Yes, Miss
"Yes, I kn
erty, but she

she lost!"

"Every dol
"The hous
"Gone! E

"Oh, moth
But that somehow the no longer nee out of sight

reproachful e en girl.
It was kep or two, and t
the city. Sh and their bo went away w
low lastin

Literature.

DR. CRISTOL
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Acconcheur,
etc.
Office and residence—East Street, Nap-
anee, Ont.

THOS RUSSELL & SON.
WATCH MANUFACTURERS.
AW RUSSELL YONGE ST TORONTO

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard, and to those who have never used it we can confidently say, that it is the only reliable and perfected preparation to restore GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken;
the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean; it removes all eruptions and dandruff, and by its tonic properties prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimu-lates and nourishes the hair glands. By its use the hair grows thicker and stronger. Its baldness it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair that splendid glossy appearance so much admired by all. A. A.
Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Mass., says, "the constituents are pure and carefully selected for excellent quality, and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." We publish a treatise on the hair, which we send free by mail upon application, which contains commendatory notices from clergymen, physicians, the press, and others.
We have made the study of the hair and its diseases a specialty for years, and know that we make the most effective preparation for the restoration and the preservation of the hair, extant, and so acknowledged by the best Medical and Chemical Authorities.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.
Price one Dollar Per Bottle.
P. HALL & CO., Proprietors.
LABORATORY, NASHUA, N.H.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually cure them. The testimony of our best citizens of all classes, establishes the fact, that AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proved beyond dispute.
As a remedy for full prostration, by curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should

SEWING MACHINES
manufactured by
R. M. WANZER & CO.,
Awarded the Highest Premiums over all competitors at the London Provincial Fair 1861
Do. Toronto do. do. 1862
Do. Montreal do. do. 1863
Do. Kingston do. do. 1864
Do. Hamilton do. do. (extra prize) 1865
Do. London do. do. 1866
Do. Toronto do. do. (no. 1st prize) 1867
Do. Kingston do. do. (no. 1st prize) 1867
Do. Hamilton do. do. (4 first prize) 1868
Do. London do. do. (not exhibited) 1869
Do. Montreal do. do. (2 first prize) 1870
Do. do. do. (Dip. for best coll.) 1870
Do. Western Fair London 1st and 1st 2nd Prize—also a Diploma 1870
First Prize, Lennox County Show, 1871

EUROPEAN EXHIBITIONS.
At Vienna, Capital of Austria, Royal Diploma, 1864.
At Dresden, Capital of Saxony, Royal Diploma, 1864.
At Leipzig, Germany, First Prize Medal, 1865.
At Copenhagen, Denmark, First Prize, 1865.
At the National Exhibition of the British Isles, held in Dublin, First Prize Medal, 1867.
At the British Exhibition, held at Dudley and York, two First Prize Medals, 1867.
At the great World Exhibition, held in Paris France, we were awarded the First and Highest Prize Medal for Family Sewing Machines, eighty seven competitors, 1867.
At Inverness, Aberdeen, Dundee and Glasgow, Scotland, First Prizes, 1867.
At Manchester and the Lennexham, England, two First Prize Medals, 1867.
We shall leave the general public to draw their own inferences as to our success, from the above List of Prizes.

R. M. WANZER & CO.,
Lennox and Addington,
Napanee, Jan. 25th 1871.

NAPANEE BREWERY.

The above establishment is now in full operation, and PRIVATE FAMILIES & HOTELS
can be supplied with

ALE AND PORTER

At the very lowest prices in the Dominion.

P. S.—This establishment has been recently purchased by the subscriber
who has had long experience in England in the Brewing business. He feels that those who favor him with their patronage will be rewarded with a good article. A call is solicited.
JOHN BOWEY.
Napanea, Feb. 7th, 1872.

JOHN DWYER
MANUFACTURER OF Stoves, Ploughs, Castings, &c.,
Of all kinds.
Foundry below the Canal.

Now is th Time.
To have your Teeth examined and filled decayed ones removed and artificial dentures inserted in order that you may take comfort during the coming season.
Come Young and Old
To the old they are a comfort and to the young they add beauty. I also take pleasure in an dancing to the public that I have

Enlarged and Refitted
MY DENTAL ROOMS.
Which are more conveniently adapted to my Patients. My gradual increase of Practice is a sufficient proof that I have given entire satisfaction since my location in Napanea.
Wanted a Student.
Dr. J. H. W. BEDFORD,
Surgeon Dentist
Remie's Block, Napanea, Ont.
April 10th, 1872

VICTORIA PAINT SHOP.
6 CLARENCE STREET, KINGSTON.
PLAIN and ORS IMENTAL
Painting, Paper Hanging.
GLAZING, GRAINING, etc.
Transparent and Fancy Window Shades.
SIGN WRITING in all its branches and on Most Reasonable Terms.
WM. ROBINSON, JR.,
Proprietor.

NEW BRICK HOTEL.
KNOWN as the O'CONNOR HOUSE, situated at Mill Point. This House has just been built by Mr. O'Connor, who now offers to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good stabling and sheds, and attentive hands around the house. Farmers will find this a handy place to the steamboat and also close to the business part

Office and Residence, Market Square
Napanea, Ontario.

HOTELS.
NEW BRICK HOTEL.
KNOWN as the GREEVES HOUSE,
situated on the Market Square, just opposite the Hay Scales. This House has just been built by Mr. Greaves, and leased for a term of years by M. Feddis, who now offers to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good stabling and sheds, and attentive hands around the house. Farmers will find this a handy place to the market and also close to the business part of the town, to leave their teams.

M. FEDDIS.
January 12th, 1871.
M'KIM HOUSE, TAMWORTH.
THIS House has just been rebuilt
by Mr. O'Brien, who now offers to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good stabling and sheds, and attentive hands around the house. Farmers will find this a handy place to the business part of the village to leave their teams.
J. O'BRIEN.
Tamworth, March 27th, 1872.

NAPANEE TICKET AGENCY.
GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.
TICKETS FOR SALE AT
GRANGE & BROS
DRUG STORE.

FOR ALL STATIONS EAST & WEST
American money taken at par from Napanea to Milwaukee, Chicago, St.
Louis, Omaha, San Francisco, and via SARNIA LINE OF SEAMERS,
TO ALL LAKE PORTS.
Passengers purchasing Tickets on the undersigned avoid the trouble and delay of exchanging Tickets and rechecking baggage at Toronto.

Cheapest Route to the West
For further particulars apply to
GRANGE & BROS.,
Exchange Office.
Passenger Agents G. T. R.
Uncurrent Money Bought and Sold.
Napanea, July 26th, 1871.

JOHN REID.
VETERINARY PRACTITIONER.
From Ontario Veterinary College.
Is prepared to tend all diseases of the lower animals. Medicine for Horses, and Cattle, always on hand. Horses examined as to soundness and certificates given if desired.
All orders promptly attended to at his office, one door east of Express Office, Warner block or at the Soby House.

JOHN REID.
Napanea, April 18th, 1872.

SOBY HOUSE.
J. Hawley of Napanea, would respectfully announce to the travelling public that he has leased for a term of years the SOBY HOUSE, Napanea, where he offers every inducement in the way of comfort and convenience which a First-class House can give. The House has been entirely overhauled and built new inside. Furnished with the latest Styles of Furniture. A large airy Reading Room attached making it the only first-class Hotel in Napanea, notwithstanding the many false reports circulated to injure the establishment, by interested parties, to forward their own interests.

Charges are moderate.
A call is cordially solicited.
Your obedient servant,
J. HAWLEY.
Napanea Dec. 7th, 1871.

POTTER & BROTHER
A FIRST-CLASS LIVERY
ADJOINING BRISCO HOUSE,
Late SOBY HOUSE.
We keep nothing but First-Class
Horses and Carriages, and at REASONABLE

Of the devil's den.
—Printer's Circular

Literature.

ALMA'S HAIR.

BY LOTTIE BROWN.

Dyke Bancroft bent over the figure
at the piano, and touched the bronzed braids that lay on Alma Day's queenly head.
"What a wealth of hair, Miss Alma!
All your own, of course?"
She laughed, and ran her white fingers up and down the keys. Then she turned her face,—that rare, pink and white face, which had distracted so many in its day—up to his own,
and said—

"Yet you confess to wearing a false heart, Alma."
She dashed out another brilliant strain, and bent her head a little to hide the flush of vexation, which mantled her cheeks. Dyke Bancroft was not the man to exchange meaningless words. He knew more than any other she knew, and cared less (she believed) for her smiles and blandishments.

We covet that we cannot reach;
and so Alma would give her life, to know that he did not mean what he said.

After a moment, she looked up.
His dark eyes were ready to meet
her own.
"What do you know of my heart?"
"As much, perhaps, as any one,
and that is but the merest trifle more than nothing. Yet what I do know, teaches me—"

"Don't pause. Go on."
"That Alma Day is beyond the reach of poor devils like myself."
Again that gay laugh, and the nervous rattling of white hands upon
the ivory keys.

"You do not know everything,"
she said, at length. "No! but I can think."
Some one passed the win low just then, and called, "Dyke!" and when he went away to see what it meant,
Alma vanished through the parlor
door, and went away to her room.

There was a nice little party in that pretty country house that summer.
There were no very aristocratic people, or any one likely to shock or disturb the equanimity of any one;
so they lived on, week after week, in perfect harmony.

There was very little love-making,
a great deal of fishing and croqueting,
card playing, and dancing and gossiping.

Alma Day and her mother were rich, perhaps the only ones there that merited the title, but Mrs. Day was an invalid, and gay life did not suit
her as well as this quiet, country living; so Alma contentedly passed her summers wherever there was the most peace and comfort for her mother.

"There is one thing certain, Alma Day, with all her heartlessness, is good to her mother."

Everybody said this, and though she smiled on every one in her train,
and drove one half of them to the verge of distraction, yet everybody respected her, because of her filial obedience.

That very night, as Dyke stepped out through the window, he met Tom Alton, who said—
"So you're in for it, are you? Why
—Alma, she won't have you?"

confidently say, that it is the only reliable and perfected preparation to restore GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken; the scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean; it removes all eruptions and dandruff, and by its tonic properties prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair glands. By its use the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair that splendid glossy appearance so much admired by all. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Mass., says, "the constituents are pure and carefully selected for excellent quality, and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." We publish a treatise on the hair, which we send free by mail upon application, which contains commendatory notices from clergymen, physicians, the press, and others. We have made the study of the hair and its diseases a specialty for years, and know that we make the most effective preparation for the restoration and the preservation of the hair, cuticle, and so acknowledged by the best Medical and Chemical Authorities.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.
Price one Dollar Per Bottle.

P. HALL & CO., Proprietors.
LABORATORY, NASHUA, N. H.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effective remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually cure them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous Affections of the Pulmonary Organs, yielded to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily cured at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, against the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.,
Practical and Analytical Chemists.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

WEBSTER & BOYES, Agents for Napanee, Lennox and Addington.
Napanee, Jan. 25th 1871.

NAPANEE BREWERY.

The above establishment is now in full operation, and

PRIVATE FAMILIES & HOTELS can be supplied with

ALE AND PORTER

At the very lowest prices in the Dominion.

P. S. This establishment has been recently purchased by the subscriber who has had long experience in England in the Brewing business. He feels that those who favor him with their patronage will be rewarded with a good article. A call is solicited.

JOHN BOWEN.
Napanee, Feb. 7th, 1872.

JOHN DWYER
MANUFACTURER
Stoves, Ploughs, Castings, &c.,
Of all kinds.
Foundry below the Canal.

Now is the Time.

To have your Teeth examined and filled, decayed ones removed, and artificial dentures inserted, in order that you may take comfort during the coming season.

Come Young and Old

To the old they are comfortable and to the young they add beauty. I also take pleasure in attending to the public that I have

Enlarged and Refitted
MY DENTAL ROOM.

Which are more conveniently adapted to my Patients. My gradual increased Practice is a sufficient proof that I have given entire satisfaction since my location in Napanee.

Wanted a Student.
Dr. J. H. W. BEDFORD,
Surgeon-Dentist
Rennie's Block, Napanee, Ont.
April 10th, 1872

VICTORIA PAINT SHOP.

6 CLARENCE STREET, KINGSTON.
PLAIN and ORNAMENTAL

Painting, Paper Hanging,
GLAZING, GRAVING, &c.

Transparent and Fancy Window Shades.

SIGN WRITING in all its branches and on Most Reasonable Terms.
WM. ROBINSON, JR.,
Proprietor.

NEW BRICK HOTEL.

KNOWN as the O'CONNOR HOUSE, situated at Mill Point. This House has just been built by Mr. O'Connor, who now offers to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good stabling and sheds, and attentive hands around the house. Farmers will find this a handy place to the steamboat and also close to the business part of the Village, to leave their teams.

PATRICK O'CONNOR.
Mill Point, March 19th, 1872.

W. BEDFORD

SURGICAL AND MECHANICAL DENTIST, Napanee, Ont.
Rooms—Over Rennie's Store.
Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles. 51ly.

A CARD.

HOUSE, SIGN AND CARRIAGE Painting, Glazing and Paper hanging, finished in the most improved style.

P. S. Imitations of all kinds of wood grained in "OIL," superior to any in the County.

All orders left at his residence, nearly opposite B. C. Davy's residence, will be answered with promptness.
C. SMITH.

TICKETS FOR SALE AT GRANGE & BROS DRUG STORE.

FOR ALL STATIONS EAST & WEST
American money taken at par from Napanee to Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, San Francisco, and via

SARNIA LINE OF SEAMERS,
TO ALL LAKE PORTS.

Passengers purchasing Tickets and the undersigned avoid the trouble and delay of exchanging Tickets and re-checking baggage at Toronto.

Cheapest Route to the West
For further particulars apply to

GRANGE & BROS.,
Exchange Office.
Passenger Agents G. T. R.
Uncurrent Money Bought and Sold.
Napanee, July 26th, 1871.

JOHN REID.

VETERINARY PRACTITIONER.
From Ontario Veterinary College Is prepared to tend all diseases of the lower animals. Medicine for Horses, and Cattle, always on hand. Horses examined as to soundness and certifies given if desired.

All orders promptly attended to at his office, one door east of EXPRESS Office, Warner block or at the Soby House.

JOHN REID.
Napanee, April 18th, 1872.

SOBY HOUSE.

J. Hawley of Napanee, would respectfully announce to the travelling public that he has leased for a term of years the SOBY HOUSE, Napanee, where he offers every inducement in the way of comfort and convenience which a first-class House can give. The House has been entirely overhauled and built new inside. Furnished with the latest Styles of Furniture. A large airy Reading Room attached making it the only first-class Hotel in Napanee, notwithstanding the many false reports circulated to injure the establishment, by interested parties, to forward their own interests.

Charges are moderate.
A call is cordially solicited.
Your obedient servant.

J. HAWLEY.
Napanee Dec. 7th, 1871.

POTTER & BROTHER

A FIRST-CLASS LIVERY

ADJOINING BRISCO HOUSE,
Late SOBY HOUSE.

We keep nothing but First-Class Horses and Bobsles, and at REASONABLE PRICES.

EAST STREET, NAPANEE, ONT.

W. M. MACHINE S-UP,
NAPANEE.

STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order; also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.

Remember the place, opposite the Hotel, in Nelson's old stand.

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

I have just received a very large stock of Children's Carriages,

which I will sell

AT CITY PRICES.

Come and examine them.

G. M. WOODS.

strain, and bent her head a little to hide the flush of vexation, which mantled her cheeks. Dyke Bancroft was not the man to exchange meaningless words. He knew more than any other she knew, and cared less (she believed) for her smiles and blandishments.

We covet that we cannot reach; and so Alma would give her life, to know that he did not mean what he said.

After a moment, she looked up. His dark eyes were ready to meet her own.

"What do you know of my heart?"

"As much, perhaps, as any one, and that is but the merest trifle more than nothing. Yet what I do know, teaches me—"

"Don't pause. Go on."

"That Alma Day is beyond the reach of poor devils like myself."

Again that gay laugh, and the nervous rattling of white hands upon the ivory keys.

"You do not know everything," she said, at length. "No! but I can think."

Some one passed the winnow just then, and called, "Dyke!" and when he went away to see what it meant, Alma vanished through the parlor door, and went away to her room.

There was a nice little party in that pretty country house that summer.

There were no very aristocratic people, or any one likely to shock or disturb the equanimity of any one; so they lived on, week after week, in perfect harmony.

There was very little love-making, a great deal of fishing and croqueting, card playing, and dancing and gossiping.

Alma Day and her mother were rich, perhaps the only ones there that merited the title, but Mrs. Day was an invalid, and gay life did not suit her as well as this quiet, country living; so Alma contentedly passed her summers wherever there was the most peace and comfort for her mother.

"There is one thing certain, Alma Day, with all her heartlessness, is good to her mother."

Everybody said this, and though she smiled on every one in her train, and drove one half of them to the verge of distraction, yet everybody respected her, because of her filial obedience.

That very night, as Dyke stepped out through the window, he met Tom Alton, who said—

"So you're in for it, are you? Why man alive, she won't have you?"

"I have not asked her."

"But you will, and have the pleasure of being laughed at, for your presumption."

"She is a good daughter."

"And will make a Senator, or some other honorable snob, a good wife, but she will not stoop to you and I. On the whole, Dyke, what could we do with such a woman? It is no great trouble to be kind to her mother, but she wouldn't, I dare swear, make a sacrifice for even her. She is a terrible bunch of selfishness and frivolity. What were you talking about when I came up? False hair wasn't it?"

"Yes!"

"You did not ask her if her hair, pai

R. I. Cartwright

The Weekly Express

AND BRITISH AMERICAN.

NAPANEE, ONTARIO FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1872

Shoes, and pance.
Come ES.
30% SHED served
g.
05,000
eal.
17
COY, CAN-ne Act
as low
All
mpty Isolatdingly
sinity.
RS.
Associlon, On g mor he on compliis deep ecelver
y) for a ry No atever, em can
e.
righ.
linton
ANY.
000.
T. cordbenefit
This
1 their
S. ent.
ouch-illege,
Square USE,
e just ise has

Poetry.

THE PRINTER'S DEVIL.

BY TYP. O. QUAD.

Ink-bespattered,
Clothing tattered,
With his broom in hand,
Leaning, cleaning,
Rubbing, scrubbing,
Under every stand.

Neath the cases,
Type and spaces—
Trampled where they fell—
By this Pluto
Doomed to go to Printer's leather "hell."

Running hither.
Darting thither,
Tail of all the staff,
Out and in-doors,
Doing all chores,
Bringing telegraph.

Runs for copy,
Nor dare stop he
For his paper hat;
All the jour men,
Save the foreman,
Yelling for some "phat."

Proves the galleys;
Then he sallies,
On Satanic opinion,
From the news-room
To his sanctum—
Part of his dominion.

And the bosses
Often cross as Bears within their holes—
Make the devil
Find his level
Stirring up the coals.

Washing roller,
Bringing coal or Lugging water pail;
Time he wastes not
At the paste-pot,
Wrapping up the mail.

When the week's done,
Then he seeks one
Where the greenbacks lay,
There to settle
For the little
Devil is to pay.

In this spirit
There is merit,
Far fro a taint of shame;
Often gaining
By his training
Good and honored name.

Legislators,
Great debaters,
Scientific men,
Have arisen,
From the prison,
Of the devil's den.
—Printer's Circular

Literature.

was false, did you?"

"Yes!"
"By Jove! Of course she told you no, and you believed her. She has got seventy-five dollars worth there, at the very least."

Dyke had not the disposition to say anything more upon the subject, so he walked away, and mused upon the frivolity and worthlessness of women in general, and of Alma Day in particular.

Alma went quietly up to her own room, her face vexed and troubled, and as she opened the door she was prepared to relieve herself, woman fashion, of a great portion of her sorrow, by having a good cry, but something from her mother's room, arrested her, and she went in there.

Mrs. Day was lying back in her chair, as white as death, and a tall professional looking man was standing there, looking with a sort of inexpressible pity at her.

"Why, mother! Why, Mr. Deane, what is the matter?"

He turned, and put out his hand. "Don't Miss Alma! You have need of great strength and fortitude, just now."

This man was their lawyer, and the controller of their financial affairs, and holding, as it were, the reins of her existence.

"What is it?" she asked growing weak and white.

"The——speculations have failed."

"Who has been speculating?"

"Your mother."

"My mother?"

"I thought we might as well be richer or poorer," whined a feeble voice from the chair.

"And you, Mr. Deane, conducted these speculations at my weak mother's request, without even consulting me?"

"Yes, Miss Alma, but——"

"Yes, I know, it was all her property, but she is old. Well, what has she lost?"

"Every dollar."

"The house?"

"Gone! Everything is gone."

"Oh, mother!"

But that was all she said, and somehow the lawyer felt that he was no longer needed, and he slunk away out of sight of the great, grieved, reproachful eyes of the poverty stricken girl.

It was kept very silent for a day or two, and then Alma went away to the city. She had very little money and their board bill was due, so she went away with a grand project in

THE PERILS OF BALLOONING.

From the Memphis Avalanche.

The balloon ascension connected with Noye's circus is one of that show's great cards. Every afternoon great crowds congregate on the bluffs to witness it. Yesterday the usual multitude assembled to witness Prof. Fisher, the aeronaut, perform his feats on the trapeze attached to the balloon with four strong half-inch cords.

In making the ascension, the balloon—a common yellow canvas affair—is filled with hot air by means of an alcoholic fire which is burned immediately beneath the lower and opened end of the canvas; when filled Prof. Fisher leaps on his slender trapeze, the fastening ropes are cast loose, and the large yellow monster goes off like a rocket in an upward direction for about five hundred feet, when it yields to the current of the wind and goes with it.

THE FATAL FLIGHT.

The balloon yesterday, after being cast loose, shot directly upward, and then moved directly toward the Gayoso House. So certain were many of the spectators on the roof that it was coming directly over the house they ran down stairs. Just before it reached the house, however, it commenced to descend rapidly, and in doing so swerved to the north and left of the Gayoso and in a direct line for the Jackson Block, which it struck a moment later. In striking the Block, the balloon proper was above the level of the roof, while

PROF. FISHER AND THE TRAPEZE

struck the wall some eight feet beneath the guttering of the roof. The aeronaut's head struck the brick wall first, but recovering himself he placed his feet against the wall and pushed violently outward, with a hope, doubtless, of clearing the roof. All this time the huge inflated canvass was tugging away at the small ropes—the guttering of the roof being iron, with a sharp, almost knife-like edge, it in a few seconds severed the ropes, which, by the combined weight of the professor and the balloon, were strained to their utmost tension, and the man of the air with a loud cry fell

DOWN, DOWN, DOWN,

a distance of at least fifty feet, and alighted on an iron grating, which

"PUT DOWN FOR ONCE."

A VOICE FROM THE LADIES' GALLERY—
MINISTER OF MILITIA AWAKES
THE ATTENTION OF THE INFANTRY—AN AMUSING SCENE IN THE
HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Last week an intensely dry debate took place in the House on the Representation Bill which would have been totally devoid of interest to the occupants of the galleries, but for an incident that occurred about 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Workman had concluded a long winded and somewhat violent speech advocating the right of the Protestant minority of Montreal to representation in the Commons, and protesting annexing Griffintown to his constituency. To his arguments Sir George Cartier rose to reply, and was answering the hon. member for Montreal Centre in a somewhat forcible style when, in the middle of his speech, an infant, which had been brought to the gallery by its mother, set up a howl like a small steam-whistle. At first it was thought to be an invention of a "silent member" anxious to put a stop to the debate. But as the squalls continued, all eyes were directed to a particular part of the Ladies Gallery there was no mistaking the sound as a genuine Simon Pure article, the cry of a lusty infant, awakened by the powerful arguments of the Minister of Militia. The roars of laughter that followed the baby's maiden speech were deafening. Some of the members cried "Hear! hear!" Others gave the young orator an encore. Sir George reddened; the ladies blushed; and the House was completely demoralized for a moment. In the midst of it all, the Minister of Militia stopped short in his speech, and Mr. Holton's deep and powerful voice was heard to exclaim, "Put down for once," alluding to Sir George Cartier.

Sir George heard him, turned him like a flash, and bending toward him with an enquiring look, said, "I think I heard the hon. member for Chateauguay say 'Put down for once; did I?'"

Mr. Holton—Yes; I said the hon. gentlemen was put down for once. Sir George Cartier—Yes, I was put down for once. I did not know but what it was the "little devil" to which my hon. friend from Montreal Centre alluded a short time ago (referring to an expression made use of a short time previous by Mr. Workman, who said he would defend the rights of his constituents, "in

Sel MY

A few devolved of furnis and lodgi now, as to say, "means at —only a had neve ture in myself u who was who at o best assi I told thought furnishe of mahog how I in the fill up th knick-kn "The l interpose "Yes," and to m "But" there sho the ornar "Ah!" is all ver member," unlevel s and was than sor you'd bet clean, tl There, th be dusted reason I should as of the sa I confi aback. certainly never he interest. "Now, ter," de You're g service; I ially go it. The must hav pany, so holidays, people se how gent we must that; a c every da company.

real.
Office and Residence, Market Square
100, Ontario.

HOTELS.
NEW BRICK HOTEL,
OWNED BY THE GREEVES HOUSE,
situated on the Market Square, just off the Hay Stables. This House has been built by Mr. Greeves, and has been a term of years by M. Feddis, who flatters to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, stabling and sheds, and attendants around the house. Farmers and this a handy place to the market so close to the business part of the city to leave their teams.

M. FEDDIS.
January 12th, 1871.
KIM HOUSE, TAMWORTH.
This House has just been rebuilt
by Mr. O'Brien, who now offers to customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good stabling and sheds, and attentive hands of the house. Farmers will find a handy place to the business part of the village to leave their teams.
J. O'BRIEN.
Tamworth, March 27th, 1872.
PANEE TICKET AGENCY.

AND TRUNK RAILWAY.
TICKETS FOR SALE AT
GRANGE & BROS
DRUG STORE.
ALL STATIONS EAST & WEST
American money taken at par from
New York, Milwaukee, Chicago, St.
Louis, Omaha, San Francisco, and via
NIA LINE OF SEAMERS,
TO ALL LAKE PORTS.
Passengers purchasing Tickets and baggage avoid the trouble and expense of exchanging Tickets and receiving baggage at Toronto.

Best Route to the West
For further particulars apply to
GRANGE & BROS.,
Exchange Office.
Passenger Agents G. T. R.
current Money Bought and Sold,
Panee, July 26th, 1871.

JOHN REID.
VETERINARY PRACTITIONER.
From Ontario Veterinary College prepared to tend all diseases of the animals. Medicine for Horses, Cattle, always on hand. Horses dressed as to soundness and certificates given if desired.
All orders promptly attended to at office, one door east of EXPRESS Co., Warner block or at the Soby se.

JOHN REID.
Panee, April 18th, 1872.
BY POST.

Hawley of Panee, would respectfully announce to the travelling
public that he has leased for a term of years the SOBY HOUSE, Panee, where every inducement in the way of comfort and convenience has been made. The house is a First-Class House, and gives. The house has been entirely overhauled and new inside. Furnished with the latest Styles of Furniture. A large Reading Room attached making it only first-class Hotel in Panee.
withstanding the many false reports
circulated to injure the establishment, accepted parties, to forward their interests.

Charges are moderate.
Call is cordially solicited.
Your obedient servant,
J. HAWLEY.
Panee Dec. 7th, 1871.

OTTER & BROTHER

FIRST-CLASS LIVERY DOING BRISCO HOUSE,
Late SOBY HOUSE.
We keep nothing but First-Class

From the prison,
Of the devil's den.
—Printer's Circular

Literature.

ALMA'S HAIR.

BY LOTTIE BROWN.

Dyke Bancroft bent over the figure
at the piano, and touched the bronzed braids that lay on Alma Day's queen-
ly head.

"What a wealth of hair, Miss Alma!
All your own, of course!"
She laughed, and ran her white fingers up and down the keys. Then
she turned her face, that rare, pink
and white face, which had distracted
so many in its day—up to his own,
and said—

"Yet you confess to wearing a false
heart, Alma."

She dashed out another brilliant strain, and bent her head a little to hide the flush of vexation, which mantled her cheeks. Dyke Bancroft did not the man to exchange meaningless words. He knew more than any other she knew, and cared less (she believed) for her smiles and blandishments.

We covet that we cannot reach;
and so Alma would give her life, to know that he did not mean what he said.

After a moment, she looked up.
His dark eyes were ready to meet
her own.

"What do you know of my heart?"
"As much, perhaps, as any one,
and that is but the merest trifle more than nothing. Yet what I do know,
teaches me—"

"Don't pause. Go on."
"That Alma Day is beyond the reach of poor devils like myself."
Again that gay laugh, and the nervous rattling of white hands upon
the ivory keys.

"You do not know everything,"
she said, at length. "No! but I can think."

Some one passed the window just then, and called, "Dyke!" and when he went away to see what it meant,
Alma vanished through the parlor
door, and went away to her room.

There was a nice little party in that pretty country house that summer.

There were no very aristocratic people, or any one likely to shock or disturb the equanimity of any one;
so they lived on, week after week, in perfect harmony.

There was very little love-making,
a great deal of fishing and croqueting,
card playing, and dancing and gossiping.

Alma Day and her mother were rich, perhaps the only ones there that merited the title, but Mrs. Day was an invalid, and gay life did not suit
her as well as this quiet, country
living; so Alma contentedly passed
her summers wherever there was the most peace and comfort for her mother.

"There is one thing certain, Alma
Day, with all her heartlessness, is
good to her mother."

Everybody said this, and though
she smiled on every one in her train,
and drove one half of them to the verge of distraction, yet everybody respected her, because of her filial
obedience.

That very night, as Dyke stepped out through the window, he met Tom
Alton, who said—

"So you're in for it, are you? Why reproachful eyes of the poverty-stricken girl.

It was kept very silent for a day or two, and then Alma went away to the city. She had very little money and their board bill was due, so she went away with a grand project in her brain.

And left alone, though but for a few hours poor Mrs. Day must needs send for some one to sit with her, and finally she worried herself into a state of helpless confidence, and told the whole story, with many and bitter tears.

That night everybody knew it, and Tom Alton drew Dyke aside to say—

"I am sorry for her. But mark me, she will lay her plans with the cunning of a diplomatist, she will marry some rich old fogey before the year ends. She is as cunning as a fox."

"And in the meantime, what will she do? Work, I suppose."

"Work! Not she. She has plenty of rich relatives."

Dyke wondered in his heart if she would do this, but all the while he pitied her, as men pity only those in whom they feel an unaccountable interest.

When the evening train came, he watched for her coming, and stood out on the piazza to speak to her.

She came up slowly, as though she was worn past all telling, and when after a moment she flung back her veil, she showed a face as pale as death, and ten years older than the one he had looked into but a few nights before.

There was something odd about her appearance, but what it was, he did not readily detect.

As she drew near, he stepped down and walked along to meet her.

"You are tired," he said, taking her small reticule.

"Worn out, Mr. Bancroft."

"Well!"

"You look as sober as a judge, what is the matter?"

"Oh, Alma, don't! I see that you are as brave as a regiment of men, but don't crush your trouble back upon your heart. I know all about it, from beginning to end."

"That I am poor?"

"Yes, Alma."

She smiled, and said—

"Well, it is all right. Ma will be lovingly received into Uncle Henry's family, and I—well, I am going to sew, and teach the children in the family of an old friend."

"Alma Day?"

"Yes! Why not? I am well and strong, and haven't the courage to live in dependence."

He pressed her hand.

"I have saved Ma from trouble, and raised enough to keep her in pin money, for a little while."

She pushed her hat back, and revealed her small, finely shaped head.
The long, shining braids were gone, and in their stead, there was a short crop of locks, with the mark of the hair dealer's scissors fresh upon them.

"Alma! What have you done?"

"Sold my hair. It was really all my own."

He put his arm around her.

"Alma, forgive me for my abruptness, but I cannot wait. You must not bear this alone. Be my wife, darling, and let me labor for you, and bear all your burden. Oh, Alma, I love you."

She put her hands out, with a burst of happy tears.

"Have my shorn locks brought me all this happiness?"

and the man of the air with a loud cry fell

DOWN, DOWN, DOWN,
a distance of at least fifty feet, and alighted on an iron grating, which his weight cracked as if of glass.* In falling the unfortunate man turned several somersaults; but, with the exception of the first short passionate cry, not a sound escaped him. A large cellar extends under the block, and through an iron grating he fell headlong.

The grating through which he fell is that of R. G. Craig & Co's seed store, and just as he

SHOT BY THE WINDOW
like a meteor, one of the salesmen who was in the rear of the store saw him. Running out and ascertaining that the white flying object was a man, then insensible and seemingly dead, the clerk called for assistance, and carefully removed the wounded and almost pulverized man up stairs and into the store. Surgeons and physicians were summoned in a few moments, and everything possible was done to alleviate the intense suffering of the poor man. Dr. Hall, after a careful examination, stated that the right shoulder arm-bone was

LITERALLY PULVERIZED, and that he was also suffering from concussion of the brain. A gash on the right forehead, another on the right cheek, and still another under the right chin, were the wounds visible on the face. In the pit of the left arm was

A HORRID GASH,
fully three inches in length, and extending into the socket. The latter wound was caused by one of the small ropes tearing from under his arm, where he had it fastened safely, and it is only surprising that the rope did not wrench the arm from the socket.

HISTORY OF THE AERONAUT.

From members of the circus the following history of Prof. Fisher was obtained. His right name is George E. Clarke, and he is a man twenty-three years of age. He is of a most respectable family now residing in Columbus, Ohio. About two years since he joined Grady's circus, then travelling in the North as a general utility man, afterwards becoming what is known as a "candy butcher."
While with Grady he made one or two ascensions under the superintendence of Professor Fisher whose name he afterwards assumed. In November last he perfected an engagement with Mr. C. W. Noyes and since then has regularly made ascensions.

WAS IT A PREMONITION?

Before starting yesterday on his flight to death, he remarked to a friend,
"Jim, this will be my last ascension in a balloon," and as he soared away he repeated halloo: "Good-by boys!"
"good-bye," and continued waving his hands until far above the crowd of spectators. The fatal result of yesterday's ascension, with the other death flight at Decatur last week where a young man was drowned in the Tennessee river, should convince every one that this species of daring is simply foolhardy.

DEATH OF CLARKE.

Mr. Clarke, while being removed to the hospital, never recovered his consciousness, and last night, about 11 o'clock, he breathed his last. From the time the ropes severed, he never spoke an intelligible word. His re-which my hon. friend

Centre alluded a sl (referring to an expr of a short time pre Workman, who said h
the rights of his co spite of the devil")

Sir John A. Macdo
ly rose, and, amidst House, said, "It was was simply a just tri quence of the hon. M t.e., to show that he the attention of the i

After order had l restored, Sir George hoped there would n fantasy required than country.

This sally was gree laughter and applaus
the debate resumed and uninteresting to

THE TREATY FA
failure of the Was could be considered plating embarrassing growth out of the situa people in Canada w
the issue. What Ca is worth all the Dom of the United State and any result from that does not recogni be unsatisfactory to Government know th
Their large majoriti
the measure through forced majorities, an popular will. Were Treaty or no Treaty, to-day, there could
the result of the vot
every contingency th
attach to the situati included. Canada w cept the Treaty und with equal force can bribe would be scor
even though that bi the Parent State.

WHAT SLEEP?

The "Herald of H in this style: "The always been leader i food. Not that it is but it is harder to ge is from sleep. Of wise equal, the one best, will be the mos and efficient. Sleep can irritability of t ness, uneasiness. It
It will restore to vig ed brain. It will bi strong a weary bo much to cure dyspe that variety known pepsia. It will reli prostrations felt by will cure hypochond the blues. It will
It will cure neuralgi a broken spirit. It w spirit. It will cure
we might make a li maladies that sleep
The cure of sleep is not so easy, parti who carry heavy res habit of sleeping w
if broken up for an is not easily regain illness treated by p deranges the nerv
sleep is never sleep afterward. Or, per end watchfulness p effect; or hard stud exercise of the mus
tea and whisky dru

head a little to exaction, which Dyke Bancroft exchange mean- new more than and cared less or smiles and cannot reach; give her life, to mean what he she looked up, ready to meet of my heart f' ps, as any one, erest trifle more chat I do know.

on " is beyond the like myself." laugh, and the bite hands upon ow everything," "No! but I can he win low just ke " and when what it meant, ough the parlor to her room. the party in that that summer. ery aristocratic rely to check or ty of any one: s after week, in le love-making, and croqueting, cing and gossip-

r mother were ones there that Mrs. Day was life did not suit quiet, country entedly passed r there was the t for her mothertain, Alma earlessness, is s, and though ne in her train, of them to the yet everybody se of her filial

Dyke stepped ow, he met Tom are you? Why ave you? "er." have the pleas- at, for your preguter." a Senator, or e snob, a good t stoop to you e, Dyke, what a woman? It be kind to her ouldn't, I dare ce for even her. h of selfishness were you talk- ue up? False her if her hair,

When the evening train came, he watched for her coming, and stood out on the piazza to speak to her.

She came up slowly, as though she was worn past all telling, and when after a moment she flung back her veil, she showed a face as pale as death, and ten years older than the one he had looked into but a few nights before.

There was something odd about her appearance, but what it was, he did not readily detect.

As she drew near, he stepped down and walked along to meet her.

"You are tired," he said, taking her small reticule.

"Worn out, Mr. Bancroft."

"Well."

"You look as sober as a judge, what is the matter?"

"Oh, Alma, don't! I see that you are as brave as a regiment of men, but don't crush your trouble back upon your heart. I knew all about it, from beginning to end."

"That I am poor?"

"Yes, Alma."

She smiled, and said—

"Well, it is all right. Ma will be lovingly received into Uncle Henry's family, and I—well, I am going to sew, and teach the children in the family of an old friend."

"Alma Day?"

"Yes! why not? I am well and strong, and haven't the courage to live in dependence."

He pressed her hand.

"I have saved ma from trouble, and raised enough to keep her in pin money, for a little while."

She pushed her hat back, and revealed her small, finely shaped head. The long, shiving braids were gone, and in their stead, there was a short crop of locks, with the mark of the hair dealer's scissors fresh upon them.

"Alma! What have you done?"

"Sold my hair. It was really all my own."

He put his arm around her.

"Alma, forgive me for my abruptness, but I cannot wait. You must not bear this alone. Be my wife, darling, and let me labor for you, and bear all your burden. Oh, Alma, I love you."

She put her hands out, with a burst of happy tears.

"Have my shorn locks brought me all this happiness?"

"Not the locks, darling, but the noble spirit that made the sacrifice."

So these two were married, and for aught I know, lived happy ever after ards.

Such people usually do.

Mr. Black Mail, is again trying to set Catholic and Protestant at variance.

H. Sandfield Macdonald, who is running for Cornwall, comes out flat-footed for John A.

A son of the Rev. John Brown, Presbyterian minister, Newmarket, was drowned on Saturday.

Labor brings pleasure; idleness, pain.

physicians were summoned in a few moments, and everything possible was done to alleviate the intense suffering of the poor man. Dr. Hall, after a careful examination, stated that the right shoulder arm-bone was

LITERALLY PULVERIZED,

and that he was also suffering from concussion of the brain. A gash on the right forehead, another on the right cheek, and still another under the right chin, were the wounds visible on the face. In the pit of the left arm was fully three inches in length, and extending into the socket. The latter wound was caused by one of the small ropes tearing from under his arm, where he had it fastened safely, and it is only surprising that the rope did not wrench the arm from the socket.

A HORRID GASH,

HISTORY OF THE AERONAUT.

From members of the circus the following history of Prof. Fisher was obtained. His right name is George E. Clarke, and he is a man twenty-three years of age. He is of a most respectable family now residing in Columbus, Ohio. About two years since he joined Grady's circus, then travelling in the North as a general utility man, afterwards becoming what is known as a "candy butcher." While with Grady he made one or two ascensions under the superintendence of Professor Fisher whose name he afterwards assumed. In November last he perfected an engagement with Mr. C. W. Noyes and since then has regularly made ascensions.

WAS IT A PREMONITION?

Before starting yesterday on his flight to death, he remarked to a friend, "Jim, this will be my last ascension in a balloon," and as he soared away he repeated halloo: "Good-by boys," "good-bye," and continued waving his hands until far above the crowd of spectators. The fatal result of yesterday's ascension, with the other death flight at Decatur last week where a young man was drowned in the Tennessee river, should convince every one that this species of daring is simply foolhardy.

DEATH OF CLARKE.

Mr. Clarke, while being removed to the hospital, never recovered his consciousness, and last night, about 11 o'clock, he breathed his last. From the time the ropes severed, he never spoke an intelligible word. His remains will be taken charge of by Mr. Noyes.

While the Spanish steamship "Madaya" was lying in the port of Marseilles, France, yesterday, crowded with passengers, her boiler exploded. The entire upper portion of the ship was torn to pieces. Of those on board few escaped death or injury. Forty-four passengers and eleven of the officers and crew were killed. Immediately after the explosion the steamer took fire, and the flames communicated to the dock. A serious conflagration was threatened, and several hundred bales of cotton were consumed. Ultimately the flames were subdued.

plating embarrassments that may grow out of the situation, then many people in Canada would rejoice at the issue. What Canada has to sell is worth all the Dominion would buy of the United States Government, and any result from complications that does not recognize this fact will be unsatisfactory to our people. The Government know this position well. Their large majorities which forced the measure through the House, were forced majorities, and represented no popular will. Were the questions, Treaty or no Treaty, put to Canada to-day, there could be no doubt of the result of the vote, even though every contingency that may possibly attach to the situation were bodily included. Canada would never accept the Treaty under a threat; and with equal force can it be said that a bribe would be scornfully rejected—even though that bribe came from the Parent State.

WHAT SLEEP WILL CURE.

The "Herald of Health" discourses in this style: "The cry for sleep has always been louder than the cry for food. Not that it is more important, but it is harder to get. The best rest is from sleep. Of two men, otherwise equal, the one who sleeps the best, will be the most moral, healthy and efficient. Sleep will do much to cure irritability of temper, peevishness, uneasiness. It will cure insanity. It will restore to vigor an over-worked brain. It will build up and make strong a weary body. It will do much to cure dyspepsia, particularly that variety known as nervous dyspepsia. It will relieve languor and prostrations felt by consumptives. It will cure hypochondria. It will cure the blues. It will cure headache. It will cure neuralgia. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure sorrow. Indeed we might make a list of numerous maladies that sleep will cure."

This cure of sleeplessness, however is not so easy, particularly in those who carry heavy responsibilities. The habit of sleeping well is one which, if broken up for any length of time, is not easily regained. Often a severe illness treated by powerful drugs, so deranges the nervous system that sleep is never sleep—is never sweet afterward. Or, perhaps, long continued watchfulness produces the same effect; or hard study, or too little exercise of the muscular system, or tea and whisky drinking, and tobacco using. To break up the habit are required:

- 1st. A good clean bed.
- 2nd. Sufficient exercise to produce weariness, pleasant occupations.
- 3rd. Good air and too warm a room.
- 4th. Freedom from too much care.
- 5th. A clear stomach.
- 6th. A clear conscience.
- 7th. Avoidance of stimulants and narcotics.

For those who are overworked, haggard, nervous, who pass sleepless nights, we commend the adoption of such habits as will secure their sleep, otherwise life will be short, and what there is of it will be sadly imperfect.

Mock Turtle—Kissing before company and sitting afterwards.

nesses there will be to compensate for all the expense. At length our guests take their departure and host and hostess sit down in their several arm chairs, glad of a little quiet, to congratulate each other that the affair is over; and then after many cross looks and perhaps some cross words, all the grandeur is washed again, and dried again, and put away and the tired mistress and maids get to their beds, to rest their limbs and to sweeten their tempers.

"Now, to avoid all this, take my advice. One of the great shames of the present day is, that people have not the manliness to confess to being what they really are, but will try to ape those who have more money than themselves. You are going to-morrow morning to get your crockery, glass, and cutlery. My advice is, go in for what is straightforward, simple and honest. But a good wholesome, respectable article; no more costly than you can afford, and not so shabby that you will be ashamed to set it before your friends. Then, when you want to exercise your hospitality, you will only have to put a few more plates and glasses and knives and forks, upon your table; you will make your friends whose opinion is worth twopence all the happier, because they see that you are not afraid to be real, and you will enjoy their company all the more, because their visit is unalloyed by a sense that the trouble they have given is any more than you and your husband could reasonably and cheerfully undergo."

I am not ashamed to confess that that conversation not only modified my plans in regard to my first furnishing, but has influenced my views and actions in other matters.

The fact is, I do believe that thousands among us are the servants of their clothes or horses, instead of those things serving them. Instead of their property ministering to their comfort, the great employment of their time and thought is how to take care of their property. The man with £500 a year tries to make his neighbor think he has £1,000; while his neighbor, with £1,000 a year is practicing all sorts of little expedients to persuade the rest of us that he has £2,000.—London Christian Times.

EDUCATIONAL ITEMS.

HALLS AND SCHOOL ROOMS.—While sulphurous acid, chloride of lime and carbolate of lime cannot be used without inconvenience, on account of their unpleasant odor, in frequented rooms, chemical science has recently brought out a disinfectant apparently more effective than either, which can be safely and conveniently used anywhere, since it is free from odor, and when properly diluted does no harm to the color or texture of carpets or furniture. This is bromo-chloralum. Would it not be worth while, as a sanitary measure occasionally to sprinkle the floors of our school rooms, churches and other assembly rooms with it? If this were done at the close of a session, the air, instead of being kept in its foul condition until the next gathering, would be cleared of its impurities. If the sprinkling

Express,

Poetry.

TO THE STORK.

Armenian Popular Song, from the Prose Version of Alishan.

Welcome, O Stork! thou dost wing
Thy flight from the far-away!
Thou hast brought us the signs of Spring
Thou hast made our sad hearts gay.

Descend, O Stork! descend
Upon our roof to rest;
In our ash-tree, O my friend,
My darling make thy nest.

To thee, O Stork, I complain,
O Stork, to thee I impart
The thousand sorrows, the pain
And aching of my heart.

When thou away didst go,
Away from this tree of ours,
The withering winds did blow,
And dried up all the flowers.

Dark grew the brilliant sky,
Cloudy and dark and drear;
They were breaking the snow on high,
And winter was drawing near.

From Varaca's rocky wall,
From the rock of Varaca unrolled,
The snow came and covered all,
And the green meadow was cold.

O Stork, our garden with snow
Was hidden away and lost,
And the rose-trees that in it grow
Were withered by snow and frost.
—Longfellow.

Agricultural.

CULTURE OF RUBARB.

This wholesome plant is growing yearly in public favor; the sale has increased to such an extent that it is not uncommon to see an acre of it in a single patch among the market gardeners who send daily at this season whole loads to market.

The culture is simple, but two things being essential—clean culture and plenty of manure. The land should be a deep loam, that does not suffer from drouth; a rather moist soil suits it, but does not bring the crop so early as a lighter location. The land should have been thoroughly cleaned from all foul weeds and couch grass by thorough tillage, and after clearing the summer crops we usually plant the rhubarb in November, just before the land freezes. A good dressing of manure is plowed in, furrows are stuck out four feet asunder, and more manure placed in the drill; the two manurings should not be less than 12 cords per acre. The roots from an old bed are dug up and divided so as to leave one or two strong buds on each piece or set. The sets are planted in the drill three feet apart and covered about two inches with earth by the hoe. The next spring the plants will come up in May and will need one or two hoeings and cultivatings before the leaves cover the land, when nothing more need be done until the frost kills the leaves. No stalks should be pulled for use during this year. After the frost has killed the leaves the one-horse plow is run between the rows, turning a light furrow from the roots, making a ridge between the rows; these furrows are half filled with strong manure, which is covered by splitting the ridge with the plow. The next spring we begin to pull as soon as the stalks are six inches high, selecting only a few of

TERMS:—$1.50 IN ADVANCE, $2.50 PER ANNUM

NO. 14

Select Reading.

MY FIRST FURNISHING.

A few years ago the agreeable duty devolved upon me for the first time, of furnishing my home. Bachelorhood and lodgings had been my lot. I was now, as Lord Palmerston was wont to say, "upon my promotion." The means at my disposal were not large—only a few hundred pounds—and I had never bought an article of furniture in my life: I was glad to put myself under the guidance of a friend who was well up in such matters, and who at once consented to give me his best assistance.

I told him my plans; how I had thought of having my drawing-room furnished of walnut, the dining-room of mahogany, and the library of oak; how I intended to dispose of this article and that, and the other, and to fill up the corners with such and such knick-knacks and addenda.

"The less furniture you have," he interposed sententiously, "the better."

"Yes," he said, "the less to clean, and to mend, and to pay for."

"But," I rejoined, "don't you think there should be a certain amount of the ornamental as well as the useful?"

"Ah!" he returned, "ornamental is all very well, but use first, and remember," he added "ornamental gives unlevel surfaces, and gathers dust, and wants dusting—more dusting than servants give nowadays, and you'd better have things plain and clean, than ornamental and dirty. There, the back of those chairs can be dusted in a second, and that's the reason I chose the pattern, and I should advise you to buy something of the same kind."

I confess I was somewhat taken aback. Such views of the matter I certainly had never had, and had never heard. But I listened with interest.

"Now, there is another little matter," he said, "I would mention. You're going to buy a dinner and tea-service; I'll tell you how people generally go to work, and what comes of it. They say to themselves, 'we must have one handsome set for company, something for highdays and holidays, something which will make people see, when they come to dinner, how genteel we are. Then, of course, we must have another set to save that; a common set that will do for every day, and when we haven't company.' So they buy the two. And what is the consequence? The husband proposes to invite a few to dinner. What a fuss there is to were repeated just before the pupils assemble, there would be a tendency to lessen the accumulation of unhealthiness in the atmosphere of the room. No thoughtful person can doubt that the question: How may we secure the best sanitary condition of our school rooms and public halls is worthy of more attention than it has generally received.—Professor M. C. Stebbins, in Scientific American.

Wit and Humor

The Chicago Post recommends oyster cans as Dolly Vardens for dogs.

An old sailor at the theatre said he supposed the dancing girls wore their dresses half mast as a mark of respect to departed modesty.

Footed-up.—Men of business often complain that their gas account runs away with a lot of money;—they don't reflect how many feet are represented in the bill!

Striking objects.—Clocks.

Divers' Amusements.—Peral fishing.

News of the week.—Hospital reports.

A man was brought up the other day, charged with marrying again while his first wife, Ann, was alive. He pleaded not guilty, declaring that his first wife's existence was not proved, because Ann was an indefinite article.

A negro preacher once observed to his hearers, at the close of his sermon, as follows:

"My obstinacious brethren, I find it no more use to preach to you than it is for a grasshopper to wear knee buckles."

"Remember who you are talking to, sir," said an indignant parent to a fractious boy "I'm your father, sir!"

"Well, who's to blame for that?" said young impertinence: "tain't me."

"Did the defendant approach the plaintiffs seriatim?" inquired an attorney, in a case of assault and battery, the other day.

"No, sir," was the reply; "he went at 'em with a poker!"

A sarcastic Georgia editor, in noticing a fair which recently came off in Macon, says:

"One of our contemporaries took a very valuable premium, but a meddlesome and firm policeman made him put it right back where he

"PUT DOWN FOR ONCE."

A VOICE FROM THE LADIES' GALLERY—
MINISTER OF MILITIA AWAKES
THE ATTENTION OF THE INFANTRY—AN AMUSING SCENE IN THE
HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Last week an intensely dry debate took place in the House on the Representation Bill which would have been totally devoid of interest to the occupants of the galleries, but for an incident that occurred about 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Workman had concluded a long winded and somewhat violent speech advocating the right of the Protestant minority of Montreal to representation in the Commons, and protesting annexing Griffintown to his constituency. To his arguments Sir George Cartier rose to reply, and was answering the hon. member for Montreal Centre in a somewhat forcible style when, in the middle of his speech, an infant, which had been brought to the gallery by its mother, set up a howl like a small steam-whistle. At first it was thought to be an invention of a "silent member" anxious to put a stop to the debate. But as the squalls continued, all eyes were directed to a particular part of the Ladies Gallery there was no mistaking the sound as a genuine Simon Pure article, the cry of a lusty infant, awakened by the powerful arguments of the Minister of Militia. The roars of laughter that followed the baby's maiden speech were deafening. Some of the members cried "Hear! hear!" Others gave the young orator an encore. Sir George reddened; the ladies blushed; and the House was completely demoralized for a moment. In the midst of it all, the Minister of Militia stopped short in his speech, and Mr. Holton's deep and powerful voice was heard to exclaim, "Put down for once," alluding to Sir George Cartier.

Sir George heard him, turned him like a flash, and bending toward him with an enquiring look, said, "I think I heard the hon. member for Chateauguay say 'Put down for once' did I?" Mr. Holton—Yes; I said the hon. gentlemen was put down for once.

Sir George Cartier—Yes, I was put down for once. I did not know but what it was the "little devil" to which my hon. friend from Montreal Centre alluded a short time ago (referring to an expression made use of a short time previous by Mr. Workman, who said he would defend the rights of his constituents, "in spite of the devil")

Sir John A. Macdonald immediately rose, and amidst cheers of the lanche.

IONING.

connected e of that afternoon the bluffs the usual witness perform tached to half-inch

ie balloon affair—ins of an rued in-wer and when fills slender s are cast monster upward
dred feet, it of the ter being vard, and ward the sin were the roof over the

rs. Just however,
idly, and orth and irect line which it striking oper was while

TAPEZE

feet be-
of. The rick wall he placed pushed pe, doubt-
All this vass was pes—the on, with ge, it in ie ropes, eight of on, were tension, a loud

feet, and g, which lass. In turned th the ex-

But what it was the "little devil" to which my hon. friend from Montreal Centre alluded a short time ago (referring to an expression made use of a short time previous by Mr. Workman, who said he would defend the rights of his constituents, "in spite of the devil.")

Sir John A. Macdonald immediately rose, and, amidst cheers of the House, said, "It was not the devil it was simply a just tribute to the eloquence of the hon. Minister of Militia, to show that he had awakened the attention of the infantry."

After order had been somewhat restored, Sir George replied, that he hoped there would never be more infantry required than the peace of the country.

This sally was greeted with loud laughter and applause, after which the debate resumed its former dry and uninteresting tone.

THE TREATY FAILURE.—If the failure of the Washington Treaty could be considered without contemplating embarrassments that may grow out of the situation, then many people in Canada would rejoice at the issue. What Canada has to sell is worth all the Dominion would buy of the United States Government, and any result from complications that does not recognize this fact will be unsatisfactory to our people. The Government know this position well. Their large majorities which forced the measure through the House, were forced majorities, and represented no popular will. Were the questions, Treaty or no Treaty, put to Canada to-day, there could be no doubt of the result of the vote, even though every contingency that may possibly attach to the situation were bodily included. Canada would never accept the Treaty under a threat; and with equal force can it be said that a bribe would be scornfully rejected—even though that bribe came from the Parent State.

WHAT SLEEP WILL CURE.

The "Herald of Health" discourses in this style: "The cry for sleep has always been louder than the cry for food. Not that it is more important, but it is harder to get. The best rest is from sleep. Of two men, otherwise equal, the one who sleeps the best, will be the most moral, healthy and efficient. Sleep will do much to cure irritability of temper, peevishness, uneasiness. It will cure insanity. It will restore to vigor an over-worked brain. It will build up and make strong a weary body. It will do much to cure dyspepsia, particularly that variety known as nervous dyspepsia. It will relieve languor and prostrations felt by consumptives. It will cure hypochondria. It will cure the blues. It will cure headache. It will cure neuralgia. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure sorrow. Indeed we might make a list of numerous maladies that sleep will cure."

The cure of sleeplessness, however is not so easy, particularly in those who carry heavy responsibilities. The habit of sleeping well is one which, if broken up for any length of time, is not easily regained. Often a severe illness treated by powerful drugs, so deranges the nervous system that sleep is never sleep—is never sweet afterward. Or, perhaps, long continued watchfulness produces the same effect; or hard study, or too little exercise of the muscular system, or too much drinking, and tobacco holidays, something which will make people see, when they come to dinner, how genteel we are. Then, of course, we must have another set to save that; a common set that will do for every day, and when we haven't company? So they buy the two. And what is the consequence? The husband proposes to invite a few to dinner. What a fuss there is to make ready for them! The common dishes and plates, and the rest of the things, are all put aside, and the grand set of green and gold is brought out, to be dusted, and washed and dried—mistress and maids full of terror lest something should be broken, and then the tea service is brought forth, and dusted and washed and dried. No doubt when Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Jones sit down to dinner, they are deeply impressed by our gentility in general, and by the green and gold in particular; a sentiment, which however, is perhaps somewhat chastened by a inkling of what a bother we must have had to get up all this show and how many private shabbinesses there will be to compensate for all the expense. At length our guests take their departure and host and hostess sit down in their several arm chairs, glad of a little quiet, to congratulate each other that the affair is over; and then after many cross looks and perhaps some cross words, all the grandeur is washed again, and dried again, and put away and the tired mistress and maids get to their beds, to rest their limbs and to sweeten their tempers.

"Now, to avoid all this, take my advice. One of the great shames of the present day is, that people have not the manliness to confess to being what they really are, but will try to ape those who have more money than themselves. You are going to-morrow morning to get your crockery, glass, and cutlery. My advice is, go in for what is straightforward, simple and honest. But a good wholesome, respectable article; no more costly than you can afford, and not so shabby that you will be ashamed to set it before your friends. Then, when you want to exercise your hospitality, you will only have to put a few more plates and glasses and knives and forks, upon your table; you will make your friends whose opinion is worth twopence all the happier, because they see that you are not afraid to be real, and you will enjoy their company all the more, because their visit is unalloyed by a sense that the trouble they have given is any more than you and your husband could reasonably and cheerfully undergo."

I am not ashamed to confess that that conversation not only modified my plans in regard to my first furnishing, but has influenced my views and actions in other matters.

The fact is, I do believe that thousands among us are the servants of their clothes or houses, instead of those things serving them. Instead of their property ministering to their comfort, the great employment of their time and thoughts is how to take care of their property. The man with £500 a year tries to make his neighbor think he has £1,000; while his neighbor, with £1,000 a year is practicing all sorts of little expedients to persuade the rest of us that he has £2,000.—London Christian Times.

EDUCATIONAL ITEMS.

HALLS AND SCHOOL ROOMS.—While sulphurous acid, chloride of lime and carbonate of lime cannot be used withtery, the other day.

"No, sir," was the reply; "he went at 'em with a poker!"

A sarcastic, Georgia editor, in noticing a fair which recently came off in Macon, says:

"One of our contemporaries took a very valuable premium, but a meddlesome and firm policeman made him put it right back where he took it from."

A wife wanted her husband to sympathize with her in a feminine quarrel, but he refused saying—

"I've lived long enough to know that one woman is as good as another, if not better."

"And I," retorted the exasperated wife, "have lived long enough to learn that one man is just as bad as another, if not worse."

At a literary society, composed of colored folks, at Memphis, Tennessee, the question as to which is the most desirable travelling, by steamboat or rail, was discussed with much interest on each side. At the close of the discussion calls were made for "volunteer speeches." An old darkey with great dignity mounted the rostrum, and with a look of extremity wisdom, addressed the audience thus:—

"Ladies and gentlemen, if you're on de steamboat, and de biler busts, whar is you? And if you're on de kars, and de engine runs off de track, dar you is?"

"Sir," said a fierce barrister, "do you, on your solemn oath, swear that this is not your hand-writing?"

"I think not," was the cool reply.

"Does it resemble your writing?"

"No, sir, I think it don't."

"Do you swear that it don't resemble your writing?"

"Well, I do."

"You take your solemn oath that this writing does not resemble yours in a single letter?"

"Y-e-s, sir."

"Now how do you know?"

"Cause I can't write."

A certain French gentleman, having been but a very little while in England, was invited to a friend's house, when a large bowl of punch was made—a liquor he had never seen before, and which did not at all agree with him. Having forgot the name of it, he asked a person the next day.

"What dey call dat liquor in England which is all de contradiction—where is de brandy to make it strong, and de vater to make it weak, de sugar to make it sweet, and de lemons to make it sour?"

"Punch," answered the other, "I suppose you mean?"

"Ay, punch!" cried monsieur, "it almost punched my brain out last night."

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

Guilt is ever suspicious always in fear.

Worst misfortune is to be unable to hear misfortune.

A woman who wants a charitable heart wants a pure mind.

Some men, like pictures, are fitter for a corner than a full light.

Censure is the tax man pays to the public to become eminent.

He hath riches sufficient who hath enough to be charitable.

Do a thing well and nobody will ask you how long you were about it.

The secret pleasure of a generous

After the frost has killed the leaves the one-horse plow is run between the rows, turning a light furrow from the roots, making a ridge between the rows; these furrows are half filled with strong manure, which is covered by splitting the ridge with the plow. The next spring we begin to pull as soon as the stalks are six inches high, selecting only a few of the best on each hill; after a few days we pull again, and about June 10th, or just before strawberries and gooseberries begin to spoil the sale, we pull all the leaves off clean, and immediately run the cultivator and hoe. The aftergrowth is allowed to grow and shade the land, and after the frost has killed the leaves the manuring should be repeated as above described every year. The bed will need plowing between the rows and hoeing early in the spring, as soon as the leaves are up. A plantation is good for about five years, when it should be dug up and reset: if allowed to stand longer, the hills spread about too much, making a great number of small stalks, increasing the labor of tying up for market. Foul weeds, sorrel and couch grass will often work in too, so that an old bed is usually unprofitable after five years.

The only kind planted for market here is the Victoria, as it is very much the best kind, producing enormous stalks, often 8 oz. each, and 3½ feet long. The product is truly astonishing, amounting to forty tons to the acre on well-kept beds, and although it sells often for ten dollars per ton when plenty, and requires considerable labor to prepare it for market, the crop is sure, and it is fairly profitable. A dozen hills will suffice for any common family.

The plant is one that more surely than almost any returns, thankfully liberal applications of the strongest kinds of manure, and suffers immediately from neglect. When only a few hills are to be cared for in the garden, the earth should be dug away from the crown of the plant in the fall, and the excavation filled up with manure; the result will appear the next spring.

Rhubarb is easily forced, so as to be in condition to pull in February and March. The roots should be selected for forcing from a young plantation, that will be sure to throw good large stalks; they should be dug up in November and placed under cover in a cool cellar or pit for forcing rhubarb. It needs little or no light, and a temperature only a little above freezing; a cellar having a furnace in it for heating the house will answer well, and give a supply sufficient for the wants of a family; the roots are placed on a bed of six inches of horse manure, boards placed around them, and covered over with two inches of rich loam. The loam should be watered and kept constantly moist. After forcing, the roots are so exhausted that they are worthless for field planting, and should be thrown away. Forced rhubarb usually sells for good prices, ranging from ten to twenty cents per pound.—Country Gentleman.

CHEAP LABOR IN GARDENING.—We make a reasonable suggestion to young gardeners, on the best mode of keeping clean grounds, and raising good crops, at little cost. Novices commonly allow weeds to get several inches high before they think of clearing them out and destroying them. Now, the great secret of cheap and successful culture is to kill all weeds before they come up. Go over the the debate resumed its former dry and uninteresting tone.

THE TREATY FAILURE.—If the failure of the Washington Treaty could be considered without contemplating embarrassments that may grow out of the situation, then many people in Canada would rejoice at the issue. What Canada has to sell is worth all the Dominion would buy of the United States Government, and any result from complications that does not recognize this fact will be unsatisfactory to our people. The Government know this position well. Their large majorities which forced the measure through the House, were forced majorities, and represented no popular will. Were the questions, Treaty or no Treaty, put to Canada to-day, there could be no doubt of the result of the vote, even though every contingency that may possibly attach to the situation were bodily included. Canada would never accept the Treaty under a threat; and with equal force can it be said that a bribe would be scornfully rejected—even though that bribe came from the Parent State.

WHAT SLEEP WILL CURE.

The "Herald of Health" discourses in this style: "The cry for sleep has always been louder than the cry for food. Not that it is more important, but it is harder to get. The best rest is from sleep. Of two men, otherwise equal, the one who sleeps the best, will be the most moral, healthy and efficient. Sleep will do much to cure irritability of temper, peevishness, uneasiness. It will cure insanity. It will restore to vigor an over-worked brain. It will build up and make strong a weary body. It will do much to cure dyspepsia, particularly that variety known as nervous dyspepsia. It will relieve fatigue and prostrations felt by consumptives. It will cure hypochondria. It will cure the blues. It will cure headache. It will cure neuralgia. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure sorrow. Indeed we might make a list of numerous maladies that sleep will cure."

The cure of sleeplessness, however is not so easy, particularly in those who carry heavy responsibilities. The habit of sleeping well is one which, if broken up for any length of time, is not easily regained. Often a severe illness treated by powerful drugs, so deranges the nervous system that sleep is never sleep—is never sweet afterward. Or, perhaps, long continued watchfulness produces the same effect; or hard study, or too little exercise of the muscular system, or tea and whisky drinking, and tobacco using. To break up the habit are required:

1st. A good clean bed. 2nd. Sufficient exercise to produce weariness, pleasant occupations. 3rd. Good air and too warm a room. 4th. Freedom from too much care. 5th. A clear stomach. 6th. A clear conscience. 7th. Avoidance of stimulants and narcotics.

For those who are overworked, haggard, nervous, who pass sleepless nights, we commend the adoption of such habits as will secure their sleep, otherwise life will be short, and what there is of it will be sadly imperfect.

Mock Turtle.—Kissing before company and sitting afterwards.

are deeply impressed by our gentility in general, and by the green and gold in particular; a sentiment, which however, is perhaps somewhat chastened by an inkling of what a bother we must have had to get up all this show and how many private shabbinesses there will be to compensate for all the expense. At length our guests take their departure and host and hostess sit down in their several arm chairs, glad of a little quiet, to congratulate each other that the affair is over; and then after many cross looks and perhaps some cross words, all the grandeur is washed again, and dried again, and put away and the tired mistress and maids get to their beds, to rest their limbs and to sweeten their tempers.

"Now, to avoid all this, take my advice. One of the great shames of the present day is, that people have not the manliness to confess to being what they really are, but will try to ape those who have more money than themselves. You are going to-morrow morning to get your crockery, glass, and cutlery. My advice is, go in for what is straightforward, simple and honest. But a good wholesome, respectable article; no more costly than you can afford, and not so shabby that you will be ashamed to set it before your friends. Then, when you want to exercise your hospitality, you will only have to put a few more plates and glasses and knives and forks, upon your table; you will make your friends whose opinion is worth twopence all the happier, because they see that you are not afraid to be real, and you will enjoy their company all the more, because their visit is unalloyed by a sense that the trouble they have given is any more than you and your husband could reasonably and cheerfully undergo."

I am not ashamed to confess that that conversation not only modified my plans in regard to my first furnishing, but has influenced my views and actions in other matters.

The fact is, I do believe that thousands among us are the servants of their clothes or horses, instead of those things serving them. Instead of their property ministering to their comfort, the great employment of their time and thoughts is how to take care of their property. The man with £500 a year tries to make his neighbor think he has £1,000; while his neighbor, with £1,000 a year is practicing all sorts of little expedients to persuade the rest of us that he has £2,000.—London Christian Times.

EDUCATIONAL ITEMS.

HALLS AND SCHOOL ROOMS.—While sulphurous acid, chloride of lime and carbonate of lime cannot be used without inconvenience, on account of their unpleasant odor, in frequented rooms, chemical science has recently brought out a disinfectant apparently more effective than either, which can be safely and conveniently used anywhere, since it is free from odor, and when properly diluted does no harm to the color or texture of carpets or furniture. This is bromo-chloralum. We did it not be worth while, as a sanitary measure occasionally to sprinkle the floors of our school rooms, churches and other assembly rooms with it? If this were done at the close of a session, the air, instead of being kept in its foul condition until the next gathering, would be cleansed of its impurities. If the sprinkling

At a literary society, composed of colored folks, at Memphis, Tennessee, the question as to which is the most desirable travelling, by steamboat or rail, was discussed with much interest on each side. At the close of the discussion calls were made for "volunteer speeches." An old darkey with great dignity mounted the rostrum, and with a look of extremity wisdom, addressed the audience thus:—

"Ladies and gentlemen, if you're on de steamboat, and de biler busts, whar is you? And if you're on de kars, and de engine runs off de track, dar you is?"

"Sir," said a fierce barrister, "do you, on your solemn oath, swear that this is not your hand-writing?"

"I think not," was the cool reply.

"Does it resemble your writing?"

"No, sir, I think it don't."

"Do you swear that it don't resemble your writing?"

"Well, I do."

"You take your solemn oath that this writing does not resemble yours in a single letter?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now how do you know?"

"Cause I can't write."

A certain French gentleman, having been but a very little while in England, was invited to a friend's house, when a large bowl of punch was made—a liquor he had never seen before, and which did not at all agree with him. Having forgot the name of it, he asked a person the next day.

"What dey call dat liquor in England which is all de contradiction—where is de brandy to make it strong, and de vater to make it weak, de sugar to make it sweet, and de lemons to make it sour?"

"Punch," answered the other, "I suppose you mean?"

"Ay, punch!" cried monsieur, "it almost punched my brain out last night."

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

Guilt is ever suspicious always in fear.

Worst misfortune is to be unable to hear misfortune.

A woman who wants a charitable heart wants a pure mind.

Some men, like pictures, are fitter for a corner than a full light.

Censure is the tax man pays to the public to become eminent.

He hath riches sufficient who hath enough to be charitable.

Do a thing well and nobody will ask you how long you were about it.

The secret pleasure of a generous act is the great minds great bribe.

The more we have of outdoor air and cheery sunshine, the longer we shall probably live.

Trust him little who praises all; him less who censures all; and least who is indifferent about all.

A wise man, being asked how old he was, replied, "I am in health;" and being asked how rich he was, said, "I am not in debt."

A country's richest possessions are the great words that have been said in it, and the great deeds that have been done in and for it.

Goodness always enriches its possessor.

rows and hoeing early in the spring, as soon as the leaves are up. A plantation is good for about five years, when it should be dug up and reset; if allowed to stand longer, the hills spread about too much, making a great number of small stalks, increasing the labor of tying up for market. Foul weeds, sorrel and couch grass will often work in too, so that an old bed is usually unprofitable after five years.

The only kind planted for market here is the Victoria, as it is very much the best kind, producing enormous stalks, often 8 oz. each, and 3½ feet long. The product is truly astonishing, amounting to forty tons to the acre on well-kept beds, and although it sells often for ten dollars per ton when plenty, and requires considerable labor to prepare it for market, the crop is sure, and it is fairly profitable. A dozen hills will suffice for any common family.

The plant is one that more surely than almost any returns, thankfully liberal applications of the strongest kinds of manure, and suffers immediately from neglect. When only a few hills are to be cared for in the garden, the earth should be dug away from the crown of the plant in the fall, and the excavation filled up with manure; the result will appear the next spring.

Rhubarb is easily forced, so as to be in condition to pull in February and March. The roots should be selected for forcing from a young plantation, that will be sure to throw good large stalks; they should be dug up in November and placed under cover in a cool cellar or pit for forcing rhubarb. It needs little or no light, and a temperature only a little above freezing; a cellar having a furnace in it for heating the house will answer well, and give a supply sufficient for the wants of a family; the roots are placed on a bed of six inches of horse manure, boards placed around them, and covered over with two inches of rich loam. The loam should be watered and kept constantly moist. After forcing, the roots are so exhausted that they are worthless for field planting, and should be thrown away. Forced rhubarb usually sells for good prices, ranging from ten to twenty cents per pound.—Country Gentleman.

CHEAP LABOR IN GARDENING.—We make a seasonal suggestion to young gardeners, on the best mode of keeping clean grounds, and raising good crops, at little cost. Novices commonly allow weeds to get several inches high before they think of clearing them out and destroying them. Now, the great secret of cheap and successful culture is to kill all weeds before they come up. Go over the bare surface of earth as often as once a week, and pulverize it thoroughly with a rake or skin-hoe. This will kill every weed just as it is starting, with less than one-tenth the labor required to kill them when several inches high. Do it often and thoroughly.

Endeavor to keep your conscience always soft and sensitive. If but one sin force its way in that tender part of the soul, and is suffered to dwell there, the road is paved for a thousand iniquities.

Mr. Grafton Smith, East Zorra, sold a single fleece of wool which weighed 19½ lbs.

THAT FEARFUL ACCIDENT.

BETWEEN THIRTY AND FORTY DEAD.

(From the Daily Ontario.)

The fearful railroad catastrophe that occurred near this place on Saturday morning continues to be the absorbing matter of interest. The first impression of the occurrence, although bad enough, utterly failed to convey to the public mind the enormity of the casualty. Six killed and fifty or sixty wounded embraced the simple fact; but the final result will most probably reverse the horrible record and leave the public the sickening consideration that fifty or sixty human lives have been sacrificed by the most mysterious railroad accident that has ever happened in this or any other country. No human skill could devise means of torture so complete as no ingenuity can comprehend the extraordinary facts that led to the immolation.

It appears that the engine left the track about 300 feet before it came to the place of the catastrophe, which was near the entrance to the bridge, where there was an embankment of some ten or twelve feet. After leaving the track it ran along on the rails without diverging from the regular course (the road at the point being perfectly straight) more than ten inches or a foot. The train was running at this point by its own momentum for it was going down a considerable grade and would even at that have been under considerable speed. The theory that seems most natural is that at this point, knowing the danger of entering upon the bridge with the engine off the track at the speed at which he was travelling, the engineer reversed the engine at full power, the result of which was, owing to the confliction of power—from the engine at one end of the train and the momentum at the other—to throw the "caboose" and back wheels of the engine from the embankment in a lateral direction to the east side, followed immediately by the fore part of the engine which with a bound must have gone forward and landed firmly, with the wheels and bottom part of the engine downward and the top of the boiler with the double-gauge and the steam whistle between, which were on the steam box, pointing directly towards the track, and although quite clear of it, near enough to tear two-thirds of the side of the on-coming second-class car, in which were the unfortunate passengers, clear out. The baggage car, strange to relate, jumped from the track to the west side, and passed quite out of the way. The side of the second-class car, coming in contact with the top of the boiler, as related, tore from it the two the floor for some hours until a short time before his death, with a billet of wood nearly a foot long thrust up the calf of his leg—quite unaware of the fact. Another young man who spent most of the day in sympathizing with his comrades apparently without the least apprehension of being injured has since died or will ultimately die, from a severe scald in the centre of the back between the shoulder-blades, which was only discovered after the day was nearly spent almost from accident. The flesh appears to have been so completely boiled as to render it insensible to feeling. But perhaps the saddest case of all was that of the family Callender, from Kemptville. This family consisted of father, mother, and three children, all of whom are now in their coffins. The mother's first thought, forgetting or unmindful of her own anguish, was of her children. One of the little ones was dead at her feet, and the others so badly burned as to be helpless. During the day they all died except a most beautiful little girl who lived until Sunday morning, conscious to the last and watchful of every thing going on about her. She finally succumbed to the fate awaiting her. The last few moments of her life was spent in humming the little Hymns she had learned in her Sabbath School, touching deeply the sympathies of all who were present. Later in the day the only member of the family left—a son—arrived at the Station from his home in Kemptville, only to find that death had done its perfect work. In another case a wife and her husband placed in different parts of the building, and a son in still another part. Their deep anxiety for each other was soon manifested, and after considerable delay they were brought together and recognized each other by their voices—the son actually rising from his cot to bid his mother good-bye, telling her that she would go first, but that he would follow soon. Alas, the prediction was too true. Brothers were anxious about brothers, and many were anxious about the affliction the casualty would convey to their friends.

As was stated before the greater number of those injured were French Canadians, some fifteen of whom were in the employ of Rathbun & Son, Mill Point. They were returning from the Shanties and the 'Drive' and had the day before been paid off. They are spoken of as being a superior lot of men—for the most part sober and industrious. Some of these men had a large amount of money with them at the time of the occurrence; but it is supposed most of it is safe, because early efforts were made to that end. There were also a large number of the same class of men from Orillia, en route to their homes for their summer vacation. The language of the unfortunates and the wide extent of country from which they came renders it almost impossible to obtain names and addresses, a correct list of which has not yet been secured. The same causes also prevent communication with friends, and consequently thus far but few of the dead have been claimed and the recognized among the sufferers still remaining have been even fewer still in proportion and very difficult. Among the 38 remaining at the Station yesterday afternoon under the care of citizens and Grand Trunk

R. H. Bonter,
Wm. Johnson,
W. A. Gibson,

John Lazier,
I L Reid,
Neil McArthur.

At 5 o'clock the jury proceeded to the scene of the disaster just below Shannonville. They made a careful examination of the rails where the engine left the track—the condition of the wheels of the engine &c., so as to be prepared for the most complete and thorough investigation. The authorities of the Grand Trunk seem anxious to afford every facility in their power for ascertaining the cause of the accident. At the wreck Mr. Spicer, the superintendent of the road, met the jury. The jury returned to Belleville about 7 o'clock p. m. and adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. On Saturday night a great many of our citizens volunteered their services as nurses. At nine o'clock there was thirty-nine wounded in the freight shed. Drs. Tracy, Stewart and Clapham were in attendance during the night. About ten o'clock order was given for all persons to leave the shed. A great many had been attracted there by the curiosity and were in the way of those who were attempting to relieve the suffering of the wounded at an early hour of the night. The duties of the nurses and attendants were so systematized that there was no confusion during the night. All worked with a hearty good will, and where all did so well it would be useless to particularize. There was a number of persons present who spoke French, whose services were in constant requisition. We learn that during the night two persons died, one of these little Mary Callender, who had won the hearts of all who saw her by her patient, quiet endurance. A lady who was nursing her informed us during the night, she was often speaking of her childish plays and games and calling for her mother. She repeated several parts of hymns she had learned in the Sunday School, one particularly struck us—"A friend is ever near, never far." Death released the poor little one from her sufferings about three o'clock Sunday morning, and she is doubtless now with that "Friend" she had learned to love so well. We are informed at times during the night it was painful to hear the exclamation of the sufferers when it was necessary to move them or dress their wounds. The French Canadians would often cry out "Mon Dieu! Mon Dieu!" in a most pitiful manner, touching the stoutest hearts. The officers and employees of the Road have done all in their power to help in taking care of the wounded. Mr. Spicer, Supt., Mr. Jno. Bell, Solicitor, and Mr. Lyuskey, the Agent, are untiring in their labours. Mr. Brydges arrived by a special train on Sunday afternoon at 7 o'clock.

We learn that the following wounded were removed from a farm house near the scene of the accident, on Sunday afternoon to the hospital in Belleville:—Xavier Chabot,—Quebec; Oliver La-Flamme—a Wine Merchant. He was a passenger in the first-class car and had gone forward to smoke when the accident occurred: Mr. Anderson, from Trenton; Mr. McLellan,—Glengarry. The two last were not so seriously injured as the others. There are two still remaining at Shaw's Hotel, in Shannonville: Mr. Aunger, from Trenton, who in addition to his burn has several ribs broken; Mr. Cherette, from Gatineau Point. They have been under the medical care of Dr. Campbell of Shannonville, aided by Dr. Clapham. Mr. D. Harper, of Belleville, was assiduous in his attentions to the wounded at Shannonville. The corpse of Moses Chabot, who died on Sunday, was brought to Belleville. He was a native of Montreal, aged 19 years.

At Kingston there are Israel Lalonde, Coteau; Joseph Pelon, do; Chancey Gilchrist, Clayton, New York; H. Pelon, Coteau, who all

ther evidence than that adduced yesterday will be brought forward. The fireman is rapidly improving, and soon will be fit to remove to his residence.

S. M. PETTENCILL & Co.,
37 PARK ROW, NEW YORK
GEO. P. ROWELL & Co.,
40 PARK ROW, NEW YORK

ARE our SOLE Agents in that city, and are authorized to contract for advertising at our lowest rates.

LIST NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

Insolvent Act—W. S. Robinson.
The Dodge Self Rake—John Herring.
A Card—Andrew Yarwood.
Chemical Food—Dr. Wheeler
Board of Audit—W A Reeve
Photographs—S W Canniff.
Girl Wanted—Bank Brit. N. America

GRAND TRUNK TIME TABLE.

Trains leave Napanee Station as follows:—

GOING EAST.
Mail	12.10 p. m.
Express	12.15 p. m.
Mail	2.05 a. m.
GOING WEST.
Mail	3.02 a. m.
Express	5.05 a. m.
Mail	5.15 p. m.

Montreal Time.

THE Weekly Express.

FRIDAY, JUNE 28th, 1872.

LABOR MOVEMENT IN ENGLAND.

The labor movement in England, whatever be its merits in this country, will excite the sympathy of the humanitarian world over. From time immemorial, if the British Empire dates back contemporaneously to that antiquity, labor has been oppressed in that country. To be born in the laboring classes was to be doomed to perpetual slavery, including many of its most loathsome features, embracing insufficient food, insufficient clothing, ignorance and perpetual drudgery, from the cradle to the grave, without hope in the future for themselves or for their families. So debased are the laboring classes, that the only wonder is that they have ambition enough left to initiate, (which they probably did not do,) or co-operate in an effort to better their condition. But the movement has been made, by whomsoever commenced, and a philanthropic class of people are assisting in the good work, and it has been wisely commenced and is being judiciously pushed forward. The course pursued among farm laborers is to peacefully quit their present service and seek better remuneration in emigration, either to America or the Northern or other parts of England, where the pay is better. This course is being strenuously opposed by the employing at the other—to throw the "caboose" and back wheels of the engine from the embankment in a lateral direction to the east side, followed immediately by the fore part of the engine which with a bound must have gone forward and landed firmly, with the wheels and bottom part of the engine downward and the top of the boiler whistle between, which were on the steam box, pointing directly towards the track, and although quite clear of it, near enough to tear two-thirds of the side of the on-coming second-class car, in which were the unfortunate passengers, clear out. The baggage car, strange to relate, jumped from the track to the west side, and passed quite out of the way. The side of the second-class car, coming in contact with the top of the boiler, as related, tore from it the two guages above referred to and the whistle, through the apertures in which the steam and water from the boiler played with relentless fury on the defenceless passengers. There they were, confined by the west side of the car, which was left intact, with two-thirds of the east side torn out, and these three nozzles belching forth super-heated steam and boiling water, (two of them three inch pipes and the other one inch), dealing out to the powerless humanity thus bound to the slaughter, excruciating torments and ultimate death. No earthly power could come quick enough to the rescue. In one minute from the terrible blow the contents of the boiler was dashed over their writhing flesh to the last quart. It is said that the hanging side of the car was so disposed as to double the compass of the wide reaching nozzles, and place nearly every passenger in the car under their influence. But what mortal hands could do was at once done as soon as the situation was realized. Crow-bars were used, the west side of the car was broken open, and those not already dead were hurried into the Pullman-car and as fast as possible brought to this station. The scene that met the eye when the escaping steam had sufficiently cleared away to admit a survey of the position was beyond description. The Engineer was found near his engine in the last agonies of death, the brakeman hobbled from his fall with a crushed limb, and the 65 passengers, with bare one exception, were nearly all writhing and screeching in the deepest anguish. Some of the unfortunate creatures crawled from the place of their immolation over the heated surface of the boiler, others remained behind, forgetting their own pains. In search of friends, and others whose sensibilities was keenest, lost control of themselves and were got into the car with great difficulty. In the confusion eight of the victims was left at Shanonville, distributed at the hotels and at farm houses, and over fifty were brought to Belleville and deposited on cots and mattresses in the freight shed. Here the physicians of the Town, without an exception, were busy dressing the wounds. But as might be expected, the amount of medical stores for such an event were not at once procurable. In all the drug-stores no more than half a gallon of lime-water could be procured;

ing from the Shanties and the "Drive" and had the day before been paid off. They are spoken of as being a superior lot of men—for the most part sober and industrious. Some of these men had a large amount of money with them at the time of the occurrence; but it is supposed most of it is safe, because early efforts were made to that end. There were also a large number of the same class of men from Orillia, en route to their homes for their summer vacation. The language of the unfortunates and the wide extent of country from which they came renders it almost impossible to obtain names and addresses, a correct list of which has not yet been secured. The same causes also prevent communication with friends, and consequently thus far but few of the dead have been claimed and the recognized among the sufferers still remaining have been even fewer still in proportion and very difficult. Among the 38 remaining at the Station yesterday afternoon under the care of citizens and Grand Trunk officials it was almost impossible for a young man to find his brother. Their faces, in most cases, are disfigured beyond identification; most of them are scarcely able to articulate and not a few are quite blind from the scalding and the swelling that ensued. A more wretched sight than the unfortunates presented was, perhaps, seldom witnessed. Hands bound in lime water and oil, faces besmeared with the same substance, bloated and blackened or bleached and hideous, they look less like human beings than men as they were stretched throughout the large freight-shed wherever a cot could be crowded in among the freight. Here the writer saw them at three o'clock on Sunday. They were then comparatively quiet, and several were taking sparingly of ice cream and other cooling refreshments. Only one man of the entire number was able to walk around, although the majority of them the day before was able to be about and make known their requests. Up to that time twenty seven were dead from the occurrence, nearly all of whom had been confined. Some of the poor creatures still groaned in agony and others had evidently passed the stage of suffering and were slowly hastening towards final dissolution. The opinion of the medical men then in attendance was that not more than half a dozen of all that number would recover. Their external wounds were not so serious as their internal injuries. The majority of them had taken the scalding steam into their lungs and but few of those in that condition could possibly live long.

It was with the utmost difficulty that the thousands of people who thronged the station on every side could be kept from the building. Door keepers were vigilant and physicians unyielding, and by dint of great firmness the curiosity seekers were kept outside and comparatively out of the way.

During the day arrangements were made to remove the sufferers to a building on Taylor's hill owned and formerly occupied by the Roman Catholics as a Convent. It is a fine building, in a most healthy part of the town and every way adapted to the purpose. The Rev. Mr. Farrelley gave permission to occupy this building, John Bell, Esq., to have control of it, and all the medical men to have access under the direction of Dr. Hope, the senior medical man of the place. About four o'clock the removal commenced and in a couple of hours the whole number (with afternoon at 7 o'clock.

We learn that the following wounded were removed from a farm house near the scene of the accident, on Sunday afternoon to the hospital in Belleville:—

Xavier Chabot,—Quebec; Oliver LaFlamme,—a Wine Merchant. He was a passenger in the first-class car and had gone forward to smoke when the accident occurred. Mr. Anderson, from Trenton; Mr. McLellan,—Glengarry. The two last were not so seriously injured as the others. There are two still remaining at Shaw's Hotel, in Shanonville; Mr. Auger, from Trenton, who in addition to his burn has several ribs broken; Mr. Cherette, from Gattineau Point. They have been under the medical care of Dr. Campbell of Shanonville, aided by Dr. Clapham. Mr. D. Harper, of Belleville, was assiduous in his attentions to the wounded at Shanonville. The corpse of Moses Chabot, who died on Sunday, was brought to Belleville. He was a native of Montreal, aged 19 years.

At Kingston there are Israel Lalonde, Coteau; Joseph Pelon, do; Chancey Gilchrist, Clayton, New York; H. Pelon, Coteau, who all went on the same morning, and are not very seriously hurt.

Xavier Chabot, Quebec, bad;
Oliver Laflamme, Montreal, bad;
Nathan Anderson, Trenton, may recover.

Alex. McLellan, Glengarry, who may recover.

Wm. Henry Auger, Trenton, fatally injured.

At a private house in Belleville, J. Cheevers, of Belleville, will recover; and C. Matham, Toronto will recover.

At Napance, W. Exley, not badly hurt; and went on No. 3 train yesterday.

The following is a complete list as far as we can learn of the DEAD.

Archibald McNair, Port Hope
McCormick, Montreal.
Joseph Mallette, Beaumaréau.
Ali. Tremblay, Quebec.
T. Harley, Kingston.
W. Callender, wife and three children, Kempville.
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Montreal.
Onesime Coate, St. Henri.
John Hibbert, Toronto, Engineer.
J. Bean, St. Martin.
Baptiste Berender, Three Rivers.
Oliver Courier, Vaudruil.
O. Montpelier,
Moses Chabot, Montreal,
Mrs. Levoil, Joliette.
Narcane Blais, Quebec.
Pierre Garceau, Laprairie.
Jean Bevu, St. Rocks.
Baptiste Barleau, Three Rivers.
J. Tremblay, Baie St. Paul.
Donald Cameron, Cumberland.
Odilrose Lucas, Vaudreuil.
Pierre Lucas, Laprairie. (Supposed.)
One man unknown.
One woman unknown.
One woman unknown.
One child unknown.

THE INQUEST.

An inquest was convened on Saturday by Coroner Burdett, associated with Coroner Roy, which was in session as we went to press. It was shown that the train was only making usual speed (25 miles an hour) and that it was slackened at Shanonville station. The character of the engineer was also proved to be most exemplary, and the opinion was expressed that no human power could account for the breaking of the flange that caused the accident.

There are now twenty-five wounded in the Convent building, several of whom appear better.

A number of unclaimed bodies were today deposited in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

LATER.

sufficient clothing, ignorance and perpetual drudgery, from the cradle to the grave, without hope in the future for themselves or for their families. So debased are the laboring classes, that the only wonder is that they have ambition enough left to initiate, (which they probably did not do,) or co-operate in an effort to better their condition. But the movement has been made, by whomsoever commenced, and a philanthropic class of people are assisting in the good work, and it has been wisely commenced and is being judiciously pushed forward. The course pursued among farm laborers is to peacefully quit their present service and seek better remuneration in emigration, either to America or the Northern or other parts of England, where the pay is better. This course is being strenuously opposed by the employing classes, and an instance is given in which the Rev. Edward Girdlestone, Canon of Bristol, has been severely reprimanded for the part he took in the matter. "It appears that a farm laborer, named John Webber, having a wife and family, was going to remove to Lancashire, where Canon Girdlestone had obtained a situation for him. He had sold his household furniture, and was about to start, when he was arrested on a warrant at the suit of his master, a farmer named White, on plea of a breach of contract. He was afterwards liberated on bail, but was bound to appear at the petty sessions a week afterwards. He did so, and of the magistrates on the bench, one, the chairman, had granted the warrant; and another was the landlord of the prosecutor, White, who sued the laborer. The remaining two were landed proprietors in an adjoining parish, from which many laborers, much against the will of both landlords and tenants, had emigrated. No proof of a yearly contract was made out, however, or if there had been such a contract it had evidently been voluntarily terminated by the farmer. Webber in reality seems to have been little else than a weekly servant. But the presiding magistrate seems throughout to have acted the part of an advocate rather than a judge, and fined him £2, with costs. A gentleman in court advanced the money, and Webber with his wife and family wended his way to Lancashire to earn wages out of which to repay it. But the drama was not yet played out. No sooner was the sentence pronounced than the presiding magistrate addressing Canon Girdlestone, began publicly to reprimand him for sending laborers away to better wages. The Canon vehemently protested against being thus talked to, as though he were the prisoner, and a stormy scene ensued; and the magistrate appealed to the audience, which was composed partly of farmers, but more largely of townspeople and laborers, as to whether he should go on. The farmers cried "Yes," and the laborers "No," and the court

enough to the rescue. In one minute from the terrible blow the contents of the boiler was dashed over their writhing flesh to the last quart. It is said that the hanging side of the car was so disposed as to double the compass of the wide reaching nozzles, and place nearly every passenger in the car under their influence. But what mortal hands could do was at once done as soon as the situation was realized. Crow-bars were used, the west side of the car was broken open, and those not already dead were hurried into the Pullman-car and as fast as possible brought to this station. The scene that met the eye when the escaping steam had sufficiently cleared away to admit a survey of the position was beyond description. The Engineer was found near his engine in the last agonies of death, the breakman hobbled from his fall with a crushed limb, and the 65 passengers, with bare one exception, were nearly all writhing and screeching in the deepest anguish. Some of the unfortunate creatures crawled from the place of their immolation over the heated surface of the boiler, others remained behind, forgetting their own pains, in search of friends, and others whose sensibilities was keenest, lost control of themselves and were got into the car with great difficulty. In the confusion eight of the victims was left at Shannonville, distributed at the hotels and at farm houses, and over fifty were brought to Belleville and deposited on cots and mattresses in the freight shed. Here the physicians of the Town, without an exception, were busy dressing the wounds. But as might be expected the amount of medical stores for such an event were not at once procurable. If all the drug-stores no more than half a gallon of lime-water could be procurable; but still the efforts that could be made were hastily put in requisition and in a few hours everything the medical men desired were at their hands in abundance. Ladies and gentlemen of the town were early on the spot and every assistance that could possibly be afforded the victims have since been put forth. But the hearts of the stoutest of them quailed under the awful sight that presented itself. Flesh and blood could never have been subjected to a greater test, whether as to victims or to the nurses who were compelled to tear the clothing from the boiled and softened flesh of each one in turn that came under their hands. As each victim was dressed he was put to rest with opium, or as nearly so as was thought advisable; but this powerful narcotic was in many cases apparently powerless to induce sleep. After a short time, men with not an inch of unburned surface on their bodies walked the floor in comparative indifference, and in some instances talked rationally to those administering to their sufferings. Some wanted friends, others again their clothing, others had missed their money (which had been removed from their pockets by the railway authorities to secure it from loss), and not a few who an hour after were in the last agonies of death, desired to take the train again for home, apparently quite oblivious of their sad condition. One man paced tively quiet, and several were taking sparingly of ice cream and other cooling refreshments. Only one man of the entire number was able to walk around, although the majority of them the day before was able to be about and make known their requests. Up to that time twenty seven were dead from the occurrence, nearly all of whom had been confined. Some of the poor creatures still groaned in agony and others had evidently passed the stage of suffering and were slowly hastening towards final dissolution. The opinion of the medical men then in attendance was that not more than half a dozen of all that number would recover. Their external wounds were not so serious as their internal injuries. The majority of them had taken the scalding steam into their lungs and but few of those in that condition could possibly live long.

It was with the utmost difficulty that the thousands of people who thronged the station on every side could be kept from the building. Door keepers were vigilant and physicians unyielding, and by dint of great firmness the curiosity seekers were kept outside and comparatively out of the way.

During the day arrangements were made to remove the sufferers to a building on Taylor's hill owned and formerly occupied by the Roman Catholics as a Convent. It is a fine building, in a most healthy part of the town and every way adapted to the purpose. The Rev. Mr. Farrelley gave permission to occupy this building, John Bell, Esq., to have control of it, and all the medical men to have access under the direction of Dr. Hope, the senior medical man of the place. About four o'clock the removal commenced and in a couple of hours the whole number (with bare one exception) had been carefully conveyed in spring waggon to their new quarters, each cot being lifted bodily into the vehicle. The horse was then led over the smoothest road, and with the greatest care, to the prepared quarters. This sad duty was performed with great caution and tenderness, and it is believed that not one of them suffered from the removal. The man left behind was supposed to be dying, and hence he was not disturbed; but we learn that he survived the night and still lived at last accounts. A train was also despatched to Shannonville, in charge of Dr. Palmer, of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, for those remaining there, and at about ten o'clock five were brought in from that place—leaving two who were comfortably provided for at that place at Shaw's Hotel.

The number brought to the Convent building was 29, of which four died last night, making the deaths in all at this point, according to the best information we can get, thirty-one.

Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock the coroner, Dr. Burdett, summoned the following jury:—

A. ROBERTSON, Foreman.
Wm. Matthews,	J. C. Phillips,
Amos Jones,	G. Brooker,
Wm. Hopkins,	A. Kimmery,

Archibald McNair, Port Hope.
McCormick, Montreal.
Joseph Mallette, Beauharnois.
Ali. Tremblay, Quebec.
T. Hardey, Kingston.
W. Callender, wife and three children, Kemptville.
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Montreal.
Onesime Coate, St. Henri.
John Hibbert, Toronto, Engineer.
J. Bean, St. Martin.
Baptiste Berrier, Three Rivers.
Oliver Courier, Vaudruil.
O. Montpelier,
Moses Chabot, Montreal,
Mrs. Levoi, Joliette.
Narame Blais, Quebec.
Pierre Gaceau, Laprairie.
Jean Bevi, St. Rocks.
Baptiste Barleau, Three Rivers.
J. Tremblay, Baie St. Paul.
Donald Cameron, Cumberland.
Odilosse Lucas, Vaudreuil.
Pierre Lucas, Laprairie. (Supposed.)
One man unknown.
One woman unknown.
One woman unknown.
One child unknown.

THE INQUEST.

An inquest was convened on Saturday by Coroner Burdett, associated with Coroner Roy, which was in session as we went to press. It was shown that the train was only making usual speed (25 miles an hour) and that it was slackened at Shannonville station. The character of the engine was also proved to be most exemplary, and the opinion was expressed that no human power could account for the breaking of the flange that caused the accident.

There are now twenty-five wounded in the Convent building, several of whom appear better.

A number of unclaimed bodies were to-day deposited in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

LATER.

We have the painful duty to record three more deaths.

Joseph Reanson, Vandrenil, at 4, a. m.

Robt. Pratt, Goulborne, near Ottawa, at 7.30, a. m.

Oliver Laflamme, of Montreal, at 10.30, a. m.

None died during the afternoon up to four o'clock, although several are evidently sinking and leave little hope of rallying. There are a number more, however, who appear quite better, some three or four of whom having obtained new clothing and been made presentable are comparatively comfortable.

The young man Pratt who died this morning was about 19 years of age. He was said to be thoughtful and intelligent. His struggle with the grim monster, even against hope, was long and pertinaciously endured; but the watchers at his side entertained little doubt of the final result from the first. His friends reached his couch previous to dissolution.

THE BURIAL.

There were eighteen unclaimed bodies depositing in the R. C. burial place last evening, and a number of bodies were packed in ice and despatched by train to their friends.

The Attorney General has instructed the Crown Attorney to open an inquest upon the next fatal case that may occur, and it is likely that fur-

at the petty sessions a week afterwards. He did so, and of the magistrates on the bench, one, the chairman, had granted the warrant; and another was the landlord of the prosecutor, White, who sued the laborer. The remaining two were landed proprietors in an adjoining parish from which many laborers, much against the will of both landlords and tenants, had emigrated. No proof of a yearly contract was made out, however, or if there had been such a contract it had evidently been voluntarily terminated by the farmer. Webber in reality seems to have been little else than a weekly servant. But the presiding magistrate seems throughout to have acted the part of an advocate rather than a judge, and fined him £2, with costs. A gentleman in court advanced the money, and Webber with his wife and family wended his way to Lancashire to earn wages out of which to repay it. But the drama was not yet played out. No sooner was the sentence pronounced than the presiding magistrate addressing Canon Girdlestone, began publicly to reprimand him for sending laborers away to better wages. The Canon vehemently protested against being thus talked to, as though he were the prisoner, and a stormy scene ensued; and the magistrate appealed to the audience, which was composed partly of farmers, but more largely of townspeople and laborers, as to whether he should go on. The farmers cried "Yes," and the laborers "No," and the court seems to have been turned into a bear garden; but the "noes" had it by a large majority, and the magistrate was fain to sit down.

PRESCOTT CAMP.

The Volunteers of this Province are now in camp, and being drilled, at Niagara, Windsor, Kingston and Prescott. All told we believe there are something like 8000 volunteers in these four camps, and they are receiving some 14 days drill. Outside of that very little is now being done to prepare ourselves in the shape of military defence. We had an opportunity of visiting the camp at Prescott during this week and were much pleased with the appearance it presented. There are about 1,900 men in the encampment, and the hundreds of small tents, scattered over nearly a square mile of ground, together with the appearance of so many men in their bright uniforms, gives the place quite a military appearance. The camp is beautifully situated. Just to the eastern side of the town lies the old fort, yet in a fair state of preservation, and being th-

enough to the rescue. In one minute from the terrible blow the contents of the boiler was dashed over their writhing flesh to the last quart. It is said that the hanging side of the car was so disposed as to double the compass of the wide reaching nozzles, and place nearly every passenger in the car under their influence. But what mortal hands could do was at once done as soon as the situation was realized. Crow-bars were used, the west side of the car was broken open, and those not already dead were hurried into the Palman-car and as fast as possible brought to this station. The scene that met the eye when the escaping steam had sufficiently cleared away to admit a survey of the position was beyond description. The Engineer was found near his engine in the last agonies of death, the breakman hobbled from his fall with a crushed limb, and the 65 passengers, with bare one exception, were nearly all writhing and screeching in the deepest anguish. Some of the unfortunate creatures crawled from the place of their immolation over the heated surface of the boiler, others remained behind, forgetting their own pains, in search of friends, and others whose sensibilities was keener, lost control of themselves and were got into the car with great difficulty. In the confusion eight of the victims was left at Shannonville, distributed at the hotels and at farm houses, and over fifty were brought to Belleville and deposited on cots and mattresses in the freight shed. Here the physicians of the Town, without an exception, were busy dressing the wounds. But as might be expected the amount of medical stores for such an event were not at once procurable. In all the drug-stores no more than half a gallon of lime-water could be procurable; but still the efforts that could be made were hastily put in requisition and in a few hours everything the medical men desired were at their hands in abundance. Ladies and gentlemen of the town were early on the spot and every assistance that could possibly be afforded the victims have since been put forth. But the hearts of the stoutest of them quailed under the awful sight that presented itself. Flesh and blood could never have been subjected to a greater test, whether as to victims or to the nurses who were compelled to tear the clothing from the boiled and softened flesh of each one in turn that came under their hands. As each victim was dressed he was put to rest with opium, or as nearly so as was thought advisable; but this powerful narcotic was in many cases apparently powerless to induce sleep. After a short time, men with not an inch of unburned surface on their bodies walked the floor in comparative indifference, and in some instances talked rationally to those administering to their sufferings. Some wanted friends, others again their clothing, others had missed their money (which had been removed from their pockets by the railway authorities to secure it from loss), and not a few who an hour after were in the last agonies of death, desired to take the train again for home, apparently quite oblivious of their sad condition. One man paced tively quiet, and several were taking sparingly of ice cream and other cooling refreshments. Only one man of the entire number was able to walk around, although the majority of them the day before was able to be about and make known their requests. Up to that time twenty seven were dead from the occurrence, nearly all of whom had been confined. Some of the poor creatures still groaned in agony and others had evidently passed the stage of suffering and were slowly hastening towards final dissolution. The opinion of the medical men then in attendance was that not more than half a dozen of all that number would recover. Their external wounds were not so serious as their internal injuries. The majority of them had taken the scalding steam into their lungs and but few of those in that condition could possibly live long.

It was with the utmost difficulty that the thousands of people who thronged the station on every side could be kept from the building. Door keepers were vigilant and physicians unyielding, and by dint of great firmness the curiosity seekers were kept outside and comparatively out of the way.

During the day arrangements were made to remove the sufferers to a building on Taylor's hill owned and formerly occupied by the Roman Catholics as a Convent. It is a fine building, in a most healthy part of the town and every way adapted to the purpose. The Rev. Mr. Farrelley gave permission to occupy this building, John Bell, Esq., to have control of it, and all the medical men to have access under the direction of Dr. Hope, the senior medical man of the place. About four o'clock the removal commenced and in a couple of hours the whole number (with bare one exception) had been carefully conveyed in spring waggons to their new quarters, each cot being lifted bodily into the vehicle. The horse was then led over the smoothest road, and with the greatest care, to the prepared quarters. This sad duty was performed with great caution and tenderness, and it is believed that not one of them suffered from the removal. The man left behind was supposed to be dying, and hence he was not disturbed; but we learn that he survived the night and still lived at last accounts. A train was also despatched to Shannonville, in charge of Dr. Palmer, of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, for those remaining there, and at about ten o'clock five were brought in from that place—leaving two who were comfortably provided for at that place at Shaw's Hotel.

The number brought to the Convent building was 29, of which four died last night, making the deaths in all at this point, according to the best information we can get, thirty-one.

Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock the coroner, Dr. Burdett, summoned the following jury:—

A. ROBERTSON, Foreman.
Wm. Matthews,	J. C. Philips,
Amos Jones,	G. Brooker,
Wm. Hopkins,	A. Kimmerly,

Archibald McNair, Port Hope.
McCormick, Montreal.
Joseph Mallette, Beauharnois.
Ali. Tremblay, Quebec.
T. Hardey, Kingston.
W. Callender, wife and three children, Kemptville.
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Montreal.
Onesime Coate, St. Henri.
John Hibbert, Toronto, Engineer.
J. Bean, St. Martin.
Baptiste Bererier, Three Rivers.
Oliver Courier, Vaudruil.
O. Montpelier,
Moses Chabot, Montreal,
Mrs. Levoi, Joliette.
Narame Blais, Quebec.
Pierre Gaceau, Laprairie.
Jean Bevi, St. Rocks.
Baptiste Barleau, Three Rivers.
J. Tremblay, Baie St. Paul.
Donald Cameron, Cumberland.
Odilosse Lucas, Vaudreuil.
Pierre Lucas, Laprairie. (Supposed.)
One man unknown.
One woman unknown.
One woman unknown.
One child unknown.

THE INQUEST.

An inquest was convened on Saturday by Coroner Burdett, associated with Coroner Roy, which was in session as we went to press. It was shown that the train was only making usual speed (25 miles an hour) and that it was slackened at Shannonville station. The character of the engineer was also proved to be most exemplary, and the opinion was expressed that no human power could account for the breaking of the flange that caused the accident.

There are now twenty-five wounded in the Convent building, several of whom appear better.

A number of unclaimed bodies were to-day deposited in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

LATER.

We have the painful duty to record three more deaths.

Joseph Reanson, Vandrenil, at 4, a. m.

Robt. Pratt, Goulborne, near Ottawa, at 7.30, a. m.

Oliver Laflamme, of Montreal, at 10.30, a. m.

None died during the afternoon up to four o'clock, although several are evidently sinking and leave little hope of rallying. There are a number more, however, who appear quite better, some three or four of whom having obtained new clothing and been made presentable are comparatively comfortable.

The young man Pratt who died this morning was about 19 years of age. He was said to be thoughtful and intelligent. His struggle with the grim monster, even against hope, was long and pertinaciously endured; but the watchers at his side entertained little doubt of the final result from the first. His friends reached his couch previous to dissolution.

THE BURIAL.

There were eighteen unclaimed bodies depositing in the R. C. burial place last evening, and a number of bodies were packed in ice and despatched by train to their friends.

The Attorney General has instructed the Crown Attorney to open an inquest upon the next fatal case that may occur, and it is likely that fur-

at the petty sessions a week afterwards. He did so, and of the magistrates on the bench, one, the chairman, had granted the warrant; and another was the landlord of the prosecutor, White, who sued the laborer. The remaining two were landed proprietors in an adjoining parish from which many laborers, much against the will of both landlords and tenants, had emigrated. No proof of a yearly contract was made out, however, or if there had been such a contract it had evidently been voluntarily terminated by the farmer. Webber in reality seems to have been little else than a weekly servant. But the presiding magistrate seems throughout to have acted the part of an advocate rather than a judge, and fined him £2, with costs. A gentleman in court advanced the money, and Webber with his wife and family wended his way to Lancashire to earn wages out of which to repay it. But the drama was not yet played out. No sooner was the sentence pronounced than the presiding magistrate addressing Canon Girdlestone, began publicly to reprimand him for sending laborers away to better wages. The Canon vehemently protested against being thus talked to, as though he were the prisoner, and a stormy scene ensued; and the magistrate appealed to the audience, which was composed partly of farmers, but more largely of townspeople and laborers, as to whether he should go on. The farmers cried "Yes," and the laborers "No," and the court seems to have been turned into a bear garden; but the "noes" had it by a large majority, and the magistrate was fain to sit down.

PRESCOTT CAMP.

The Volunteers of this Province are now in camp, and being drilled, at Niagara, Windsor, Kingston and Prescott. All told we believe there are something like 8000 volunteers in these four camps, and they are receiving some 14 days drill. Outside of that very little is now being done to prepare ourselves in the shape of military defence. We had an opportunity of visiting the camp at Prescott during this week and were much pleased with the appearance it presented. There are about 1,900 men in the encampment, and the hundreds of small tents, scattered over nearly a square mile of ground, together with the appearance of so many men in their bright uniforms, gives the place quite a military appearance. The camp is beautifully situated. Just to the eastern side of the town lies the old fort, yet in a fair state of preservation, and being enough to the rescue. In one minute from the terrible blow the contents of the boiler was dashed over their writhing flesh to the last quart. It is said that the hanging side of the car was so disposed as to double the compass of the wide reaching nozzles, and place nearly every passenger in the car under their influence. But what mortal hands could do was at once done as soon as the situation was realized. Crow-bars were used, the west side of the car was broken open, and those not already dead were hurried into the Palman-car and as fast as possible brought to this station. The scene that met the eye when the escaping steam had sufficiently cleared away to admit a survey of the position was beyond description. The Engineer was found near his engine in the last agonies of death, the breakman hobbled from his fall with a crushed limb, and the 65 passengers, with bare one exception, were nearly all writhing and screeching in the deepest anguish. Some of the unfortunate creatures crawled from the place of their immolation over the heated surface of the boiler, others remained behind, forgetting their own pains, in search of friends, and others whose sensibilities was keenest, lost control of themselves and were got into the car with great difficulty. In the confusion eight of the victims was left at Shannonville, distributed at the hotels and at farm houses, and over fifty were brought to Belleville and deposited on cots and mattresses in the freight shed. Here the physicians of the Town, without an exception, were busy dressing the wounds. But as might be expected the amount of medical stores for such an event were not at once procurable. If all the drug-stores no more than half a gallon of lime-water could be procurable; but still the efforts that could be made were hastily put in requisition and in a few hours everything the medical men desired were at their hands in abundance. Ladies and gentlemen of the town were early on the spot and every assistance that could possibly be afforded the victims have since been put forth. But the hearts of the stoutest of them quailed under the awful sight that presented itself. Flesh and blood could never have been subjected to a greater test, whether as to victims or to the nurses who were compelled to tear the clothing from the boiled and softened flesh of each one in turn that came under their hands. As each victim was dressed he was put to rest with opium, or as nearly so as was thought advisable; but this powerful narcotic was in many cases apparently powerless to induce sleep. After a short time, men with not an inch of unburned surface on their bodies walked the floor in comparative indifference, and in some instances talked rationally to those administering to their sufferings. Some wanted friends, others again their clothing, others had missed their money (which had been removed from their pockets by the railway authorities to secure it from loss), and not a few who an hour after were in the last agonies of death, desired to take the train again for home, apparently quite oblivious of their sad condition. One man paced tively quiet, and several were taking sparingly of ice cream and other cooling refreshments. Only one man of the entire number was able to walk around, although the majority of them the day before was able to be about and make known their requests. Up to that time twenty seven were dead from the occurrence, nearly all of whom had been confined. Some of the poor creatures still groaned in agony and others had evidently passed the stage of suffering and were slowly hastening towards final dissolution. The opinion of the medical men then in attendance was that not more than half a dozen of all that number would recover. Their external wounds were not so serious as their internal injuries. The majority of them had taken the scalding steam into their lungs and but few of those in that condition could possibly live long.

It was with the utmost difficulty that the thousands of people who thronged the station on every side could be kept from the building. Door keepers were vigilant and physicians unyielding, and by dint of great firmness the curiosity seekers were kept outside and comparatively out of the way.

During the day arrangements were made to remove the sufferers to a building on Taylor's hill owned and formerly occupied by the Roman Catholics as a Convent. It is a fine building, in a most healthy part of the town and every way adapted to the purpose. The Rev. Mr. Farrelley gave permission to occupy this building, John Bell, Esq., to have control of it, and all the medical men to have access under the direction of Dr. Hope, the senior medical man of the place. About four o'clock the removal commenced and in a couple of hours the whole number (with bare one exception) had been carefully conveyed in spring waggons to their new quarters, each cot being lifted bodily into the vehicle. The horse was then led over the smoothest road, and with the greatest care, to the prepared quarters. This sad duty was performed with great caution and tenderness, and it is believed that not one of them suffered from the removal. The man left behind was supposed to be dying, and hence he was not disturbed; but we learn that he survived the night and still lived at last accounts. A train was also despatched to Shannonville, in charge of Dr. Palmer, of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, for those remaining there, and at about ten o'clock five were brought in from that place—leaving two who were comfortably provided for at that place at Shaw's Hotel.

The number brought to the Convent building was 29, of which four died last night, making the deaths in all at this point, according to the best information we can get, thirty-one.

Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock the coroner, Dr. Burdett, summoned the following jury:—

A. ROBERTSON, Foreman.
Wm. Matthews,	J. C. Philips,
Amos Jones,	G. Brooker,
Wm. Hopkins,	A. Kimmerly,

Archibald McNair, Port Hope.
McCormick, Montreal.
Joseph Mallette, Beauharnois.
Ali. Tremblay, Quebec.
T. Harley, Kingston.
W. Callender, wife and three children, Kemptville.
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Montreal.
Onesime Coate, St. Henri.
John Hibbert, Toronto, Engineer.
J. Bean, St. Martin.
Baptiste Bereder, Three Rivers.
Oliver Courier, Vaudruil.
O. Montpelier,
Moses Chabot, Montreal,
Mrs. Levoi, Joliette.
Narame Blais, Quebec.
Pierre Gaceau, Laprairie.
Jean Bevi, St. Rocks.
Baptiste Barleau, Three Rivers.
J. Tremblay, Baie St. Paul.
Donald Cameron, Cumberland.
Odilosse Lucas, Vaudreuil.
Pierre Lucas, Laprairie. (Supposed.)
One man unknown.
One woman unknown.
One woman unknown.
One child unknown.

THE INQUEST.

An inquest was convened on Saturday by Coroner Burdett, associated with Coroner Roy, which was in session as we went to press. It was shown that the train was only making usual speed (25 miles an hour) and that it was slackened at Shannonville station. The character of the engine was also proved to be most exemplary, and the opinion was expressed that no human power could account for the breaking of the flange that caused the accident.

There are now twenty-five wounded in the Convent building, several of whom appear better.

A number of unclaimed bodies were to-day deposited in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

LATER.

We have the painful duty to record three more deaths.

Joseph Reanson, Vandrenil, at 4, a. m.

Robt. Pratt, Goulborne, near Ottawa, at 7.30, a. m.

Oliver Laflamme, of Montreal, at 10.30, a. m.

None died during the afternoon up to four o'clock, although several are evidently sinking and leave little hope of rallying. There are a number more, however, who appear quite better, some three or four of whom having obtained new clothing and been made presentable are comparatively comfortable.

The young man Pratt who died this morning was about 19 years of age. He was said to be thoughtful and intelligent. His struggle with the grim monster, even against hope, was long and pertinaciously endured; but the watchers at his side entertained little doubt of the final result from the first. His friends reached his couch previous to dissolution.

THE BURIAL.

There were eighteen unclaimed bodies depositing in the R. C. burial place last evening, and a number of bodies were packed in ice and despatched by train to their friends.

The Attorney General has instructed the Crown Attorney to open an inquest upon the next fatal case that may occur, and it is likely that fur-

at the petty sessions a week afterwards. He did so, and of the magistrates on the bench, one, the chairman, had granted the warrant; and another was the landlord of the prosecutor, White, who sued the laborer. The remaining two were landed proprietors in an adjoining parish from which many laborers, much against the will of both landlords and tenants, had emigrated. No proof of a yearly contract was made out, however, or if there had been such a contract it had evidently been voluntarily terminated by the farmer. Webber in reality seems to have been little else than a weekly servant. But the presiding magistrate seems throughout to have acted the part of an advocate rather than a judge, and fined him £2, with costs. A gentleman in court advanced the money, and Webber with his wife and family wended his way to Lancashire to earn wages out of which to repay it. But the drama was not yet played out. No sooner was the sentence pronounced than the presiding magistrate addressing Canon Girdlestone, began publicly to reprimand him for sending laborers away to better wages. The Canon vehemently protested against being thus talked to, as though he were the prisoner, and a stormy scene ensued; and the magistrate appealed to the audience, which was composed partly of farmers, but more largely of townspeople and laborers, as to whether he should go on. The farmers cried "Yes," and the laborers "No," and the court seems to have been turned into a bear garden; but the "noes" had it by a large majority, and the magistrate was fain to sit down.

PRESCOTT CAMP.

The Volunteers of this Province are now in camp, and being drilled, at Niagara, Windsor, Kingston and Prescott. All told we believe there are something like 8000 volunteers in these four camps, and they are receiving some 14 days drill. Outside of that very little is now being done to prepare ourselves in the shape of military defence. We had an opportunity of visiting the camp at Prescott during this week and were much pleased with the appearance it presented. There are about 1,900 men in the encampment, and the hundreds of small tents, scattered over nearly a square mile of ground, together with the appearance of so many men in their bright uniforms, gives the place quite a military appearance. The camp is beautifully situated. Just to the eastern side of the town lies the old fort, yet in a fair state of preservation, and being ther evidence than that adduced yesterday will be brought forward. The fireman is rapidly improving, and soon will be fit to remove to his residence.

S. M. PETTENCILL & Co.,
37 PARK ROW, NEW YORK
GEO. P. ROWELL & Co.,
40 PARK ROW, NEW YORK

ARE our sole Agents in that city, and are authorized to contract for advertising at our lowest rates.

LIST NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

Insolvent Act—W. S. Robinson.
The Dodge Self Rake—John Herring.
A Card—Andrew Yarwood.
Chemical Food—Dr. Wheeler.
Board of Audit—W. A. Reeve.
Photographs—S. W. Canniff.
Girl Wanted—Bank Brit. N. America.

GRAND TRUNK TIME TABLE.

Trains leave Napanee Station as follows:—

GOING EAST.
Mail	12.10 p. m.
Express	12.15 p. m.
Mail	2.05 a. m.
GOING WEST.
Mail	3.02 a. m.
Express	5.05 a. m.
Mail	5.15 p. m.

Montreal Time.

Weekly Express.

FRIDAY, JUNE 28th, 1872.

LABOR MOVEMENT IN ENGLAND.

The labor movement in England, whatever be its merits in this country, will excite the sympathy of the humanitarian world over. From time immemorial, if the British Empire dates back contemporaneously to that antiquity, labor has been oppressed in that country. To be born in the laboring classes was to be doomed to perpetual slavery, including many of its most loathsome features, embracing insufficient food, insufficient clothing, ignorance and perpetual drudgery, from the cradle to the grave, without hope in the future for themselves or for their families. So debased are the laboring classes, that the only wonder is that they have ambition enough left to initiate, (which they probably did not do,) or co-operate in an effort to better their condition. But the movement has been made, by whomsoever commenced, and a philanthropic class of people are assisting in the good work, and it has been wisely commenced and is being judiciously pushed forward. The course pursued among farm laborers is to peacefully quit their present service and seek better remuneration in emigration, either to America or the Northern or other parts of England, where the pay is better. This course is being strenuously opposed by the employing surrounded by a large open field there is abundant room for the encampment. It lies immediately on the banks of the St. Lawrence, giving it the advantage of the cool air and beautiful scenery, which is here truly admirable. Immediately to the west lies the town and front stretches the St. Lawrence of which a fine view is given for many miles. Immediately across lies Ogdensburg, adding much to the beauty of the scene. Eastward, nearly two miles distant but in full view, stands the walls of the old Round Mill, and the walls of two of the buildings burned during the memorable invasion under Van Sholtz in 1837. These walls have been left remaining and stand as a land-mark in our Canadian history of one of the several futile attempts to "take Canada" that has been made by our Yankee neighbours. It will be remembered that a landing was effected here by the invaders and the windmill and some other buildings taken possession of after which it was calculated by Canadians would at once flock to their standard and the country would soon be separated from England. As in most other instances the plotters of the scheme remained on the safer side of the line and sent their dupes across to do the work and share the danger. In this instance they were taken prisoners and numbers of them paid the penalty of their crime by the sacrifice of their lives. Some seventeen houses were destroyed, but the ruined walls of only two new remain. The win-mill was not destroyed or burned at that time but has since gone into disuse and only the high thick walls may stand.

The appearance presented by the volunteers is excellent, and we should judge from what we saw of their daily drill, that they are making excellent progress in this respect. There are two companies of cavalry, the rest being footmen. The advantage of actual camp life, with a number of days continuous drill can easily be perceived. It is only to be regretted that over the whole country so few are being thus drilled.

Prescott, and most of the other old established towns along the St. Lawrence, have little of enterprise and progress so evident in ourselves and other towns to the west of us. It was among the earliest settled places in the Province and at one time held, relatively, an important military and commercial position. Though it has always continued to make progress yet it has by no means kept pace with many other places. The population is now nearly 3000. Few towns are so beautiful situated. Its streets and the residences of the more wealthy inhabitants give evidence of a taste and refinement unfortunately too rare among us as yet. The fine trees and beautiful work of Bad Indians about Kingston. They captured a white child and carried it to the woods. The News tells the public that if the child is under ten years of age, the Indians are guilty of felony, which is very kind of the News and doubtless very satisfactory to the parents.

HORSE THIEF.—The young man, Smith, who stole a horse on Thursday night of last week, from Mr. Switzer, and which, owing to the diligence of our Chief of Police, was found at Odessa, the thief being previously arrested at his home on Robin's Hill. He was brought to trial before His Worship the Mayor on Tuesday evening last and committed for trial.

PROPOSED RAILWAY.—Picton, having taken up the spirit of the times, is agitating the desirability of building a branch railway to connect with the Grand Trunk at some convenient point, a large and influential meeting for that purpose being held there on Thursday, 20th ult, and a unanimous resolution was adopted expressing a desire to have the road, steps to secure which will be at once taken.

AT LAST.—Something is being done to clear away the obstructions that have so long been a hindrance to the navigation of the Napanee River. On Monday last, a Mr. Daly, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., arrived here with his dredging machinery and commenced operations on the sand bars in the mouth of the river, for which he receives $100 per day.

PERSONAL.—We are pleased to be able to inform our readers that our townsman, Walter Exley, who was so severely injured in the railway accident of last Saturday, is now at home and is progressing favorably, his medical adviser pronouncing him out of danger.

—Kidd, the fireman on the ill-fated train, and whose leg had to be amputated at Belleville, is also likely to recover.

A FREE FIGHT.—On Wednesday evening last an interesting family brawl occurred at the west end of the town between Jim Simpson and wife and John Simmons. A large crowd of spectators assembled to witness the combat, much to their enjoyment. Quarrels are very frequent among these people, and blows and oaths of a frightful character are of a nightly occurrence. The police were on hand, to enjoy the sport, as usual, knowing there was no danger here, and succeeded in arresting Simpson, who was in a drunken state, and brought him to the lock-up.

PHOTOGRAPHING.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Mr. Canniff, in another column. He has lately purchased the Richardson gallery, and having made great improvements in his light, as well as secured the services of a First-Class Artist, the public will be safe in intrusting their orders to him. We have examined his pictures, of many different kinds, and have no hesitation in saying they are indeed got up in an artistic manner, and would advise all who want a correct representation of themselves to give him a call, he will be sure to please you.

FOOT RACE.—On Monday evening last a foot race of a 200 yards dash, for $100 a side, came off between given by the youngest of the three girls and who had not entered the water. She ran home, with the intelligence that she had spoken to the two other children in the water, and they would not answer her, having hid themselves beneath the surface. Miss Nancy Grange, to whom was imparted this information, at once rushed to the mill pond and brought out the dead bodies of the children, aged respectively five and nine years. Sad indeed was the occurrence, and the parents' avethe heartfelt sympathy of all citizens, for seldom or ever was two more beautiful children seen. A funeral sermon was preached at the W. M. Church on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, the church being filled to its utmost capacity. The children of the Cold Water Temple attended in a body, each wearing a mourning badge on the left arm, the deceased having been members of that society, as well as the children of the Sabbath school in connection with the W. M. Church, all of whom seemed to realize, with a depth of feeling, the solemnity of the occasion. Their bodies were afterwards interred in the Vandebogart Cemetery.

ELOPEMENT IN HIGH LIFE.

The "Germania" which left the Hoboken dock last Saturday for Hamburg, carried with her a runaway bridal pair, connected with some of the best families on Long Island. An hour before the steamer sailed there dove on the pier a dilapidated country carriage, drawn by two horses, and with about an inch of dust on it, driven by a gaunt countryman. The carriage stopped near the gangway. It had no baggage, nor anything to indicate that the occupants were going to Europe. Before the carriage had fairly stopped, the door was suddenly opened, and tall young man, about 28 years of age, stepped out. He was dressed in a black suit, which was concealed by a linen duster that came down below his knee. He wore a high hat, light kids, patent leather boots, and had in his hand a gold headed cane. His features were fair, and he had flowing side whiskers.

As he stepped out of the carriage he peered around with an anxious look. Apparently feeling reassured, he beckoned to the young lady in the carriage to come out. While the driver held the door the gallant assisted the lady out of the rattle box. She was a tall blonde of fine features, and had a very pleasant face. She was dressed in a light alpaca travelling suit, Dolly Varden hat, hair neatly braided, and carried a large brown parasol. She wore an anxious look, as if expecting every moment that her papa with a cowhide would have in sight. They hurried to the gangway, which they hastily crossed, and then descended to one of the saloons. There they seated themselves in an obscure corner.

Half an hour before the steamer started a thick set man with a sandy moustache, florid face, dressed in the height of the fashion, with a solitarie diamond glistening on his shirt front, came up to Officer Kaiser and told him that he was a New York detective, and after a young man and woman whom he suspected were going to Europe, and asked the officer to arrest them. The description the de-

THE EXECUTION

Her last Mo-Statement out a Stru-of Her Bo-

London, Ju-the "Missouri
this morning, has expiated a horrible murder convicted in the annals of of crime, though which for a time wrapped in m
George Campbell statements ma the varying m pointed to be even to withi
she made the herself, and now in gaol, s
her innocence, drew near, an has gone. Sh it her bounde knew about t be remembere states that Co
The latter kee the matter, a or deny the c versation held he referred to Campbell, as said, "if she did not mind;
her good-by;
great anxiety
Campbell kep wonderfully, a reporter visite various matte several times very unlike a eternity. Sh portion of last souvenirs of c
of her hair down for abou sleep. The E
Geo. Richard
Miss, Mercer, Matron of the her the grate attended to he was perfectly ious to meet h
scaffold as bei
She r y d en that he might of his share of round her we was not the sl to be detected her demerous ness. When same who ha her cell, robe gown, she ca bed on which time, and adv
When about t suggested that be performed
scaffold, to wh
"Oh yes, it w
At twenty-f o'clock she wa had arrived, a the matron a walked with a ed countenanc stairs to the c gaol yard, wh with a few pe wishing them tone of voice.

ing wound-farm house ent, on Sun-tal in Belle-
; Oliver Lat-
t. He was ss car and when the lerson, from
-Glenagay, eriously in-re are two Hotel, in from Tren-Burn has Cherette, have been
r. Campbell
r. Clapham.
le, was assi-he wounded
e of Moses nday, was
He was a
years.
are Israel Pelon, do ;
ton, New u, who all g, and are

; bad ;
treal, bad ;
nton, may garry, who renton, fa-ellerille, J.

M recover ;
to will re-

; not badly rain yester-

lete list as

t Hope

arneau.

three chil-

fontread.
nnr.
Engineer.

e Rivers.
il.

ie.

Rivers.
erland.
il ;
Supposed.)

on Saturassociated s in session as shown usual l that it
e station.
ineer was play, and at no hu-break-the acciwounded veral of dies were in Catho-

sufficient clothing, ignorance and perpetual drudgery, from the cradle to the grave, without hope in the future for themselves or for their families. So debased are the laboring classes, that the only wonder is that they have ambition enough left to initiate, (which they probably did not do,) or co-operate in an effort to better their condition. But the movement has been made, by whomsoever commenced, and a philanthropic class of people are assisting in the good work, and it has been wisely commenced and is being judiciously pushed forward. The course pursued among farm laborers is to peacefully quit their present service and seek better remuneration in emigration, either to America or the Northern or other parts of England, where the pay is better. This course is being strenuously opposed by the employing classes, and an instance is given in which the Rev. Edward Girdlestone, Canon of Bristol, has been severely reprimanded for the part he took in the matter. "It appears that a farm laborer, named John Webber, having a wife and family, was going to remove to Lancashire, where Canon Girdlestone had obtained a situation for him. He had sold his household furniture, and was about to start, when he was arrested on a warrant at the suit of his master, a farmer named White, on plea of a breach of contract. He was afterwards liberated on bail, but was bound to appear at the petty sessions a week afterwards. He did so, and of the magistrates on the bench, one, the chairman, had granted the warrant; and another was the landlord of the prosecutor, White, who sued the laborer. The remaining two were landed proprietors in an adjoining parish, from which many laborers, much against the will of both landlords and tenants, had emigrated. No proof of a yearly contract was made out, however, or if there had been such a contract it had evidently been voluntarily terminated by the farmer. Webber in reality seems to have been little else than a weekly servant. But the presiding magistrate seems throughout to have acted the part of an advocate rather than a judge, and fined him £2, with costs. A gentleman in court advanced the money, and Webber with his wife and family wended his way to Lancashire to earn wages out of which to repay it. But the drama was not yet played out. No sooner was the sentence pronounced than the presiding magistrate addressing Canon Girdlestone, began publicly to reprimand him for sending laborers away to better wages. The Canon vehemently protested against being thus talked to, as though he were the prisoner, and a stormy scene ensued; and the magistrate appealed to the audience, which was composed partly of farmers, but more largely of townspeople and laborers, as to whether he should go on. The farmers cried "Yes," and the laborers "No," and the court days continuous drill can easily be perceived. It is only to be regretted that over the whole country so few are being thus drilled.

Prescott, and most of the other old established towns along the St. Lawrence, have little of enterprise and progress so evident in ourselves and other towns to the west of us. It was among the earliest settled places in the Province and at one time held, relatively, an important military and commercial position. Though it has always continued to make progress yet it has by no means kept pace with many other places. The population is now nearly 3000. Few towns are so beautiful situated. Its streets and the residences of the more wealthy inhabitants give evidence of a taste and refinement unfortunately too rare among us as yet. The fine trees and beautiful yards of many inhabitants are much admired by all travellers. Being so near Ogdensburg there is much trade with that town. The ferry steamer, plying all day come general well laden with passengers, many of whom are ladies who seem inclined to do their shopping on this side. The fast lives, too, who wish to enjoy a spree are quite inclined to pay it a visit, as its whisky is said to be a much cheaper and purer article than can be procured among themselves. It is not therefore so much to be wondered at that in so small a town there should be something like 40 liquor shops, all of which seem to be driving considerable trade. There are also four distilleries and breweries, but beyond the particular branch of business there is not much being done in the shape of manufactures.

The business being done by railway here between the Ottawa country and United States is rapidly increasing, and greater facilities of intercommunication are needed. Recently a charter has been procured by building an iron railway bridge across the St. Lawrence here, but there is little probability that it will be speedily accomplished. The enquiring difficulties are not much, as the current here is not much, but the expense would be enormous, and it is doubtful whether trade has yet grown great enough to warrant so great an expenditure.

R. C. Pic-Nic.—We have not yet learned definitely what day has been fixed for the above Pic-Nic, but certain it is, when it does come off, it will be the Pic-Nic of the season. We will be in a position next week to give day and date.

CRICKET.—The Napanee Cricket Club beat the Mill Pointers on Monday last, in one innings by a majority of twelve runs.

POSTPONEMENT.—In consequence of the accident to the Maud, the excursion of the young people of the M. E. Church to Belleville, which was to have taken place on Wednesday last, takes place to-day.

CLOSING EXERCISES.—The closing exercises of the Napanee High School will take place at the Town Hall this afternoon, instead of at the school. Let all who can attend, as there will be a very interesting time.

RECOVERED.—The body of the late mont. Quarrels are very frequent among these people, and blows and oaths of a frightful character are of a nightly occurrence. The police were on hand, to enjoy the sport, as usual, knowing there was no danger here, and succeeded in arresting Simpson, who was in a drunken state, and brought him to the lock-up.

PHOTOGRAPHING.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Mr. Canniff, in another column. He has lately purchased the Richardson gallery, and having made great improvements in his light, as well as secured the services of a First-Class Artist, the public will be safe in intrusting their orders to him. We have examined his pictures, of many different kinds, and have no hesitation in saying they are indeed got up in an artistic manner, and would advise all who want a correct representation of themselves to give him a call, he will be sure to please you.

FOOT RACE.—On Monday evening last a foot race of a 200 yards dash, for $100 a side, came off between W. Huff, of Napanee and Robert Kennedy, of Tamworth, the latter of whom is a man about 6 foot 2 inches in height and weighing upwards of 200 pounds, the former being but a very small man, but known to be fleet of foot. Never before have we seen a more exciting race, there being upwards of $800 bet upon it, the friends of both being confident of success. A large number of people were congregated to witness the race. The start was given, and both shot away like arrows, but it was very evident from there who was to be the winner, Kennedy displaying such agility as is seldom seen, and coming in ahead of his opponent, some distance, although his friends assert he did not half run.

PUBLIC DINNER.—As, doubtless, a large crowd of people will be attracted hither on Saturday, 6th July next, to witness the interesting ceremonies connected with the laying of the corner stone of the new M. E. Church, the Ladies Aid Society in connection therewith, and who have already done so much towards the erection of the new church, have decided to hold a public dinner at the Crystal Palace after the corner stone has been laid, and we know they will have everything that could be desired in the way of eatables. We trust their enterprise will be rewarded with success. There are many who have not as yet given anything towards the new church, and this will be an excellent opportunity for doing so, as but few will miss the price of a ticket, (One Dollar.)

THE DODGE SELF RAKE.—We direct attention to the advertisement in another column of the Dodge Mower and Self Rake manufactured by John Herring, Esq., of this town. This is, comparatively speaking, a new machine, and during the short time it has been in existence has so recommended itself to the farming community as to need no "puffing" at our hands. So great has been the demand for them that Mr. Herring has constantly in his employ upwards of 80 hands, constantly engaged in their manufacture. We think it to be to the interest of farmers to secure the very best machines for their agricultural pursuits, and in doing so, we would advise them to see the Dodge before purchasing any other kind. Orders are daily received for them from all parts of the Province, and as an evidence of their popularity we would just mention that upwards of 100 machines, have, at this early season of the year, been shipped to other places, irrespective of what has been sold to the farmers in the immediate vicinity.

EAST HASTINGS.—This Riding is

he beckoned to the young lady in the carriage to come out. While the driver held the door the gallant assisted the lady out of the rattle box. She was a tall blonde of fine features, and had a very pleasant face. She was dressed in a light alpaca travelling suit, Dolly Varden hat, hair neatly braided, and carried a large brown parasol. She wore an anxious look, as if expecting every moment that her papa with a cowhide would leave in sight. They hurried to the gangway, which they hastily crossed, and then descended to one of the saloons. There they seated themselves in an obscure corner.

Half an hour before the steamer started a thick set man with a sandy moustache, florid face, dressed in the height of the fashion, with a solitary diamond glistening on his shirt front, came up to Officer Kaiser and told him that he was a New York detective, and after a young man and woman whom he suspected were going to Europe, and asked the officer to arrest them. The description the detective gave answered to that of the runaway couple.

Officer Kaiser asked the detective what the charge was against them, and said if he would be justified in making the arrest he would willingly do it. The detective refused to state the nature of the charge, so the officer refused to make an arrest, as he declared that he wanted to know for what cause he should arrest people. The wonderful detective left without making an arrest.

When the steamer had departed, Officer Kaiser went to the gaunt countryman, who was watching the noble vessel as she was swinging out into the stream, and questioned him about his late passengers. The countryman was very guarded in his answers. He would give no account of himself, but said he brought a young couple from Long Island, who had run away from home, and were married in New York. The groom's name was George Edward Brown, and the bride's Clara Louisa Smith, both belonging to some of the best families on Long Island. Early on Saturday, at an appointed time and place, they clandestinely met, and he carried them to New York, as they wished to avoid the cons. The carriage was heavily curtained, and in the morning he carried them to a minister up town where they were married. The minister received $20, 10 of which he gave him $5 as a commission.

At 1 o'clock the countryman was ordered to wait for them at Sixth avenue and Twentythird street. After they had been made one, they went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they took breakfast, and then went out shopping on Sixth avenue, but they were cautious about their movements. Their baggage had been shipped on Friday directly for Hapaburg.

They returned to Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they dined, and at the appointed hour they got into the carriage and were driven to Hoboken. The countryman got $25 for his job.

Shortly after the steamer sailed a fine carriage with prancing steeds, driven by a man in showy livery, came dashing on the pier. An elderly woman forced her head out of a window, and almost fainted when she discovered that the steamer had already sailed. Seeing officer Kaiser near by she called him, and asked him whether he saw a young lady go aboard the steamer, and then gave a description of her. The officer replied affirmatively, and added that when he was arrested on a warrant at the suit of his master, a farmer named White, on plea of a breach of contract. He was afterwards liberated on bail, but was bound to appear at the petty sessions a week afterwards. He did so, and of the magistrates on the bench, one, the chairman, had granted the warrant; and another was the landlord of the prosecutor, White, who sued the laborer. The remaining two were landed proprietors in an adjoining parish from which many laborers, much against the will of both landlords and tenants, had emigrated. No proof of a yearly contract was made out, however, or if there had been such a contract it had evidently been voluntarily terminated by the farmer. Webber in reality seems to have been little else than a weekly servant. But the presiding magistrate seems throughout to have acted the part of an advocate rather than a judge, and fined him £2, with costs. A gentleman in court advanced the money, and Webber with his wife and family wended his way to Lancashire to earn wages out of which to repay it. But the drama was not yet played out. No sooner was the sentence pronounced than the presiding magistrate addressing Canon Girdlestone, began publicly to reprimand him for sending laborers away to better wages. The Canon vehemently protested against being thus talked to, as though he were the prisoner, and a stormy scene ensued; and the magistrate appealed to the audience, which was composed partly of farmers, but more largely of townspeople and laborers, as to whether he should go on. The farmers cried "Yes," and the laborers "No," and the court seems to have been turned into a bear garden; but the "noes" had it by a large majority, and the magistrate was fain to sit down.

PRESCOTT CAMP.

The Volunteers of this Province are now in camp, and being drilled, at Niagara, Windsor, Kingston and Prescott. All told we believe there are something like 8000 volunteers in these four camps, and they are receiving some 14 days drill. Outside of that very little is now being done to prepare ourselves in the shape of military defence. We had an opportunity of visiting the camp at Prescott during this week and were much pleased with the appearance it presented. There are about 1,900 men in the encampment, and the hundreds of small tents, scattered over nearly a square mile of ground, together with the appearance of so many men in their bright uniforms, gives the place quite a military appearance. The camp is beautifully situated. Just to the eastern side of the town lies the old fort, yet in a fair state of preservation, and being among themselves. It is not therefore so much to be wondered at that in so small a town there should be something like 40 liquor shops, all of which seem to be driving considerable trade. There are also four distilleries and breweries, but beyond the particular branch of business there is not much being done in the shape of manufactures.

The business being done by railway here between the Ottawa country and United States is rapidly increasing, and greater facilities of inter-communication are needed. Recently a charter has been procured by building an iron railway bridge across the St. Lawrence here, but there is little probability that it will be speedily accomplished. The enquiring difficulties are not much, as the current here is not much, but the expense would be enormous, and it is doubtful whether trade has yet grown great enough to warrant so great an expenditure.

R. C. PIC-NIC.—We have not yet learned definitely what day has been fixed for the above Pic-Nic, but certain it is, when it does come off, it will be THE Pic-Nic of the season. We will be in a position next week to give day and date.

CRICKET.—The Napanee Cricket Club beat the Mill Pointers on Monday last, in one innings by a majority of twelve runs.

POSTPONEMENT.—In consequence of the accident to the Maud, the excursion of the young people of the M. E. Church to Belleville, which was to have taken place on Wednesday last, takes place to-day.

CLOSING EXERCISES.—The closing exercises of the Napanee High School will take place at the Town Hall this afternoon, instead of at the school. Let all who can attend, as there will be a very interesting time.

RECOVERED.—The body of the late Mr. Wright, formerly purser of the steamer Picton, who was drowned near the wreck of the steamer St. Helen, has been recovered, and will be taken to Bath for internment.

DREW'S MEDICAL VICTORY.—We last week secured a bottle of this excellent medicine, which is rapidly becoming celebrated, and having used the best part of it, we think it will do all it is recommended for.

ACCIDENT TO THE MAUD.—The steamer Maud, while on her way here from Picton on Tuesday last, broke her starting lever, and the steamer Rochester had to come to her assistance. She was then taken to Picton, and the broken lever sent to be repaired, and it is expected she will be on the route to-day.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Cemetery Company on Tuesday evening last, the following officers were elected:—Wm. Caton, Esq., President; A. L. Morden, Esq., Secretary; and John Webster, Esq., Treasurer. A meeting will be held on Thursday next, at which time the location of the new cemetery will be known.

The Plymouth Brethren are holding another series of meetings in the Park, Kingston.

shot away like arrows, but it was very evident from there who was to be the winner, Kennedy displaying such agility as is seldom seen, and coming in ahead of his opponent, some distance, although his friends assert he did not half run.

PUBLIC DINNER.—As, doubtless, a large crowd of people will be attracted hither on Saturday, 6th July next, to witness the interesting ceremonies connected with the laying of the corner stone of the new M. E. Church, the Ladies Aid Society in connection therewith, and who have already done so much towards the erection of the new church, have decided to hold a public dinner at the Crystal Palace after the corner stone has been laid, and we know they will have everything that could be desired in the way of eatables. We trust their enterprise will be rewarded with success. There are many who have not as yet given anything towards the new church, and this will be an excellent opportunity for doing so, as but few will miss the price of a ticket, (One Dollar.)

THE DODGE SELF RAKE.—We direct attention to the advertisement in another column of the Dodge Mower and Self Rake manufactured by John Herring, Esq., of this town. This is, comparatively speaking, a new machine, and during the short time it has been in existence has so recommended itself to the farming community as to need no "pulling" at our hands. So great has been the demand for them that Mr. Herring has constantly in his employ upwards of 80 hands, constantly engaged in their manufacture. We think it to be to the interest of farmers to secure the very best machines for their agricultural pursuits, and in doing so, we would advise them to see the Dodge before purchasing any other kind. Orders are daily received for them from all parts of the Province, and as an evidence of their popularity we would just mention that upwards of 100 machines, have, at this early season of the year, been shipped to other places, respecting of what has been sold to the farmers in the immediate vicinity.

EAST HASTINGS.—This Riding is blessed beyond measure. No less than four Conservative candidates have announced themselves in the field, and it is known that several other gentlemen are "waiting for something to turn up" to put them before the electors—all on one side. And the other side, which ought to embrace full half of the Riding, has not yet been heard from. Mr. R. P. Jellet, Barrister, of this place, without the fear of Mr. John White or the Orangemen of the Riding, before his eyes, announces himself in the columns of a contemporary, last night. The address to the electors is promised as early as Monday, which will be first out in all the Dominion. How we would like to write that address, for so much depends on it and so little on the election.—"Daily Ontario."

SAD ACCIDENT.—Along with the news of the dreadful railway accident on Saturday last, our citizens were shocked on hearing the painful news that two little girls, daughters of John T. Grange, M. P. P., and his uncle, Thomas Grange, had been drowned in a mill pond about a mile from here, and near Mr. Grange's farm. It appears the children went down to the pond along with another little daughter of John T. Grange's, and after being there some time, proposed they should go in bathing, with the above disastrous result. The first intimation of the sad occurrence was Officer Kaiser went to the gaunt countryman, who was watching the noble vessel as she was swinging out into the stream, and questioned him about his late passengers. The countryman was very guarded in his answers. He would give no account of himself, but said he brought a young couple from Long Island, who had run away from home, and were married in New York. The groom's name was George Edward Brown, and the bride's Clara Louisa Smith, both belonging to some of the best families on Long Island. Early on Saturday, at an appointed time and place, they clandestinely met, and he carried them to New York, as they wished to avoid the ears. The carriage was heavily curtained, and in the morning he carried them to a minister up town where they were married. The minister received $20, of which he gave him $5 as a commission.

At 1 o'clock the countryman was ordered to wait for them at Sixth Avenue and Twenty-third street. After they had been made one, they went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they took breakfast, and then went out shopping on Sixth Avenue, but they were cautious about their movements. Their baggage had been shipped on Friday directly for Hamburg.

They returned to Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they dined, and at the appointed hour they got into the carriage and were driven to Hoboken. The countryman got $25 for his job.

Shortly after the steamer sailed a fine carriage, with pouncing steeds, driven by a man in showy livery, came dashing on the pier. An elderly woman forced her head out of a window, and almost fainted when she discovered that the steamer had already sailed. Seeing officer Kaiser near by she called him, and asked him whether he saw a young lady go aboard the steamer, and then gave a description of her. The officer replied affirmatively, and added that she was accompanied by a young man. The old lady sank back in seat, weeping bitterly, and ordered the driver to take her home.—New York, Sun.

What it costs to kiss a young lady in Cincinnati.

Rev. J. J. Thompson, formerly pastor of the Christie Methodist Episcopal Church, Cincinnati, but now of Leavenworth, Kansas, was assaulted lately by a man named Bond, who struck him with a bat, inflicting three gashes on his head, one blow penetrating the cavity of the brain. It is thought that Mr. Thompson cannot survive his injuries. The parties cognizant of the circumstances of the affair are very reticent, but it is alleged that Mr. Thompson called at the house of a former member of his church, and on leaving, he took the liberty of kissing a young lady of his flock. This so enraged Baum, who is the young woman's lover, that he attacked Mr. Thompson with the result above stated. Baum has thus far eluded arrest.

The Dominion cruiser, Stella Marie, has captured an American fishing schooner, the James Bliss, and brought her into Gaspé. The crew of the latter were engaged in taking halibut when captured was made.

ness. kind to has been will say me, and wi soul, a and M very cl and I t and M kind to and I t Mr. Co me, an a great that ca good a and I ness; me eve all that I am s ness, a all in Kelly manne man. kinde Doyle to me has be was fr friend me, at heaven the ga God w I know prison I pray give th to tea them; them; will as danger and gu thank guilty, heaven my ri truth t the sig thank kinde heaven find on would after t more ti poor in nity w while C and pr friends, what solemn The ju to face but if thought ver's ca How sw In a b It sooth And d My d seek the remem if you a fault, fo vile and come, t who wil happy. morning march friends stretche breast. out one come. friends;

given by the youngest of the three girls and who had not entered the water. She ran home, with the intelligence that she had spoken to the two other children in the water, and they would not answer her, having hid themselves beneath the surface. Miss Nancy Grange, to whom was imparted this information, at once rushed to the mill pond and brought out the dead bodies of the children, aged respectively five and nine years. Sad indeed was the occurrence, and the parents' avowed heartfelt sympathy of all citizens, for seldom or ever was two more beautiful children seen. A funeral sermon was preached at the W. M. Church on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, the church being filled to its utmost capacity. The children of the Cold Water Temple attended in a body, each wearing a mourning badge on the left arm, the deceased having been members of that society, as well as the children of the Sabbath school in connection with the W. M. Church, all of whom seemed to realize, with a depth of feeling, the solemnity of the occasion. Their bodies were afterwards interred in the Vandebogart Cemetery.

ELOPEMENT IN HIGH LIFE.

The "Germania" which left the Hoboken dock last Saturday for Hamburg, carried with her a runaway bridal pair, connected with some of the best families on Long Island. An hour before the steamer sailed there drove on the pier a dilapidated country carriage, drawn by two horses, and with about an inch of dust on it, driven by a gaunt countryman.

The carriage stopped near the gangway. It had no baggage, nor anything to indicate that the occupants were going to Europe. Before the carriage had fairly stopped, the door was suddenly opened, and tall young man, about 28 years of age, stepped out. He was dressed in a black suit, which was concealed by a linen duster that came down below his knee. He wore a high hat, light kids, patent leather boots, and had in his hand a gold headed cane. His features were fair, and he had flowing side whiskers.

As he stepped out of the carriage he peered around with an anxious look. Apparently feeling reassured, he beckoned to the young lady in the carriage to come out. While the driver held the door the gallant assisted the lady out of the rattle box. She was a tall blonde of fine features, and had a very pleasant face. She was dressed in a light alpaca travelling suit, Dolly Varden hat, hair neatly braided, and carried a large brown parasol. She wore an anxious look, as if expecting every moment that her papa with a cowhide would leave in sight. They hurried to the gangway, which they hastily crossed, and then descended to one of the saloons. There they seated themselves in an obscure corner.

Half an hour before the steamer started a thick set man with a sandy moustache, florid face, dressed in the height of the fashion, with a solitary diamond glistening on his shirt front, came up to Officer Kaiser and told him that he was a New York detective, and after a young man and woman whom he suspected were going to Europe, and asked the officer to arrest them. The description the detective gave answered to that of the

THE EXECUTION OF PHEBE CAMPBELL.

Her last Moments—Her Written Statement Read—She Dies Without a Struggle—The Disposition of Her Body, etc.

London, June 20.—The last act in the "Missouri tragedy" took place this morning, and Phoebe Campbell has expired upon the scaffold for the horrible murder for which she was convicted in April last. Perhaps in the annals of the Canadian calendar of crime, there has never been one, which for a time was so completely wrapped in mystery, as the killing of George Campbell. The extraordinary statements made by the prisoner, and the varying nature of them, at once pointed to her as the culprit; but even to within a fortnight ago, when she made the confession implicating herself, and her accomplice Coyle, now in gaol, she stoutly maintained her innocence, as the day of death drew near, and all hope of a reprieve has gone. She appears to have felt it her bounden duty, to tell all she knew about the murder, and it will be remembered how positively she states that Coyle was her accomplice. The latter keeps sullenly silent about the matter, and will neither confess or deny the charge. During a conversation held with him yesterday, he referred to the execution of Mrs. Campbell, as a matter of course, and said, "if she wanted to see him, he did not mind; he should like to wish her good-bye," but he manifested no great anxiety for the interview. Mrs. Campbell kept up her spirits most wonderfully, and yesterday when the reporter visited her, she chatted about various matters, and laughed heartily several times, looking and acting very unlike a person on the verge of eternity. She spent a considerable portion of last night in making little souvenirs of colored cloth, with locks of her hair attached. She layed down for about an hour, but did not sleep. The Rev. Canon Innes, Rev. Geo. Richardson, Rev. Dr. Cooper, Miss Mercer, Mrs. Osborne, and the Matron of the Gaol remained with her the greater part of the night, and attended to her spiritual wants. She was perfectly resigned and even anxious to meet her fate, alluding to the scaffold as being the gate to heaven. She prayed earnestly for Coyle, hoping that he might make a full confession of his share of the crime. While all round her were people weeping there was not the slightest sign of emotion to be detected on her face, nor did her demeanour betray any nervousness. When the executioner—the same who hanged Travis—entered her cell, robed in a hideous mask and gown, she cautiously rose from the bed on which she was sitting at the time, and advanced to meet him. When about to pinion her the matron suggested that the operation should be performed down stairs on the scaffold, to which Mrs. Campbell said, "Oh yes, it will do down stairs."

At twenty-two minutes past eight o'clock she was told her last moments had arrived, and taking the arms of the matron and Miss Mercer, she walked with a firm step, and unmoved countenance, out of her cell, down stairs to the corridor leading to the gaol yard, where she shook hands with a few persons she recognized, wishing them farewell in an earnest tone of voice. She walked steadily up the gangway of the scaffold, care-last words. Prepare to meet me in heaven where I am just now a-going, Good-bye to all, and God bless you all.

(Signed)

'MRS. PHEBE CAMPBELL.'

"My last statement that I made is true both in the sight of me and my God."

She was then placed on the drop, which she knelt upon and prayed earnestly until, at a signal from the Sheriff, the bolt was drawn, and the unfortunate creature launched into eternity. When she fell it was found that the rope was too long, and her feet were but a few inches from the ground, and the hangman had to take the rope in his hand and haul her up.

Death must have been instantaneous, for she never moved a muscle, with the exception of closing of the hand in which she held her handkerchief.

After hanging about half an hour, the body was placed in a plain shell, and an inquest was held, as required by the Act, after which she was interred in the gaol yard, near to Pickard's grave, who was hung in December last.

She was particularly anxious before death that her body should not be given over to the surgeons for dissection, and a promise was made her that it should not be. There was little or no change in her appearance after death, with the exception of a livid mark round the neck, caused by the rope. The face was of course pale, but did not convey the idea of her having suffered any pain. The neck was dislocated completely, the drop being about seven feet.

A black flag was hoisted at the gaol, and for an hour this morning the bell of the cathedral was rung as for a funeral. There were about 50 people present. The Sheriff very properly limited the number of tickets he issued, to the members of the press, a few surgeons, and some members of the legal profession. The affair created a great sensation in the city, and the banks of the river near the gaol were crowded with people, but the scaffold was so arranged, as to prevent any one from the outside of the walls seeing what was transacted on it.

Latest From Europe.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE STOKES' CASE.

New York, June 24.—A tenth juror has been obtained to-day on the Stokes trial.

ARRIVALS.

Queenstown, June 24.—The steamships Wyoming and City of Washington both from New York.

Plymouth, June 24.—S. S. Holsatia from New York.

Queenstown, June 24.—On Saturday night, the steamship Tariafa, from Boston.

SPAIN.

DR. HOWARD.

Madrid, June 24.—The affairs of Dr. Howard has at last been officially arranged by Minister Sickles and Senor Martos, Minister of Foreign affairs. The American Government

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Mr. John Charlton is the Reform candidate for North Norfolk.

A lady in Milwaukee has just buried her seventeenth husband.

Ripe strawberries for sale in the shops.

Cases of small-pox still occur in Toronto.

Buffaloes invade the streets of Kansas frontier towns.

A Compton, Cal., artesian well spouts speckled trout.

The merchants of Kingston have resolved unanimously to close their places of business at six o'clock, sharp, except on Saturdays.

A large Welsh colony is being organized to settle in Nebraska next September.

A California farmer can ride twenty-seven miles in a straight line without going of his own property.

Hon. Malcolm Cameron comes out a full-fledged Reformer, much to the disgust of the "Knights of Riel."

The fifth reward, Hon. Colonel Gray has been appointed Chief Justice of Manitoba. Who will receive the price of his submission to the Knights of Riel next.

Empress Engine is about to undergo an operation for a disease of the face that will probably disfigure her for life.

James A. Henderson, Esq., Barrister and Master in Chancery, Kingston, is gazetted deputy Judge of Frontenac.

A London street has been named after Lothair, the hero of Disraeli's novel.

Col. Higinbotham has been unanimously nominated as the Reform candidate for Wellington Centre.

Mr. J. G. Bigger accepted a nomination for East Northumberland in the Reform interests.

It is said that, especially during the racing season, Mr. Grant prefers studs to Schurz.

Henry Scheele committed suicide in Worcester last Saturday, by hanging up a scythe in a barn and running against it.

Mr. M. C. Cameron, M. P., was yesterday unanimously nominated for South Huron by the Reformers of that Riding.

The Halifax papers announce the death of the Hon. Albert Smith, for a number of years Council of the United States at that port.

The settlement of Napoleon's civil list shows that France owes the ex-Emperor three million francs. President Thiers has directed that same to be paid.

The Civil Service Rifles will cease to be Rifles and Independent Companies, and will hereafter be attached to and form part of the Governor Generals' Foot Guard.

Cornell University has 395 students, and prints its own register and text books. It has forty-nine professors, and asks for eight more. Its gifts have amounted to $100,000 a year since it was opened in 1868.

The Woman's Journal says that a Newark insurance company be beckoned to the young lady in the carriage to come out. While the driver held the door the gallant assisted the lady out of the rattle box. She was a tall blonde of fine features, and had a very pleasant face. She was dressed in a light alpaca travelling suit, Dolly Varden hat, hair neatly braided, and carried a large brown parasol. She wore an anxious look, as if expecting every moment that her papa with a cowhide would have in sight. They hurried to the gangway, which they hastily crossed, and then descended to one of the saloons. There they seated themselves in an obscure corner.

Half an hour before the steamer started a thick set man with a sandy moustache, florid face, dressed in the height of the fashion, with a solitary diamond glistening on his shirt front, came up to Officer Kaiser and told him that he was a New York detective, and after a young man and woman whom he suspected were going to Europe, and asked the officer to arrest them. The description the detective gave answered to that of the runaway couple.

Officer Kaiser asked the detective what the charge was against them, and said if he would be justified in making the arrest he would willingly do it. The detective refused to state the nature of the charge, so the officer refused to make an arrest, as he declared that he wanted to know for what cause he should arrest people. The would-rd detective left without making an arrest.

When the steamer had departed, Officer Kaiser went to the gaunt countryman, who was watching the noble vessel as she was swinging out into the stream, and questioned him about his late passengers. The countryman was very guarded in his answers. He would give no account of himself, but said he brought a young couple from Long Island, who had run away from home, and were married in New York. The groom's name was George Edward Brown, and the bride's Clara Louisa Smith, both belonging to some of the best families on Long Island. Early on Saturday, at an appointed time and place, they clandestinely met, and he carried them to New York, as they wished to avoid the ears. The carriage was heavily curtained, and in the morning he carried them to a minister up town where they were married. The minister received $20, of which he gave him $5 as a commission.

At 1 o'clock the countryman was ordered to wait for them at Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. After they had been made one, they went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they took breakfast, and then went out shopping on Sixth avenue, but they were cautious about their movements. Their baggage had been shipped on Friday directly for Hamburg.

They returned to Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they dined, and at the appointed hour they got into the carriage and were driven to Hoboken. The countryman got $25 for his job.

Shortly after the steamer sailed a fine carriage, with prancing steeds, driven by a man in showy livery, came dashing on the pier. An elderly woman forced her head out of a window, and almost fainted when she discovered that the steamer had already sailed. Seeing officer Kaiser near by she called him, and asked him whether he saw a young lady go aboard the steamer, and then gave a description of her. The officer replied affirmatively, and added that he might make a full confession of his share of the crime. While all round her were people weeping there was not the slightest sign of emotion to be detected on her face, nor did her demeanour betray any nervousness. When the executioner—the same who hanged Travis—entered her cell, robed in a hideous mask and gown, she cautiously rose from the bed on which she was sitting at the time, and advanced to meet him. When about to pinion her the matron suggested that the operation should be performed down stairs on the scaffold, to which Mrs. Campbell said, "Oh yes, it will do down stairs."

At twenty-two minutes past eight o'clock she was told her last moments had arrived, and taking the arms of the matron and Miss Mercer, she walked with a firm step, and unmoved countenance, out of her cell, down stairs to the corridor leading to the gaol yard, where she shook hands with a few persons she recognized, wishing them farewell in an earnest tone of voice. She walked steadily up the gangway of the scaffold, carefully gathering up the skirts of her long black dress, as if afraid of soiling or stepping upon it, and turning her back to the persons present, submitted without a tremor to the operation of being pinioned, watching with a curious gaze, the movements of the executioner. While this was going on the Rev. Mr. Innis read the following statement:

June 19th, 1872.—My dear friends—I now speak to let you know how thankful I be to you for your kindness. The Sheriff has been very kind to me, and Mr. Samuel Glass has been very kind, and Mr. Innis I will say that he has labored hard for me, and done all that lay in his power and with the help of God to save my soul, and I now thank him for it; and Mr. Richardson, he attended me very close, and done what he could, and I thank him for his kindness; and Mr. Nash has also been very kind to me, and done what he could, and I thank him for his kindness; and Mr. Cooper done what he could for me, and I thank him, and there was a great many dear Christian friends that called to see me, and gave me a good advice, the same as all others; and I thank them for all their kindness; and Miss Mercer has visited me ever since I was here, and done all that lay in her power for me, and I am so thankful to her for her kindness, and trust that I will meet them all in heaven. I now thank Mr. Kelly for his kindness, and his kind manner to me, poor unfortunate woman. He and Mr. McIntosh for his kindness, and I now thank dear Mrs. Doyle for her kindness and goodness to me in my long confinement. She has been a mother to me when mine was far away, and a friend to the friendless when mine was far from me, and God will open the door of heaven to her. I say nothing about the gooder's kindness, but I pray that God will forgive all I have done, and I know he will, too. I thank the prisoners all for their kindness, and I pray to God to bless them, and give them His Holy Spirit to them, to teach them to guide and direct them; and my prayer has been for them, that my great and loving God will awake them to a sense of their danger, and hope God will bless them, and guide them for ever. I now thank the jury for trying me in guilty, and hope I will meet them in heaven, and I thank the Judge for my right sentence, and say for a truth they done what was right in the sight of God and man; and I thank the Latest From Europe.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE STOKES' CASE.

New York, June 24.—A tenth juror has been obtained to-day on the Stokes trial.

ARRIVALS.

Queenstown, June 24.—The steamships Wyoming and City of Washington both from New York.

Plymouth, June 24.—S. S. Holsatia from New York.

Queenstown, June 24.—On Saturday night, the steamship Tariafa, from Boston.

SPAIN.

DR. HOWARD.

Madrid, June 24.—The affairs of Dr. Howard has at last been officially arranged by Minister Sickles and Senor Martos, Minister of Foreign affairs. The American Government waives the question of the claim of Dr. Howard to American citizenship and places its action upon the ground of friendly intercession in the doctor's behalf for an amnesty to be granted by the Spanish Government.

MINISTER SICKLES.

Madrid, June 25.—The journals of this city deny that the Government of Spain has requested the recall of Minister Sickles.

American Despatches.

UNITED STATES.

WOOLLEN MILLS DESTROYED.

Providence, R. I., June 23.—The Stillwater woollen mill was entirely destroyed by fire this morning; loss $350,000.

THE EIGHT-HOURS MOVEMENT.

New York, June 24.—The Tribune publishes statistics showing that over $1,500,000 have been lost in wages by the strikers so far.

CANADIAN CELEBRATION.

Albany, June 24.—The French Canadian Societies of this city, Troy, and Cohoes celebrated their anniversary of St. John's Day under the auspices of the Albany St. Jean Baptiste Society.

TERRIBLE MATRICIDE.

Buffalo, June 24.—Yesterday afternoon Patrick Morrissey, in his mother's boarding house, while she was preparing dinner, got into an altercation with her, snatched a carving-knife from her hand, and with a blow delivered with savage strength, drove it to the haft in her left breast. She expired in less than five minutes after the blow was struck. None saw the blow struck; but the cook coming into the room, saw Morrissey throw the bloody knife upon the table, and heard him exclaim, "My God! I've killed my mother! I've done it!" He was evidently under the influence of liquor. He is in custody.

A STRANGE STORY.

New York, June 24.—A Washington special says that the State Department has received despatches from Mr. George Holt our Consul at Gaspe Basin, Canada, to the effect that the captain of the Dominion Cutter, "Stella Maria,"

Mr. M. C. Cameron, M. P., was yesterday unanimously nominated for South Huron by the Reformers of that Riding.

The Halifax papers announce the death of the Hon. Albert Smith, for a number of years Council of the United States at that port.

The settlement of Napoleon's civil list shows that France owes the ex-Emperor three million francs. President Thiers has directed that same to be paid.

The Civil Service Rifles will cease to be Rifles and Independent Companies, and will hereafter be attached to and from part of the Governor Generals' Foot Guard.

Cornell University has 395 students, and prints its own register and text books. It has forty-nine professors, and asks for eight more. Its gifts have amounted to $100,000 a year since it was opened in 1868.

The Woman's Journal says that a Newark insurance company refuses to insure married woman's life at any price. The reason, of course, is that poisoning woman by men, in order to collect the insurance upon their life, has become too common to take the risk attendant thereupon.

Lord Lytton, now sixty-nine years old, lives in almost complete retirement, after his health. He stoops, is exceedingly deaf and has altogether a strange look of antiquity. His only son, Owen Meredith, now a middle aged man, is in the diplomatic service. He is very like his father.

Mr. Paige, of Rochester, has invented machines for setting and distributing type, by which one man can set 4,000 ems an hour. A company with $1,000,000 has been organized to manufacture the machine. This will rather take the wind out of the strikers' sails. Machines never strike.

The London Pharmaceutica Journal states that the adulteration of tea with the willow leaf by the Chinese themselves is becoming a trade. The cultivation of the willow for this purpose began some ten years ago, and has gone on steadily increasing, until last year it was estimated that 440,000 pounds of willow leaves were used up in this way. The introduction of from 10 to 20 per cent. of the impurity is common, and no means has yet been pointed out for its detection. The flavor of the willow leaf has no resemblance whatever to that of tea.

Office of Evans Mercer & Co; Wholesale Druggists; Montreal, November, 1871; Mr. James I Fellows; Dear Sir.—We have a large and increasing demand for your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and there is no doubt that as its valuable properties become more generally known, its sale will still further increase.

The best proof of the efficiency and high character of the preparation is that medical men are largely prescribing it; and we hear from Dispensing Chemists that prescriptions for Syr: Hypo: C. Fellows: are daily on the increase.

We are, yours respectfully,
EVANS, MERCE & CO.

After twenty five years' medical experience, we have never met with a remedy worthy of dependence in any Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

It was only as the steamer departed, Officer Kaiser went to the gaunt countryman, who was watching the noble vessel as she was swinging out into the stream, and questioned him about his late passengers. The countryman was very guarded in his answers. He would give no account of himself, but said he brought a young couple from Long Island, who had run away from home, and were married in New York. The groom's name was George Edward Brown, and the bride's Clara Louisa Smith, both belonging to some of the best families on Long Island. Early on Saturday, at an appointed time and place, they clandestinely met, and he carried them to New York, as they wished to avoid the cars. The carriage was heavily curtained, and in the morning he carried them to a minister up town where they were married. The minister received $20, of which he gave him $5 as a commission.

At 1 o'clock the countryman was ordered to wait for them at Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. After they had been made one, they went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they took breakfast, and then went out shopping on Sixth avenue, but they were cautious about their movements. Their baggage had been shipped on Friday directly for Hamburg.

They returned to Fifth Avenue Hotel, where they dined, and at the appointed hour they got into the carriage and were driven to Hoboken. The countryman got $25 for his job.

Shortly after the steamer sailed a fine carriage, with prancing steeds, driven by a man in showy livery, came dashing on the pier. An elderly woman forced her head out of a window, and almost fainted when she discovered that the steamer had already sailed. Seeing officer Kaiser near by she called him, and asked him whether he saw a young lady go aboard the steamer, and then gave a description of her. The officer replied affirmatively, and added that she was accompanied by a young man. The old lady sunk back in seat, weeping bitterly, and ordered the driver to take her home.—New York, Sun.

What it costs to kiss a young lady in Cincinnati.

Rev. J. J. Thompson, formerly pastor of the Christie Methodist Episcopal Church, Cincinnati, but now of Leavenworth, Kansas, was assaulted lately by a man named Bond, who struck him with a hat chet, inflicting three gashes on his head, one blow penetrating the cavity of the brain. It is thought that Mr. Thompson cannot survive his injuries. The parties cognizant of the circumstances of the affair are very reticent, but it is alleged that Mr. Thompson called at the house of a former member of his church, and on leaving, he took the liberty of kissing a young lady of his flock. This so enraged Baum, who is the young woman's lover, that he attacked Mr. Thompson with the result above stated. Baum has thus far eluded arrest.

The Dominion cruiser, Stella Marie, has captured an American fishing schooner, the James Bliss, and brought her into Gaspé. The crew of the latter were engaged in taking halibut when captured was made.

thankful I be to you for your kindness. The Sheriff has been very kind to me, and Mr. Samuel Glass has been very kind, and Mr. Innis I will say that he has labored hard for me, and done all that lay in his power and with the help of God to save my soul, and I now thank him for it; and Mr. Richardson, he attended me very close, and done what he could, and I thank him for his kindness; and Mr. Nash has also been very kind to me, and done what he could, and I thank him for his kindness; and Mr. Cooper done what he could for me, and I thank him, and there was a great many dear Christian friends that called to see me, and gave me a good advice, the same as all others; and I thank them for all their kindness; and Miss Mercer has visited me ever since I was here, and done all that lay in her power for me, and I am so thankful to her for her kindness, and trust that I will meet them all in heaven. I now thank Mr. Kelly for his kindness, and his kind manner to me, poor unfortunate woman. He and Mr. McIntosh for his kindness, and I now thank dear Mrs. Doyle for her kindness and goodness to me in my long confinement. She has been a mother to me when mine was far away, and a friend to the friendless when mine was far from me, and God will open the door of heaven to her. I say nothing about the gaoler's kindness, but I pray that God will forgive all I have done, and I know he will, too. I thank the prisoners all for their kindness, and I pray to God to bless them, and give them His Holy Spirit to them, to teach them to guide and direct them; and my prayer has been for them, that my great and loving God will awake them to a sense of their danger, and hope God will bless them, and guide them for ever. I now thank the jury for bringing me in guilty, and hope I will meet them in heaven, and I thank the Judge for my right sentence, and say for a truth they done what was right in the sight of God and man; and I thank the Queen's Counsel for his kindness, and hope to meet him in heaven. They all done their best to find out the murder, and I say it would have been wrong to let me free after that dreadful crime. I deserve more than I am getting, to think my poor husband was launched into eternity without a moment's warning, while God has spared me to repent and prepare for death. Oh my dear friends, I hope you take warning by what you see and hear. It is a solemn thing to die if not prepared. The judgment bar of God is dreadful to face if one's sins is not forgiven, but if your sins is forgiven, the thought of dying is sweet to a believer's ear.

How sweet the name of Jesus sounds
In a believer's ear,
It soothes his sorrows, heals his wounds,
And drives away his fear.

My dear fellow creatures, I pray seek the Lord while he may be found, remember my last wishes to you all; if you are not saved it is your own fault, for he is to save to the utmost vile and wickedness. My dear friends come, there is room enough for all who will obey his call. Oh, I am so happy. This morning is the happiest morning I ever spent, for I am a day's march nearer home. Oh, my dear friends listen to his call, and his outstretched arms to fold you to his breast. Come just as you are without one plea. Oh, lamb of God, I come. Farewell, my dear grieving friends; remember a dying woman's

American Despatches.

UNITED STATES.

WOOLLEN MILLS DESTROYED.

Providence, R. I., June 23.—The Stillwater woollen mill was entirely destroyed by fire this morning; loss $350,000.

THE EIGHT-HOURS MOVEMENT.

New York, June 24.—The 'Tribune' publishes statistics showing that over $1,500,000 have been lost in wages by the strikers so far.

CANADIAN CELEBRATION.

Albany, June 24.—The French Canadian Societies of this city, Troy, and Cohoes celebrated their anniversary of St. John's Day under the auspices of the Albany St. Jean Baptiste Society.

TERRIBLE MATRICIDE.

Buffalo, June 24.—Yesterday afternoon Patrick Morrissey, in his mother's boarding house, while she was preparing dinner, got into an altercation with her, snatched a carving-knife from her hand, and with a blow delivered with savage strength, drove it to the haft in her left breast. She expired in less than five minutes after the blow was struck. None saw the blow struck; but the cook coming into the room, saw Morrissey throw the bloody knife upon the table, and heard him exclaim, "My God! I've killed my mother! I've done it!" He was evidently under the influence of liquor. He is in custody.

A STRANGE STORY.

New York, June 24.—A Washington special says that the State Department has received despatches from Mr. George Holt our Consul at Gaspé Basin, Canada, to the effect that the captain of the Dominion Cutter, "Stella Marie" captured the American schooner, "James Bless," for an alleged violation of the Dominion fishery laws, and brought her into port with the Dominion flag flying at the peak over the American flag, which was down. Our Consul protested against the insult, but it was repeated. It is understood the action was sanctioned by the highest Dominion authority.

BARBERS' STRIKE.

New York, June 24.—The barbers of 1,700 shops struck for labor hours from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., with an hour for dinner. The strike had scarcely been inaugurated when 1,200 of the shops acceded to the demands of the men. The employees of the remainder are still on strike.

SUICIDES.

Gananoque, Ont., June 25.

Ellen Purcell, aged about 23 years, of the township of Pittsburg, about nine miles west of here, committed suicide by hanging herself to a pine tree. It is supposed she first attempted to drown herself, for when the body was discovered her clothes were wet and torn into rags. The cause of the event is supposed to have been a disappointment in love.

West Winchester, June 25.

A man near Vernon, named Liscumb, committed suicide this morning by cutting his throat while hoeing potatoes, his mind having become deranged by sunstroke a few days previously.

his only son, Owen Meredith, now a middle aged man, is in the diplomatic service. He is very like his father.

Mr. Paige, of Rochester, has invented machines for setting and distributing type, by which one man can set 4,000 ems an hour. A company with $1,000,000 has been organized to manufacture the machine. This will rather take the wind out of the strikers' sails. Machines never strike.

The London Pharmaceutica Journal states that the adulteration of tea with the willow leaf by the Chinese themselves is becoming a trade. The cultivation of the willow for this purpose began some ten years ago, and has gone on steadily increasing, until last year it was estimated that 440,000 pounds of willow leaves were used up in this way. The introduction of from 10 to 20 per cent of the impurity is common, and no means has yet been pointed out for its detection. The flavor of the willow leaf has no resemblance whatever to that of tea.

Office of Evans Mercer & Co.; Wholesale Druggists; Montreal, November, 1871; Mr. James I. Fellows; Dear Sir.—We have a large and increasing demand for your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and there is no doubt that as its valuable properties become more generally known, its sale will still further increase.

The best proof of the efficiency and high character of the preparation is that medical men are largely prescribing it; and we hear from Dispensing Chemists that prescriptions for Syr. Hypo: C. Fellows: are daily on the increase.

We are, yours respectfully,
EVANS, MERCHE & CO.

After twenty five years' medical experience, we have never met with a remedy worthy of dependence in any Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. This article really is reliable, and successful in a Majority of cases.

Tooth ache preceeds from ague in the face, of operating upon the exposed nerve of a decayed tooth. Rub the gum thoroughly with the finger, wet with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, heat the face well, and lap a flannel wet with the liniment into the cavity of the tooth on cotton.

The system frequently gets out of order and should be at once regulated, else other troubles will cease; when physic is needed take Parson's Purgative Pills; they are a safe, wholesome, and not a mild medicine.

NOT QUIT SO.—"It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected," but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the same neglect, and without the excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which was done more than anything else heretofore known to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers; their horses the sufferers: to avoid both use "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy," and you will be satisfied with a result. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co., is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ontario, proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

NAPANEE MARKETS.

Napanee June 7, 1872.

Rye	0 60 @ 0 60
Barley	0 50 @ 0 55
Wheat	1 40 @ 1 45
Buckwheat	0 60 @ 0 65
Corn	0 60 @ 0 64
Peas	0 65 @ 0 70
Oats	0 40 @ 0 45
Onions per bush	1 50 @ 1 50
Flour, 100 lbs	3 30 @ 3 35
Mutton per lb	0 05 @ 0 07
Beef per cwt	4 00 @ 5 00
Eggs per doz	0 11 @ 0 12
Chickens per pair	0 40 @ 0 40
Turkeys	0 75 @ 1 25
Butter per lb	0 12 @ 0 13
Cheese per lb	0 12 @ 0 13
Pork per cwt	6 00 @ 7 00
Lard per lb	0 7 @ 0 0
Hay per ton	14 00 @ 15 08
Hides	7 00 @ 7 50
Potatoes per bush	0 50 @ 0 60
Wood	0 50 @ 0 50

BREAKFAST - EPPS'S COCOA - GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills.—[Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., HOMOEOPATHIC CHEMISTS, LONDON.]

THE GREAT FEMALE REMEDY JOB MOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES.
It is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity. These Pills should not be taken by Females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are apt to bring on Miscarriage, but at any other time, they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Headaches and Wind, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.
JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.
$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Nicholas L. Lyman, New York City, General Agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle containing 30 Pills, by return mail.
Sold in Napanee by R. and J. Perry, Grange and Sons, J. C. Hoffman, Dettlor and Scott; and H. R. Hathorn and Son, Mill Point, Newburgh and Hoffman, Tanworth; and all medicine-vendors.

A Chemical Food and Nutritive Tonic.

THE GREAT POPULARITY OF DR. WHEELER'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALSVEA is owing to its perfect reliability in building up constitutions run down by the diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, which arise from Dyspepsia or Feeble Digestion, and result in a poor blood and breaking down of the general health. It effectually relieves pain or a sense of fullness in the Stomach after eating, Heart-burn, Flatulence, Constipation from torpid Liver, Bilious Headaches, Irritation of the Kidneys and Bladder from the real deposit in the Urine, irritability and restlessness, followed by nervous prostration and general debility, which inevitably arise from the one common cause, Dyspepsia or Feeble Digestion. All those delicate constitutions that lack energy and vitality, and are unable to arouse themselves to any exertion or undergo any fatigue, will be astonished at the rapidity with which the whole system is raised out of this prostrate condition and energized and vitalized under the use of this preparation. It is harmless, delicious, does not lose its effect, and is not followed by a relapse. Sold at $1.00.

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL.
Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know any-

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

GIRL WANTED.

Wanted a good general servant, washing given out. Apply to MRS. LESLIE.
At Bank of British North America.

PHOTOGRAPHING! PHOTOGRAPHS.

The subscriber having purchased the late Richardson Gallery.
and refitted and remodelled the premises so far as to make this one of the best galleries in the Province, and having secured the services of a first-class Artist, from London, England, he would announce to the public that he is prepared to execute all the latest designs in the Photographic Art, on the shortest notice.
Remember the place, over Spangenberg & Smith's. Sign of the town Clock.

S. W. CANNIFF.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1869.

In the matter of WILLISON DEGROFF, an Insolvent.

The Creditors of the Insolvent are notified to meet at the office of the undersigned Assignee, in the Town of Napanee, on Friday the 12th day of July next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to advise with him as to the disposal of Insolvents interest in part lot No. 45 in the Village of Colebrook, in this County, the said lot having been offered for sale by public auction, but the bidding therefor being insufficient was withdrawn by the Assignee W. S. ROBINSON Assignee,
Napanee Ont., 27th June 1872.

Prince Edward Insur'ce Co

A CARD.

Pictou, 25th June, 1872.

SIR,—

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of $820.00, being the amount of my claim for loss by fire which occurred on 16th March, 1872.

I am, Sir,

Your ob'dt serv't,

ANDREW YARWOOD.

To the Secretary
Prince Edward Mut. Ins. Co., Pictou.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN,

THAT THE

Board of Audit,

for the County of Lennox and Addington will meet to audit the public accounts at

The Court House,

IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE,

On FRIDAY, 5th day of July,

A.D. 1872, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

W. A. REIVE,

Clerk of the Peace,

County of Lennox and Addington.

Office of the Clerk of the Peace, Co. of Lennox and Addington, Napanee June 25th, 1872.

THE SEMI-ANNUAL

Public Examination!

of the Pupils attending the

Napanee High School

NEW ADVERTISEMENT

Dodge's Mower & Self-Rake, Combined. FOR THE HARVEST OF 1872.

To those interested in Agricultural pursuits I beg leave to offer for your consideration a few suggestions touching your interests in connection with Mowing and Reaping Machines.

Every farmer who is about to purchase a machine should secure the best the market affords. The

DODGE SELF-RAKE,

Is acknowledged by all who have used, or seen it used, the Best ever Introduced Here.

And by the uniform satisfaction it gave last season, has the enthusiastic recommendation of every purchaser.

I have no hesitation in saying the days of hand-raking will soon be among the things of the past.

The very idea of buying a machine is

TO SAVE LABOR,

and the machine that will save the most other things being equal, is the one for you to purchase.

My intention is to continue the manufacture of Mowers and Reapers, and to supply you with

The best that Genius and Skill can Produce.

I do not claim to have invented a new machine, but I do claim the use by purchase of

THE BEST PATTERN

that the best inventive talent of the country has yet produced. This is no assumption made to palm off upon the public an inferior machine; but is based upon fact, fully attested, of which the proofs are both Positive and Abundant.

These Machines are made of the Best Materials that can be procured, and put up in the best Possible Manner. Should any part fail in material or workmanship, it will be Refurnished Without Charge.

JOHN HERRING

THE GREAT POPULARITY OF DR. WHEELER'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISVEA is owing to its perfect reliability in building up constitutions run down by the disease of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, which arise from Dyspepsia or Feeble Digestion, and result in poor blood and breaking down of the general health. It effectually relieves pain or a sense of fullness in the Stomach after eating, Heart-burn, Flatulence, Constipation from torpid Liver, Rheumatic Headaches, Irritation of the Kidneys and Bladder from the red deposit in the Urine, irritability and restlessness, followed by nervous prostration and general debility, which inevitably arise from the one common cause, Dyspepsia or Feeble Digestion. All those delicate constitutions that lack energy and vitality, and are unable to arouse themselves to any exertion or undergo any fatigue, will be astonished at the rapidity with which the whole system is raised out of this prostrate condition and energized and vitalized under the use of this preparation. It is harmless, delicious, does not lose its effect, and is not followed by a relapse. Sold at $1.00.

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

You cannot say where it is used. It is the cheapest Medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Erysipelas. Fifty cents worth has cured an Old Stomach Complaint. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles and Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any case of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breasts. One bottle has cured a lame Boy of eight years standing. Dr. J. H. Thompson, of Brooklyn, N.Y., says, "I have used thirty bottles for a Sore of your Oil, which effected a Wonderful Cure." A Crooked Limb by six applications. Another man had Asthma for years, says, "I have half of a cent bottle left, and I should not buy it if I could get no more."

Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N.Y., writes: "One small bottle of your Electric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper for five years." Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N.Y., writes: "Your Electric Oil cured me of Brachitis in one week." Dealers all over the country say: We have never sold a medicine that has given such complete satisfaction as this.

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good to take as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. It will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense. It is sold by one or more dealers in every place where these circulars are found. Price, 25 cents. Why not buy it today? Prepared by

S. X. THOMAS, Phelps, N.Y., and NORTHROP & LYMAN, Newcastle, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion North Electric Selected and Electrified.

Sold in Napanee by Grange and Bros., Detlor and Scott, J. C. Huffman, R. and J. Perry, H. B. Rathbun and Son, Millpoint, Aylsworth and Huffman, Temworth, and all medicine dealers.

Dr. CARSON'S MEDICINES.

THE GREATEST PUBLIC BENEFIT OF THE AGE.

And for which notice the Testimonials (a few of them enclosed in wrappers around each bottle) with a numerous list of respectable persons' names, who testify to the superior qualities of his various Compounds, viz:

Lung Syrup.
Constipation Bitters.
Liver Compound.
Cough Drops.
Worm Specific.

Pain Reliever, etc.
The above Medicines can be obtained at Grange and Bros and Detlor and Scott's, Napanee; J. J. Watson's, Adolphustown; P. D. Booth, Odessa; Dr. Price, Bath; James Hayden, Clark's Mills; Allan Eaton, Newburgh.

Why Reasons

5 Reasons

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN,

THAT THE Board of Audit,
for the County of Lennox and Addington will meet to audit the public accounts at

The Court House,
IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE,

On FRIDAY, 5th day of July,
A. D. 1872, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

W. A. REEVE,
Clerk of the Peace,
County of Lennox and Addington,
Office of the Clerk of the Peace, Co.
of Lennox and Addington, Napanee
June 24th, 1872.

THE SEMI-ANNUAL

Public Examination!

of the Pupils attending the

Napanee High School

Will commence on

WEDNESDAY, 26th inst.,

at 9 a.m., and continue until noon on Friday the 20th.

The closing exercises, commencing at 1.15 on Friday, will consist of Readings, Essays, Letters, &c., after which Prizes will be awarded and Addresses delivered.

A full attendance of all persons interested in Education is respectfully requested.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Principal.

June 17th, 1872.

FRESH TEAS

Just received at

J. AYLSWORTH'S

Caution. Caution.

To the Public of the British Provinces of North America.

I beg most respectfully to acquaint the public of the British North American provinces that in May, 1871, I caused the business at 89, Maiden Lane, New York, for the sale of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, which were up to that time prepared by William Brown, now deceased, to be closed. I regret to say that I have reason to know that the management of the late business had for some years, and in many ways, been most corrupt, and it may be that the Pills and Ointment were not prepared with that care I have always desired.

Those who do not wish to be deceived by whooping spurious medicines, which are now likely to emanate from the States or elsewhere, but to possess themselves of the genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, manufactured by me in London, England, will do well to see that each pot and box bears the British Government stamp, on which is engraved the words "HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT," and that the address on the label is 533 OXFORD STREET, LONDON, where only they are manufactured, and in no other part of the world. The retail prices are on the labels in British currency, and not in dollars and cents.

No representative of mine will ever travel through any part of the British Provinces, or the United States, either to sell or to take orders for my Pills and Ointment, and as I have reason to believe that attempts will very probably be made to deceive the public in this way by persons calling upon medicine vendors, falsely representing that they are acting for me, and with my knowledge and consent, I deem it advisable to put the public on their guard against any such deceptions.

I most earnestly entreat all those who may read this advertisement that they be pleased, in the public interest, to communicate the purport of the same to their friends that they may not

and the machine that will save the most other things being equal, is the one for you to purchase.

My intention is to continue the manufacture of Mowers and Reapers, and to supply you with

The best that Genius and Skill can Produce.

I do not claim to have invented a new machine, but I do claim the use by purchase of

THE BEST PATTERN

that the best inventive talent of the country has yet produced. This is no assumption made to palm off upon the public an inferior machine; but is based upon fact, fully attested, of which the proofs are both Positive and Abundant.

These Machines are made of the Best Materials that can be procured, and put up in the best Possible Manner. Should any part fail in material or workmanship, it will be Refurnished Without Charge.

JOHN HERRING.

Napanee, June 28th, 1872.

SUGARS, SYRUPS

AND TOBACCOES, VERY CHEAP
AT
J. AYLSWORTH'S.

SEA BATHING.

Excursion Tickets.

RETURN TICKETS VALID UNTIL NOV 1

FROM Napanee to Tadoussac and Return. Riviere du Loup and Return. Portland and Return, etc.

GRANGE & BROTHERS,

Agents.

Napanee, June 12th, 1872.

FORFEITURE

OF

ROAD STOCK!

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

that a General Meeting of the

Richmond Road Co'y

Will be held in the Town Hall, Napanee,

ON

SATURDAY, 29th day of June, '72

at 2 o'clock, p.m., for the purpose of declaring forfeited the shares upon which any of the Instalments called in have not been paid.

By Order,

W. V. DETLOR,

Secretary and Treas.

Richmond Road Company's Office, Napanee, June 17th, 1872.

FOR SALE.

Lots Nos. 19 and 20,

in the Town of Napanee,

being the corner and adjoining lot immediately above the residence of

J. C. Huffman, Esq.,

(On East street, road leading

Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, California

Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas city and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa.

A. A. A.

ARNOT'S ARNICA ANODYNE!
New Pain Reliever,

Is the most reliable remedy for all Pain of whatever kind, internal and external.

It is a certain cure for Neuralgia, Toothache, Rheumatic Affections, Inflammatory Sore Throat, Diarrhoea, Cholera Dysentery, Cramps, Colds, Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Flatulence, etc., and all Complaints of the Stomach and Bowels.

It is not a weak or untried Medicine, rashly or carelessly intruded on the pub-

For sale in Kingston by J. G. King, Heath and Gunn, G. S. Hobart; Bath, J. G. McTavish Ross; Gananoque, S. McCammon; Napanee, Detlor and Scott, J. and R. Perry, J. C. Huffman and Grange Bros., also O. D. Sweet Selby.

ICE ICE! ICE!!
PARTIES wishing to be furnished with Ice by the season or otherwise, will please leave their orders
At W. H. BRUTON'S
 as he will commence delivering in a few days.

FIRE-WORKS! FIRE-WORKS!

For QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY!

At W. H. BRUTON'S, opposite GRANGE BLOCK.

A FINE LOT OF FANCY WORKS.

FIRE WHEELS. SKY ROCKETS.
ROMAN CANDLES. SERPENTS.
PIN WHEELS. FIRE CRACKERS.

Wholesale and Retail.

 Country Celebrations furnished reasonable. Please send in your orders early to W. H. BRUTON.
 Napanee, May 17, 1872.

Sign of THE THREE TREES!

TAILORING EXTRAORDINARY

G. BUDDEN, CUTTER.

Stitch! Stitch!! Stitch!!!

No Poverty, Hunger and Dirt.

No song of dolorous pitch.

The Garment was never a Shirt.

100 PIECES CHEESE CLOTH 40 INCHES WIDE at 7c. Per Yard.

But a Coat of Linen so Cool.

Made up in the Latest Style.

The Machine ran out the Spool.

She easily turned with a smile.

I WILL PAY 17c Per Lb. FOR BUTTER, in trade, the Whole Season.

Her eyes were not weary and red.

But lustrous and blue as the sky.

And never a word was said.

While she sang, "How's Celestial for High?"

SALT, SALT. 100 Bbls. CANADIAN SALT, Special Terms to Cheese Factories.

Modern the Song and Machine.

Modern the Coat which she made.

Modern the pretty Pauline.

No place for a Hood to be grave.

300 Pes. of DUNDAS COTTON from 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. being the OLD PRICE.

No dips were burnt out at night.

Her digits were whitest and clean.

Her buskins and hose, a sight

Disclosed as she turned the Machine.

The Balance of MY BOOT STOCK will be CLOSED OUT AT COST.

A dozen or more could she make.

Of these Coats in a short Summer day.

No children squalled for a cake.

They with the Shirt passed away.

FULL LINES of ENGLISH, SCOTCH and CANADIAN TWEEDS.

If Hood could inspect our back shop.

What a sight! to me it would seem

He rather would sit down and stop.

Pleased with the Girl and Machine.

GREAT SHOW of WHITE COUNTERPANES at OLD PRICES.

His Compass would box, I dare say.

His pen would make different scroll.

Nor more would be heard of his lay.

While the needle is true to the pole.

200 PIECES OF AISHTON'S PRINTS at 15c. Per YARD.

These Coats are on Sale at our place.

The subject our own Poet Breeze.

Could hardly have done with more grace.

Remember the Sign of the Trees.

50 PIECES BLACK LUSTRES at REDUCED PRICES.

 Special reduction of 10 to 20 per cent. in price of Clothing to Ministers of the Gospel, members of the Voluntary Fire Brigades and expectant em-

FRESH GOODS
At HENDERSON'S!

NEAR THE POST OFFICE,

Campbell House Block. Napanee.

LARGE STOCK.

POSITIVE — Large, Good, Cheap.
COMPARATIVE — Larger, Better, Cheaper,
SUPERLATIVE — Largest, Best, Cheapest.

ROOM PAPER,
HALL PAPER, BORDERING,
WINDOW SHADES,
STATIONERY,
BLANK BOOKS,
INKS, RACELETS, BROOCHES, NECKLETS,
CROSSES,
 &c., &c., &c.

 INSPECTION INVITED.

MOLLOY HAS REMOVED

To the store lately occupied by R. DOWNEY & BRO.
In the GRANGE BLOCK,
 where he will be found with a Large and Well-Assorted
 Stock of

DRY GOODS,
CLOTHING, BOOTS & SHOES,

&c., Having been purchased for Cash, in the best English and Canadian Markets, will be found to surpass anything he has ever offered before, and with the additional facilities afforded by new premises, can safely say that he can FAVOR-ABLY COMPETE with any of his neighbors. He would call special attention to the following lines, which are REALLY GOOD VALUE!

New Black and Colored Silks,
 New Mantles and Materials,
 New Brilliants, New Piques,
 New Skirts and Corsets,
 New Dress Goods,
 New Shawls, New Prints,
 New Hosiery and Gloves,
 New Parasols, New Hats,
 New Ribbons and New Flowers.

New CLOTHS and TWEEDS.

House-Furnishing Department
 IS COMPLETE WITH

Damask, Lace and Muslin Curtains,
 Summer Quilts, Sheetings and Pillow Cottons.
 Table Linen, Napkins, Towels,
 And everything necessary for a General House-Furnishing.

AS USUAL, HIS STAPLES ARE

MUCH LOWER than his Neighbors

As he makes a Speciality in Ticking, Grey and White Cottons, Denims and Gambroons, Stripe and Fancy Shirtings, all of which will be sure to meet the approval of the

and the machine that will save the most other things being equal, is the one for you to purchase.

My intention is to continue the manufacture of Mowers and Reapers, and to supply you with

The best that Genius and Skill can Produce.

I do not claim to have invented a new machine, but I do claim the use by purchase of

THE BEST PATTERN

that the best inventive talent of the country has yet produced. This is no assumption made to palm off upon the public an inferior machine; but is based upon fact, fully attested, of which the proofs are both Positive and Abundant.

These Machines are made of the Best Materials that can be procured, and put up in the best Possible Manner. Should any part fail in material or workmanship, it will be Refurnished Without Charge.

JOHN HERRING.

Napanee, June 28th, 1872.

SUGARS, SYRUPS

AND TOBACCOES, VERY CHEAP
AT
J. AYLSWORTH'S.

SEA BATHING.

Excursion Tickets.

RETURN TICKETS VALID UNTIL NOV 1

FROM Napanee to Tadoussac and Return, Riviere du Loup and Return, Portland and Return, etc.

GRANGE & BROTHERS,

Agents.

Napanee, June 12th, 1872.

FORFEITURE

OF

ROAD STOCK!

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

that a General Meeting of the

Richmond Road Co'y

Will be held in the Town Hall, Napanee,

ON

SATURDAY, 29th day of June, '72

at 2 o'clock, p.m., for the purpose of declaring forfeited the shares upon which any of the Instalments called in have not been paid.

By Order,

W. V. DETTOR,
Secretary and Treas.

Richmond Road Company's Office, Napanee, June 17th, 1872.

FOR SALE.

Lots Nos. 19 and 20,

in the Town of Napanee,

being the corner and adjoining lot immediately above the residence of

J. C. Huffman, Esq.,

On East street, near Landing

Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, California

Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the 'great Pacific Roads.' 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas city and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the 'Great West,' and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa.

A. A. A.

ARNOT'S ARNICA ANODYNE!
New Pain Reliever.

Is the most reliable remedy for all Pain of whatever kind, internal and external.

It is a certain cure for Neuralgia, Toothache, Rheumatic Affections, Inflammatory Sore Throat, Diarrhea, Cholera Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Flatulence, etc., and all Complaints of the Stomach and Bowels.

It is not a weak or untried Medicine, rashly or carelessly intruded on the pub-

The Balance of MY BOOT STOCK will be CLOSED OUT AT COST.

A dozen or more could she make,
Of these Coats in a short Summer day,
No children squalled for a cake,
They with the Shirt passed away.

FULL LINES of ENGLISH, SCOTCH and CANADIAN TWEEDS.

If Hood could inspect our back shop,
What a sight! to me it would seem
He rather would sit down and stop,
Pleased with the Girl and Machine.

GREAT SHOW of WHITE COUNTERPANES at OLD PRICES.

His Compass would box, I dare say,
His pen would make different scroll,
Nor more would be heard of his lay,
While the needle is true to the pole.

200 PIECES of AISHTON'S PRINTS at 15c. Per YARD.

These Coats are on Sale at our place,
The subject our own Poet Breeze,
Could hardly have done with more grace.
Remember the Sign of the Trees.

50 PIECES BLACK LUSTRES at REDUCED PRICES.

Special reduction of 10 to 20 per cent. in price of Clothing to Ministers of the Gospel, members of the Volunteer force, members of Fire Brigades, and expectant employees of projected railways.

E. HOOPER.

Napanee, May 31, 1872

IMPORTANT

NEW DISCOVERY!

W. R. McRAE & CO.

HAVE MUCH PLEASURE in announcing that they have received their usual Large stock of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Tobaccos,

Domestic and Foreign Liquors.

All of which will be sold at the LOWEST CASH PRICES

Teas. Teas. Teas.

50 Chests Young Hyson, Very Low.

20 Chests Gunpowder, Very Cheap

25 Chests Twankay, Lower than Ever,

25 Chests Japan, Extra Choice,

All of which will be sold to the Trade at prices

LOWER than ever known in the Dominion.

Farmers and Country Merchants should avail themselves of this opportunity, as those TEAS MUST ALL BE SOLD by the 1st June.

W. R. McRAE & CO.

Sugars. Sugars. Sugars.

100 Barrels Bright Grocery Sugar, at Montreal Prices, at

W. R. McRAE & CO.'S.

Tobaccos. Tobaccos.

50 Boxes Prince of Wales Chewing Tobaccos,

50 Boxes Solace, all at Very Low Prices,

Wholesale and Retail.

At W. R. McRAE & CO.'S

Whisky. Whisky.

ONE CAR LOAD JUST ARRIVED.

Merchants and Hotel-Keepers should avail themselves of this opportunity, as we are Bound to Sell by the Barrel, at Distillers' Prices, and save your freight, at

W. R. McRAE & CO.'S.

Foreign Wines.

Fine French Brandy, by the gallon,

Very old Jamaica Rum, by the gallon,

Very fine Holland Gin, by the gallon,

Very old Port Wine, Pure Juice.

Sherry Wine, Very Cheap,

Ginger Wine, Finest Quality.

Raspberry Syrup

KEEP COOL.

Cases Barton Guister Claret. Cases Green Seal Champagne,

New

Hou

Damask

And eve

MUC

As he Cottons, ings, all public.

N
Drug Sto

2
Napa

B O

R.

Larg

B O

Ever br

Prur

I

S H

G A

SMA

A L

GLAS

W

Also, a

Omaha! connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas city and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa.

A. A. A.

ARNOT'S ARNICA ANODYNE! New Pain Reliever,

Is the most reliable remedy for all Pain of whatever kind, internal and external. It is a certain cure for Neuralgia, Toothache, Rheumatic Affections, Inflammatory Sore Throat, Diarrhoea, Cholera Dysentery, Cramps, Colds, Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Flatulence, etc., and all Complaints of the Stomach and Bowels.

It is not a weak or untried Medicine, rashly or carelessly intruded on the public attention, but has been used by thousands in this immediate vicinity, as well as elsewhere through Canada, and in every case, as far as known, with the best results. Dr. ARNOT the eminent Physician whose name it bears, was well known as one of the most distinguished Medical Practitioners in the Empire, and this Remedy has been pronounced by all who have experienced its wonderful curative powers as well worthy of its author's reputation.

No one need continue a sufferer from pain when by the timely and proper use of A. A. A. the suffering is sure to be alleviated immediately, and entirely banished after a few applications. Its taste and odor are both agreeable, so that when taken gives no offence to the most delicate palate and when inhaled through the nostrils refreshes and stimulates the olfactory nerves more than the best Eau de Cologne.

If you suffer Neuralgia use A. A. A. If you are a martyr to Toothache use A. A. A.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatism use A. A. A.

If you are attacked by Diphtheria, use A. A. A.

If you have been Burnt, or scalded, or Frost Bitten, Bruised, use A. A. A. If you have Chills on your feet or hands, use A. A. A.

If you are troubled with Diarrhoea or Colic, or Cramps in the Stomach, use A. A. A.

If you suffer from any painful affection in any part of the body, internal or external, use Arnot's Arnica Anodyne, and you will not be disappointed.

For sale in Kingston by J. G. King, Heath and Gunn, G. S. Hobart; Bath, J. G. McFavish Ross; Gananoque S. McCammon; Napanee, Detlor and Scott, J. and R. Perry, J. C. Huffman, and Grange Bros., also O. D. Sweet, Selby.

Teas.

50 Chests Young Hyson, Very Low.

20 Chests Gunpowder, Very Cheap

25 Chests Twankay, Lower than Ever.

25 Chests Japan, Extra Choice,

All of which will be sold to the Trade at prices

LOWER than ever known in the Dominion.

Farmers and Country Merchants should avail themselves of this opportunity, as those TEAS MUST ALL BE SOLD by the 1st June.

W. R. McRAE & CO.

Sugars.

100 Barrels Bright Grocery Sugar, at Montreal Prices, at

W. R. McRAE & CO.'S.

Tobaccos.

50 Boxes Prince of Wales Chewing Tobaccos.

50 Boxes Solace, all at Very Low Prices,

Wholesale and Retail.

At W. R. McRAE & CO.'S

Whisky.

ONE CAR LOAD JUST ARRIVED.

Merchants and Hotel-Keepers should avail themselves of this opportunity, as we are Bound to Sell by the Barrel, at Distillers' Prices, and save your freight, at

W. R. McRAE & CO.'S.

Foreign Wines.

Fine French Brandy, by the gallon,

Very old Jamaica Rum, by the gallon,

Very fine Holland Gin, by the gallon

Very old Port Wine, Pure Juice.

Sherry Wine, Very Cheap,

Ginger Wine, Finest Quality.

Raspberry Syrup

KEEP COOL.

Cases Barton Guisier Claret. Cases Green Seal Champagne,

At W. R. McRAE & CO.'S.

MESS PORK—25 bbls. Heavy Mess Pork for sale

At W. R. McRAE & CO.'S.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Teas.

Largest, Cheapest, and

ASSORTED STOCKS OF

BOOTS AND SHOES

Ever brought to Napanee, comprising every

LADIES', MISSES and CHILD

Prunellas, Kid, Goat &

BELMORA

LADIES', MISSES and CHILD

SHOES and SLIPPERS

MENS' and BOY'S

GAITERS, BALKIES

&c., &c., which we offer at

SMALL Advance ON

JUST OPEN

A Large Assortment of New and Elegant

GLASS SETTS. BOWLS.

WATER PITCHERS, &c.

Also, a Large Stock of TRUNKS, which we

R. RENNIE

Napanee, April 26th, 1871.

GRAND AND ATTRACTIVE

New SPRING DRY GOODS at R. R.

WE are now showing a magnificent stock of New Bl

Lace Shawls and Mantles, Rich Louise Scarfs and Silk Mantles, New Plain and Figured Dress Gownings, Mourning Goods of all kinds, Grenadines, Dolly Varden Prints and Muslins, Re Corsets, White Marseilles, White and Colored Brilliants, French Pique, Parasols, Mantle Cloths, and a

Staple & House-Keep'g Goods, Broad

We are bound to GIVE BARGAINS

Cash Business Only, and can the

CHEAPER THAN THE OTHERS

Tailoring, Millinery and Dress-Making

Napanee, April 18th 1872.

FRESH GOODS

At HENDERSON'S!

NEAR THE POST OFFICE,

Campbell House Block, Napanee.

LARGE STOCK.

POSITIVE — Large, Good, Cheap.
COMPARATIVE — Larger, Better, Cheaper,
SUPERLATIVE — Largest, Best, Cheapest.

ROOM PAPER,
HALL PAPER, BORDERING,
WINDOW SHADES,
STATIONERY,
BLANK BOOKS,
INKS, RACELETS, BROOCHES, NECKLETS,
CROSSES,
&c., &c., &c.

INSPECTION INVITED.

MOLLOY HAS REMOVED

To the store lately occupied by R. DOWNEY & BRO.
In the GRANGE BLOCK,
where he will be found with a Large and Well-Assorted
Stock of

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, BOOTS & SHOES,

&c., Having been purchased for Cash, in the best English and Canadian Markets, will be found to surpass anything he has ever offered before, and with the additional facilities afforded by new premises, can safely say that he can FAVORABLY COMPETE with any of his neighbors. He would call special attention to the following lines, which are REALLY GOOD VALUE!

New Black and Colored Silks,
New Mantles and Materials,
New Brilliants, New Piques,
New Skirts and Corsets,
New Dress Goods,
New Shawls, New Prints,
New Hosiery and Gloves,
New Parasols, New Hats,
New Ribbons and New Flowers.

New CLOTHS and TWEEDS.

THE House-Furnishing Department

IS COMPLETE WITH

Damask, Lace and Muslin Curtains,
Summer Quilts, Sheetings and Pillow Cottons,
Table Linen, Napkins, Towels,
And everything necessary for a General House-Furnishing.

AS USUAL, HIS STAPLES ARE

MUCH LOWER than his Neighbors

As he makes a Speciality in Ticking, Grey and White Cottons, Denims and Gambroons, Stripe and Fancy Shirts, all of which will be sure to meet the approval of the

DOMINION STORE.

A. C. DAVIS,

Begs to announce to his customers and the inhabitants of Lennox and Addington, that he has now in stock and will show one of the most attractive, best selected, and

Cheapest Stocks of

DRY GOODS. BOOTS and SHOES, HATS and CAPS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, CARPETS & OIL CLOTHS.

Ever before shown in this locality, and which having been bought on the most advantageous terms, and before the great advance of goods, customers will get the benefit of the same by Purchasing at the DOMINION STORE.

Clothing Department Enlarged.

The Great Increase in sales in the above department has necessitated the Enlargement of the same. It is now superintended by one of the Best Cutters this Continent can Produce.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED IN EVERY INSTANCE.

Parties in want of Clothing the next month would do well to leave their orders at once.

200 Pcs. Blk & Blue Br'dcloths

CAN. & ENG. TWEEDS, TO SELECT FROM.

Tweed Suits Made to Order from $10 to $18.

BLACK SUITS from $15, $18, $20, &c.

Also in stock, of my own manufacture, a large stock of MEN'S BOYS' and YOUTHS' CLOTHING.

The public will ascertain by calling that the above advertisement will be faithfully performed in every particular.

Employment given to FIRST-CLASS COAT, VEST and PANT MAKERS. None others need apply.

NEW BRILLIANTS, NEW PIQUES,
New Skirts and Corsets,
New Dress Goods,
New Shawls, New Prints,
New Hosiery and Gloves,
New Parasols, New Hats,
New Ribbons and New Flowers.

New CLOTHS and TWEEDS.

THE House-Furnishing Department

IS COMPLETE WITH

Damask, Lace and Muslin Curtains,
Summer Quilts, Sheetings and Pillow Cottons.
Table Linen, Napkins, Towels,
And everything necessary for a General House-Furnishing.

AS USUAL, HIS STAPLES ARE

MUCH LOWER than his Neighbors

As he makes a Speciality in Ticking, Grey and White Cottons, Denims and Gambroons, Stripe and Fancy Shirtings, all of which will be sure to meet the approval of the public.

N.B.—NOTE THE PLACE, GRANGE BLOCK, TWO DOORS WEST OF DRUG STORE.

T. MOLLOY.

20 Cases BOOTS, SHOES and CLOTHING.
Napanee, May 3rd, 1872.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

R. RENNIE & CO.

Have now on hand, one of the Largest, Cheapest, and Best,

ASSORTED STOCKS OF

BOOTS AND SHOES

Ever brought to Napanee, comprising every description of

LADIES', MISSES and CHILDREN'S

Prunellas, Kid, Goat & Morocco

BEL MORAL

LADIES', MISSES and CHILDREN'S

SHOES and SLIPPERS

MENS' and BOY'S

GAITERS, BALMORALS

&c., &c., which we offer at a

SMALL Advance ON COST!

JUST OPENED

A Large Assortment of New and Elegant Designs in

GLASS SETTS, BOWLS, NAPPIES,

WATER PITCHERS, GOBLETs, &c

Also, a Large Stock of TRUNKS, which we offer at COST.

necessitated the Enlargement of the same. It is now superintended by one of the Best Cutters this Continent can Produce.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED IN EVERY INSTANCE.

Parties in want of Clothing the next month would do well to leave their orders at once.

200 Pcs. Blk & Blue Br'dcloths
CAN. & ENG. TWEEDS, TO SELECT FROM.

Tweed Suits Made to Order from $10 to $18.

BLACK SUITS from $15, $18, $20, &c.

Also in stock, of my own manufacture, a large stock of MEN'S BOYS' and YOUTHS' CLOTHING.

The public will ascertain by calling that the above advertisement will be faithfully performed in every particular.

Employment given to FIRST-CLASS COAT, VEST and PANT MAKERS. None others need apply.

A. C. DAVIS.

Napanee, April 26th, 1872.

WHEELER & WILSON SILENT SEWING MACHINE.

OFFICE AND ROOMS DIRECTLY OPPOSITE HENDERSON'S BOOKSTORE, DUNDAS STREET, NAPANEE.

Where in addition to our Machines will be found a supply of

WHEELS, FIXINGS, &c., BUTTERICK'S Celebrated PATTERNS,
To fit any lady or child for Dresses, Mantles, Cloaks, Capes &c. We are the only Agents this side of Belleville.

We have also the pleasure to announce to the people of Napanee, Lennox and Addington, that we have opened a GENERAL GROCERY, PROVISION & FLOUR STORE in the same building. Our stock is entirely New and Good, purchased at prices which will enable us to give our customers GOODS

AT A VERY LOW FIGURE.

A call is cordially solicited,

HASKELL & BROTHERS.

Sewing Machines of all kinds repaired on the shortest notice and most reasonable terms.

Napanee May 1st, 1872.

P. S.—We have only located in those rooms till a more suitable place can be procured.

PRODUCE TAKEN IN EXCHANGE FOR ANY OF THE ABOVE ARTICLES.

TINWARE! TINWARE!

BOYLE & WRIGHT,

Have now on hand, for the Spring Trade; the

LARGEST STOCK OF TINWARE

Ever shown in Napanee, comprising

FACTORY CARRYING CANS,

MILKING PAILS, STRAINER PAILS,

CREAM KETTLES, MILK PANS,

And every other article in TINWARE.

Have Troughing and Jobbing Done!

ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

Teas. Largest, Cheapest, and Best,
 ASSORTED STOCKS OF
BOOTS AND SHOES
 Ever brought to Napanee, comprising every description of LADIES', MISSES and CHILDREN'S
Prunellas, Kid, Goat & Morocco
BEL MORAL
 LADIES', MISSES and CHILDREN'S SHOES and SLIPPERS
 MENS' and BOY'S
GAITERS, BALMORALS
 &c., &c., which we offer at a
SMALL Advance ON COST!
JUST OPENED
 A Large Assortment of New and Elegant Designs in GLASS SETTS, BOWLS, NAPPIES,
WATER PITCHERS, GORLETS, &c
 Also, a Large Stock of TRUNKS, which we offer at COST.
R. RENNIE & CO.
 Napanee, April 26th, 1871.

We have also the pleasure to announce to the people of Napanee, Lennox and Addington, that we have opened a GENERAL GROCERY, PROVISION & FLOUR STORE
 In the same building. Our stock is entirely New and Good, purchased at prices which will enable us to give our customers GOODS

AT A VERY LOW FIGURE.
 A call is cordially solicited,
HASKELL & BROTHERS,
 Sewing Machines of all kinds repaired on the shortest notice and most reasonable terms.
 Napanee May 1st, 1872.
 P. S.—We have only located in those rooms till a more suitable place can be procured.
 PRODUCE TAKEN IN EXCHANGE FOR ANY OF THE ABOVE ARTICLES.

TINWARE! TINWARE!
BOYLE & WRIGHT,
 Have now on hand, for the Spring Trade, the
LARGST STOCK OF TINWARE
 Ever shown in Napanee, comprising
 FACTORY CARRYING CANS,
 MILKING PAILS, STRAINER PAILS,
 CREAM KETTLES, MILK PANS,
 And every other article in TINWARE.
Leave Troughing and Jobbing Done!
 ON SHORTEST NOTICE,
At Lowest Prices and in the Best Manner.
BOYLE & WRIGHT.
 Napanee, April 18th.

D AND ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY OF RY GOODS at R. RENNIE & CO's Old Stand.

magnificent stock of New Black and Colored Silks, Ottaman Shawls, Scarfs and Silk Mantles, New Plain and Figured Dress Goods, Silk Warp Lustres, Satin Mohairs, Satin Raie, Crape Japanese
 inds, Grenadines, Dolly Varden Prints and Muslins, Real Laces and Ribbons, Kid and Taffeta Gloves, Balbriggan Hosiery, French Brilliants, French Pique, Parasols, Mantle Cloths, and all the novelties of the season, besides an immense stock of Keep'g Goods, Broadcloths, Cloth'g, C'n Tweeds.

We are bound to GIVE BARGAINS as we do a

Only, and can therefore sell TEN Per Cent

CHEAPER THAN THE CREDIT STORES.

ery and Dress-Making Departments Up Stairs.
SLAVIN & IRONSIDE.

This long tested and unrivaled Family Medicine has been favorably known for about thirty years, during which time we have received thousands of testimonials proving it to be an almost never failing cure.

WHEN TAKEN INTERNALLY, of Sudden Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Asthma and Phthisis, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Headache, Heartburn, Indigestion, Canker in the Mouth and Stomach, Canker Rash, Kidney Complaints, Piles, Sea Sickness, Sick Headache, Cramps and Pain in the Stomach, Painters' Colic, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum and Cholera.

WHEN APPLIED EXTERNALLY, of Scalds, Burns, Frost Bites, Chilblains, Sprains, Bruises, Whitlows, Felons, Boils, Ringworms, Old Sores, Rheumatic Affections, Headache, Neuralgia in the Face, Toothache, Pain in the Side, Pain in the Back and Loins, Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains in the Joints or Limbs, Stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

13- TO CURE SORE THROAT AND DIPHTHERIA IT HAS NO EQUAL.

While every family medicine should be on the commodity have been used and tested, this has gained upon every trial, and has been found to be the most reliable and perfect remedy for all the ailments mentioned above, and has been found to be the most reliable and perfect remedy for all the ailments mentioned above, and has been found to be the most reliable and perfect remedy for all the ailments mentioned above.

PERRY DAVIS & SON,
378, ST. PAUL STREET, MONTREAL.

REASONS WHY THE PAIN KILLER

MANUFACTURED BY

PERRY DAVIS AND SON

IS THE

BEST MEDICINE OF THE AGE:

And why it should be kept always near at hand.

- 1st. PAIN-KILLER is the most certain Cholera cure that medical science has produced.
- 2nd. PAIN-KILLER as a Diarrhoea and Dysentery remedy, seldom if ever fails.
- 3rd. PAIN-KILLER will cure Cramps or Pains in any part of the system. A single dose usually effects a cure.
- 4th. PAIN-KILLER will cure Dyspepsia and Indigestion, if used according to directions.
- 5th. PAIN-KILLER is an almost never failing cure for sudden Colds, Coughs, etc.
- 6th. PAIN-KILLER has proved a Sovereign Remedy for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever; it has cured the most obstinate cases.
- 7th. PAIN-KILLER as a liniment, is unequalled for Frost Bites, Chilblains, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Sprains, etc.
- 8th. PAIN-KILLER has cured cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia after years standing.
- 9th. PAIN-KILLER will destroy Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Old Sores, giving relief from Pain after the first application.
- 10th. PAIN-KILLER cures Headache.

P.P.P.P.P.P.P.P

Perfect Sight Produced
By procuring a pair of Lazarus & Morris'
PERFECTED SPECTACLES.

We can very strongly recommend LAZARUS & MORRIS' celebrated Perfect Spectacles and Eye Glasses; we have the sole agency for the sale, and have pleasure in testifying to their great superiority. The improvement they effect on the sight is extraordinary, and must challenge the admiration of all who use them.

Spangenberg & Smith
Sole Agents for Napanee.

35,000
LOCKMAN

S WING MACHINES
SOLD IN ONTARIO,
IN TWO YEARS.

Improvements, unparalleled in Sewing Machine history has been recently effected, rendering it the best S. M. now offered to a discriminating public.

ATTACHMENTS GIVEN FREE

TO PERFORM
12 Varieties of Work.

SOLE AGENTS.
V. KOUTER, NAPANEE.
R. McATTEE, do.

Guelt Sewing Machine Co.

THE OSBORN

Lock-Stitch Sewing Machine

THOUSANDS THROUGHOUT CANADA are now using these Machines. They have been tested beyond all question, make the favorite lock-stitch, with or without a foot, and are pronounced superior to any other machine offered to the public. For wide range of work, perfection of beauty and excellence of mechanism, adaptability.

CURE OF BRONCHITIS.

SMITHFIELD.
J. C. Chamberlain, Esq.—This is to certify that about three years ago I became afflicted with Bronchitis, which lasted about eighteen months. I was so afflicted for the want of breath that it was very difficult for me to speak, and in the night time frequently throwing the clothes off and rising in the bed to keep from strangling. I tried three of the most eminent physicians in the County of Northumberland for about a year without receiving any benefit. In fact, I continued getting worse all the time. At last I was advised to try the Great Shoshonees Remedy. I bought a bottle and took it, and when it was finished I felt a little better. I continued to use it until I had taken three bottles, when, to my satisfaction, I found that I was as well as ever I had been previous to my illness, and have been so ever since.

JOHN SILVER,
Sworn before me, at Smithfield, this 6th day of April, 1870.

J. M. WELLINGTON, J. P.
WONDERFUL CURE OF LUNG DISEASE.

BROOKLYN, April 5th, 1870.
J. C. Chamberlain, Esq.—Sir,—This is to certify that my wife was very low with Lung Disease. The doctor had given her up. As a last resort, I purchased a bottle of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. At the expiration of two days, her symptoms were decidedly better. She continued to improve so rapidly that by the time she had taken one bottle, she was able to sit up. By the continuance of the remedy she was perfectly restored to health.

You may publish the facts for the benefit of those similarly afflicted.

T. C. BROWN,
Episcopal Methodist Minister.

STOP AND SEE

The following remarks on testimonials of most wonderful and extraordinary cures in Canada, by the GREAT INDIAN REMEDY. They are stern undeniable incontestable facts, sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the Great Medicinal Compound yearned after for ages is now accessible in the

GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY
For diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Digestive Organs, Kidneys, &c., as well as Scrofula, the various Skin diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has never been equalled. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ont., of consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller, of Ernestown, Ont., of consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Concession, Ont., of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hovey, of Napanee, of Rheumatism, who had, actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. &c. Call at the Drug Store and get a circular of unquestionable certificates on the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, and satisfy yourselves.

Price of the Remedy $1 in Large Pints.

For sale by all Druggists and dealers in Medicine. Agents for Napanee, Dettlor & Scott, Grange Bros., & R. & J. Perry, J. C. Hoffman.

FURNITURE.

H. I.
J. GIBB
W.
Call and see J. Gibb

OUR ST
And we invite inspec
FUNERALS
And Neater than any

Napanee, May 5th,

FAN
G. M.

Has now on

FANCY

Suitable for Pr
WORK BOXES

JEWEL CASE
and in fact, everything

TOYS! T
Everything to please t
Come and ex

SIGN OF T.
Spangen

J E V

Embraces the largest and be and al

BRIGHT VNI
At prices to

WATCHES

Of the best makers, kept co
ment ever shown in Napanee

Sole agents in Napanee

Repairing of WATC
shortest notice, and work wa

- Dysentery remedy, seldom if ever fails.
- 3rd. PAIN-KILLER will cure Cramps or Pains in any part of the system. A single dose usually effects a cure.
- 4th. PAIN-KILLER will cure Dyspepsia and Indigestion, if used according to directions.
- 5th. PAIN-KILLER is an almost never failing cure for sudden Colds, Coughs, etc.
- 6th. PAIN-KILLER has proved a Sovereign Remedy for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever; it has cured the most obstinate cases.
- 7th. PAIN-KILLER as a liniment, is unequalled for Frost Bites, Chilblains, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Sprains, etc.
- 8th. PAIN-KILLER has cured cases of Rheumatism and Neuralgia after years standing.
- 9th. PAIN-KILLER will destroy Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Old Sores, giving relief from Pain after the first application.
- 10th. PAIN-KILLER cures Headache and Toothache.
- 11th. PAIN-KILLER will save you days of sickness and many a Dollar in time and Doctors' Bills.

MEDICAL.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

THE REMEDY FOR CURING CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, CROUP,
DISEASES OF THE THROAT,
BRONCHITIS, PAINS AND OP-PRESSION OF THE CHEST OR LUNGS, DIFFI-CULT BREATHING, AND ALL THE DISEASES OF THE PULMON-ARY ORGANS.

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM
WILL PREVENT IT, IF ONLY TAKEN IN TIME.

Worthington, Ohio, May 22, 1866.

Dear Sir: I bear willing testimony to the sterling merits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM for all Pulmonary troubles. I had a very distressing cough, and the BALSAM gave me immediate relief and permanent benefit. I have had a severe attack of Pleurisy and by its aid was relieved and cured. I am satisfied that all that is necessary to convince any one of its merits, would only be to make a trial of it, and I cheerfully recommend it to all whose condition demands anything of this nature, asking for it an impartial trial, and believing they will, and hoping they may be benefitted as much as I was myself.

I am respectfully etc.,

S. R. TAYLOR.

Don't despair because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy and you will not be deceived.

ADAM WALKER, of Tavestock, Ont., writes in February 1868, that after trying many cough and lung remedies for a severe cold which he has suffered with for three years, he procured ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, and was much benefitted by it. In a letter still later he said his night sweats were all gone, and he was rapidly recovering, his appetite was much better, and he felt like a new man.

The Guelph, Ont., Mercury says, in issue of Feb. 12th 1869: "The LUNG BALSAM sold by PERCY DAVIS & SON, is not like many of the nostrums for sale; but has proved itself a valuable medicine when taken for relief in cases

THE OSBORN

KING OF CANADIAN
SEWING MACHINES.

SEWING MACHINES.
KING OF AMERICAN

Lock-Stitch Sewing Machine

THROUGHOUT CANADA are now using these Machines. They have been tested beyond all question, make the favorite lock-stitch, slide on both sides, and are pronounced superior to any other machine offered the public. For wide range of work, perfection of beauty and excellence of mechanism, adaptability, strength and durability.

The Osborn Sewing Machine has no rival

Improvements have lately been made, enabling the manufacturers to claim it as the best plus ultra of Sewing Machines. Hundreds of testimonials are being received daily from old as well as new operators, attesting its wonderful capabilities. Will do all kinds of domestic sewing, from the finest cambric to the coarsest overcoat or upper leather.

Guaranteed to be as represented, or no sale warranted for three years. The Osborn outfit is complete and readily compared. Is sold at one-half the price hitherto charged for machines doing a like range of work, the manufacturers being determined to place it within the reach of every family in the country.

A trial before purchase will convince all that our machines are unequalled.

THE GUELPH REVERSIBLE is pre-eminent the best Single Thread Machine offered the public—hence its marvelous success. Will do all varieties of domestic sewing. Prices greatly reduced.

Hand Machines with full outfit, $12; Treadle do., $17. Each Machine guaranteed.

Agents wanted everywhere. Splendid inducements to make money.—Apply to Agents wanted throughout the Counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington.

GUELPH SEWING MACHINE CO'Y GUELPH CANADA.

W. H. VANTASELL

AGENT BELLEVILLE.

W. H. SANFORD,

Agent, Napanee.

Relief for the Afflicted. THE FRENCH TONIC BITTERS. SOMETHING ON ITS OWN MERITS.

The French Tonic Bitters will cure Dyspepsia, disease of the Liver, and all cases of General Debility arising from derangement of Kidneys, or from protracted fevers, also eradicate all impurities from the blood.

The effects of this preparation on the system from the commencement is frequently observed by a remarkable increase of nervous power with a feeling of vigor, strength and comfort, to which the patient has long been a stranger. Digestion is invigorated, the appetite increased wonderfully, the bowels become regular and the evacuations more copious pains in the side, shoulder blades, pit of the stomach, and all meanness, tenderness, fullness or burning gradually melt away by the administration of the unparalleled French Tonic Bitters. If you are afflicted with any of the above diseases or symptoms do not delay, but secure a bottle at once.

We wish to state that is no quick mixture, got up on purpose of duping the public, as we are prepared to prove at any time its being prepared upon scientific principles, and further you really get more in one of our bottles for fifty cents, than you can from other mixtures for one dollar. Also we beg to state that we have met with unparalleled success with our new remedy, and intend to spare no pains in bringing it before the people of the dominion, and have had the ingredients diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has never been equalled. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ont., of consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller of Ernestown, Ont., of consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Concession, Ont., of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hovey, of Napanee, of Rheumatism, who had, actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Call at the Drug Store and get a circular of unquestionable certificates on the Great Shoshone Remedy and Pills, and satisfy yourselves.

Price of the Remedy $1 in Large Pints.

For sale by all Druggists and dealers in Medicine. Agents for Napanee, Dettlor & Scott, Grange Bros., & R. & J. Perry, J. C. Huffman.

REMOVAL.

L. HYMAN

HAS REMOVED

To His NEW STORE

IN THE

MILLS' BLOCK

Two doors East of "A"

DOWNEYS New Store

Where he is prepared to sell

HATS & CAPS

CHEAPER

Than ever before offered in Napanee.

L. HYMAN.

April 5th, 1871.

S. SOLMES

GENERAL GROCERY,
Bowen's Old Stand

3 DOORS WEST OF GRANGE & BROS
Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of

Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Spices, Groceries, of all description, Fresh Canned Fruit, Sauces, Fresh Pork, Lard, Ham, Butter, Eggs, and

PROVISIONS of all Kinds, and in fact a full stock as is found in a GENERAL STORE.

Packages delivered in any part of the Town.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place.

BOWEN'S OLD STAND,
SANFORD SOLMES.

Napanee, March 1, 1872.

BEST BARGAINS in Groceries, to be found at

J. AYLSWORTH'S.

Something Entirely New

The 'Banner' 130 Family Shuttle Sewing Machine, With Table and Treadle Complete

1,000 Set

he Cloth

Which, for not be sur in Ontario

stock of

JEWEL

Embraces the largest and best assortment bet and all the different st

BRIGHT AND COL

At prices to suit all classes of

WATCHES AND

Of the best makers, kept constantly on hand, ment ever shown in Napanee, all of the best.

Sole agents in Napanee for the Celebr

PECTACLES.

Repairing of WATCHES, CLOCKS, shortest notice, and work warranted.

SP2

BOOTS AND

AT THE

NEW BOOT AND S

NEXT DOOR TO THE SC

HAVING purchased our Stock for

Boots and Shoes of all descripti

CHEAPER THAN ANY HO

As we deal only in Boots and Sho attention to what we sell. We guaran if any of them should rip, we

WILL MEND THEM FREE

Boots made to Order

H. I

Napanee, March 8th, 1872.

SELLING OF. SE

The subscriber would beg to inform he intends to

CLOSE HIS HARDWARE BUSI

and intends SELLING OFF his

VERY SLIGHT ADVAN

He would invite intending Builde

Hardware of any l

to give him a call and see for themse elsewhere, as it is a

Genuine Sale and No

EDWIN

Napanee, March 27, 1872.

N.B. —All accounts must be settle Cost

JEWELRY!

JUST RECEIV

M. W. CARN

A very large assortin

GOLD AND SILVER

of the best makers, comprising the C

ufacture, as well as a large quantity

JEWEL

which cannot fail in suiting the most at Prices that DEFY COMPETIT

SILVER-PLAT

Embraces the following—Caké Bask

It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM
WILL PREVENT IT IF ONLY TAKEN IN TIME.

Worthington, Ohio, May 22, 1866.

Dear Sir:—I bear willing testimony to the sterling merits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM for all Pulmonary troubles. I had a very distressing cough, and the BALSAM gave me immediate relief and permanent benefit. I have had a severe attack of Pleurisy and by its aid was relieved and cured. I am satisfied that all that is necessary to convince any one of its merits, would only be to make a trial of it, and I cheerfully recommend it to all whose condition demands anything of this nature, asking for it an impartial trial, and believing they will, and hoping they may be benefited as much as I was myself.

I am respectfully etc.,

S. R. TAYLOR.

Don't despair because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy and you will not be deceived.

ADAM WALKER, of Tavestock, Ont., writes in February 1868, that after trying many cough and lung remedies for a severe cold which he has suffered with for three years, he procured ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, and was being much benefited by it. In a letter still later he said his night sweats were all gone, and he was rapidly recovering, his appetite was much better, and he felt like a new man.

The Guelph, Ont., Mercury says, in issue of Feb. 12th 1869: "The LUNG BALSAM sold by PERRY DAVIS & SON, is not like many of the nostrums for sale; but has proved itself a valuable medicine when taken for relief in cases of Lung difficulties, Bronchial affections and Asthma."

Jesse Smith writes, January 11th, 1869, to Mr. R. Wood, Druggist, Erin, Ont., and says:—"I have been afflicted with bronchial affections for several years, have used various remedies, but they produced no good effects until I tried ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, from which I derived much good. I would recommend its use to all parties suffering from similar troubles or bronchial diseases."

ALLEN'S CELEBRATED LUNG BALSAM

always gives satisfaction or the money will be refunded. It is recommended by prominent Physicians; and while it is pleasant to take and harmless in its nature, it is a powerful remedy for curing all diseases of the Lungs.

Sold by all Druggists.

PERRY DAVIS & SON,
AGENTS,
380 ST. PAUL STREET,
MONTREAL.

W. H. VANTASELL
AGENT BELLEVILLE,
W. H. SANFORD,
Agent, Napanee.

Relief for the Afflicted.
THE FRENCH TONIC BITTERS.
SOMETHING ON ITS OWN MERITS.

The French Tonic Bitters will cure Dyspepsia, disease of the Liver, and all cases of General Debility arising from derangement of Kidneys, or from protracted fevers, also eradicate all impurities from the blood.

The effects of this preparation on the system from the commencement is frequently observed by a remarkable increase of nervous power with a feeling of vigor, strength and comfort, to which the patient has long been a stranger. Digestion is invigorated, the appetite increased wonderfully, the bowels become regular and the evacuations more copious, pains in the side, shoulder blades, pit of the stomach, and all meanness, tenderness, fullness or burning gradually melt away by the administration of the unparalleled French Tonic Bitters. If you are afflicted with any of the above diseases or symptoms do not delay, but secure a bottle at once.

We wish to state that no quack mixture, got up on purpose of duping the public, as we are prepared to prove at any time, its being prepared upon scientific principles, and further you really get more in one of our bottles for fifty cents, than you can from other mixtures for one dollar. Also we beg to state that we have met with unparalleled success with our new remedy and intend to spare no pains in bringing it before the people of the Dominion, and have had the ingredients examined by our best medical physicians. Please read what some of them have to say.

I have examined the French Tonic Bitter prepared by Messrs. Lake and McDunnell, and can recommend it as a Tonic, Alternative and Antiperiodic. As in dyspepsia, Torpidity of Liver and debility arising from fevers, more especially Intermittent.

W. W. COLTON, M. D.
Messrs. Lake and McDunnell.—Gents, I have to acknowledge the recipe of some of your "French Tonic Bitters," with the enumeration of the various articles it contains; I would say that if a man must take bitters, he could get none better than you manufacture. Kingston, Feb. 14th.

H. R. EVANS, M. D.
The French Tonic Bitters is manufactured and put up by Lake and McDunnell, Picton, Ontario, and we intend to have the same for sale at all the principal saloons hotels and Druggists stores in the Dominion, as soon as we can conveniently do so.

LAKE and McDONALD,
Picton, March 12th, 1872.

FOR SALE.

In the Town of Napanee, Lot No. 26, south side of Mill street.

This is an eligible lot, lying on Mill, Robinson and Water streets.

Apply to MRS. LAUDER,
Ottawa.

HATS & CAPS
CHEAPER

Than ever before offered in Napanee.

L. HYMAN.

April 5th, 1871.

S. SOLMES
GENERAL GROCERY,
Bowen's Old Stand
3 DOORS WEST OF GRANGE & BROS
Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of

Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Spices, Groceries, of all description, Fresh Canned Fruit, Sauces, Fresh Pork, Lard, Ham, Butter, Eggs, and

PROVISIONS of all Kinds,
and in fact a full stock as is found in a GENERAL STORE.

Parcels delivered in any part of the Town.

Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Don't forget the place.

BOWEN'S OLD STAND,
SANFORD SOLMES.

Napanee, March 1, 1872.

BEST BARGAINS in Groceries, to be found at J. AYLSWORTH'S.

Something Entirely New
The "Banner" 30 Family Shuttle Sewing Machine,

With Table and Treadle Complete

1,000 Stitches a minute, without noise, stripping of stitch or breaking of thread.

Stitch a like on both sides of the Cloth, and without travelling

PATENTED APRIL, 1871.

EVERY MACHINE FULLY WARRANTED

Its superiority over all other Machines for family use is so apparent as to be beyond question; all its working parts are made of the best material and every piece is made to a "guage," and "inter-changeable," a highly important feature to the users, as any part accidentally broken can be replaced at once without the cost and trouble of returning the machine for repairs.

In short, for Simplicity, Durability, quality of work, elegance of appearance, and ease of operation, it stands entirely without a rival—the lightning-like rapidity of its operation—the absolute certainty with which it works—and the novelty and beauty of its construction being truly wonderful.

MANUFACTURED BY THE Banner Machine, Co'y

S. S. FOSS & Co.,
Sherbrook, Q.,

Sole Wholesale Agent.
To whom all orders should be sent. Machines sent by express C. O. D., to any part of the country.

Agents wanted in every county in the Dominion.

SELLING OFF. SE

The subscriber would beg to intimate he intends to

CLOSE HIS HARDWARE BUSINESS

and intends SELLING OFF his

VERY SLIGHT ADVANCE

He would invite intending Builder

Hardware of any D

to give him a call and see for themselves elsewhere, as it is a

Genuine Sale and No

EDWIN

Napanee, March 27, 1872.

N.B.—All accounts must be settled Cost

JEWELRY!

JUST RECEIVED

M. W. CARN

A very large assortment

GOLD AND SILVER

of the best makers, comprising the Cell manufacture, as well as a large quantity of

JEWEL

which cannot fail in suiting the most at Prices that DEFY COMPETITION

SILVER-PLATE

Embraces the following—Cake Baskets, Cooler, Butter Knives, Forks, Spoon, A good assortment of CLOCKS

factures, kept constantly on hand, and Thirty Hour, all warranted to give

BRACELETS of all the Lat

and Silver CHAINS, RINGS, P

BRICOCHES and SETS in great variety

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired

Give me a call before going elsewhere OPPOSITE YATES' HOTEL.

NEW GROCERY STORE.

The Subscriber, in returning thanks the very liberal patronage bestowed upon been in business, would intimate that he

REMOVED to the Store directly opposite

Where will be found a general

Groceries, Teas, S

Of the Very Best Brands

CHEAP AS THE O

Remember the Place, opposite

Napanee, April 26, 1872.

At CONTACT.

AS WELL AS SCROFULA, the various Skin diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, we boldly state that this great remedy has never been equalled. Where was there ever such a cure as that in the person of Wilson Storms, of Brighton, Ont., of consumption; or that of Peter C. V. Miller of Ernestown, Ont., of consumption; or that of Ambrose Wood, of Concession, Ont., of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint; or that of John Hoxey, of Napanee, of Rheumatism, who had, actually been on crutches for years, in spite of all treatment heretofore, and is now well. Call at the Drug Store and get a circular of unquestionable certificates on the Great Shoshones Remedy and Pills, and satisfy yourselves.

Price of the Remedy $1 in Large Pints.

For sale by all Druggists and dealers in Medicine. Agents for Napanee, Detlor & Scott, Grange Bros., & R. & J. Perry, J. C. Hoffman.

REMOVAL.
L. HYMAN
HAS REMOVED To His NEW STORE
IN THE
MILLS' BLOCK
Two doors East of "A"
DOWNEYS New Store
Where he is prepared to sell

HATS & CAPS
CHEAPER
Than ever before offered in Napanee.
L. HYMAN.
April 5th, 1871.

S. SOLMES
GENERAL GROCERY,
Bowen's Old Stand
3 DOORS WEST OF GRANGE & BROS.
Keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Teas, Coffees, Sugars, Spices, Groceries, of all description, Fresh Canned Fruit, Sauces, Fresh Pork, Lard, Ham, Butter, Eggs, and PROVISIONS of all Kinds,
and in fact a full stock as is found in a GENERAL STORE.
Parcels delivered in any part of the Town.
Please give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.
Don't forget the place.
BOWEN'S OLD STAND.
SANFORD SOLMES.
Napanee, March 1, 1872.
BEST BARGAINS in Groceries, to be found at
J. AYLSWORTH'S.

Something Entirely New
The 'Banner' 130 Family Shuttle Sewing Machine,
With Table and Treadle Complete Cloth.
1,000 S
Shipping

SWINGING MACHINES.
machine
ANAKA are they have the favor- one are pro- hine offered perfection adaptabl machine
B. DAVIS, ed- it as the ne hundreds of from old as wonderful domestic saw- be contrast or no sale readily come- price hither- like range of determined to amily in the ince all that RSIBLE
ead Machine llous success- ring. Prices $12; Treadle nted. Splendid in- to uties of East-INE CO'Y
ELL LEVILLE,
Napanee.

JEWELRY
Embraces the largest and best assortment between Montreal and Toronto, and all the different styles in BRIGHT AND COLORED GOLD
At prices to suit all classes of Customers.
WATCHES AND CLOCKS,
Of the best makers, kept constantly on hand, the largest and best assortment ever shown in Napanee, all of the best English and American makes Sole agents in Napanee for the Celebrated LAZARUS & MORRIS PECTACLES.
Repairing of WATCHES, CLOCKS and JEWELRY done on shortest notice, and work warranted.
SPANGENBERG & SMITH

BOOTS AND SHOES
AT THE
NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE!
NEXT DOOR TO THE SOBY HOUSE.
HAVING purchased our Stock for Cash, we are able to sell Boots and Shoes of all descriptions, CHEAPER THAN ANY HOUSE IN TOWN.
As we deal only in Boots and Shoes, we can give special attention to what we sell. We guarantee all our Boots, and if any of them should rip, we WILL MEND THEM FREE OF CHARGE.
Boots made to Order.
H. B. HANNAH & CO
Napanee, March 8th, 1872.

SELLING OFF. SELLING OFF
The subscriber would beg to intimate to the public that he intends to CLOSE HIS HARDWARE BUSINESS IN NAPANEE, and intends SELLING OFF his Entire Stock at a VERY SLIGHT ADVANCE ON COST.
He would invite intending Builders and parties wanting Hardware of any Description, to give him a call and see for themselves before purchasing elsewhere, as it is a Genuine Sale and No Humbug.
EDWIN CHOWN.
Napanee, March 27, 1872.
N.B. - All accounts must be settled forthwith and Save Cost

JEWELRY! JEWELRY!
JUST RECEIVED
M. W. CARNALL'S,
A very large assortment of
GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES
of the best makers, comprising the Celebrated Russell manu- facture, as well as a large quantity of the latest styles of JEWELRY,
which cannot fail in suiting the most fastidious tastes, and at Prices that DEFY COMPETITION. His stock of SILVER-PLATED WARE
Embraces the following—Cake Baskets, Card Baskets, But-

Joshua Bower,
WITH GRANGE AND BROS.
DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Perfumery, Brushes, Jewelry, Fancy Goods, Books and Stationery, Lamps and Lamp-Fixtures, Paints, Oil, Glass, Dye Stuffs, Tear, Spices, Tobaccos, Field and Flower Seeds.

Our stock was never more complete, and we feel confident that we can supply goods in our line either at prices which will favorably compare with any respectable House in the Dominion. Our Motto,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

"RELIABLE GOODS"
AT Reasonable Prices

OUR DISPENSING AND MANUFACTURING DEPARTMENT
Is now superintended by JOSHUA BOWER,
OF THE
"MEDICAL HALL."

Whose practical knowledge of Drugs is a guarantee for correctness.
We tender our thanks to the public whose trade we have received during Eighteen years, and we trust, by
"CORRECTNESS"
AND
Increased Facilities, to merit a continuance of the patronage so long enjoyed.

made to Order
H. B. HANNAH & CO
March 8th, 1872.

GOING OFF. SELLING OFF better would beg to intimate to the public that

HARDWARE BUSINESS IN NAPANEE.
Selling OFF his Entire Stock at a

RIGHT ADVANCE ON COST.

invite intending Builders and parties wanting are of any Description, call and see for themselves before purchasing it is a

Guine Sale and No Humbug.
EDWIN CHOWN.
March 27, 1872.
accounts must be settled forthwith and Save

JEWELRY!
JUST RECEIVED
M. CARNALL'S,

A very large assortment of
AND SILVER WATCHES comprising the Celebrated Russel man-H as a large quantity of the latest styles of
JEWELRY,

all in suiting the most fastidious tastes, and it DEFY COMPETITION. His stock of PLATED WARE
following—Cake Baskets, Card Baskets, But-tler Knives, Forks, Spoons and Cruet Stands and assortment of CLOCKS of the best manu-constantly on hand, consisting of Eight-day ur, all warranted to give satisfaction.

SELETS of all the Latest Patterns. Gold CHAINS, RINGS, PINS, and Ladie's and SETS in great variety.
ocks and Jewelry repaired and warranted.
before going elsewhere.
YATES' HOTEL.) M W CARNALL

ERY STORE.

per, in returning thanks to his customers for l patronage bestowed upon him since he has s, would intimate that he has the Store directly opposite Yates' Hotel will be found a general assortment of es, Teas, Sugars, &c.
the Very Best Brands, and as
AS THE CHEAPEST.
nber the Place, opposite YATES' HOTEL.
JOHN SMITH.
ril 26, 1872.

confident that we can supply goods in our line either

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

at prices which will favorably compare with any respectable House in the Dominion.
Our Motto,

"RELIABLE GOODS

AT

Reasonable Prices

OUR DISPENSING AND MANUFACTURING DEPARTMENT

Is now superintended by JOSHUA BOWER,

OF THE

"MEDICAL HALL."

Whose practical knowledge of Drugs is a guarantee for correctness.

We tender our thanks to the public whose trade we have received during Eighteen years, and we trust, by

CORRECTNESS

AND

Increased Facilities, to merit a continuance of the patronage so long enjoyed.

Your obedient Servants,

GRANGE & BRO'S

Napanee, March 1, 1870.

NEW STORE.

DRUGS
DYE STUFFS, GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS.

The subscribers beg to inform the inhabitants of

MILL POINT

And surrounding country that they have opened the best selection of DRUGS, GROCERIES &c.

Which they will sell as cheap as in any market in the country.

Produce taken in Exchange

Please give us a call and examine our stock.

JAS. D. CLIMIE & CO.
Mill Point, March 10th 1872.

years, and to intimate that he has now on hand and is manufacturing a superior lot of CARRIAGES,

BUGGIES,

PHETONS,

WAGONS,

All of the Latest Styles,

And of the
Best American Second-Growth HICKORY

All of which will be
OLD ON VERY REASONABLE TERMS

Do not fail to call before purchasing elsewhere
We do not think it a trouble to show anything in our sho
G. HAMILTON.

Napanee, Feb. 8th, 1872.

GOOD NEWS
FROM THE SEAT OF WAR

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS SETTLED.

The undersigned begs leave to return his sincere thank to the public for the very liberal patronage he has receive during the fifteen years in which he has been in business i Napanee, and to intimate that he has opened out his NEW STORE, on that familiar old corner opposite the BRISCO HOUSE (late Soby House) where will be kept on hand-best in quality, and to be sold at the lowest advance o cost—all goods of every description in his line, viz.:—
Drugs and Patent Medicines.

Paints, Oils, Glass and Putty.

Dye Stuffs of all colors and shades

Paint and White Wash Brushes,

School Books and Stationery,

A nice article in Tea and other Groceries

Also a large assortment of Fancy Articles too numerous to mention.

J. C. HUFFMAN.

Napanee, Feb. 19th, 1872.

The business will be carried on in future in the name of
J. C. HUFFMAN & SON

All accounts due Jas. C. Huffman must be settled up eithe by Cash or Note immediately.

COAL OIL at J. C. HUFFMAN & SON'S at 10 Cts. PER GALLON

NEW SPRING STOCK.

For Superior TEAS, COFFEES, COCOA & CHOCOLATE
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For SUGARS and SYRUPS,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Pine Apples, Peaches, Lemons, Oranges, Tomatoes
Plums, Cherries and other Fruits.
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Peppers, Spices, Cinammon, Cloves, Nutmegs, &c.,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Prunes, Raisins and Figs,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Baking Powders, Cr. Tartar, Washing Crystal, &c.,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Honey, Glycerine, Castile and Plain Soaps,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Smoking and Chewing Tobaccos, Cigars, Pipes and Cigar Holders, go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Flour, Oatmeal, Cornmeal and Oats,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

Also Just Received, an assortment of STONEWARE
which will be sold CHEAP FOR CASH.
TUGWELL & TITUS

Napanee, April 26th, 1872.

GOLD.

GOLD.

GOLD.

THE SUBSCRIBERS

SLAVIN & IRONSIDE

Have the pleasure to announce that their

SHOW ROOMS

Are now Complete, and that they are prepared to execute all orders for MILLINERY and DRESSMAKING in the Latest Style and Most Satisfactory Manner, at reasonable prices.

at Show Room, Fitting Room and Work Room are on the second flat.

Four DRESSMAKERS Wanted.

SLAVIN and IRONSIDE,

Napanea, May 7th, 1872.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unpleasant and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a FAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists,
LOWELL, MASS.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DEPEW'S MEDICAL VICTORY.

GOLD MEDAL

At the Universal Exposition, Paris, FOR THE SILLNT WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINE OVER 82 COMPETITORS.

And highest premiums at Paris, 1858 and 1861, and Worlds London, 1852; Königsburg, Linz, 1862, Danzig. 1864 Dublin, Cologne, Wismar, Stettin, 1865.

ROLL OF MERIT PARIS 1867.

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-----------------------|
| 1.—WHEELER & WILSON, | GOLD MEDAL, |
| 7.—HOWE, | Silver Medal, |
| 8.—WEED, | Silver Medal, |
| 9.—FLORENCE, | Silver Medal, |
| 11.—CALEBOUT, SINGER & CO., | Silver Medal, |
| 22.—A. B. HOWE, | Bronze Medal, |
| 36.—EMPIRE CO., | Honorable Mention. |
| 40.—KLIAS HOWE, Jr., | { Co-operator's aids, |
| 41.—J. A. & H. A. HANSE, | { do do |

SALE ROOMS BRIDGE ST., BELLEVILLE

Machines from Five Dollars up. Machine Thread, Needles, Oil &c. for sale, W. H. VANTASSEL Agent.

OSHAWA FURNITURE DEPOT,

BATH.

The Subscriber wishes to return thanks for the very liberal patronage he has received during the past year, and has much pleasure in stating that he has made arrangements with the Oshawa Furniture Establishment, to

Keep and Sell all Kinds of Furniture

Lower than can be had in Napanea Or Counties.

LOW TAXES AND NO RENT.

Our store-room is well filled with all kinds of furniture too numerous to mention.

A Call will satisfy the most fastidious mind.

We have also a well-assorted stock of Hardware and Groceries which we will sell at Napanea or Kingston prices. Day Street, Bath Aug. 18, 1870. H. A. HOSELTON & SON.

STEAM!

STEAM!

The undersigned would announce to the public of Napanea and County that he has added a

New Steam Engine!

IN HIS

PLANING AND SASH MILL!

Thus enabling him to execute all orders in the most improved Style and Workmanship.

Planing, Sash Blinds, Flooring,

And, in fact, everything done in the line on the most

REASONABLE TERMS.

Call and see before going elsewhere.

MATTHIAS SMITH.

Napanea, Nov. 2nd, 1871.

1872. SPRING TRADE. 1872.

We invite Buyers visiting this market to inspect our

SPRING STOCK!

WHICH IS

Very Large & Fully Assorted.

In Every Department.

PRICES OF MANY GOODS

MUCH UNDER PRESENT VALUE.

At

COXALL & PAISLEY'S.

Labatt's India Pale Ale & Brown Stout

Keep constantly on hand

ALCOHOL,

PURE SPIRITS,

DOMESTIC,

OLD RYE,

FAMILY PROOF,

MALT and

BOURBON WHISKIES.

Special inducements offered to Cash Customers.

H. CORBY & SON.

Belleville March 8, 1872.

HORSES.

HORSES.

Having purchased the Napanea Driving Park from Mr. Abel Yates, the late proprietor, and secured the services of a First-Class Trainer, I am now prepared to take Horses to train either by the day or week. Charges moderate.

Season Tickets, entitling the holder to free admission to all meetings, and the privileges of Driving on the track whenever they choose, only $5.

For further information apply to the undersigned at Yates' Hotel.

JOSEPH C. JOHNSTON,
Proprietor.

Napanea, May 24th, 1872.

ENLARGED,

REFITTED. IMPROVED.

THE Subscribers would call the attention of the public to the fact that they have made large additions to their

MACHINE SHOP,

Corner of

BRIDGE and ADELPHI STREETS, and added at considerable expense several New Machines. They are now prepared to execute orders for

STEAM ENGINES

From two to fifty horse power, and all kinds of MILL and OTHER MACHINERY. They will also, on the shortest notice do repairing to all kinds of Agricultural Machinery.

Remember the place, Corner Bridge and Adelphi Streets.

G. MAIR and BRO.

Napanea, May 15th, 1872.

VINEGAR sold Wholesale a

Manufacturers' Price at

J. AYLSWORTH'S.

PUBLIC SCHOOL

TEACHER

Examinations!

The Examination of Candidates for Public Schools Teachers' Second and Third Class Certificates, will be held (D. V.) in the Court House in the Town of Napanea, in and for the County of Lennox and Addington, commencing on

TUESDAY, 16th JULY, at 9, a m

The Examination for First Class Certificates will be held at the same place, commencing on Tuesday, 23rd. July, at 9, a m.

Candidates will be required to notify the Inspector not later than the 25th June, of their intention to present themselves for examination.

Blank forms of application can be obtained from the Secretary, H. M. Deroche.

Applications to be addressed to F. Burrows, Napanea, Inspector L. & A. Napanea, May 14th, 1872.

NEW FLOUR AND

MATTHIAS SMITH.
Napanea, Nov. 2nd, 1871.

1872. SPRING TRADE. 1872.

We invite Buyers visiting this market to inspect our

SPRING STOCK!

WHICH IS

Very Large & Fully Assorted.

In Every Department.

PRICES OF MANY GOODS

MUCH UNDER PRESENT VALUE.

At COXALL & PAISLEY'S.

Labatt's India Pale Ale & Brown Stout

In Quarts and Pints, for sale at

COXALL & PAISLEY'S.

Napanea, April 26,

G. HAMILTON,

Manufacturer and Dealer in

SLEIGHS AND CARRIAGES

Of every description, from that for a child to the larger one for a family, begs to return his sincere thanks to his friends for the very liberal patronage accorded him during past years, and to intimate that he has now on hand and is manufacturing a superior lot of CARRIAGES.

BUGGIES,

PHAEONS,

WAGONS,

All of the Latest Styles,

And of the

Best American Second-Growth HICKORY!

All of which will be

OLD ON VERY REASONABLE TERMS.

OLD CARRIAGES taken in part pay for new ones.

Do not fail to call before purchasing elsewhere. We do not think it a trouble to show anything in our shop.

G. HAMILTON.

Napanea, Feb. 8th, 1872.

GOOD NEWS

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS SETTLED.

The undersigned begs leave to return his sincere thanks to the public for the very liberal patronage he has received during the fifteen years in which he has been in business in Napanea, and to intimate that he has opened out his NEW STORE, on that familiar old corner opposite the BRISCO HOUSE (late Soby House) where will be kept on hand—best in quality, and to be sold at the lowest advance on cost—all goods of every description in his line, viz.:—Drugs and Patent Medicines.

Paints, Oils, Glass and Putty.

Dye Stuffs of all colors and shades

Paint and White Wash Brushes,

School Books and Stationery.

A nice article in Tea and other Groceries.

Also a large assortment of Fancy Articles too numerous to mention.

J. C. HUFFMAN.

Napanea, Feb. 19th, 1872.

The business will be carried on in future in the name of

J. C. HUFFMAN & SON.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHER

Examinations!

The Examination of Candidates for Public Schools Teachers' Second and Third Class Certificates, will be held (D. V.) in the Court House in the Town of Napanea, in and for the County of Lennox and Addington, commencing on TUESDAY, 16th JULY, at 9, a. m.

The Examination for First Class Certificates will be held at the same place, commencing on Tuesday, 23rd. July, at 9, a. m.

Candidates will be required to notify the Inspector not later than the 25th June, of their intention to present themselves for examination.

Blank forms of application can be obtained from the Secretary, H. M. Deroche. Applications to be addressed to E. Burrows, Napanea, Inspector L. & A. Napanea, May 14th, 1872.

NEW FLOUR AND

FEED STORE. PHILIP EMBURY!

Wishes to announce to the people of Napanea and Counties that he has just started a general Flour and Feed Store, in WEES' NEW BLOCK, MARKET SQUARE.

Where a full supply of flour, consisting of different qualities, all fresh ground.

CORN MEAL,

OATS PEAS, CRACKED FEED.

For Sale at the Store, for the Lowest Prices For Cash.

Also, will pay the HIGHEST PRICE in Cash for the following articles, which he has constantly on hand and for sale:—

Best Farm Produce of all descriptions, Barley, Oats, Peas, Buckwheat, Corn, Butter, Cheese, Lard, Tallow, Eggs, Dried and Green Apples, Onions, Potatoes. Remember the Place, just opposite Paisley's Hotel.

PHILIP EMBURY.

Napanea, Feb. 9 1872.

NOTICE TO

Farmers and Owners

OF

DETACHED RESIDENCES

Insure your property in the

Agricultural Insurance Co.,

A Stock Company entirely devoted to your interests. Insure nothing but FARM PROPERTY AND DETACHED RESIDENCES, AND AT

Greatly Reduced Rates!
(Chartered and commenced business in 1853.)

Cash Assessts.....$628,388.46
Deposited for the Benefit of Canadian Policy Holders especially.....$100,000.00

Principal Business Office for Dominion of Canada,

KINGSTON.....ONTARIO.

Canada Insurance License.

No. 24. Under Vic. 31, Cap. 38, No 4
This is to certify that the Agricultural Insurance Company having deposited in the hands of the Receiver-General of Canada the sum of sixty-eight thousand dollars in United States Bonds, as required by the Act of Canada 31 Vic., cap. 48, sec. 22, is hereby licensed to carry on the business in Canada of Fire Insurance.

Dated the City of Ottawa 2nd day of June, 1870.

JOHN LANGTON,

Minister of Finance.

To the Farmers of the Province of Ontario.

This is to certify that I have been acquainted with the officers and Managers of the Agricultural Insurance Company, and have no hesitation in recommending it as a perfectly safe and reliable Company, and its Officers as competent and honorable business men, and it insures nothing but Farm Prop-

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DEPEW'S MEDICAL VICTORY.

DR. DEPEW, OF PARIS, FRA' ROE, an eminent physician of foreign descent, has discovered a Great Blood Remedy—a Purifying Medical Compound—named by physicians, Depew's Medical Victory, that cures every kind of unhealthy humor, and every disease that depends on impurity of the Blood, where the Lungs, Liver, and Kidneys, or any other vital organs, are not wasted beyond hope of repair.

For the cure of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Eczema, Scald Head, Scat, Eruption of the Skin, Ulcers, and every Sore of all kinds, Boils, Humors in the Mouth and Throat, or any other parts of the face, it stands pre-eminent ly at the head of all other remedies. The fact is: It cures Scrofula, and Disease of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system, in a short time, by the use of this Blood Remedy. One bottle, in such cases, will convert the most incredulous of its curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood, whatever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the Blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

It is a Gentle Regulating Purgative, as well as a Tonic, &c. Possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion, and Chronic Inflammation of the Liver and all the Visceral Organs.

For Female Complaints, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or at the turn of life, the Medical Victory has no equal.

In the cure of Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, its effects are surprising to all. For Regulating the Bowels, and curing Biliousness, Headache, Sick-Headache, Neuralgia, Female Weakness, Nervousness, Pains in the Side, Loins and Back, and general Weakness and Debility, its curative powers are beyond money and beyond price. IT IS THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER, AND A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the Blood to its healthy condition.

Sold by all Druggists & Dealers.
SEND FOR A DESCRIPTIVE PAMPHLET. ADDRESS
YOUNG, SILLS & CO.
Bath, Ontario.

THE VICTORIA CHEMICAL CO.

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers of the Celebrated Victoria Carbolic Preparations, in London, Ontario and Works, Victoria Hall, Melinda Street, Toronto, Ont.

The following Genuine Preparations are sold by all Druggists. Be sure and ask for the Victoria Preparations, and see that you get them.

VICTORIA CARBOLATED GLYCERINE JELLY

This JELLY is highly recommended to Ladies as a most agreeable Preparation for the Toilet. For Beautifying the Complexion, and rendering the Skin Soft, White, Clear, and free from dryness, it is unrivalled. It will quickly remove all Redness, Roughness, Tan, Freckles, Pimples, and other imperfections. For Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Frost Bites and Sore Lips, it cannot be surpassed. Price 25 cents.

VICTORIA CARBOLIC TOILET SOAP

This TOILET SOAP possesses all the well-known antiseptic and disinfecting properties of Carbolic Acid, is agreeably scented, and its healthy action on the skin, prevents irritation, removes the effects of perspiration, and should be regularly used by families. Cholera, Smallpox and Fever Patients should be washed with this Soap; and its use by persons liable to infection will materially prevent the spread of disease. Price 15 cents per Tablet.

VICTORIA CARBOLIC SALVE

This SALVE is a rapid cure for all Skin Diseases, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Sores, Ulcers, Ring-of every description, from that of a child to the largest one for a family, begs to return his sincere thanks to his friends for the very liberal patronage accorded him during past years, and to intimate that he has now on hand and is manufacturing a superior lot of

CARRIAGES,
BUGGIES, PHAETONS, WAGONS,

All of the Latest Styles,

Best American Second-Growth HICKORY!

All of which will be
OLD ON VERY REASONABLE TERMS
Do not fail to call before purchasing elsewhere. We do not think it a trouble to show anything in our shop.

G. HAMILTON.

Napance, Feb. 8th, 1872.

GOOD NEWS
FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.
THE ALABAMA CLAIMS SETTLED.

The undersigned begs leave to return his sincere thanks to the public for the very liberal patronage he has received during the fifteen years in which he has been in business in Napance, and to intimate that he has opened out his NEW STORE, on that familiar old corner opposite the BRISCO HOUSE (late Soby House) where will be kept on hand—best in quality, and to be sold at the lowest advance on cost—all goods of every description in his line, viz.:—
Drugs and Patent Medicines,

Paints, Oils, Glass and Putty,

Dye Stuffs of all colors and shades

Paint and White Wash Brushes,

School Books and Stationery,

A nice article in Tea and other Groceries.

Also a large assortment of Fancy Articles too numerous to mention.

J. C. HUFFMAN.

Napance, Feb. 19th, 1872.

The business will be carried on in future in the name of
J. C. HUFFMAN & SON.

All accounts due Jas. C. Huffman must be settled up either by Cash or Note immediately.

COAL OIL at J. C. HUFFMAN & SON'S at 40 Cts. PER GALLON

NEW SPRING STOCK.

For Superior TEAS, COFFEES, COCOA & CHOCOLATE,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For SUGARS and SYRUPS,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Pine Apples, Peaches, Lemons, Oranges, Tomatoes,
Plums, Cherries and other Fruits,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Peppers, Spices, Cinamon, Cloves, Nutmegs, &c.,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Prunes, Raisins and Figs,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Baking Powders, Cr. Tartar, Washing Crystals, &c.,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Honey, Glycerine, Castile and Plain Soaps,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Smoking and Chewing Tobaccos, Cigars, Pipes and Cigar Holders, go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

For Flour, Oatmeal, Cornmeal and Oats,
Go to TUGWELL & TITUS.

Also Just Received, an assortment of STONEWARE
which will be sold CHEAP FOR CASH.

TUGWELL & TITUS

Napance, April 26th, 1872.

CRACKED FEET.
For Sale at the Store, for the Lowest Prices For Cash.
Also, will pay the HIGHEST PRICE in Cash for the following articles, which he has constantly on hand and for sale:
No. Farm Produce of all descriptions,
Barley, Oats, Peas, Buckwheat, Corn,
Butter, Cheese, Lard, Tallow, Eggs,
Dried and Green Apples, Onions, Potatoes,
No. Remember the Place, just opposite Paisley's Hotel.
PHILIP EMBURY.
Napance, Feb. 9 1872.

NOTICE TO Farmers and Owners

OF DETACHED RESIDENCES
Insure your property in the Agricultural Insurance Co.,
A Stock Company entirely devoted to your interests. Insure nothing but FARM PROPERTY AND DETACHED RESI-DENCES, AND AT

Greatly Reduced Rates!
(Chartered and commenced business in 1853.)

Cash Assessts.....$628,388.46
Deposited for the Benefit of Canadian Policy Holders especially.....$100,000.00

Principal Business Office for Dominion of Canada,
KINGSTON.....ONTARIO.

Canada Insurance License.
No. 24. Under Vic. 31, Cap. 38, No. 4
This is to certify that the Agricultural Insurance Company having deposited in the hands of the Receiver-General of Canada the sum of sixty-eight thousand dollars in United States Bonds, as required by the Act of Canada 31
Vic., cap. 48, sec. 22, is hereby licensed to carry on the business in Canada of Fire Insurance.

Dated the City of Ottawa 2nd day of June, 1870.

JOHN LANGTON,
Minister of Finance.
To the Farmers of the Province of Ontario.

This is to certify that I have been acquainted with the officers and Managers of the Agricultural Insurance Company, and have no hesitation in recommending it as a perfectly safe and reliable Company, and its Officers as competent and honorable business men, and it insures nothing but Farm Property and detached dwellings, and has $500,000 Assets. I consider it responsible beyond any contingency.
Kingston, June 7, 1870.

D. D. CALVIN, M.P.P.
We have examined into the condition and standing of the Agricultural Insurance Company, and do fully concur with Mr. Calvin in recommending it to the Farmers of this Province as one perfectly safe and reliable in which to insure their property.

(Signed) J. C. Clark, Banker; J. Carruthers and Co., George A. Kirkpatrick, M.P.; B. M. Britton.

We would refer to the following named gentlemen, residents of Belleville, in regard to the sufficient responsibility of the Company.

Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., Dr. Rufus
Holden, N. B. Falkner, Esq.; George Taylor, Esq., Baldwin Fralick, Esq.,
Sanford Baker, Esq., E. W. Holton.

We would refer to the following named gentlemen, residents of Napance, in regard to the sufficient responsibility of the Company.

J. T. Grange, M.P.P., J. C. Huffman, ex-Mayor, Jno. Herring, Esq., T. S. Carman, Esq., Boyle and Wright,
John Stevenson, Esq.

S. GIBSON, M. T. ROGERS.
J. G. POSTER
Agents, Napance and Counties.

TWANKEY TEAS.
3 pounds for $1.
Imperial Tea only 50 cts.
Fine Young Hyson only 50 cts.
Japan Tea only 50 cts.
at J. AYLSWORTH'S

CRACKED FEET.
The Impurities which collect in the skin of the feet, and Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it sostructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when.
Keep the Blood pure and the health of the system will follow.
It is a Gentle Regulating Purgative, as well as a Tonic, &c. Possessing also the peculiar merits of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion, and Chronic Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.
For Female Complaints, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or at the return of life, the Medical Victoria has no equal.
In the cure of Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, its effects are surprising to all. For Regulating the Bowels, and curing Biliousness, Headache, Sick-Headache, Neuralgia, Female Weakness, Nervousness, Pains in the Side, Loins and Back, and general Weakness and Debility, its curative powers are beyond money and beyond price, IT IS THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND A LIFE GIVING PRIN-CIPLE, a perfect Remedy and an Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and Restoring the Blood to its healthy condition.

Sold by all Druggists & Dealers.
SEND FOR A DESCRIPTIVE PAMPHLET. ADDRESS
YOUNG, SILLS & CO.
Bath, Ontario.

THE VICTORIA
CHEMICAL CO.

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers of the Celebrated Victoria Carbolic Preparations. Laboratory and Works, Victoria Hall, Melinda Street, Toronto, Ont.

The following Genuine Preparations are sold by all Druggists. Be sure you get the Victoria PREPARATIONS, and see that you get them.

VICTORIA CARBOLATED
GLYCERINE JELLY

This JELLY is highly recommended to be used as a most agreeable Preparation for the Toilet. For Beautifying the Complexion, and rendering the Skin Soft, White, Clear, and free from Dryness, it is unrivalled. It will quickly remove all Redness, Roughness, Tan, Freckles, Pimples, and other imperfections. For Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Frost Bites and Sore Lips, it cannot be surpassed.
Price 25 cents.

VICTORIA CARBOLIC
TOILET SOAP

This TOILET SOAP possesses all the well-known antiseptic and disinfecting properties of Carbolic Acid, is agreeably scented, has a healthy action on the skin, prevents irritation, removes the effects of perspiration, and should be regularly used by Millers, Cheesemongers, and all who are exposed to contagion. For Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Frost Bites and Sore Lips, it cannot be surpassed.
Price 15 cents per Tablet.

VICTORIA CARBOLIC
SALVE

This SALVE is a rapid cure for all Skin Diseases, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Sores, Ulcers, Blisters, Worm, Tetter, Eczema, Scald Head, Scurvy, Abscesses, Boils, Pimples, &c. It possesses all the cleansing and healing virtues of Carbolic Acid, which has been found by Physicians everywhere to possess curative qualities not discovered in any other chemical preparation. Price 25 cents.

VICTORIA CARBOLIC
GARGARYSMA

This GARGARYSMA is the most reliable and efficacious Remedy in all cases of Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Diphtheria, Bronchitis, Irritation of the Bronchi, Tubercles so common in this changeable climate, Asthma, Offensive Breath, Ulcerated Gums, and diseases of the Mouth. For Public Speakers and Singers it is invaluable. The Ingredients entering into this Gargarysma are used by all Physicians, and for the cure of the above disorders are now undoubtedly, the most popular in the Materia Medica. Price 25 cents.

VICTORIA CARBOLIC
DISINFECTANT

This DISINFECTANT is a sure preventive of Typhus and Typhoid Fevers, Cholera, Smallpox, and other infectious diseases. It will prevent contagion in Closets, Bedrooms, Bathrooms, Stables, Slaughterhouses, &c., and for destroying vermin, such as from whatever cause arising, it will drive away Mosquitoes, Moths, Flies, Cockroaches, &c. Most useful. Can be preserved from putrefaction by its use. Carbolic Acid was selected by Her Majesty's Royal Commissioners, in preference to all other products, as the best Disinfectant for the prevention of infectious diseases. Price 25 cents.

VICTORIA SHARPENING AND POLISHING PASTE

This PREPARATION is unequalled in its rapidity for Sharpening and Polishing Cutlery, Table and Pocket-knives, Razors, surgical Instruments, Shavers' Knives, Plane Bits and Chisels, &c. Nothing has ever been discovered which has sprung into popular use more quickly, or becomes of so much value in every household and workshop for general usefulness. Price 25 cents.

WEEKLY EXPRESS SUPER-ROYAL SHEET.

PUBLISHED every Friday morning containing 40 long columns making it the largest Weekly issued between Montreal and Toronto. Its extensive circulation (1,600) makes it the best advertising medium in this part of the Province.

RTES OF DVERTISING,

Eight cents per line for first insertion, two cents per line for each subsequent insertion. A liberal discount given to yearly advertisers.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

If paid in advance, (per year).....$1.50
If not paid within 3 months..... 1.75
If not paid within 6 months..... 2.00
If not paid till expiration of year, 2.50
When delivered by Carrier, 50c extra Positively no deviation from these rates will be made.

OUR JOB DEPARTMENT

Is furnished with all the latest styles of Types and fast Presses, which enable us to execute orders with neatness and despatch.

All advertisements without written directions will be inserted until forbid and charged accordingly.
advertisements measured by a scale of solid minion.

T. S. CARMAN, Publisher.

LEGAL.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notaries Public, etc., etc.

OFFICE—Grange Block, John Street, Napanee.

JAMES CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON

REEVE and MORDE,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, Napanee, Ontario.

OFFICE—Perry's New Block, Dundas Street.

W. A. REEVE, M.A., A. L. MORDE.
County Crown Attorney.

W. R. CAMBERLAJ,

BARRISTER, Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancer, Notary Public, etc.

OFFICE—Next door to the Council Chamber, Market Square, Napanee.

WILLIAMS and HOOPEE,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc., Napanee, Ontario.

W. S. WILLIAMS,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, Insolvent Act 1864, for the County of Lennox and Addington.

OFFICE—Messrs. Williams & Hooper Barristers, etc. Napanee

CAMPBELL & COATES.

Chambers, Grange Block, Napanee, (entrance, John St., near Market Square), and Division Court Office, Tamworth.

F. W. CAMPBELL, Attorney at Law & Solicitor in Chancery, Ontario Courts.

JOHN COATES, Notary Public, Attorney at Law, and Solicitor in Chancery in English Courts.

Conveyancing. Collecting. Money to lend on reasonable terms.

MR. JAMES O'REILLY, Q. C.,

LAW and Chancery Chamber, Anchor Buildings, north-east side of Market Square, Kingston, Ont.

The partnership of O'Reilly and Macnamara, at Napanee is dissolved. Parties desiring Mr. O'Reilly's professional services, will please address him at Kingston.

H. M. DEROCHE.

BARRISTER, and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery etc.

OFFICE—in Grange Block, lately occupied by Reeve & Morden.

W. F. HALL.

THE WEEKLY

THOMAS S. CARMAN, PUBLISHER & PROPRIETOR.

VOL 13

NAPANEE, ONT.

INSURANCE

IMPERIAL OFFICE, LONDON, ESTABLISHED 1803, Capital and Reserved Fund

£1,969,000 — — — Stirling.
Funds invested in Canada.—$105,000
RINTON BROS., General Agts.
24 St. Sacramento St. Montreal.
H. L. GEDDES, AGENT,
Napanee and vicinity.

IMPORTAT TO FARMERS.

THE Agricultural Mutual Assurance Association, of Canada. Head Office, London, Ont. A Farmer's Association, insuring nothing more hazardous than Farm Property. This is the only Mutual in the Dominion, which having complied with the requirements of the law has been licensed under Mr. Ross's Act.
Capital 250,000 Deposited with the Receiver General 25,000, Policies in force 35,000.
Only 50¢ to 10¢ per acre (according to class) for a three year's term, on isolated Farm Property. No Premium Note. No further liability, whatever. Parties preferring the Premium Note system can still be accommodated on it as heretofore.
Apply to W. H. SNIDER, Newburgh.
Sole Agent for Frontenac, Lennox & Addington

THE PRINCE EDWARD

COUNTY;
Mutual Fire Insurance Co'y

HEAD OFFICE—PICTON, O. T.
(Established 30th Sept., 1854).

PRESIDENT—LEWIS B. STINSON
VICE-PRESIDENT—S. B. HUBBS
MANAGER—L. B. STINSON.
SECRETARY—JOHN TWIGG.
TREASURER—PHILIP LOW, Q. C.
INS. OF LOSSES & AG'S.—J. HOWELL.
SOLICITOR—H. R. ALLISON

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—JAS. JOHNSTON, WILLIAM DELONG, H. A. McFAUL, JOHN VANALSTINE, WELLINGTON BOULTER.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. Striker, Esq., M.P.P., Picton; Robert Clapp, Esq., Milford; Ketchum Graham, Esq., M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas. A. Lloyd, Jng. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adolphustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee; John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton; George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Thos. Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner, Esq., Redmerville; O. W. Robin Esq., Ameliasburgh.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, insuring farming property in Townships, and property not more hazardous in Towns and Villages; and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for THREE years either on the Premium Note or Cash System.

25th March, 1874.

HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE

W. H. BRUTON,

DEALER in Groceries, Provisions Green and Dried Fruit, Fancy Articles of all descriptions. Dundas Street Napanee Ont.

W. KIMERLY.

HOUSE, SIGN, & ORNAMENTAL PAINTER.

ALL work done neatly and promptly, and at moderate charges. Satisfaction guaranteed or no pay.

$5,000.00.

THE undersigned is authorized to loan money on behalf of The Provincial Permanent Building Society, at LOWER RATES than is offered by any other Company.
E. J. HOOPEE.
Napanee, 1th February, 1873.

MONEY TO LEND.

I HAVE $50,000.00 to lend. Come and get it. Terms easy.
W. S. WILLIAMS.
Napanee, Jan. 28th. 1870.

I. O. O. F.
NAPANEE LODGE, No. 86.

I. O. O. F. meet every Tuesday evening in their hall, Rennie's Block, at 7 1/2 o'clock, and Mount Ararat Encampment the second and fourth Thursdays in each month.
Visiting Brothers are cordially invited to attend.

WEBSTER & BOYES.

SOLE AGENTS in Napanee for the SINGER Family Sewing Machine, manufactured by C. W. Williams and Co., Montreal.

This Machine took First Prizes at the Provincial Show, held at Hamilton last year, and also at our last two County Shows.

Also Agents for the Celebrated ELIAS HOWE, manufactured in New York, which is one of the best.

All Machines Warranted, and if they get out of Repair, can be fixed on short notice, without extra charge.

NAPANEE BREWERY.

The above establishment is now in full operation, and

Private Families and Hotels can be supplied with

ALE AND PORTER

At the very lowest prices in the Dominion.

P. S.—This establishment has been recently purchased by the subscriber who has had long experience in England in the Brewing business. He feels that those who favor him with their patronage will be rewarded with

Poetry.

LOVE AND LABOR.

We die not all; for our deeds remain,
To crown with honor or war with stain
Through endless sequence of years to come,
Our lives shall speak when our lips are dumb.

What though we perish unknown to fame,
Our tomb forgotten, and lost our name,
Since nought is wasted in heaven or earth,
And nothing dies to which God gives birth.

Though life be joyous and death be cold,
And pleasures pall as the world grows old,
Yet God has granted our hearts relief,
For Love and Labor can conquer grief.

Love sheds a light on the gloomy way,
And Labor hurries the weary day,
Though death be fearful and life be hard,
Yet Love and Labor shall win reward.

If Love can dry up a single tear,
If life-long Labor avail to clear,
A single web from before the true,
Then Love and Labor have won their due.

What though we mourn, we can comfort pain;
What if we die, so the truth be pain;
A little spark from high desire
Shall kindle others and grow a fire.

We are not worthy to work the whole;
We have no strength which may save a soul;
Enough for us if our life begin
Successful struggle with grief and sin.

Labor is mortal and fades away,
But Love shall triumph in perfect day
Labor may wither beneath the sod,
But Love lives ever, for Love is God.

Literature.

Barbara Stafford,

OR

SILENT STRUGGLES.

Brown was water, swu hurled the foam.

NO

Old Wa bred horse another fo from a str country, sl act as her house. T to the fam sadly afr would kno ness, and promised t secret. Tit hold was t and she u tentio fro

This wa for the cou
each other, self absorpt missed his absent a w went as us forest, mo Walpee he lowing a tr
formed her Boston, en venture.

wilderness solemn de thoughts.
her with a resignatio along, a wh her face, a that she w deep forest happier wo at rest. Sc
she was co never talke question it brief memo forest and wild deer l and stoppe once with

No matt unhappines in nature away, if th ble of real unselfish look upon lavished c beauty and

Attorney at Law, and Solicitor in Chancery, Ontario
Courts.
Conveyancing. Collecting. Money to lend on reasonable terms.

MR. JAMES O'REILLY, Q. C.,
LAW and Chancery Chamber, Anchor
Buildings, north-east side of Market
Square, Kingston, Ont.
The partnership of O'Reilly and
Macnamara, at Napanee is dissolved.
Parties desiring Mr. O'Reilly's professional services, will please address him at Kingston.

H. M. DEROCHE.
BARRISTER, and Attorney-at-Law,
Solicitor in Chancery etc.
OFFICE—in Grange Block, lately occupied by Reeve & Morden.

W. F. HALL.
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson).
Office of Napanee Paper Mills, one door this side of A. N. Diamond's.

JOH COATES.
NOTARY COVEYANCER, A torney at Law and Solicitor in Chancery in English Courts. Office in Grange Block, late office H. L. Geddes, Napanee.

MEDICAL.
DR. BRISTOL
PHYSICIAN Surgeon, Accoucheur,
etc.
Office and residence—East Street, Nap-
anee Ont.

T. K. ROSS, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN A. Surgeon, etc.
Office and residence, Dr. Yeomans',
Odessa, Ont.

R. B. CLARKE, M. D., PHYSICIAN and SURGEON, Graduate Victoria University.
OFFICE and Residence. —Opposite
Wesleyan Church, John Street. Napanee
Ontario.

H. L. COOK, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon and Accoucheur, Graduate of McGill College
Montreal.
Office and Residence, Bridge Street,
Napanee, Ontario

DR. OROH YATEKHA
OFFICE OVER J. C. HUFFMAN'S
DRUG STORE.
Messages left at the office at any hour promptly attended to.
Will be at his office Mill Point, on Mondays and Fridays from 3 to 6 o'clock

J. EWTO, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accoucheur
etc.
OFFICE AND RESIDENCE. — MILL POINT.

DR. M. I. BEEMA
GRADUATE TORONTO UNI-VERSITY and Member College of Physicians and Surgeons. Office opposite Ryan & Ash's Store, Main street, Centreville, Ont.

S. T. CLEMENTS,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist
Napanee, Ont.
OFFICE.—Coates' Block, Dundas
Street
Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles.

J. H. W. BEDFORD, L. D. S.,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist,
Napanee, Ont.
Rooms—McMullen's Block.
Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles. 511v.

LICENSERS.
PETER E. R. MILLER,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Swit-zerville, Ont.
ALEX. C. DAVIS
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee,
Ontario
ROBERT GRAHAM,

Attorney at Law, and Solicitor in Chancery, Ontario
Courts.
Conveyancing. Collecting. Money to lend on reasonable terms.
MR. JAMES O'REILLY, Q. C.,
LAW and Chancery Chamber, Anchor
Buildings, north-east side of Market
Square, Kingston, Ont.
The partnership of O'Reilly and
Macnamara, at Napanee is dissolved.
Parties desiring Mr. O'Reilly's professional services, will please address him at Kingston.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, Insuring farming property in Townships, and property not more hazardous in Towns
and Villages; and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for THE years either on the Premium Note to Cash System.
25th March, 1874.

HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED — 1810.
CAPITAL. $1,000,000.
A MOUNT DEPOSITED IN CAN-ADA in accordance with the Act $130,000.

Insures property against fire as low
as any other reliable company. All losses equitably adjusted and promptly
paid in Canada funds or Gold. Isolated dwellings insured at exceedingly
low rates.

H. L. GEDDES, Agent
for Napanee and vicinity.

HOUELS.
CAMPBELL HOUSE.
CHANGED HANDS.

The undersigned begs to inform trvellers and the public generally that he has leased this well known and first class house, and offers every accommodation to the travelling public. The rooms will be found to be large and commodious, the table will be supplied with the best the country affords, and the best brands of liquors and cigars kept in the bar. Sample and Billiard Rooms in connection with the house. Good stabling and livery attached to the premises.
Particular attention paid to commercial men, with First-Class Sample Room, etc. Farmers will find this house in every way adapted to their comfort, no pains will be spared to make them feel at home.

W. L. KINNE,
Proprietor.

Napanee, Dec. 5th 1872

BRISCO HOUSE.
L. GERALDI & SON, would respectfully announce to the travelling public that they have leased for a term of years the BRISCO HOUSE, Napanee, where they offer every inducement in they way of comfort and convenience which a First-class House can give.
The House has been entirely overhauled and built new inside, furnished with latest Styles of Furniture. A large airy Reading Room attached, making it the only first-class Hotel in Napanee, notwithstanding the many false reports circulated to injure the establishment, by interested parties, to forward their own interests.

Charges are moderate,
A call is cordially solicited.
Your obedient servants,
L. GERALDI & SON.
Napanee, Feb. 26th 1874.

M'KIM HOUSE, TMWORTH.

THIS House has just been rebuilt
by Mr. O'Brien, who now offers to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good
stabling and sheds, and attentive hands
around the house. Farmers will find this a handy place to the business part of the village to leave their teams.

J. O'BRIEN.
Tamworth, March 27th 1872.

TICHBORNE HOUSE.

THE proprietor of this house begs to acknowledge with thanks the many obligations he is under to the public for the very liberal patronage

Also Agents for the Celebrated ELIAS HOWE, manufactured in New York, which is one of the best.
All Machines Warranted, and if they get out of Repair, can be fixed on short notice, without extra charge.

NAPANEE BREWERY.

The above establishment is now in full operation, and

Private Families and Hotels
can be supplied with

ALE AND PORTER

At the very owest prices in the Dominion.

P. S.—This establishment has been recently purchased by the subscriber
who has had long experience in England in the Brewing business. He feels that those who favor him with their patronage will be rewarded with a good article. A call is solicited.

JOHN BOWEY.
Napanee, Feb. 7th. 1872.

POTTER & BROTHER,
A FIRST-CLASS LIVERY
ADJOINING BRISCO HOUSE,
(LATE SOBY HOUSE.)

We keep nothing but First-Class
Horses and Vehicles, and at REASONABLE
PRICES.

EAST STREET. NAPANEE. ONT.

J. FINLAYSON,
New Livery Complete
AT COMMERCIAL HOTEL
MILL POINT.

NAPANEE MARBLE FACTORY

W. R. MOORE

WOULD announce to his friends and the public generally that he has removed his shop from Odessa, where he has been in business for the past 7 years, to Napanee, to enlarge and otherwise improve his business. He is determined not to be outdone, either in quality of work or price. All work warranted, and a careful man sent to put up and otherwise fix the stones. None but First-Class Workmen kept.

Monuments of all descriptions on hand,
such as American and Italian Marbles, Scotch Granite, &c.

Shop just in rear of Campbell House and one door this side of Belfast Tea House.

W. R. MOORE.
J. T. CLARK, Agent.
Napanee, May 21, 1873.

AVOID QUACKS

A victim of early indiscretion, causing nervous debility, premature decay, &c., having tried in vain every advertised remedy, has discovered a simple mean of self-cure, which he will send free to his fellow-sufferers. Address,

J. H. REEVES,
78, Nassau St., New York

JOHN A. REID.

Veterinary Surgeon

GRADUATE TOR. VET. COLLEGE, HAVING now settled in Napanee for the practice of his profession, would inform the public that he has undergone a thorough professional course of study in the Veterinary art, and feels confident that he can give every satisfaction to those who favor him with their patronage.

full Assortment of Veterinary Medicines always on hand, for Horses, Cattle and Sheep.

Medicine forwarded to any part Without Delay.

Horses examined as to soundness, and Certificates given if necessary.

Orders left at the BRISCO HOUSE will receive prompt attention.

OFFICE—One Door East of EXPRESS
Office, Warner Block, Napanee.

JOHN A. REID
Napanee, Jan. 10 1873.

NAPANEE TICKET AGENCY

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY
TICKETS FOR SALE AT

GRANGE & BROTHERS
DRUG STORE.

FOR ALL STATIONS EAST & WEST

a soul;
Enough for us if our life begin Successful struggle with grief and sin.

Labor is mortal and fades away,
But Love shall triumph in perfect
day
Labor may wither beneath the sod,
But Love lives ever, for Love is God.

Literature.

Barbara Stafford,

OR

SILENT STRUGGLES.

BY

MRS. ANN S. STEPHENS,

AUTHOR OF "THE WIFE'S SECRET,"

"MARY DERWENT," "THE REJECT-
ED WIFE," "FASHION AND FAM-
INE," "THE HEIRESS," "THE OLD HOMESTEAD," ETC.

CHAPTER XXX.—CONTINUED.

STRANGE SHADOWS.

'And I am to use this about the ship?'

'Yes! yes!'

'And crowd on all the work we can,' joined in the carpenter.

'Yes! yes!'

'That is easy understood,' observed the hired man.

'I only wish that I could swing a broad axe.'

'Now I must go,' said the lady, taking the hard hand of Goody Brown in her friendly clasp. 'You have been kind to me and I can never forget it. 'Only help me to leave these shores, and see if I prove ungateful.'

These words had hardly left the lady's lips when she was outside the door, and moving toward the woods in a rapid walk.

These three men and Goody Brown flocked to the window, and looked after her as she moved through the tight of a moon buried half the time under fleecy whiteness of drifting clouds. She approached the woods, and they saw her engulphed in shadows that seemed to move and sway with the wind. Directly she came forth, riding on a milk-white horse, that stood out from the leaden shadows distinct as marble; for that instant the moon threw off its burden of cloud, and rode clear and bright across a plain of blue sky. Directly another horse and rider, that looked black as ebony in the distance, came out of the shadows, and then a third;
but whether the riders of these black steeds were men or women no one could tell. For a little time the horses kept along the edge of the woods, but at last they plunged into some forest path and were gone.

Still the inmates of the farm-house watched by the window, for there was something weird in the woman's departure which stimulated curiosity.
As they looked, the edge of the wood grew alive. Dusky forms moved, to and fro, now in the darkness, now in faint gleams of light; and the forests began to sway and moan as if oppressed by some evil presence, which made all its boughs heave and its follage quiver. Then a muffled yell broke out from the heart of the woods, and a line of what seemed to

R. B. CLARKE, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN and SURGEON, Graduate Victoria University.
 OFFICE and Residence. - Opposite Wesleyan Church, John Street, Nananee Ontario.

H. L. COOK, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon and Accouchur, Graduate of McGill College Montreal.
 Office and Residence, Bridge Street, Nananee, Ontario

DR. OROH YATEKHA
OFFICE OVER J. C. HUFFMAN'S DRUG STORE.
 Messages left at the office at any hour promptly attended to.
 Will be at his office Mill Point, on Mondays and Fridays from 3 to 6 o'clock

J. EWTO, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, Accouchur etc.
 OFFICE AND RESIDENCE. - MILL POINT.

DR. M. I. BEEMA
GRADUATE TORONTO UNIVERSITY and Member College of Physicians and Surgeons. Office opposite Ryan & Ash's Store, Main Street, Centreville, Ont.

S. T. CLEMENTS,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist
 Nananee, Ont.
 OFFICE. - Coates' Block, Dundas Street
 Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles.

J. H. W. BEDFORD, L. D. S.,
SURGICAL and Mechanical Dentist, Nananee, Ont.
 Rooms - McMullen's Block.
 Teeth operated on in the most scientific and approved styles. 511y.

LICENSERS.
 PETER E. R. MILLER,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Switzerville, Ont.

ALEX. C. DAVIS
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Nananee, Ontario

ROBERT GRAHAM,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSSES. Office - In the Dominion Store Enterprise.

D. S. WARE.
MERCHANT, WILTON, Issuer of Marriage Licenses and Certificates

JAMES LANE, DENBIGH
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSSES

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSSES and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver and Toronto Fire Insurance Company, and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence Shannonville, Ont.

S. D. CLARK,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSSES, Odessa, Ont.

J. J. WATSON,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Adolphustown.

CHARLES LAE,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSSES and Certificates.
 Office Front of Grammar School, Bridge Street.
 Nananee July 24th, 1874.

Russell Watches.
THOS. RUSSELL & SON,
 55 and 57 Yonge Street,
 TORONTO.

house, and offers every accommodation to the travelling public. The rooms will be found to be large and commodious, the table will be supplied with the best the country affords, and the best brands of liquors and cigars kept in the bar. Sample and Billiard Rooms in connection with the house. Good stabling and livery attached to the premises.
 Particular attention paid to commercial men, with First-Class Sample-Room, etc. Farmers will find this house in every way adapted to their comfort. No pains will be spared to make them feel at home.

W. L. KINNE,
 Proprietor.

Nanabee, Dec. 5th 1872

BRISCO HOUSE.
 L. GERALDI & SON, would respectfully announce to the travelling public that they have leased for a term of years the BRISCO HOUSE, Nananee, where they offer every inducement in their way of comfort and convenience which a First-class House can give. The House has been entirely overhauled and built new inside. Furnished with latest Styles of Furniture. A large airy Reading Room attached, making it the only first-class Hotel in Nananee, notwithstanding the many false reports circulated to injure the establishment, by interested parties, to forward their own interests.

Charges are moderate,
 A call is cordially solicited.
 Your obedient servants,
 L. GERALDI & SON.
 Nananee, Feb. 26th 1874.

M'KIM HOUSE, TMWORTH.

THIS House has just been rebuilt by Mr. O'Brien, who now offers to his old customers and travellers generally, first-class accommodation, good stabling and sheds, and attentive hands around the house. Farmers will find this a handy place to the business part of the village to leave their teams.

J. O'BRIENE.
 Tamworth, March 27th 1872.

TICHBORNE HOUSE.

THE proprietor of this house begs to acknowledge with thanks the many obligations he is under to the public for the very liberal patronage while managing the Eclipse Hotel, and trusts that his many friends and customers will favor him with a share of their patronage.

The Dining Room is furnished with the choicest products of the market, the bar in like manner.

R. McDONALD, Proprietor.
 Nananee June 5th 1873.

MISCELLA
A Man of a Thousand.

When death was hourly expected from CONSUMPTION, all remedies having failed and Dr H. JAMES was experimenting, he naturally made a preparation of I A HEMP, which cured his on receipt of two stamps to pay expen HEMP also cures night-sweats, anæmia at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in 4 hours. Address Cradock & Co., 302 Race St., Phila., naming this paper.

NANANEE LIME WORKS.

JOHN GALT.
 will supply lime from this date to all orders entrusted in his care, which will be promptly filled. All orders left at Ferguson & Bros., or at my office in the Warner Block, will be attended to. Small orders are attended to as well as large ones. Warranted good.
 JOHN GALT.
 Nananee April 7th, 1874.

WOULD announce to his friends and the public generally that he has removed his shop from Odessa, where he has been in business for the past 7 years, to a place, to enlarge and otherwise improve his business. He is determined not to be outdone, either in quality of work or price. All work warranted, and a careful man sent to put up and otherwise fix the stones. None but First-Class Workmen kept.
 Monuments of all descriptions on hand, such as American and Italian Marbles, Scotch Granite, &c.
 Shop just in rear of Campbell House and one door this side of Belfast Tea House.

W. R. MOORE.
 J. T. CLARK, Agent.
 Nananee, May 21, 1873.

AVOID QUACKS
 A victim of early indiscretion, causing nervous debility, premature decay, &c., having tried in vain every advertised remedy, has discovered a simple means of self-cure, which he will send free to his fellow-sufferers. Address,
 J. H. REEVES,
 78, Nassau St., New York
JOHN A. REID.

Veterinary Surgeon
GRADUATE TOR. VET. COLLEGE.
HAVING now settled in Nananee for the practice of his profession, would inform the public that he has undergone a thorough professional course of study in the Veterinary Art, and feels confident that he can give every satisfaction to those who favor him with their patronage.
 Full Assortment of Veterinary Medicines always on hand, for Horses, Cattle and Sheep.
 Medicine forwarded to any part Without Delay.
 Horses examined as to soundness, and Certificates given if necessary.
 Orders left at the BRISCO HOUSE will receive prompt attention.
 OFFICE - One Door East of EXPRESS Office, Warner Block, Nananee.
JOHN A. REID
 Nananee, Jan. 10 1873.

NANANEE TICKET AGENCY
GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY
TICKETS FOR SALE AT GRANGE & BROTHERS
DRUG STORE.
 FOR ALL STATIONS EAST & WEST
 American money taken at par from Nananee to Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, San Francisco, and via SARNIA LINE OF STEAMERS,

FOR ALL LAKE PORTS.
 Passengers purchasing Tickets from the undersigned avoid the trouble and delay of exchanging Tickets and re-checking baggage at Toronto.
Cheapest Route to the West.
 For further particulars apply to
GRANGE BROS.,
 Exchange Office.
 Passenger Agents G. T. R.
 Uncurrent Money Bought and Sold.
 Nananee, July 26th. 1871

COUNTRY TRADE.
 The Goods are all new and the Business will be done for Cash, with the exception of some of my old Customers, whom I can't refuse until the new crop comes off which is very promising. I have now on hand the following Goods: The Cheapest Teas, Tobaccos, Sugars, &c. in town. The Best Flour in the Country (200 barrels Oshawa), 500 Sacks of Corn Meal (Oswego), Oatmeal with Boots and Shoes, Crockery, Dry Goods, Barrel Salt, English Ground Dairy Salt in Bags (the only genuine article for Butter,) Pork by the Barrel, Shingles of all kinds, split and sawed.
 Remember the place,
CENTRE BLOCK.
WILLIAM McMULLEN.
 Nananee, June 2nd 1874.

'Yes! yes!'
 'That is easy understood,' observed the hired man.
 'I only wish that I could swing a broad axe.'

'Now I must go,' said the lady, taking the hard hand of Goody Brown in her friendly clasp. 'You have been kind to me and I can never forget it. 'Only help me to leave these shores, and see if I prove ungrateful.'

These words had hardly left the lady's lips when she was outside the door, and moving toward the woods in a rapid walk.

These three men and Goody Brown flocked to the window, and looked after her as she moved through the tight of a moon buried half the time under fleecy whiteness of drifting clouds. She approached the woods, and they saw her engulphed in shadows that seemed to move and sway with the wind. Directly she came forth, riding on a milk-white horse. That stood out from the leaden shadows distinct as marble; for that instant the moon threw off its burden of cloud, and rode clear and bright across a plain of blue sky. Directly another horse and rider, that looked black as ebony in the distance, came out of the shadows, and then a third; but whether the riders of these black steeds were men or women no one could tell. For a little time the horses kept along the edge of the woods, but at last they plunged into some forest path and were gone.

Still the inmates of the farm-house watched by the window, for there was something weird in the woman's departure which stimulated curiosity. As they looked, the edge of the wood grew alive. Dusky forms moved, to and fro, now in the darkness, now in fitful gleams of light; and the forests began to sway and moan as if oppressed by some evil presence, which made all its boughs heave and its foliage quiver. Then a muffled yell broke out from the heart of the woods, and a line of what seemed to be human forms came into an open field that lay close to the forest, and, curving onward like an enormous serpent, crept away through the darkness.

There was little said in the farm-house that night about these mysterious appearances, but a vague superstition took possession of those three men, and they felt as if the gold they had received might vanish into thin air before morning.

When the day broke, Brown and his hired man went into the barn to clear the thrashing-floor of all incumbrances. They found the door shut and every thing in place. But when the man went to the corner where those ponderous boxes had been stored, they were gone. Then the thick hair on Jason Brown's head stood up with terror, and turning to the astonished look of his companion he went into the house. 'Wife, take that purse from your bosom and give it to me.'

The woman obeyed him, and drew forth the purse. He snatched it from her hold, left the house, and ran down to the shore. When he reached the verge of the water, great drops stood on his forehead, and he panted for breath. A little way off was a line of breakers dashing up spray from a cluster of hidden rocks.

between h the grave. disappoint neither b grandeur which had ing alm would be the end w tory and I were, rem bosom. I who looke mouth and could dou would hav and even times mis urbanity serene life Let her the woman self. She grow strou out counsel through t ness, so la expanded sweet influ her. She perhaps, when alor that very she put as that haun fully thro each fern; with a br bottom, a sunshine. It must noon whe little open some Ind the under trees, in which wa It was a from the crested w trees, thr came shi forest to lovely bl ness. H the shade hemlocks ing on i ferns and drank lif while ar dark bar up on th slopes in contrast. Barba felt the s over her clamatou delight: led the v gazing at to be mc my hors is hungri In her loosened ful anim ping th eagerly oms in c he feare next ins sweet re Wahy horse, a lifted B saying c

133
WEEKLY EXPRESS

TERMS :—$1.50 IN ADVANCE

EE, ONTARIO. FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11. 1874.

OR.
Is remain, with stain of years to our lips are known to our name, heaven or God gives death be world grows arts relief,
quer grief.
omy way,
r day,
d life be a reward.
ear,
at,
true,
won their can com-be pain;
e a fire.
ie whole;
may save in rief and y, a perfect
he sod,
is God.
e.
ford,
ES.
ENS,

NOON IN THE WOODS.

Brown waded knee-deep into the water, swung his arm backward, and hurled the purse into the seething foam.

Old Wahpee had procured a forest-bred horse for Barbara Stafford and another for his own use. Restless from a strong desire to leave the country, she had besought him to act as her guide to the stone farmhouse. Their object was unknown to the family, for the Indian was sadly afraid that Samuel Parris would know of the share in the business, and for this reason Barbara promised to keep her journey a secret. Tituba alone of all the household was taken into their confidence, and she undertook to divert attention from Barbara's movements.

This was no very difficult matter, for the cousins were occupied with each other, and Samuel Parris in his self-absorption would hardly have missed his guest had she remained absent a week. So one day Barbara went as usual into the margin of the forest, mounted the white horse that Wahpee held by the bridle, and following a trail which the Indian informed her led by a short cut to Boston, entered fearlessly on her adventure. The vast solitude of the wilderness harmonized with the solemn depression of her own thoughts. Its profound silence filled her with a sentiment of sublime resignation. Sometimes, as she rode along, a whispered prayer brightened her face, and you would have thought that she was travelling through those deep forest shades directly into that happier world where the weary are at rest. So far as conversation went, she was completely alone. Wahpee never talked, and if she asked him a question it was answered in some brief incoherency. So deep was the forest and so remote the way, that wild deer leaped across her path, and stopped to gaze on her more than once with almost human curiosity.

No matter how deep or persistent unhappiness may be, there is nothing in nature that will charm it half away, if the heart it troubles is capable of real poetic sentiment. The unselfish and pure-minded cannot look upon all the munificence of God lavished everywhere in objects of beauty and usefulness—for the glorious Artist of the universe has created no one thing that has not a peculiar gift of beauty to recommend it along the margin of the brook, where she observed, with some surprise, that the grasses and ferns had been recently trodden into something like a path. The brook swept its crystal curves around one side of the clearing, which took the sun so warmly, then widened into a beautiful pool, margined with golden willows, growing wildly, under a sumptuous drape of vines. Beyond this basin of water Barbara saw a column of blue smoke curling up from the foot of a great hemlock, and flashes of fire shot in and out through the quivering green of the undergrowth.

Pleased and expectant for Barbara began to surmise that she had not been brought to that lovely place by accident, she followed her guide in silence, and at last came out on a mound of grandeur, surrounded, covered so thickly with grass that her feet trod a hundred tiny flowers to death without her seeing them. The willows that margined the miniature lake at its base, and the hemlocks that crowded up from the forest, hedged in this pretty eminence, flickering its edges with tattered shadows and sunshine, but leaving a broad flat rock on the summit bathed in golden light. Around this rock, clusters of wild trumpet vines, trailing albus, and golden bitter-sweet, wove their beauties together in luxuriant wildness, creeping in rich traceries over the rock, or falling in garlands down the grassy sides of the mound. The centre of this rocky table was bright with sparkling crystals and clean as granite could be made. Somewhat more than the hand of nature had been at work there. Not a dead leaf or broken twig could be found littering on the rock or in the grass.

'Ah, how lovely!' exclaimed the lady, flinging back the hood of her mantle, and looking around in pleasant astonishment. 'Surely, Wahpee, this is not your work?'

'Would you be offended, lady, if it were mine?' said a voice close by, and from beneath the bending hemlocks came forth Philip, or Metacomet, the young man whose fate had been so strangely enwoven with her own.

'Nay, Philip, I am neither offended nor surprised. It was kind to provide me this lovely spot to rest in, and I am glad to look once more on the face of a friend.'

Barbara sat down on the rock as she spoke, and untasting the clasp of her scarlet cloak, allowed it to fall loosely around her. Philip flung himself on the grass at her feet, kin-kets full of blue berries, with whom on them.

This rustic meal the woman brought fourth to the mound, and placed upon the rock, without a sign of curiosity about the stranger, or a spoken word, Barbara looked on in wonder. The whole scene really did appear like enchantment to her. Philip took a case from a pouch by his side, and extracted from it a knife and fork, mounted with silver. Barbara's eyes brightened; they had been her gift to the young man when he first went forth on his travels after those dreary years of bondage.

'Eat,' he said, carving one of the birds with his hunting-knife, and see if wholesome food may not be found in the woods.'

'Yes, if you eat also,' she answered. 'In your hard journey through life we may at least take this one quiet meal together.'

Phillip took a piece of the bird, but could not eat; his heart was too full.

'This is our last meal together on earth, perhaps,' he said, in a low voice. 'If you return to England I may perish here, and never look upon your face again.'

'My friend, there is another world,' Barbara answered, 'and at the longest only a few short years divides us from it.'

'But what if the Indian's hunting-grounds and the white-man's heaven should be eternally Sundered?' answered the young chief mournfully.

'That cannot be,' was the gentle reply. 'If friendship and love are immortal, God will not make a torture of his holiest gifts. In the next world as in this I shall surely be your friend.'

'And the friendship of angels must be sweeter than earthly love,' answered the youth. 'That shall content me, lady: something tells me that it will not be long before I can claim this beautiful promise, yonder. The path that I have chosen is full of danger, and its end may be speedy death.'

Barbara looked down upon him with all the light of a noble soul in her eyes.

'Oh, Phillip! may you never learn how sweet the hopes of death can be to a human soul.'

The young man smiled mournfully.

'Perhaps I have already learned that,' he said, 'But I am wrong, inhospitable, selfish; my complaints trouble you, and you cannot eat. Come, come; let me crave another bird, this is cold.'

the blackness of night was swept away, and all the forest trees turned of a rich, golden green, inexpressibly beautiful.

'We are near the encampment,' said Philip, and a proud smile lighted his face, upon which the sudden radiance shone. 'Ride on, dear lady; your halting place of yesterday is but just ahead: that flaming pine-tree will light us to it. This time you will find it filled with warriors.'

The horse which Phillip bestrode leaped forward while he was speaking, and with a spirited bound Barbara's white steed sprang after him.

Directly they came in sight of the clearing, illuminated by the burning pine, which, uplifted by a ledge of rocks from a level with the forest, towered behind it like a steeple of quivering fire. Bathed in this golden light Barbara saw the turf mound on which she had taken that noonday repast; and under it the miniature lake with all its crystal waves flame-tinted by the fire. The dark which fell in a perpetual stream seemed eddying and shimmering in the depth of its waters, and the willows which drooped over them were of a rich luminous green that quivered with every stir of the wind.

The larger clearing was less broadly in the light, but that presented one of the grandest scenes that human eye ever dwelt upon. There swarming, justling, heaving together in gorgeous masses, a multitude of savages crowded the open space. Within the glow of that mighty council-fire the scattered tribe of the Pomperoun had gathered to meet the son of their skin king. Burning with war paint, and resplendent with barbarous ornaments, they turned the sweet rural scene of the morning into a war-camp so wild and picturesque that the lady uttered a cry of astonishment when she came thus suddenly upon it.

'Do not be afraid,' said Philip, reining in his horse and lending a triumphant look upon his forced guest. 'You are safe here. Keep close to my side, and I will show you how hard it is to subjugate a brave people.'

Barbara drew her rein tight: this scene, so grandly beautiful, the passionate eloquence in her companion's look and voice, aroused all the enthusiasm of her nature.

'Ride on; I will follow!' she said. With grave dignity, and curbing the heroic fire that burned in his eyes, the young man advanced into the clearing. Barbara followed,

Sel
PRI
I am of mode and una hearers.
after ser help to upon m life mor
the Lori Feeling own, I l and up have be whatever many c name of the savo
There is hearer o his sinf weaknes to seek all his h has alre ment I l laymen whole believe ment th unbolt a

Celebrated ured in New best.
nted, and if be fixed on charpe.
VERY.
it is now in 1 Hotels
with ORTER in the Dont has been a subscriber ice in Eng-
-lissness. He or him with arded with olicted.
BOWEY.
HER, LIVERY HOUSE, SE)
First-Class
Reasonable
EE, ONT.
ON
mplete
OTEL FACTORY LE friends and at he has reast 7 years,
therwise imetermined n quality of ranted, and and other-but First-ons on hand,
ian Marbles,
pbell House
Belfast Tea
MOORE.
KS
tion, causing decay, &c., y advertised ple mean- of d free to his EEVES,
, Nw York
ID.
geon
COLLEGE, Napanee for ession, would is undergone els of study in els confident satisfaction to patronage.
Veterinary for Horses, to any part readness, and SCO HOUSE
n. of EXPRESS nee.
A. REIU AGENCY RAILWAY
LE AT OTHERS
ORE.

We are not worthy to work the whole;
We have no strength which may save
a soul;
Enough for us if our life begin Successful struggle with grief and
sin.
Labor is mortal and fades away,
But Love shall triumph in perfect
day
Labor may wither beneath the sod,
But Love lives ever, for Love is God.

Literature.

Barbara Stafford,
OR SILENT STRUGGLES.
BY
MRS. ANN S. STEPHENS,
AUTHOR OF "THE WIFE'S SECRET,"
"MARY DERWENT," "THE REJECT-
ED WIFE," "FASHION AND FAM-
INE," "THE HEIRESS," "THE OLD
HOMESTEAD," ETC.

CHAPTER XXX.—CONTINUED. STRANGE SHADOWS.

'And I am to use this about the ship?'

'Yes! yes!'

'And crowd on all the work we can,' joined in the carpenter.

'Yes! yes!'

'That is easy understood,' observed the hired man.

'I only wish that I could swing a broad axe.'

'Now I must go,' said the lady, taking the hard hand of Goody Brown in her friendly clasp. 'You have been kind to me and I can never forget it. 'Only help me to leave these shores, and see if I prove ungrateful.'

These words had hardly left the lady's lips when she was outside the door, and moving toward the woods in a rapid walk.

These three men and Goody Brown flocked to the window, and looked after her as she moved through the tinge of a moon buried half the time under fleecy whiteness of drifting clouds. She approached the woods, and they saw her engulfed in shadows that seemed to move and sway with the wind. Directly she came forth, riding on a milk-white horse. That stood out from the leaden shadows distinct as marble; for that instant the moon threw off its burden of cloud, and rode clear and bright across a plain of blue sky. Directly another horse and rider, that looked black as ebony in the distance, came out of the shadows, and then a third; but whether the riders of these black steeds were men or women no one could tell. For a little time the horses kept along the edge of the woods, but at last they plunged into some forest path and were gone.

Still the inmates of the farm-house watched by the window, for there was something weird in the woman's departure which stimulated curiosity. As they looked, the edge of the wood grew alive. Dusky forms moved, to and fro, now in the darkness, now in fitful gleams of light; and the forests began to sway and moan as if oppressed by some evil presence, which made all its boughs heave and its foliage quiver. Then a muffled yell her face, and you would have thought that she was travelling through those deep forest shades directly into that happier world where the weary are at rest. So far as conversation went, she was completely alone. Wahpee never talked, and if she asked him a question it was answered in some brief monosyllable. So deep was the forest and so remote the way, that wild deer leaped across her path, and stopped to gaze on her more than once with almost human curiosity.

No matter how deep or persistent unhappiness may be, there is nothing in nature that will charm it half away, if the heart it troubles is capable of real poetic sentiment. The unselfish and pure-minded cannot look upon all the munificence of God lavished everywhere in objects of beauty and usefulness—for the glorious Artist of the universe has created no one thing that has not a peculiar gift of beauty to recommend it—without an outburst of thankfulness. If the supreme object for which the heart yearns so hungrily is withheld, nature holds forth a thousand lures of beauty which are sure to draw the soul out of itself and thus nearer to its God.

Barbara Stafford was very unhappy. Since landing in America, her life had been one struggle. She was a woman of gentle nature, not less pliant and sweet because her will was firm and her power of endurance wonderful. She was now absolutely without earthly hope. It she turned to the past, it was full of pain. The future lay before her a desert. She could not endure, even in thought, to travel over the waste which lay between her coming sea-voyage and the grave. But though unhappy, disappointed, and dejected, she was neither bitter nor cynical. The grandeur and breadth of character which had led her silently into making almost impossible sacrifices would be sufficient to carry her to the end without faltering. Her history and her object, whatever they were, remained a secret in her own bosom. That she suffered, no one who looked upon the lines about her mouth and the shadows in those eyes could doubt. Yet a casual observer would have guessed nothing of this, and even a friend might have sometimes mistaken her kindness and urbanity for the expression of a serene life.

Let her history be what it might, the woman was sufficient unto herself. She knew how to suffer and grow strong, without hope and without counsel. That day, as she rode through the woods, so rich in leafiness, so lavish in beauty, her soul expanded itself thankfully to the sweet influences that opened upon her. She was no longer young, but, perhaps, more capable of enjoyment when alone with God's works for that very reason. So for the hour she put aside the one great sorrow that haunted her life, and rode cheerfully through the woods, enjoying each ferny knoll or grassy hollow, with a brook whispering along the bottom, as if she had nothing but sunshine in her heart.

It must have been somewhat after noon when Wahpee came upon a little opening in the trees, where some Indian hunter had cleared away the undergrowth and cut down a few trees, in order to build a lodge, which was now a heap of mossy logs. It was a lovely spot, lifted a little from the level of the woods and crested with half a dozen stately old trees, through which the sunshine came shimmering down upon the

there. Not a dead leaf or broken twig could be found littering on the rock or in the grass.

'Ah, how lovely!' exclaimed the lady, flinging back the hood of her mantle, and looking around in pleasant astonishment. 'Surely, Wahpee, this is not your work?'

'Would you be offended, lady, if it were mine?' said a voice close by, and from beneath the bending hemlocks came forth Philip, or Metacombet, the young man whose fate had been so strangely enwoven with her own.

'Nay, Philip, I am neither offended nor surprised. It was kind to provide me this lovely spot to rest in, and I am glad to look once more on the face of a friend.'

Barbara sat down on the rock as she spoke, and unfastening the clasp of her scarlet cloak, allowed it to fall loosely around her. Philip flung himself on the grass at her feet, kindling up his green with the gorgeousness of his savage raiment. Seated thus they could catch gleams of blue water under the willow branches, and watch the broad lily pods heaving softly up and down as if stirred with human pulses.

Barbara's face brightened, and her lips parted with smiles. She was naturally of a cheerful disposition, and such beauty as this gladdened her whole being.

'It seems like enchantment,' she said; 'some beautiful witchcraft has been at work here.'

'It has brought a smile to that face, and I am happy,' answered the young man.

'Have you known this spot long?'

'I look, like a corner in an English park. The clearing must have been made years ago, for, save that once massive stump, which is now more than half moss, no trace of the axe is visible.'

'It was cleared years ago, for I was born here.'

'Here?'

'Yes, my father was out hunting with the chiefs of his tribe. He never went even to the war-path that his wife did not follow and rest somewhere near him. A few of the old logs lie in the clearing yonder even yet, held together by the moss that has been years and years creeping over them. When Wahpee told me that you would ride through the forest, I directed him to bring you along this trail. But you look tired and must be hungry.'

'Yes, a little tired, and not a little hungry,' answered Barbara. 'In my anxiety I quite forgot that food might be needed on the way.'

'Would to heaven that I could always think for you!' was the humble reply. 'Oh, lady, how lovely these forests would be if you never left them!'

Barbara looked around, and her eyes filled with tears. 'If you were my son.'

The young man made an impatient gesture.

'Or my brother,' she added. 'Then, Philip, I might find that rest here which all other places in the world deny me. But my destiny leads me into the world, where I shall be far more alone than you can be here.'

The young man looked searchingly into Barbara's face, and saw how honestly she spoke.

'I know! I know from the first how hopeless this fatal love was,' he said, passionately. 'Yet spite of everything it will break forth to offend you.'

'No, I am not offended,' answered next world as in this I shall surely be your friend.'

'And the friendship of angles must be sweeter than earthly love,' answered the youth. 'That shall content me, lady: something tells me that it will not be long before I can claim this beautiful promise, yonder. The path that I have chosen is full of danger, and its end may be speedy death.'

Barbara looked down upon him with all the light of a noble soul in her eyes.

'Oh, Philip! may you never learn how sweet the hopes of death can be to a human soul.'

The young man smiled mournfully.

'Perhaps I have already learned that,' he said. 'But I am wrong, inhospitable, selfish; my complaints trouble you, and you cannot eat. Come, come; let me crave another bird, this is cold.'

An hour after this Barbara mounted her horse, and accompanied by her old guide took the forest path again. As the night came on, and the shadows around her grew blacker and blacker, through the tree tops were aflame with scarlet and gold she became conscious of some strange companionship in the woods. Sometimes it seemed as if the mellow tread of hoofs stole up from the recesses of the forest. Then she could hear the bend and sway of branches; and, closer still, whispering sounds among the leaves, as if every thing around her were full of active life. What these signs could be was a wonder to her; neither restless birds nor deer, bounding through the undergrowth in flocks, could produce a noise at once so subdued and persistent. But no harm came, or appeared to threaten her. On the contrary, legions of spirits seemed to guard her path unseen. It was dark before Barbara came out of the thick of the forest, and made her way to the farm house. Up to the very margin of the trees these whispering sounds and almost inaudible footsteps accompanied her. The moment Barbara's feet crossed that threshold hundreds on hundreds of human beings swarmed out of the woods, and moved noiselessly toward Jason Brown's barn.

A crash, as of broken boards, followed by a low, rattling sound, came from the building. Then, as each man filed by the door, a musket was placed in his hand, which he carried straight to the woods, following the warrior who had gone before, as savages tread a war-path. It was the end of this procession that Jason Brown had seen, coiling like a serpent along the edge of the forest after Barbara Stafford came forth into the moonlight on her white horse and rode away. Of all the arms secreted in the barn, not a gun was left; even the boxes were carried off in fragments.

CHAPTER XXXII.
THE BRACON FIRE.

Barbara rode on her way, altogether unconscious that the woods around her swarmed with armed men, who had been for hours following her at a distance. But all at once another hoof-tread sounded in her path, and looking around she saw young Philip, mounted on a horse that seemed black in the darkness, riding close by her side, while Wahpee lagged behind.

'Do not be afraid; I have been

'And crowd on all the work we can,' joined in the carpenter.

'Yes! yes!'
'That is easy understood,' observed the hired man.

'I only wish that I could swing a broad axe.'

'Now I must go,' said the lady, taking the hard hand of Goody Brown in her friendly clasp. 'You have been kind to me and I can never forget it. Only help me to leave these shores, and see if I prove ungrateful.'

These words had hardly left the lady's lips when she was outside the door, and moving toward the woods in a rapid walk.

These three men and Goody Brown flocked to the window, and looked after her as she moved through the tight of a moon buried half the time under fleecy whiteness of drifting clouds. She approached the woods, and they saw her engulfed in shadows that seemed to move and sway with the wind. Directly she came forth, riding on a milk-white horse, that stood out from the leaden shadows distinct as marble; for that instant the moon threw off its burden of cloud, and rode clear and bright across a plain of blue sky. Directly another horse and rider, that looked black as ebony in the distance, came out of the shadows, and then a third; but whether the riders of these black steeds were men or women no one could tell. For a little time the horses kept along the edge of the woods, but at last they plunged into some forest path and were gone.

Still the inmates of the farm-house watched by the window, for there was something weird in the woman's departure which stimulated curiosity. As they looked, the edge of the wood grew alive. Dusky forms moved, to and fro, now in the darkness, now in fitful gleams of light; and the forests began to sway and moan as if oppressed by some evil presence, which made all its boughs heave and its foliage quiver. Then a muffled yell broke out from the heart of the woods, and a line of what seemed to be human forms came into an open field that lay close to the forest, and, curving onward like an enormous serpent, crept away through the darkness.

There was little said in the farm-house that night about these mysterious appearances, but a vague superstition took possession of those three men, and they felt as if the gold they had received might vanish into thin air before morning.

When the day broke, Brown and his hired man went into the barn to clear the thrashing-floor of all incumbrances. They found the door shut and every thing in place. But when the man went to the corner where those ponderous boxes had been stored, they were gone. Then the thick hair on Jason Brown's head stood up with terror, and turning from the astonished look of his companion he went into the house.

'Wife, take that purse from your bosom and give it to me.'

The woman obeyed him, and drew forth the purse. He snatched it from her hold, left the house, and ran down to the shore. When he reached the verge of the water, great drops stood on his forehead, and he panted for breath. A little way off was a line of breakers dashing up spray from a cluster of hidden rocks.

future lay before her a desert. She could not endure, even in thought, to travel over the waste which lay between her coming sea-voyage and the grave. But though unhappy, disappointed, and dejected, she was neither bitter nor cynical. The grandeur and breadth of character which had led her silently into making almost impossible sacrifices would be sufficient to carry her to the end without faltering. Her history and her object, whatever they were, remained a secret in her own bosom. That she suffered, no one who looked upon the lines about her mouth and the shadows in those eyes could doubt. Yet a casual observer would have guessed nothing of this, and even a friend might have sometimes mistaken her kindness and urbanity for the expression of a serene life.

Let her history be what it might, the woman was sufficient unto herself. She knew how to suffer and grow strong; without hope and without counsel. That day, as she rode through the woods, so rich in leafiness, so lavish in beauty, her soul expanded itself thankfully to the sweet influences that opened upon her. She was no longer young, but, perhaps, more capable of enjoyment when alone with God's works for that very reason. So for the hour she put aside the one great sorrow that haunted her life, and rode cheerfully through the woods, enjoying each ferny knoll or grassy hollow, with a brook whispering along the bottom, as if she had nothing but sunshine in her heart.

It must have been somewhat after noon when Wahpee came upon a little opening in the trees, where some Indian hunter had cleared away the undergrowth and cut down a few trees, in order to build a lodge, which was now a heap of mossy logs. It was a lovely spot, lifted a little from the level of the woods and crested with half a dozen stately old trees, through which the sunshine came shimmering down upon the forest turf, luring ten thousand lovely blossoms up through its greenness. Half in the sunshine, half in the shadow of overhanging pines and hemlocks, a lovely brook went singing on its way through bending ferns and the wild vines whose roots drank life from its crystal waves; while around this bright spot the dark barriers of the forest crowded up on three sides, rendering its green slopes more sunny from their sombre contrast.

Barbara drew up her horse as she felt the sunshine bursting so warmly over her path, and uttered an exclamation, half astonishment, half delight: 'Why, Wahpee! You have led the way to a paradise,' she said, gazing around. 'One almost forgets to be mortal in a place like this, but my horse reminds us that he at least is hungry.'

In her admiration, Barbara had loosened her bridle, and the beautiful animal which she rode was cropping the sward with great zest, eagerly sweeping up grass and blossoms in one fragrant mouthful, as if he feared that her hand might the next instant curb him up from his sweet repast.

Wahpee got down from his own horse, and cast him loose. Then he lifted Barbara from her saddle, and saying only, 'Come here,' led her face, and I am happy, answered the young man.

'Have you known this spot long?' said Barbara. 'It looks, like a corner in an English park. The clearing must have been made years ago, for, save that once massive stump, which is now more than half moss, no trace of the axe is visible.'

'It was cleared years ago, for I was born here.'

'Here?'

'Yes, my father was out hunting with the chiefs of his tribe. He never went even to the war-path that his wife did not follow and rest somewhere near him. A few of the old logs lie in the clearing yonder even yet, held together by the moss that has been years and years creeping over them. When Wahpee told me that you would ride through the forest, I directed him to bring you, along this trail. But you look tired and must be hungry.'

'Yes, a little tired, and not a little hungry,' answered Barbara. 'In my anxiety I quite forgot that food might be needed on the way.'

'Would to heaven that I could always think for you!' was the humble reply. 'Oh, lady, how lovely these forests would be if you never left them!'

Barbara looked around, and her eyes filled with tears. 'If you were my son.'

The young man made an impatient gesture.

'Or my brother,' she added 'Then, Philip, I might find that rest here which all other places in the world deny me. But my destiny leads me into the world, where I shall be far more alone than you can be here.'

The young man looked searchingly into Barbara's face, and saw how honestly she spoke.

'I know! I know from the first how hopeless this fatal love was,' he said, passionately. 'Yet spite of everything it will break forth to offend you.'

'No, I am not offended,' answered the lady. 'God forbid that honest affection should anger me! I am only sorrowful that my destiny is always to give pain. I do not even reason with you, Philip, knowing well that human love is not the growth of human will. But you must learn patience, my friend, and strive, as I must, to be useful, and with God's help, happy, without love.'

Philip shook his head, and arose suddenly that she might not see how near he was to weeping. He advanced a few paces into the forest and came to another small opening in the trees. There a fire was blazing up redly, surrounded by a group of Indian women, who were busy turning a half-dozen birds, fastened by delicate withes of bark to the branches overhead, and roasting before the fire.

'Come,' said the chief, in the Indian tongue, 'is all ready?'

A woman was busy peeling strips of birch bark from the trunk of a sapling close by. She cut the bark into fragments and gave them to the woman about the fire, who laid the roasted birds daintily upon them, nestling each one in leaves from a golden spice bush which grew near. Then they took hot corn-cakes from the ashes, and brought from under a cool thicket two little painted bas-wonder to her; neither restless birds nor deer, bounding through the undergrowth in flocks, could produce a noise at once so subdued and persistent. But no harm came, or appeared to threaten her. On the contrary, legions of spirits seemed to guard her path unseen. It was dark before Barbara came out of the thick of the forest, and made her way to the farm house. Up to the very margin of the trees these whispered sounds and almost inaudible footsteps accompanied her. The moment Barbara's feet crossed that threshold hundreds on hundreds of human beings swarmed out of the woods, and moved noiselessly toward Jason Brown's barn.

A crash, as of broken boards, followed by a low, rattling sound, came from the building. Then, as each man filed by the door, a musket was placed in his hand, which he carried straight to the woods, following the warrior who had gone before, as savages tread a war-path. It was the end of this procession that Jason Brown had seen, coiling like a serpent along the edge of the forest after Barbara's Stafford came forth into the moonlight on her white horse and rode away. Of all the arms secreted in the barn, not a gun was left; even the boxes were carried off in fragments.

CHAPTER XXXII.

THE BRACON FIRE.

Barbara rode on her way, altogether unconscious that the woods around her swarmed with armed men, who had been for hours following her at a distance. But all at once another hoof-tread sounded in her path, and looking around she saw young Philip, mounted on a horse that seemed black in the darkness, riding close by her side, while Wahpee lagged behind.

'Do not be afraid; I have been near you all the time,' said the young horseman.

The woods were so dark, except where the light of a clear moon could penetrate to the path she rode over, that Barbara was glad of the addition to her escort. So they rode on together at a quick pace, penetrating more and deeper into the heart of the wilderness. The hum and rush of what seemed a current of wind in the distance still haunted her way. Sometimes she heard the crackling of underbush, afar off; but these sounds were so continuous that she soon ceased to regard them. Then for a mile or two, all was profound stillness. It seemed as if every living thing had suddenly dropped to sleep upon the earth, and in the leaves. The very moonlight ceased to tremble along the forest turf, for the branches which had sent it quivering like forest work around her path, hung motionless over Barbara's head.

Over the soft turf the three horses sped till the moon went down, and midnight came on. Then, all at once, the woods just ahead of this party burst into a sudden flame; a vivid column of fire shot up to the sky, leaping, hissing, and rioting along the sapless boughs of a dead pine-tree, that crowned an eminence around which their path led. Thus

ing voice that and corner o
'Chief and the son of Ki the people hither that them. He i
The young figure were t lief by the t savage only picturesque, his presence, that proclaim a cap of crim which his ori less, his nee wild eyes agl
While Pl vibrating thr
a line of war arms, deified of the forest, in with a tri bristled so t bayonets tha were almost
As the fien and flashed c rank after r in the woods
till the whol Indians, som path, othe doubtful, lit their hiding hold council
But the whc was uplifted stern attenti
'If there
Philip whe of the Pom look on this his son who Thus the dressed the they swarm
Two old of the rank line of bay give them f close up t to their eye ed his face fell back s feeble voice heard this c
'His face
Here a h of approval ranks and c
Again Me crowd.
'Warrior across the heart of Ki in my bosom
his people.
free, with than they c fields, thou our father years. W roars were from lack the whiten powerful t our warrior that never l
'Warrior
a traitor, h beast, was seized the hand and a the brain attempted his dying f

in Lam and N. of Portage

EXPRESS

TERMS :—$1.50 IN ADVANCE, $2.50 PER ANNUM

TEA VS. BRANDY—WHICH

There would be much amusement among the licensed victuallers if it were made clear by medical science that tea is as injurious to health as alcohol if taken in excess, and teetotallers will be shocked if they find themselves one day classed with drunkards and looked upon as subjects for restraint and reformation. And yet there seems to be grave doubt as to whether tea drinking is not undermining the public health as much as brandy or gin drinking. In Dr. Fothergill's work, lately published, on the "Maintenance of Health," after pointing out that every man who takes stimulants as a necessity is drawing on his "physiological reserve fund," he says that "tea will, if taken to excess, produce grievous evidence of systematic exhaustion. Neuralgia, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, and muscular tremors follow the excessive use of tea as well as of alcohol; and all stimulants, by virtue of their nature as stimulants, have certain injurious effects. A stimulant, no matter what its character, enables a man to get at his physiological reserve fund—if it did not enable him to expend himself." In other words, the teapot may be as formidable an engine of destruction as the brandy bottle. If this view is correct, and very possibly it is so, then there is no safety for man, woman, or child except in that home of annihilation, the cistern.

THE EXPRESS ROBBERY.

FILKINS AT WORK IN CANADA.

The Troy "Times" thinks it can make a pretty good guess as to the whereabouts of John T. Filkins, the Albany express robber, who recently escaped from Clinton prison. The details of the express robbery in Canada, described in the telegraph columns, lead to the almost positive conclusion that he is skulking about in that Dominion, and the similarity between this affair and his adventures in Albany is so striking as to induce the belief that he led the plundering band of masqueraders who boarded a train on the Great Western Railroad Saturday, and seized the agent of the American express company of between $30,000 and $40,000. The operation is certainly a bold one. Five disguised men enter the baggage car, seize, bind and gag the baggage master, and then dispose in like manner of the express agent. Having the car all to themselves now, they deliberately rob the safe, and travel along with the train till a convenient landing place favors their escape. It is the Albany crime over again, save that no attempt is made this time to kill the express agent. If this is Filkins's work, as we think it is, we shall doubtless hear of the repetitions of the crime until the scoundrel is arrested or brought to a summary tragic end.

WET BOOTS.

NO 41

33
EMBER 11, 1874.

brook, where some surprise, it had been something like its crystal of the clear so warmly, beautiful pool, willows, grow-mptuous dra-d this basin a column of from the foot ough flashes of ough the quiv-ergrowth.

nt for Barbara she had not ovely place by her guide in ne out on a fference, cover-ss that her ny flowers to ng them. The the miniature the hemlocks a the forest, minence, flick-angled shad-at leaving a summit bathed nd this rock, at vines, trail- n bittersweet, yether in luxng in rich tra- or falling in sy sides of the of this rocky th sparkling granite could more than the en at work if or broken tering on the xclaimed the hood of her ound in plea-urely, Wah-ork? ended, lady, it voice close by, pending hem- ip, or Meta- whose fate enwoven with neither offend- was kind to y spot to rest ok once more n the rock as

neither offend- was kind to y spot to rest ok once more n the rock as

neither offend- was kind to y spot to rest ok once more n the rock as

neither offend- was kind to y spot to rest ok once more n the rock as

neither offend- was kind to y spot to rest ok once more n the rock as

the blackness of night was swept away, and all the forest trees turned of a rich, golden green, inexpressibly beautiful.

'We are near the encampment,' said Philip, and a proud smile lighted his face, upon which the sudden radiance shone. 'Ride on, dear lady; your halting place of yesterday is but just ahead: that flaming pine-tree will light us to it. This time you will find it filled with warriors.'

The horse which Philip bestrode leaped forward while he was speaking, and with a spirited bound Barbara's white steed sprang after him.

Directly they came in sight of the clearing, illuminated by the burning pine, which, uplifted by a ledge of rocks from a level with the forest, towered behind it like a steeple of quivering fire. Bathed in this golden light Barbara saw the turf mound on which she had taken that noonday repast, and under it the miniature lake with all its crystal waves flame-tinted by the fire. The woods which fell in a perpetual

The larger clearing was less broadly in the light, but that presented one of the grandest scenes that human eye ever dwelt upon. There swarming, justling, heaving together in gorgeous masses, a multitude of savages crowded the open space. Within the glow of that mighty council-fire the scattered tribe of the Pomperoun had gathered to meet the son of their slain king. Burning with war paint, and resplendent with barbarous ornaments, they turned the sweet rural scene of the morning into a war-camp so wild and picturesque that the lady uttered a cry of astonishment when she came thus suddenly upon it.

'Do not be afraid,' said Philip, reining in his horse and lending a triumphant look upon his forced guest. 'You are safe here. Keep close to my side, and I will show you how hard it is to subjugate a brave people.'

Barbara drew her rein tight: this scene, so grandly beautiful, the passionate eloquence in her companion's look and voice, aroused all the enthusiasm of her nature. 'Ride on! I will follow!' she said.

armed, bleeding, desperate, they seized upon him. Warriors, I see by the fire in those eyes and the grip of those hands that no one of you has forgotten that story. The captors of this wretched boy sold him into slavery. They chained his limbs and gave him over to the lash—sent him under the hot sun to work like a beast of burden. He did work and he suffered, but slavery never reached the soul of Metacomb—that forever turned back to his people. Still he must have died like a brute beast, worn out with toil, but for the woman who is yonder with her face turned this way in wonder at what she sees. She came to the island where he toiled under the lash, and saw how wretched he was. With her gold she broke his chain. With her smile she cured his wounded heart. She taught him how to think, and out of that came a power which turned thought into a great purpose which has never left his brain a moment from that day to this.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Select Reading.

PREACH THE GOSPEL.

BY JOHN C. HAVEMEYER.

I am persuaded that a great deal of modern preaching is unprofitable and unacceptable to a large class of hearers. I have listened to sermon after sermon with a heart aching for help to discern God's truth—its power upon my own soul and in my own life more fully, and left the house of the Lord unsatisfied and saddened. Fearing that the fault might be my own, I have frequently taken notes; and upon subsequent examination have been compelled to believe that whatever may be my own infirmities, many discourses preached in the name of the Lord are sounds without the savor of Scriptural, saving truth. There is nothing in them to lift the hearer out of the world and to make his sinfulness to stand out and his weakness seem reality, or to stir him to seek and to serve the Lord with all his heart, and to aid him if he has already started. In this sentiment I find many earnest Christian can be the work broken on the ed the of her n plea- Wah-lady, it lose by, z hem- Meta- se fate n with offend- ind to to 'rest e more rock as, ie clas- t to fall flung st, kin- geous- Seated of blue anches, s heav- stirred and her ie was osition, dined nt,' she aft has o that red the t long? t corner clearing go, for, which io trace o, for I unting e. He ar-path and rest v of the yonder e moss s creep- ee told gh the ng you, k tired a little In my it food e could e hum- lovely t never nd her ou were a impal 'Then, st here e world eads me l be far here.' arching- aw how the first al love 'Yet ill break mighty council-fire the scattered tribe of the Pomperoga had gathered to meet the son of their slain king Burning with war paint, and resplendent with barbarous ornaments, they turned the sweet rural scene of the morning into a war-camp so wild and picturesque that the lady uttered a cry of astonishment when she came thus suddenly upon it.

'Do not be afraid,' said Philip, reining in his horse and lending a triumphant look upon his forced guest. 'You are safe here. Keep close to my side, and I will show you how hard it is to subjugate a brave people.'
Barbara drew her rein tight: this scene, so grandly beautiful, the passionate eloquence in her companion's look and voice, aroused all the enthusiasm of her nature.
'Ride on; I will follow!' she said.
With grave dignity, and curbing the heroic fire that burned in his eyes, the young man advanced into the clearing. Barbara followed, threading her way through crowds of armed warriors, some standing in groups, others sitting on the half illuminated sward, while the edges of the forest swarmed with savage forms; for the multitude gathered into that spot had already overrun the open space, and was crowded back into the woods.
Barbara drew up her horse on the margin of the lake, where she sat, like an equestrian statue, under the willows. Philip rode directly up the mound, and as the hoofs of his horse struck the rock at its summit, called out in a loud, ringing voice that penetrated every nook and corner of the encampment—
'Chief and warriors, Metacombet, the son of King Phillip, has asked the people of his tribe to come hither that he may hold a talk with them. He is here.'
The young man's face and the figure were thrown into splendid relief by the fire light. His dress savage only when it could be made picturesque, gave kindly dignity to his presence. The eagle's plume, that proclaimed him chief, rose from a cap of crimson cloth, from under which his bright hair swept in curling waves. The horse stood motionless, his neck arched proudly, his wild eyes aglow with animal fire.
While Phillip's voice was yet vibrating through those savage hearts a line of warriors, laden down with arms, defiled out of some unseen path of the forest, and belted the mound in with a triple wall of braves which bristled so thickly with pikes and bayonets that the men who bore them were almost invisible.
As the fiery pine flames skyward and flashed on this bristling steel rank after rank of savages, concealed in the woods, pressed into the light, till the whole clearing was alive with Indians, some armed for the war-path, others bearing calumnets, doubtless they were summoned from their hiding places in the forest to hold council or sound a war-whoop. But the whole multitude was ready for either, and a sea of dusky faces was uplifted to the young chief in stern attention.
'If there lives a warrior who knew Phillip when he was king and chief of the Pomperoga, let him step forth look on this face and say if it is not his son who talks with you?'
Thus the young Metacombet addressed the throng of savages as they swarmed in from the forest.
Two old medicine men came out of the ranks and passed through a line of bayonets crowded back to hearers. I have listened to sermon after sermon with a heart aching for help to discern God's truth—its power upon my own soul and in my own life more fully, and left the house of the Lord unsatisfied and saddened. Fearing that the fault might be my own, I have frequently taken notes, and upon subsequent examination have been compelled to believe that whatever may be my own infirmities, many discourses preached in the name of the Lord are sounds without the savor of Scriptural, saving truth. There is nothing in them to lift the hearer out of the world and to make his sinfulness to stand out and his weakness seem reality, or to stir him to seek and to serve the Lord with all his heart, and to aid him if he has already started. In this sentiment I find many earnest Christian laymen to concur. Indeed, if the whole church were to speak, I believe the large majority would lament the general character of modern pulpit efforts.

An explanation of this condition of things is easily given.
Many ministers have too great a variety of occupation. It is impossible properly to prepare their sermons and attend to the many affairs in which they interest themselves. They reserve but little time and strength for their sermons, and give us spiritual food altogether inadequate to the needs of our souls.
Their sermons are too abstract and indefinite. They seem not to take into account the audience of tempted, burdened, passion-pressed, immortal and yet dying men and women who hear them. Possibly they consider too much the esthetic side of our nature, and fail to learn by personal contact and Scripture searching what the human heart is and what it needs, and so do not rightly divide the word of truth.
They quote the Scriptures too little. They appear to look from their opinions to the Scriptures, and not in the Scriptures for the truth they shall declare to the people. They tell us what they think and not what the Lord says.
There is a great want of wise courage, so to speak, in the pulpit. The crying sins of the people are not exposed to them kindly, but how many preachers steadily train the Gospel guns, as Paul did, against their own and the habitual sins of their congregations?—Methodist.
THE SKOOL BOY.
The skool boy iz the victim ov sirkumbstances.
If he lives in the country he has got to git up early enuff to punch the chickens off from the roost, then start the fire in the kitchen and then go for the cows.
After the cows have been milked, he hurrys down his hash and buckwheat cakes, and thrashes beans two hours with the old man cut in the korn krib.
Now he walks three-miles in a sno path to the distrikt skool hous, and gets there just in time to help split up sum wood for the day's fire.
Skool opens and he takes hiz seat on the flat side of a slab bench, and bends double over a Webster's spelling book, without enny cover.
For variety he stands up in a ro, and speils or skratones a greasy slate with the figures in a long sum of addishun.
Noon comes at last, and he eats can express company of between $30,000 and $40,000. The operation is certainly a bold one. Five disguised men enter the baggage car, seize, bind and gag the baggage master, and then dispose in like manner of the express agent. Having the car all to themselves now, they deliberately rob the safe, and travel along with the train till a convenient landing place favors their escape. 'It is the Albany crime over again, save that no attempt is made this time to kill the express agent. If this is Filkin's work, as we think it is, we shall doubtless hear of the repetitions of the crime until the scoundrel is arrested or brought to a summary tragic end.

WET BOOTS.
What an amount of discomfort wet boots entail, and how well we all recall the painful efforts we have now and then made to draw on a pair of hardbaked ones which were put by the fire overnight to dry! Once on, they are a sort of modern stocks, destructive of all comfort, and entirely demoralizing to the temper. The following plan it is said, will do away with this discomfort:
When the boots are taken off fill them quite full with dry oats. This grain has a great fondness for damp, and will rapidly absorb the least vestige of it from the leather. As it quickly and completely takes up the moisture, it swells and fills the boot with a tightly fitting last, keeping its form good, and drying the leather without hardening it. In the morning shake out and hang them in a bag near the fire to dry, ready for the next wet night, draw on the boots, and go happily and comfortably about the day's work.
MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.
Franklin, N. Y., post-office robbed of $35,000.
St. John, N. B., sailors striking for higher wages.
Hildbrand & Co.'s safe, Indianapolis, robbed of $10,000.
Mr. Thos. Pearce has been appointed inspector of Galt schools.
Augustin Paradi, a farmer of St. Marie, Que., has disappeared.
A Pennsylvania youth has married his landlady, fifty years serious to evade payment of his board bill.
The Ministerial candidate for the presidency of the Italian Chamber of Deputies has been elected by a majority of 64.
Two men have been arrested at Newport, R. I., for stealing crape from a door.
Mr. F. F. McArthur is the talked of mayor for Bowmanville for 1875.
The Victoria and Toronto schools of medicine have been amalgamated.
Mr. M. Gray is the Conservative candidate for Grenville in the Local House.
Typhoid fever is very prevalent in the county of Norfolk.
The River St. Lawrence is almost completely frozen over at Montreal.
The propeller Dan Richmond was on Lake Michigan in the gale, and has not yet been heard from. She is a first class boat.

around her were full of active life. What these signs could be was a wonder to her; neither restless birds nor deer, bounding through the undergrowth in flocks, could produce a noise at once so subdued and persistent. But no harm came, or appeared to threaten her. On the contrary, legions of spirits seemed to guard her path unseen. It was dark before Barbara came out of the thick of the forest, and made her way to the farm house. Up to the very margin of the trees these whispered sounds and almost inaudible footsteps accompanied her. The moment Barbara's feet crossed that threshold hundreds on hundreds of human beings swarmed out of the woods, and moved noiselessly toward Jason Brown's barn.

A crash, as of broken boards, followed by a low, rattling sound, came from the building. Then, as each man filed by the door, a musket was placed in his hand, which he carried straight to the woods, following the warrior who had gone before, as savages tread a war-path. It was the end of this procession that Jason Brown had seen, coiling like a serpent along the edge of the forest after Barbara. Stafford came forth into the moonlight on her white horse and rode away. Of all the arms secreted in the barn, not a gun was left; even the boxes were carried off in fragments.

CHAPTER XXXII.

THE BEACON FIRE.

Barbara rode on her way, altogether unconscious that the woods around her swarmed with armed men, who had been for hours following her at a distance. But all at once another hoof-tread sounded in her path, and looking around she saw young Phillip, mounted on a horse that seemed black in the darkness, riding close by her side, while Wahpee lagged behind.

'Do not be afraid; I have been near you all the time,' said the young horseman.

The woods were so dark, except where the light of a clear moon could penetrate to the path she rode over, that Barbara was glad of the addition to her escort. So they rode on together at a quick pace, penetrating more and more deeply into the heart of the wilderness. The hum and rush of what seemed a current of wind in the distance still haunted her way. Sometimes she heard the crackling of underbush, afar off; but these sounds were so continuous that she soon ceased to regard them. Then for a mile or two, all was profound stillness. It seemed as if every living thing had suddenly dropped to sleep upon the earth, and in the leaves. The very moonlight ceased to tremble along the forest turf, for the branches which had sent it quivering like forest work around her path, hung motionless over Barbara's head.

Over the soft turf the three horses sped till the moon went down, and midnight came on. Then, all at once, the woods just ahead of this party burst into a sudden flame; a vivid column of fire shot up to the sky, leaping, hissing, and rioting along the sapless boughs of a dead pine-tree, that crowned an eminence around which their path led. Thus summit, called out in a loud, ringing voice that penetrated every nook and corner of the encampment—

'Chief and warriors, Metacomet, the son of King Phillip, has asked the people of his tribe to come hither that he may hold a talk with them. He is here.'

The young man's face and the figure were thrown into splendid relief by the fire light. His dress savage only where it could be made picturesque, gave him dignity to his presence. The eagle's plume, that proclaimed him chief, rose from a cap of crimson cloth, from under which his bright hair swept in curling waves. The horse stood motionless, his neck arched proudly, his wild eyes aglow with animal fire.

While Phillip's voice was yet vibrating through those savage hearts a line of warriors, laden down with arms, defiled out of some unseen path of the forest, and belted the mound in with a triple wall of bayonets which bristled so thickly with pikes and bayonets that the men who bore them were almost invisible.

As the fiery pine-flamed skyward and flashed on this bristling steel rank after rank of savages, concealed in the woods, pressed into the light, till the whole clearing was alive with Indians, some armed for the war-path, others bearing calumets, doubtless they were summoned from their hiding places in the forest to hold council or sound a war-whoop. But the whole multitude was ready for either, and a sea of dusky faces was uplifted to the young chief in stern attention.

'If there lives a warrior who knew Phillip when he was king and chief of the Pomeroags, let him step forth look on this face and say if it is not his son who talks with you?'

Thus the young Metacomet addressed the throng of savages as they swarmed in from the forest.

Two old medicine men came out of the ranks and passed through a line of bayonets crowded back to give them free passages. They went close up to Phillip, and shading their eyes from the hot light, searched his face with keen glances. They fell back satisfied, and, so far as their feeble voices could reach, the savage heard this curt decision.

'His face does not lie.'

Here a low shout, or rather groan of approval, ran through those savage ranks and died away in the forest. Again Metacomet turned to the crowd.

'Warriors, I have come back from across the great waters with the heart of King Phillip beating loud in my bosom. He died fighting for his people. So will I, or set them free, with broader hunting-grounds than they ever trod, and richer corn fields, though they plant them over our father's grave ten thousand years. When he fell, the Pomeroags were a conquered people, not from lack of bravery, but because the whiteman's cunning was more powerful than the strong arms of all our warriors, with the bravest man that ever lived at their head.'

'Warriors, your king, betrayed by a traitor, hunted down like a wild beast, was murdered. His son seized the rifle as it fell from his hand and sent its last bullet through the brain of a white soldier, who attempted to drag him away from his dying father. When he was distemped, burdened, passion-pressed, immortal and yet dying men and women who hear them. Possibly they consider too much the esthetic side of our nature, and fail to learn by personal contact and Scripture searching what the human heart is and what it needs, and so do not rightly divide the word of truth.

They quote the Scriptures too little. They appear to look from their opinions to the Scriptures, and not in the Scriptures for the truth they shall declare to the people. They tell us what they think and not what the Lord says.

There's a great want of wise courage, so to speak, in the pulpit. The crying sins of the people are not exposed to them kindly, but how many preachers steadfastly train the Gospel guns, as Paul did, against their own and the habitual sins of their congregations!—Methodist.

THE SKOOL BOY.

The skool boy is the victim of circumstances.

If he lives in the country he has got to get up early enuff to punch the chickens off from the roost, then start the fire in the kitchen and then go for the cows.

After the cows have been milked, he hurrys down his hash and buck-wheat cakes, and thrashes beans two hours with the old man out in the corn crib.

Now he walks three-miles in a sno path to the distrikt skool hous, and gets there just in time to help split up sum wood for the day's fire.

Skool opens and he takes hiz seat on the flat side of a slab bench, and bends double over a Webster's spelling book, without enny cover.

For variety he stands up in a ro, and speils or scratches a greasy slate with the figgures in a long sum of addishun.

Noon comes at last, and he eats up in one corner hiz two slices of rhi bread and hiz piece ov pi krust, and downs the dri dinner with a pint ov lukewarm water out ov th' pail behind the stove.

The only phun he haz is to slide down hill on a board back of the skool hous, and git licked when he goes home if he happens to wear the sole ov his boots enny, or tare the case ov his britches.

Night cums, and he haz had a day's skooling, and plots bak home to saw wood enuff to last next day before he eats his puddin-and-milk supper and slinks off up into the writuous chamber to bed, without even the ray ov a tallo candle.

This was skool boy life in the country forty years ago.

If the boys now daze had to skool it in this way, they would sue the old man for damages, and enny kind of a jury would bring in a verdik, too, in their favour.

But Daniel Wedster dun it in this way, and becum the most learned statesman we ever raised, and so did Josh Billings, but he didn't never amount to much. Josh Billings never could git the right hang ov a country skool hous; hiz spelling alwus had, and allwuss will have, an impediment in it.—Josh Billings, in N. Y. Weekly.

St. George has a Y. M. C. A.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

Franklin, N. Y., post-office robbed of $35,000.

St. John, N. B., sailors striking for higher wages.

Hildbrand & Co.'s safe, Indianapolis, robbed of $10,000.

Mr. Thos. Pearce has been appointed inspector of Galt schools.

Augustin Paradi, a farmer of St. Maris, Que., has disappeared.

A Pennsylvania youth has married his landlady, fifty years serious to evade payment of his board bill.

The Ministerial candidate for the presidency of the Italian Chamber of Deputies has been elected by a majority of 64.

Two men have been arrested at Newport, R. I., for stealing crape from a door.

Mr. F. F. McArtur is the talked of mayor for Bowmanville for 1875.

The Victoria and Toronto schools of medicine have been amalgamated.

Mr. M. Gray is the Conservative candidate for Grenville in the Local House.

Typhoid fever is very prevalent in the county of Norfolk.

The River St. Lawrence is almost completely frozen over at Montreal.

The propellor Dan Richmond was on Lake Michigan in the gale, and has not yet been heard from. She is a first class boat.

A wheat schooner has been lost during the late severe gale on Lake Erie, and five of the crew, including the captain, were drowned.

American sewing machine are to be introduced in the national schools of Ireland.

A new lodge of Odd Fellows (Hayden, No. 152) has been opened in Normandawich.

Marine disasters of frequent occurrence along the coasts of the maritime Provinces.

John Lawrence, of Paris, has been gazetted associate coroner for the county of Brant.

Mr. Fish, U. S. Secretary of State, will withdraw from the Cabinet in December.

Second Adventists now say January 1, 1991. Thoughtful editors will put in their diaries.

The destruction by fire of the Dickson elevator at Albany, N. Y., has caused a loss of $150,000.

The schooner James D. Sawyer is off St. Joseph, dismantled, bulwarks stove in and the cargo damaged.

A butcher and his wife residing at London, Ont., have been arrested for stealing a dozen head of cattle.

111

Thief Caught, Dec. 7th.—The house of Mr. William Long, a farmer's residence, near the G. W. R. Station, was entered about 1 o'clock this morning by a window. The burglar succeeded to Mr. Long. The burglar took a watch worth $30. The burglar went to the room of Miss Long, but she awoke and found a stranger there. She at once screamed, but before her brother heard her, the burglar made good his escape.

The following appointment is made:—
 John Branson of Dunville, Collector of Customs.
 The Court is further Prorogued till the 1st of January next.

belonging to the
at Pont Blen,
under the direc-
Department of the orders are Inspector of Quebec. Major temporarily and will confine Ontario. All re-etc., must be the above nam-

1. For a statement of the net expenditure for the month November Revenue 81,281,481.93; Expenditure Post Office, 3,000.50; Works, including 81,18,077.32. Bill
 6,111.00. Miscellaneous,
 3,230,548.74;
 81,111,780.23.

...and specie report
...as follows:—Circular, $34,652.55; specie, $3, 647, 775.56; loss of specie, $543;

RESULTS IN NEBRASKA.

Feb. 19, 7—Gen. Bristow, Army, by request of the Nebraska, has quarters here,
of the
and New Jersey flour, and starving in

John Edgar, one of the editors of the Standard, was murdered on Monday morning by unknown persons in Fourteenth Street, near the City Hall.

St. Louis, Aug. 10, Dec. 6.—The 3000 of B. B. Patton & Son, West Springfield, Pa., was destroyed by burglars who blew up the building, blowing up the building and burning it between $5, 000 and $1000 in money and other goods, then fired the building, burning the building and store is $12,
000. The loss is estimated at $12,
000.

Chesley, Dec. 7.—On Saturday, 5th inst., a much respected and well-to-do farmer named Robert Allan, was killed on his brother's farm, about two miles from here, by part of his clothing being caught in the tumbling shaft of a threshing machine. A scarf which he wore around his waist was drawn so tight that he was almost cut in two, but, strange to say, on being released he was able to walk to the house without support. A medical man was called in to attend the sufferer, but nothing could be done for him; he died yesterday, Sunday, morning in great agony. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his untimely end.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE ERIE SUIT.
London, Dec. 8.—The injunction on Wednesday last in the Chancery Court by Mr McKenna, against the Erie Railway Company, was to day dissolved by that Court.

RISE OF THE TIBER.

Rome, Dec. 6.—The waters of the Tiber are rising, and an overflow is feared.

RUMOURS OF A NEW MINISTRY

Paris, Dec. 7.—Information has been received from sources entitled to credit that President MacMahon has decided to form a new ministry at the end of January, one of which will give hearty support to the Constitutional bills. It is intimated that the Duke de Broglie will become a member of the new Cabinet.

COMMAND OF THE ARMIES OF THE CENTRE AND NORTH.

Sancti, Dec. 8.—Advice from the Gellist general headquarters have been received. Gen. Denzaway has returned and been appointed to the command of the army of the Centre. His Majesty's commands in the North. It is expected that Marshal Serrano will order a general attack on the Carlist lines in Navarre.

BISMARCK'S REPLY TO WINDHORST.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—Prince Bismarck in the course of his reply to Herr Windhorst in the Reichstag said, I am in possession of conclusive evidence that the Ecumenical Council was cut short on account of the Franco-German war. The Council's vote would have been very different had the French been victorious. I know from the very best sources that Napoleon was dragged into war very much against his will by Jesuitical influences. He strove hard to resist these influences, and at the eleventh hour he determined on peace, and kept his resolution half, but ultimately he was overpowered by persons representing the Vatican.

THE FOURNIER SCANDAL

to allowance for each. Whether the expenditures exceeded the estates we are not informed, but at all events the total amounted up to $20 75 and the Minister (without any comments, past or future). A few words were exchanged between one of the Minister's guests and the proprietor. * * * and we could not insinuate rowdyism in so far as the Minister is concerned * * for feeling the manner in which he might compromise the position of a Minister of the Crown, (if a row ensued) he immediately left the room." Such are the facts of the case, as the Citizen presents them, and if it had not chosen to lower itself by undertaking to substantiate as truth what is in reality merely the abominable invention of malice and recklessness we should not now be obliged to make public mention of a private dinner having been given in a private room by a Minister of the Crown.

We are permitted to publish the following letter from Mr. P. O'Meara which places our statement beyond the limits of doubt, and must convince even the scandal mongers of the Citizen of absurdity of its statements of yesterday. No one will venture to question Mr. O'Meara's veracity, and in giving his statement to the public we declass the subject at once and for ever from our attention:—

"Concerning the article in the Citizen of last week, I beg to state that the Minister of Justice the Hon. Mr. Fournier, was never engaged in any disturbance of any kind at any time in my house. I am like other gentlemen here. However it may be unfortunate, I have no doubt, that he was compelled to resign on the circumstances to which a dispute which has been amplified into a row by those who are opposed to him; but the facts as I can only be construed to justify any of the reflections which have been gratuitously cast upon him. I am, gentlemen, P. O'Hara, Esq.

English paper says:—"A remarkable example of presence of mind in a railway porter is afforded by an incident which occurred as the down train from Perth to Aberdeen was leaving Guthrie station. A newsboy who accompanied this train, while in the act of stepping into a carriage missed his footing, and fell down between the platform and the wheels of the carriages. As the train was by this time in motion, any attempt on the part of the boy to get up would have infallibly resulted in his instant death. Nine persons out of ten witnessing this accident would have turned pale, and either shrieked out at the top of their voices advice of various kinds, or remained awe-struck and motionless abiding the issue. Fortunately, however, one of the station porters was master of the moment and of the situation, and rushing forward, lay down on the platform; then, seizing the boy with his hands, held him flat on the ground till all the foot-boards of the train had passed over him and the danger had ceased. This combination of coolness and common sense is an acquisition that may well be envied by many a person who, notwithstanding all the gifts of an elaborate education, is less fit to battle with difficulties and emergencies of life than the humble station porter at Guthrie, who thus saved the newsboy a horrible death."

Mills—J A Close
 Bay Goods—F W Smith
 Wm W O Asseltson
 Sale or To Let—T S Carman
 To Let—R Easton
 Sale—Wm McCullen
 Come All—J Henderson
 Cash Store—A C Davis and Co.
 Communications—Peter Johnston
 Is the True—Coxall and Paisley Hurrah for Christmas—W R McRae
 and Co.

Train leave Napanee Station at follows:

GOING EAST.

Express	1.	p. m.
Mixed	11.30	p. m.
Express	1.25	a. m.

GOING WEST.

Express	5.	p. m.
Mixed	7.55	a. m.
	4.10	a. m.

3.2.2. Real Time.

THE Week's Express.

FRIDAY DECEMBER 11th, 1874

PREDICTORY

The man argued, having made purchase of the DAILY ONTARIO of Belleville, for the sum of $15,000, $10,000 of which amount was cash, has made arrangements to move to that town, and has therefore disposed of his entire interest in the WEEKLY EXPRESS. Having been the publisher

Canadian News.

ROBBERY—THE BURGLAR ESCAPES.

Elktonburg, Ont., Dec. 7th.—The house of Mr. William Long, a farmer's residence, near the G. W. R. Station, was entered about 1 o'clock this morning by a window. The party then proceeded to Mr. Long, his room and took a watch worth $30. He then went to the room of Miss Long, but she awoke and found a stranger there. She at once screamed, but before her brother reached the room the burglar made his escape.

CANADA GAZETTE.

The following appointment is gazetted: An. Bronson of Dunville, to be a Collector of Customs.

Parliament is further prorogued till 19th of January next.

The reserve belonging to the Montagnais Indians, at Pont Blen, Quebec, are placed under the direction of the Department of the Secretary of State.

The following militia orders are published:—

Lieut. Col. Strange, Inspector of Militia and army stores, will continue his services to Quebec. Major Arma is appointed temporarily Assistant Inspector, and will confine his services to Ontario. All requisitions for stores, etc., must be transmitted through the above named officer.

The following is a statement of the revenue and expenditure for the month ending 30th November. Revenue: Customs, $1,281,481.93; Excise, $698,000.56; Post Office, $102,394.92; Public Works, including Railways, $148,977.32; Bill Stamps, $36,111.96; Miscellaneous, $63,270.95; Total, $2,230,548.74; Expenditure, $1,844,780.23.

The creation and specie report for the week is as follows: Circulation, $3,154,592.55; specie, $3,647,773.50; excess of specie, $543,180.95.

American News.

THE DISTRESS IN NEBRASKA.

New York, Dec. 7.—Gen. Bristove, of the Regular Army, by request of the Governor of Nebraska, has established his headquarters here, and calls on the inhabitants of the State of New York and New Jersey to send him clothing, flour, and other necessities for the starving inhabitants of that State.

A LETTER MURDERED.

George Hunter, one of the editors of the Scotsman, was murdered on Saturday evening by unknown persons in Thirteenth street, near Fourth Ave.

A BURGLARY AND INCENDIARISM.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 6.—The store of R. Potter & Son, West Springfield, Penn., was entered by burglars last night. After blowing up the safe, they took from it between $5,000 and $10,000 in money and bonds; and then fired the building, the loss of which and store is $12,000. The stock was insured for $10,000.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Chesley, Dec. 7.—On Saturday, 5th inst., a much respected and well-to-do farmer named Robert Allan, was killed on his brother's farm, about two miles from here, by part of his clothing being caught in the tumbling shaft of a threshing machine. A scarf which he wore around his waist was drawn so tight that he was almost cut in two, but, strange to say, on being released he was able to walk to the house without support. A medical man was called in to attend the sufferer, but nothing could be done for him; he died yesterday, Sunday, morning in great agony. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his untimely end.

European News.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE EPIE SUIT.

London, Dec. 8.—The injunction on Wednesday last in the Chancery Court by Mr. McKenna, against the Erie Railway Company, was to day dissolved by that Court.

ITALY.

RISE OF THE TIBER.

Rome, Dec. 6.—The waters of the Tiber are rising, and an overflow is feared.

FRANCE.

RUMOURS OF A NEW MINISTRY.

Paris, Dec. 7.—Information has been received from sources entitled to credit that President MacMahon has decided to form a new ministry at the end of January, one which will give hearty support to the constitutional bills. It is intimated that the Duke de Broglie will become a member of the new Cabinet.

SPAIN.

COMMAND OF THE ARMIES OF THE CENTRE AND NORTH.

Santander, Dec. 8.—Advice from the Carlist general headquarters have been received. Gen. Derrigarray has returned there and been appointed to the command of the army of the Centre. Gen. Tristany commands in the North. It is expected that Marshal Serrano will order a general attack on the Carlist lines in Navarre.

GERMANY.

BISMARCK'S REPLY TO WINDHORST.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—Prince Bismarck in the course of his reply to Herr Windhorst in the Reichstag said, 'I am in possession of conclusive evidence that the Aemacemical Council was cut short on account of the Franco German war. The Council's vote would have been very different had the French been victorious. I know from the very best sources that Napoleon was dragged into war very much against his will by Jesuitical influences. He strove hard to resist these influences, and at the eleventh hour he determined on peace, and kept his resolution half, but ultimately he was overpowered by persons representing the Vatican.'

THE FOURNIER SCANDAL.

an allowance for each. Whether the expenditures exceeded the estates we are not informed, but at all events the total figure up to $20 75 and the Minister (without any comments, paid at once). A few words were exchanged between one of the Minister's guests and the proprietor. * * * and we could not insinuate rowdiness in so far as the Minister is concerned * * * for feeling the manner in which he might compromise the position of a Minister of the Crown, (if a row ensued) he immediately left the room." Such are the facts of the case, as the Citizen presents them, and if it had not chosen to lower itself by undertaking to substantiate as truth what is in reality merely the abominable invention of malice and recklessness we should now be obliged to make public mention of a private dinner having been given in a private room by a Minister of the Crown.

We are permitted to publish the following letter from Mr. P. O'Meara which places our statement beyond the limits of doubt, and must convince even the scandal mongers of the Citizen of absurdity or its statements of yesterday. No one will venture to question Mr. O'Meara's veracity, and in giving his statement to the public we dismiss the subject at once and for ever from our attention:—

"Concerning the article in the Citizen of last night, I beg to state that the Minister of Justice the Hon. Mr. Fournier, was never engaged in any disturbance of any kind at any time in my house. He like other gentlemen he is. However, it may be unfortunately, no doubt, that he was compelled, by conjunction of circumstances to witness a dispute which has been magnified into a row by those who are opposed to him; but the facts can in no way be constructed to justify any of the reflections which have been so maliciously cast upon the hon. gentleman. P. O'Meara."

SIR JOHN AND RUEL.

"Current Events" for December contains the following scathing denunciation of Sir John Macdonald's intrigue with the murderer of Scott:

"Ruel may be a murderer, but if he is, the late Prime Minister of the Dominion is an accomplice after the fact. He is a coward, a hypocrite, a traitor, as he provided a criminal with money and power to escape from justice; but morally he is still more incurably evil, inasmuch as he stayed and paralyzed in Ruel's favor the arm of the law. In truth it would be impossible to devise a case of complicity after the fact more heinous than that of a Minister of Justice who secretly enters into collusion with a criminal for the purpose of baffling Justice, while he covers the transaction by solemn protests in public of his earnest desire to do his duty * * * * * The most excuse student, the simplest peasant, guided by the promptings of an honest heart, could scarcely have got into such a mess, in the Ruel case, as have men who for their cunning were worshipped by their followers as gods, and the example of whose immoral success

English paper says:—"A remarkable example of presence of mind in a railway porter is afforded by an incident which occurred as the down train from Perth to Aberdeen was leaving Guthrie station. A newsboy who accompanied this train, while in the act of stepping into a carriage missed his footing, and fell down between the platform and the wheels of the carriages. As the train was by this time in motion, any attempt on the part of the boy to get up would have infallibly resulted in his instant death. Nine persons out of ten witnessing this accident would have turned pale, and either shrieked out at the top of their voices advice of various kinds, or remained awe-struck and motionless abiding the issue. Fortunately, however, one of the station porters was master of the moment and of the situation, and rushing forward, lay down on the platform; then, seizing the boy with his hands, held him flat on the ground till all the footboards of the train had passed over him and the danger had ceased. This combination of coolness and common sense is an acquisition that may well be envied by many a person who, notwithstanding all the gifts of an elaborate education, is less fit to battle with difficulties and emergencies of life than the humble station porter at Guthrie, who thus saved the newsboy a horrible death."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Closes Mills—J A Close
Holiday Goods—F. W. Smith
Notice—W. O. Asselstine
For Sale or To Let—T S Carman
To Let—R Easton
For Sale—Wm McMullen
Come One Come All—J Henderson
Dumfriesshire Cash Store—A O Davis and Bros
Sonninettes—Peter Johnston
Now is the Time—Coxall and Paisley
Hurrah for Christmas—W R McRae and Co.

GRAND TRUNK TIME TABLE.

Trains leave Napanee Station as follows:—

GOING EAST.
Express	1.1 p.m.
Mixed	11.30 p.m.
Express	1.25 a.m.
GOING WEST.
Express	5. p.m.
Mixed	7.55 a.m.
Express	4.10 a.m.

Montreal Time.

THE Weekly Express.

FRIDAY DECEMBER 11th, 1874

LEDICTORY.

The undersigned, having made purchase of the DAILY ONTARIO of Belleville for the sum of $15,000, $10,000 of which amount was cash, has made arrangements to move to that town, and has therefore disposed of his entire interest in the WEEKLY EXPRESS. Having been the publisher

AN
ivers will b when s fol arm

the Regular Army, by request of the Governor of Nebraska, has established his headquarters here, and calls on the inhabitants of the State of New York and New Jersey to send him clothing, flour, and other necessities for the starving inhabitants of that State.

AN EDITOR MURDERED.

George Hunter, one of the editors of the Scotsman, was murdered on Saturday evening by unknown persons in Thirteenthstreet, near Fourthave.

A BURGLARY AND INCENDIARISM.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 6.—The store of R. Potter & Son, West Springfield, Penn., was entered by burglars last night. After blowing up the safe, they took from it between $5,000 and $10,000 in money and bonds; and then fired the building, the loss on which and store is $12,000. The stock was insured for $4,000.

THE TILTON CASE.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7.—The Court of Appeal this morning decided in the case of Theodore Tilton, respondent against H. W. Beecher, appellant, that the order of General Term and of Special Term of the City Court of Brooklyn be reversed, and the cause remitted to the Court below, that his discretion upon the issue may be exercised, without prejudice to either party as against the other. The opinion is written by Justice Rapali, and takes the ground that the Court below has a right to review all of particulars.

RE-KING KALIL—AN APPEAL—REV. J. J. HENDERSON RE-APPOINTED—AS-SIGNED.

New York, Dec. 8.—Contrary to the general expectation, a jury was readily obtained for the trial of Coroner Crockett under indictment for the murder of Jas. McKenna on election day.

Mayor Vance has been requested by the assistant aldermen to tender the hospitalities of the city to King Kaliluna.

New York, Dec. 8.—G. V. Kicksecker, judge of Probate of Reno County, Kansas, makes an appeal for sufferers in Kansas. He says that near 20,000 persons must depend for subsistence during the winter upon the charity of their fellow men. Of this number the greater are soldiers, who have taken Government land, and are dependent entirely on their crops for living during the winter months. In the fall of August grasshoppers fell on the fields and swept away every trace of vegetation. The Kansas Central Committee, which Judge Kicksecker presides, estimates the cost of this great army of the destitute at more than $1 a month per man, and $480,000 will be required to last six months. The committee has required are money for the relief of the women and children. Judge Kicksecker can be reached at Broadway, room 16.

John W. C. Gregory, of Jersey City, died this afternoon aged 70. He was first Mayor of Jersey City, and in 1815 was a member of Congress.

City Presbytery published yesterday in the case of the Rev. J. S. Henderson, acquitting him on the charge of seduction and breach of promise of marriage, but upholding the guilt of ministerial and clerical conduct in making Miss Mary E. Pomeroy presents, visiting her so frequently and at unreasonable hours, and living on such intimate terms with her as to occasion public suspicion of immorality. The Presbytery passed resolutions dissolving pastoral relations between Henderson and the Pros-lines in Navarre.

GERMANY.

BISMARCK'S REPLY TO WINDHORST.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—Prince Bismarck in the course of his reply to Herr Windhorst in the Reichstag said, 'I am in possession of conclusive evidence that the Aecamenical Council was cut short on account of the Franco German war. The Council's vote would have been very different had the French been victorious. I know from the very best sources that Napoleon was dragged into war very much against his will by Jesuitical influences. He strove hard to resist these influences, and at the eleventh hour he determined on peace, and kept his resolution halt, but ultimately he was overpowered by persons representing the Vatican.'

THE FOURNIER SCANDAL.

(From the Ottawa Free Press.)

We would have wished for the credit of our contemporary, the Citizen, that it had left unsaid what was so very foolishly said in its columns yesterday, in reference to the Hon. Mr Fournier and concerning an injurious slander which has been circulated in the Opposition press in reference to him. We alluded to the matter a few days since and did so regretfully, to give a most explicit denial to this story. The Citizen of last evening comes to the rescue of its confreres who have been engaged in the shameful work of maligning the character of the Minister of Justice, and an article whose length is only proportionate to its imbecility presents an imaginary account of an occurrence which never took place. How the author of the triflingly nonsensical article in yesterday's Citizen acquired the information which he presents to the public with so much sententiousness and appearance of circumstantiality, is a conundrum not very easy of solution. No person connected with the staff of our contemporary was present when the alleged disturbance took place, nor has any one who was present at the time asserted made any statement to any one connected with the Citizen. We do not know whether the irrepressible Jenkins had his ear to the key-hole, whether he fed the waiter, or whether he may not have been secreted under the table when the Minister of Justice took the liberty of taking dinner; but the probability is that some one has been 'taking a risk' out of his proclivities for swallowing with too confiding eagerness any suggestion that will furnish pabulum for 'the latest Grt outrage.' Certain it is, however, that the ingenious little fable, which grumbled the editorial space of the Citizen yesterday does little credit to its originality; if it is a pure invention, and less to its sagacity, if it seriously believes what it affirms. The other day we started:—

'No such occurrence as is attributed to Mr. Fournier took place at all. He had no hand, act, or part in any disturbance whatever at Mr. O'Meara's or elsewhere, and the assertion that he was on a 'six days' spree, or a spree or any other degree of duration, is a simple and preposterous fabrication.'

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on this understanding on this subject, we repeat what we had said before in reference to this the late Prince Minister of the Dominion is an acquaintance after the fact. He is so well apprehended, even legally, as to have provided a criminal with money to help with an escape from justice; but morally he is still more manfully so, inasmuch as he stayed and paraded in Paris, favoring the arm of the law. In truth it would be impossible to derive a case of complicity after the fact more heinous than that of a Minister of Justice who secretly enters into collusion with a criminal for the purpose of baffling Justice, while he covers the transaction by solemn protests in public of his earnest desire to do his duty. * * * * *

The most recalcitrant student, the simplest peasant, guided by the promptings of an honest heart, could scarcely have got into such a mess, in the Riel case, as have men who for their cunning were worshipped by their followers as gods, and the example of whose immoral success was rapidly demoralizing the youth of the country.

The youth of the country, we would add, are by no means the only ones that Sir John's life-long reckless defiance of the simplest rules of public morality has demoralized, for we find on all hands men who thank God that they are not as other men are, pious clergymen, grave professors, stern moralists, winking at his gross immoralities, and gloss them over as, in the Yankee vernacular, 'smart,' the only regrettable feature in them being that they were found out.

AN ACCOMMODATING BRIDE.

A happy-go-lucky style of courtship and marriage prevails in the Cherokee nation, if we may receive as a representative report by a Texas paper. A young girl arrived in Denison on the 11th, in response to the invitation of her lover, John Arnold, of the Cherokee nation. The appointment was for the 10th, in Denison, when and where they were to be married. When she arrived she learned that he had expected company, but though somewhat dashed at the turn of affairs, she determined to interview her faithless lover. She found him at his father-in-law's, the father of a fresh bride-groom, the minister having just pronounced the ceremony which gave him a husband. He professed great sorrow at having missed her, but insisted that it was owing to her failure to arrive as agreed. He loved her still, and if she would yet be his he had only to consult with his friends and obtain her permission to give her a marriage annuity. When the proposition was made to her, Mrs. Arnold pondered a moment, and said it might be the minute and the knot the father-in-law said the groom not thirty in the nation, more than a minute or two; and Arnold was off to marry his own true love.

SCRUPULOUS HIGHWAY MEN.

A stage coach was stopped by highwaymen a couple of weeks ago in Northern Texas. While 'going through' the passengers, several of whom were ladies, and one a preacher, they protested that they were 'gentlemen,' and did not intend to molest any of their victims who make an 'honest living.' Under

GOING WEST.

Express	5. p m
Mixed	7.55 a. m
Express	4.10 a. m

Montreal Time.

THE Weekly Express.

FRIDAY DECEMBER 11th. 1874

EDICTORY.

The undersigned, having made purchase of the DAILY ONTARIO of Belleville for the sum of $15,000, $10,000 of which amount was cash, has made arrangements to move to that town, and has therefore disposed of his entire interest in the WEEKLY EXPRESS. Having been the publisher and manager of this paper, from the beginning of its existence, and having received so much encouragement and patronage from its friends, it is with much regret that he now severs a connection so pleasant to himself.

Having disposed of the entire office and good will of the EXPRESS, to Thos. W. Casey, Esq., of this town, he has great pleasure in recommending him to its former friends, trusting that the new Editor and Publisher will receive the same hearty co-operation and assistance that the undersigned has so long enjoyed.

As Mr. Casey has been a life long resident of the county, and for some years one of the principal editorial contributors to the columns of this paper, he is well known to most of our readers; and it does not, therefore, require any assurance, then his present well sustained character and public reputation, that both the editorial and business control of the paper will be able and honorably conducted.

With the present issue my own connection with the paper ceases, and I leave Mr. Casey to make his bow in his new capacity next week.

All persons desirous of paying their subscriptions and other accounts due me, will be kind enough to call at the office of Robt. Easton, Market Square, who is authorized to give receipts.

T. S. CARMAN.

OUR WINTER OUTLOOK.

In the midst of general prosperity we are apt to forget some of the minor responsibilities which our social condition entails. Because there is no immediate pressure upon our charity, and the signs are encouraging in a local aspect, we should not become indifferent to the clearly defined rules of Dr. and Cr. Perhaps not for many years have the winter prospects been more cheering in Canada, and especially in Napanee and vicinity than they are at present. An unusually abundant harvest, healthy financial circulation and animated labor market, make our outlook very pleasant, and strip the long winter months of their dreaded severity. All persons inclined to earn honest and industrious livelihood can find remunerative labor. The demand for workmen of all kinds—skilled and ordinary—is quite of the Regular Army, by request of the Governor of Nebraska, has established his headquarters here, and calls on the inhabitants of the State of New York and New Jersey to send him clothing, flour, and other necessities for the starving inhabitants of that State.

AN EDITOR MURDERED.

George Hunter, one of the editors of the Scotsman, was murdered on Saturday evening by unknown persons in Thirteenth street, near Fourthave.

A BURGULARY AND INCENDIARISM.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 6.—The store of R. Potter & Son, West Springfield, Penn., was entered by burglars last night. After blowing up the safe, they took from it between $5,000 and $10,000 in money and bonds; and then fired the building, the loss on which and store is $12,000. The stock was insured for $4,000.

THE TILTON CASE.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7.—The Court of Appeal this morning decided in the case of Theodore Tilton, respondent against H. W. Beecher, appellant, that the order of General Term and of Special Term of the City Court of Brooklyn be reversed, and the cause remitted to the Court below, that the discretion upon the merits may be exercised, without costs either party as against the other. The opinion is written by Justice Rapali, and takes the ground that the Court below has a right to review all of particulars.

ANNA MURDER—KING KALAHUA—AN APPEAL—REV. J. J. HENDERSON RE-APPOINTED—ANNOUNCED.

New York, Dec. 8.—Contrary to the general expectation, a jury was readily obtained for the trial of Coroner Crook under indictment for the murder of Jas. McKenna on election day.

Mayor Vance has been requested by the assistant aldermen to tender the hospitality of the city to King Kalahua.

New York, Dec. 8.—G. V. Kicksecker, judge of Probate of Reno County, Kansas, makes an appeal for sufferers in Kansas. He says that near 20,000 persons must depend for subsistence during the winter upon the charity of their fellow men. Of this number the quarters are soldiers, who have taken Government land, and are dependent entirely on their crops for living during the winter months. In July and August grasshoppers fell on the fields and swept away every trace of vegetation. The Kansas Central Committee, which Judge Kicksecker presides over, estimates the cost of feeding the great army of the destitute at more than $1 a month per man, and $1.50 for women and children. $480,000 will be required to last six months. The Kansas Central Committee are money lenders, and especially for women and children. Judge Kicksecker can be found at the Broadway, room 16.

Shepley Wiley S. Gregory, of Jersey City, died this afternoon aged 70. He was last Mayor of Jersey City, and in 1815 was a member of Congress.

City Presbytery published yesterday in the case of the Rev. J. S. Henderson, acquitting him on the charge of seduction and breach of promise of marriage, but attaching a censure of unministerial and unchristian conduct in making Miss Mary E. Pomroy presents, visiting her so frequently and at unreasonable hours, and living on such intimate terms with her as to occasion public suspicion of immorality. The Presbytery passed resolutions dissolving pastoral relations between Henderson and the Pro-

lines in Navarre.

GERMANY.

BISMARCK'S REPLY TO WINDHORST.

Berlin, Dec. 6.—Prince Bismarck in the course of his reply to Herr Windhorst in the Reichstag said, 'I am in possession of conclusive evidence that the Aecamenical Council was cut short on account of the Franco German war. The Council's vote would have been very different had the French been victorious. I know from the very best sources that Napoleon was dragged into war very much against his will by Jesuitical influences. He strove hard to resist these influences, and at the eleventh hour he determined on peace, and kept his resolution halt, but ultimately he was overpowered by persons representing the Vatican.'

THE FOURNIER SCANDAL.

(From the Ottawa Free Press.)

We would have wished for the credit of our contemporary, the Citizen, that it had left unsaid what was so very foolishly said in its columns yesterday, in reference to the Hon. Mr Fournier and concerning an injurious slander which has been circulated in the Opposition press in reference to him. We alluded to the matter a few days since and did so regretfully, to give a most explicit denial to this story. The Citizen of last evening comes to the rescue of its confreres who have been engaged in the shameful work of maligning the character of the Minister of Justice, and an article whose length is only proportionate to its imbecility presents an imaginary account of an occurrence which never took place. How the author of the triflingly nonsensical article in yesterday's Citizen acquired the information which he presents to the public with so much sententiousness and appearance of circumstantiality, is a conundrum not very easy of solution. No person connected with the staff of our contemporary was present when the alleged disturbance took place, nor has any one who was present at the time asserted made any statement to any one connected with the Citizen. We do not know whether the irrepressible Jenkins had his ear to the key-hole, whether he fed the waiter, or whether he may not have been secreted under the table when the Minister of Justice took the liberty of taking dinner; but the probability is that some one has been 'taking a risk' out of his proclivities for swallowing with too confiding eagerness any suggestion that will furnish pabulum for 'the latest Grt outrage.' Certain it is, however, that the ingenious little fact which grumbled the editorial space of the Citizen yesterday does little credit to its originality; if it is a pure invention, and less to its sagacity, if it seriously believes what it affirms. The other day we started:—

'No such occurrence as is attributed to Mr. Fournier took place at all. He had no hand, act, or part in any disturbance whatever at Mr. O'Meara's or elsewhere, and the assertion that he was on a 'six days' spree, or a spree or any other degree of duration, is a simple and preposterous fabrication.'

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on this understanding on this subject, we repeat what we had said before in reference to this

he is the late Prime Minister of the Dominion is an accomplice after the fact. He is so far from apprehending, even legally, as he provided a criminal with money, he is willing to escape from justice; but morally he is still more menacingly so, inasmuch as he stayed and paralyzed in Riel's favor the arm of the law. In truth it would be impossible to derive a case of complicity after the fact more heinous than that of a Minister of Justice who secretly enters into collusion with a criminal for the purpose of baffling Justice, while he covers the transaction by solemn protests in public of his earnest desire to do his duty. * * * * *

The most reckless student, the simplest peasant, guided by the promptings of an honest heart, could scarcely have got into such a mess, in the Riel case, as have men who for their cunning were worshipped by their followers as gods, and the example of whose immoral success was rapidly demoralizing the youth of the country.

The youth of the country, we would add, are by no means the only ones that Sir John's Riel-long reckless defiance of the simplest rules of public morality has demoralized, for we find on all hands men who thank God that they are not as other men are, pious clergy men, grave professors, stern moralists, winking at his gross immoralities, and gloss them over as, in the Yankee vernacular, 'smart,' the only regrettable feature in them being that they were found out.

AN ACCOMMODATING BRIDE.

A happy-go-lucky style of courtship and marriage prevails in the Cherokee nation, if we may receive as a representative report by a Texas paper. A young girl arrived in Denison on the 11th, in response to the invitation of her lover, John Arnold, of the Cherokee nation. The appointment was for the 10th, at Denison, when and where they were to be married. When she arrived she learned that he had expected someone, but though somewhat dashed at the turn of affairs, she determined to interview her faithless lover. She found him at his father-in-law's, with the father of a fresh bride-groom, the minister having just pronounced the ceremony which gave him a husband. He professed great sorrow at having missed her, but insisted that it was owing to her failure to arrive as agreed. He loved her still, and if she would yet be his he had only to consult with his father and obtain her permission to give her marriage annuity. When the proposition was made to her, Miss Arnold pondered a moment, and said it might go; the minister said that he knew the father-in-law, and the groom not thirty in the nation, more than a minute or two; and Arnold was off to marry his own true love.

SCRUPULOUS HIGHWAY MEN.

A stage coach was stopped by highwaymen a couple of weeks ago in Northern Texas. While 'going through' the passengers, several of whom were ladies, and one a preacher, they protested that they were 'gentlemen,' and did not intend to molest any of their victims who make an 'honest living.' Under

GOING WEST.

Express	5.	p m
Mixed	7.55	a m
Express	4.10	a m

Montreal Time.

THE Weekly Express.

FRIDAY DECEMBER 11th 1874

LEDICTORY.

The undersigned, having made purchase of the DAILY ONTARIO of Belleville for the sum of $15,000, $10,000 of which amount was cash, has made arrangements to move to that town, and has therefore disposed of his entire interest in the WEEKLY EXPRESS. Having been the publisher and manager of this paper, from the beginning of its existence, and having received so much encouragement and patronage from its friends, it is with much regret that he now severs a connection so pleasant to himself.

Having disposed of the entire office and good will of the EXPRESS, to Thos. W. Casey, Esq., of this town, he has great pleasure in recommending him to its former friends, trusting that the new Editor and Publisher will receive the same hearty co-operation and assistance that the undersigned has so long enjoyed.

As Mr. Casey has been a life long resident of the county, and for some years one of the principal editorial contributors to the columns of this paper, he is well known to most of our readers; and it does not, therefore, require any assurance, then his present well sustained character and public reputation, that both the editorial and business control of the paper will be ably and honorably conducted.

With the present issue my own connection with the paper ceases, and I leave Mr. Casey to make his bow in his new capacity next week.

All persons desirous of paying their subscriptions and other accounts due me, will be kind enough to call at the office of Robt. Easton, Market Square, who is authorized to give receipts.

T. S. CARMAN.

OUR WINTER OUTLOOK.

In the midst of general prosperity we attempt to forget some of the minor responsibilities which our social condition entails. Because the general economic pressure upon our country, and the signs are encouraging in a local aspect, we should not become indifferent to the clearly defined rules of Dr. and Co. Perhaps not for many years have the winter prospects been more cheering in Canada, and especially in Napanee and vicinity than they are at present. An unusually abundant harvest, healthy financial circulation and animated labor market, make our outlook very pleasant, and strip the long winter months of their dreaded severity. All persons inclined to care longest and industrious liveli hood can find remunerative labor. The demand for workmen of all kinds—skilled and ordinary—is quite

Bill of particulars.

ANNA MURDER—KING KALA-AN APPEAL—REV. J. J.
DENNING RE-APPOINTED—AS-SIGNED.

New York, Dec. 8.—Contrary to the general expectation, a jury was readily obtained for the trial of Coroner Foster under indictment for the murder of Jas. McKenna on election day.

Mayor Vance has been requested by the assistant aldermen to tender the hospitality of the city to King Kala-kama.

New York, Dec.—G. V. Kicksecker, wife of Probate of Reno County, Kansas, makes an appeal for suffering in Kansas. She says that near 20,000 persons must depend for subsistence during the winter upon the charity of their fellow men. Of this number the quarters are soldiers, who have taken Government land, and are dependent entirely on their crops for living during the winter months. In July and August grasshoppers fall in thousands and sweep away every trace of vegetation. The Kansas Committee estimates the cost of feeding the great army of the destitute at more than $4 a month per person, and $480,000 will be required to feed the army for six months. The committee also requires money for clothing, and for women and children. Kicksecker can be consulted at Broadway, room 16.

Charles Dudley S. Gregory, of Jersey City, died this afternoon, aged 70. He was Mayor of Jersey City and in 1815 was a member of Congress.

The City Presbytery published a resolution today in the case of the Rev. John S. Glemending, acquitting him on the charge of seduction and breach of promise of marriage, but finding him guilty of unministerial and imprudent conduct in making Miss Mary E. Fournier presents, visiting her so frequently and at unreasonable hours, and living on such intimate terms with her as to occasion public suspicion of impropriety. The Presbytery passed resolutions dissolving pastoral relations between Glemending and the Prospect Avenue Church in view of the disturbing influences incident to the case.

Edward Samart, formerly of Liverpool, but recently from New Orleans, bought in this market a few days ago, a bale of the Cotton Exchange, some 400 bales of cotton, and shipped the same to Liverpool. He sold the bills of lading to Duncan, Sherman & Co., receiving therefor a bill of exchange, and has absconded.

WATERTOWN.

THE EXECUTION OF SMITH.

Watertown, Dec. 4.—The execution of Hiram Smith took place to-day. At an early hour people began to flock into town, and at twelve o'clock the crowd around the gallows was immense. Smith slept until six o'clock and ate a hearty breakfast after he awoke, up to which time he was perfectly cool and collected, and did not seem to realize his situation; but he suddenly broke completely down, and prayed piteously calling upon God to witness his innocence. A few moments will probably end the sad scene.

Later.—Shortly after twelve o'clock he was visited by three clergymen and his counsel. He was then conducted to the scaffold, bearing himself boldly and seemed perfectly resigned. He spoke for about twenty minutes. The clock fell at four minutes to one o'clock. His life was extinct in a few seconds. He made no confession. Public opinion is divided as to his guilt.

engaged in the shameful work of maligning the character of the Minister of Justice, and an article whose length is only proportionate to its imbecility presents an imaginary account of an occurrence which never took place. How the author of the frightfully nonsensical article in yesterday's Citizen acquired the information which he presents to the public with so much sententiousness and appearance of circumstantiality, is a conundrum not very easy of solution. No person connected with the staff of our contemporary was present when the alleged disturbance took place, nor has any one who was present at the time asserted made any statement to any one connected with the Citizen. We do not know whether the irrepressible Jenkins had his ear to the key-hole, whether he feed the waiter, or whether he may not have been secreted under the table when the Minister of Justice took the liberty of taking dinner; but the probability is that some one has been "taking a rise" out of his proclivities for swallowing with too confiding eagerness any suggestion that will furnish pabulum for the latest Grit outrage. Certain it is, however, that the ingenious little fable which garnished the editorial space of the Citizen yesterday does little credit to its originality. If it is a pure invention, and less to its sagacity, if it seriously believes what it affirms. The other day we started:—

'No such occurrence as is attributed to Mr. Fournier took place at all. He had no hand, act, or part in any disturbance whatever at Mr. O'Meara's or elsewhere, and the assertion that he was on a 'sixdays' spree, or a spree or any other degree of duration, is a simple and preposterous fabrication.'

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on this understanding on this subject, we repeat what we had said before in reference to this matter.

The author of "Bacchus in high places," has proved himself, by his own confession, to be a trickster in his compilation of even those statements which he alleges to be "facts." If it is necessary that the private life of a Minister is to be invaded, and his most trivial domestic acts made the subject of the criticism of unscrupulous newspapers, it may not be amiss to call attention to the manner in which those slanders are manipulated. The Citizen devotes two columns to prove true the scandalous and wicked reports in other Tory prints in reference to Mr. Fournier. After going carefully over the whole article, we find that eliminating the abuse, declamation and insults from the article, the whole case, as it presents it, is as follows. We quote its own language:—

'Last week the Minister of Justice with a legal friend of his, visited Mr. O'Meara's restaurant on George street * * * in the evening. The first-named gentleman complained of not feeling well and * * * tested the medicinal effects of Moselle. * * * On the arrival of Mr. Frochette, members for Levis (and some other gentlemen) it was necessary to complete the * * * social circle. * * * The contents of five bottles * * * disappeared, and according to the company (five persons) was

AN ACCOMMODATING BRIDE.

A happy-go-lucky style of courtship and marriage prevails in the Cherokee nation, if we may receive as a representative of the report by a Texas paper. A young girl arrived in Denton on the 11th, in response to the invitation of her lover, John Arnold, of the Cherokee nation. The appointment was for the 10th, says Denton, when and where they were to be married. When she arrived she learned that he had responded to her, but though somewhat dashed at the turn of affairs, she did not refuse to interview her faithless lover. She found him at his father-in-law's, a small the father of a fresh bride-groom, the minister having just pronounced the ceremony which made him a husband. He professed great sorrow at having misadvised her, but insisted that it was owing to her failure to arrive as agreed. His lover, he said, and if she would not believe him only to consult with his friends and obtain their permission to have the marriage annulled. When the proposition was made to him, Mrs. Arnold pondered a moment, and said she might go; the minister, however, did not know the father-in-law and the groom not being in the nation more than a minute or two; and Arnold was off to marry his own true love.

SCRUPULOUS HIGHWAY MEN.

A stage coach was stopped by highwaymen a couple of weeks ago in Northern Texas. While "going through" the passengers, several of whom were ladies, and one a preacher, they protested that they were "gentlemen," and did not intend to molest any of their victims who make an "honest living." Under this heading the preacher, the ladies and the driver were classified, and escaped being plundered. So punctiliously scrupulous were they in their vocation, that they refrained from swearing while pursuing it. They were lucky in gathering a rich spoil. That feature of the affair which is particularly worthy of notice is a letter written by the minister describing the robbery. It concludes in this way: "They were so polite towards me that perhaps I should say no more. Really I did not know but that they would request me to pray for them; and if I only had my wits about me, I should have asked them for a contribution for Indian missions, as our cause is suffering immensely for lack of funds just at this time, and I am sure they have more greenbacks on hand than they can use with convenience. Should they see this, and I know they read the papers, they will favor me greatly (as one good turn deserves another) by forwarding to my address a hundred or more dollars for the cause of Indian evangelization.—Virginia City Enterprise.

The American steamer, T. S. Faxton, of Clanton, was seized at Prescott on Friday by Surveyor Twamley for infringements of the customs laws.

resident of the county, and for some years, one of the principal editorial contributors to the columns of this paper, he is well known to most of our readers; and it does not, therefore, require any assurance, than his present well sustained character and public reputation, that both the editorial and business control of the paper will be ably and honorably conducted.

With the present issue my own connection with the paper ceases, and I leave Mr. Casey to make his bow in his new capacity next week.

All persons desirous of paying their subscriptions and other accounts due me, will be kind enough to call at the office of Robt. Easton, Market Square, who is authorized to give receipts.

T. S. CARMAN.

OUR WINTER OUTLOOK.

In the midst of general prosperity we are apt to forget some of the minor responsibilities which our social condition entails. Because the present economic pressure upon our country, and the signs are encouraging in a local aspect, we should not become indifferent to the clearly defined rules of Dr. and Cr. Perhaps not for many years have the winter prospects been more cheering in Canada, and especially in Napanee and vicinity than they are at present. An unusually abundant harvest, healthy financial circulation and animated labor market, make our outlook very pleasant, and strip the long winter months of their dreaded severity. All persons inclined to earn honest and industrious livelihood can find remunerative labor. The demand for workmen of all kinds—skilled and ordinary—is quite equal to the supply, and as a consequence we anticipate a decreased expenditure in charitable funds during the cold season. This, of course, applies to our own local wants. The unsettled state of the financial and commercial circles in the United States, and the consequent depression of almost all kinds of industry, have forced a large number of persons to cross the lines in search of employment. We presume that the major part of the applications for assistance already made to the donating societies and police authorities of this and other Canadian cities and towns, come from a class of nomadic unfortunate hailing from the neighboring States. Comparatively few citizens of this country, possessed of the least self-respect and in possession of ordinary health, need seek long for steady work, wherewith to provide means of subsistence and even comfort.

What we purposed calling the attention of the laboring classes to is this: When "business is brisk," to use a common expression, and every day brings in its additional resources, the future is not sufficiently calculated as an important consideration in our

bill of particulars.
ANNA MURDER—KING KAL-
AN APPEAL—REV. J. I.
RE-APPOINTED—AR-
SONDED.

New York, Dec. 8.—Contrary to the general expectation, a jury was readily obtained for the trial of Coroner Crockett under indictment for the murder of Mrs. McKenna on election day.

Mayor Vance has been requested by the assistant aldermen to tender the hospitality of the city to King Kalakama.

New York, Dec.—G. V. Kicksecker, judge of Probate of Reno County, Kansas, makes an appeal for sufferers in Kansas. He says that near 20,000 persons must depend for subsistence during the winter upon the charity of their fellow men. Of this number three-quarters are soldiers, who have taken Government land, and are dependent entirely on their crops for living during the winter months. In July and August grasshoppers fall in millions and sweep away every trace of vegetation. The Kansas Committee estimates the cost of feeding the great army of the destitute at $4 a month per man, and $2,848,000 will be required for the next six months. The money must be paid for food and clothing, and for the women and children. Kicksecker can be reached at Broadway, room 16.

Charles Dudley S. Gregory, of Jersey City, died this afternoon, aged 75. He was first Mayor of Jersey City, and in 1815 was a member of Congress.

The City Presbytery published a resolution today in the case of the Rev. John S. Gendemann, acquitting him on the charge of seduction and breach of promise of marriage, but finding him guilty of unministerial and unchristian conduct in making Miss Mary E. Fournier presents, visiting her so frequently and at unreasonable hours, and living on such intimate terms with her as to occasion public suspicion of impropriety. The Presbytery passed resolutions dissolving pastoral relations between Gendemann and the Prospect Avenue Church in view of the disturbing influences incident to the case.

Edward Smart, formerly of Liverpool, but recently from New Orleans, bought in this market a few days ago, a bale of the Cotton Exchange, some 400 bales of cotton, and shipped the same to Liverpool. He sold the bills of lading to Duncan, Sherman & Co., receiving therefor a bill of exchange, and has absconded.

WATERTOWN.

THE EXECUTION OF SMITH.

Watertown, Dec. 4.—The execution of Hiram Smith took place to-day. At an early hour people began to flock into town, and at twelve o'clock the crowd around the gallows was immense. Smith slept until six o'clock and ate a hearty breakfast after he awoke, up to which time he was perfectly cool and collected, and did not seem to realize his situation; but he suddenly broke completely down, and prayed piteously calling upon God to witness his innocence. A few moments will probably end the sad scene.

Later.—Shortly after twelve o'clock he was visited by three clergymen and his counsel. He was then conducted to the scaffold, bearing himself boldly and seemed perfectly resigned. He spoke for about twenty minutes. The clock fell at four minutes to one o'clock. His life was extinct in a few seconds. He made no confession. Public opinion is divided as to his guilt.

engaged in the shameful work of maligning the character of the Minister of Justice, and an article whose length is only proportionate to its imbecility presents an imaginary account of an occurrence which never took place. How the author of the frightfully nonsensical article in yesterday's Citizen acquired the information which he presents to the public with so much sententiousness and appearance of circumstantiality, is a conundrum not very easy of solution. No person connected with the staff of our contemporary was present when the alleged disturbance took place, nor has any one who was present at the time asserted made any statement to any one connected with the Citizen. We do not know whether the irrepressible Jenkins had his ear to the key-hole, whether he feed the waiter, or whether he may not have been secreted under the table when the Minister of Justice took the liberty of taking dinner; but the probability is that some one has been "taking a rise" out of his proclivities for swallowing with too confiding eagerness any suggestion that will furnish pabulum for the latest Grit outrage. Certain it is, however, that the ingenious little fable which garnished the editorial space of the Citizen yesterday does little credit to its originality. If it is a pure invention, and less to its sagacity, if it seriously believes what it affirms. The other day we started:—

'No such occurrence as is attributed to Mr. Fournier took place at all. He had no hand, act, or part in any disturbance whatever at Mr. O'Meara's or elsewhere, and the assertion that he was on a 'sixdays' spree, or a spree or any other degree of duration, is a simple and preposterous fabrication.'

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on this understanding on this subject, we repeat what we had said before in reference to this matter.

The author of "Bacchus in high places," has proved himself, by his own confession, to be a trickster in his compilation of even those statements which he alleges to be "facts." If it is necessary that the private life of a Minister is to be invaded, and his most trivial domestic acts made the subject of the criticism of unscrupulous newspapers, it may not be amiss to call attention to the manner in which those slanders are manipulated. The Citizen devotes two columns to prove true the scandalous and wicked reports in other Tory prints in reference to Mr. Fournier. After going carefully over the whole article, we find that eliminating the abuse, declamation and insults from the article, the whole case, as it presents it, is as follows. We quote its own language:—

'Last week the Minister of Justice with a legal friend of his, visited Mr. O'Meara's restaurant on George street * * * in the evening. The first-named gentleman complained of not feeling well and * * * tested the medicinal effects of Moselle. * * * On the arrival of Mr. Frechette, members for Lewis (and some other gentlemen) it was necessary to complete the * * * social circle. * * * The contents of five bottles * * * disappeared, and according to the * * * company (five persons) was

AN ACCOMMODATING BRIDE.

A happy-go-lucky style of courtship and marriage prevails in the Cherokee nation, if we may receive as a representative report by a Texas paper. A young girl arrived in Denton on the 11th, in response to the invitation of her lover, John Arnold, of the Cherokee nation. The appointment was for the 10th, says Denton, when and where they were to be married. When she arrived she learned that he had expected another, but though somewhat dashed at the turn of affairs, she determined to interview her faithless lover. She found him at his father-in-law's, the father of a fresh bride-groom, the minister having just pronounced the ceremony which made him a husband. He professed great sorrow at having misled her, but pleaded that it was owing to her failure to arrive as agreed. His lover, he said, and if she would sit back and wait only to consult with his friends and obtain her permission to have the marriage annulled. When the proposition was made to him, Mrs. Arnold pondered a moment, and said it might go; the minister, who did not know the father-in-law, said the groom not rarely in the nation more than a minute or two; and Arnold was off to marry his own true love.

SCRUPULOUS HIGHWAYMEN.

A stage coach was stopped by highwaymen a couple of weeks ago in Northern Texas. While "going through" the passengers, several of whom were ladies, and one a preacher, they protested that they were "gentlemen," and did not intend to molest any of their victims who make an "honest living." Under this heading the preacher, the ladies and the driver were classified, and escaped being plundered. So punctiliously scrupulous were they in their vocation, that they refrained from swearing while passing it. They were lucky in gathering a rich spoil. That feature of the affair which is particularly worthy of notice is a letter written by the minister describing the robbery. It concludes in this way: "They were so polite towards me that perhaps I should say no more. Really I did not know but that they would request me to pray for them; and if I only had my wits about me, I should have asked them for a contribution for Indian missions, as our cause is suffering immensely for lack of funds just at this time, and I am sure they have more greenbacks on hand than they can use with convenience. Should they see this, and I know they read the papers, they will favor me greatly (as one good turn deserves another) by forwarding to my address a hundred or more dollars for the cause of Indian evangelization.—Virginia City Enterprise.

The American steamer, T. S. Faxton, of Clanton, was seized at Prescott on Friday by Surveyor Twamley for infringements of the customs laws.

resident of the county, and for several years, one of the principal editorial contributors to the columns of this paper, he is well known to most of our readers; and it does not, therefore, require any assurance, than his present well sustained character and public reputation, that both the editorial and business control of the paper will be ably and honorably conducted.

With the present issue my own connection with the paper ceases, and I leave Mr. Casey to make his bow in his new capacity next week.

All persons desirous of paying their subscriptions and other accounts due me, will be kind enough to call at the office of Robt. Easton, Market Square, who is authorized to give receipts.

T. S. CARMAN.

OUR WINTER OUTLOOK.

In the midst of general prosperity we are apt to forget some of the minor responsibilities which our social condition entails. Because the season immediately pressure upon our charity, and the signs are encouraging in a local aspect, we should not be too indifferent to the clearly defined rules of Dr. and Cr. Perhaps not for many years have the winter prospects been more cheering in Canada, and especially in Napanee and vicinity than they are at present. An unusually abundant harvest, healthy financial circulation and animated labor market, make our outlook very pleasant, and strip the long winter months of their dreaded severity. All persons inclined to earn honest and industrious livelihood can find remunerative labor. The demand for workmen of all kinds—skilled and ordinary—is quite equal to the supply, and as a consequence we anticipate a decreased expenditure in charitable funds during the cold season. This, of course, applies to our own local wants. The unsettled state of the financial and commercial circles in the United States, and the consequent depression of almost all kinds of industry, have forced a large number of persons to cross the lines in search of employment. We presume that the major part of the applications for assistance already made to the donating societies and police authorities of this and other Canadian cities and towns, come from a class of nomadic unfortunate hailing from the neighboring States. Comparatively few citizens of this country, possessed of the least self-respect and in possession of ordinary health, need seek long for steady work, wherewith to provide means of subsistence and even comfort.

What we purposed calling the attention of the laboring classes to is this: When "business is brisk," to use a common expression, and every day brings in its additional resource, the future is not sufficiently calculated as an important consideration in

Bill of particulars.

ANNA MURDER—KING KALIA.
AN APPEAL—REV. J. I.
ANNING RE-APPOINTED—AR-

Dec. 8. Contrary to the expectation, a jury was readily obtained for the trial of Coroner McKenna on election

Justice has been requested by the attorney to tender the case to the city to King Kalia

Dec. 10. G. V. Kicksecker, Judge of Reno County, has an appeal for suffrages says that near 20,000 depend for subsistence
the winter upon the furnish the soldiers,
the Government land,
the houses in bedding, and the winter months.
The grasshoppers fall and swept away every thing. The Kansas
Judge has the cost of the destitute
$100,000 will be required in the winter.
The money is for the money for women and children. Kicksecker can be found at room 16,

Dec. 10. S. Gregory, of the afternoon aged.
Mayor of Jersey was a member of Presbytery publicly in the case of condemning acquit-ment of seduction and marriage, but of ministerial and Miss visiting her and unseasonable on intimate terms public suspicion

The Presbytery passed pastoral relations and the Pres-Church in view of the dis-incident to the case.
Smart, formerly of Liver-recently from New Orleans, in this matter a few days ago.
the Cotton Exchange, some of cotton and shipped the to Liverpool. He sold the bills to Duncan, Sherman & Co., therefor a bill of exchange,
and he absconded.

WATERTOWN.

THE EXECUTION OF SMITH.

Watertown, Dec. 4.—The execution of Herman Smith took place to-day. At half past four people began to flock in from all around the town, and at twelve o'clock the crowd around the gallows was immense.
Smith slept until 11 o'clock and ate a hearty breakfast after he awoke, up to which time he was perfectly cool and collected, and did not seem to realize his situation; but he suddenly broke completely down, and prayed piteously calling upon God to witness his innocence. A few moments will probably end the sad scene.

Later.—Shortly after twelve o'clock he was visited by three clergymen and his counsel. He was then conducted to the scaffold, bearing himself boldly and seemed perfectly resigned. He spoke for about twenty minutes. The drop fell at four minutes to one o'clock.
His life was extinct in a few seconds. He made no confession. Public opinion is divided as to his guilt.

engaged in the shameful work of wauling the character of the Minister of Justice, and an article whose length is only proportional to its imbecility presents an imaginary account of an occurrence which never took place. How the author of the trightfully nonsensical article in yesterday's Citizen acquired the information which he presents to the public with so much sententiousness and appearance of circumstantiality, is a conundrum not very easy of solution. No person connects with the staff of our contemporary was present when the alleged disturbance took place, nor has any one who was present at the time asserted made any statement to any one connected with the Citizen. We do not know whether the irrepressible Jenkins had his ear to the key-hole, whether he feed the waiter, or whether he may not have been secreted under the table when the Minister of Justice took the liberty of taking dinner; but the probability is that some one has been "taking a ride" out of his proclivities for swallowing with too confiding eagerness any suggestion that will furnish pabulum for "the latest Grit outrage." Certain it is, however, that the ingenuous little fable which graced the editorial space of the Citizen yesterday does little credit to its originality, if it is a pure invention, and less to its sagacity, if it seriously believes what it affirms.
The other day we started:—

"No such occurrence as is attributed to Mr. Fournier took place at all.
He had no hand, act, or part in any disturbance whatever at Mr.
O'Meara's or elsewhere, and the assertion that he was on a 'six days' spree, or a spree or any other degree of duration, is a simple and preposterous fabrication."

In order that there may be no misunderstanding on this understanding on this subject, we repeat what we had said before in reference to this matter.

The author of "Bacchus in high places," has proved himself, by his own confession, to be a trickster in his compilation of even those statements which he alleges to be "facts."
If it is necessary that the private life of a Minister is to be invaded, and his most trivial domestic acts made the subject of the criticism of unscrupulous newspapers, it may not be amiss to call attention to the manner in which those slanders are mauled. The Citizen devotes two columns to prove true the scandalous and wicked reports in other Tory prints in reference to Mr.
Fournier. After going carefully over the whole article, we find that eliminating the abuse, declamation and insults from the article, the whole case, as it presents it, is as follows. We quote its own language:—

"Last week the Minister of Justice with a legal friend of his, visited Mr. O'Meara's restaurant on George street * * * in the evening.
The first-named gentleman complained of not feeling well and * * * tested the medicinal effects of Moselle. * *
On the arrival of Mr. Frechette, members for Lewis (and some other gentlemen) it was necessary to complete the * * * social circle. * *
The contents of five bottles * * disappeared, and according to the * * * company (five persons) was

AN ACCOMMODATING BRIDE.

A happy-go-lucky story of courtship and marriage appears in the Cherokee nation. It was very recent as a representative report by a Texas paper, and being and arrived in Chicago on the 11th, in response to the desire of her lover, John J. McLeod, of the Cherokee nation. The bridegroom was not the 10th of December, and was where he was married. When he in his wedding dress, and that sounded like a wedding. The affairs, said the paper, and his her father's house. She had been at his father's house, and the
of a fresh bridegroom, the minister having just pronounced the ceremony which placed him and wife. The professed great sorrow at having missed the bride, and that it was owing to his late arrival as agreed, he had to stay, and it was wonderful how he got to be present at the wedding. He was married. When the wedding was made, Mr. McLeod pointed out the bride, and said might for the bride, and the know the bride, and the groom not arrived in the morning, than a minute or two, and the was off to marry's own wife.

SCRUPULOUS HIGHWAY.

A stage coach was stopped by highwaymen a couple of weeks ago in Northern Texas. When "going through" the passengers, several of whom were ladies, and one a preacher, they protested that they were "gentlemen," and did not consent to molest any of their persons, who make an "honest living." Under this heading the preacher, the ladies and the driver were classified, and escaped being plundered. So puncti-tiously scrupulous were they in their vocation, that they refrained from swearing while pursuing it.
They were lucky in gathering a rich spoil. That feature of the affair which is particularly worthy of notice is a letter written by the minister describing the robbery. It concludes in this way: "They were so polite towards me that perhaps I should say no more. I did not know but that they would request me to pray for them; and if I only had my wits about me, I should have asked them for a contribution for Indian missions, as our cause is suffering immensely for lack of funds just at this time, and I am sure they have more greenbacks on hand than they can use with convenience. Should they see this, and I know they read the papers, they will favor me greatly (as one good turn deserves another) by forwarding to my address a hundred or more dollars for the cause of Indian evangelization.—Virginia City Enterprise.

The American schooner, T. S.
Faxton, of Charleston, was seized at Prescott on Friday by Surveyor Twamley for infringements of the customs laws.

resident of the county, and for some years one of the principal editorial contributors to the columns of this paper, it is well known to most of our readers, and it does not, therefore, require any assurance, then his present well sustained character and public reputation, that both the editorial and business control of the paper will be discharge honorably conducted.

With the present issue my own connection with the paper ceases, and I leave Mr. Casey to make his bow in his new capacity next week.

All persons desirous of paying their subscriptions and other accounts due me, will be kind enough to call at the office of Robt. Easton Market Square, who is authorized to give receipts.

T. S. CARMAN.

OUR WINTER OUTLOOK.

In the midst of general prosperity we are apt to forget some of the major responsibilities which our country entails. Because the economic pressure upon Canada, and the signs are encouraging in a local aspect, we should not be indifferent to the clearly-defined calls of Dr. and Cr. Perhaps not for many years have the winter prospects been more cheering in Canada, and especially in Napanee and vicinity, than they are at present.
An unusually abundant harvest, healthy financial circulation and animated labor market, make our outlook very pleasant, and strip the long winter months of their dreaded severity. All persons inclined to earn honest and industrious livelihood can find remunerative labor.
The demand for workmen of all kinds —skilled and ordinary—is quite equal to the supply, and as a consequence we anticipate a decreased expenditure in charitable funds during the cold season. This, of course, applies to our own local wants. The unstable state of the financial and commercial circles in the United States, and the consequent depression of almost all kinds of industry, have forced a large number of persons to cross the lines in search of employment. We presume that the major part of the applications for assistances already made to the donating societies and police authorities of this and other Canadian cities and towns, come from a class of nomadic unfortunately hailing from the neighboring States. Comparatively few citizens of this country, possessed of the least self respect and in possession of ordinary wealth, need seek long for steady work, wherewith to provide means of subsistence and even comfort.

What we purposed calling the attention of the laboring classes to is this: When "business is brisk," to use a common expression, and every day brings in its additional resource, the future is not sufficiently calculated as an important consideration in Ord

COOL RAILWAY PORTER.—An English paper says:—"A remarkable example of presence of mind in a railway porter is afforded by an incident which occurred as the down train from Perth to Aberdeen was leaving Guthrie station. A newsboy who accompanied this train, while in the act of stepping into a carriage missed his footing, and fell down between the platform and the wheels of the carriages. As the train was by this time in motion, any attempt on the part of the boy to get up would have infallibly resulted in his instant death. Nine persons out of ten witnessing this accident would have turned pale, and either shrieked out at the top of their voices advice of various kinds, or remained awe-struck and motionless abiding the issue. Fortunately, however, one of the station porters was master of the moment and of the situation, and rushing forward, lay down on the platform; then, seizing the boy with his hands, held him flat on the ground till all the foot-boards of the train had passed over him and the danger had ceased. This combination of coolness and common sense is an acquisition that may well be envied by many a person who, notwithstanding all the gifts of an elaborate education, is less fit to battle with difficulties and emergencies of life than the humble station porter at Guthrie, who thus saved the newsboy a horrible death."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
 J. A. Mills—J. A. Close
 Sunday Goods—F. W. Smith
 Nance—W. O. Asselstine
 For Sale or To Let—T. S. Carman
 To Let—R. Easton
 For Sale—Wm. McMullen
 For Sale—One Come All—J. Henderson
 For Sale—Cash Store—A. O. Davis and Sons
 Communications—Peter Johnston
 New is the Time—Coxall and Paisley
 Hurrah for Christmas—W. R. McRae
 and Co.

GRAND TRUNK TIME TABLE.

Trains leave Napanee Station as follows:

GOING EAST.
Express	1.15 p. m.
Mixed	11.30 p. m.
Express	1.25 a. m.
GOING WEST.
Express	5.00 p. m.
Mixed	7.55 a. m.
Express	4.10 a. m.

Standard Time.

THE Weekly Express.
FRIDAY DECEMBER 11th, 1874
EDITORIAL.
 The undersigned, having made purchase of the DAILY ONTARIO of Belleville for the sum of $15,000, $10,000 of which amount was cash, has made arrangements to move to that town, and has therefore disposed of his entire interest in the WEEKLY EXPRESS. Having been the publisher the domestic expenses. There is so much to tempt an inordinate desire for what could be reasonably dispensed with, and the conscious possession of ready means to back up the inclination, too many are prone to indulge beyond a limit of safety, and suffer afterwards as a consequence. A careful estimate of present and prospective resources, and an intelligent use of the favors now enjoyed, will give our mechanics and artisans an opportunity to put a decided advantage on their side of the Ledger. Let no spasmodic ambition tempt to unwise investments; but rather let a judicious system of economy rule throughout, and the result cannot be doubted. There are indications of increasing activity in nearly every branch of business, and by properly ordering the necessary expenses of a household the most common laboring man cut put by something for "a rainy day," as the old hands term it. And then, what can be more desirable to any man than to become the owner of a home of his own—a house and lot, however humble in appearance, over which he may exercise sovereign control, and which give him an interest in the welfare of the whole city never realized before. Nowhere else can the facilities for obtaining this sense of citizenship be more encouraging than here in Napanee. Lots are offered on reasonable terms, labor is at a premium and living is remarkably cheap. We appeal to the parties whom this more direct concerns, to take the subject into careful consideration, now and during the long winter evenings, and firmly resolve to make a beginning in life of a substantial and manly nature.

LOCAL NEWS.
NEW OFFICE.—The Dominion Telegraph Company have opened an office at Listowel, Ont.
COUNTY COURT.—This County has been in session during the present week, but we are unable to give a report of its proceedings till next week.
SOCIAL.—A social will be held in the Canada Presbyterian Church this evening, when an address will be delivered by the Rev Mr. Scott on the "Crying out of the Rocks."
 I would announce to my numerous patrons that I will be off and on in Napanee for a month or more, for the settlement of accounts.
T. S. CARMAN.
FIRST OF THE SEASON.—The reunions established by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Mary Magdalene's Church last year, will be again renewed this, the first one of which will be held on Thursday evening next.
SELBY AGAIN.—The ladies of the M. E. Church Selby, intend holding a Necktie Social in the Town Hall, on Thursday the 11th inst., at 7 o'clock, p. m. A cordial invitation is given to all.
ERNSTTOWN EMBROIDERS.—At a meet-

ANOTHER FIRE COMPANY.—At last the Town Council have awakened to the necessity of having an organized company of fire-men to manage the old hand-engine, and at their meeting on Monday evening last resolved to give that engine to a company of young men to be approved of by themselves. Although an application was made to them some time since by a number of young men who were willing to organize, they would not let them have the engine, but the fire of Saturday night has stirred them up. There has been a "shaking of the dry bones."
O. Y. B's.—At the last meeting of Wurtemburg Lodge, No. 46, Orange Young Britons, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
 George Madden, W. M.,
 Jas. A. Baker, D. M.,
 Robt. McMillan, Sec.,
 T. I. Roberts, F. Sec.,
 Jas. Mill, Treasurer,
 Chas. Roberts, D. of C.,
 Jas. Dryden, Chap.,
 E. Pringle, 1st Com.,
 Saa. Wiseman, 2nd,
 A. Bean, 3rd,
 S. Dease, 4th,
 Wm. Spencer, 5th,
 Shas. Baker, I. G.,
 Geo. Schryver, O. G.

A SAD SAD CASE.—The dwelling house of Duncan McDonald, blacksmith, at Martintown, was burned down Saturday at midnight and his little daughter five years of age perished. The fire was caused by the upsetting of a coal oil lamp. The father jumped from an upper window after rescuing another child, and was so badly burned, that he is not expected to recover. The mother was also burned severely. The house and its contents, including money was totally destroyed, and the family who, were in comfortable circumstances, are left penniless.—Conwall Gazette.

INHUMANITY.—The New York papers tell a horrible story of a young Irish girl committed by the board of health inspectors to Blackwell's Island small-pox hospital because she had the feverish eruption known as hives upon her; consigned there in spite of her protestation to small-pox beds; forcing her way out of these wards to a fever hospital, there attended by a badly creature sentenced for the 41st time, and at last outraged by a fellow employed as an orderly. And this is a Christian country in the nineteenth century!

THE JUBILEE SINGERS.—As was expected, quite a treat was enjoyed by those who attended the concert of the Jubilee Singers on Monday evening last. The audience was composed principally of the elite of the town, whose rapturous and frequent applause showed how they enjoyed themselves. The company consists of five ladies and three gentlemen, all colored. The programme was com-

the Ontario Temperance and Prohibitory League, Toronto, enclosing forms of petition to Parliament, praying for total prohibition of the liquor traffic, and asking to have them signed on behalf of the council and forwarded.
 Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the Mayor and Clerk sign them, and attach the corporate seal.—Carried.
 From M. Bowell Belleville, offering to furnish copies of the act to prevent corrupt practices at municipal elections, for 50 cts. per dozen.
 On motion the clerk was authorized to procure two dozen copies.
 H. B. Rathbun and Son, Mill Point, offering for the benefit of the poor of the town, 100 cords of mill wood, free of charge at Mill Point.
 Moved by Mr. Joy, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the clerk be instructed to answer the letter, accepting the kind offer, and to convey the best thanks of the Council for the same.—Carried.
 From George Paul and A. B. Perry, arbitrators in the matter of land belonging to Hon. R. J. Cartwright, taken to widen the street, stating that they are unable to agree upon a third arbitrator.
 Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Hall, that the Mayor take steps to have a third arbitrator appointed.—Carried.
 From A. Dunbar, License Inspector, relating to infraction of the law by license hotel keepers.—Filed.
 The finance committee asked further time to report on matters referred to them.—Granted.
 The committee on printing brought in a report, recommending that T. S. Carman, be paid the sum of $17.63, in full of account.
 Moved by Mr. Detlor, seconded by Mr. Hall, that it be received and adopted.—Carried.
 The Street Committee submitted their 16th pay list, amounting to $45, ordered to be paid.
 Mr. G. L. Mair, the engineer was requested to address the council, and state the reasons that prevented the steam fire engine from working at the late fire. He stated that after making a careful investigation of the engine, he gave it as his opinion that the trouble was owing to the natural wear and tear of the valve spindles, and the sudden starting of the engine caused the discharge valves to be thrown out of their places. He stated this was purely accidental, and might occur at any time.
 Moved by Mr. Boreas, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the Mayor and Reeve be added to the committee on fire water etc., for the purpose of engaging another engineer to reside on the premises.—Carried.
 Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the committee on fire, water etc., be instructed to hand over the hand engine to a company of young men, when formed, and approved of by the Council.—Carried.
 Councillor Lane introduced a by-law for the appointment of returning officers, for holding the ensuing municipal elections, and fixing the places for holding the same, which was read a first time and referred to a committee of the whole. Mr. Lane in the chair. The committee rose and the chairman reported the by-law with blackballing.

The Ontario Temperance and Prohibitory League, Toronto, enclosing forms of petition to Parliament, praying for total prohibition of the liquor traffic, and asking to have them signed on behalf of the council and forwarded.
 Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the Mayor and Clerk sign them, and attach the corporate seal.—Carried.
 From M. Bowell Belleville, offering to furnish copies of the act to prevent corrupt practices at municipal elections, for 50 cts. per dozen.
 On motion the clerk was authorized to procure two dozen copies.
 H. B. Rathbun and Son, Mill Point, offering for the benefit of the poor of the town, 100 cords of mill wood, free of charge at Mill Point.
 Moved by Mr. Joy, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the clerk be instructed to answer the letter, accepting the kind offer, and to convey the best thanks of the Council for the same.—Carried.
 From George Paul and A. B. Perry, arbitrators in the matter of land belonging to Hon. R. J. Cartwright, taken to widen the street, stating that they are unable to agree upon a third arbitrator.
 Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Hall, that the Mayor take steps to have a third arbitrator appointed.—Carried.
 From A. Dunbar, License Inspector, relating to infraction of the law by license hotel keepers.—Filed.
 The finance committee asked further time to report on matters referred to them.—Granted.
 The committee on printing brought in a report, recommending that T. S. Carman, be paid the sum of $17.63, in full of account.
 Moved by Mr. Detlor, seconded by Mr. Hall, that it be received and adopted.—Carried.
 The Street Committee submitted their 16th pay list, amounting to $45, ordered to be paid.
 Mr. G. L. Mair, the engineer was requested to address the council, and state the reasons that prevented the steam fire engine from working at the late fire. He stated that after making a careful investigation of the engine, he gave it as his opinion that the trouble was owing to the natural wear and tear of the valve spindles, and the sudden starting of the engine caused the discharge valves to be thrown out of their places. He stated this was purely accidental, and might occur at any time.
 Moved by Mr. Boreas, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the Mayor and Reeve be added to the committee on fire water etc., for the purpose of engaging another engineer to reside on the premises.—Carried.
 Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the committee on fire, water etc., be instructed to hand over the hand engine to a company of young men, when formed, and approved of by the Council.—Carried.
 Councillor Lane introduced a by-law for the appointment of returning officers, for holding the ensuing municipal elections, and fixing the places for holding the same, which was read a first time and referred to a committee of the whole. Mr. Lane in the chair. The committee rose and the chairman reported the by-law with blackballing.

Blackwell's... accidental, and might occur at any time.

Moved by Mr. Boyes, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the Mayor and Reeve be added to the committee on fire water etc., for the purpose of engaging another engineer to reside on the premises.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the committee on fire, water etc., be instructed to hand over the hand engine to a company of young men, when formed, and approved of by the Council.—Carried.

Councillor Lane introduced a by-law for the appointment of returning officers, for holding the ensuing municipal elections, and fixing the places for holding the same, which was read a first time and referred to a committee of the whole. Mr. Lane in the chair. The committee rose and the chairman reported, the by-law with blanks filled up as follows:—East Ward at Warner block, C. B. Perry, returning officer, Centre Ward at the Town Hall, Paffin Embury, returning officer, West Ward at Bowen's building, James McKay, returning officer. The report was received and adopted. The by-law was then read a third time, numbered and passed.

Tempore Mutatur. In the early days of Phenology, it was quite fashionable for men to have their heads felt; now, every lady in the land must have their "Scit Crown Felt."

The quantity of Barley shipped from this port this fall is estimated at 5,000 bushels.

Business of all kind has been good, and as all classes of people have come forward and paid their accounts, the merchants' prophecy a famine in court matters.

The municipal council of Bath, at their last sitting passed a by-law appropriating their share of the municipal loan fund grant, toward paying for the school house erected here some two years ago.

Every person here is quiet in reference to the forthcoming municipal election. It is expected that one will be held to fill the place vacated by councillor John White, who has removed to California and that the other members of the present council (if they can be induced to) will resume their seats for 1875. The position of councillor in this village, is not considered of much importance of late years, and consequently is not much sought after. It was with great difficulty that a person was found to act as reeve at our last election. We have plenty of men capable of filling these positions, but who, when asked to come forward and represent us, decline the honor, and the consequence is, that owing to want of energy on the part of these wise heads, there is nothing going on at present in the council but the clerks pay. He sits up with the councillors at their meetings, and not only draws the minutes of each session, but coolly draws pay for the same, while they get nothing. If it is right for the clerk, a citizen of the same place, and equally interested in the prosperity of the municipality, to receive pay for his services, it is equally just and right, that the councillors should receive compensation for theirs, and it is to be hoped that the first act of the incoming council will be to vote themselves a salary for their valuable services,

THE MODEL FARM COMMITTEE.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The Model Farm Committee met this morning at 10:30 and Bethune was appointed chairman. Hon. Cameron and Hon. McKeller prepared to draw up the list of witnesses required. M. C. Candler is to be notified to attend. The next meeting of the committee met this morning at 10. W. S. Law, of Tilsonburg, came down about the Tilsonburg bill, and found that Rykert was in favor of the bill. Henry M. Gillies, Secretary of the Niagara District Insurance Co., said that he had searched the books of the County thoroughly and didn't find any payments made to Rykert for any parliamentary work.

M. W. M. Doran, received the nomination of the Reform Convention for Lanark, on Tuesday last, 1st inst.

The Hon. Edward Blake has consented to address the electors of South Norfolk at Victoria on Wednesday next.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Mayor of Peterboro, has accepted nomination of the Gifts for the West Riding of Peterboro for the Ontario Legislature.

Members of the New Brunswick Government now at Ottawa state that there is little or no opposition to the Reciprocity Treaty in that Province.

When Noah made the ark fast with a cable tow there was a tie in the affairs of men taken at the flood.

The United States Postmaster General has issued an order against letter-carriers asking gifts on New Year's Day.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has decided that sending a dun to a man on a postal card is unlawful as well as saucy.

The amount of square timber of this year's cut remaining on the Ottawa and its tributaries is roughly estimated at two million feet.

The house in which the late Professor A. Gassix was born, at Motier, in Switzerland, has had a memorial tablet placed before its front.

40,000 tons of steel rails for the Pacific Railway have been contracted for by the Public Works Department.

Barnum never publishes a full-length portrait because he wishes it to be understood that he is always a head.

The Pope has rechristened Prof. Tyndall. "Spirit Pirate" is the name he lavishes upon the man of science.

Advices from Cairo deny that the Port of Berbera, on the Gulf of Aden, was blockaded by Egyptian men-of-war.

It is reported that the difference between British Columbia and the Dominion has been arranged through Mr. Walker's visit to England.

Brigham Young's poor health is thus pleasantly alluded to by the Salt Lake Tribune: "Age and disease, aggravated by the reflections of an ill spent life have notified this bad old man that his sands have run the course of wickedness."

The New York Republic says: "Emigration from Germany is, we are told, likely to receive a considerable impetus from the recent regulations about the Landstrum, or the levee en masse on all males. Forced military service is always distasteful, and the thrifty Germans evidently prefer removing to where peace and plenty reign, even from the beloved Fatherland, where wars and rumors of wars are always threatening them. Two years ago very stringent measures were enforced to hinder emigration, and several of the steamship lines suffered materially from this cause. That Bismark will not permit the 'bone and sinew' to shirk their duty of following the drum and becoming food for powder is scarcely to be expected. With France a mouldering volcano, Denmark outraged, Austria and Hungary with rankling memories of Sadowa, and Russia jealous and very formidable, we are not surprised that the

works in the Euston Road, London, Seca wicle in Cassell's Household Guide

ELECTRICITY! THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL!—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old-standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents' worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes, "and me 6 does. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." Wm Maguire, of Franklin, writes, "I have used all the agent left, it acts like a charm. It is slow at first but takes splendidly." J. Cole, of Iowa, writes, "I have bought a dozen Thomas' Electric Oil. I am nearly out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and at such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller and Ross, Ulverton, P. Q., writes, "The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Ont., and Co., Buckingham, P. Q., writes, "Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well."

S. N. THOMAS Phelps, N. Y. And NORTHROP and LYMAN Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion. NOTE—Electric—Selected, and Electricised.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

New Restaurant

AND CONFECTIONERY STORE

Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

The subscribers would announce to the citizens of Nanaimo, the surrounding country and the traveling community, that they have opened an establishment of the above description in town, and are prepared to furnish

Meals & Oysters at all hours.

Oysters on hand by the can or sold quart.

They have been at considerable expense in fitting up the premises, and are satisfied that they have now a restaurant second to none in Central Canada.

Parties coming to market are requested to give them a call.

Ladies & Oyster Parlors up stairs.

Remember the place, Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

SHURLEY DAVY

Nov. 13th, 1874.

Found at Last!

$50 Reward Offered

For any Washing Machine in the Dominion to equal the

DEWITT PATENT

STAR WASHING

A few Reasons why this is better than all other Machines.

1st. It will do any ordinary washing in one hour. 2nd. It saves all the time and expense required by all washers, of hand rubbing as it washes and boils at the same time. 3rd. It washes the most delicate of fabrics of any material, Preserving the Golden Goods, without the slightest wear or injury to the clothes. 4th. It will wash bed quilts in the neatest and simplest manner without bundling. 5th. There are no noxious or injurious mixtures used with this machine.

COUNCIL. L CHAMBER 7th, 1874. s worship the

COUNTY COUNCIL. SPECIAL SESSION. On Tuesday 8th December, 1874. At 2 o'clock p.m., the Council met pursuant to notice from the W. R. CHAMBERLAIN, Town Clerk.

5. p m
7.55 a. m
4.10 a. m

Press.

11th. 1874

Y.

made pur-no of Belle-100, $10,000
h, has made that town, used of his WEEKLY Exe publisher r, from the and having gement and it is with overs a censself.

entire office
ess, to Thos.
town, he has ading him to g that the will receive on and assist-t has so long a life long i for some editorial con-this paper,

of our read-fore, require resent well blie reputa-liferial and per will be cted.

ny own con-eases, and I his bow in
c. paying accounts due call at the rket Square, receipts.

ARMAN.

TLOOK.

I prosperity me of the which our Because ssure upon is are en-we should the clearly
r. Perhaps the winter heering in a Napanee at present.
t harvest.
on and ane our outstrip the ir dreaded nclined to live liveli-ive labor.
of all kinds
-is quite
s a conse-

SOCIAL.—A social will be held in the Canada Presbyterian Church this evening, when an address will be delivered by the Rev Mr. Scott on the "Crying out of the Rocks."

I would announce to my numerous patrons that I will be off and on in Napanee for a month or more, for the settlement of accounts.

T. S. CARMAN.

FIRST OF THE SEASON.—The reunions established by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Mary Magdalene's Church last year, will be again renewed this, the first one of which will be held on Thursday evening next.

SELBY AGAIN.—The ladies of the M. E. Church Selby, intend holding a Neck-tie Social in the Town Hall, on Thursday the 11th inst., at 7 o'clock, p. m., A cordial invitation is given to all.

ERNSTOWN ELECTIONS.—At a meeting of the Electors of Ernestown held at Victoria School Rooms on the 7th inst., L. O. Spedford, Esq., was chosen as the candidate for Mayor, and J. M. Parrott C. W. Huffman, Esq's. as Depy. Reeves.

THAT DEBATE.—On account of the deficiency of snow, and the probable defeat of the Ontario Government in the coming contest, this society has seen fit to postpone their debate on "Universal Suffrage" until the 13th January 1876.

THE STRANDED VESSELS.—The steamers Chieftain and Hiram A. Calvin, after taking the schooner Babineau & Gendry off the Amherst Island shore safely, are trying their fortune with the schooner Star, at the Ducks.

SCIENTIFIC LECTURE.—We beg to call attention to the notice of a 'second lecture,' to be delivered by Rev. Mr. Steele, on a topic of all-engrossing interest at the present time. The public are invited to the Town Hall on Thursday evening 17th instant, at 8 o'clock.

THE STEAM ENGINE.—We refer our readers to the proceedings of the Town Council in another column for Mr. Mair's report on the cause of the steamer working, so badly at the fire at Gibbard & Sons on Saturday evening last. The engine has been overhauled during the week, and Mr. Mair, after testing her, now reports her in good working order.

PATRONAGE.—The several Temperance organizations of the Dominion are going to ask His Excellency, Lord Dufferin, to become their patron, on the strength of the idea, now generally accepted that he is not only a temperance man himself, but a warm advocate of the cause.

XMAS ADVERTISING.—The approach of the holidays is stirring the merchants up to the wisdom of advertising their wares. If they are desirous of letting the people know what they have got for sale, advertising is a necessity. Those who do judicious advertising are unquestionably the most successful in business.

READINGS FOR THE POOR.—We are requested to announce that an entertainment consisting of readings, recitations, songs and music, will be given at the Town Hall, Napanee, on Wednesday evening, 23rd inst., the proceeds to be devoted to a dinner for the poor. The entertainment will be under the management of the Mayor, and a committee of citizens.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.—The anniversary services of the M. E. Church will be held on Sunday, 20th inst., when three sermons will be preached, as follows: At 10¹/₂ a. m. by Bishop Carman; at 3 p. m. by Rev. S. G. Stone, and at 6 p. m. by Rev. East-

Irish girl committed by the beard of health inspectors to Blackwell's Island small-pox hospital, because she had the feverish eruption known as hives upon her; consigned there in spite of her protestation to small-pox beds; forcing her way out of these wards to a fever hospital, there attended by a beautiful creature sentenced for the 41st time, and at last outraged by a fellow employed as an orderly. And this is a Christian country in the nineteenth century!

THE JUBILEE SINGERS.—As was expected, quite a treat was enjoyed by those who attended the concert of the Jubilee Singers on Monday evening last. The audience was composed principally of the elite of the town, whose rapturous and frequent applause showed how they enjoyed themselves. The company consists of five ladies and three gentlemen, all colored. The programme was composed of comp-meeting hymns, serio-comic and sentimental pieces. The solos were nearly all performed by Miss Ida Davis, a lady who possesses a voice of rare sweetness, and over which she has perfect control. Her sentimental song of "Sweet Spirit Hear My Prayer," was especially good. Miss Mount, who took part in one or two duets, has a very powerful soprano voice, well cultivated. The band was led by Mr. Robert Parkman, who has one of the most powerful bass voices we have ever heard. Altogether about two hours time was very pleasantly spent.

THE SHANNONVILLE ACCIDENT.—A telegram gives the following particulars of the Shannonville accident:—"On Friday evening a man named Thos. Smart, an Indian, from the Mohawk tract, was run over by the Grand Trunk cars, half a mile west of Tyendinaga station, and mangled and cut to pieces in a shocking manner. He had been engaged at some of the neighbors during the day killing hogs, and got intoxicated on his way home. It is supposed he lay down on the track and fell asleep. The remains were found yesterday morning by the section men, and put on the lorry, and taken to Tyendinaga station, where an inquest was held. A verdict of "Death by being run over by the Grand Trunk cars while under the influence of liquor" was returned. Deceased was about forty years of age.

ARISING FROM THE ASHES.—Scarcely had the ashes of their demolished shop grown cold, before Messrs Gibbard and Son set to work to have the debris cleared away in order to at once commence work on a new building. It was a lively scene on Monday morning last to see their entire force of workmen,—book-keepers, fitters, cabinet-makers, chair-makers, and painters, all working with a will to accomplish an end so desirable to themselves and to the town as well. Already the masons are pretty well along with the foundation, and in a very short time the old shop will be replaced by a much larger and better one. In the meantime, all the men have been put to work, and those who are not engaged in the construction of the new workshop are at work for Messrs. Gibbard in Mr. Herring's foundry, that gentleman having kindly made room for a number of workmen. Although their insurance will not cover over one half their loss they are not going to bury their heads in the ashes, but will arise triumphant over the flames. Success to them, say we.

TOWN COUNCIL.

COUNCIL CHAMBER }
Napanee Dec. 7th, 1874. }
The Council met: his worship the places. He stated that was purely accidental, and might occur at any time.

Moved by Mr. Byles, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the Mayor and Reeve be added to the committee on fire water etc., for the purpose of engaging another engineer to reside on the premises.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the committee on fire, water etc., be instructed to hand over the hand engine to a company of young men, when formed, and approved of by the Council.—Carried.

Councillor Lane introduced a by-law for the appointment of returning officers, for holding the ensuing municipal elections, and fixing the places for holding the same, which was read a first time and referred to a committee of the whole. Mr. Lane in the chair. The committee rose and the chairman reported, the by-law with blanks filled up as follows:—East Ward at Warner block, C. B. Perry, returning officer, Centre Ward at the Town Hall, Paslip Embury, returning officer, West Ward at Bowen's building, James McCay, returning officer. The report was received and adopted. The by-law was then read a third time, numbered and passed.

Moved by Mr. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Jay, that J. Gibbard & Son, be refunded the amount of taxes paid on their burnt shop.—Carried.

Account of D. and M. Gleeson and Wm. Douglas, were referred to the street committee, with power to act.

One of Geo. Lott, to the same committee to report on.

One of Templeton & Beaman, to the printing committee with power to act.

Moved by Mr. Detler, seconded by Mr. Joy, that Templeton & Beaman's taxes on burnt building be remitted.—Carried.

An account of T. S. Carman, was referred to the printing committee with power to act.

One of Patrick Culhane, to the poor and sanitary committee with power to act.

One of Jas. Mesagher, to the street committee with power to act.

One of Ferguson Bros., was similarly referred.

Moved by Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Dowling, that Mrs. McKay, be allowed $3 per week, until 1st Jan. next.—Carried.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid.

Joseph Mory, watching fire, $1; Mrs. Jas. Boyd, labor, $1.50; Wm. Perry, cartage, $1.26, R. S. Shipman, salary as bridge tender, $50; R. S. Shipman, repairs to bridge, $1; R. McCay, expenses in search of Booth, $1.50; Montreal Telegraph Co., messages about Booth, $23.72; T. S. Carman, printing, $17.63; J. Storms, constable etc., $14.30; Jas. McCay, searching for Booth, $9.15; Andrew Gould, horse hire, $5.15; H. B. Rathbun & Son, lumber, $—; G. L. Mair, quarters salary, $87.50; Dr. Shirley, attending paupers, $10; A. F. Shorts, constable, $25.50; R. Easton, Treas., amounts paid, $11.

On motion the Council adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,
Town Clerk.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

SPECIAL SESSION.

On Tuesday 8th December, 1874. At 2 o'clock p.m., the Council met ruined building was got out before much damage had been done to it.

The Messrs. Gibbard's loss is about $5,000 on which there is an insurance of $2500.

BATH CORRESPONDENT.

Tempore Mutatur. In the early days of Phrenology, it was quite fashionable for men to have their heads felt; now, every lady in the land must have their "Scott Crown Felt."

The EXPRESS, is always a welcome visitor to the people of Bath and vicinity, giving, as it does, the local news of the County. The authorities here consider it the leading paper in the County.

The quantity of Barley shipped from this port this fall is estimated at 5,000 bushels.

Business of all kind has been good, and as all classes of people have come forward and paid their accounts, the merchants' prophecy of a famine in court matters.

The municipal council of Bath, at their last sitting passed a by-law appropriating their share of the municipal loan fund grant, toward paying for the school house erected here some two years ago.

Every person here is quiet in reference to the forthcoming municipal election. It is expected that one will be held to fill the place vacated by councillor John White, who has removed to California and that the other members of the present council (if they can be induced to) will resume their seats for 1875. The position of councillor in this village, is not considered of much importance of late years, and consequently is not much sought after. It was with great difficulty that a person was found to act as reeve at our last election. We have plenty of men capable of filling these positions, but who, when asked to come forward and represent us, decline the honor, and the consequence is, that owing to want of energy on the part of these wise heads, there is nothing going on at present in the council but the clerks pay. He sits up with the councillors at their meetings, and not only draws the minutes of each session, but coolly draws pay for the same, while they get nothing. If it is right for the clerk, a citizen of the same place, and equally interested in the prosperity of the municipality, to receive pay for his services, it is equally just and right, that the councillors should receive compensation for theirs, and it is to be hoped that the first act of the incoming council will be to vote themselves a salary, for their valuable services.

THE MODEL FARM COMMITTEE.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The Model Farm Committee met this morning at 10:30 and Bethune was appointed chairman. Hon. Cameron and Hon. McKeller prepared to draw up the list of witnesses required. M. C. Candless is to be notified to attend. The next meeting of the committee met this morning at 10. W. S. Law of Tilsonburg, came down about the Tilsonburg bill, and found that Rykert was in favor of the bill. Henry M. Gillies, Secretary of the Niagara District Insurance Co., said that he had searched the books of the County thoroughly and didn't find and payments made to Rykert

W. I
tion of Lanark
The ed to J Norfol
Mr.
Peterb
the G Peterb
ture.
Men Govern
ther i Recepr
Wh with a
in the flood.
The Gener letter Year's
The decide man c well a
The
this y
Ottawa
ly est
The
fessor in Sw tablet 40, Pacifi
for by ment.
Ba length to be a head Tynd na no scienc
Ad
Port
Adm. men-c
It i betwe
Domi
Mr. V Bri
thus j
Salt I ease, s an ill old m
the co
"Emu are tol able n lation levee milita and th prefer plenty Father of w them.
gent hinder the ste ally fr will n
to shir drum is scare France mark with R and R.

As Mr. Casey has been a life long resident of the county, and for some years one of the principal editorial contributors in the columns of this paper, it is well known to most of our readers, and it does not, therefore, require any assurance, that his present well sustained character and public reputation, that both the editorial and literary control of the paper will be his, and it is accordingly conducted.

In the present issue my own connection with the paper ceases, and I leave Mr. Casey to make his bow in this new capacity next week.

All persons desirous of paying their subscriptions and other accounts due me, will be kind enough to call at the office of Robt. Eas on Market Square, who is authorized to give receipts.

T. S. CARMAN.

OUR WINTER OUTLOOK.

In the midst of general prosperity it is so easy to forget some of the heavier responsibilities which our position entails. Because of the immediate pressure upon us, and the signs are everywhere, we should be different to the clearly foretold of Dr. and Cr. Perhaps not for many years have the winter prospects been more cheering in Canada, especially in Nanapsee and vicinity as they are at present.

An unusually abundant harvest, healthy and good circulation and animated life in the market, make our outlook very pleasant, and strip the long winter months of their dreaded severity. All persons inclined to earn money, and industrious livelihood, and remunerative labor. The demand for workmen of all kinds—skilled and ordinary—is quite equal to the supply, and as a consequence we anticipate a decreased expenditure in charitable funds during the cold season. This, of course, applies to our own local wants. The unsettled state of the financial and commercial circles in the United States, and the consequent depression of almost all kinds of industry, have forced a large number of persons to cross the lines in search of employment. We presume that the major part of the applications for assistance already made to the donating societies and police authorities of this and other Canadian cities and towns, come from a class of nomadic unfortunate, failing from the neighboring States. Comparatively few citizens of this country, possessed of the least self respect and in possession of ordinary health, need seek long for steady work, wherewith to provide means of subsistence and even comfort.

What we purposed calling the attention of the laboring classes to is this: When "business is brisk," to use a common expression, and every day brings in its additional resource, the future is not sufficiently calculated as an important consideration in Island shore safely, are trying their fortune with the schooner Star, at the Ducks.

SCIENTIFIC LECTURE.—We beg to call attention to the notice of a "second lecture," to be delivered by Rev. Mr. Steele, on a topic of all-engrossing interest at the present time. The public are invited to the Town Hall on Thursday evening 17th instant, at 8 o'clock.

THE STEAM ENGINE.—We refer our readers to the proceedings of the Town Council in another column for Mr. Mair's report on the case of the steam engine, so badly as the fire at Gibbard & Sons on Saturday evening last. The engine has been overhauled during the week, and Mr. Mair, after testing her, now reports her in good working order.

PATRONAGE.—The several Temperance organizations of the Dominion are going to ask His Excellency, Lord Dufferin, to become their patron, on the strength of the idea, now generally accepted that he is not only a temperance man himself, but a warm advocate of the cause.

XMAS ADVERTISING.—The approach of the holidays is stirring the merchants up to the wisdom of advertising their wares. If they are desirous of letting the people know what they have got for sale, advertising is a necessity. Those who do judicious advertising are unquestionably the most successful in business.

READINGS FOR THE POOR.—We are requested to announce that an entertainment consisting of readings, recitations, songs and music, will be given at the Town Hall, Nanapsee, on Wednesday evening, 23rd inst., the proceeds to be devoted to a dinner to the poor. The entertainment will be under the management of the Mayor, and a committee of citizens.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.—The anniversary services of the M. E. Church will be held on Sunday, 20th inst., when three sermons will be preached, as follows: At 10⁴ a. m. by Bishop Carman; at 2⁴ p. m. by Rev. S. G. Stone, and at 6⁴ p. m. by Rev. Eastman. Collections at each service in aid of building fund. Tea-Meeting on Tuesday evening in the basement of the church.

ADDRESS BY GOLDWIN SMITH.—We have received from the publisher a copy of an address delivered by Goldwin Smith at the dinner of the "National Club" held at Toronto on the 8th October last. From what we have read of it, it is indeed a master speech, full of loyalty and patriotism to our beloved country. Although an Englishman by birth, and but a short time a resident of Canada, there are few men amongst us take a greater interest in our welfare than he.

PRENTICE BOYS.—A new lodge of the above order was formed in Queensboro in the County of North Hastings a few days since, the following being a list of the officers:—

- W. M.—Jas. Howell.
- D. M.—Sanford Declair.
- Chap.—Chester Davy.
- Sec.—Thos. Thompson.
- Treas.—Frances Diamond.
- O. T.—Gideon Wilson.
- I. T.—Gilbert McCoy.
- F. of C.—Charles Sagar.

Committee.—William Wilson, George Davy, Frank Bradshaw, D. McCoy.

This makes the 5th new warrant granted within four months, speaking well for the growth of the Order.

telegram gives the following particulars of the Shannonville accident.—"On Friday evening a man named Thos. Smart, an Indian, from the Mohawk tract, was run over by the Grand Trunk cars, half a mile west of Tyendinaga station, and mangled and cut to pieces in a shocking manner. He had been engaged at some of the neighbors during the day killing hogs, and got intoxicated on his way home. It is supposed he lay down on the track and fell asleep. The remains were found yesterday morning by the section men, and put on the lorry, and taken to Tyendinaga station, where an inquest was held. A verdict of "Death by being run over by the Grand Trunk cars while under the influence of liquor" was returned. Deceased was about forty years of age.

ARMING FROM THE ASHES.—Scarcely had the ashes of their demolished shop grown cold, before Messrs Gibbard and Sons set to work to have the debris cleared away in order to at once commence work on a new building. It was a lively scene on Monday morning last to see their entire force of workmen—book-keepers, clerks, cabinet-makers, chair-makers and upholsters—all working with a will to accomplish an end so desirable to themselves and to the town as well. Already the masons are pretty well along with the foundation, and in a very short time the old shop will be replaced by a much larger and better one. In the meantime, all the men have been put to work, and those who are not engaged in the construction of the new workshop are at work for Messrs. Gibbard in Mr. Herring's foundry, that gentleman having kindly made room for a number of workmen. Although their insurance will not cover over one half their loss they are not going to bury their heads in the ashes, but will arise triumphant over the flames. Success to them, say we.

TOWN COUNCIL.

COUNCIL CHAMBER.
Nanapsee Dec. 7th, 1874.
The Council met; his worship the Mayor in the chair.
Present, Councillors Boyes, Cook, Dettlor, Dowling, Fennell, Hall, Huffman, James, Joy, Lane and Ross.
The minutes of last session were read and confirmed.

PETITIONS PRESENTED.
By Councillor Dowling and others praying that the plank walk on the east side of Richard St. may be extended to Bridge Street.

Moved by Mr. Dowling, seconded by Mr. Fennell, that it be referred to the street committee, with power to act.—Carried.

By Councillor Cook, from Wm. Grieves praying to be allowed to lay down building material near his lot, on the corner of Bridge and Centre Streets.

Moved by Dr. Cook, seconded by Mr. Joy, that the request on the usual conditions.—Carried.

By Councillor Joy, from James Graham, praying for remission of taxes.

Moved by Mr. Joy, seconded by Mr. James, that the prayer of the petition be granted.

In amendment by Mr. Dettlor, seconded by Dr. Cook, that he be allowed an extension of time to pay them the amendment was carried.

COMMUNICATIONS READ.
From Jacob Spence, Secretary of street committee, with power to act. One of Geo. Lett, to the same committee to report on.

One of Templeton & Beeman, to the printing committee with power to act.

Moved by Mr. Dettlor, seconded by Mr. Joy, that Templeton & Beeman's taxes on burnt building be remitted.—Carried.

An account of T. S. Carman, was referred to the printing committee with power to act.

One of Patrick Culhane, to the poor and sanitary committee with power to act.

One of Jas. Mesgher, to the street committee with power to act.

One of Ferguson Bros., was similarly referred.

Moved by Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Dowling, that Mrs. McKay, be allowed $3 per week, until 1st Jan. next.—Carried.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid.

- Joseph Mory, watching fire, $1;
- Mrs. Jas. Boyd, labor, $1.50; Wm. Perry, cartage, $1.26; R. S. Shipman, salary as bridge tender, $50;
- R. S. Shipman, repairs to bridge, $1;
- R. McKay, expenses in search of Booth, $1.50; Montreal Telegraph Co., messages about Booth, $23.73;
- T. S. Carman, printing, $17.63; J. Storms, constable etc., $14.30; Jas. McKay, searching for Booth, $9.15;
- Andrew Gould, horse hire, $5.15;
- H. B. Rathbun & Son, lumber, $—; 28; G. L. Mair, quarters salary, $37.50; Dr. Shirler, attending paupers, $10; A. F. Shorts, constable, $25.50; R. Easton, Treas., amounts paid, $11.

On motion the Council adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,
Town Clerk.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

SPECIAL SESSION.

On Tuesday 8th December, 1874. At 2 o'clock p.m., the Council met pursuant to notice from the County Clerk, to consider a by-law for borrowing money.

Present, all the members except Mr. Williams.

The Warden in the chair.

Mr. Booth with leave introduced a by-law which had been published for three months in the WEEKLY EXPRESS newspaper to provide for raising by way of loan upon debentures, the sum of $20,000, which was read and referred to a committee of the whole for a second reading, suspending the rule.

Mr. Booth in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The chairman reported that the by-law had been read a second time without amendment.

The report was received.

And upon motion of Mr. Booth, seconded by Mr. Huffman, the rules were suspended, and the by-law was read a third time, entitled by-law No. 58, and finally passed.

Upon motion the Council adjourned.

Tuesday 8th, Dec., 1874.

At 3:30 p.m., the Council met pursuant to adjournment, from June session.

All the members present, except Mr. Williams.

The Warden in the chair. The minutes of the last day of the who had that sent cc) will The po village import quent. It was person our las of men tions, b forward the ho that o part of nothin council up wit ings, a of each for the If it is of the rested cipality it is eq council tion for that th council salary THE 1 Torc Farm (at 10:3 chair: McKel of wita is to be meetin morain Tilson Rykert Henr Niagara that he the Cou find an for any Cattani himself get the Crooks, not eng and Frs Keily, v son ren would g dased, cheques Both ar forme, and Ryk ing wri W. R. I paid for the $43 don't kr had not out to R way bit and dei portion was end he retur er, and Rykert, getting away. Mr. C editors o ed on Sa persons Avenue,

At last kened to organized manage the r meeting resolved to y of young himself.
s made to number of filling to let them of Satur-up. There the dry meeting of 16, Orange ng officers year:

dwelling ld, blacks burned at and his rs of age caused by lamp: The er window er ld, and he is not ie mother
The house
ng money the family
e circum-
-Conwall

eman has thinking cause for a woman pavement er into a reporting
k and in precedent concluded ill, and infirmity.
ation, but ravated by revailing

ew York of a young a beard of Blackwell's because ion known ed there in to small y out of ital, there creature ie, and at employed this is a nineteenth

As was exjoyed by ers of the y evening composed the town, equant ap-y enjoyed consists of lemen, all was com-ans, serio

the Ontario Temperance and Prohibitory League, Toronto, enclosing forms of petition to Parliament, praying for total prohibition of the liquor traffic, and asking to have them signed on behalf of the council and forwarded.

Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the Mayor and Clerk sign them, and attach the corporated seal.—Carried.

From M. Bowell Belleville, offering to furnish copies of the act to prevent corrupt practices at municipal elections, for 50 cts. per dozen.

On motion the clerk was authorized to procure two dozen copies.

H. B. Rathbun and Son, Mill Point, offering for the benefit of the poor of the town, 100 cords of mill wood, free of charge at Mill Point.

Moved by Mr. Joy, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the clerk be instructed to answer the letter, accepting the kind offer, and to convey the best thanks of the Council for the same.
—Carried.

From George Paul and A. B.
Perry, arbitrators in the matter of land belonging to Mon. R. J. Cartwright, taken to widen the street, stating that they are unable to agree upon a third arbitrator.

Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Hall, that the Mayor take steps to have a third arbitrator appointed.—Carried.

From A. Dunbar, License Inspector, relating to infraction of the law by license hotel keepers.—Filed.

The finance committee asked further time to report on matters referred to them.—Granted.

The committee on printing brought in a report, recommending that T. B.
Carman, be paid the sum of $17.65,
in full of account.

Moved by Mr. Dettlor, seconded by Mr. Hall, that it be received and adopted.—Carried.

The Street Committee submitted their 16th pay list, amounting to $45, ordered to be paid.

Mr. G. L. Mair, the engineer was requested to address the council, and state the reasons that prevented the steam fire engine from working at the late fire. He stated that after making a careful investigation of the engine, he gave it as his opinion that the trouble was owing to the natural wear and tear of the valve spindles, and the sudden starting of the engine caused the discharge valves to be thrown out of their places. He stated this was purely accidental, and might occur at any time.

Moved by Mr. Boyes, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the Mayor and Reeve be added to the committee on fire water etc., for the purpose of engaging another engineer to reside on the premises.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the committee on fire, water etc., be instructed to hand over the hand engine to a company of young men, when formed, and approved of by the Council.—Carried.

Councillor Lane introduced a by-law for the appointment of returning officers, for holding the ensuing municipal elections, and fixing the places for holding the same, which was read a first time and referred to a committee of the whole. Mr.
Lane in the chair. The committee rose and the chairman reported, the by-law with blanks filled up as follows:—East Ward at Warner black

June session were read and approved.

The Warden laid before the Council a communication from Judge Wilkinson, in regard to a work just published on auditing accounts, also one from J. W. Langmuir, Esq., prison inspector, respecting salary of turnkey, which were read and referred to the finance committee.

A number of accounts were presented and referred.

The award of arbitrators in regard to school section No. 22, in the township of Camden was presented, read, and adopted.

The Council adjourned until 10
a.m., to-morrow.

ROBERT DENISON,
Warden.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

GIBBARD AND SON'S CABINET FACTORY DESTROYED.

The old adage that misfortunes never come single-handed has been again illustrated in this town,—this time by a fire more disastrous than the one of a few weeks since. Although the sum total of the loss may not be as great, it will be more felt, as more persons were interested in it.

Shortly after six o'clock on Saturday evening the alarm of fire was sounded, and soon after a lurid glare was observed in the atmosphere in the east end of the town, which proved to be the Cabinet Factory of Messrs. Gibbard & Son, where but a short time previous the sound of busy workmen might be heard; as some 30 or 40 men were employed. Before either of the engines arrived on the spot a large number of persons were engaged in trying to stay the fire, by throwing water on the flames, but all their efforts were fruitless, as the flames seemed to gain more rapidly on them.

When the engines arrived on the ground, and steam had been got up on steamer, it was found she would not work, and then the hand-engine was resorted to, but as the suction pipe would not operate on her, an army of workers at once spread themselves out, and by passing the water from hand to hand, succeeded in getting a stream on the fire, and perhaps saved the adjoining buildings of Messrs. Green and Son and John Herring, but did not accomplish anything in the way of saving the cabinet factory, as that was entirely demolished.

Great praise is certainly due to the hosts of persons of all classes who labored so assiduously to get the mastery of the flames.

Very fortunately, however, some of the most valuable machinery in the ruined building was got out before much damage had been done to it.

The Messrs. Gibbard's loss is about $5,000 on which there is an insurance
of $2500.

BATH CORRESPONDENT.

Tempore Mutatur. In the early days of Phrenology, it was quite fashionable for men to have their heads felt; now, every lady in the land must have their "Soft Crown Felt."

The Express, is always a welcome visitor to the people of Bath and vicinity, giving, as it does, the local news of the County. The authorities here consider it the leading paper in the County.

The quantity of Barley shipped from this port this fall is estimated at 5,000 bushels.

Business of all kind has been

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The most valuable prize—Enterprise.

These appetizing days the greediness of the year.

Soldiers put their best foot forward. That is right.

Like bogets like. A Roman punch for a Roman nose.

Visions of sleighing parties have for the present flown.

A man who is out of pocket may as well be out of town.

Hon. George Brown has gone to Washington.

Underzook was a total abstainer from intoxicating drinks and tobacco.

The Bank of Hamilton is about to establish an agency at Georgetown.

The nomination for Chamblay election is appointed for the 23rd inst.

Mr. Alex. Gaviller, of Bondhead, was yesterday chosen Reform candidate for South Simcoe.

Hereafter music and drawing will be taught in the Toronto public schools.

The man arrested some time back in Gualior, turns out not to be Nana Sahib.

Booth's Theatre was sold last week for $385,000 subject to mortgages for $270,000.

It is stated that Governor Kellogg is negotiating for the disposal of the whole of his property.

At a meeting at Chicago the Western Railways decided, on no consideration, to issue free passes.

There is one good thing about young ladies, they always do their prettiest.

A philosopher has discovered that men don't object to be overated except by assessors.

The Bishop of Montreal will again appeal to the House of Lords in the Guibord case.

The 3rd and Wallace Troupe are at present in St. Catharines, and meeting with great success.

The bona fide candidates for North Leeds, are H. D. Smith, Esq., Dr.
Ferguson and J. K. Weir.

W. M. Doran, received the nomination of the Reform Convention for Lanark, on Tuesday last, 1st inst.

The Hon. Edward Blake has consented to address the electors of South Norfolk at Victoria on Wednesday next.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Mayor of Peterboro, has accepted nomination of the Gifts for the West Riding of Peterboro for the Ontario Legislature.

Members of the New Brunswick Government now at Ottawa state that there is little or no opposition to the Reciprocity Treaty in that Province.

When Noah made the ark fast with a cable tow there was a tied in the affairs of men taken at the flood.

The United States Postmaster General has issued an order against letter-carriers asking gifts on New Year's Day.

On Sunday evening the house of the Rev. Mr. Rennelson, pastor of Knox Church at Hamilton, was unlawfully entered and silver and plated ware to the value of over $200 stolen.

The rate payers do not think a whit more of them for serving gratuously, and it is folly to suppose that a man is going to neglect his own business, to attend to the affairs of others, without some compensation therefor.

DIED.

At his residence, Colborne, on the 8th inst., after a long and painful sickness, Horatio Nelson Casey, son of the late Samuel Casey, Esq., of Adolphustown.

NAPANEE MARKETS.

Napanee, Dec. 11th, 1874.

Rye.....	0 65 @ 3 65
Barley.....	1 00 @ 1 60
Wheat.....	0 95 @ 1 05
Buckwheat.....	0 50 @ 0 50
Corn.....	0 70 @ 0 70
Peas.....	0 70 @ 0 70
Oats.....	0 35 @ 0 40
Onions per bush.....	1 00 @ 1 00
Flour, 100 lbs.....	2 50 @ 2 50
Mutton per lb.....	0 07 @ 0 08
Beef per cwt.....	5 00 @ 6 00
Eggs per doz.....	0 16 @ 0 18
Chickens per pair.....	0 20 @ 0 25
Geese.....	0 40 @ 0 50
Turkeys.....	0 60 @ 1 00
Butter per lb.....	0 22 @ 0 23
Cheese per lb.....	0 12 @ 0 13
Pork per cwt.....	8 00 @ 9 00
Lard per lb.....	0 12 @ 0 13
Hay per ton.....	10 00 @ 12 00
Straw per load.....	2 00 @ 2 50
Hides.....	6 00 @ 6 50
Potatoes per bush.....	0 40 @ 0 40
Calf Skins.....	0 40 @ 0 40
Tallow lb.....	0 05 @ 0 05
Lamb Skins.....	0 60 @ 1 00
Wool per lb.....	0 28 @ 0 27
Wood per cord.....	2 00 @ 3 50

BABAKFAST—EPPS'S-COCOA—GRATE-FUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavored beverage which may serve us many heavy doctors' bills."—British Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled,—JAMES EPPS & CO., HOMOEOPATHIC CHEMISTS, LONDON.

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Company, manufacturers of dietetic articles, at the works in the Euston Road, London.
Seca made in Cassell's Household Guide.

ELECTRICITY!—THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL!—WORTH TEN TIMES AS WRIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay
where it is used. It the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common cure throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures
Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents' worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical.
Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes, "I have used 6 dos. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and sold all I had from you and want more
now; its cures are truly wonderful." Wm.
Maguire, of Franklin, writes, "I have used
all the agent left, it acts like a charm,
it is slow at first but takes splendidly."
J. Cole, of Iowa, writes, "I have used dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, and I am nearly out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes

Blackwell's... accidental, and might occur at any time.

Moved by Mr. Boyes, seconded by Mr. Ross, that the Mayor and Reeve be added to the committee on fire water etc., for the purpose of engaging another engineer to reside on the premises.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. James, seconded by Mr. Lane, that the committee on fire, water etc., be instructed to hand over the hand engine to a company of young men, when formed, and approved of by the Council.—Carried.

Councillor Lane introduced a by-law for the appointment of returning officers, for holding the ensuing municipal elections, and fixing the places for holding the same, which was read a first time and referred to a committee of the whole. Mr. Lane in the chair. The committee rose and the chairman reported, the by-law with blanks filled up as follows:—East Ward at Warner block, C. B. Perry, returning officer, Centre Ward at the Town Hall, Paffin Embury, returning officer, West Ward at Bowen's building, James McKay, returning officer. The report was received and adopted. The by-law was then read a third time, numbered and passed.

much damage had been done to it. The Messrs. Giffard's loss is about $5,000 on which there is an insurance of $2500.

BATH CORRESPONDENT.

Tempore Mutatur. In the early days of Phenology, it was quite fashionable for men to have their heads felt; now, every lady in the land must have their "Scit Crown Felt."

The Express, is always a welcome visitor to the people of Bath and vicinity, giving, as it does, the local news of the County. The authorities here consider it the leading paper in the County.

The quantity of Barley shipped from this port this fall is estimated at 5,000 bushels.

Business of all kind has been good, and as all classes of people have come forward and paid their accounts, the merchants' prophecy a famine in court matters.

The municipal council of Bath, at their last sitting passed a by-law appropriating their share of the municipal loan fund grant, toward paying for the school house erected here some two years ago.

Every person here is quiet in reference to the forthcoming municipal election. It is expected that one will be held to fill the place vacated by councillor John White, who has removed to California and that the other members of the present council (if they can be induced to) will resume their seats for 1875. The position of councillor in this village, is not considered of much importance of late years, and consequently is not much sought after. It was with great difficulty that a person was found to act as reeve at our last election. We have plenty of men capable of filling these positions, but who, when asked to come forward and represent us, decline the honor, and the consequence is, that owing to want of energy on the part of these wise heads, there is nothing going on at present in the council but the clerks pay. He sits up with the councillors at their meetings, and not only draws the minutes of each session, but coolly draws pay for the same, while they get nothing. If it is right for the clerk, a citizen of the same place, and equally interested in the prosperity of the municipality, to receive pay for his services, it is equally just and right, that the councillors should receive compensation for theirs, and it is to be hoped that the first act of the incoming council will be to vote themselves a salary for their valuable services,

THE MODEL FARM COMMITTEE.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The Model Farm Committee met this morning at 10:30 and Bethune was appointed chairman. Hon. Cameron and Hon. McKeller prepared to draw up the list of witnesses required. M. C. Candler is to be notified to attend. The next meeting of the committee met this morning at 10. W. S. Law, of Tilsonburg, came down about the Tilsonburg bill, and found that Rykert was in favor of the bill. Henry M. Gillies, Secretary of the Niagara District Insurance Co., said that he had searched the books of the County thoroughly and didn't find any payments made to Rykert for any parliamentary work.

M. M. Doran, received the nomination of the Reform Convention for Lanark, on Tuesday last, 1st inst.

The Hon. Edward Blake has consented to address the electors of South Norfolk at Victoria on Wednesday next.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Mayor of Peterboro, has accepted nomination of the Gifts for the West Riding of Peterboro for the Ontario Legislature.

Members of the New Brunswick Government now at Ottawa state that there is little or no opposition to the Reciprocity Treaty in that Province.

When Noah made the ark fast with a cable tow there was a tie in the affairs of men taken at the flood.

The United States Postmaster General has issued an order against letter-carriers asking gifts on New Year's Day.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has decided that sending a dun to a man on a postal card is unlawful as well as saucy.

The amount of square timber of this year's cut remaining on the Ottawa and its tributaries is roughly estimated at two million feet.

The house in which the late Professor Agassiz was born, at Motier, in Switzerland, has had a memorial tablet placed before its front.

40,000 tons of steel rails for the Pacific Railway have been contracted for by the Public Works Department.

Barnum never publishes a full-length portrait because he wishes it to be understood that he is always a head.

The Pope has rechristened Prof. Tyndall. "Spirit Pirate" is the name he lavishes upon the man of science.

Advices from Cairo deny that the Port of Berbera, on the Gulf of Aden, was blockaded by Egyptian men-of-war.

It is reported that the difference between British Columbia and the Dominion has been arranged through Mr. Walker's visit to England.

Brigham Young's poor health is thus pleasantly alluded to by the Salt Lake Tribune: "Age and disease, aggravated by the reflections of an ill spent life have notified this bad old man that his sands have run the course of wickedness."

The New York Republic says: "Emigration from Germany is, we are told, likely to receive a considerable impetus from the recent regulations about the Landstrum, or the levee en masse on all males. Forced military service is always distasteful, and the thrifty Germans evidently prefer removing to where peace and plenty reign, even from the beloved Fatherland, where wars and rumors of wars are always threatening them. Two years ago very stringent measures were enforced to hinder emigration, and several of the steamship lines suffered materially from this cause. That Bismark will not permit the 'bone and sinew' to shirk their duty of following the drum and becoming food for powder is scarcely to be expected. With France a mouldering volcano, Denmark outraged, Austria and Hungary with rankling memories of Sadowa, and Russia jealous and very formidable, we are not surprised that the

works in the Euston Road, London, Seca wicle in Cassell's Household Guide

ELECTRICITY! THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL!—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old-standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents' worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes, "and me 6 does. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." Wm. Maguire, of Franklin, writes, "I have used all the agent left, it acts like a charm. It is slow at first but takes splendidly." J. Cole, of Iowa, writes, "I have purchased a dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and at such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "Send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller and Ross, Ulverton, P. Q., writes, "The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Ont., and Co., Buckingham, P. Q., writes, "Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well."

S. N. THOMAS Phelps, N. Y. And NORTHROP and LYMAN Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion. NOTE—Electric—Selected, and Electricised. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

New Restaurant

AND CONFECTIONERY STORE

Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block

The subscribers would announce to the citizens of Napanee, the surrounding country and the traveling community, that they have opened an establishment of the above description in town, and are prepared to furnish

Meals & Oysters at all hours

Oysters on hand by the can or sold quart.

They have been at considerable expense in fitting up the premises, and are satisfied that they have now a restaurant second to none in Central Canada.

Parties coming to market are requested to give them a call.

Ladies & Oyster Parlois up stairs.

Remember the place, Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

SHIRLEY DAVY

Nov. 15th, 1874.

Found at Last!

$50 Reward Offered

For any Washing Machine in the Dominion to equal the

DEWITT PATENT

STAR WASHING

A few Reasons why this is better than all other Machines.

1st. It will do any ordinary washing in one hour. 2nd. It saves all the time and expense required by all wooden washers, or hand rubbing as it washes and boils at the same time. 3rd. It washes the most delicate of fabrics of any material. Preserves Golden Goods, without the staining, wear or injury to the clothes. 4th. It will wash bed quilts in the neatest and simplest manner without bunching. 5th. There are no noxious or injurious mixtures used with this machine.

COUNCIL. L CHAMBER } 7th, 1874. } s worship the

New Restaurant

AND

CONFECTIONERY STORE

Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

The subscribers would announce to the citizens of Napanee, the surrounding country and the traveling community, that they have opened an establishment of the above described in town, and are prepared to furnish

Meals & Oysters at all hours

Oysters on hand by the can or sold quart.

They have been at considerable expense in fitting up the premises, and are satisfied that they have now a restaurant second to none in Central Canada.

Parties coming to market are requested to give them a call.

Ladies of Oyster Parlors up stairs.

Remember the place, Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

SHIRLEY DAVY

Nov. 15th, 1874.

Found at Last!

$50 Reward Offered

For any Washing Machine in the Dominion to equal the

DEWITT PATENT

STAR WASHING

A few Reasons why this is better than all other Machines.

1st. It will do any ordinary washing in one hour. 2nd. It saves all the time and expense required by all wooden washers, or hand rubbing as it washes and boils at the same time. 3rd. It washes the most delicate of the fine fabrics of any material. Preserves the color of the goods, without the slightest wear or injury to the clothes. 4th. It will wash bed quilts in the neatest and most sensible manner without bunching. 5th. There are no noxious or injurious mixtures used with this machine to rot or discolor the clothes. But on the contrary they remain clean and brilliant and do not require bleaching. 6th. It saves in a short time the wear and tear of clothes, fuel, water and labor sufficient to pay for itself. 7th. It makes no noise in the room, and therefore can be used in the Dining Room or Kitchen. 8th. And as for all reasons it does not wear the patience out of the women or wash days, for a child can use this washer. The work is soon done without any trouble, and the ladies remain cheerful and pleasant, with a smile to greet everyone.

DEWITT & CO.

Proprietors and Patent Agents at Napanee—GEORGE CONWAY; 5 ELDDN STORMS, Embury town.

This is to certify that Mr. GEORGE CONWAY has washed for us with the "Star Washer," which has given us the satisfaction, doing the washing much better, quicker and easier, than any machine we have ever tried.

We would respectfully recommend it to all persons wishing a Washing Machine of any kind, as the clothes require no rubbing in the board and will wash woolen goods as well as cotton.

Napanee, November 12th, 1874.
J. C. HUFFMAN, SON.
FRED. CHENNECK.
T. SYMINGTON.
MRS. C. B. PERRY.
J. C. CLAPP.
A. L. MORDEN.
CHARLES JAMES.
W. A. ROSE.

ment.

Barnum never publishes a full-length portrait because he wishes it to be understood that he is always a head.

The Pope has rechristened Prof. Tyndall. "Spirit Pirate" is the name he lavishes upon the man of science.

Advices from Cairo deny that the Port of Berbera, on the Gulf of Aden, was blockaded by Egyptian men-of-war.

It is reported that the difference between British Columbia and the Dominion has been arranged through Mr. Walker's visit to England.

Brigham Young's poor health is thus pleasantly alluded to by the Salt Lake Tribune: "Age and disease, aggravated by the reflections of an illspent life have notified this old man that his sands have run the course of wickedness."

The New York Republic says: "Emigration from Germany is, we are told, likely to receive a considerable impetus from the recent regulations about the Landstrum, or the levee en masse on all males. Forced military service is always distasteful, and the thrifty Germans evidently prefer removing to where peace and plenty reign, even from the beloved Fatherland, where wars and rumors of wars are always threatening them. Two years ago very stringent measures were enforced to hinder emigration, and several of the steamship lines suffered materially from this cause. That Bismark will not permit the 'bone and sinew' to shirk their duty of following the drum and becoming food for powder is scarcely to be expected. With France a mouldering volcano, Denmark outraged, Austria and Hungary with rankling memories of Sadowa, and Russia jealous and very formidable, we are inclined to think that the quiet emigrants will not be readily suffered to depart."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

There is nothing that can contribute so much to render the horse beautiful and elegant, to improve his condition and make him all that is desirable, as "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy," it has been used by many persons who own valuable carriage and other horses with decided success, and so well pleased are they with it that they always keep it on hand in case of emergency; it may be given at all times with perfect safety.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

After war, pestilence and intemperance—leads to the greatest destruction of human life, mainly, because it is considered by many to be of no consequence and hence systematically neglected, until a simple, curable disease, is converted into a fatal pulmonary one. Every one troubled with what is called a slight cold or cough, should immediately use "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers"—they allay irritation at once, and exert a most beneficial influence on all the Bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all Druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cts per box.

that the other members of the present council (if they can be induced to) will resume their seats for 1875. The position of councillor in this village, is not considered of much importance of late years, and consequently is not much sought after. It was with great difficulty that a person was found to act as reeve at our last election. We have plenty of men capable of filling these positions, but who, when asked to come forward and represent us, decline the honor, and the consequence is, that owing to want of energy on the part of these wise heads, there is nothing going on at present in the council but the clerks pay. He sits up with the councillors at their meetings, and not only draws the minutes of each session, but coolly draws pay for the same, while they get nothing. If it is right for the clerk, a citizen of the same place, and equally interested in the prosperity of the municipality, to receive pay for his services, it is equally just and right, that the councillors should receive compensation for theirs, and it is to be hoped that the first act of the incoming council will be to vote themselves a salary for their valuable services.

THE MODEL FARM COMMITTEE.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The Model Farm Committee met this morning at 10:30 and Bethune was appointed chairman. Hon. Cameron and Hon. McKeller prepared to draw up the list of witnesses required. M. C. Candler is to be notified to attend. The next meeting of the committee met this morning at 10. W. S. Law, of Tilsonburg, came down about the Tilsonburg bill, and found that Rykert was in favor of the bill. Henry M. Gillies, Secretary of the Niagara District Insurance Co., said that he had searched the books of the County thoroughly and didn't find any payments made to Rykert for any parliamentary work. A. J. Cattanch said that Kingsmill and himself were retained by Tilson to get the bill through the firm of Crooks, Kingsmill & Cattanch; did not engage Kingsmill and Cattanch, and Francis did the business. Geo. Kelly was recalled; he said that Tilson remarked to Rykert that he would give him $100 if the bill was passed. Joseph Price produced cheques for $1,000 and $2,430. Both are in E. Irving's favour. The former is countersigned by Irving and Rykert. McMaster and Carling were in Toronto looking for G. W. R. Legislation. The $2,000 was paid for newspaper influence, and the $430 sent to Carling, witness don't know how it was spent. There had not been any inducement held out to Rykert to support the Railway Bill. E. Irving was examined and denied having received any portion of the $2,480. The $1,000 was endorsed by him, but he thinks he returned the cheque to the cashier, and that he did not hand it to Rykert. Has no recollection of getting the cheque or giving it away.

Mr. George Hunter, one of the editors of the Scotsman, was murdered on Saturday evening by unknown persons on 13th street, near Fourth Avenue, New York.

committee to report on.

One of Templeton & Beaman, to the printing committee with power to act.

Moved by Mr. Detlor, seconded by Mr. Joy, that Templeton & Beaman's taxes on burnt building be remitted.—Carried.

An account of T. S. Carman, was referred to the printing committee with power to act.

One of Patrick Culhane, to the poor and sanitary committee with power to act.

One of Jas. Meagher, to the street committee with power to act.

One of Ferguson Bros., was similarly referred.

Moved by Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Dowling, that Mrs. McKay, be allowed $3 per week, until 1st Jan. next.—Carried.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid.

Joseph Mory, watching fire, $1; Mrs. Jas. Boyd, labor, $1.50; Wm. Perry, cartage, $1.26, R. S. Shipman, salary as bridge tender, $50; R. S. Shipman, repairs to bridge, $1; R. McKay, expense in search of Booth, $1.50; Montreal Telegraph Co., messages about Booth, $20.72; T. S. Carman, printing, $17.63; J. Storms, constable etc., $14.30; Jas. McKay, searching for Booth, $9.15; Andrew Gould, horse hire, $5.15; H. B. Rathbun & Son, lumber, $—; 28; G. L. Mair, quarters salary, $37.50; Dr. Shirley, attending paupers, $10; A. F. Shorts, constable, $2.50; R. Easton, Treas., amounts paid, $11.

On motion the Council adjourned at 10:10 p.m.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,
Town Clerk.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

SPECIAL SESSION.

On Tuesday 8th December, 1874. At 2 o'clock p.m., the Council met pursuant to notice from the County Clerk, to consider a by-law for borrowing money.

Present, all the members except Mr. Williams.

The Warden in the chair.

Mr. Booth with leave introduced a by-law which had been published for three months in the WEEKLY EXPRESS newspaper to provide for raising by way of loan upon debentures, the sum of $20,000, which was read and referred to a committee of the whole for a second reading, suspending the rule.

Mr. Booth in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The chairman reported that the by-law had been read a second time without amendment.

The report was received.

And upon motion of Mr. Booth, seconded by Mr. Huffman, the rules were suspended, and the by-law was read a third time, entitled by-law No. 58, and finally passed.

Upon motion the Council adjourned.

Tuesday 8th, Dec., 1874.

At 3:30 p.m., the Council met pursuant to adjournment, from June session.

All the members present, except Mr. Williams.

The Warden in the chair.

The minutes of the last day of the citizens:—an named from the or by the mile west l mangled shocking engaged at uring the ntotoxicated upposed he d fell as- ere found he section ory, and ion, where verdict of or by the nder the returned. years of —Scarcely ished shop rbbard and the debris- ence con- sulting. It y morning e of work- e, cabin- uthers, accomplish alive and ready the with the short time by a much he mean- n put to engaged new work- Gibbard at gentle- om for a ough their one half g to bury will arise Success

AMBER } 1874, } rship the es, Cook, all, Huff- d Ross. ion were

D. and others k on the y be ex-

seconded referred h power on Wm. llowed to near his idge and aded by on the James ssion of

aded by of the Detlor, he be to pay rried, etary of

New Restaurant

AND

CONFECTIONERY STORE

Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

The subscribers would announce to the citizens of Napanee, the surrounding country and the traveling community, that they have opened an establishment of the above description in town, and are prepared to furnish

Meals & Oysters at all hours.

Oysters on hand by the can or sold quart.

They have been at considerable expense in fitting up the premises, and are satisfied that they have now a restaurant second to none in Central Canada.

Parties coming to market are requested to give them a call.

Ladies' Oyster Parlors up stairs.

Remember the place, Hart's Old Stand, Mills' Block.

SHIRLEY DAVY

Nov. 15th, 1874.

Found at Last!

$50 Reward Offered

For any Washing Machine in the Dominion to equal the

DEWITT PATENT

STAR WASHER

A few Reasons why this is Superior to all other Machines.

1st. It will do any ordinary washing in one hour. 2nd. It saves all the time and expense required by all wooden washers, or hand rubbing as it washes and boils at the same time. 3rd. It will wash the most delicate of lace, fine fabrics of any material, Prunelle, Woolen Goods, without the slightest wear or injury to the clothes. 4th. It will wash bed quilts in the neatest possible manner without bunching the Cotton. 5th. There are no acids or injurious mixtures used with this machine to rot or discolor the clothes. But on the contrary they remain clean and brilliant and do not require bleaching. 6th. It saves in a short time the wear and tear of clothes, fuel, soap and labor sufficient to pay for itself. 7th. It makes no noise in the room and therefore can be used in the Drawing Room or Kitchen. 8th. And best of all reasons it does not wear the lig and patience out of the women on washing days, for a child can use this washer. The work is soon done without mess or trouble, and the ladies remain cheerful and pleasant, with a smile to greet everyone.

DEWITT & CO.

Proprietors and Patentees.
Agent at Napanee—GEORGE CONWAY; 5 ELDDN STORMS, Embertown.

This is to certify that Mr. George Conway has washed for us with the "Star Washer," which has given entire satisfaction, doing the washing much better, quicker and easier, than any machine we have ever tried.

We would respectfully recommend it to all persons wishing a Washing Machine of any kind, as the clothes require no rubbing in the board and will wash woolen goods as well as cotton.

Napanee, November 12th, 1874.

J. C. HUFFMAN, SON.
FRED. CHINNICK.
T. SYMINGTON.
MRS. C. B. PERRY.
J. C. CLAPP.
A. L. MORDEN.
CHARLES JAMES.
W. A. ROSE.

ment.

Barnum never publishes a full-length portrait because he wishes it to be understood that he is always a head.

The Pope has rechristened Prof. Tyndall. "Spirit Pirate" is the name he lavishes upon the man of science.

Advices from Cairo deny that the Port of Berbera, on the Gulf of Aden, was blockaded by Egyptian men-of-war.

It is reported that the difference between British Columbia and the Dominion has been arranged through Mr. Walker's visit to England.

Brigham Young's poor health is thus pleasantly alluded to by the Salt Lake Tribune: "Age and disease, aggravated by the reflections of an illspent life have notified this bad old man that his sands have run the course of wisdom."

The New York Republic says: "Emigration from Germany is, we are told, likely to receive a considerable impetus from the recent regulations about the Landstrum, or the levee en masse on all males. Forced military service is always distasteful, and the thrifty Germans evidently prefer removing to where peace and plenty reign, even from the beloved Fatherland, where wars and rumors of wars are always threatening them. Two years ago very stringent measures were enforced to hinder emigration, and several of the steamship lines suffered materially from this cause. That Bismark will not permit the 'bone and sinew' to shirk their duty of following the drum and becoming food for powder is scarcely to be expected. With France a mouldering volcano, Denmark outraged, Austria and Hungary with rankling memories of Sadowa, and Russia jealous and very formidable, we are inclined to think that the quiet emigrants will not be readily suffered to depart."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

There is nothing that can contribute so much to render the horse beautiful and elegant, to improve his condition and make him all that is desirable, as "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy," it has been used by many persons who own valuable carriage and other horses with decided success, and so well pleased are they with it that they always keep it on hand in case of emergency; it may be given at all times with perfect safety.—Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

After war, pestilence and intemperance—colds lead to the greatest destruction of human life, mainly, because it is considered by many to be of no consequence and hence systematically neglected, until a simple, curable disease, is converted into a fatal pulmonary one. Every one troubled with what is called a slight cold or cough, should immediately use "Bryan's Pulmonic Waters"—they allay irritation at once, and exert a most beneficial influence on all the Bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all Druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cts per box.

that the other members of the present council (if they can be induced to) will resume their seats for 1875. The position of councillor in this village, is not considered of much importance of late years, and consequently is not much sought after. It was with great difficulty that a person was found to act as reeve at our last election. We have plenty of men capable of filling these positions, but who, when asked to come forward and represent us, decline the honor, and the consequence is, that owing to want of energy on the part of these wise heads, there is nothing going on at present in the council but the clerks pay. He sits up with the councillors at their meetings, and not only draws the minutes of each session, but coolly draws pay for the same, while they get nothing. If it is right for the clerk, a citizen of the same place, and equally interested in the prosperity of the municipality, to receive pay for his services, it is equally just and right, that the councillors should receive compensation for theirs, and it is to be hoped that the first act of the incoming council will be to vote themselves a salary for their valuable services.

THE MODEL FARM COMMITTEE.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The Model Farm Committee met this morning at 10:30 and Bethune was appointed chairman. Hon. Cameron and Hon. McKeller prepared to draw up the list of witnesses required. M. C. Candler is to be notified to attend. The next meeting of the committee met this morning at 10. W. S. Law, of Tilsonburg, came down about the Tilsonburg bill, and found that Rykert was in favor of the bill. Henry M. Gillies, Secretary of the Niagara District Insurance Co., said that he had searched the books of the County thoroughly and didn't find any payments made to Rykert for any parliamentary work. A. J. Cattanch said that Kingsmill and himself were retained by Tilson to get the bill through the firm of Crooks, Kingsmill & Cattanch; did not engage Kingsmill and Cattanch, and Francis did the business. Geo. Kelly was recalled; he said that Tilson remarked to Rykert that he would give him $100 if the bill was passed. Joseph Price produced cheques for $1,000 and $2,430. Both are in E. Irving's favour. The former is countersigned by Irving and Rykert. McMaster and Carling were in Toronto looking for G. W. R. Legislation. The $2,000 was paid for newspaper influence, and the $430 sent to Carling, witness don't know how it was spent. There had not been any inducement held out to Rykert to support the Railway Bill. E. Irving was examined and denied having received any portion of the $2,480. The $1,000 was endorsed by him, but he thinks he returned the cheque to the cashier, and that he did not hand it to Rykert. Has no recollection of getting the cheque or giving it away.

Mr. George Hunter, one of the editors of the Scotsman, was murdered on Saturday evening by unknown persons on 13th street, near Fourth Avenue, New York.

committee to report on.

One of Templeton & Beaman, to the printing committee with power to act.

Moved by Mr. Detler, seconded by Mr. Joy, that Templeton & Beaman's taxes on burnt building be remitted.—Carried.

An account of T. S. Carman, was referred to the printing committee with power to act.

One of Patrick Culhane, to the poor and sanitary committee with power to act.

One of Jas. Meagher, to the street committee with power to act.

One of Ferguson Bros., was similarly referred.

Moved by Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Dowling, that Mrs. McKay, be allowed $3 per week, until 1st Jan. next.—Carried.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid.

Joseph Mory, watching fire, $1; Mrs. Jas. Boyd, labor, $1.50; Wm. Perry, cartage, $1.26, R. S. Shipman, salary as bridge tender, $50; R. S. Shipman, repairs to bridge, $1; B. McKay, expense in search of Booth, $1.50; Montreal Telegraph Co., messages about Booth, $22.72; T. S. Carman, printing, $17.63; J. Storms, constable etc., $14.30; Jas. McKay, searching for Booth, $9.15; Andrew Gould, horse hire, $5.15; H. B. Rathbun & Son, lumber, $—; $8; G. L. Mair, quarters salary, $37.50; Dr. Shirley, attending paupers, $10; A. F. Shorts, constable, $2.50; R. Easton, Treas., amounts paid, $11.

On motion the Council adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

W. R. CHAMBERLAIN,
Town Clerk.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

SPECIAL SESSION.

On Tuesday 8th December, 1874. At 2 o'clock p.m., the Council met pursuant to notice from the County Clerk, to consider a by-law for borrowing money.

Present, all the members except Mr. Williams.

The Warden in the chair.

Mr. Booth with leave introduced a by-law which had been published for three months in the WEEKLY EXPRESS newspaper to provide for raising by way of loan upon debentures, the sum of $20,000, which was read and referred to a committee of the whole for a second reading, suspending the rule.

Mr. Booth in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The chairman reported that the by-law had been read a second time without amendment.

The report was received.

And upon motion of Mr. Booth, seconded by Mr. Huffman, the rules were suspended, and the by-law was read a third time, entitled by-law No. 58, and finally passed.

Upon motion the Council adjourned.

Tuesday 8th, Dec., 1874.

At 3:30 p.m., the Council met pursuant to adjournment, from June session.

All the members present, except Mr. Williams.

The Warden in the chair.

The minutes of the last day of the

an named from the er by the
the mile west
l mangled shocking engaged at uring the ntoxicated upposed he d fell as ere found he section ory, and ion, where verdict of er by the nder the returned.
years of —Scarcely
ished shop rbbard and the debris once consoliding. It y morning
e of worke, cabin-ushers, accomplish elves and ready the with the short time by much the mean-n put to engaged new work-Gibbard
at gentle-om for a ough their one half g to bury will arise Success

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

NOTICE.

To the Electors of the Township of Camden and to all whom it may concern. Take notice that the nomination for Reeve, two Deputy Reeves, and two Councillors for the year A. D. 1875 will be held at the Town Hall in the Village of Centreville at noon on the last Monday in Dec. 1874.

PETER JOHNSTON, Tp. Clerk.
Camden, Dec 10th, 1874

CLOSE'S MILL

AN GRIND

Wheat & Feed

THE SAME DAY.

Buckwheat floured on Mondays.

J. A. CLOSE,
Big Creek.

Dec. 11, 1874. 41-21a

Scientific Lecture.

THE REV. H. D. SUEELE will (D.V.) deliver a SECOND LECTURE in the Town Hall, Napanee, on Thursday the 17th inst., at 8 o'clock, p. m., sharp. Subject: "Geologic discoveries in harmony with the Mesozoic cosmogony."

Admission, 25 cents.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

F. W. SMITH,

(Late of Spangenberg & Smith) is now showing the LARGEST & BEST STOCK OF

JEWELRY

Ever brought to Napanee, embracing

GOLD AND SILVER WATCHES, CHAINS, BROOCHES, EAR RINGS, FINGER RINGS, CHARMS, LOCKETS, etc.,

And all who are desirous of making a beautiful Christmas Present will do well to give him a call.

He has also the finest stock of

CLOCKS

Ever seen in Napanee.

Not repairing a specialty, and all work warranted, as none but experienced workmen are employed.

F. W. SMITH.

Dec. 11, 1874.

NOTICE.

ABOUT the 1st of June there came to the premises of the undersigned No. 2, 9th con. Camden, a Spotted Mulay Cow, brindle and white, and appears to be about 4 or 5 years of age; also a dark red two-year-old steer, with sharp pointed horns. The owner is requested to prove property, pay damages, and take them away.

W. C. ASSELSTINE.

For Sale or To Lot

OUTFITS Employment at your homes or travelling. FREE The work is congenial honorable, and pays the best of any thing ever before offered. Cash wages samples, and complete outfit sent free. Address at once, Clermont Daniels & Co 235 N tre Dame St., Montreal.

FILTERS

"PURE water is as necessary for health as good food and fresh air, consequently the importance of using pure water for drinking and cooking purposes cannot be over-estimated." DR. LA KESTER. Filters by two of the best English makers constantly on hand. F. ROUSE & Co. Belleville June, 11th, 1874.

New Grocery

AND

PROVISION STORE

R. IRVINE & Co

Will open out with a

NEW STOCK

OF

GROCERIES!

In the store lately occupied by

E. HOOPER & SONS

Next door to

The Tichborne House

ON SATURDAY NEXT.

SURROGATE COURT, COUNTY OF LENOX AND ADDINGTON.

Take notice that application will be made to William Henry Wilkison, Esquire, Judge of the Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington, on Saturday the Twenty-Sixth day of December next, at the said Judges Chambers at the Court House in the Town of Napanee, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, by the undersigned, Charles F. Russell and Joseph N. Russell, for letters of guardianship to William Kenneth Russell, Andrew Frederick Russell, and Nellie Elizabeth Augusta Russell, the infant children of Andrew Russell, late of the Township of Tyendinaga, in the said county, yeoman, deceased.

CHARLES F. RUSSELL.
JOSEPH N. RUSSELL.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
Solicitors for Applicants. 31a

Dated 1st Dec. 1874.

Farm and Hotel

FOR SALE

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot 24, 6th Con. Township of Camden

200 ACRES,

160 Acres Cleared and under good cultivation. Also a

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

BIG SHOW

ON

Saturday, Dec'r 12th, 1874,

AT

HENDERSON'S BOOKSTORE

HAVING purchased extensively in expectation of there being a large demand for fancy goods of all kinds during the coming holidays, I am now prepared to offer special inducements to purchasers in the following; and numerous other lines of goods:

WORK BOXES,

In wood and papier mache.

WRITING DESKS,

Various styles and sizes.

CHROMOS.

In rich gold frames.

UNFRAMED CHROMOS.

An endless variety of new and beautiful subjects.

MIRRORS.

Of all sizes, in handsome rosewood and gilt frames.

ALBUMS.

From 10c. to $10, bound in morocco, pearl, calf, etc.

FAMILY BIBLES.

Containing numerous illustrations, family record, etc., from $2.50 upwards.

Illuminated Crosses & Texts.

FLOUR VASES.

In glass, parian marble, and china.

OPERA GLASSES,

In morocco cases.

STEREOSCOPES,

From 80c. upwards.

Large variety of Stereo Views always on hand.

PURSES & POCKET BOOKS

Harness, Saddles, etc.,

The subscriber

J. A. HAWLEY

Would intimate to the public that he is manufacturing a class of goods in his line equal to any in the country, which he sells as cheap as the cheapest, giving a good article for the money.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES AND BE SATISFIED.

J. A. HAWLEY,

Shop East of the Brisco House, Main St., Napanee, Dec. 8 1874 40

FOUND.

ON the road near Greeve's Corner, A BAG OF FLOWER. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying for this advertisement on application to

HENRY WALRATH,
8th con., lot 22, Richmond.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCES OBTAINED from Courts of different States, for Norton, &c. No publicity required. sedne charge until divorce granted. Address M. HOUSE, Attorney, 194 Broadway.

Lots for Sale.

COMPOSED OF One and Half Lots, S.S. Isabella St., WITH THEIR DWELLINGS. ALSO LOTS C. & D. near MARKET SQ

The above properties will be sold

Cheap for CASH
P. EMBURY,
Agents

New steam Dye Works

The undersigned begs to inform the inhabitants of Napanee and vicinity that he has commenced business in

MADDENS BUILDING

WATER ST. NAPANEE,

where he will be prepared to execute all orders entrusted to him on short notice.

GENTS' CLOTHING

CLEANED AND DYED IN 48 HOURS TIME.

FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear.

AS GOOD AS NEW.

Come and see for yourselves.

CHARGES MODERATE.

J. MON. GOMERY.
Napanee, March 25th 1874

REMOVED.

S. T. CLEMENTS' DENTIST Rooms are now adjoining Fred Richardson's Photograph Gallery in the Grange Block, opposite his former Rooms, where he will be happy to attend to all who may favor him with a call. All accounts past due must be paid forthwith and oblige
S. T. CLEMENTS.
Napanee, Nov. 10, 1874.

DR. JULIUS H. ARNOLD,

THE PRUSSIAN

HUI

W

New

AT WE

AM

Are now r turers and footing wit bought for

One Car L

One Car L

One Car L

One Car L

5 Cal.

50 Boxes

100 Caddies

25 Caddies

200 Boxes

30,000 Cig.

GREEN

100 Half

20 T

BARGAIN

Chri

Ca

NEW L

Value

CANDLE

Sicily

CANNEL

Pears.

NEW C grain

SUGARS

rata S

SYRUPS

S

FRESH

G

WINE

and

Whiskies

FENNEL

Saled

We are

favorably w

Wholesale

CLOCKS

Ever seen in Napanee.

Repairing a specialty, and all work warranted, as none but experienced workmen are employed.

F. W. SMITH.

Dec. 11, 1874.

NOTION.

ABOUT the 1st of June there came to the premises of the undersigned, No. 2, 9th Con. Camden, a spotted Malay Cow, brindle and white, and appears to be about 4 or 5 years of age; also a dark red two-year-old steer, with sharp pointed horns. The owner is requested to prove property, pay damages, and take them away.
W. C. ASSELSTINE.

For Sale or To Let

The desirable Brick Dwelling situated on the corner of Graham and John sts., owned by T. S. CARMAN.

The house is one of the neatest and most substantially built in Napanee, is situated in the most beautiful part of the town, and has all the latest modern improvements, as well as a splendid garden, good outhouses, etc.

For terms apply to

T. S. CARMAN,
Belleville,

Or A. G. MORDEN, Napanee.

TO LET

FIVE DESIRABLE DWELLINGS
Apply to
ROBT. EASTON,
Market Square.

FOR SALE.

500 Bags Liverpool Salt, 200 barrels Scaforth Salt, 200 barrels Oshawa Flour, 200 sides Spanish Sole Leather, 100 barrels American Water Lime, 500 pairs Boots and Shoes, with a lot of Groceries, all of which will be sold at wholesale prices. Remember, the Oshawa Flour is superior to any in the Dominion, and in consequence of the demand I keep a supply.

WM. McMULLEN,
Dec. 9th, 1874. Centre Block.

LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING

in the Post Office 1st December:

Bain, A	Jaynes, Mrs
Balances, Miss Jane	Joyce, Mrs Mary
Balaban, Andrew	Leurey, Miss A F
Bentley, C	Lloyd, Miss Nancy
Bourman, Edwin	Mahoney, Miss C
Boner, Elmer	Martin, Miss Eliza
Booth, Mrs Wm	McHenry, Mrs H
Buckley, H	McNeil, D
Canfield, Miss Ellen	Ogden, Jas R. (2)
(2)	Parrie, Mrs Sarah
Charters, Mrs	Percy, Mrs E. J.
Miss H D	Phillips, Warner
Gennear, F	Phillips, Robt.
Ganger, P B	Perry, Miss Jana
Clancy, John	Pennock, Alfred
Cunningham Mrs A	Rosen, Mrs or Miss Sarah
Davidson, James	Robertson Esq.
Darling & Co, Robt	Ross S.
Eakne, Geo G	Shane, George
Embury, Thos	Sexsmith, Wm.
Finch, Lewis W	Spencer, James (2)
Fraser, Geo	Spence, H R
Fraser, C	Smith, Chas.
Fraser, David	Thomson, J.
Froeman, Chas	Thompson A
Francis, Mrs Lisbeth	Thompson Miss M
Fraser, Alex	Vanden Miss B
Gordon, Miss Mary	Vandulstine Miss I
Ann	Walker, Nelson
Haynes, Mrs Sus	Wakes, Mrs Eley
Hall, S. S.	Wheeler, Willie
Holome, A. J.	Young, Alonzo E
Hunter, Mary Church, Wm

Parties asking for any of the above will please be advertised.

town of Napanee, at Eleven o'clock in the forenoon, by the undersigned, Charles F. Russell and Joseph N. Russell, for letters of guardianship to William Kenneth Russell, Andrew Frederick Russell, and Nellie Elizabeth Augusta Russell, the infant children of Andrew Russell, late of the Township of Tyendinaga, in the said county, yeoman, deceased.

CHARLES F. RUSSELL,
JOSEPH N. RUSSELL,
CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
Solicitors for Applicants.
Dated 1st Dec. 1874. 5in

Farm and Hotel FOR SALE

THE subscriber offers for sale Lot 24, 6th Con. Township of Camden
200 ACRES,

160 Acres Cleared and under good cultivation. Also a

FIRST-CLASS HOTEL.

In the Village of Centreville, one of the best country stands in the counties.

The Farm and Hotel are together, and rented for $650 per annum and taxes. Will sell all together, or the hotel will be sold separately.

For particulars apply to M. Ryan, Centreville, or by letter to

JOHN WHELAN,

66 James Street, Toronto, Ont.
December 4th, 1874. 11

New GROCERY.

M. PARKS

Would announce to the people of Napanee and County that he has opened a

GENERAL GROCERY And Provision Store

One Door West of

WM. McMULLEN'S STORE,

Opposite the Post Office,

Where a Fresh Stock of Groceries and Provisions, and all articles found in a

General Store

May be had at

VERY LOW PRICES

My Motto is SMALL PROFITS AND QUICK RETURNS,

Call and see my goods and judge for yourselves.

M. PARKS.

December 4th, 1874.

REMOVAL.

F. W. FELSON HARNESS-MAKER,
MILL POINT.

Wishes to announce to the citizens of Mill Point and surrounding country, that he has

REMOVED HIS HARNESS-SHOP.

To the premises one door East of the store of Climie, Millner and Co., where he intends to manufacture and keep on hand a general stock of Harness, Whips, Curry-Combs, Brushes and everything in his line, of the best description, as cheap as can be obtained elsewhere.

CALL AND EXAMINE.

From 10c. to $10, bound in morocco, pearl, calf, etc.

FAMILY BIBLES,

Containing numerous illustrations, family record, etc., from $2.50 upwards.

Illuminated Crosses & Texts.

FLOUR VASES.

In glass, parian marble, and china.

OPERA GLASSES,

In morocco cases.

STEREOSCOPES,

From 80c. upwards.

Large variety of Stereo Views always on hand.

PURSES & POCKET BOOKS

The best variety in town to select from.

All of the principal poets in different bindings.

Stories of Travel and Adventure for boys.

Stories of Home Life, &c., for girls.

An endless variety of Children's Picture Books

at any price.

Jet and Plated Brooches.

Jet and Plated Earrings.

Jet and Plated Sets,

Jet and Plated Locketts.

Jet and Plated Necklets.

Jet and Plated Bracelets.

Back Combs—Horn, Jet, and

Tortoise Shell.

Ladies' Belts and Chatelains.

Childrens' Hand Sleighs from

30 cents.

Childrens' Toys, largest stock

in town.

Checker Boards and Men.

Chess Men,

Dominoes,

Nine Pins.

Carpet Balls,

Rocking Horses,

Mechanical Toys.

Dolls,

Trains,

Balls,

Violins,

(18 different styles to select from)

Guitars,

Accordeons,

Concertinas,

Flutes,

Fifes,

Flageolets,

Mouth Organs

Tin Trumpets,

Toy Furniture Sets,

Toy Bedroom Sets,

Magic Lanterns,

(three sizes)

Noah's Arks,

Cast Iron Savings Banks,

FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear.

AS GOOD AS NEW.

Come and see for yourselves.

CHARGES MODERATE.

J. MONAGOMERY.

Napnee, March 25th 1874.

REMOVED.

S. T. CLEMENTS' DENTIST Rooms are now adjoining Fred Richardson's Photograph Gallery in the Grange Block, opposite his former Rooms, where he will be happy to attend to all who may favor him with a call. All accounts past due must be paid forthwith and oblige

S. T. CLEMENTS.

Napnee, Nov. 10, 1874.

DR. JULIUS H. ARNOLD,

THE PRUSSIAN

OCULIST & AURIST

Will visit Napanee at the Campbell House the 1st December, and remain until the 8th. His operations are conducted on the most modern European plan, without the use of the knife, giving no pain, and warrant a speedy cure, no matter of how long standing diseases are.

Dr. A. gives special attention to deformities of the Spine, all cases of Falling of Womb, Ulceration or Leucorrhoea. Cures are permanent. His European credentials of 20 years' standing are open for inspection.

Those desiring to consult him will do well to call at once.

CONSULTATIONS FREE TO ALL.

INSOLVENT ACT of 1869.

In the matter of JOHN WESLEY SEYMITH and JOHN STEVENSON, insolvents.

I, the undersigned, William Fletcher Hall, of the Town of Napanee, have been appointed Assignee in this matter. Creditors are requested to file their claims before me within one month.

WILLIAM FLETCHER HALL,
Assignee.

Napanee, Nov. 26, 1874.

Money to Loan.

MESSRS SWILLIAMS & McHOOPER

Have been appointed Agents of the Western Canada Loan and Savings Society.

and will lend any amounts required at LOWER RATES than any Money Lenders in Napanee.

They invite an examination of their terms. No commission charged.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT,

Ottawa, Nov. 14, 1874.

Authorized discount on American Invoices until further notice, 9 per cent.

R. S. M. BOUCHETTE,
Commissioner.

Lots for Sale.

NOTICE.

UNDER and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated the 25th June, A. D. 1868, and made by the Rev. Robert Mark in favor of Samuel T. Hammond, and by Samuel T. Hammond assigned to one Nicholas Langman, and by virtue of an assignment of mortgage dated the 2d April, 1869, which mortgage and assignment thereof will be produced at the time of sale, when will be offered for sale by public auction, at White's Hotel, in the village of Tamworth, on

STEELE
CANNEL
Pears
NEW C SUGARS
TARA S
SYRUPS
FRESH C WINES
and Whiskies: I FINNAN
Sealed
We are favorably wi Wholesale

Iron

Incorporated

Application

Capital

Hon. JAMES
the Donat
J. M. CUR
City of O
Ed. McGIL of Ottawa

This Com
the valuable County of O Compar ing for other
"posing of
The prop
Mining Engi
the Univers
as follows:
1. SITE A Location co of timber la east of the acres near following at
1. The
2. The ad
pleton, con
3. The acres of tim 4. Ten ac er Gatineau
ing ground of Furnace a tramway very solidly
a short dist town-line b
In additi right of way River Gatine power, saw House; Off rick and oth
ed ore, and
The quan
inexhaustib may be est
ore. The ments con
Montreal.
The price in cash, and

FOR SALE.

500 Bags Liverpool Salt, 200 barrels Seaforth Salt, 200 barrels Oshawa Flour, 200 sides Spanish Sole Leather, 100 barrels American Water Lime, 500 pairs Boots and Shoes, with a lot of Groceries, all of which will be sold at wholesale prices. Remember, the Oshawa Flour is superior to any in the Dominion, and in consequence of the demand I keep a supply.

WM. McMULLEN,
Dec. 9th, 1874. Centre Block.

LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING
in the Post Office 1st December:

Bain, A	Jaynes, Mrs
Balance, Miss Jane Joyok	Mrs Mary
Bodhan, Andrew	Leurey, Miss A F
Bentley, C	Mayd, Miss Nancy
Bonaran, Edwin	Mahoney, Miss O
Boner, Elmer	Martin, Miss Eliza
Booth, Mrs Wm	McHenry, Mrs H
Buckley, H	McNeil, D
Campfield, Miss Eliza	Green Jao R. (2)
(2)	Parrie, Mrs Sarah
Charters, Mrs or Percy	Mrs E. J.
Miss H D	Phillips, Warner
Cennear, F	Phillips Robt.
Canger, P B	Perry Miss Jana
Clancy, John	Pennock Alfred
Cunningham Mrs Aron	Mrs or Miss
Davidson, James	Sarah
Darling & Co, Robt	Robertson Esq.
Eakins, Geo G	Ross S.
Embury, Thos	Shane George
Finch, Lewis W	Sexsmith Wm.
Festum, Geo	Spencer James (2)
Fraser, C	Spence H R
Fraser, David	Smith Chas.
Freeman, Chas	Thompson J.
Francis, Mrs Lissie	Thompson A
Fraser, Alex	Thompson Miss M
Gordon, Miss Mary	Vaiden Miss B
Ann	Vanalstine Miss I
Haynes, Mrs Sus	Vanalstine James
and	Walker Nelson
Hamil, S S	Wakes Mrs Eley
Holmes & Co	Wheeler Willie
Hunter, Mary	Young Alonzo E
Idul, S Wm

Parties asking for any of the above will please say advertised.

G. BOGART, Postmaster

FOR SALE

LOT No. 14 on the north side of Isabella street, Napanee. Apply to E. B. STONE, at the office of Messrs. Reeve & Morden.

$500 PER MONTH TO LIVE MEN. Send $5 for Agents' outfit, which will sell for $10 or money refunded.
A. D. CABLE,
568 Craig St., Montreal.

A First Class Life Insurance Company desire the service of active, pushing agents. Liberal terms.
Address, Box 471, P. O., OTTAWA.

DR. MOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unerring in the cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions and asphyctic cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES.
It is especially suited. It will, in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity. These Pills should not be taken by Females during the first three months of pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage, but at any other time, they are safe.

In all Cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.
DR. MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR.
$1.00 and 12 1/2 cents for postage, enclosed to Harthrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.
Sold in Napanee by R. and J. Perry, Grange & Bros, J. O. Hoffman, Dettor and Scott; and H. B. Rathbun and Son, Mill Point; Aylsworth and Hoffman, Tamworth; and all medicine pedlars.

M. PARKS

Would announce to the people of Napanee and County that he has opened a

GENERAL GROCERYAnd Provision Store

One Door West of

WM. McMULLEN'S STORE,

Opposite the Post Office,

Where a Fresh Stock of Groceries and Provisions, and all articles found in a

General Store

May be had at

VERY LOW PRICES

My Motto is SMALL PROFITS AND QUICK RETURNS,

Call and see my goods and judge for yourselves.

M. PARKS.

December 4th, 1874.

REMOVAL.

F. W. FELSON HARNESS-MAKER,
MILL POINT.

Wishes to announce to the citizens of Mill Point and surrounding country, that he has

REMOVED HIS HARNESS-SHOP.

To the premises one door East of the store of Climie, Millner and Co., where he intends to manufacture and keep on hand a general stock of Harness, Whips, Curry-Combs, Brushes and everything in his line, of the best description, as cheap as can be obtained elsewhere.

CALL AND EXAMINE.

F. W. FELSON.

Napanee, Oct. 3rd, 1874.

LOST.

The party who took a new Mink Collar, with tassels, (large size) from the dressing room Fern's Hotel on Friday night last, will obtain their own, and confer a favor by returning the one in their possession to C. L. RODGERS, Bath.

NOTICE.

I hereby give notice that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife Izzie Cole, as she has left my bed and board without any effort cause I also forbid any person harboring her, as I will not be responsible for her.
JAMES COLE.

FOUND.

BY J. S. GENGE, near Simon Wright's, a bag containing a broken jug and one quart of whisky, part of which was spilled on the road. Also, two parasols. The owner can have the same by applying to J. S. GENGE.

MANHOOD RESTORED

A victim of youthful imprudence, causing premature decay, nervous debility, etc., having tried in vain every known remedy, has found a simple self-cure, which he will send FREE to his fellow-sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, 78 Nassau Street, New York.

Jet and Plated Brooches.

Jet and Plated Earrings.

Jet and Plated Sets,

Jet and Plated Lockets.

Jet and Plated Necklets.

Jet and Plated Bracelets.

Back Combs—Horn, Jet, and

Tortoise Shell.

Ladies' Belts and Chatelains.

Childrens' Hand Sleighs from

30 cents.

Childrens' Toys, largest stock

in town.

Checker Boards and Men.

Chess Men,

Dominoes,

Nine Pins.

Carpet Balls,

Rocking Horses,

Mechanical Toys.

Dolls.

Drums,

Balls,

Violins,

(18 different styles to select from)

Guitars,

Accordeons,

Concertinas,

Flutes,

Fifes.

Flageolets,

Mouth Organs

Tin Trumpets,

Toy Furniture Sets,

Toy Bedroom Sets,

Magic Lanterns,

(three sizes)

Noah's Arks,

Cast Iron Savings

Banks,

And a great many other goods, an inspection of which, whether you purchase or not, is respectfully invited.

John Henderson,

BOOKSELLER,

Dundas Street, Napanee.

New annuals and New Volumes just received.

Bow Bells Almanac, 1874.

Little Folks, 1874.

Illustrated London Almanac, 1875.

Chatterbox, 1874.

Cassell's Almanac, 1875.

British Workman, 1874.

Rouledge's Every Boy's Annual, 1875.

Child's Own Magazine, 1874.

Books sent post-paid on receipt of price, from Henderson's Bookstore.

Dec. 12, 1874.

In the matter of JOHN WESLEY SEAR, insolvent.

I, the undersigned, William Fletcher Hall, of the Town of Napanee, have been appointed Assignee in this matter. Creditors are requested to file their claims before me within one month.

WILLIAM FLETCHER HALL, Assignee.

Napanee, Nov. 26, 1874.

Money to Loan.

MESSRS SWILLIAMS & HOOPER

Have been appointed Agents of the Western Canada Loan and Savings Society,

and will lend any amounts required at LOWER RATES than any Money Lenders in Napanee.

They invite an examination of their terms. No commission charged.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT,

Ottawa, Nov. 14, 1874.

Authorized discount on American Invoices until further notice, 9 per cent.

R. S. M. BOUCHETTE, Commissioner.

Lots for Sale.NOTICE.

UNDER and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated the 25th June, A. D. 1868, and made by the Rev. Robert Mark in favor of Samuel T. Hammond, and by Samuel T. Hammond assigned to one Nicholas Langman, and by virtue of an assignment of mortgage dated the 2d April, 1869, which mortgage and assignment thereof will be produced at the time of sale, when will be offered for sale by public auction, at White's Hotel, in the village of Tamworth, on Tuesday the eighth day of December, A. D. 1874, at one o'clock in the afternoon, two valuable village lots, being Nos. 31 and 32 west of concession road in said village of Tamworth, and being part of farm lot No. 5 in the 6th concession of the township of Sheffield, in the United Counties of Lennox and Addington, containing half an acre, more or less.

The terms will be made known at the time of sale, or can be learned by application to the vendor's solicitors. Dated at Orillia this 14th November, 1874.

JAMES S. ROBINSON, Vendor's Solicitors, Orillia.

Farm for Sale

SITUATED in second concession of Tyendinaga, lot 39, containing 100 acres, very extensive buildings, outhouses, &c., well fenced, well watered, with a never failing brook across the land; soil good; seven miles from Napanee, a little off the Belleville road; good neighborhood, near to a cheese factory. For particulars apply to the owner on the premises.

JOHN GERMAN, Napanee, Nov. 14, 1874.

NOTICE.

THE annual meeting of the Empey Hill Cheese Manufacturing Company will be held at the Factory on Thursday, December 3d, at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing officers and transacting general business.

DENNIS HURLY, Secretary.

Tyendinaga, Nov. 21, 1874.

City of Ottawa.
Ed. McGILLIVRAY
of Ottawa B

This Company the valuable property of Ottawa Company 1 ing for, in and other ore. The property Mining Engineers the University as follows:—

1. SITE and Location of timber land, east of the City acres near the following:—
1. The north of mineral land
2. The adjacent of timber land, comprising
3. The east of acres of timber
4. Ten acres of timber land, comprising ground for of Furnaces.

A tramway of 6 very solidly constructed short distance town-line between. In addition to right of way from River Gateau power, sawn timber, Office, brick and other ed ore, and 30.

The quantity inexhaustible, may be estimated. The full amounts can be Montreal.

The price to in cash, and the tion of which t all incumbrance.

And further prospects of the MINIMUM PAYMENT capital for security for the pany the whole may be through.

The capital v On application. On allotment. 15th January, 15th February, 15th March, 15th April

The above lts be allotted prospectus on application mond, Cassels.

WANTED.

40 Cent

For 50

GOOD C

DELIT

STEAM M

November 13th

TO LET

A DESIRABLE particulars appl

Harness, Saddles, etc.,

The subscriber

J. A. HAWLEY

Would intimate to the public that he is manufacturing a class of goods in his line equal to any in the country, which he sells as cheap as the cheapest, giving a good article for the money.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES AND BE SATISFIED.

J. A. HAWLEY,

Shop East of the Brisco House, Main St., Napanee, Dec. 3, 1874

FOUND.

ON the road near Greeve's Corner, a BAG OF FLOWER. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying for this advertisement on application to

HENRY WALRATH,
O-3in 8th con., lot 22, Richmond.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCES OBTAINED from Courts of different States, for Nortion, &c. No publicity required. sedne charge until divorce granted. Address M. HOUSE, Attorney, 194 Broadway.

Lots for Sale.

COMPOSED OF One and Half Lots, S.S. Isabella St., WITH THEIR DWELLINGS. ALSO LOTS C. & D. near MARKET SQ

The above properties will be sold Cheap for CASH P EMBURY, Agents

New Steam Dye Works

The undersigned begs to inform the inhabitants of Napanee and vicinity that he has commenced business in

MADDENS BUILDING

WATER ST. NAPANEE,

where he will be prepared to execute all orders entrusted to him on short notice.

GENTS' CLOTHING

CLEANED AND DYE'D IN 48 HOURS TIME.

FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear as

AS GOOD AS NEW.

Come and see for yourselves.

CHARGES MODERATE.

J. MONAGOMERY,
Nanee, March 25th

REMOVED.

S. T. CLEMENTS' DENTIST Rooms are now adjoining Fred Richardson's Photograph Gallery in the Grange Block, opposite his former Rooms, where he will be happy to attend to all who may favor him with a call. All accounts past due must be paid for with and oblige

S. T. CLEMENTS.
Nanee, Nov. 10, 1874.

DR. JULIUS H. ARNOLD,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HURRAH FOR CHRISTMAS.

W. R. McRAE & Co's

IS THE PLACE TO GET YOUR

New Fruits, Wines & Fine Groceries,

And all the Delicacies of the Season

WE SELL EVERYTHING THAT MAKES A FAMILY FEEL HAPPY.

Wishing our patrons and all the rest

A Merry Christmas & a Happy New Year.

W. R. McRAE & CO.

Are now receiving their FALL IMPORTATIONS direct from the manufacturers and place of growth, which enables them to put their customers on equal footing with those who buy in Montreal or elsewhere, as our goods are all bought for Cash.

ARRIVING.

One Car Load Whiskey.
One Car Load Sugar.
One Car Load Salt.
One Car Load of Syrup, in Barrels and 5 Gal. Kegs.
50 Boxes of 1 Prince of Wales Tobacco
100 Caddies Solace Tobacco.
25 Caddies Myrtle Leaf
200 Boxes Soap, various kinds.
30,000 Cigars, various brands.
Cases Hennessy Brandy.
Cases Martell Brandy.
Cases Otard Dupuy Brandy
Barrels Port Wine.
Barrels Sherry Wine.
Barrels Ginger Wine.
Barrels Old Tom Gin.
Cases Champaigne.
Cases Irish Porter.
Cases English Ales.

A SPECIALITY.

GREEN, BLACK AND JAPAN TEAS.

100 Half-Chests GREEN TEAS. 100 half-chests JAPAN TEAS.
100 half-chests BLACK TEA.
These Teas are Fresh, and will be sold in quantities at GREAT BARGAINS.

W. R. McRAE & CO.,

Grocers and Wine Merchants, Napanee, Belleville and Kingston

NOW IS THE TIME TO LAY IN YOUR Christmas and New Year GROCERIES.

Call at the China Tea Warehouse
COXALL & PAISLEY.

NEW Raisins, new Sultana Raisins, new Seedless Raisins, new Valencia Raisins, and new Currants.

CANDIED Lemon, Orange, and Citron Peels. New Torragaus Almonds, Sicily Filberts, new Walnuts.

CANNED FRUITS. Strawberries, Raspberries, Blackberries, Peaches, Pears, Pineapples, Corn, Peas, Tomatoes, Gooseberries.

NEW CROP TEAS. New Seasons. Green, Black, and Japan, in all grades. Teas a Speciality.

SUGARS. Bright Yellow Refined Sugar, Choice Cuba Sugar, Bright Demerara Sugar. Dry Crushed and Crushed A Sugars, and Ground do.

SYRUPS. Redpath's Best Golden and Amber Syrups, at COXALL & PAISLEY'S.

FRESH GROUND COFFEES and SPICES of all Descriptions.

WINES and LIQUORS. Gooderham and Worts' very old Family Proof and Old Rye, also Family Proof; Proof and Old Rye and Common Whiskies; Duff Gordon's Sherries; Hunt's and Sandeman's Port Wine. COXALL & PAISLEY.

FINNAN HADDIES, YARMOUTH BLOATERS and NO. 1 Salted Herrings.

We are determined to sell goods during the holidays at prices that will compare favorably with any house in the town.

WE KEEP FIRST-CLASS GOODS ONLY.
COXALL & PAISLEY.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers, Wine and Spirit Merchants, Dundas Street

1874 CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

HOOPER & SONS

WEST END PERRY BLOCK

FURS! FURS!

The subscribers have one of the Largest and Best Ladies' Furs in the trade, consisting of ALASKA MINK SETS at $4 $5

BEAUTIFUL GOODS

BRITISH ERMINE, $5 to $7 per set.

GREBE, $10 to $15 per set.

GERMAN AND CANADIAN

$10 to $75 per set.

SOUTH SEA SEAL $40 to

WOLF ROBES from

COON ROBES, and

BUFFALO ROBES.

Splendid Value.

CALL AND INSPECT PRICES AND

E. HOOPER

WELL

RECEIVED TO

SUGARS.

Bbls. bright Demerara Sugar. Bbls. Crushed Sugar. Bbls. extra ground Sugar. Bbls. Scotch

FRUIT

New layer and London layer Raisins. New Blue Sultana Raisins. New Currants. Candied Lemon Citrus Almonds, Filberts, and Walnuts.

CANNED FRUIT

Canned Strawberries, Raspberries, Peaches, Pears, English white and red Currants, Corn, Peas, Tomatoes.

CHINA AND GLASSWARE

50 china tea sets, various patterns, 100 pieces, moustach and more cups, children's tea sets, and crockery ever shown in this market.

WINES AND LIQUORS

Finest French Brandy, Old Jamaica Rum, Old Port Wine for medicinal purposes, Sherry, Strawberry, and Lemon Syrup, Ginger Wine, Family Proof Whisky, and the largest stock of draught, ever offered for sale in Napanee.

Cash buyers will find it to their advantage to inspect prices before purchasing elsewhere.

Nanee, Dec. 1st, 1874.

Agricultural Implements

THE MOXON & SONS

FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear.

AS GOOD AS NEW.
Come and see for yourselves.
CHARGES MODERATE.
J. MONAGOMERY.
Napanee, March 25th 1874.

REMOVED.
S. T. CLEMENTS' DENTIST
Rooms are now adjoining Fred Richardson's Photograph Gallery in the Grange Block, opposite his former Rooms, where he will be happy to attend to all who may favor him with a call. All accounts past due must be paid for with and oblige
S. T. CLEMENTS.
Napanee, Nov. 10, 1874.

DR. JULIUS H. ARNOLD,
THE PRUSSIAN
OCULIST & AURIST
Will visit Napanee at the Campbell House the 1st December, and remain until the 8th. His operations are conducted on the most modern European plan, without the use of the knife, giving no pain, and warrant a speedy cure, no matter of how long standing diseases are.
Dr. A. gives special attention to deformities of the Spine, all cases of Falling of Womb, Ulceration or Leucorrhoea. Cures are permanent. His European credentials of 20 years' standing are open for inspection.
Those desiring to consult him will do well to call at once.
CONSULTATIONS FREE TO ALL.

INSOLVENT ACT of 1869.
In the matter of JOHN WESLEY SEYMOUR and JOHN STEVENSON, insolvents.
I, the undersigned, William Fletcher Hall, of the Town of Napanee, have been appointed Assignee in this matter.
Creditors are requested to file their claims before me within one month.
WILLIAM FLETCHER HALL,
Assignee.
Napanee, Nov. 26, 1874.

Money to Loan.
MESSRS SWILLIAMS & MOOPER
Have been appointed Agents of the Western Canada Loan and Savings Society,
and will lend any amounts required at LOWER RATES than any Money Lenders in Napanee.
They invite an examination of their terms. No commission charged.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT,
Ottawa, Nov. 14, 1874.
Authorized discount on American Invoices until further notice, 9 per cent.
R. S. M. BOUCHETTE,
Commissioner.

Lots for Sale.
NOTICE.
UNDER and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated the 25th June, A. D. 1868, and made by the Rev. Robert Mark in favor of Samuel T. Hammond, and by Samuel T. Hammond assigned to one Nicholas Langman, and by virtue of an assignment of mortgage dated the 2d April, 1869, which mortgage and assignment thereof will be produced at the time of sale, when will be offered for sale by public auction, at White's Sicily Fiberts, new Walnuts.

CANNED FRUITS.—Strawberries, Raspberries, Blackberries, Peaches, Pears, Pineapples, Corn, Peas, Tomatoes, Gooseberries.
NEW CROP TEAS.—New Seasons. Green, Black, and Japan, in all grades. Teas a Specialty.
SUGARS.—Bright Yellow Refined Sugar, Choice Cuba Sugar, Bright Demerara Sugar, Dry Crushed and Crushed A Sugars, and Ground do.
SYRUPS.—Redpath's Best Golden and Amber Syrups, at COXALL & PAISLEY'S.
FRESH GROUND COFFEES and SPICES of all Descriptions.
WINES and LIQUORS.—Gooderham and Worts' very old Family Proof and Old Rye, also Family Proof; Proof and Old Rye and Common Whiskies; Duff Gordon's Sherries; Hunt's and Sandeman's Port Wine.
COXALL & PAISLEY.
FENNAN HADDIES, YARMOUTH BLOATERS and NO. 1 Scaled Herrings.
We are determined to sell goods during the holidays at prices that will compare favorably with any house in the town.
WE KEEP FIRST-CLASS GOODS ONLY.
COXALL & PAISLEY.
Wholesale and Retail Grocers, Wine and Spirit Merchants, Dundas Street

THE OTTAWA
Iron & Steel Manufacturing Co. (LIMITED)
HEAD OFFICE, OTTAWA
Incorporated under the special Act of the Province of Quebec No. 46, 3rd Session, 2nd Parliament, 37 Victoria, 1874.
Application will be made at the next Session of the Quebec Legislatured amend the Act in terms of this Prospectus.

Capital $500,000 in 20,000 Shares of $25 Each.
Provisional Directors.
Hon. JAMES SKEAD, Vice-President the Dominion Board of Trade.
J. M. CURRIER, Esq., M.P. for the City of Ottawa.
Ed. MCGILLIVRAY, Esq., Ex-Chairman of Ottawa Board of Trade.
R. S. CASSELS, Esq., President Union Forwarding Co.
H. V. NEEL, Esq., Manager Quebec Bank, Ottawa.
EDWARD HAYCOCK, Esq., Ottawa.
Bankers,
THE ONTARIO BANK.
Sollicitors,
pro tem.
MESSRS COBURN, WRIGHT AND CLEMOW.
Secretary,
pro tem.
R. W. CRUICE, ESQ.

This Company has been formed for the purposes of purchasing and working the valuable iron mines situated in the Townships of Templeton and Hull, in the County of Ottawa, and Province of Quebec, called the Haycock Iron Location.
Company holding the power under the Act to "carry on the business of extracting, for mining, smelting, manufacturing, dealing in and disposing of iron and other ores and metals, and the manufacturing, selling, dealing in, and disposing of steel workings, or the products of iron and steel."
The property to be acquired is fully described in the report of the Eminent Mining Engineer Dr. E. J. Chapman, Professor of Mineralogy and Geology in the University College, Toronto, (Vide prospectus) it may be briefly described as follows:—
1. SITE AND GENERAL CHARACTER OF THE PROPERTY.—The Haycock Iron Location comprises a compact area of 300 acres of mineral land, and 100 acres of timber land, situated in the Province of Quebec, about eight miles north-east of the City of Ottawa; together with an additional piece of land of 10 acres near the head of navigation on the River Gatineau, as described in the following statements:—
1. The north-half of Lot 1 in the 11th Range of Hull, comprising 100 acres of mineral land.
2. The adjoining lot 28 (north and south halves) of the 6th Range of Templeton, comprising 200 acres of mineral land.
3. The contiguous south-half of Lot 27 in the same Range, comprising 100 acres of timber land.
4. Ten acres in Lot 2 on the 6th Range of Hull, on the left bank of the River Gatineau, which has been secured partly to serve as a storing place and loading ground for shipping the ore, but chiefly as a convenient site for the erection of Furnaces. This area is connected with the mineral or iron area proper by a tramway of 6 1/2 miles in length. This tramway, of three feet gauge, has been very solidly constructed, and it is now in complete working order. It runs for a short distance through the Haycock property, and is then continued along the town-line between Hull and Templeton, on to the furnace-site on the Gatineau.
In addition to the 6 1/2 miles of tramway in complete running order, with full right of way from the orebeds to the furnace-site and shipping ground on the River Gatineau, the assets of the property include a Steam Sawmill, of 20 horse power, sawn timber and logs; a Boarding House; Manager's House; Store House; Office; Stables; Powder House, and Blacksmith's Shop. Also a Derrick and other mining plant, tools, etc.; together with about 5,000 tons of raised ore, and 30 tramway cars.
The quantity of the ore as described by Professor Chapman, is practically inexhaustible, it lies close to the surface and is easily mined, while its quality may be estimated from the fact that STEEL HAS BEEN MADE DIRECT FROM THE ORE. The fullest particulars of analyses and experiments proving these statements can be had at the Head Office of the Company, and at the Agents at Montreal.
The price to be paid for the purchase of the property is $250,000. One half prices before purchasing elsewhere.

JO

Napanee, Dec. 1st, 1874.

Agricultural Im
The NOXON BR
MANUFACTURING
MANUFACTURERS OF
The Standard Combined Mower and Reaper.
The Standard Single Reaper.
The Standard Light and
The Improved C...
The Dominion Grain Drill,
The Phillips' Spiral Corn Husker,
The Farmers' Favorite
The Noxon
The Improved Mowing Machine
Straw Cutters, Grain C
Corn Shellers, Iron C
We solicit orders for the above goods. Ever class in every respect. Parties requiring Mow will save money by giving us their orders at once.
Nov. 17, 1874.

BARLEY $1.00 PE
Our Motto The Lowest Reim
We are now prepared to for inspection t
ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND CANADIAN FA
INGS, TROWERING AND Ever shown in this County. We see now show those costly celebra
SHERBROOKE
Having bought our goods earlier in the season
the new and choice patterns offered to the tention to the selection of Patterns and Styles.
we have no hesitation in saying that our Stock
that of any former season, and we are determin which must meet with your approval and herewith give a list of some of our leading st
which are from the celebrated Sherbrooke and
KILLARNEY COATINGS, APPLETON
CHECKS, WEST END STRIPES, SIR J
MARKOCK COATINGS, PLAIN TW
MCKENZIE CHECKS, WEST END
TWEEDS, DIAGONAL COAT
CHECKS, RECIPROCITY STR
CORDES, HALIFAX
Remember, the above embrace the entire Dominion by any Mills. Our stock of Ang
Coatings and Trowerings, Melton, Chas
Doeskins, Beavers and Fancy Over plete for Fall Trade. Our clothing is Wedding outfit, gotten up in the best a specialty, and give them a discount of 10 or money refunded. Price as low as we can chasing elsewhere, and we know you can order. You will see beautiful goods, and rec our best thanks, ALL WOOL TWEED SU
SPENCER
Grange's N
Napanee, Oct. 30th, 1874.

nerocoo, FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear.

AS GOOD AS NEW.
Come and see for yourselves.
CHARGES MODERATE.
J. MONAGOMERY.
Napanee, March 25th 1874.

REMOVED.
S. T. CLEMENTS' DENTIST
S. Rooms are now adjoining Fred Richardson's Photograph Gallery in the Grange Block, opposite his former Rooms, where he will be happy to attend to all who may favor him with a call. All accounts past due must be paid forthwith and oblige
S. T. CLEMENTS.
Napanee, Nov. 10, 1874.

DR. JULIUS H. ARNOLD,
THE PRUSSIAN
OCULIST & AURIST
Will visit Napanee at the Campbell House the 1st December, and remain until the 8th. His operations are conducted on the most modern European plan, without the use of the knife, giving no pain, and warrant a speedy cure, no matter of how long standing diseases are.
Dr. A. gives special attention to deformities of the Spine, all cases of Falling of Womb, Ulceration or Leucorrhoea. Cures are permanent. His European credentials of 20 years' standing are open for inspection.
Those desiring to consult him will do well to call at once.
CONSULTATIONS FREE TO ALL.

INSOLVENT ACT of 1869.
In the matter of JOHN WESLEY SETON and JOHN STEVENSON, Insolvents.
I, the undersigned, William Fletcher Hall, of the Town of Napanee, have been appointed Assignee in this matter.
Creditors are requested to file their claims before me within one month.
WILLIAM FLETCHER HALL, Assignee.
Napanee, Nov. 26, 1874.

Money to Loan.
MESSRS WILLIAMS & MOOPER
Have been appointed Agents of the Western Canada Loan and Savings Society,
and will lend any amounts required at LOWER RATES than any Money Lenders in Napanee.
They invite an examination of their terms. No commission charged.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT,
Ottawa, Nov. 14, 1874.
Authorized discount on American Invoices until further notice, 9 per cent.
R. S. M. BOUCHETTE, Commissioner.

Lots for Sale.
NOTICE.
UNDER and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated the 25th June, A. D. 1868, and made by the Rev. Robert Mark in favor of Samuel T. Hammond, and by Samuel T. Hammond assigned to one Nicholas Langman, and by virtue of an assignment of mortgage dated the 2d April, 1869, which mortgage and assignment thereof will be produced at the time of sale, when will be offered for sale by public auction, at White's

C Specially selected, new Walnuts.
CANNED FRUITS.—Strawberries, Raspberries, Blackberries, Peaches, Pears, Pineapples, Corn, Peas, Tomatoes, Gooseberries.
NEW CROP TEAS.—New Seasons. Green, Black, and Japan, in all grades. Teas a Specialty.
SUGARS.—Bright Yellow Refined Sugar, Choice Cuba Sugar, Bright Demerara Sugar, Dry Crushed and Crushed A Sugars, and Ground do.
SYRUPS.—Redpath's Best Golden and Amber Syrups, at COXALL & PAISLEY'S.
FRESH GROUND COFFEES and SPICES of all Descriptions.
WINES and LIQUORS.—Gooderham and Worts' very old Family Proof and Old Rye, also Family Proof; Proof and Old Rye and Common Whiskies; Duff Gordon's Sherries; Hunt's and Sandeman's Port Wine.
COXALL & PAISLEY.
FINNAN HADDIES, YARMOUTH BLOATERS and NO. 1 Scaled Herrings.
We are determined to sell goods during the holidays at prices that will compare favorably with any house in the town.
WE KEEP FIRST-CLASS GOODS ONLY.
COXALL & PAISLEY.
Wholesale and Retail Grocers, Wine and Spirit Merchants, Dundas Street

THE OTTAWA
Iron & Steel Manufacturing Co. (LIMITED)
HEAD OFFICE, OTTAWA
Incorporated under the special Act of the Province of Quebec No. 46, 3rd Session, 2nd Parliament, 37 Victoria, 1874.
Application will be made at the next Session of the Quebec Legislatured amend the Act in terms of this Prospectus.
Capital $500,000 in 20,000 Shares of $25 Each.
Provisional Directors.
Hon. JAMES SKEAD, Vice-President the Dominion Board of Trade.
J. M. CARRER, Esq., M.P. for the City of Ottawa.
Ed. McGUIVERAY, Esq., Ex-Chairman of Ottawa Board of Trade.
R. S. CASSELLS, Esq., President Union Forwarding Co.
H. V. NOEL, Esq., Manager Quebec Bank, Ottawa.
EDWARD HAYCOCK, Esq., Ottawa.

Bankers,
THE ONTARIO BANK.
Sollicitors,
pro tem.
MESSRS. GURBURN, WRIGHT AND CLEMOW.
Secretary,
pro tem.
R. W. CRUICE, ESQ.
This Company has been organized for the purposes of purchasing and working the valuable iron mines situated in the Townships of Templeton and Hull, in the County of Ottawa, and Province of Quebec, called the Haycock Iron Location.
Company holding the power under the Act to "carry on the business of extracting, for mining, smelting, manufacturing, dealing in and disposing of iron and other ores and metals, and the manufacturing, selling, dealing in, and disposing of steel workings, or the products of iron and steel."
The property acquired is fully described in the report of the Eminent Mining Engineer, Dr. E. J. Chapman, Professor of Mineralogy and Geology in the University College, Toronto, (Vide prospectus) it may be briefly described as follows:—
1. SITE AND GENERAL CHARACTER OF THE PROPERTY.—The Haycock Iron Location comprises a compact area of 300 acres of mineral land, and 100 acres of timber land, situated in the Province of Quebec, about eight miles north-east of the City of Ottawa; together with an additional piece of land of 10 acres near the head of navigation or the River Gatineau, as described in the following statement:—
1. The north-half of Lot 1 in the 11th Range of Hull, comprising 100 acres of mineral land.
2. The adjoining lot 28 (north and south halves) of the 6th Range of Templeton, comprising 200 acres of mineral land.
3. The contiguous south-half of Lot 27 in the same Range, comprising 100 acres of timber land.
4. Ten acres on Lot 2 on the 6th Range of Hull, on the left bank of the River Gatineau, which has been secured partly to serve as a storing place and loading ground for shipping the ore, but chiefly as a convenient site for the erection of Furnaces. This area is connected with the mineral or iron area proper by a tramway of 6 1/2 miles in length. This tramway, of three feet gauge, has been very solidly constructed, and it is now in complete working order. It runs for a short distance through the Haycock property, and is then continued along the town-line between Hull and Templeton, on to the furnace-site on the Gatineau.
In addition to the 6 1/2 miles of tramway in complete running order, with full right of way from the orebeds to the furnace-site and shipping ground on the River Gatineau, the assets of the property include a Steam Sawmill, of 20 horse power, sawn timber and logs; a Boarding House; Manager's House; Store House; Office; Stables; Powder House, and Blacksmith's Shop. Also a Derrick and other mining plant, tools, etc.; together with about 5,000 tons of raised ore, and 30 tramway cars.
The quantity of the ore as described by Professor Chapman, is practically inexhaustible, it lies close to the surface and is easily mined, while its quality may be estimated from the fact that STEEL HAS BEEN MADE DIRECT FROM THE ORE. The fullest particulars of analyses and experiments proving these statements can be had at the Head Office of the Company, and at the Agents at Montreal.
The price to be paid for the purchase of the property is $250,000. One half

Urban buyers will find it to their advantage to purchase before purchasing elsewhere.

Napanee, Dec. 1st, 1874.

JOHN

Agricultural Implements
The NOXON BR
MANUFACTURING
MANUFACTURERS OF
The Standard Combined Mower and Reaper.
The Standard Single Reaper.
The Standard Light and
The Improved Combined Mower and Reaper.
The Dominion Grain Drill,
The Phillips' Spiral Corn Husker,
The Farmers' Favorite Corn Sheller,
The Noxon
The Improved Mowing Machine
Straw Cutters, Grain
Corn Shellers, Iron Jaws
We solicit orders for the above goods. Every class in every respect. Parties requiring Mowers will save money by giving us their orders at once.
Nov. 17, 1874.

BARLEY $1.00 PER BUSHEL
Our Motto The Lowest Remuneration
We are now prepared to receive orders for inspection of
ENGLISH, SCOTCH, AND CANADIAN FAIRBANKS, AND OTHERS.
Ever shown in this country. We now show those of the celebrated
SHERBROOKE
Having bought our goods earlier in the season the new and choice patterns offered to the attention to the selection of Patterns and Styles. We have no hesitation in saying that our Stock that of any former season, and we are determined which must meet with your approval and herewith give a list of some of our leading styles which are from the celebrated Sherbrooke and
KILLARNEY COATINGS, APPLETON CHECKS, WEST END STRIPES, SIR J. MARKOCK COATINGS, PLAIN TWEEDS, DIAGONAL COATINGS, CHECKS, RECIPROCIATION COATINGS, CORDS, HALLFAX
Remember, the above embrace the best of the Dominion by any Mills. Our coats are made of Coatings and Trowersings, Meltons, Doeskins, Beavers and Fancy Goods, complete for Fall Trade. Our clothing is all Wedding outfit, gotten up in the latest style, a specialty, and give them a dip, and if not money refunded. Price as low as we can chase elsewhere, and we know you can order. You will see beautiful goods, and our best thanks, ALL WOOL TWEEDS
SPENCER
Grange's
Napanee, Oct. 30th, 1874.

INSOLVENT ACT of 1869.

In the matter of JOHN WESLEY SEATH and JOHN STEVENSON, insolvents.
I, the undersigned, William Fletcher Hall, of the Town of Napanee, have been appointed Assignee in this matter.
Creditors are requested to file their claims before me within one month.
WILLIAM FLETCHER HALL, Assignee.
Napanee, Nov. 26, 1874.

Money to Loan.

MESSRS SWILLIAMS & MOOPER
Have been appointed Agents of the Western Canada Loan and Savings Society,
and will lend any amounts required at LOWER RATES than any Money Lenders in Napanee.
They invite an examination of their terms. No commission charged.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT,
Ottawa, Nov. 14, 1874.

Authorized discount on American Invoices until further notice, 9 per cent.
R. S. M. BOUCHETTE,
Commissioner.

Lots for Sale. NOTICE.

UNDER and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated the 25th June, A. D. 1868, and made by the Rev. Robert Mark in favor of Samuel T. Hammond, and by Samuel T. Hammond assigned to one Nicholas Langman, and by virtue of an assignment of mortgage dated the 2d April, 1869, which mortgage and assignment thereof will be produced at the time of sale, when will be offered for sale by public auction, at White's Hotel, in the village of Tannworth, on Tuesday the eighth day of December, A. D. 1874, at one o'clock in the afternoon, two valuable village lots, being Nos. 31 and 32 west of concession road in said village of Tannworth, and being part of farm lot No. 5 in the 6th concession of the township of Sheffield, in the United Counties of Lennox and Addington, containing half an acre, more or less.

The terms will be made known at the time of sale, or can be learned by application to the vendor's solicitors.

Dated at Orillia this 14th November, 1874.

JAMES S. ROBINSON,
Vendor's Solicitors,
Orillia.

Farm for Sale

SITUATED in second concession of Tyendinaga, lot 39, containing 100 acres, very extensive buildings, outhouses, &c., well fenced, well watered, with a never failing brook across the land; soil good; seven miles from Napanee, a little off the Belleville road; good neighborhood, near to a cheese factory. For particulars apply to the owner on the premises.

JO N GERMAN.
Napanee, Nov. 14, 1874.

NOTICE.

THE annual meeting of the Empey Hill Cheese Manufacturing Company will be held at the Factory on Thursday, December 3d, at one o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing officers and transacting general business.
DENNIS HURLY,
Secretary.
Tyendinaga, Nov. 21, 1874.

J. M. CURRIER, Esq., M.P. for the City of Ottawa.
Ed. McGILLIVRAY, Esq., Ex-Chairman of Ottawa Board of Trade.

H. V. NOEL, Esq., Manager Quebec Bank, Ottawa.
EDWARD HAYCOCK, Esq., Ottawa.

Bankers, THE ONTARIO BANK.

pro tem.
Messrs. BURN, WRIGHT AND CLEMOW.
Secretary.
pro tem.
R. W. CRUICE, ESQ.

This Company has been organized for the purpose of purchasing and working the valuable iron mines situated on the Townships of Templeton and Hull, in the County of Ottawa, and Province of Quebec, called the Haycock Iron Location.

Company holding the power under the Act to "carry on the business of exploring for, mining, smelting, manufacturing, dealing in and disposing of iron and other ores and metals, and the manufacturing, selling, dealing in, and disposing of steel workings, or the products of iron and steel."
The property acquired is fully described in the report of the Eminent Mining Engineer, Dr. J. Chapman, Professor of Mineralogy and Geology in the University College, Toronto. (Vide prospectus) it may be briefly described as follows:—

1. SITE AND GENERAL CHARACTER OF THE PROPERTY:—The Haycock Iron Location comprises a compact area of 300 acres of mineral land, and 100 acres of timber land, situated in the Province of Quebec, about eight miles north-east of the City of Ottawa, together with an additional piece of land of 10 acres near the head of navigation on the River Gatineau, as described in the following statement:—

1. The north-half of Lot 1 in the 11th Range of Hull, comprising 100 acres of mineral land.
2. The adjoining lot 28 (north and south halves) of the 6th Range of Templeton, comprising 200 acres of mineral land.
3. The contiguous south-half of Lot 27 in the same Range, comprising 100 acres of timber land.

4. Ten acres on Lot 2 on the 6th Range of Hull, on the left bank of the River Gatineau, which has been secured partly to serve as a storing place and loading ground for shipping the ore, but chiefly as a convenient site for the erection of Furnaces. This area is connected with the mineral or iron area proper by a tramway of 6½ miles in length. This tramway, of three feet gauge, has been very solidly constructed, and it is now in complete working order. It runs for a short distance through the Haycock property, and is then continued along the town-line between Hull and Templeton, on to the furnace-site on the Gatineau.

In addition to the 6½ miles of tramway in complete running order, with full right of way from the orebeds to the furnace-site and shipping ground on the River Gatineau, the assets of the property include a Steam Sawmill, of 20 horse power, sawn timber and logs; a Boarding House; Manager's House; Store House; Office; Stables; Powder House; and Blacksmith's Shop. Also a Derrick and other mining plant, tools, etc.; together with about 5,000 tons of raised ore, and 30 tramway cars.

The quantity of the ore as described by Professor Chapman, is practically, inexhaustible, it lies close to the surface and is easily mined, while its quality may be estimated from the fact that STEEL HAS BEEN MADE DIRECT FROM THE ORE. The fullest particulars of analyses and experiments proving these statements can be had at the Head Office of the Company, and at the Agents at Montreal.

The price to be paid for the purchase of the property is $250,000. One half in cash, and the balance in fully paid-up shares of the Company, in consideration of which the proprietor will make over the freehold of the estate free from all incumbrances whatsoever.

And further, as a proof of his bona fide, and his entire confidence in the prospects of the undertaking, HE WILL GUARANTEE TO THE SHAREHOLDERS A MINIMUM DIVIDEND OF NOT LESS THAN TEN PER CENT. PER ANNUM ON the paid-up capital FOR THREE YEARS from the date of the allotment of shares, and as security for the due payment thereof, he will deposit in the hands of the Company the whole of his paid-up shares, and give such further security in cash as may be thought necessary for the carrying out of his guarantee.

The capital will be called up as follows:—
On application.....$2 per share
On allotment.....3 " " " " " "
15th January, 1875.....5 " " " " " "
15th February, 1875.....2 " " " " " "
15th March.....2 " " " " " "
15th April.....2 " " " " " "
15th May, 1875.....$2 per share
15th June.....2 " " " " " "
15th July.....2 " " " " " "
15th August.....2 " " " " " "
15th Sept'r.....1 " " " " " "

The above lists will close on the 10th December, 1874, and as the shares will be allotted pro rata according to priority, an early application is desirable.

Prospectus and any further information relative to the Company, can be had on application to the Head Office or at the Montreal Agents, Messrs. Drummond, Cassels & Co.

WANTED. WANTED.

WILL PAY

40 Cents per Bushel
For 50,000 Bushels

GOOD CLEAN OAT

DELIVERED AT MY

STEAM MILLS, NAPANEE.
WILLIAM ROSS

November 13th, 1874.

TO LET

A DESIRABLE DWELLING.
particulars apply at this office.
T. S. CARMAN.

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP, NAPANEE.

STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order; also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.

Remember the place, opposite Hotel in Nelson's old stand.

NEW GOODS,

In Centre Block,

OPPOSITE THE CAMPBELL HOUSE.

I Wish to call the attention of the public that I have opened a New Shop in the Old Stand, where I intend to keep a Full Supply of Goods suited for the

We solicit orders for the above goods. Every class in every respect. Parties requiring More will save money by giving us their orders at once.

Nov. 17, 1874.

BARLEY $1.00 PER

Our Motto The Lowest Remuneration

We are now prepared to receive orders for inspection of

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND CANADIAN FALTINGS, BARNES, AND

Ever shown in this country. We now show those fully celebrated

SHERBROOKE

Having bought our goods earlier in the season, the new and choice patterns offered to the attention to the selection of Patterns and Styles. We have no hesitation in saying that our Stock that of any former season, and we are determined which must meet with your approval and herewith give a list of some of our leading styles which are from the celebrated Sherbrooke and

KILLARNEY COATINGS, APPLETON CHECKS, WEST END STRIPES, SIR J. MAROCK COATINGS, PLAIN TWEEDS, DIAGONAL COATINGS, MCKENZIE CHECKS, WEST END TWEEDS, RECIPROCAL COATINGS, CORDS, HALF-PANES

Remember, the above embrace the Dominion by any Mills. Our Stock of Coatings and Trowersings, Melton, Doeskins, Beavers and Fancy Goods, complete for Fall Trade. Our elegant Wedding outfit, gotten up in the latest style, a speciality, and give them a discount of 10 per cent. or money refunded. Price as low as we can chase elsewhere, and we know you cannot order. You will see beautiful goods, and our best thanks. ALL WOOL TWEED SUITS

SPENCER

Grange's

Napanee, Oct. 30th, 1874.

200 SETTS

New Furs. N

AT

Slaven & I

New Mantles,
New Dress Goods,
New Hats
Real H

JUST OPENED

At SLAVEN &

Come early in the morning to see our new fashions.

1874 CHRISTMAS PRESENTS. 1874

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

HOOPER & SONS.

WEST END PERRY BLOCK.

FURS! FURS! FURS!!!

The subscribers have one of the Largest and Best Assorted stocks of Ladies' Furs in the trade, consisting of ALASKA MINK SETS at $1, $5, and $7.

BEAUTIFUL GOODS
BRITISH ERMINE, $5 to $7 per set.
GREBE, $10 to $15 per set.
GERMAN AND CANADIAN MINK, $10 to $75 per set.
SOUTH SEA SEAL $10 to $60 per set.
WOLF ROBES from $25 to $30.
COON ROBES, from $20 to $25.
BUFFALO ROBES.

Splendid Value.

CALL AND INSPECT PRICES AND STOCK.

E. HOOPER & SONS,

West End Perry Block.

RECEIVED TO-DAY.

SUGARS.

Bbbs. bright Demerara Sugar. Bbbs. Crushed Sugar. Bbbs. Granulated Sugar.
Bbbs. extra ground Sugar. Bbbs. Sugar and Syrup.

FRUIT

New layer and London layer Raisins. New Crown Raisins. New Sultana Raisins. New Currants. Canned Lemon, Orange, and Orange Peel. Almonds, Filberts, and Walnuts.

CANNED FRUIT

Canned Strawberries, Raspberries, Peach, Apple, and Pear. English white and red Currants, Corn, Peas, and Beans.

CHINA AND GLASSWARE.

50 china tea sets, 1000 pieces of glassware, 1000 pieces of crockery, and 1000 pieces of earthenware.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

Finest French Brandy, Old Jamaica Rum, and very old Port Wine for medicinal purposes. Sherry, Strawberry, and Lemon Syrup, Ginger Wine, and Family Proof Whisky, and the largest stock of draught, ever offered for sale in Napanee.

Cash buyers will find it to their advantage to purchase before purchasing elsewhere.

Napanee, Dec. 1st, 1874.

JOHN HOOPER & SONS.

Agricultural Implements.

The NOXON BROS.

Dominion Cash Store.

WE HAVE NOW ON SALE FOR THE

Christmas Holidays

A Beautiful Stock

Of the following desirable goods, which we offer

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

200 pieces Fancy Dress Goods.
30 pieces Colored Dress Silks.
40 pieces Black do.
50 pieces Black Lustres and Alpacas from 20c
50 pieces Black and Col'd French Merinos 40c
10 pieces Black Paramattas and Cashmeres from 50c
400 prs. Ladies and Gents Kid Gloves, Alexandras and Josephines.
200 Ladies and Misses Clouds and Breakfast Shawls.
100 yards Mantle Velvets, extra value.
100 Square and Long Shawls from 50c.
75 pcs. Hemp, Wool, Tapestry, Braided and Stair Carpets.
300 yards American and English Floor Cloth.
300 pcs. Overcoatings, Black and Blue Broad, and Fancy Vestings.
200 Gents and Boys Fur Caps.
An immense stock of Shirts, Collars and Gents Furnings.
300 pairs Gents Cloth and Leather Gloves.
50 doz. Shirts, Drawers, Mafliers and Scarfs.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

MILLINERY!!

INCLUDING

200 Ladies and Misses Felt Hats,

THE VERY LATEST.

DRESS-MAKING in FULL OPERATION
And Satisfaction Guaranteed.

LADIES JACKETS MADE TO ORDER.

THE GREAT RUSH TO OUR

CLOTHING DEPARTMENT.

Continues. Call and inspect stock and leave your order.

We are disposing of the balance of our

BOOTS AND SHOES.

OUR LARGE STOCK of FURS is Rapunzy Fur, 100 250 Muffs, Ruffs, Collarets, Bows, Caps and
At Lower Prices than are offered in town.

REMEMBER we transact business on the CASH basis.
brand goods on our Customers. Let leave them to be paid for by cash.
TAILORING, DRESS MAKING, and MILLINERY,
A SPECIALITY.

A call solicited from Cash Buyers for the Holidays

1874 CHRISTMAS PRESENTS. 1874

HOOPER & SONS.

WEST END PERRY BLOCK.

FURS! FURS! FURS!!!

The subscribers have one of the Largest and Best Assorted stocks of Ladies' Furs in the trade, consisting of ALASKA MINK SETS at $4, $5, and $7.

BEAUTIFUL GOODS
BRITISH ERMINE, $5 to $7 per set.
GREBE, $10 to $15 per set.
GERMAN AND CANADIAN MINK, $10 to $75 per set.
SOUTH SEA SEAL $40 to $60 per set.
WOLF ROBES from $25 to $80.
COON ROBES, from $20 to $25.
BUFFALO ROBE.

Splendid Value.

CALL AND INSPECT PRICES AND STOCK.

E. HOOPER & SONS.

West End Perry Block.

RECEIVED TO-DAY.

SUGARS.

Bbils, bright Demerara Sugar. Bbils, Crushed Sugar. Bbils, Granulated Sugar.
Bbils, extra ground Sugar. Bbils, Scotch refined Sugar.

FRUIT.

New layer and London layer Raisins. New Blue crown Raisins. New Sultana Raisins. New Currants. Canned Lemon, Citron, and Orange Peel. Almonds, Filberts, and Walnuts.

CANNED FRUIT.

Canned Strawberry, Raspberries, Peaches, Pears, Plums, and Apples. English white and red Currants, Corn, Peas, and Beans.

CHINA AND GLASSWARE.

50 china tea sets, 100 patterns, 100 ironstone tea sets, china vases, monstach and more cups, children's tea sets, and the large stock of glassware and Crockery ever shown in this market.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

Finest French Brandy, Old Jamaica Rum, and very old Port Wine for medicinal purposes. Sherry, Raspberry, Strawberry, and Lemon Syrup, Ginger Wine, and Malaga, and Family Proof Whisky, and the largest stock of bottled Port, and on draught, ever offered for sale in Napanee.

Cash buyers will find it to their advantage to inspect our stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

Napanee, Dec. 1st, 1874.

JOHN HOOPER.

Agricultural Improvement Society.

The NOXON BUILDING.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

Dominion Cash Store.

WE HAVE NOW ON SALE FOR THE

Christmas Holidays

A Beautiful Stock

Of the following desirable goods, which we offer

AT THE LOWEST PRICES

200 pieces Fancy Dress Goods.
30 pieces Colored Dress Silks.
40 pieces Black do
50 pieces Black Lustres and Alpacas from 20c
50 pieces Black and Col'd French Merinos 40c.
10 pieces Black Paramattas and Cashmeres from 50c
400 prs. Ladies and Gents Kid Gloves, Alexandras and Josephines.
200 Ladies and Misses Clouds and Breakfast Shawls.
100 yards Mantle Velvets, extra value.
100 Square and Long Shawls from 50c.
75 pcs. Hemp, Wool, Tapestry, Brussels and Stair Carpets
300 yards American and English Floor Cloth.
300 pcs. Overcoatings, Black and Blue Broads, and Fancy Vestings.
200 Gents and Boys Fur Caps.
An immense stock of Shirts, Collars and Gents Furnings
300 pairs Gents Cloth and Leather Gloves.
50 doz. Shirts, Drawers, Mufflers and Scarfs.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

MILLINERY!!

INCLUDING

200 Ladies and Misses Felt Hats,

THE VERY LATEST.

DRESS-MAKING in FULL OPERATION
And Satisfaction Guaranteed.

LADIES JACKETS MADE TO ORDER.

THE GREAT RUSH TO OUR

CLOTHING DEPARTMENT!!

Continues. Call and inspect stock and leave your orders.

We are disposing of the balance of our

BOOTS AND SHOES. and offer our customers BARGAINS.

OUR LARGE STOCK of FURS is Rapidly Diminishing.
250 Muffs, Ruffs, Coloretts, Boas, Caps and Trimmings.
At Lower Prices than are offered in town.

REMEMBER we transact business on the CASH BASIS, and brand goods on our Customers, but leave them to be judged on their own merits.
TAILORING, DRESS MAKING, and MILLINERY,
A SPECIALITY.

A call solicited from Cash Buyers for the Holidays

Almonds, Cash buyers will find it to their advantage to purchase prices before purchasing elsewhere.
 Peaches,
 an, in, all ght Deme-
 lo.
 Y'S.
 nily Proof
 Common
 EY.
 1 NO. 1
 ll compare
 EY.
 las Street

JOHN N.
 Napanee, Dec. 1st, 1874.

Agricultural Implements
The NOXON BROS.
Co. MANUFACTURING CO. N.Y.
 MANUFACTURERS OF
 The Standard Combined Mower and Reaper
 The Standard Single Reaper
 The Standard Light and
 The Improved
 The Dominion Grain Drill,
 The Phillips' Spiral Corn Husker,
 The Farmers' Favorite
 The Noxon
 The Improved Mowing Machine
 Straw Cutters, Grain
 Corn Shellers, Iron Ja
 We solicit orders for the above goods. Every class in every respect. Parties requiring Mow will save money by giving us their orders at once.
 Nov. 17, 1874.

BARLEY $1.00 PER BUSHEL
 Our Motto - The Lowest Rate
 We are now prepared to receive orders for inspection of
 ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND CANADIAN FINEST, SWISS, AND Ever shown in this town. We now show those celebrated
SHERBROOKE
 Having bought our goods earlier in the season, we have the new and choice patterns offered to the attention to the selection of Patterns and Styles. we have no hesitation in saying that our Stock that of any former season, and we are determined which must meet with your approval and herewith give a list of some of our leading styles which are from the celebrated Sherbrooke and KILLARNEY COATINGS, APPLETON CHECKS, WEST END STRIPES, SIR J. MARROCK COATINGS, PLAIN TWEEDS, MCKENZIE CHECKS, WEST END TWEEDS, DIAGONAL COATINGS, CHECKS, RECIPROCITY STRIPES, CORSE, HALLFAX
 Remember, the above embrace the Dominion by any Mills. Our stock of Coatings and Trowserings, Melton, Doeskins, Beavers and Fancy Goods, complete for Fall Trade. Our clothing, Wedding outfit, gotten up in the most stylish a speciality, and give them a trial, and if not money refunded. Price as low as we can, chasing elsewhere, and we know you cannot order. You will see beautiful goods, and receive our best thanks, ALL WOOD TWEEDS
SPENCER
 Grange's
 Napanee, Oct. 30th, 1874.

DRESS-MAKING IN FULL OPERATION
 And Satisfaction Guaranteed.

LADIES JACKETS MADE TO ORDER.
 THE GREAT RUSH TO OUR CLOTHING DEPARTMENT!

Continues. Call and inspect stock and leave your order.
 We are disposing of the balance of our

BOOTS AND SHOES.
 OUR LAR E STOCK o FURS is Rapidly Diminishing.
 250 Muffs, Ruffs, Colloretts, Boas, Caps and Trappes.
 At Lower Prices than are offered in town.

REMEMBER we transact business on the CASH BASIS, brand goods on our Customers, but leave them to be judged on their own merits.
TAILORING, DRESS MAKING, and MILLINERY,
 A SPECIALITY.

A call solicited from Cash Buyers for the Holidays
A. C. DAVI & BRO.

Smith & Anderson
 Have pleasure in acknowledging the very liberal share of public patronage afforded them since their commencement in business in this town, would now call the attention of their numerous customers and public generally to their large and well assorted stock of Groceries, Provisions, Crockery and Glassware.

 The GROCERY DEPARTMENT will be found replete with all that can be required for family use in

SUGARS, TEAS, COFFEE, LOBSTER, CURRENTS, RAISINS, FILBERTS AND BRAZIL NUTS, S. S. ALMONDS, SUGAR CURED HAMS, SMOKED AND CURED BACON
Crockery and Stoneware Good and Cheap

With great inducements in Glassware, having imported direct from the Factory, thus effecting a saving for the benefit of their customers.

THE "GEM" FRUIT JAR
 the best in use, cheap as the cheapest, and examined by the public, and prices is respectfully solicited. Bring along your Butter and Eggs.
 Remember the Corner Store, Napanee Block.
SMITH & ANDERSON.
 Napanee, June 26th, 1874.

GOLDEN LION.

SWEENEY BRO'S

anager Quebec
q., Ottawa.

N.

g and working nd Hull, in the Iron Location. business of exposing of iron ing in, and dis-

of the Eminent and Geology in riefly described

Haycock Iron and 100 acres
it miles north-of land of 10
scribed in the

ising 100 acres

Range of Tem-comprising 100

unk of the Rivplace and load-for the erection area proper by gauge, has been
r. It runs for inned along the
a the Gafineau.
order, with full ground on the hill, of 20 horse
House; Store
Also a Der-
00 tons of rais

, is practically,
hile its quality
RECT FROM THE
ing these state-the Agents at

000. One half
r, in considera-estate free from nfidence in the AREHOLDERS A

UM on the paid-shares, and as ds of the Comurity in cash as
.

.... $2 per sha
.... 2 "
.... 2 "
.... 2 "
.... 1 "

the shares will is desirable.
any, can be had Messrs, Drum-

NE SHOP,
t.

and all kinds of order; also all repaired on the place, opposite old stand.

OODS, Block.

PBELL HOUSE.

attention of the opened a New where I intend of Goods suited

We solicit orders for the above goods. Ev class in every respect. Parties requiring Mow will save money by giving us their orders at once BO

Nov. 17, 1874.

BARLEY $1.00 PER BUSHEL

Our Method The Lowest Rate

We are now prepared to for inspection

ENGLISH, SCOTCH AND DOG BARK FAN
ING, S. ANDERSON AND

Ever shown in this We now show those celebrated

SHERBROOKE

Having bought our goods earlier in the se
the new and choice patterns offered to the tention to the selection of Patterns and Styles
we have no hesitation in saying that our Stock
that of any former season, and we are determin
which must meet with your approval and herewith give a list of some of our leading st
which are from the celebrated Sherbrooke and

KILLARNEY COATINGS, APPLETON
CHECKS, WEST END STRIPES, SIR J
MARLOCK COATINGS, PLAIN TW
MCKENZIE CHECKS, WEST END
TWEEDS, DIAGONAL COATIN
CHECKS, RECIPROCITY STRI
CORDS, HALLFAX

Remember, the above embrace the Dominion by any Mills. Our stock of Coatings and Trowerings, Melton Doeskins, Beavers and Fancy plete for Fall Trade. Our cloth Wedding outfit, gotten up in the a speciality, and give them a di or money refunded. Price as low chasing elsewhere, and we know order. You will see beautiful our best thanks. ALL WOOL TWEED SU

SPENCER

Napanea, Oct. 30th, 1874.

200 SETTS OF

New Furs. New Furs

AT

Slaven & In's

New Mantles,
New Dress Goods,
New Hats and Bonnets,
Real Hair Witches,

JUST OPENED

At SLAVEN & IN'S.

Come early in the morning, before the commences.

ed First st season

COAT-

ment of all

atience, ariety
eries
We
all of

FORM FIL-

in the worsted
and com-even a make instead,
where pur-us your ation and

street.

and Glassware,

The GROCERY DEPARTMENT will be found replete with all that can be required for family use in

SUGARS, TEAS, COFFEE,
CURRANTS RAISINS, LOBSTERS
S. S. ALMONDS, FILBERTS AND BRAZIL NUTS
SUGAR CURED HAMS SMOKED AND CURED BACON

Crockery and Stoneware Good and Cheap

With great inducements in Glassware, having imported direct from the Factory, thus effecting a saving for the benefit of their customers.

THE "GEM" FRUIT JAR

the best in use, cheap as the cheapest, examining the quality and prices is respectfully solicited. Bring your Butter and Eggs.
Remember the Corner Store, Remick Block.

SMITH & ANDERSON.

Napanea, June 26th, 1874.

GOLDEN LION.

SWEENEY BROS

We have much pleasure in stating that

OUR FALL STOCK IS NOW COMPLETE

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT,

—COMPRISING—

DRESS GOODS,

Woolens, Staples, Fancy Goods,

Mantles, Millinery, &c.

ALSO, A LARGE LOT OF

READY - MADE CLOTHING.

Of our own manufacture, which will be found

VERY STYLISH & DURABLE.

SWEENEY BROS.

HOLLOWAY'S Pills & Ointment

Every Man His Own Physician

THE GRAND principle that operates in these wonderful medicines is the power they possess in purifying the impure blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats; Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetters, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on each.

Price, 25cts., 50cts., and $1.00; great saving in buying large sizes.

METROPOLITAN MED. COPROP'HS.

6 Collyer Place N.Y.

J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,

WHOLESALE AGENTS, NEW YORK

Insolvent Act

OF 1869, AND AMENDMENTS.

IN THE MATTER OF

F. Lane & Bro.,

INSOLVENTS.

NOTICE is hereby given, that by virtue of the power vested in me as Assignee of the Estate and effects of the above-named Insolvents, (and with the approbation of the Judge of the County Court of the County of Lennox and Addington,) I shall offer for sale

By PUBLIC AUCTION

On the Premises in the Town of Napanee, on

SATURDAY the TWELFTH day of DECEMBER, A.D. 1874,

At the hour of Eleven O'Clock in the forenoon, all the estate, right, title and interest of the said Insolvents, and of either of them, and of myself as Assignee in this matter, in and to the following parcels of lands and tenements, that is to say: All and singular, that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Town of Napanee and County of Lennox and Addington, and being composed of all that part of Lot Number Twenty-One on the west side of West Street, and on the south side of Water Street, in the said Town of Napanee, lying south of a line drawn across said Lot Number Twenty-One, parallel to the southern limit of said Water Street and distant therefrom two hundred and eighty-seven and one-third lines.

Upon this land there is a frame plaster mill about 30 feet by 60 feet, two stories high; stone engine house; Stone Cooper Shop 36 feet by 48 feet, and office; (The Cooper Shop has a cement floor and is nearly fire proof.) There is also a Frame Barn and other out-buildings, all nearly new and in good order.

Sheriff's SALE! OF LANDS.

County of Lennox and Addington,
To Wit:

Will be sold at my office in the COURT HOUSE.
IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE

ON SATURDAY 26th DAY OF DECEMBER
A. D. 1874, at the hour of 12 O'Clock, noon, under and by virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias issued out of Her Majesty's County Court of the County of Frontenac, and to me directed, against the Lands and Tenements of SARAH AMEY STORR and THOMAS STORR,

At the suit of
JOHN JEWELL,

All the right, title and interest of the said Sarah Amey Storr and Thomas Storr in and to the North Forty Acres of the South-East quarter of Lot Number Twenty-nine in the Third Concession of the Township of Ernestown, and also all the estate, right, title and interest of the Defendants in and to Village Lot Number Thirteen in the Village of Odessa, on the south side of the Macadamized Road.

OLIVER THATFORD PRUYN, Sheriff, Per T. D. PRUYN, Dep. Sheriff.
Sheriff's Office, Napanee, 15th September, A.D. 1874.

Mortgage Sale!

Valuable Farm

UNDER and by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in a Mortgage from

Henry K. Perry and Wife

To ALEXANDER ANDERSON,

Dated 13th March A.D. 1873, and assigned by the said Alexander Anderson to the

MERCHANTS BANK of CANADA,

by assignment dated 24th February, A. D. 1874, there will be sold

BY AUCTION

AT THE

TOWN HALL in the TOWN OF NAPANEE, ON

Saturday Nov'r 21st

A. D. 1874, at Two O'Clock in the afternoon, by James Allen, Auctioneer, the Valuable Farm of the said Henry K. Perry, on which he now resides, being

The East half of Lot Number Twenty-Six

In the FOURTH CONCESSION of the TOWNSHIP OF FREDERICKSEURGH in the County of Lennox and Addington, containing

Ninety-five Acres

Carriage Making

HAVING disposed of my business in Napanee, and

MOVED TO SHANNONVILLE,

I would most respectfully inform the inhabitants of this place, and surrounding country, that with my increased facilities for doing business, having erected large and commodious workshops, and with a large staff of

Experienced Workmen

Both in the Wood and Blacksmith Departments, I am now prepared to execute, on the SHORTEST POSSIBLE NOTICE.

BUGGIES.

CARRIAGES.

PHEIGNS.

SLEIGHS.

CUTTERS.

LUMBER WAGGONS.

SPRING WAGGONS.

LUMBER SLEIGHS.

&c., &c.,

At Prices that will Defy

Competition

A full supply of the above kept constantly on hand and for sale, made in the latest styles.

Horse Shoeing and Jobbing

DONE ON THE PREMISES.

Call before going elsewhere.

HENRY LANXON,

SHANNONVILLE.

PSYCHOMANCY

OR

SOUL CHARMING.

How either sex may fascinate and gain the love and affections of any person they choose, instantly. This simple mental acquirement all can possess; free, by mail, for 25 cents, together with a Marriage Guide, Egyptian Oracle, Dreams, Hints to Ladies, etc. A new, exciting book, 100,000 sold. Address T. WILLIAM and CO., North Eight St., Philadelphia Pa.

J. Gibbard & Son.

HAS New Patterns,

STYLES

AND FINISH

IN

Furniture.

LARGE STOCK OF,

CHILDREN'S

CARRIAGES.

Come with your Cash and

Ice Cream Rooms

Having thoroughly fitted up the above Rooms we are prepared to furnish as delicious a

DISH OF ICE CREAM

as can be had in the Dominion.

COME AND TRY IT.

We have also put in a new

SODA FOUNTAIN

out of which we draw the most delightful drinks of the Season, as Cold as Ice. The following are some of the flavors;

Nectar, Lemon

Pine Apple, Strawberry

Vanilla, Cream,

Coffee, and Sarsaparilla.

COME AND TRY IT.

N.B.—Evening Parties furnished with Ice Cream.

We have commenced the Delivery of Ice,

SEND IN YOUR ORDERS.

REMEMBER THE PLACE,

W. H. Bruton's,

Flour & Feed Store

A N DIAMOND

PROPRIETOR of the BIG MILL,

BEGS leave to intimate to the gen eral public that he has leased for a term of years the CORNER STORE n

Blewett's Block,

ON THE

MARKET SQUARE

where he intends keeping a full stock of

FLOUR,

CORN MEAL,

BUCKWHET FLOUR

PASTRY FLOUR,

And, in short every article found

First-Class

Flour and Feed Store

All orders delivered if desired.

MR. BLEWETT will be found at the store to wait on customers.

Prices Lower

THAN ANY PLACE IN TOWN.

Please give us a call.

A. N. DIAMOND.

Napanee, October 9th, 1874

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agts

Wanted! All classes

of working people, of either sex, young

or old, make more money at work for us

in their spare moments, or all the time,

than at anything else. Particulars free.

Post card to States costs but two cents.

Address C. STIMPSON and CO. Port

On the Premises in the Town of Napanee, on SATURDAY the TWELFTH day of DECEMBER, A.D. 1874,

At the hour of Eleven O'Clock in the forenoon, all the estate, right, title and interest of the said Insolvents, and of either of them, and of myself as Assignee in this matter, in and to the following parcels of lands and tenements, that is to say: All and singular, that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Town of Napanee and County of Lennox and Addington, and being composed of all that part of Lot Number Twenty-One on the west side of West Street, and on the south side of Water Street in the said Town of Napanee, lying south of a line drawn across said Lot Number Twenty-One, parallel to the southern limit of said Water Street and distant therefrom two hundred and eighty-seven and one-third lines.

Upon this land there is a frame plaster mill about 30 feet by 60 feet, two stories high; stone engine house; Stone Cooper Shop 36 feet by 48 feet, and 1 office. (The Cooper Shop has a cement floor and is nearly fire proof.) There is also a Frame Barn and other out-buildings, all nearly new and in good repair. In the engine house there is a large engine of 30 horse power. The plaster mill, engine room and cooper shop are all in good repair, and situated on the north bank of the Napanee River. A good wharf has been erected on the premises, where the largest vessels navigating the Napanee River may stop.

I will also sell at the same time and place, one span of Horses, 1 set of Double Harness, 1 Lumber Waggon, 1 pair Bob Sleighs, 1 Coal Stove and Pipes, 1 Safe, 1 Fire Extinguisher, 1 Letter Press, a lot of Ash Stave Bolts, Elm Lumber, Basswood Stave Bolts, a lot of Heading, Staves and Hoops, Coal, Charcoal, the steamer Ivanhoe, empty Barrels, 1 Shingle Machine, Butter Firkins, and a lot of Water Buckets, together with a lot of Excelsior Rope, Tallow, Lard and Olive Oil, Sal Soda, Whew Grease, Wagon Grease, Black Lead, Chairs, Tables and Writing Desks. Also several boxes of Star Lubricator, Bees-wax, Foundry Facings, Tallow, Tar, Plumbago Packing, Italian Hemp, Sheet Rubber, 1 Buggy and 1 Cart, besides a number of other articles too numerous to mention. The whole of which has been valued at Twenty Thousand Dollars.

All of which property can be seen, with the inventory thereof, by inquiring of the undersigned at the law office of Williams & Hooper in the Town of Napanee.

The whole of above property, both real and personal, will be sold en bloc to the highest bidder, (with the exception of a lot of water-lime held by the Merchants Bank of Canada,) on the terms following, viz: Twenty per cent. of the price must be paid in Cash at the time of the sale, and the balance to be paid in 3, 6, 9 and 12 months, upon furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Inspectors and Assignee.

The Assignee reserves to himself one bid upon the property. The Plaster Mill and Cooper Shop are sufficiently large and well built to be used as a flour mill, foundry or machine shops. This is one of the most valuable properties in the Town of Napanee. All persons wishing to invest cannot do better than to examine the property herein advertised.

For further particulars apply to
W. S. WILLIAMS,
Assignee.
Napanee, Ontario, November 2, 74.

NOTICE.

The said senior having bought out
SOL. & MARTIN

MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA,
by assignment dated 24th February,
A. D. 1874, there will be sold

BY AUCTION

AT THE

TOWN HALL in the TOWN OF NAPANEE, ON

Saturday Nov'r 21st

A. D. 1874, at Two O'Clock in the afternoon, by James Allen, Auctioneer, the Valuable Farm of the said Henry K. Perry, on which he now resides, being

The East half of Lot Number Twenty-Six

In the FOURTH CONCESSION of the TOWNSHIP OF FREDERICKSEURGH in the County of Lennox and Addington, containing

Ninety-five Acres

F. W. SMITH,

Late of the firm of

SPANGENBERG & SMITH.

HAS THE Largest & Best stock

OF

Clocks, watches,
JEWELRY,

AND PLATED WARE!

Evershown in Napanee.

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,
REPAIRED ON SHORT NOTICE,
and Warranted.

Give him a call before purchasing elsewhere.

NOTE THE PLACE,

Grange's Block,

West door next Standard office.

F. W. SMITH.

Oct. 16th, 1874. of

NOTICE

—TO—

MARINER

NOTICE is hereby given that on the 5th of November next.

THE LIGHT AT LONG POINT ON NORTH FORELAND,

Lake Erie, will be changed from a Fixed White to a Revolving White Light, with two faces, making a complete revolution in two minutes, and showing a Flash every minute.

WM. SMITH.

New Patterns, STYLES AND FINISH

IN

Furniture.

LARGE STOCK OF,

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

Come with your Cash and

Get Bargains,

Particular attention to

Funerals !

In our usual Superior Style

J. GIBBARD & SON.

Napanee, Feb. 13th 1874.

A VERDICT

FROM THE PEOPLE.

HAVING had an experience of over two years in one of the largest repacking Tea Houses in England,

I GUARANTEE TO KEEP THE

Best Teas in the Market

AND ALL OTHER GOODS

What! Represent them

CASH PAID

FOR

Butter, Eggs, Lard

Please don't forget the place, opposite DOWNEY'S STORE.

W. M. RANKINS,

Dundas Street.

Napanee, Nov. 13th 1873

Corn. Corn. Corn.

NOTICE

To Farmers & Miners.

THE subscriber is receiving direct from Chicago, ex-schooner D. A.
Wells,

And, in short every article found
First-Class

Flour and Feed Store

All orders delivered if desired.

MR. BLEWETT will be found at the store to wait on customers.

Prices Lower

THAN ANY PLACE IN TOWN.

Please give us a call.

A. N. DIAMOND.

Napanee, October 9th, 187

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Ages

Wanted! All classes
of working people, of either sex, young
or old, make more money at work for us
in their spare moments, or all the time,
than at anything else. Particulars free.
Post card to States costs but two cents.
Address G. STINSON and CO., Portland, Maine,

ONE BOX OF CARKS B41 PILLS

IS warranted to cure all discharges from the Urinary Organs, in either sex, acquired or constitutional, Gravel and Pains in the Back. Sold in Boxes
$1.50 each, by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors.

Sold Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN
ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for Provinces of tario and Quebec:—

EVANS, MERCER & CO.

Farm for Sale.

The Subscriber offers a Desirable Farm for sale, containing about 180 Acres, situated on the Kingston Macadamized Road three miles from Napanee; one Frame Dwelling, Two Frame Barns, with other outbuildings, well fenced with a good supply of water, and some Sixty Apple and other Fruit Trees.

Terms moderate. Apply to
CHARLES E. MILLER,
Napanee, June 18th, 1874.

To Undermen

FOR SALE IN NAPANEE.

13 YEARS LEASE of Lot, with 3 Water Powers sufficient for carrying on a good manufacturing business,
THREE FRAME BUILDINGS on the Lot; also some Machinery and Patterns, Rare chance to commence business. Apply on premises at Napanee, or to JOHN RENNIE.

25 West Front St. Toronto.

FOR SALE.

THREE Good Working Horses.
W. V. DETLOR.
Napanee, Au. 24 1874.

F. CHINNECK

Watchmaker

AND

Jeweler

Tain
Boys suite at lit

THE s as ev chanic an transacti embrace Book-Ke
Entry,
Comm
St

Spelling,
Gramm
Actu
gr

O filling lu ants and

Owing t ceived fro have been spacious a Our ne fitted, an students, abilities t
For S etc., add
S.

APOT

Buy your fun
I

Candie

For you body says Examin
are Fresh A Chea
A new lot
General A School Bo
Examin
and more

Che
for Op

RE

Dr. J.

IN return for their wishes to n his Dental

Cen

Corner of C posite the has spared to any in tl added the to relieve tl
fering.
Special a tion of the Dr

The

ing D. Sks. Also several boxes of Star Lubricator, Bees-wax, Foundry Facings, Tallow, Tar, Plumbago Packing, Italian Hemp, Sheet Rubber, 1 Buggy and 1 Car, besides a number of other articles too numerous to mention. The whole of which has been valued at Twenty Thousand Dollars.

All of which property can be seen, with the inventory thereof, by inquiring of the undersigned at the law office of Williams & Hooper in the Town of Napanee.

The whole of above property, both real and personal, will be sold en bloc to the highest bidder, (with the exception of a lot of water line held by the Merchants Bank of Canada,) on the terms following, viz., Twenty per cent. of the price must be paid in Cash at the time of the sale, and the balance to be paid in 3, 6, 9 and 12 months, upon furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Inspectors and Assignee.

The Assignee reserves to himself one lot upon the property. The Plaster Mill and Cooper Shop are sufficiently large and well built to be used as a flour mill, foundry or machine shops.

This is one of the most valuable properties in the Town of Napanee. All persons wishing to invest cannot do better than to examine the property herein advertised.

For further particulars apply to
W. S. WILLIAMS,
Assignee.
Napanee, Ontario, November 2, 74.

NOTICE.

The undersigned has bought out

BOLTON & MARTIN

IS THE

Grocery Business!

Will announce to the public that he is selling

CHEAP FOR CASH.

List of Prices

TEAS at 25c, 35c, 40c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 60c, 70c, 75c, and $1.00 per pound.

20 Pounds of RICE for $1.00.

15 " of CURRANTS for $1.00

16 " of VALENCI BASINS, for $1.00.

And all other Groceries at the same reduction.

A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Crockery & Glasware

ON HAND

Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles it is here impossible to enumerate, and all sold at Moderate Prices.

D. B. SMITH,
Corner of Dundas and West Streets.

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,
REPAIRED ON SHORT NOTICE,
and Warranted.

Give him a call before purchasing elsewhere.

NOTE THE PLACE,

Grange's Block,

West door next Standard office.

F. W. SMITH,

Oct. 16th, 1874.

NOTICE

—TO—

MARINER

NOTICE is hereby given that on the 5th of November next.

THE LIGHT AT LONG POINT ON NORTH FORELAND,

Lake Erie, will be changed from a Fixed White to a Revolving White Light, with two faces, making a complete revolution in two minutes, and showing a Flash every minute.

WM. SMITH,

Deputy Minister Marine and Fisheries, Department of Marine and Fisheries,
Ottawa, 29th October, 1874.

PRIZE CARRIAGES.

Having purchased a new and complete stock in the cheapest markets, and employing none but Experienced Workmen, I am now better prepared than ever to manufacture First-Class

Carriages, Cutters, Wagons, Sleighs &c. Receiving First Prizes on both Carriages and Cutters at the recent Lennox Agricultural Exhibition, proves that my work is considered by competent Judges what I recommend it to be. I keep the management of my factory under my own personal supervision, and guarantee to turn out nothing but First-Class Work and charge moderate prices. A number of good second-hand cutters on hand, for sale. Give me a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Yours, etc.,

JAMES BELCH,
Napanee, Oct. 22nd, 1874.

JAMESON'S

BAKERY.

THE subscriber would return his sincere thanks to the inhabitants of Napanee and surrounding country for the liberal patronage which he has received since he commenced business here, and he hopes, by attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. He would also say that he keeps constantly on hand

OYSTERS

By the can or tub, and is also prepared to serve them up as usual.

39

T. JAMIESON.

A VERDICT

FROM THE PEOPLE.

HAVING had an experience of over two years in one of the largest re-packing Tea Houses in England,

I GUARANTEE TO KEEP THE

Best Teas in the Market

AND ALL OTHER GOODS

What represent them

CASH PAID

FOR

Butter, Eggs, Lard

Please don't forget the place, opposite DOWNEY'S STORE.

WM. RANKINS,

Dundas Street.

Napanee, Nov. 2nd, 1873

Corn. Corn. Corn.

NOTICE

To Farmers & Miners.

THE subscriber is receiving direct from Chicago, ex-schooner D. A. Wells,

20,500 BUSHELS

No. 1 INSPECTED CORN, and is now prepared to sell it in large or small quantities to suit purchasers. This Corn is of superior quality, having been selected on me by a special Inspector whose certificate I hold. Parties requiring corn for sowing, or for manufacturing into meal, will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Thankful for the patronage you have given me in the past, and soliciting a continuance of the same am Yours, &c.,

A. N. DIAMOND.

Napanee, May 13th, 1874.

ENLARGED

REFITTED, IMPROVED

THE Subscribers would call the attention of the public to the fact that they have made large additions to their

MACHINE HOP,

Corner

BRIDGE and ADELPHI STREETS, and added at considerable expense several New Machines. They are now prepared to execute orders for

STEAM ENGINES

From two to fifty horse power, and all kinds of

MILL AND OTHER MACHINERY.

They will also, on the shortest notice, do repairing to all kinds of Agricultural Machinery.

Remember the place, Corner Bridge and Adelphi Streets.

G. MAIR AND BRO.

The Subscriber offers a Desirable Farm for sale, containing about 180 Acres, situated on the Kingston Macadamized Road three miles from Napanee; one Frame Dwelling, Two Frame Barns, with other outbuildings, well fenced with a good supply of water, and some Sixty Apple and other Fruit Trees.

Terms moderate. Apply to
CHARLES R. MILLER,
Napanee, June 18th, 1874.

To undr ymen

FOR SALE IN NAPANEE.

13 YEARS LEASE of Lot, with Water Power sufficient for carrying on a good manufacturing business, THREE FRAME BUILDINGS on the Lot; also some Machinery and Patterns, Rare chance to commence business. Apply on premises at Napanee, or to

JOHN RENNIE,

25 West Front St. Toronto,

FOR SALE.

THREE Good Working Horses.

W. V. DETLOR.

Napanee, Au. 24 1874.

F. CHINNECK

Watchmaker

AND

Jeweler

WATCHES

CLOCKS AND JEWELRY

Always on Hand.

Wright & Roberts

(Successors to)

SMITH, ROBERTS & CO.,

Manufacture and keep constantly on hand, or make to order, every description of

Sash, Doors, Blinds,

MOULDINGS.

Door Frames, Window Frames, &c

We have also constantly on hand, a large stock of Dressed Lumber.

SUCH AS

FLOORING, CEILING & SIDING.

We respectfully request parties requiring anything in our line to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

OFFICE and MILL—CANAL STREET

WRIGHT & ROBERTS.

Napanee Aug. 10th, 1874.

Candice

For you body say Exam are Fresl A Cher A new lo General School B Exam and mon Che

RE

Dr. J.

IN return for their wishes to his Dental

Cer

Corner of (posite the has spared to any in added the! to relieve t ferinr. Special tion of the Di

The SE

The P

A larger shorter tim manufactur eas compli the friction derfully du time. No rattl'e. D easy to w al simplici; STER is m put togethe Practical A fully test ed; more elegantly fi derstood an Sewing Ma

Agent for Shin woo amptoll

Ice Cream Rooms

Having thoroughly fitted up the above Rooms we are prepared to furnish as delicious a

DISH OF ICE CREAM

as can be had in the Dominion.
COME AND TRY IT.

SODA FOUNTAIN

We have also put in a new out of which we draw the most delightful drinks of the Season, as Cold as Ice. The following are some of the flavors;

Nectar, Pine Apple, Strawberry, Vanilla, Cream, Coffee, and Sarsaparilla.

COME AD TRY IT.

N.B.—Evening Parties furnished with Ice Cream.

Delivery of Ice,

SEND IN YOUR ORDERS.

REMEMBER THE PLACE,

W. H. Bruton's,

Flour AND Feed Store

A N DIAMOND

PROPRIETOR of the BIG MILL,

BEGS leave to intimate to the general public that he has leased for a term of years the CORNER STORE n

Blewett's Block,

ON THE MARKET SQUARE

where he intends keeping a full stock of

FLOUR,

CORN MEAL,

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR

PASTRY FLOUR,

And, in short every article found

First-Class

Flour and Feed Store

—

All orders delivered if desired.

MR. BLEWETT will be found at the store to wait on customers.

—

Prices Lower

THAN ANY PLACE IN TOWN.

Please give us a call.

A. N. DIAMOND.

Napanee, October 9th, 18

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agts

Wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents. Address G. STINSON and CO., Port-

Newcastle Nurseries

Trees, shrubs, Plants
SPRING OF 1874.

WE INVITE THE ATTENTION of Planters and dealers to our large and complete stock of

Standards & Dwarf Fruit Trees,

GRAPE VINES, SMALL FRUIT ORNAMENTAL TREES,

Shrubs, Rose, New and Rare Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Evergreens and Pulchrous Roots.

1 Parcels Forwarded by Mail when desired. Prompt attention given to all enquiries.

J. P. LOVERIN CO.,

Newcastle, Newcastle Nurseries.

THE

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE CO.

OF CANADA.

(HEAD OFFICE) TORONTO.

HON. J. H. CAMERON, Q.C., M.P. Pres.

LEWIS MOPFATT, Esq., Vice-President.

RTHUR HARVEY, Manager.

BEING guided by its own lengthened experience, and desirous of adjusting the rates of insurance to each hazard in accordance with the laws of average, has

Not Joined the Insurance Combination.

On some descriptions of property its charges may be above the established Tariff, on others considerably lower, and the Public are respectfully invited to call upon W. V. Dettlor, agent, Napanee;

A. Caton, Newburgh; R. Clapp, Milford;

J. Aylsworth, Tamworth, and ascertain the Company's rates for insurance before insuring elsewhere.

Premium Income 250,000 per annum

Persons not within reach of the above agents are requested to communicate directly with the Manager.

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

Farmers and Owners

OF

Private Residences,

INSURE

YOUR PROPERTY

IN THE

Agricultural Insurance Co'y

OF WATERTOWN, N.Y.

ASSETS OVER - - $300,000.00.

Dominion Deposit - - $100,000.00.

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

CASH, CASH, CASH,

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

We beg to inform the public that we inter

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

—

Jerns,
 ES NISH
 ure.
 OF,
 EN'S GES.
 ash and rains, on to
 Is !! r Style SON.
 74.
 ICT PLE.
 tence of over the largest reg-land,
 SEP THE Market FOODS
 it them
 AID
 Lard
 the place,
 REZ KINS,
 as Street.
 Corn.
 E finers.
 ring direct
 mer D. A.

And, in short every article found First-Class

Flour and Feed Store

All orders delivered if desired.
 MR. BLEWETT will be found at the store to wait on customers.

Prices Lower
 THAN ANY PLACE IN TOWN.

Please give us a call.
 A. N. DIAMOND.
 Napanee, October 9th, 1874

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Ags Wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents. Address G. STINSON and CO., Portland, Maine.

ONE BOX OF CARKS B41 PILLS
 IS warranted to cure all discharges from the Urinary Organs, in either sex, acquired or constitutional, Gravel and Pains in the Back. Sold in Boxes $1.50 each, by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Vendors.
 Sold Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN ENGLAND.
 Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent Medicine Houses.
 Wholesale Agents for Provinces of Ontario and Quebec:—
 EVANS, MERCER & CO.

Farm for Sale.

The Subscriber offers a Desirable Farm for sale, containing about 180 Acres, situated on the Kingston Macadamized Road three miles from Napanee; one Frame Dwelling, Two Frame Barns, with other outbuildings, well fenced with a good supply of water, and some Sixty Apple and other Fruit Trees.
 Terms moderate. Apply to
 CHARLES E. MILLER,
 Napanee, June 18th, 1874.

To undrjmen
 FOR SALE IN NAPANEE.

13 YEARS LEASE of Lot, with Water Power sufficient for carrying on a good manufacturing business, THREE FRAME BUILDINGS on the Lot; also some Machinery and Patterns. Rare chance to commence business. Apply on premises at Napanee, or to
 JOHN RENNIE,
 25 West Front St. Toronto.

FOR SALE.
 THREE Good Working Horses.
 W. V. DETLOR.
 Napanee, Au. 24 1874.

F. CHINNECK
Watchmaker
 AND Jeweler

Taining, where Young Men and Boys can procure an Education suited to the wants of the Times, at little expense.

THE subjects taught are just such as every Merchant, Farmer, Mechanic and Professional man require in transacting every day business, and embrace the following:

BOOK-KEEPING by Single and Double Entry, Spencerian Penmanship, Commercial Paper, Banking, Steamboating, Correspondence, Arithmetic, Brokerage, Spelling, Commercial Law, Practical Grammar, Mechanical Drawing, Actual Business Course, Telegraphing, Phonography, &c., &c.

Over 1,000 of our graduates filling lucrative positions as Accountants and Telegraph Operators.

Owing to the extensive patronage received from all parts of the country, we have been necessitated to move into more spacious apartments.

Our new rooms are now completely fitted, and having accommodation for 200 students, we are prepared to offer better facilities than ever before.

For Specimens of Penmanship, Terms, &c., address

S. G. Beatty & Co
 BELLEVILLE Ont

APOTHECARIES HALL

Buy your Drugs & Chemicals, your Toilet Articles and Perfumery, your Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Brushes, Combs, Hair Oils, Tobaccos, Candies, Tooth and Hair Brushes, Cements, &c.

For you know he sell Cheap, every body says so.

Examine and price his Goods. They are Fresh and Reliable.

A Cheap Lot of STORY BOOKS. A new lot of WALL PAPER, and a General Assortment of Stationery and School Books.

Examine, purchase, and save time and money at the

Cheap Drug Store.
 Open day and night.
 GEORGE EGR,
 Licensed Chemist
 Mill Point, Ont.

REMOVED.

Dr. J. H. W. BEDFORD

IN returning his thanks to the public for their liberal patronage in the past, wishes to intimate that he has removed his Dental Rooms to

Centre Block!

Corner of Centre and Dundas Street opposite the Campbell House, where he has spared no means to make them equal to any in the Dominion. He has also added the latest improvements of the day to relieve the aches and pains of the suffering.

Special attention paid to the treatment of the Natural Teeth. Terpreservat.
 Dr. J. H. W. BEDFORD
 Napanee July 23rd, 1874.

The WEBSTER

THEIRN MENTIONED.

Passed 1874.
WHEREAS the Corporation of the County of Lennox and Addington is indebted in the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars, for certain Debentures of the said Corporation heretofore issued and all due during the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, for which no sinking fund has been provided, and no funds are on hand for the payment of the same or any part thereof, and the Municipal Council of the said Corporation have resolved to retire the said Debentures at maturity and to carry into effect the said objects, it will be necessary for the said the Corporation of the County of Lennox and Addington to raise the said sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars in the manner here-in-after mentioned.

And whereas it will require the sum of Two Thousand and Two Hundred Dollars to be raised Annually by special rate for the payment of the debt created by this By-Law and the interest thereon within the period of Twenty Years from the time at which this By-Law shall come into effect as also here-in-after mentioned.

And Whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the said the Corporation of the County of Lennox and Addington irrespective of any future increase of the same, and irrespective of any income to be derived from the temporary investment of the sinking fund here-in-after mentioned, or any part thereof according to the last revised and equalized Assessment Roll of the said County, being for the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four is Four Millions Three Hundred and Sixty-Five thousand Dollars.

And Whereas the amount of the existing debt of the said the County of Lennox and Addington is One Hundred and Sixteen Thousand Dollars for principal, and no sum whatever for interest, and no interest is in arrear.

And Whereas for paying the interest, and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the said sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars as here-in-after mentioned, it will require an equal annual special rate of eight fifteenths of a mill—in the dollar in addition to all rates to be levied in each year

Therefore the Council of the Corporation of the County of Lennox and Addington enacts as follows:—

1. That it shall be lawful for the Warden to raise by way of loan from any person do persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same upon the security of the Debentures here-in-after mentioned a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer for the purposes and with the objects above recited.

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Warden to cause any number of Debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, not less than One Hundred Dollars each to the amount in the whole of Twenty Thousand Dollars, and that the said Debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation, and be signed by the Warden and Treasurer of the said the Corporation of the County of Lennox and Addington.

3. That the said Debentures shall be made payable in twenty years at furthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-Law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said County, and shall have attached to them Coupons for the payment of interest, which said Coupons shall be signed by the said Warden.

4. That the said Debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half yearly at the office of the Treasurer aforesaid.

5. That for the purpose of forming a Sinking Fund for the payment of the said Debentures, and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of eight-fifteenths of a mill in the dollar, shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all the rateable property in the said the County of Lennox and Addington, during the continuance of the said Debentures, or any of them, which sums shall be received by the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the time being in the same manner and at the same days as times as the ordinary county taxes from year to year become payable.

6. That this By-Law shall take effect and come into operation upon, from and after the Fifteenth day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

HIGHEST PRICE FRASER &

HAVE pleasure in stating that they have of goods, to which they would invite the chase good and Cheap Goods.

Our Boot and Sho

Is now furnished with a Better Class of Goods secured a make in Boots and Shoes that will stand at prices defying competition. We make on hand. Our own Goods R

In Ready-Mad

We have also a very Large Stock. We have buy none but the very best Goods. Our C styles, we can therefore guarantee satisfact Boys Clothing of the best Canada Tweed dollars.

In Hats ar

We have an unusual Assortment comprising rect from the Manufacturers, on the most a cheaper than at any other house in the 'trac daily.

We have also added to our usual larg Made Clothing, Hats and Caps, &c., a con I SHING GOODS. Gents' Shirts and I Cuffs, Scarfs, Ties, and Bows. Our Stock and of the very be t and mostfashionable ge Come and see us at the MONTREAL HO

Napanee September 8th, 1874

Fall Imp

TO THE TRADE
Hotel-Keep Farme

WHO BUY IN LARGE
 The Subscri

W. R. McRA

Are now receiving their FALL IMPORTA turers and place of groth, which enables the footing with those who buy in Montreal or bought for Cash,

ARRIV
 One Car Load Whiskey. Case
 One Car Load Sugar. Case
 One Car Load Salt. Case
 One Car Load of Syrup, in Barrels and 5 Gal. Kegs. Bar
 50 Boxes o 1 Prince of Wales Tobacco Bar
 100 Caddies Solace Tobacco. Bar
 25 Caddies Myrtle Vary. Case
 200 Boxes Soap, various kinds. Case
 30,000 Cigars, various brands. Case

A PECIA
GREEN, BLACK ANI

100 Half-Chests GREEN TEAS. 100 half-chests BLA
 These Teas are Fresh, and will l
BARGAINS.

Grocers and Wine Merchants, N:

The Subscriber offers a Desirable Farm for sale, containing about 180 Acres, situated on the Kingston Macadamized Road three miles from Napanee; one Frame Dwelling, Two Frame Barns, with other outbuildings, well fenced with a good supply of water, and some Sixty Apple and other Fruit Trees.
Terms moderate. Apply to
CHARLES R. MILLER,
Napanee, June 18th, 1874.

To Undermen
FOR SALE IN NAPANEE.

3 YEARS LEASE of Lot, with 13 Water Power sufficient for carrying on a good manufacturing business, THREE FRAME BUILDINGS on the Lot; also some Machinery and Patterns, Rare chance to commence business. Apply on premises at Napanee, or to
JOHN RENNIE,
25 West Front St. Toronto.

FOR SALE.
THREE Good Working Horses.
W. V. DETLOR.
Napanee, Aug. 24 1874.

F CHINNECK

Watchmaker

AND

Jeweler

WATCHES
CLOCKS AND JEWELRY
Always on Hand.

Wright & Roberts

(Successors to)

SMITH, ROBERTS & CO.,

Manufacture and keep constantly on hand, or make to order, every description of

Sash, Doors, Blinds,
MOULDINGS,

Door Frames, Window Frames, &c

We have also constantly on hand, a large stock of Dressed Lumber.

SUCH AS

FLOORING, CEILING & SIDING.

We respectfully request parties requiring anything in our line to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

OFFICE and MILL-CANAL STREET

WRIGHT & ROBERTS.

Napan Aug. 10th, 1874.

Tobaccoes,
Candies, Tooth and Hair Brushes,
Cements, &c.
For you know he sell Cheap, every body says so.
Examine and price his Goods. They are Fresh and Reliable.
A Cheap Lot of STORY BOOKS.
A new lot of WALL PAPER, and a General Assortment of Stationery and School Books.
Examine, purchase, and save time and money at the

Cheap Drug Store.
Open day and night.

GEORGE EGY,

Licensed Chemist
Mill Point, Ont.

REMOVED.

Dr. J. H. W. BEDFORD

In returning his thanks to the public for their liberal patronage in the past, wishes to intimate that he has removed his Dental Rooms to

Centre Block!

Corner of Centre and Dundas Street opposite the Campbell House, where he has spared no means to make them equal to any in the Dominion. He has also added the latest improvements of the day to relieve the aches and pains of the suffering.

Special attention paid to the treatment of the Natural Teeth. Preservation.
Dr. J. H. W. BEDFORD
Napanee July 23rd, 1874.

The WEBSTER
SEWING MACHINE

The Popular Favorite!

A larger number has been sold in a shorter time than of any other Machine manufactured. It is free from all useless complications, and having but little friction or wear and tear it is wonderfully durable, and will last a lifetime. No cams or cogs to clog and rattle. Durable, elegant, simple, and easy to work. A marvel of mechanic simplicity. Every part of the Webster is made of the Best Material, and put together by the most thorough and Practical Mechanics. It is more carefully tested; more thoroughly inspected; more simply constructed; more elegantly finished; and more easily understood and operated than any other Sewing Machine made.

V. KOUBER,
Agent for Napanee and County.
Shew rooms three doors West of the Campbell House to persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same upon the terms of the Debentures hereinafter mentioned a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars and cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer for the purposes and with the objects above recited.

2 That it shall be lawful for the said Warden to cause any number of Debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, not less than One Hundred Dollars each to the amount in the whole of Twenty Thousand Dollars, and that the said Debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation, and be signed by the Warden and Treasurer of the said the Corporation of the County of Lennox and Addington.
3 That the said Debentures shall be made payable in twenty years at furthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said County, and shall have attached to them Coupons for the payment of interest, which said Coupons shall be signed by the said Warden.
4 That the said Debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half yearly at the office of the Treasurer aforesaid.
5 That for the purpose of forming a Sinking Fund for the payment of the said Debentures, and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of eight-fifteenths of a mill in the dollar, shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all the rateable property in the said the County of Lennox and Addington, during the continuance of the said Debentures, or any of them, which sums shall be received by the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the time being in the same manner and at the same days as times as the ordinary county taxes from year to year become payable.
6 That this By-Law shall take effect and come into operation upon, from and after the Fifteenth day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

The above is a true copy of a proposed By-Law to be taken into consideration by the Municipality of the County of Lennox and Addington at Napanee in the said County, on the Eighth day of December, 1874, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, at which time and place the members of the Council are hereby required to attend, for the purpose aforesaid.

W. V. DETLOR,
County Clerk.

THE CELEBRATED.
CARRATRACA
MINERAL WATER

Is unsurpassed as a pleasant and delicious aperient. One or two glasses of every morning before breakfast, or on an empty stomach during the hot weather will keep your system cool and healthy.

CARRATRACA

CARRATRACA WATER

stands unrivalled as a valuable remedy in cases of Habitual Constipation; Derangement of the Stomach and Bowels; Chronic Inflammation of the Kidneys; Gravel, Gout, Rheumatism (especially the chronic forms), Scrofula, Skin Affections of all kinds, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Acidity, and as a purgative after a debauch it is unequalled.

WINNING, HILL & WARE,
MONTREAL.

LEATHER, LEATHER
NOTHING LIKE LEATHER.

100 SIDES Best Spanish Sole

100 Leather just arrived.

Also 100 bbls. OSHAWA FLOUR. This is the best flour in the Dominion, and gives the best satisfaction to the consumer, as it always produces a Swelling Loaf.

Wm. McMULLEN.
Napanee, July 30th, 1874

TO THE TRADE,
Hotel-Keepers
Farmers and

WHO BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES

The Subscribers,

W. R. McRAE

Are now receiving their FALL IMPORTATIONS of various and place of growth, which enables them to put footing with those who buy in Montreal or elsewhere bought for Cash,

ARRIVING

One Car Load Whiskey.	Cases Henne
One Car Load Sugar.	Cases Martie
One Car Load Salt.	Cases Otard
One Car Load of Syrup, in Barrels and 5 Gal. Kegs.	Barrels Port
50 Boxes of 1 Prince of Wales Tobacco	Barrels Sher
100 Caddies Solace Tobacco.	Barrels Gung
25 Caddies Myrtle V&V.	Barrels Old
200 Boxes Soap, various kinds.	Cases Cham
30,000 Cigars, various brands.	Cases Irish Cases Englis

A SPECIALTY

GREEN, BLACK AND

100 Half-Cheats GREEN TEAS. 100 half-100 half-chests BLACK TE
These Teas are Fresh, and will be sold BARGAINS.

W. R. M
Grocers and Wine Merchants, Napanee, 1

Central Drug

M. B. MALL

(SUCCESSOR TO MALLORY & FR

Dealer in Drugs and PATENT MEDIC

PAINTS, OILS AND

Window Glass and Putty, Varnish and Paint Brushes, Tooth and Nail Brushes, Toilet and Fancy Articles, Jewelry, Perfumery and Florida W

DYES STUFFS of VARIOU

43 kinds of COAL OIL

—ALSO—
Chimney's Globes, Burners, Wicks.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STA

Finest qualities of

Teas, Coffee, Spices,

Fine Wines and Liquors for Medic

Particular Attention Paid

Being sole Proprietor, I am prepared to sell as C E A Call, examine stock and be convinced. Note the Pl

Rennie Block next Slaven

Napanee, Oct. 2nd, 1874.

M B.

Owners
ences,
E TY

ice Co'y
N.Y.

$100,000.00.
$100,000.00.

Company still ored one in erty. It is s charter to l has been business for s never been not added
It has ad-n of dollars
s never lost $5,000 by any wise. Has t upon farm es and their

to be safe insure your

LEGAL quarter of a management.
and General Directors were een the mantenance.
PER, Pres.
y.
Gen. Agt.
t. Secy.
Agent.
ance. Ont.

o.-----

BY WAY SUM OF AND DOL-PURPOSES
ONED.

1874. ation of the nd Addison twenty Thous-Debentures of torefore issued the year one seventy-four,
has been proand for the part thereof, of the said
to retire the y and to carry s, it will be Corporation of Addington to ity Thousand in-after men-

ire the sum of funded Dol-
by special rate t created by erest thereon
y Years from law shall come after mention-

it of the whole
id the Corponox and Ad-ny future in-respective of rom the tem-sinking fund any part there-ised and equal-
e said Connty.

CASH, CASH, CASH.

We beg to inform the public that we intend adopting

The CASH System

On and after October 1st.

Our buyer is now completing our all Purchases in Canadian Markets

And we will have open by the 20th inst.

One of the Most Complete stocks ever shown

In this locality, and being the oldest firm in apancee we are in a position to offer

Extra Inducements !! TO CASH BUYERS.

We tender our sincere thanks to our friends who have supported us in the past, and solicit a continuance of custom in the future under the new order of business.

A. C. DAVI & BRO.

TAILORING, DRESS MAKING and MILLINERY,
A SPECIALITY.

HIGHEST PRICE FOR BARLEY FRASER & ROSE,

HAVE pleasure in sta ing that they have now open the contents of 200 case of goods, to w ich ti sy would invite the attention of those wishing to pu chase good and Ch ap Goods.

Our Boot and Sho e Department

Is now furnished with a Better Class of Goods than ever shown before. We have secured a make in 'Boots and Shoes that will commend them to every buyer, and at prices defying competition. We have always a quantity of our own make on hand. Our own Goods REPAIRED at reduced prices.

In Ready-Made Clothing,

We have also a very Large Stock. We have taken great pains this season to buy none but the very best Goods. Our Clothing is also cut in the very latest styles, we can therefore guarantee satisfaction to all. A large assortment of Boys Clothing of the best Canada Tweed at prices ranging from five to ten dollars.

In Hats and Caps.

We have an unusual Assortment comprising all the leading Style s, bought d-

Rupture SEELEY'S HARD
Ti lisses. Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and Cure for Hemia or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated with hard rubber, highly polished. Free from all sour, rusty, chafing, strapping or girdling unpleasantness. Cool cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable.
Sold by all dealers- Estab'ts, 1347
Chstnut St., Phila., and 717 Brdway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitaton Canadin a trade supplied by Messrs
Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Druggists, Montreal

FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE

CLARKE'S
WORLD FAMED
BLOOD MIXTURE.
Trade Mark,—"Blood Mixture."
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND
RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood
from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvey, Skin Diseases,
and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing
permanent cure.

It cures old Sores.
Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs.
Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face.

Cures Scurvy Sores.
Cures Cancerous Ulcers.
Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.
Cures Glandular Swellings.
Clears the Blood from all impure
Matter.

From whatever cause arising.
s this mixture is pleasant to the taste,
and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers
to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts
Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, $4 each
—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases,
BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout the world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist,
APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN
ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent
Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agent for the Provinces
Ontario and Quebec:—
EVANS, MERCER and Mou

EVERYBODY!

Is invited Come with the Crowd
To BRUTON'S

Where you will find an endless variety of New

Toys and Fancy Goods FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Please remember that as we bought the above Goods for Cash, and thereby ng a large per centage, can sell at very Low Prices.

BEAUTIFUL LARGE DOLLS.
early Two feet long, for 50 Cents and other Goods in proportion.

Those who come first, before he rush, will get the best selection.

Lots of Oysters

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.
Remember the place,
OPPOSITE GRANGE BLOCK, BRUTON
Napanee

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS

Improved.

The Banner

Sewing Machine

COMPANY.

OF

Sherbrooke, P. Q.

HAVING Recently perfected important improvements in their celebrated

FAMILY

SEWING MACHINES

Are prepared to guarantee them equal if not superior to any now before the public. For simplicity of construction ease of operation, uniformity of precise action at any rate of speed, capacity, of range, and adaptability to great variety of work, fine or coarse, they stand unrivalled.
These Celebrated Machines obtained the

FIRST PRIZE

AT THE

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION

held to

MONTREAL 1st SEPTEMBER 1873.

GIFT-ENTERPRISE

in the country!

Fall Imporaion!

TO THE TRADE,
Hotel-Keepers,
Farmers and others,

WHO BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES.

The Subscribers,

W. R. McRAE & CO.

Are now receiving their FALL IMPORTATIONS direct from the manufacturers and place of growth, which enables them to put their customers on equal footing with those who buy in Montreal or elsewhere, as our goods are all bought for Cash.

ARRIVING.

One Car Load Whiskey.
One Car Load Sugar.
One Car Load Salt.
One Car Load of Syrup, in Barrels and 5 Gal. Kegs.
50 Boxes o 1 Prince of Wales Tobacco
100 Caddies Solace Tobacco.
25 Caddies Myrtle Vavv.
200 Boxes Soap, various kinds.
30,000 Cigars, various brands.

Cases Hennessy Brandy.
Cases Martell Brandy.
Cases Otard Dupuy Brandy.
Barrels Port Wine.
Barrels Sherry Wine.
Barrels Ginger Wine.
Barrels Old Tom Gin.
Cases Champaigne.
Cases Irish Porter.
Cases English Ales.

A PECIALITY.

GREEN, BLACK AND JAPAN TEAS.

100 Half-Chests GREEN TEAS. 100 half-chests JAPAN TEAS.
100 half-chests BLACK TEA.
These Teas are Fresh, and will be sold in quantities at GREAT BARGAINS.

W. R. McRAE & CO.,

Grocers and Wine Merchants, Napanee, Belleville and Kingston

Central Drug Hall!

M. B. MALLORY,

(SUCCESSOR TO MALLORY & FRASER.)

Dealer in Drugs and Chemicals,

PATENT MEDICINES

PAINTS, OILS AND VARNISHES.

Window Glass and Putty, Varnish and Paint Brushes, Hair and Bath Brushes, Tooth and Nail Brushes, Toilet and Fancy Articles, Jet and Gold Jewelry, Perfumery and Florida Water,

DYES & TUFFS of VARIOUS KINDS.

43 kinds of COAL OIL LAMPS,

—ALSO—

Chimney's Globes, Burners, Wicks, and COAL OIL.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY,

Finest qualities of

Teas, Coffee, Spices, Soap, &c.

Fine Wines and Liquors for Medicinal Purposes.

Particular Attention Paid to Dispensing

Being sole Proprietor, I am prepared to sell as CHEAP as the CHEAPEST.
Call, examine stock and be convinced. Note the Place,

Rennie Block next Slaven & Ironsde's.

M. B. MALLORY

Napanee, Oct. 2nd, 1874.

Fife WHEAT

Grown in Fredericksburgh,
For sale at the store of
WM. BISS,
Grange Block, Napanee.
April 3rd, 1874.

THE CONFESIONS OF AN INVALID

PUBLISHED AS A WARNING and for the benefit of YOUNG MEN and OTHERS who suffer from ERVUOUS DEBILITY, LOSS OF MANHOOD, etc., supplying the means of Self-Cure. Written by one who cured himself after undergoing considerable quackery, and sent free of charge. Sufferers are invited to address, post paid, the author.
ATHAIEL MAYFAIR
P.O. Box 153, Brooklyn, New York 283m

WORK At home male, or female for all $35 per week, day or evening. No Capital. We send valuable package of goods by mail free. Address with ten cent return stamp, M. Young, 17 Greenwich St. N. Y. 26w

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE TO SELL OUR NEW MAP
OF THE Dominion of Canada
Profits from $200 to $300 per month
Permanent employment

TROY CO.

King St East, Toronto

REMEDY FREE.

We send free a sample and sure means of self cure, for Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, scrofula, and any disease of the Throat or Lungs. Nervous debility, Premature Decay, Weakness, and all disorders brought on by youthful indulgence.

TUTTLE & CO. Nassau St. N. Yo

TO THE TRADE

THE Subscriber is now prepared to offer to the public a FULL & ASSORTED STOCK OF

GROCERIES

CONSISTING OF OVER

500 Packages Fresh Teas.
200 do. Tobacco, duty paid or in bond.

Hhds. Cuba Sugar.

Barrels do.

Hhds. Demarara Sugar.

Barrels do.

300 Boxes LAYER RAISINS,

BARRELS CURRANTS.

Kegs Best FRENCH PRUNES.

ALL THE ABOVE AT

Lowest City Prices

—ALSO AT—

Manufacturer's Prices

50 Brls. X, XX & XXX Vinegars,

10 do Golden Syrup,

Soaps of all Brands,

Brooms,

Matches,

Pails,

Straw and Tea Paper,

And Twines, &c.

J. AYLWORTH.

Napanee, Oct. 8th, 1873.

1000 Gold and Silver Live Watches (in all) worth fro $ each. Ladies' and Gents' G Coin Silver Vest Chain and Double-plated Silver Ware Ju etc, Number of Gifts 10,000! Tickets limited to 75,000.

AGENTS WANTED TO SELL TICKETS, to whom Libera premiums will be paid

Single Tickets $1; Six Tickets $5; Twelve Tickets $10; Twenty Five $20.

Circulars containing a full list of prizes a description of the manner of drawing and other information in reference to the Distribution, will be sent to any one requesting them. All letters must be addressed to

L. D. JONE Box 133, Cincinnati, O.

HEUMATISM.

FROM CAPT. THOS. R. GILLIAT, Church St. Conn. N. Y. For 25 years I suffered severely from Rheumatism, being most of the time unable to straighten my leg, and often unable to walk. I had many remedies tried, but no relief. I was cured by the use of Graham's Pain Expectorator in the United Provinces of Canada, and in the most of the people in the United Kingdom, and most of the population in the United States, without more than temporary relief.

Graham's Pain Expectorator

made so complete a cure that I have not been troubled with Rheumatism since, nor more than 12 years, and by all respectable druggists and dealers in medicine. Price 50 cents.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DEPEW'S MEDICAL VICTORY.

DR. DEPEW OF PARIS, FRANCE, an eminent physician of foreign descent, has discovered a Great Blood Remedy—a Purely Vegetable Compound, named by physicians, Depew's Medical Victory, that cures every kind of impure Blood, and every disease that depends on impurity of the Blood, where the Lungs, Liver, and Kidneys, and other vital organs, are not wasted beyond the hope of repair.

For the cure of Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Scald-head, Scaly Eruption of the Skin, Ulcers, and every Sore of all kinds, Boils, Humors in the Mouth and Stomach or Eyes, Sore Throat, Eruption on the head, and Pimples or Blisters on the face, it stands pre-eminently at the head of all other remedies. The various Humors, Scrofula, and Diseases of the Skin of whatever morbid nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system, in a short time, by the use of this Blood Remedy. One bottle, in such cases, will convince the most incredulous of its curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when Keep the Blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

It is a Gentle Regulating Purgative, as well as a Tonic, &c. Possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion, and Chronic Inflammation of the Liver and all the Visceral Organs.

For Female Complaints, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or at the setting of life, the Medical Victory has no equal.

In the cure of Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, its effects are surprising. For Regulating the Bowels, and curing Biliousness, Headache, Blisters, Neuralgia, Pains in the Back, and general Weakness and Debility, its curative powers are beyond money and beyond price. IT IS THE GREAT MEDICAL VICTORY, AND A LIFE-GIVING FRUIT. It is a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the Blood to its healthy condition.

Sold by all Druggists & Dealers. SEND FOR A DESCRIPTIVE PAMPHLET. ADDRESS YOUNG, SALL & CO. Bath, Ontario

B. B. Perry

Napanee

W. CASEY, Publisher.)

"THE GREATEST GOOD TO

VOL. 14.]

NAPANEE, ONTARIO, THU

Correspondence

OTTAWA.

JULY 12th.

The weather during the past week has been showry and hot, except on Sunday, when a cold north wind blew. The crops in this section of the country are good in general, except hay, which is under the average and in many places will not pay for cutting. Our neighbors in the Province of Quebec have got their election excitement over them. Doctor Duhamel who was elected for Ottawa County, is protested against by the agents of E. B. Eddy, on the grounds of illegal practices.

The various millowners have reduced the wages of their employees twenty per cent., commencing with this week; this is the result of the Lumbermen's Association lately inaugurated. Great excitement prevails amongst Eddy's employees, some of whom say it is because he was not elected M. P., instead of Duhamel. The city is unusually quiet, and hundreds of mill hands are in quest of employment. Wages of such rate from 90 cents to one dollar per diem. The various saw-mills will close early this season owing to so much timber being unable to reach its destination, owing to the water which is exceedingly low in the branch streams of the Ottawa.

The first meeting of the Ottawa Presbytery since the union, was held last week. Rev. Mr. Mann was appointed moderator, and Mr. Carswell, Secretary, at a salary of $120 per annum. The meetings of the Synod are to be quarterly, and the moderator elected every six months. The Agricultural and Arts Association met on Thursday last in the Chamber of the speaker of the Senate. After the reading of the minutes

there be any) to a public audience in support of the inspiration of the Bible. These detractors seem to forget or be ignorant of the fact that some of the ablest and best men in all the Churches have volunteered their services and been engaged in missionary work. Does it follow that because a minister is a missionary to Muskoka, or Thunder Bay, or China, or Japan that therefore he is a knave or a fool, especially when the service has been volunteered by the incumbent? In Mr. Marples' case his coming from Scotland to America to engage in missionary work was his own desire and voluntary choice, as I find by the published statement of his church in Edinburgh in "The Colonial Mission Field."

In simple justice to our opponent Mr. Marples, who is coming to Napanee, a stranger here, to undertake what our own ministers will not undertake, I ask a space in your columns for this vindication.

Respectfully Yours,

ALLEN PRINGLE.

SELBY, July 12th, 1875.

"THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH."

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, an event in the history of the British Empire which doubtless did much towards shaping the destiny of the great Protestant nation, was duly celebrated by the Orangemen of this section. Belleville was chosen as the place of rendezvous, and thither a vast multitude wended their way from different points along the Bay and surrounding country. It is estimated that not less than 10,000 persons were in town during the day, and when we consider the enthusiasm and excitement which are inseparably connected with the Orange principles — "the intoxicating drinks, and so wisely concluded to use their power to limit the sale of such beverages. We cheerfully make this observation, and accord them that praise which is their due.

AT MARLBANK.

The day was duly celebrated at the village of Marlbank by a procession composed of the Tamworth, Enterprise, Centreville and Marlbank Lodges, led by the Tamworth Brass Band, under the direction of Mr. John Reid. In the afternoon a sermon was preached for the Brethren by Rev. J. H. Nimmo, B.A., which is highly spoken of by those who heard it. Rev. Mr. Leech, (Presbyterian) of Centreville, Rev. Mr. Ferguson, of Lime Lake, Mr. John Clarke and others also gave addresses. The day passed very pleasantly, there being little or no drinking and no disturbance of any consequence. The visiting Brethren express their obligations for the many kind favors extended by the Orangemen of Marlbank, and will reciprocate when their turn comes.

AT ARDEN.

The little village of Arden, too, situated about 20 miles back of Tamworth, celebrated the anniversary of Orangeism in the usual loyal manner. The Lodges of Parham, Olden and Anglesea united with the Arden Brethren in the formation of a respectable procession. After the walk and refreshments, amusements were improvised and the remainder of the day very agreeably spent. We have no further particulars from the other sections of the back country, but conclude that the day was generally observed wherever Orange principles find favor. One feature of the celebration everywhere in Canada is worthy of remark. Religious bigotry and animosity were not permitted, on either side, to interfere with the simple rights of citizenship, and hence there are no reports of fanatical onslaughts between the Orange and the Green. Canada is a free country, where all nationalities

B. B. Perry

Napanee

W. CASEY, Publisher.)

"THE GREATEST GOOD TO

VOL. 14.]

NAPANEE, ONTARIO, THU

Correspondence

OTTAWA.

JULY 12th.

The weather during the past week has been showry and hot, except on Sunday, when a cold north wind blew. The crops in this section of the country are good in general, except hay, which is under the average and in many places will not pay for cutting. Our neighbors in the Province of Quebec have got their election excitement over them. Doctor Duhamel who was elected for Ottawa County, is protested against by the agents of E. B. Eddy, on the grounds of illegal practices.

The various millowners have reduced the wages of their employees twenty per cent., commencing with this week; this is the result of the Lumbermen's Association lately inaugurated. Great excitement prevails amongst Eddy's employees, some of whom say it is because he was not elected M. P., instead of Duhamel. The city is unusually quiet, and hundreds of mill hands are in quest of employment. Wages of such rate from 90 cents to one dollar per diem. The various saw-mills will close early this season owing to so much timber being unable to reach its destination, owing to the water which is exceedingly low in the branch streams of the Ottawa.

The first meeting of the Ottawa Presbytery since the union, was held last week. Rev. Mr. Mann was appointed moderator, and Mr. Carswell, Secretary, at a salary of $120 per annum. The meetings of the Synod are to be quarterly, and the moderator elected every six months. The Agricultural and Arts Association met on Thursday last in the Chamber of the speaker of the Senate. After the reading of the minutes

there be any) to a public audience in support of the inspiration of the Bible. These detractors seem to forget or be ignorant of the fact that some of the ablest and best men in all the Churches have volunteered their services and been engaged in missionary work. Does it follow that because a minister is a missionary to Muskoka, or Thunder Bay, or China, or Japan that therefore he is a knave or a fool, especially when the service has been volunteered by the incumbent? In Mr. Marples' case his coming from Scotland to America to engage in missionary work was his own desire and voluntary choice, as I find by the published statement of the church in Edinburgh in "The Colonial Mission Field."

In simple justice to our opponent, Mr. Marples, who is coming to Napanee, a stranger here, to undertake what our own ministers will not undertake, I ask a space in your columns for this vindication.

Respectfully Yours,

ALLEN PRINGLE.

SELBY, July 12th, 1875.

"THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH."

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, an event in the history of the British Empire which doubtless did much towards shaping the destiny of the great Protestant nation, was duly celebrated by the Orangemen of this section. Belleville was chosen as the place of rendezvous, and thither a vast multitude wended their way from different points along the Bay and surrounding country. It is estimated that not less than 10,000 persons were in town during the day, and when we consider the enthusiasm and excitement which are inseparably connected with the Orange principles — "the intoxicating drinks, and so wisely concluded to use their power to limit the sale of such beverages. We cheerfully make this observation, and accord them that praise which is their due.

AT MARLBANK.

The day was duly celebrated at the village of Marlbank by a procession composed of the Tamworth, Enterprise, Centreville and Marlbank Lodges, led by the Tamworth Brass Band, under the direction of Mr. John Reid. In the afternoon a sermon was preached for the Brethren by Rev. J. H. Nimmo, which is highly spoken of by those who heard it. Rev. Mr. Leech, (Presbyterian) of Centreville, Rev. Mr. Ferguson, of Lime Lake, Mr. John Clarke and others also gave addresses. The day passed very pleasantly, there being little or no drinking and no disturbance of any consequence. The visiting Brethren express their obligations for the many kind favors extended by the Orangemen of Marlbank, and will reciprocate when their turn comes.

AT ARDEN.

The little village of Arden, too, situated about 20 miles back of Tamworth, celebrated the anniversary of Orangemen in the usual loyal manner. The Lodges of Parham, Olden and Anglesea united with the Arden Brethren in the formation of a respectable procession. After the walk and refreshments, amusements were improvised and the remainder of the day very agreeably spent. We have no further particulars from the other sections of the back country, but conclude that the day was generally observed wherever Orange principles find favor. One feature of the celebration everywhere in Canada is worthy of remark. Religious bigotry and animosity were not permitted, on either side, to interfere with the simple rights of citizenship, and hence there are no reports of fanatical onslaughts between the Orange and the Green. Canada is a free country, where all nationalities against by the agents of E. B. Eddy, on the grounds of illegal practices.

The various millowners have reduced the wages of their employees twenty percent., commencing with this week; this is the result of the Lumbermen's Association lately inaugurated. Great excitement prevails amongst Eddy's employees, some of whom say it is because he was not elected M. P., instead of Duhamel. The city is unusually quiet, and hundreds of mill hands are in quest of employment. Wages of such rate from 90 cents to one dollar per diem. The various saw-mills will close early this season owing to so much timber being unable to reach its destination, owing to the water which is exceedingly low in the branch streams of the Ottawa.

The first meeting of the Ottawa Presbytery since the union, was held last week. Rev. Mr. Mann was appointed moderator, and Mr. Carswell, Secretary, at a salary of $120 per annum. The meetings of the Synod are to be quarterly, and the moderator elected every six months. The Agricultural and Arts Association met on Thursday last in the Chamber of the speaker of the Senate. After the reading of the minutes the various items regarding the approaching exhibition was discussed. The members left for their homes on Friday last. The Annual report and financial statement of the waterworks, has been published. The total expenditure from June 1872 till December 1874 to be $647,604.21. There are at present two set of pumps at work in the wheel house, and the contractor is actively engaged placing the third set in position.

A farewell social was given in the Kings Street Wesleyan Methodist Church, for the purpose of bidding adieu to their old pastor Rev. Mr. Hall. A very interesting opening in connection with the Protestant Hospital was held by way of inauguration. A large attendance was present on the occasion, speeches were made by Dr. Hill, Mayor Featherstone, Rev. Dr. Jones, Dr. Sweetland, Rev. Mr. Pollard and others.

A number of Irish Roman Catholic leaders are in the city, O'Donohue of Toronto, Devlin of Montreal and others. A rumour is current that their object is to urge the nomination of one of their number to a seat in the Cabinet in lieu of the Hon. R. W. Scott, who is expected to be raised to the Bench.

The Orangemen of this city, Hull, and Eardly celebrate their Anniversary by a grand procession to Christ Church, where the Rev. Mr. May is to preach on the occasion; the procession re-forms, and marches through the principal streets of the city. In the evening a strawberry festival is to be held in the new Orange Hall.

REV. MR. MARPLES.

Editor of the EXPRESS.

I notice in your last issue a letter from Rev. Mr. Marples, who is next week to meet Mr. Underwood in Napanee in public debate, in which he refers you to documents placed in my Marples, who is coming to Napanee, a stranger here, to undertake what our own ministers will not undertake. I ask a space in your columns for this vindication.

Respectfully Yours,

ALLEN PRINGLE.

SELBY, July 12th, 1875.

"THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH."

The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, an event in the history of the British Empire which doubtless did much towards shaping the destiny of the great Protestant nation, was duly celebrated by the Orangemen of this section. Belleville was chosen as the place of rendezvous, and thither a vast multitude wended their way from different points along the Bay and surrounding country. It is estimated that not less than 10,000 persons were in town during the day, and when we consider the enthusiasm and excitement which are inseparably connected with the Orange principles — "the bannered displays and escutcheons emblazoned," the bands, fifes and drums, there can be no difficulty in estimating the scene in Belleville on the 12th inst. The steamers Utica, Prince Edward, Shannon, Kincardine and Pierrepoint carried loads from Bay ports. The last mentioned boat was engaged by the Orange Young Britons of Napanee, under whose auspices the excursion was conducted, the remaining Orange Societies accompanying as guests. Early in the morning vehicle well-laden began to arrive from all quarters, and by eight o'clock, the whistle sounded, there was a crowd on the streets. The O. Y. formed at their Lodge Rooms on Dundas St., and with their neat uniform and youthful, vigorous appearance, showed to good advantage. Headed by Prof. Jacob's Band and the banners, &c., and followed by the other Societies, they marched to the boat. About 600 were on board, and the sail down the river and up the bay to Belleville, through the cool, bracing atmosphere, was much relished. The usual means of pastime were indulged, and about half-past ten the Pierrepoint steamed into the harbor. Thousands were on the wharves waiting to receive visitors, and so dense was the mass of eager, crowding human beings that some time elapsed before a landing was effected and the procession formed. The march was to the Agricultural Grounds, where the grand procession was formed and the line of route determined.

It was about an hour after noon, when the procession was formed in the little or no drinking and no consequence of any consequence. The Orangemen express their obligations for the many kind favors extended by the Orangemen of Marlbank, and will reciprocate when their turn comes.

AT ARDEN.

The little village of Arden, too, situated about 20 miles back of Timworth, celebrated the anniversary of Orangeism in the usual loyal manner. The Lodges of Parham, Olden and Anglesea united with the Arden Brethren in the formation of a respectable procession. After the walk and refreshments, amusements were improvised and the remainder of the day very agreeably spent. We have no further particulars from the other sections of the back country, but conclude that the day was generally observed wherever Orange principles find favor. One feature of the celebration everywhere in Canada is worthy of remark. Religious bigotry and animosity were not permitted, on either side, to interfere with the simple rights of citizenship, and hence there are no reports of fanatical onslaughts between the Orange and the Green. Canada is a free country, where all nationalities, and political or religious bodies, have equal rights and privileges; and the law will protect them in the exercise of their rights.

THE TOWN DRAINAGE.

As was intimated in last week's press a public meeting of the electors of Napanee was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, to take under consideration the drainage of the town.

There was a large attendance, and the meeting was a good one, presided by the Mayor.

In the absence of the Mayor, the Reeve, W. Ross, Esq., was called to the chair. He at once called upon Dr. Ruttan, as he had in the Council given this subject particular attention.

Dr. Ruttan having been called upon, made a statement of what had occurred in the Council, and the action they had taken with regard to public drains. That the street committee had been asked by the Council to furnish a report of what they would recommend in the way of public drains; that a thorough drainage of the town was desirable and that they, the Committee, of which he was a member, should furnish some plan by which it could be brought about most efficiently and most economically.

In entering upon their duties they found that the street Committee had expended in 1871, on streets the sum of $3,940.19, in 1872, $5,793.93, in 1873, $3,578.91, in 1874, $5,278.58. He could not ascertain from the treasurers ac-

readers are in the city, O. Donohoe of Toronto, Devlin of Montreal and others. A rumour is current that their object is to urge the nomination of one of their number to a seat in the Cabinet in lieu of the Hon. R. W. Scott, who is expected to be raised to the Bench.

The Orangemen of this city, Hull, and Eardly celebrate their Anniversary by a grand procession to Christ Church, where the Rev. Mr. May is to preach on the occasion; the procession re-forms, and marches through the principal streets of the city. In the evening a strawberry festival is to be held in the new Orange Hall.

REV. MR. MARPLES.

Editor of the EXPRESS.

I notice in your last issue a letter from Rev. Mr. Marples, who is next week to meet Mr. Underwood in Napanee in public debate, in which he refers you to documents placed in my possession in regard to his position and standing, past and present, in the Christian Ministry. Allow me space to say that these documents afford a complete contradiction to, and refutation of, the disparaging allegations and uncharitable insinuations which have been circulated against Mr. Marples by persons on his own side, who would, seemingly in anticipation of defeat, fain make it appear in advance that that gentleman will not be a competent or proper representative of the Christian side in the debate.

During the four years since the arrival of Mr. Marples in Canada from Scotland, his record is known or can be ascertained by consulting the published proceedings of the General Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church. Previous to coming here he filled important and honorable positions as a minister in England and Scotland, and has with him credentials (which I have examined) attested by such men as Rev. Sir H. Wellwood Moncreiff, Bart. D. D., Rev. Thos. Smith, D. D., Rev. John Morgan, Rev. John Simpson, Rev. Alex. Duff, D. D., L. L. D., Rev. George Johnston D. D., Capt. Rod. Mackenzie, Secty. Scottish Evangelistic Association, and others. There is therefore no grounds whatever for the derogatory allegations against Mr. Marples which have been going since it was known he intended meeting Mr. Underwood here in public debate. In the absence of any just or tenable grounds on which to base these disparagements it is absurdly urged that Mr. Marples' incumbency is "away back in Muskoka," and hence he is "incompetent"—he is a "Missionary in the back woods" and hence is unfit or unable to present the facts and arguments (if Headed by Prof. Jacob's Band and the banners, &c., and followed by the other Societies, they marched to the boat. About 600 were on board, and the sail down the river and up the bay to Belleville, through the cool, bracing atmosphere, was much relished. The usual means of pastime were indulged, and about half-past ten the Pierrepoint steamed [into the harbor. Thousands were on the wharves waiting to receive visitors, and so dense was the mass of eager, crowding human beings that some time elapsed before a landing was effected and the procession formed. The march was to the Agricultural Grounds, where the grand procession was formed and the line of route determined.

It was about an hour after noon, when the procession was formed in the following order, marshalled by a number of well-mounted horsemen:—

Union Jack.

BAND.

Napanee Orange Young Britons.

Mill Point Orange Young Britons.

Tweed Orange Young Britons.

BAND.

Belleville Orange Young Britons.

BAND.

Belleville Prentice Boys.

BAND.

Orange Lodges, Counties Lennox and Addington.

BAND.

Orange Lodges, County Prince Edward.

BAND.

Orange Lodges, County S. Hastings.

BAND.

Royal Black Knights.

Grand Lodge Officers, in carriages.

The streets were thronged with spectators, and the dust over part of the route was anything but agreeable. It was two o'clock before the grounds were reached again, and the Brethren were then in good trim for dinner, which was served liberally, and partaken of in the same spirit. Speeches followed, but our space will not admit an extended notice. Shortly after six o'clock the Napanee Brethren were on board with their friends, and the Pierrepoint steamed out amid deafening cheers. The moonlight trip home was delightful, where they arrived about ten, much pleased with the excursion.

In conclusion we have much pleasure in bearing witness to the good order and absence of drunkenness that prevailed. No liquors were sold on board the boat, and for this precaution the Orange Young Britons deserve thanks of all temperance people. knew that the only liability to would come from an excess Ruttan, as he had in the Council given this subject particular attention.

Dr. Ruttan having been called upon, made a statement of what had occurred in the Council, and the action they had taken with regard to public drains. That the street committee had been asked by the Council to furnish a report of what they would recommend in the way of public drains; that a thorough drainage of the town was desirable and that they, the Committee, of which he was a member, should furnish some plan by which it could be brought about most efficiently and most economically.

In entering upon their duties they found that the street Committee had expended in 1871, on streets the sum of $8,940.19, in 1872, $5,798.93, in 1873, $3,578.91, in 1874, $5,278.58. He could not ascertain from the treasurers accounts the precise amount that had been expended on drains, in each and every year, as the whole sum so expended had been charged under the head of "Labour." But from the best information he could obtain from the Treasurer, the street Superintendent, and others who knew, or had ought to know, the probable amount so expended annually, has averaged about $1,350 a year for the last ten or twelve years. He further explained that this was only a part of the actual expenditure, as the Council had been in the habit in most cases of making grants for drainage purposes, on conditions that the party or parties interested would give a proportional amount. Now this is what he would recommend, only in a better form, half to be paid by Local Assessment and half by the Town, under the authority of the Local Improvement Acts; that the expenditure which would under existing arrangements be extended over eight or ten years should be commuted, and made in a single year, the work done well once for all, and never be meddled with afterwards. He proposed that the drainage works should be constructed at first in that part of the town, where they were most required, viz that portion of the town north of Centre street at the swing would be from the P to Bridge street

1,716 ft

1,716'

1 -

Lennox and Addington

Historical Society

Napanee,

Ontario.

Express.

OD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

($1 50 per annum.

THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1875.

[No. 19.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

Last week we referred to a scandalous outrage perpetrated by some unknown wretch upon a defenceless young woman from Shannonville, and expressed the hope that the guilty party would be discovered and brought to justice. As yet no sufficient evidence has been adduced to fasten the crime upon any particular person, although suspicion, we believe, is well directed. Since then another and similar affair has transpired, and while the whole community lifts its hands in holy horror, and calls it "shocking" the villain who did the deed is unknown and unpunished. We trust this state of affairs will not exist much longer. From Mr. Storms we learn the following facts:—One day last week a young lady of undoubted respectability, who is favourably known in town, came in from the country when near the Court House met a woman from whom she enquired the direction to a friend's residence. He proposed to know, and offered to show her the way. She consented and followed him across the Railway Bridge and into the deep cutting beyond. Here she protested against going any further in that direction, insisting that he was wrong. He assured her not, and that her friend lived only a short distance away; and when the curve in the road was passed his diabolical design was made manifest. By almost superhuman exertions the frightened woman tore herself from the brute's grasp, and fled screaming. She escaped and told her pitiful tale to the police and citizens whom she met, but not being able in her excitement to give any information which would lead to the arrest of the fiend, the matter necessarily rests. The police are anxious to find some clue which will enable them to fasten

For the EXPRESS.

THE LITTLE COAT.

I have a little plaided coat, with trimmings plaided bright,
That has been laid for years away close folded
out of sight;
Yet sometimes, when I chance to come where it has been so long,
The silken edge looks dim and blurred, because my tears are strong
The last time that I took it down, because the need was o'er,
I found the pockets full of toys, that would be used no more;
The little bits of colored glass and tinsel paper lay Folded together with the coat, and so I let them stay,
Of all the traces that are left, remaining of the past,
This touches nearest to the heart, because he wore it last:
And often times the little arms were crossed upon its breast,
That never more will clasp me here, because they are at rest,
Without the little tender form, this coat I cannot see—Something in every worn down fold recalls it back to me;
And though his every garment now is sacred to my heart,
From this, the pockets filled by him, I could not bear to part.
My little boy no longer needs his coat with trimmings bright,
For since I had it laid away, his robes have been
of white;
So when I meet him at the last my longing eyes may see
The hands that placed the toys held out again to me.

MATILDA FENN.

OUR PREMIER AT HOME.

The Premier of Canada, the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, has been in town during the past week, enjoying himself by attending to the business of the Dominion, which is a way of seeking recreation and rest peculiar to men who have a capacity for work. It may not be generally known that this gentleman, who occupies the first place in the councils of the Crown of Canada, won it by his character. Since his accession to office he has infused new life into every public department, and has laid the foundation for the greatest undertakings, which will not fail to sustain the Dominion as the first of Her Majesty's possessions, India only excepted. Among the decorated and debentures for the sum of $12,000, payable over a period of ten years; that is $1200 per annum with the interest thereon, $600 to be raised by Local Assessment, from owners of land according to frontage, or otherwise situated on the streets so drained, and benefited thereby; and $1000 to be paid by the Town. He argued that this would not add a single dollar to the taxation of the town, for all he asked was $600 a year, out of the $1,350 that are now annually expended on drains, which might have answered very well in the early history of the place when the town consisted of but little more than one street, but were wholly insufficient at the present time and would continue to be worse and worse as the town increased in population and area, and after the $600 had been deducted from the $1,350 there would remain a balance of $750 per annum to be expended elsewhere the same as if the work had never been undertaken. He then referred to the Local Assessment; that according to the Engineer's estimate the work would cost about $1. per running foot. The estimate was a trifle over this, but he was informed by the Engineer that he (Mr. Innes) always allowed a fine margin to contractors. This would make $33 to be paid by the owner of each lot of 60 feet frontage, or an annual local assessment of $2.75., but of this the town pays one half which renders it to $1.87 per annum. This he might be told was an under estimate, which he would readily acknowledge. There were a number of streets to cross which must be paid for by the town, with or without the aid of local assessment, interest to be provided for, and other contingencies, so that the local assessment may run up to $2.00 or $2.50 per annum for a lot with 66 feet frontage, but he (Dr. Rittan) would guarantee that if the assessment exceeded the above sum the works would not be undertaken with his consent. He then referred to the great advantages to be derived by the land owners situated on these streets: that it would remain a balance of $750 per annum to be expended elsewhere the same as if the work had never been undertaken. He then referred to the Local Assessment; that according to the Engineer's estimate the work would cost about $1, per running foot. The estimate was a trifle over this, but he was informed by the Engineer that he (Mr. Innes) always allowed a fine margin to contractors. This would make $33 to be paid by the owner of each lot of 66 feet frontage, or an annual local assessment of $2.75, but of this the town pays one half which renders it to $1.37 per annum. This he might be told was an under estimate, which he would readily acknowledge. There were a number of streets to cross which must be paid for by the town, with or without the aid of local assessment, interest to be provided for, and other contingencies, so that the local assessment may run up to $2.00 or $2.50 per annum for a lot with 66 feet frontage, but he (Dr. Britton) would guarantee that if the assessment exceeded the above sum the works would not be undertaken with his consent.

He then referred to the great advantages to be derived by the land owners situated on these streets; that it would cost $100 to $400 to the value of each lot so drained; to say nothing about the health of the town and its local conveniences. The object he had in view in moving the Council for the Mayor to call this public meeting was that people might meet together and see what was to be said upon the subject, and so prevent a majority of people from petitioning against the work, and thus embarrass the Mayor who had the interest of the town at heart. He knew very well some of the land-owners interested, and he would from the public spirit oppose this underestimation. He could not understand a right minded individual could object to so desirable a work, which can be brought about with so small an assessment. He contended that it was no more a taxation than it would be for a land owner to make any other local improvement for his own personal benefit. He was satisfied, however, that whatever might be the immediate results, this meeting would be productive of good. That the seed had been fairly sown, and all that it now required was time with its seasons, and its sunshine and showers, to produce its fruit.

Charles R. Miller, Esq., spoke at considerable length in opposition to the proposed plan. He urged that the town was now burdened with a debt of about $30,000 and the rate of assessment nearly as high as the law would allow, and to add another $14,000 at this time would be most unfortunate. Drains were needed, but something less expensive might be tried. In his opinion such a plan was not really and strictly necessary, and he was therefore opposed to it. The present drains were much more efficient than was represented, and some streets were already well drained. He claimed to be an economist and would oppose large outlays of public money unless in exist much longer. From Mr. Storms we learn the following facts:—One day last week a young lady of undoubted respectability, who is favourably known in town, came in from the country, when near the Court House met a woman from whom she enquired the direction to a friend's residence. He proposed to know, and offered to show her the way. She consented and followed him across the Railway Bridge and into the deep cutting beyond. Here she protested against going any further in that direction, insisting that he was wrong. He assured her not, and that her friend lived only a short distance away; and when the curve in the road was passed his diabolical design was made manifest. By almost superhuman exertions the frightened woman tore herself from the brute's grasp, and fled screaming. She escaped and told her pitiful tale to the police and citizens who met her, but not being able in her excitement to give any information which would lead to the arrest of the fiend, the matter necessarily rests. The police are anxious to find some clue which will enable them to fasten the charge upon the proper person, and make an example of the wretch. This last outrage took place in midday, and in hailing distance of hundreds. No language we can properly use is too strong to express the public feeling on such conduct, and for the credit of our town we trust a repetition will not occur.

Hastings Co.

The steamer Rochester was seized at Belleville for infract of the Customs laws. There were 12 births, 5 marriages and in Belleville during the month according to registration.

Proems off the St. Lawrence bank were refused in Belleville, unless at a discount of 40 per cent. The bank is said to be perfectly solvent.

There are now fewer prisoners in Belleville jail than for many months past.

Another Regatta at Massassaga Point on the 18th inst.—and a Picnic, too.

On Friday, the 24th inst., Mr. Asahel Vermilyea, of Tharlow, manufacturer of cheese boxes, whilst engaged in sawing at his factory, got the back of one of his hands badly cut by the saw. The cords were cut through, and it seems quite likely, according to our informant, that the use of the hand will be lost, even if amputation be not necessary. Dr. Wilson is in attendance.—Intelligence.

We learn that the prisoners White, Josey and Mairand, sent to the Kingston Penitentiary, are all usefully employed in that institution. White and Josey are laboring in the quarry, and Josey either is or is to be at work in the moulding shop. The last named has been in hospital, but has now recovered, and the others are in their usual state of health.

back to me; And though his every garment now is sacred to my heart, From this, the pockets filled by him, I could not bear to part. My little boy no longer needs his coat with trimmings bright, For since I had it laid away, his robes have been of white; So when I meet him at the last my longing eyes may see The little hands that placed the toys held out again to me.

MATILDA FINN.

OUR PREMIER AT HOME.

The Premier of Canada, the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, has been in town during the past week, enjoying himself by attending to the business of the Dominion, which is a way of seeking recreation and rest peculiar to men who have a capacity for work. It may not be generally known that this gentleman, who occupies the first place in the councils of the Crown of Canada, won it by his character. Since his accession to office he has infused new life into every public department, and has laid the foundation for the greatest undertakings, which will not fail to sustain the Dominion as the first of Her Majesty's possessions, India only excepted. Among the decorated and titled guests of her Majesty at the State Ball last night there was not one who has done better, harder, or more enduring work for the Queen's Empire than Mr. Alexander Mackenzie.—London Canadian News.

THE BEECHER SCANDAL.

The following correspondence has passed between F. D. Moulton and District-Attorney Britton. The reply of the latter is particularly good. Mr. Moulton writes:—

The following is Moulton's letter:—
SIR.—It is now nearly a year since, at the instance of Rev. H. W. Beecher, I was indicted for libel in charging him with adultery with Elizabeth R. Tilton. During all this time the prosecution have taken no step for the trial of the indictment. I am advised I have a right to demand the trial, and, accordingly, I hereby notify that I am ready at any moment to meet the charge, and request you to appoint the earliest practicable day for trial; and since it is intimated by parizans of the prosecution that they intend to shield him from the consequences of the exposure involved in the trial of my charge of adultery by procuring the withdrawal or suppression of this indictment, I hereby protest against such an evasion of public justice and outrage on private right. If Rev. H. W. Beecher is innocent upon, cured by had brains. been a re- end in thor- desira- ee, of d fur- ild be y and se they ee had e sum n 1873, e could ers ac- at had k and so ex- er the he best in the ndent. ght to xpend- about twelve at this xpend- in the grants ditions erved mount. mend. be paid by the e Local xpend- ing arg- ht or d made ie well, teddled d that istruct- town. viz local improvement for his own personal benefit. He was satisfied, however, that whatever might be the immediate results, this meeting would be productive of good. That the seed had been fairly sown, and all that it now required was time with its seasons, and its sunshine and showers, to produce its fruit.

Brussels,

Charles R. Miller, Esq., spoke at considerable length in opposition to the proposed plan. He urged that the town was now burdened with a debt of about $30,000 and the rate of assessment nearly as high as the law would allow, and to add another $14,000 at this time would be most unfortunate. Drains were needed, but something less expensive might be tried. In his opinion such a plan was not really and strictly necessary, and he was therefore opposed to it. The present drains were much more efficient than was represented, and some streets were already well drained. He claimed to be an economist and would oppose large outlays of public money unless in case of necessity. In regard to the estimates produced he thought them of little value and probably much too low. The engineers making them had not made any personal survey and knew nothing of the nature of the soil to be drained or the elevation of the land, and his estimates therefore were of little importance.

S. McL. Dettlor, Esq., spoke, opposing the measure, as an increase of taxation, but his remarks were inaudible to us.

John T. Grange, M. P. P., also spoke in opposition, urging that a good deal had already been done by property owners in regard to drains, and it was hardly fair to put on the tax as proposed.

Mr. T. W. Casey said the p wanted to know first if the drain the streets referred to was and then if the present scheme most efficient and the cheap end. He did not claim in regard to it and y an opinion.

Robert

past.

Another Regatta at Massassaga Point on the 18th. inst.—and a Pic nic, too.

On Friday, the 24th inst., Mr. Asahel Vermilyea, of Tharlow, manufacturer of cheese boxes, whilst engaged in sawing at his factory, got the back of one of his hands badly cut by the saw. The cords were cut through, and it seems quite likely, according to our informant, that the use of the hand will be lost, even if amputation be not necessary. Dr. Wilson is in attendance.—Intelligence.

We learn that the prisoners White, Josey and Mairand, sent to the Kingston Penitentiary, are all usefully employed in that institution. White and Mairand are laboring in the quarry, and Josey either is or is to be at work in the moulding shop. The last name has been in hospital, but has now recovered, and the others are in their usual state of health.—Intelligence.

Print

The Fiction hold their ex September.

Dogs, deer, sheep, and the dogs.

The pron

T

have taken no step for the trial of the indictment. I am advised I have a right to demand the trial, and, accordingly, I hereby notify that I am ready at any moment to meet the charge, and request you to appoint the earliest practicable day for trial: and since it is intimated by parizans of the prosecution that they intend to shield him from the consequences of the exposure involved in the trial of my charge of adultery by procuring the withdrawal or suppression of the indictment, I hereby protest against such an evasion of public justice and outrage on private right. If Rev

Brussels,

Under inspection ublic for

NS.

RE!

GS

gs.

te!

N.

Family Reading

DOMESTIC DIPLOMACY.

She was watching at the window,
As I hurried down the street,
In the simple brown merino
That I fancy looks so neat,
And her smile I thought portentous,
It was so exceeding sweet.

Then she met me at the threshold
With a very loving kiss,
That recalled the early stages
Of our matrimonial bliss,
And I felt at once a tremor—
Was there anything amiss?

No! The children were all quiet,
And the hearth was very bright,
And my pet—our roguish Charlie—
Was quite festal in his white;
Yet I braced myself for something,
Be that something what it might.

My chair was near the fire,
And my slippers by its side—
My pipe was very handy,
And my papers open wide,
And she wore the pretty breastpin
That I gave her when a bride.

The dinner was perfection—
It was lavish without waste;
The soupe was vermicelli,
And exactly to my taste;
While the desert was a triumph
Of artistic skill in paste.

And when the meal was over,
And the inner man at rest,
She drew her chair beside me,
With the baby on her breast,
I felt, and so I told her,
I was one among the blest.

Oh! the smile of tender radiance
That illuminated all her face,
As I clasped her to my bosom
In a lover's fond embrace,
It was then she softly whispered,
"Won't you let me have that lace?"

THE COMPANY PLAN.

Here's something, my dears, that the editor of St. Nicholas said long ago to a crowd of youngsters. As I never heard of its doing them any special harm, it occurs to me that it will not hurt my little folks to hear it:

Did you ever notice what an amiable, pleasant feeling steals over you when you are visiting and on your "good behavior?"—how willing you are to overlook anything that interferes with your comfort?—how anxious to please and how ready to take an interest in all that is going on?—At these times your face lights up, your voice grows sweet and cheerful, your very movements become graceful. "What pleasant persons these friends are!" you say to yourself; and they very naturally consider you quite winning and delightful. So far so good. It is just as I should be.

Of course, when you go home you take all your pleasant ways with you. If these friends who have known you but a little while and who care for you merely as friends, have power to brighten and sweeten you, certainly when

THE STORY OF A STREET ARAB.

The story of a Cincinnati newsboy who found a pocketbook containing $100 and returned it to the owner with contents intact, reached Philadelphia in good season, and was productive of considerable of a sensation among the street Arabs. One small boy was so affected by it that he straightway determined to see that Cincinnati boy, and go him seventeen or eighteen better. He took another small boy into his confidence, and the test of probity of character was carried into effect. Boy No. 2 dropped a well padded pocketbook, which boy No. 1, following close behind, picked up.

Then with a look on his face that would have done honor to Benjamin Franklyn, the honest little fellow walked up to an old gentleman who was passing by, extended the pocketbook, and with trembling voice exclaimed, "Take it, sir. It is yours. You dropped it just now. My mother and seven little brothers are starving, but I cannot keep it, sir, for it don't belong to me." The old gentlemen looked at the boy, then pulled out his spectacles and adjusted them for a better sight. He could not sufficiently admire the wan visage of that little street wanderer, illuminated as it was with a glow of goodness and honesty.

He patted the boy on the head, and pulling a five dollar bill from his vest pocket, handed it to him, saying, "Boy, you will grow to be a great man. Take this money for your starving family, and always remember that 'honesty is the best policy.'" Then the old gentleman hurried into the nearest lager beer saloon and opened his pocket book. Then he began to dance around and call heaven and earth to witness that if ever he encountered that boy again he would flay him alive. And he continued to orate until a policeman was called in to arrest him as a lunatic, and the only excuse he could offer for his conduct was that a small boy had robbed him of five dollars by giving him a pocketbook stuffed with old paper.

SHIP ATTACKED BY A SWORDFISH.—The Liverpool Mercury says:—"Mr. J. J. Harwood, master of the British Brigantine Fortunate, in dock at Liverpool, reports that whilst on his passage from the Rio Grande, when in latitude 22.12 north, and longitude 47.9 west,

"A SCREW LOOSE."

"Only a little screw loose." That's all. It's only a little screw loose somewhere. He would be all right only for that. He's a good sort of a fellow in his way—naturally good-hearted—means to do about right—but—ah! there is the loose screw. But for that! My young friend, did you ever hear your neighbor make such a remark about you? And, did you lay the flattering unction to your soul that it didn't much matter? If only one screw was loose you would soon come out right? Well, so far as any moral reliance upon you is concerned, your whole structure, mental and physical, might as well be knocked into wreck and ruin as for you to go with that one little screw loose. Before you can be trusted you must tighten up the very last atom of your machinery, and see that every part is in accord with every other part. Man is not unlike a watch in this respect. I have a fine chronometer from the hands of one of the most approved engineering makers; every effort of genius in work, outside and in. By and by my chronometer moves uncertainly, and finally stops. I take it to a watchmaker, and he looks at it and says: "Only a little screw loose." That's all; in the delicate machinery, among the many nicely adjusted parts, only one little screw is loose. And yet for all legitimate purposes of a timekeeper the whole watch might as well be crushed into utter ruin, as to leave that one screw loose. We are not apt to fully realize the importance of the little things of life. Life—that life which makes the man—is made up of many, very many parts, all delicately and nicely adjusted; and he, to be relied upon, who would be trusted, must have no loose screws in the machinery of his being—not one. Right to right, and if there is a screw loose, all is wrong; and, until that screw is tightened to its proper bearing, trust and reliance in that particular being are lost. Young men don't forget even the smallest things of every-day life. Look to it that every part of your moral and physical machinery is in perfect order—and so shall you be honored and trusted.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE GIRLS.

"Why is it," says a recent writer, "that gentlemen have such a poor op-

FOR

BL

Tra
TAE C

For
from al recome
For
and So per
It
Cu
Cu
Cu
Cu
Cu
Cle

Fr
As this and wa ious to either to give
Thou
Sold contain —affie
the gre
BY AI
MENT
world.
Sole pro
APOTE
EN Sold in Medic
Whol
Ontario
EVAN

ENI REF

THE
ter
that the their

M

BRIDG

and ad
eral Ne pared t

STY

From t

MILL

They wi do repa all Mach

Rem
and Ad

near of its doing them any special harm, it occurs to me that it will not hurt my little folks to hear it :

Did you ever notice what an amiable, pleasant feeling steals over you when you are visiting and on your "good behavior?"—how willing you are to overlook anything that interferes with your comfort?—how anxious to please and how ready to take an interest in all that is going on?—At these times your face lights up, your voice grows sweet and cheerful, your very movements become graceful. "What pleasant persons these friends are!" you say to yourself; and they very naturally consider you quite winning and delightful. So far so good. It is just as I should be.

Of course, when you go home you take all your pleasant ways with you. If these friends who have known you but a little while and who care for you merely as friends, have power to brighten and sweeten you, certainly when you return to your own relatives, who love you so much, you'll be brighter and sweeter than ever.

Is it so? perhaps it is. But if, by any chance, it should not be—if, for instance, you choose to let yourself be sour or indifferent at home, thinking any tone of voice, any glum look, and any careless word good enough for "the folks"—I'm sorry for you, that's all. You lose a great deal of comfort, and you miss a great opportunity of making others happy. But it is never too late to improve. Suppose you try the company plan. Be polite, sunny, and charming at home. Commence to-morrow—no, to-day. The home is only a visit after all, for no family can remain together always.—St. Nicholas for July.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT.—A sad accident happened about 1 p. m., on the 24th inst., in West Williams, County of Middlesex. Charles Hill was sinking a well on his farm, and, on reaching a depth of thirty feet, left for dinner, and on his return descended, but on reaching a depth of 14 feet, he dropped from the bucket, overcome by poisonous gas.

—less Mr. Gatt, with, this money for your starving family, and always remember that "honesty is the best policy." Then the old gentleman hurried into the nearest lager beer saloon and opened his pocket book. Then he began to dance around and call heaven and earth to witness that if ever he encountered that boy again he would flay him alive. And he continued to orate until a policeman was called in to arrest him as a lunatic, and the only excuse he could offer for his conduct was that a small boy had robbed him of five dollars by giving him a pocketbook stuffed with old paper.

SHIP ATTACKED BY A SWORDFISH.—The Liverpool Mercury says:—"Mr. J. J. Harwood, master of the British Brigantine Fortunate, in dock at Liverpool, reports that whilst on his passage from the Rio Grande, when in latitude 22.12 north, and longitude 47.9 west, his ship was struck by a large fish, which made the vessel shake very much. Thinking the ship had been merely struck by the tail of some sea monster, he took no further notice of the matter; but after discharging cargo at Runcorn, and coming into the Canada half-tide dock, he found the plank ends in the stern on closer examination he found that a swordfish had driven completely through the plank, four inches in thickness, leaving the point of the sword nearly eight inches through the plank. The fish in its struggle broke the sword off level with the outside of the vessel, and by its attack upon the ship lost nearly a foot length of the very dangerous weapon with which it was armed. There is no doubt that this somewhat singular occurrence took place when the vessel was struck as Captain Harwood describes.

PARIS GREEN.—While many authorities recommend that Paris green be dusted over potato vines attacked by the Colorado beetle, it is confessed by all that the use of the poison in this manner is attended with considerable danger, as the dust is too poisonous to be inhaled with impunity. Then, too, Paris green can only be applied dry when the dew is on. Paris green may be dissolved in water at any time and is safer from dust. A small quantity of Paris green is sufficient

It should be washed. If put on green may be of ground plastuter ruin, as to leave that one screw loose. We are not apt to fully realize the importance of the little things of life. Life—that life which makes the man—is made up of many, very many parts, all delicately and nicely adjusted; and he, to be relied upon, who would be trusted, must have no loose screws in the machinery of his being—not one. Right to right, and if there is a screw loose, all is wrong; and, until that screw is tightened to its proper bearing, trust and reliance in that particular being are lost. Young men don't forget even the smallest things of every-day life. Look to it that every part of your moral and physical machinery is in perfect order—and so shall you be honored and trusted.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE GIRLS.

"Why is it," says a recent writer, "that gentlemen have such a poor opinion of young girls? As a rule they think them pleasant to pass an hour with, provided the girls let them make a little money. And why do they not repay them with interest? And why do they not blame for this? Surely not the girls! Their highest ambition in life is to be loved by, and become the good man. And say what you will, protest that it is a noble end, and its end in view, it is often a natural that a desire to please these "lords of creation" should be uppermost in a girl's mind. If she cannot do it by fair means, she will do it by foul. If men will not be interested when you talk sense to them, what can you do but resort to nonsense? Men complain that girls never have anything to talk of except their last flirtation, balls, and parties. Yet if they converse with you for an hour on philosophy, metaphysics, or even the last new book, you are bored, call the poor girl who has worried her brain for your entertainment a "blue stocking," insist that women were made to please, not to lecture one like a brained professor, and wonder "what she did it for!" Now what is it you men want of us? I venture to say, if you were to lay down your rules, there is no one girl in a thousand but would gladly obey them, ridiculous as they would surely be. Try it and see. If you have a lady friend whom you think so much of, if it were not for this or that little fault, tell her so, and if she cares anything for you she will correct it. Your influence over us is greater even than I like to confess, but you see it in the wrong way. Take my advice and treat women more like

EN
REF
TH te that ti their

BRID and ac eral N
pared
From

MILL
They v do rep
al Mac Rem and A

Ex
tor
Hal
on

W

fact ev both se

AS

Com

C

Nap

Ste

TH
St omple in com ble of
She is ted for Full signep

Feb

charming at home. Commence tomorrow—no, to-day. The home is only a visit after all, for no family can remain together always.—St. Nicholas for July.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT.—A sad accident happened about 1 p. m., on the 24th inst., in West Williams, County of Middlesex. Charles Hill was sinking a well on his farm, and, on reaching a depth of thirty feet, left for dinner, and on his return descended, but on reaching a depth of 14 feet, he dropped from the bucket, overcome by poisonous gas.

—less Mr. Gatt, with, the outside of the vessel, and by its attack upon the ship lost nearly a foot length of the very dangerous weepen with which it was armed. There is no doubt that this somewhat singular occurrence took place when the vessel was struck as Captain Harwood describes.

PARIS GREEN.—While many authorities recommend that Paris green be dusted over potato vines attacked by the Colorado beetle, it is confessed by all that the use of the poison in this manner is attended with considerable danger, as the dust is too poisonous to be inhaled with impunity. Then, too, Paris green can only be applied dry when the dew is on. Paris green may be mixed in water at any time and used as a spray. A small quantity of Paris green is sufficient.

It should be used with caution. If put on the ground, Paris green may be of ground plaster.

you talk sense to them, what can you do but resort to nonsense? Men complain that girls never have anything to talk of except their last flirtation, balls, and parties. Yet if they converse with you for an hour on philosophy, metaphysics, or even the last new book, you are bored, call the poor girl who has worried her brain for your entertainment a "blue stocking," insist that women were made to please, not to lecture one like a brained professor, and wonder "what she did it for!" Now what is it you men want of us? I venture to say, if you were to lay down your rules, there is no one girl in a thousand but would gladly obey them, ridiculous as they would surely be. Try it and see. If you have a lady friend whom you think so much of, if it were not for this or that little fault, tell her so, and if she cares anything for you she will correct it. Your influence over us is greater even than I like to confess, but you see it in the wrong way. Take my advice and treat women more like human beings than dolls, and I prophesy a speedy change for the better!"

at Cats-
The
the

HEARTFUL READING.

A bad book, magazine or newspaper, is as dangerous to your child as a vicious companion, and will as surely corrupt his morals and lead him away from the paths of safety. Every parent should set his thought before his child and ponder it well. Look to the children read, and especially to the papers that get into their hands. Now published attractive

FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.

CLARKE'S
WORLD FAMED
BLOOD MIXTURE.

Trade Mark,—“Blood Mixture,”
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND
RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood
from all impurities, cannot be too highly
recommended,

- For Scrofula, Scurvey, Skin Diseases,
and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing
permanent cure.
- It cures old Sores
- Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
- Cures Ulcerated Scro Legs.
- Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face,
- Cures Scurvy Sores.
- Cures Cancerous Ulcers.
- Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.
- Cures Glandular Swellings.
- Clears the Blood from all impure
Matter.

From whatever cause arising.
As this mixture is pleasant to the taste,
and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of
either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers
to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts
Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, at each sufficient to effect a permanent cure in
the great majority of long-standing cases,
BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout
world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist,
APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN,
ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent
Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec:—
EVANS, MERCER and CO., Montreal.

ENLARGED
REFITTED, IMPROVED

THE Subscribers would call the attention of the public to the fact that they have made large additions to their

MACHINE SHOP.

Corner
BRIDGE and ADELPHI STREETS, and added at considerable expense several New Machines. They are now prepared to execute orders for

STEAM ENGINES

From two to fifty horse power, and all kinds of

MILL AND OTHER MACHINERY

They will also, on the shortest notice, do repairing to all kinds of Agricultural Machinery.

Remember the place, Corner Bridge and Adelphi Streets.

G. MAIR AND BRO

WEES & SHOREY

HAVE ENGAGED

A FIRST-CLASS CUTTER,

and are now prepared

TO GET UP CLOTHING

IN THE

MOST IMPROVED STYLE,

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

—:0:—

OUR STOCK OF DRY GOODS IS NOW COMPLETE

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

Just opened two cases of

MEN'S SUMMER HATS.

Are showing a splendid stock of

STRIPED LAWNS FOR SUMMER COSTUMES,

ALSO A FEW PIECES OF BATTISTES

A LOT OF NEW SILK SCARFS.

WEES & SHOREY.

NEW DRUG STORE!

Having moved to my new Store I am now prepared to display my goods better and to sell cheaper than ever.

I have purchased a large stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines,

Paints, Oils, Glass, Putty,

School Books and Stationery

ENLARGED REFITTED, IMPROVED

THE Subscribers would call the attention of the public to the fact that they have made large additions to their

MACHINE SHOP.

Corner

BRIDGE and ADELPHI STREETS, and added at considerable expense several New Machines. They are now prepared to execute orders for

STEAM ENGINES

From two to fifty horse power, and all kinds of

MILL AND OTHER MACHINERY

They will also, on the shortest notice, do repairing to all kinds of Agricultural Machinery.

Remember the place, Corner Bridge and Adelphi Streets.

G. MAIR AND BRO.

EX- HALL DYE WORKS

undersigned begs to inform the inof Napanee and vicinity that WATER will be p entrusted to

ENTS' CLOTHING

NED AND DYED IN 48 HOURS TIME.

FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear

AS GOOD AS NEW.

Come and see for yourselves.

CHARGES MODERATE.

J. MONTGOMERY.
Napanee, March 25th.

Steam Barge For Sale.

THE undersigned offers for sale the Steam Barge "Ivanhoe," with outfit complete. The vessel is nearly new, and in complete working order. She is capable of carrying over 100 tons of freight. She is strongly built, and specially adapted for the River and Bay trade.

Full information given by the undersigned.

CHARLES LANE,
Napanee.

February 22, 1875.

51

Having moved to my new Store I am now prepared to display my goods better and to sell cheaper than ever.

I have purchased a large stock of

Drugs and Patent Medicines,

Paints, Oils, Glass, Putty,

School Books and Stationery,

Toilet and Fancy Articles

Garden Seeds of every description

In fact everything that is kept in a first-class Drug Store, all of which I will sell for a very small profit, but not for cost.

Call and see for Yourself. Examine Stock before Purchasing Elsewhere.

Thanking my customers for their liberal patronage in the past I ask for the continuance of the same, and as many new ones as wish to save money.

REMEMBER THE PLACE—OPPOSITE A. C. DAVIS & BRO.

M. B. MALLORY,

PHARMACEUTICAL CHEMIST AND DRUGGIST.

FIRST-CLASS GERMAN PIANOS

JUST ARRIVED AT

L. PHILLIPS & CO.'S,

Next door to Brisco House.

Call and See them.

Particular Attention paid to Tuning and Repairing Pianofortes and Organs.

December 16th, 1874.

MONEY TO LEND.

FEATHERS, PLUMES, and in fact every article of wearing apparel of both sexes, made to appear

AS GOOD AS NEW.

Come and see for yourselves.

CHARGES MODERATE.

J. MONTGOMERY.
Napanea, March 25th.

Steam Barge For Sale.

THE undersigned offers for sale the Steam Barge "Ivanhoe," with outfit complete to. The vessel is nearly new, and in complete working order. She is capable of carrying over 100 tons of freight. She is strongly built, and specially adapted for the River and Bay trade.

Full information given by the undersigned.

CHARLES LANE,
Napanea.

February 22, 1875.

51

THE PROVINCIAL INSURANCE CO. OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE . TORONTO.

HON. J. H. CAMERON, Q.C., M.P., Pres.
LEWIS MOFFATT, Esq., Vice-President.
ARTHUR HARVEY, Manager.

BEING guided by its own lengthened experience, and desirous of adjusting the rates of insurance to each hazard in accordance with the laws of average, has
Not Joined the Insurance Combination.

On some descriptions of property its charges may be above the established Tariff, on others considerably lower, and the Public are respectfully invited to call upon W. V. Detlor, agent, Napanea; A. Caton, Edinburgh; R. Clapp, Milford; Aylsworth, Tamworth, and ascertain Company's rates for insurance before going elsewhere.

Some 250,000 per annum

reach of the above to communicate

FIRST-CLASS GERMAN PIANOS

JUST ARRIVED AT

L. PHILLIPS & CO.'S,

Next door to Brisco House.

Call and See them.

Particular Attention paid to Tuning and Repairing Pianofortes and Organs.

December 16th, 1874.

MONEY TO LEND.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

Are weekly lending large amounts of money at low rates of interest, and on the terms specified in the following table:—

REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments on each $100 loaned, for periods varying from two to twenty years.

No. of YEARS.	2 YEARS	4 YEARS	5 YEARS	6 YEARS	8 YEARS	10 YEARS	15 YEARS	20 YEARS
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	$6 15	$5 43
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 84	22 45	18 20	15 72	12 55	11 12

The full amount of the loan is advanced (no commission being charged), and the above payments, if properly met, cancel the whole mortgage, interest as well as principal. They also lend upon the terms of the whole principal being paid at the end of a term of years, and the interest payable annually.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

April 21st, 1875.

THE BEST Poster Printing IN THE COUNTY,

DONE AT THE

EXPRESS Office.

A House & Lot For Sale.

A Rare Opportunity.

A well-built, commodious and comfortable dwelling house and lot, together with all the necessary out buildings, all nearly new. A desirable home for a family in good circumstances. The property is favourably situated in a respectable and quiet part of the town. Terms reasonable. Full particulars can be obtained by applying at the EXPRESS OFFICE.

Young People.

SHUT THE DOOR SOFTLY.

Shut the door softly, mother, asleep,
Her fever is broken, her slumber is deep,
Look in her pale face and see there no
pain,
Darling be thankful, we've mother again.

Shut the door softly, and come to her
side.
What should we do if our mother had
died?
She who has loved us our weary lives through,
Shut the door softly, and do as I do.

Shut the door softly, and kneel with me
here,
To Him who has spared us our own mother
dear,
Who has given her back to our arms once again,
Borne her through danger and softened her
pain

Shut the door softly, and look in her face,
And see how it gathers in health and in grace;
Is she not handsome, this mother of ours,
Waking to life like the budding of flowers?

Let us lose all in this fast-flying life, Sister and brother and husband, and wife,
Mother's love, only, all time has defied;
Shut the door softly, and come to her
side.

Shut the door softly, mother's awake,
Back from the shores of the fathomless
lake;
Weary with travel; and laden with charms,
Longing to clasp us within her dear arms.

Mother, dear mother! we loved you before,
Now we shall love you a thousand times more.
Welcome, dear heart, from the shadowy
land;
Shut the door softly, and kiss her dear hand.

—John W. Watson,

THE PERIL OF SMOKING.

A New York correspondent, writing to the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of the dangers attendant upon the use of tobacco, says: "A case in my own intimate acquaintance has this very week appalled a large circle of friends in this city. The victim was exactly of my own years, and a companion from early boyhood. For thirty years, at least, he has been a daily smoker of the choicest cigars, but in all other habits temperate and regular, and of excellent constitution—one who of all men would have laughed at the suggestion that tobacco was killing him. A week ago last Sunday night he was stricken with progressive paralysis, characteristic of nicotine, and on Sunday night he died. His death was most pitiful. First, sight was lost, then speech, then motion of the neck, then motion of the arms, and soon throughout the body, and he lay

TREATMENT OF A BALKY HORSE.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals put forth the following rules for the treatment of balky horses:

1. Pat the horse upon the neck; examine the harness carefully, first on one side then on the other, speaking encouragingly while doing so; then jump into the waggon and give the word go; generally he will obey.

2. A teamster in Maine says he can start the worst balky horse by taking him out of the shafts and making him go round in a circle till he is giddy. If the first dance of this sort does not cure him, a second will.

3. To cure a balky horse, simply place your hand over the horse's noae, and shut off his wind until he wants to go.

4. The brain of a horse seems to entertain but one idea at a time; therefore whipping only confirms his stubborn resolve. If you can, by any means, give him a new subject to think of, you will generally have no trouble in starting him. A simple remedy is to take a couple of turns of stout twine around the fore leg, just below the knee, tight enough for the horse to feel, and tie in a bow-knot. At the first check he will probably go dancing off, and, after going a short distance, you can get out and remove the string to prevent injury to the tendon, in your further days.

WOULDN'T MARRY A MECHANIC.

A young man commenced visiting a young woman, and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, which led the young lady to enquire where he had been.

"I had to work to-night."

"What, do you work for a living?" she inquired in astonishment.

"Certainly," replied the young man. "I am a mechanic."

"I dislike the name of a mechanic," and she turned up her pretty nose.

This was the last time the young man visited the young lady. He is now a wealthy man, and has one of the best women in the country for a wife.

The young lady who disliked the name of a mechanic is now the wife of a miserable fool—a regular vagrant about crosshairs—and the same

AN IRISH FABLE.

"THE BAD SON AND THE GOOD SON."

"An' it was once' leng ago, in the old country," said Mrs. Biddy, "there was a livin' a fine, clane, honnest, poor widdy woman, an' she havin' twa sons, an' she fetched the both of 'em up fine and careful but one of 'em turned out bad intirley. An' one day says she to him, says she:

'I've given you your livin' as long as ivor I can, and it's you must go out into the wide worruld to make your fortune."

"Mother, I will," says he.

"An' will ye take a big cake wid me curse, or a little cake an' me blessing?" says she.

"The big cake, surn," says he.

"So she baked a big cake and cursed him, and he went away laughin." By and by he came forninst a spring in the woods and sat down to ate his dinner off the cake, and a small, little bird sat on the edge of the spring.

"Give me a bit of that cake for me little ones in the nest," says she; and he caught up a stone to throw at her.

'I've scace enough for meself,' says he; and she beid' a fairy put her bake in the spring and toorned it black as ink, and wint away up in the trees. And while he looked for her to kill her a fox wint away wid his cake.

So he wint away from that place very mad, an' next day he stopped, very hungry, at a farmer's house and hired out to tind the cows.

'Be wise,' says the farmer's wife, "for the next field is belongin' to a giant, and if the cows gets in the clover he will kill you dead as a sthone."

'But the bad son laughed and wint away out to watch the cows, and before a noontime he wint to slape up in a tree, and the cows all wint in the clover, an' out comes the giant and shook him down out of the tree an' killed him dead, and that was the end of the bad son.

'And by the next year the poor widdy woman, she says to the good son;

'Ye must go out into the wide worruld and sake your fortune, for I can kape you no longer,' says she.

"Mother, I will," says he.

"An' will ye take a big cake wid me curse, or a little cake wid me bless-

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

ISS

BA

BA

BA

BA

BA

BA

BA

BA

OF

of Na

to the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of the dangers attendant upon the use of tobacco, says: "A case in my own intimate acquaintance has this very week appalled a large circle of friends in this city. The victim was exactly of my own years, and a companion from early boyhood. For thirty years, at least, he has been a daily smoker of the choicest cigars, but in all other habits temperate and regular, and of excellent constitution—one who of all men would have laughed at the suggestion that tobacco was killing him. A week ago last Sunday night he was stricken with progressive paralysis, characteristic of nicotine, and on Sunday night he died. His death was most pitiful. First, sight was lost, then speech, then motion of the neck, then motion of the arms, and soon throughout the body, and he lay for a fortnight unable to move or make a sign, save a pitiful, tongueless, inarticulate sound, which sometimes rose to almost frantic effort, all in vain to make known what he wished to say, to his family or friends—for his consciousness and mental faculties were left unimpaired till within two hours of the last, to aggravate to the utmost the horror of his situation—a living soul in a dead body. The sense of hearing was left unimpaired, so that he was conscious of all around him, while as incapable of communication with them as if dead, save by a slight sign of assent or dissent to a question. The doctors were fully agreed that tobacco was the sole cause of the stroke."

REMINDE ME OF THE KING.

Persons sometimes get a habit of swearing. They say they do not think, and cannot help it. Yet there are few of them who would swear in the presence of some eminent person whom they respected. They can break off the habit if they will. Such persons may profit by the story of the Prussian major.

La Fontaine, chaplain in the Prussian army, once preached a very earnest and eloquent sermon on the sin and folly of yielding to a hasty temper. The next day he was accosted by a major of the regiment with the words,—

"Well, sir, I think you made use of the prerogatives of your office to give me some very sharp hits yesterday."

"I certainly thought of you while I was preparing the sermon," was the answer; "but I had no intention of being personal or sharp."

"Well, it is of no use," said the major; "I have a hasty temper, and I cannot control it, it is impossible."

A young man commenced visiting a young woman, and appeared to be well pleased. One evening he called when it was quite late, which led the young lady to enquire where he had been.

"I had to work to-night."

"What, do you work for a living?" she inquired in astonishment.

"Certainly," replied the young man.

"I am a mechanic."

"I dislike the name of a mechanic," and she turned up her pretty nose.

This was the last time the young man visited the young lady. He is now a wealthy man, and has one of the best women in the country for a wife.

The young lady who disliked the name of a mechanic is now the wife of a miserable fool—a regular vagrant about grogshops—and the soft, verdant, silly, miserable girl is obliged to take in washing, in order to support herself and children.

You dislike the name of mechanic, eh!—You whose brothers are but well-dressed loafers. We pity any girl who is so verdant, so soft, as to think less of a young man for being a mechanic—one of God's noblemen—the most dignified and honorable personage of heaven's creatures.

Beware young ladies, how you treat young men who work for a living, for you may one of these days be menial to one of them. Far better to discharge the well-fed pauper with all his rings, jewelry, brazenness and pomposity, and to take to your affection the callous-handed, industrious mechanic.

Thousands have bitterly repented their folly who have turned their backs on honest industry. A few years have taught them a severe lesson.

FORCE OF MANNER.

An old lawyer being asked for some advice as to the best mode of securing success at the bar, replied, "Speak loud, long and positively, and it will make but little difference what you say." Lung power, perseverance, and self-confidence are wonderful aids to the orator. Without them the greatest abilities are of little use to him. An old clergyman of great reasoning powers and ample stores of learning, whose sermons were always deep, but comparatively ineffective, being asked how much of a sermon is due to manner, answered, "Three-fourths."

"A MIGHTY NICE MARE."

"Yes," said the driver of a car to the man who stood on the steps, "she's mighty nice mare for our work—least-out to find the cows.

"Be wise," says the farmer's wife, "for the next field is belongin' to a giant, and if the cows gets in the clover he will kill you dead as a sthone."

"But the bad son laughed and wint away out to watch the cows, and before a noontime he wint to slape up in a tree, and the cows all wint in the clover, an' out comes the giant and shook him down out of the tree an' killed him dead, and that was the end of the bad son.

"And by the next year the poor widdy woman, she says to the good son;

"Ye must go out into the wide woruld and sake your fortune, for I can kape you no longer," says she.

"Mother, I will," says he.

"An' will ye take a big cake wid me curse, or a little cake wid me blessing?"

"The little cake" says he.

"So she baked it for him and gave him her blessing, and he wint away, an' she a-weepin' afther him foine and loud. An' by and by he came to the spring in the woods where the bad son was before him, and the small, little bird sat again on the side of it.

"Give me a bit of yer cakeen for me little ones in the nest," says she.

"I will," says he, an' he broke off a foine piece, and she dipped her bake in the spring and toorned it into sweet wine; and when he bit his cake, shure an' she had toorned it into fine plum cake intirely, an' he ate and drank and wint on light-hearted. And nixt he come to the farmer's house.

"Will ye tind cows for me?" says the farmer

"I will," says the good son.

"Be wise," says the farmer's wife, "for the clover field beyant is belongin' to the giant, an' if you lave in the cows he will kill you dead."

"Never fear!" says the good son; "I don't sleep at me worruck."

"And he goes out into the field and lugs a big stone up in the tree, and thim sinds ivery cow far out in the clover fields, and goes back ag'in to the tree. And out comes the giant a roarin' so that you could hear the roars of him a mile away; and when he finds the cow-boy, he goes under the tree to shake him down, but the good little son slips out the big stone, an' it fell down and broke the giant's head intirely. So the good son wint running away to the giant's house, and it bein' full to the eaves of gold and silver and splendid things?

"See what fine luck comes to folks that is good and honest! An' he went home and fetched his old mother, an'

body. The sense of hearing was left unimpaired, so that he was conscious of all around him, while as incapable of communication with them as if dead, save by a slight sign of assent or dissent to a question. The doctors was fully agreed that tobacco was the sole cause of the stroke."

REMIND ME OF THE KING.

Persons sometimes get a habit of swearing. They say they do not think, and cannot help it. Yet there are few of them who would swear in the presence of some eminent person whom they respected. They can break off the habit if they will. Such persons may profit by the story of the Prussian major.

La Fontaine, chaplain in the Prussian army, once preached a very earnest and eloquent sermon on the sin and folly of yielding to a hasty temper. The next day he was accosted by a major of the regiment with the words,—

"Well, sir, I think you made use of the prerogatives of your office to give me some very sharp hits yesterday."

"I certainly thought of you while I was preparing the sermon," was the answer: "but I had no intention of being personal or sharp."

"Well, it is of no use," said the major; "I have a hasty temper, and I cannot control it, it is impossible."

And, still adhering to this opinion, after some further conversation he went his way.

The next Sabbath La Fontaine preached upon self-deception, and the vain excuses which men are wont to make.

"Why," said he, "a man will declare it is impossible to control his temper, when he knows that were the same provocation to happen in the presence of his sovereign he not only could, but would, control himself entirely. And yet he dares to say that the continual presence of the King of kings and Lord of lords imposes upon him neither restraint nor fear!"

The next day, his friend, the major, again accosted him.

"You were right, yesterday, chaplain," he said humbly. "Hereafter, whenever you see me in danger of falling, remind me of the King!"

"Dar," says Sambo, "de President hab signed dat cibbil rights. Now we can go out an' hook turkeys jiss-like de white folks."

creatures.

Beware young ladies, how you treat young men who work for a living, for you may one of these days be menial to one of them. Far better to discharge the well-fed pauper with all his rings, jewelry, braziness and pomposity, and to take to your affection the callous-handed, industrious mechanic.

Thousands have bitterly repented their folly who have turned their backs on honest industry. A few years have taught them a severe lesson.

FORCE OF MANNER.

An old lawyer being asked for some advice as to the best mode of securing success at the bar, replied, "Speak loud, long and positively, and it will make but little difference what you say." Lung power, perseverance, and self-confidence are wonderful aids to the orator. Without them the greatest abilities are of little use to him. An old clergyman of great reasoning powers and ample stores of learning, whose sermons were always deep, but comparatively ineffective, being asked how much of a sermon is due to manner, answered, "Three-fourths."

"A MIGHTY NICE MARE."

"Yes," said the driver of a car to the man who stood on the steps, "she's mighty nice mare for our work—least-ways to look at. Kiel? Well, you bet. Since I've had her she's removed the insides from two horses latched in with her; she's caved in her stall times enough to make one carpenter rich, and lived up more'n one passenger; remember one case in particular: Nice old gent with youngsters, goin' out for a Sunday picnic, had a basket of lunch covered up with a tablecloth. Jest as he was gettin' off the mare worked round when I wasn't lookin', and she fetched that basket one clatter with both feet—I don't rightly know but she got in all four—anyways there was lunch for everybody within ten rods, whether he wanted it or not; the paper boys mostly did. Think the old man saved the handle of a ham and the cork of one bottle. Such a nice-looking beast as she is, too. Why, that mare has been bought no less'n three times, 'cause she was sich a gentle-lookin' lady's horse. Well, it's good for doctors and wagon-makers anyhow. Always staves up the family and gets back into the team less'n a week. Never was broke, she wasn't and never will be until she falls off a house."

little ones in the nest," says she.

"I will," says he, an' he broke off a foine piece, and she dipped her bake in the spring and toorned it into sweet wine; and when he bit his cake, shure an' she had toorned it into fine plum cake intirely, an' he ate and drank and wint on light-hearted. And nixt he come to the farmer's house.

"Will ye tind cows for me?" says the farmer

"I will," says the good son.

"Be wise," says the farmer's wife, "for the clover field beyant is belongin' to the giant, an' if you lave in the cows he will kill you dead."

"Never fear!" says the good son; "I don't sleep at me worruck."

"And he goes out into the field and lugs a hig stone up in the tree, and thim sinds ivery cow far out in the clover fields, and goes back ag'in to the tree. And out comes the giant a roarin' so that you could hear the roars of him a mile away; and when he finds the cowboy, he goes under the tree to shake him down, but the good little son slips out the big stone, an' it fell down and broke the giant's head intirely. So the good son wint running away to the giant's house, and it bein' full to the eaves of gold and silver and splendid things?

"See what fine luck comes to folks that is good and honest! An' he went home and fetched his old mother, an' they lived rich and contented, and died very ould an' respected."

It is always hard to "hit the wrong nail on the head"—particularly if it be one's fingernail.

You Sunday sports can't disguise a fish-pole so it'll look a cane, with any degree of success.

The most vigilant people are those who neglect their own business to attend to the affairs of their neighbors.

"I wish I was a pudding, mamma!" "Why?" "Cause I should have such lots of sugar put into me!"

Husband—"What's the use going out this sloppy weather?" Wife—"What's the use having striped stockings?"

"I would rather," said Cato, "that people should inquire why no statue was erected to me, than why I had one."

Story of a local lawsuit in Kentucky: Subject matter, $5 worth of geese. Number of trials, three. Lawyer's fees, $75.

TH
this ever
The mod
the liard stab Part with find com then

Ne
$5 of el at w
the free
Add

A
tion
Bui put

Age
HA
NA
Equ

L
to a Tov
solt

I

TH nish
Lim

AI
in B Li

Ne

HR

Ru wit froi pin clea affe
Sok
Che way
Can Ker
gist

Marriage Licenss.e

ALEX. C. DAVIS,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee, Ontario.

S. D. CLARKE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Odessa, Ontario.

J. J. WATSON,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Adolphustown.

PETER E. R. MILLER,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Switzer-ville, Ont.

ROBERT GRAHAM,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Office—In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

JAMES LANE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Denbigh.

CHARLES LANE,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Office—Front of Grammar School, Bridge Street, Napanee.

A. B. RANDALL,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver and Toronto Fire Insurance Company, and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont.

Legal.

H. M. DEROCHE,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, Notary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notaries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange Block, John Street, Napanee.

J. S. CARTWRIGHT.

S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers, etc. OFFICE—Perry's New Block, Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.

W. A. REEVE, M. A.,

A. L. MORDEN.

Co. Crown Attorney.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc., etc., Napanee, Ontario.

W. S. WILLIAMS,

E. J. HOOPER, M. A.

Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson.) Office of Napanee Paper Mills, this side of A. N. Diamond's.

Hotels.

Brisco House.

PLEASE READ THE WHOLE OF THIS ADVERTISEMENT!

SOMETHING NEW IN NAPANEE. FEATHERS CLEANED BY STEAM.

W. H. BRUTON, having purchased one of Manley's Patent Steam Feather Renovating Machines, Patented last April, and a Right to use the same, is now prepared to RENOVATE FEATHER BEDS, PILLOWS, BOLSTERS, &c.

Whether made of Geese, Hens, Ducks, or any description of Feathers. Parties bringing Feathers from a distance, can have them renovated same day, if required

THERE IS NO POSSIBILITY OF INJURING THE FEATHERS.

In the least, as they are cleansed by steam. With this process all Smell, Dust, Dirt etc, is removed, and the Feather made cleaner and livelier than when new, as those we have worked for can testify.

BEDS ARE PERFECTLY PURIFIED BY THIS PROCESS.

It is estimated that two-fifths of all sickness arises from Impure Beds, and we are all aware that this department of house-keeping has been by far the most neglected. As we have never had any Renovators that would do the work satisfactorily until this, we give a general invitation to every Lady and Gent to CALL AT OUR SHOP AND SEE US RENOVATE FEATHERS BY STEAM!

A little west of the Post Office—next door to Mr. Clapp's Grocery.

PRICES	{	BEDS, $1 50.
FOR		PILLOWS, 50 cents per Pair.
RENOVATING	{	BOLSTERS, 50 cents Each.

WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION, OR NO CHARGE.

W. H. BRUTON, PROP

Napanee, Feo. 17th, 1875.

51

HAVE REMOVED.

NEW STAND, NEW GOODS

NEW PRICES.

MESSRS. SMITH & ANDERSON have removed to their New Commodious Premises,

BRISCO BLOCK, OPPOSITE BOYLE & WRIGHT.

EVERYTHING COMPLETE IN THE LINE OF GENERAL AND FAMILY

GROCERIES.

Notaries Public, etc. Office—Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law,
Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyan-cers, etc. OFFICE—Perry's New Block, Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.
W. A. REEVE, M. A., A. L. MORDEN.
Co. Crown Attorney.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency,
Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc., etc.,
Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, E. J. HOOPER, M. A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson.) Office of Napanee Paper Mills, this side of A.
N. Diamond's.

Hotels.

Brisco House.

L. GERALDI & SON would respectfully announce to the travelling public that they have leased for a term of years the Brisco House, Napanee, where they offer every inducement in the way of comfort and convenience which a first class house can give. The house has been entirely overhauled and built new inside, and furnished with latest styles of Furniture. A large airy Reading Room attached, making it the only first-class hotel in Napanee, notwithstanding the many false reports circulated to injure the establishment, by interested parties, to forward their own interests. Charges moderate. A call is cordially solicited.
Your obedient servants.

L. GERALDI & SON.

Napanee, January 1st, 1875.

Campbell House.

CHANGED HANDS.

THE undersigned begs to inform travellers and the public generally that he has leased this well known and first-class house, and offers every accommodation to the travelling public.
The rooms will be found to be large and commodious, and the table will be supplied with the best the country affords. Sample and Billiard Rooms in connection with the house. Good stabling and livery attached to the premises.
Particular attention paid to commercial men, with first-class sample room, etc. Farmers will find this house in every way adapted to their comfort, and no pains will be spared to make them feel at home.

W. N. KINNE,

Napanee, Jan. 1st 1875. Proprietor.

$5 To $20 PER DAY.—Agents Wanted.
All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents.
Address, G. STINSON & Co. Portland, Maine. 5-39

F. BARTLETT,

ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West
Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications and Detail Drawings furnished.
Builders' work measured, and value computed

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.

EDMUND HOOPER,

Agent for the following first-class Companies
HAND IN HAND. FIRE.
NATIONAL. LIFE.
EQUITABLE. LIFE.

EDWARD BOWEN,

NEW STAND, NEW GOODS

NEW PRICES.

MESSRS. SMITH & ANDERSON have removed to their New Commodious Premises,

BRISCO BLOCK, OPPOSITE BOYLE & WRIGHT.

EVERYTHING COMPLETE IN THE LINE OF GENERAL AND FAMILY

GROCERIES.

CALL AND SEE OUR SHOP AND GOODS.

NEW GOODS!

The Subscribers beg to announce to the citizens of Napanee and County, that their Stock is now complete in every department, consisting of,

Full Lines of Dress Goods,

Black and Colored Silks,

Real, Yak and other Laces,

Hosiery, Table Dinens, Towellings, &c.,

Cottons, Canadian and English,

Looms, Horrockses' and other makes,

Black Cloths, &c.,

House Furnishing Goods,

English and Canadian Tweeds,

Tickings, Domains and Shirtings,

50 pieces the celebrated Lion Brand Black Lustres,

Carpets, a fine display of Hemp, Union, 2 and 3-ply. Tapestry and Brussels,

English and American Oilcloths and Cocoa Matting.

To the Ladies, we have added a fine Stock of MILLINERY GOODS, Under the management of MISS SILLS. We would respectfully solicit an inspection of Styles, Prices and Materials before purchasing. Thanking the public for their kind patronage in the past, We remain, yours truly,

E. HOOPER & SONS.

FURNITURE! FURNITURE!

parties, to forward their own interests. Charges moderate. A call is cordially solicited.
Your obedient servants,
L. GERALDI & SON.
Napanee, January 1st. 1875.

Campbell House. CHANGED HANDS.

THE undersigned begs to inform travellers and the public generally that he has leased this well known and first-class house, and offers every accommodation to the travelling public. The rooms will be found to be large and commodious, and the table will be supplied with the best the country affords. Sample and Billiard Rooms in connection with the house. Good stabling and livery attached to the premises. Particular attention paid to commercial men, with a first-class sample room, etc. Farmers will find this house in every way adapted to their comfort, and no pains will be spared to make them feel at home.

W. N. KINNE,
Napanee, Jan. 1st 1875. Proprietor.

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agents Wanted. All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents. Address, G. STINSON & CO. Portland, Maine. 5-39

F. BARTLETT,
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed.

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.
—o—
EDMUND HOOPER,
Agent for the following first-class Companies:
HAND IN HAND..... FIRE.
NATIONAL..... LIFE.
EQUITABLE..... LIFE.

EDWARD BOWEN,
LICENSED Auctioneer, sales in the Town or County properly attended to at reasonable rates. A sale room in Town, where all kinds of goods will be sold on commission.

NAPANEE
LIME WORKS!

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to inform the public that they are now prepared to furnish Lime to all orders entrusted to their care.
Lime kept in Limehouse at Perry's Plaster Mill and at Limehouse, Mill Point.
All orders left at Ferguson Bros' or at Office in Brisco House, will be promptly attended to.
Lime shipped to all parts of Canada.

GALT & BROTHER.
Napanee, April 7th, 1875.

Rupture Trusses. SEELEY'S HARD Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and Cure for Herni or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated with hard rubber, highly polished. Free from all sour, rusty, chafing, strapping or girdling unpleasantness. Cool cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable. Sold by all dealers. Estab'ts, 1347 Chestnut St., Phila., and 717 Broadway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitations Canadian trade supplied by Messrs. Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Drug-gists, Montreal.

The Subscribers beg to announce to the citizens of Napanee and County, that their Stock is now complete in every department, consisting of

Full Lines of Dress Goods,

Black and Colored Silks,

Real, Yak and other Laces,

Hosiery, Table Dinens, Towellings, &c.,

Cottons, Canadian and English,

Looms, Horrockses' and other makes,

Black Cloths, &c.,

House Furnishing Goods,

English and Canadian Tweeds,

Tickings, Denims and Shirts,

50 pieces the celebrated Lion Brand Black Lustres,

Carpets, a fine display of Hemp, Union, 2 and 3-ply. Tapestry and Brussels,

English and American Oilcloths and Cocoa Mattings.

To the Ladies, we have added a fine Stock of MILLINERY GOODS, Under the management of MISS SILLS. We would respectfully solicit an inspection of Styles, Prices and Materials before purchasing. Thanking the public for their kind patronage in the past, We remain, yours truly,

E. HOOPER & SONS.

FURNITURE! FURNITURE!

— A FULL STOCK OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE. —

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

AS USUAL.

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Planing, &c.

— Call and get Price List of Sash and Doors and cut of our Mouldings. —

Undertaking Department Complete!

COFFINS OF ALL SIZES AND KINDS.

— Shrouds, Scarfs, &c., &c. —

J. C. GREEN & SON.

The Express.

NAPANEE, JULY 8, 1875.

POLITICAL SPLEEN.

The Mail is nothing if not censorious. It can discover a fault in a political opponent, and magnify it to monstrous proportions, when to less critical eyes there is evidence only of fair dealing. As our readers are doubtless aware the Premier, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, is now in Europe, and his worth as a man and his services as a statesman are recognized by all classes, from the titled nobility down to the humblest class who are familiar with his life's history. He has been feted and honored by his Sovereign and made a peer by those who claim aristocratic descent. A recent issue of the Christian World, a religious paper published in England, contained a short biographical sketch of Mr. Mackenzie's life, in which his sterling integrity of character and indomitable will were highly eulogized. Reference was also made to the Pacific Railway Scandal, and the memorable saying of the sturdy Scotchman when accused of having been a common laboring man:—

"True, I have soiled my hands with honest labor, but not with Tory gold." From this the Mail concludes, with logic peculiarly its own, that the article in question was written by Mr. Mackenzie himself, and proceeds in its usual reckless style to ridicule Grit modesty and Grit purity. We doubt very much whether another such critic can be found in Canada, subservient as most of the Conservative journals are to the leading organ of the gentleman's party. No doubt it is very annoying to those who repudiate plebeian genealogy and pride themselves upon a blue-blooded pedigree to hear of so much honor being conferred upon a Scotch stone-mason, even if he be Premier of the Dominion of Canada. They cannot conceive how anyone living, or being, in England can possess such familiarity with the life of so ordinary an individual, and hence these favorable notices must be written or inspired by Mr. Mackenzie himself.

The result, however, is somewhat disappointing to the Liberals, and, of course, correspondingly gratifying to the Conservatives. The questions at issue in that province are so complicated, and the dominant Church seems to exercise such a powerful influence on political matters, it is very difficult to calculate with any degree of certainty. The estimated strength of the two parties in the new House, as given by the Globe and Mail, differs widely, but we assume that the Government will have a majority of about ten, perhaps less. The Opposition, under Mr. Joly's leadership will be united and effective.

MR. YEOMANS' GRAND CONCERT.

We are now informed that Mr. J. W. Yeomans has about completed his arrangements for his mammoth Picnic and Concert. He intends to have it take place in Allison's grove, on the Bay shore, front of Adolphustown, on Tuesday 27th inst. Four steamers have been arranged with to carry passengers from the various points along the Bay that day to the picnic, and a grand muster may be looked for. At the Concert, which will be in the open air, there will be vocal and instrumental music, with a grand chorus of 1000 children's voices, of his united classes in the various places. The Battery Band of Kingston has been engaged for the day. We doubt not but it will be a grander affair than was ever witnessed before of the kind in this section of country.

OTTAWA NORMAL SCHOOL.

At a recent session of the Council of Public Instruction teachers were selected for the new Normal School at Ottawa, which is to open in September next. The principal is Mr. John McCabe, who has been English master in the Provincial Normal School at Truro, Nova Scotia. Mr. W. B. Riddell, mathematical master in the Cobourg Collegiate Institute, is appointed to the same post at Ottawa, and Mr. John Gibson, Professor of Classics in Albert University, Bellville, will be the science master. These are the most important appointments made; the remaining offices will be filled before the opening. In accordance with the usual custom of the Council the above are for six months only, this being thought a

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Good Farm for Sale

A good farm of 100 acres of cleared land, under good cultivation, well fenced, and 50 acres of good timbered land. There are one hundred good bearing apple trees, also cherries and plums. A comfortable and well-finished dwelling house, and good barn.—Lots 7 and 8, 6th concession of Camden, 10 miles from Napanee.

Terms favourable. Apply on the premises to

HENRY A. BARRETT,
19-3m Overton P. O.

MAIL CONTRACT.

TENDERS

ADDRESSED to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa, until Noon, on Friday the 6th of August, 1875, for the conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years, six times per week each way, between Erinsville and Napanee, from the 1st October next.

Conveyance to be made in a public vehicle. The Mails to leave Erinsville daily, Sundays excepted, at 8.45 a.m. and to arrive at Napanee at 12 noon, or in time to connect with the Grand Trunk Day Mail train passing east.

To leave Napanee daily, Sundays excepted, at 5.30 p.m., or as soon as practicable after the Grand Trunk Day train from the east, and to arrive at Erinsville within three and three quarter hours afterwards.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen, and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Offices of Erinsville, Roblin and Napanee.

R. W. BARKER,
P. O. Inspector.

Post Office Inspector's Office,
Kingston, 2nd July, 1875. 19-3

The Great Debate

—ON—

"GOD AND THE BIBLE,"

Between Rev. John Marples, Presbyterian Minister, and Mr. B. F. Underwood, the renowned Rationalist, will commence in the

MUSIC HALL, NAPANEE,

ON TUESDAY, 20TH OF JULY, INST.
at 7 o'clock, p.m., and will continue four sessions.

The propositions are as follows:—
First two nights—"That Atheism, Materialism, and Modern Scepticism are illogical and contrary to reason."—
Mr. Marples affirms this and Mr. Un-

HEJ
Mol
I H Faul
Con
Mol
Birc
Strc
Litt
Con
Con
Hov Led I'm Litt
Wh
Silv
Litt
M Ples
B Wh
G
Wh
Litt
The Litt
E
The
The
And
The Bar
Bell
Big Birc
Bon Bon
Dan
Don Dut
Eva
Far Far Faul
The
The Hol
I H
I'll
I'm
Is tl
I stc
I've
I wi

cludes, with logic pecuniary its own, that the article in question was written by Mr. Mackenzie himself, and proceeds in its usual reckless style to ridicule Grit modesty and Grit purity. We doubt very much whether another such critic can be found in Canada, subservient as most of the Conservative journals are to the leading organ of the gentleman's party. No doubt it is very annoying to those who repudiate plebeian genealogy and pride themselves upon a blue-blooded pedigree to hear of so much honor being conferred upon a Scotch stone-mason, even if he be Premier of the Dominion of Canada. They cannot conceive how anyone living, or being, in England can possess such familiarity with the life of so ordinary an individual, and hence these favorable notices must be written or inspired by Mr. Mackenzie himself. Of course.

"BETTER TIMES."

The Belleville Intelligencer has some hopes of the country yet. A few days ago it was confident that financial ruin, or something like it, would follow Mr. Cartwright's notorious blundering, and quoted largely from the Montreal Times in support of its predictions. The tightness of the money market was solely due to the inefficiency to Grit financiering, and the result of all such things was foretold with a countenance of the most portentous immobility. But lo, and behold! the same authority is now advanced in proof of better times coming. The Government payments, maturing on the 4th of the present month, and to meet which notice was given to the banks some time ago, "have been well got over, and that without any extraordinary pressure on the banks for discounts," says our contemporary, and, therefore, "there is good reason to feel confident of a revival in trade at no distant day." All this is very solacing, coming as it does from so prominent an opponent of the Mackenzie government. It is true the real cause of this hopeful condition of affairs is attributed to "the resources of the country," but if Sir John's influence at Ottawa was sufficient to ensure good crops, buoyant financial markets, how is it that there is no retrogression or decadence under Grit rule? "We are straightened as a country exactly as individuals are straightened." Just so, and governmental incapacity has nothing whatever to do with it. We are pleased to see the Intelligencer take such a common-sensed view of existing affairs, and not indulge in that

OTTAWA NORMAL SCHOOL.

At a recent session of the Council of Public Instruction teachers were selected for the new Normal School at Ottawa, which is to open in September next. The principal is Mr. John McCabe, who has been English master in the Provincial Normal School at Truro, Nova Scotia. Mr. W. B. Riddell, mathematical master in the Cobourg Collegiate Institute, is appointed to the same post at Ottawa, and Mr. John Gibson, Professor of Classics in Albert University, Belleville, will be the science master. These are the most important appointments made; the remaining offices will be filled before the opening. In accordance with the usual custom of the Council the above are for six months only, this being thought a proper time of probation, after which they will be confirmed or cancelled.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some time ago a learned seer announced to the world the result of his investigations into the mysteries of Nature's laws, which are hid from ordinary mortals and revealed only to the wise. He foretold great convulsions—earthquakes, tornadoes, whirlwinds and destructive storms. The experience of some parts of the world would seem to justify the predictions. There has been a great destruction of life and property, especially throughout Europe.

A telegram from Ottawa says the potato bug has reached the desert one hundred miles north of the Ottawa river. They came in showers, and struck against the window panes like hail. We did know that they were capable of performing winged feats, and are somewhat inclined to think that the wrong bug is reported this time. Perhaps grasshoppers are meant; but the bugs are mean enough for almost anything.

If there can be anything more disagreeable to the average newspaper reader than the daily war bulletins from Spain we pray that it may not transpire. The sympathy naturally felt for the distracted and unhappy country is greatly interrupted by false, exaggerated and evidently insane reports from the respective forces. We find it difficult to make a choice between the Alfonsist and Carlist claimants, for the very reason that both sides seem to have an utter disregard for ordinary [military] rules and enlightened policy. Spain is cursed if ever a nation was, and can never rise

Post Office Inspector's Office,
Kingston, 2nd July, 1875. 19-3

The Great Debate

—ON—

"GOD AND THE BIBLE,"

Between Rev. John Marples, Presbyterian Minister, and Mr. B. F. Underwood, the renowned Rationalist, will commence in the

MUSIC HALL, NAPANEE,

ON TUESDAY, 20TH OF JULY, INST.
at 7 o'clock, p. m., and will continue four sessions.

The propositions are as follows:—

First two nights—"That Atheism, Materialism, and Modern Scepticism are illogical and contrary to reason."—Mr. Marples affirms this and Mr. Underwood denies.

Second two nights—"That the Bible, consisting of the Old and New Testaments, contains evidence beyond all other books of its Divine origin," Mr. Marples affirming and Mr. Underwood denying.

The following gentlemen compose the Committee:

For Mr. Marples,—H. M. Deroche, M.P.P., J. T. Grange, M.P.P., J. B. McGuin, Esq., F. Burrows, Esq., J. W. Rookledge, Esq.

For Mr. Underwood,—A. Pringle, Esq., F. Van DeBogart, Esq., John Herring, Esq., A. H. Roe, Esq., David Mair, Esq.

Admission Fee 20c. to defray expenses.

Doors open at 7 o'clock.

Napanee, July 14th, 1875.

Drugs & Dyestuffs

J. C. HUFFMAN & SON,

DEALERS IN

CHEMICALS,

DYESTUFFS,

PATENT MEDICINES,

OILS, (all kinds,)

PERFUMERY,

PAINTS,

VARNISHES,

GLASS,

PUTTY,

SCHOOL BOOKS,

STATIONERY,

Which we sold at the very lowest prices for cash.

No. 1 Coal Oil by the Barrel at the lowest market price.

NAPANEE

JEWELRY STORE

—:0:—

solely due to the inefficiency to Grit financiering, and the result of all such things was foretold with a countenance of the most portentous immobility. But lo, and behold! the same authority is now advanced in proof of better times coming. The Government payments, maturing on the 4th of the present month, and to meet which notice was given to the banks some time ago, "have been well got over, and that without any extraordinary pressure on the banks for discounts," says our contemporary, and, therefore, "there is good reason to feel confident of a revival in trade at no distant day." All this is very solacing, coming as it does from so prominent an opponent of the Mac-kenzie government. It is true the real cause of this hopeful condition of affairs is attributed to "the resources of the country," but if Sir John's influence at Ottawa was sufficient to ensure good crops, buoyant financial markets, how is it that there is no retrogression or decadence under Grit rule? "We are straightened as a country exactly as individuals are straightened." Just so, and governmental incapacity has nothing whatever to do with it. We are pleased to see the Intelligencer take such a common-sensed view of existing affairs, and not indulges in that puerile style of argument at once disgraceful and contemptible. It was well known that the payments spoken of were due this month, and that Mr. Cartwright's note to the banks was merely a formal proceeding, entirely in keeping with ordinary business transactions. The Montreal Gazette was sufficiently honorable to acknowledge this at the outset, but so long as there was the least prospects of making some political capital the absurd cry was kept up. In common parlance, the scheme is "played out."

THE QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

The recent local elections in the Province of Quebec have excited considerable interest throughout the Dominion. The Crown Land and Tanneries scandals, which have been before the public for some time, were thought of sufficient importance to greatly weaken confidence in the De Boucherville Government, and a majority for Mr. Joly was anticipated.

of some parts of the world would seem to justify the predictions. There has been a great destruction of life and property, especially throughout Europe.

A telegram from Ottawa says the potato bug has reached the desert one hundred miles north of the Ottawa river. They came in showers, and struck against the window panes like hail. We did know that they were capable of performing winged feats, and are somewhat inclined to think that the wrong bug is reported this time. Perhaps grasshoppers are meant; but the bugs are mean enough for almost anything.

If there can be anything more disagreeable to the average newspaper reader than the daily war bulletins from Spain we pray that it may not transpire. The sympathy naturally felt for the distracted and unhappy country is greatly interrupted by false, exaggerated and evidently insane reports from the respective forces. We find it difficult to make a choice between the Alfonsist and Carlist claimants, for the very reason that both sides seem to have an utter disregard for ordinary [military] rules and enlightened policy. Spain is cursed if ever a nation was, and can never rise to respectability unless a wonderful revolution of political and social life is effected—and the prospects of such a result is very remote indeed.

Plymouth Church has taken the earliest possible opportunity of giving a tangible expression of confidence in Henry Ward Beecher as its beloved pastor. The responsible members have unanimously voted to increase his salary to $100,000 for the present year. This is their way of helping him defray the expenses of the great trial; and who will not say that they have acted wisely? A committee of the leading citizens of Brooklyn has also been appointed to make arrangements for a public meeting and social reception to be tendered early in the fall, during the week preceding Mr. Beecher's resumption of preaching. All this would indicate an undiminished love and respect for the eloquent divine. But what about his prosecutor? Who are fettering and honoring Theodore Tilton? His name is dropped by common consent.

Esq., R. van Deogart, Esq., John Herring, Esq., A. H. Roe, Esq., David Mair, Esq.

Admission Fee 20c. to defray expenses.

Doors open at 7 o'clock.

Napaneé, July 14th, 1875.

Drugs & Dyestuffs

J. C. HUFFMAN & SON,

DEALERS IN

CHEMICALS,

DYESTUFFS,

PATENT MEDICINES,

OILS, (all kinds,)

PERFUMERY,

PAINTS,

VARNISHES,

GLASS,

PUTTY,

SCHOOL BOOKS,

STATIONERY,

Which are sold at the very lowest prices for cash.

No. 1 Coal Oil by the Barrel at the lowest market price.

NAPANEE

JEWELRY STORE

F. W. SMITH,

Has just received the largest stock of

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

ever brought into Town.

AGENT FOR

LAZARUS, MORRES & CO.'S

—CELEBRATED—

SPECTACLES, AND EYE-GLASSES.

Clocks, Watches and Jewelry repaired on the shortest notice, and warranted to give satisfaction.

REMEMBER THE PLACE,

next door to

HENRY BROS., NAPANEE BOOKSTORE.

F. W. SMITH.

HENDERSON'S COLUMN.

CHEAP MUSIC

AT HENDERSON'S BOOKSTORE.

FIVE CENT MUSIC.

Mollie Darling.
I Have no Home.
Father Says I May.
Come Sit by My Side Little Darling.
Mollie Answer.
Birdie Has Come.
Strolling on the Sands.
Little Sunshine.
Come Birdie Come.
Come Again Tomorrow Night.
How the Gates Came Ajar.
Led Astray.
I'm Waiting My Darling for Thee.
Little Footsteps.
Whippoor-Wills Song.
Silver Threads Among the Gold.
Little Sweetheart Come and Kiss Me.
Please God, Make Room for a Little Boy?
When Silver Threads Replace the Gold.
When Little Minnie Died.
Little Daisy.
The Mulligan Guards.
Little Mollie Brown.

TEN CENT MUSIC.

Each Piece Full Sheet Music Size.
The Anchorsmiths.
The Anchors Weighed.
And Eyes will Water for Thee.
The Beautiful Isle of the Sea.
Barney Come Back to Me.
Belle Mahone.
Big Sunflower.
Birdie.
Bonnie Katie Waits for Me.
Bonnie Mary of Argyll.
Dance Me Papa on your Knee.
Don't go Mollie Darling.
Dutchmans Little Dog.
Evangeline.
Far Away.
Far from Home.
Father's Come Home.
The Golden Stairs.
The Grave Digger.
Hold the Fort.
I Hear Sweet Voices Singing.
I'll meet thee at the Gate.
I'm still a friend to You.
Is there room for Mary there.
I stood outside the Gate.
I've found a Home.
I will write to you my Dearest.

PLOWS!

PLOWS!

Having been convinced by the testimony of many of the best farmers in the County that the

WALKER STEEL PLOW

IS THE BEST PLOW NOW IN USE.

We have undertaken the sale to them in Lennox & Addington, and beg the attention of Every Farmer in the County.

AND WE SOLICIT

A PERSONAL INSPECTION OF THEM BY ALL.

Whether in immediate want of a Plow or not.

An unconditional guarantee given with every Plow. Don't fail to call and see them.

WE ARE ALSO AGENTS FOR THE CELEBRATED

STANDARD MOWER AND REAPER,

MANUFACTURED BY

Noxon Bros. Manufacturing Co.
INGERSOLL.

Every Machine warranted without an equal or no sale. Parties requiring Machines for this season should give their orders at once, to insure their being filled. One thousand are being made for this season's harvest, and more than half of them have already been sold. Repairs always on hand.

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

Napanee, May 26th, 1875.

KOOL KOSTUMES.

Slaven & Ironside

Are now showing several lines of

NEW DRESS GOODS

Suitable for the warm weather, consisting of

SILK WARP PONGEES.

Barney Come Back to Me.
 Belle Mahone.
 Big Sunflower.
 Birdie.
 Bonnie Katie Waits for Me.
 Bonnie Mary of Argyll.
 Dance Me Papa on your Knee.
 Don't go Mollie Darling.
 Dutchmans Little Dog.
 Evangeline.
 Far Away.
 Far from Home.
 Father's Come Home.
 The Golden Stairs.
 The Grave Digger.
 Hold the Fort.

I Hear Sweet Voices Singing.
 I'll meet thee at the Gate.
 I'm still a friend to You.
 Is there room for Mary there.
 I stood outside the Gate.
 I've found a Home.
 I will write to you my Dearest.
 Jessie Green.
 Kiss me and I'll go to Sleep.
 Let the Dead and the Beautiful rest.
 Little Church around the Corner.
 Little Footsteps.
 Little Sister's gone to Sleep.
 Little Sunshine.
 The Maidens Prayer.
 Make me a Jacket of Pa's old coat.
 The Mistletoe Bough.
 The Mocking Bird.
 Mother fold me in your Arms.
 Matilde the Maid of the Mill.
 Nora O'Neal.
 Sweet bye and bye.
 Tenting on the old Camp Ground.
 Under the Daisies.
 What Nora Said.
 When the Swallows Homeward Fly.
 Yes I love you very Dearly.

etc. etc. etc.
 Any of the above songs mailed free
 on receipt of only Ten Cents.

JOHN HENDERSON.

MAGNIFICENT WORK,

now being published in Monthly Parts. Price per number 20 cts., or $2 per year.

CASSEL'S NATIONAL POR-TRAIT GALLERY.

Each number contains an authentic and life-like Portrait in colors,
 together with an original memoir.
 As the work proceeds it will embrace
 the greatest names among our Statesmen, Divines, Authors, Artists and Soldiers, and all those in various spheres, who are eminently associated with the Nations History.

THE NUMBERS NOW PUBLISHED CON-TAIN THE UNDERMENTIONED

half of them have already been sold. Repairs always on hand.

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

Napanea, May 26th, 1875.

KOOL KOSTUMES.

Slaven & Ironside

Are now showing several lines of

NEW DRESS GOODS

Suitable for the warm weather, consisting of

SILK WARP PONGEES.

SATIN STRIPED LINENS,

PLAIN LINENS, 10 to 25cts per yard.

LACE STRIPED BOMBAZINE.

SATIN STRIPED BLACK GRENADINES.

FANCY BROCADE GRENADINES.

WIDE WHITE MUSLINS, with Dimity and Lace Stripes.

BROCADE JAPNESE SILKS,

And a Large Assortment of the Celebrated Double Warp Reversible Grey Mohair, every Shade.

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE.

Napanea, June 24th, 1875.

House and Lot FOR SALE.

A new and complete Dwelling House,
 with barn and some choice fruit trees,
 situated on Graham Street, in the rear of Mayor Williams residence. A good well and cistern on the premises.

For particulars enquire of
 WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

HEAVY

Tan Colored Duck,

20 CENTS A YARD.

AT

Slaven & Ironsides.

Farm for Sale.

Containing 200 Acres in the
 TOWNSHIP OF RICHMOND.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm of 200 acres, viz.: Lots No. 15
 and 16, in the 10th Concession of the Township of Richmond, 70 acres above

LIME!

LIME!

WATER LIME

OR

Hydraulic Cement,

AND

ROACH LIME.

Webegto inform Builders, and those who contemplate building that we have resumed the manufacture of Water Lime, and we are prepared to sell in any quantity, from one bushel to 10,000 barrels, and warranted to be a

Nora O'Neal.
Sweet bye and bye.
Tenting on the old Camp Ground.
Under the Daisies.
What Nora Said.
When the Swallows Homeward Fly.
Yes I love you very Dearly.
etc. etc. etc.

Any of the above songs mailed free
on receipt of only Ten Cents.

JOHN HENDERSON.

MAGNIFICENT WORK,

now being published in Monthly Parts. Price per number 20 cts., or
$2 per year.

CASSEL'S NATIONAL POR- TRAIT GALLERY.

Each number contains an authentic and life-like Portrait in colors,
together with an original memoir.
As the work proceeds it will embrace
the greatest names among our Statesmen, Divines, Authors, Artists and Soldiers, and all those in various spheres, who are eminently associated with the Nations History.

THE NUMBERS NOW PUBLISHED CON-TAIN THE UNDERMENTIONED
CELEBRITIES.

The Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone,
M. P.
The Right Hon. B. Disraeli, M. P.
The Right Hon. John Bright, M. P.
The Right Hon. Earl Derby.
The Archbishop of Canterbury.
Lord Chief Justice Cockburn.
Major General, Sir Garnet Wolseley,
K. C. B.
The Right Hon. The Earl of Shaft-
sbury, K. G.
The Right Hon. Earl Russell, K. G.
The Right Hon. Lord Cairns.
The Right Hon. Earl Grenville, K. G.
H. R. H. The Duke of Cambridge,
K. G.
The Bishop of Manchester.
The Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote, M. P.

The above are for sale singly, or subscriptions taken for the whole work at

HENDERSON'S BOOKSTORE,

Dundas Street, Napanee.

And a Large Assortment of the Celebrated Double Warp Reversible Grey Mohair, every Shade.

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE.

Napanee, June 24th, 1875.

House and Lot FOR SALE.

A new and complete Dwelling House,
with barn and some choice fruit trees,
situated on Graham Street, in the rear
of Mayor Williams residence. A good
well and cistern on the premises.

For particulars enquire of
WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

HEAVY

Tan Colored Duck,

20 CENTS A YARD.

AT

Slaven & Ironsides.

Farm for Sale.

Containing 200 Acres in the
TOWNSHIP OF RICHMOND.

The Subscriber offers for sale, his Farm of 200 acres, viz.: Lots No. 15
and 16, in the 10th Concession of the Township of Richmond, 70 acres cleared, good frame house and log barn on the premises, a young orchard of good bearing trees, also well watered. Situated 13 miles from Napanee.

This Property will be sold cheap for cash.

Apply on the premises, to PATRICK PHILLIPS.
18-4in.

20 YARDS

OF

Factory Cotton

FOR ONE DOLLAR,

AT

SLAVEN & IRONSIDES.

HOMEOPATHY.

J. JARVIS, Homeopathic Physician and Surgeon, of Kingston, will visit Napanee on the following dates:—Wednesday, July 28th, August 11th and 25th, and September 8th and 22nd, and can be consulted at the Campbell House from 8 to 12 a. m.

J. JARVIS, M. D.

LIME!

LIME!

WATER LIME

OR

Hydraulic Cement,

AND

ROACH LIME.

WE beg to inform Builders, and those who contemplate building that we have resumed the manufacture of Water Lime, and we are prepared to sell in any quantity, from one bushel to 10,000 barrels, and warranted to be a first-class article

Superior to, and Cheaper than any American Cement in this Market.

We are also manufacturing

A VERY SUPERIOR ROACH LIME

which we will sell lower than can be bought from any other parties.

Lime delivered in any part of the town in any quantity.

Orders left at the Mill on the Canal, or at Boyle & Wright's store, will be filled promptly.

H. M. WRIGHT & CO.

Napanee, June 23rd 1875. 16-4in.

House and Lot For Sale or to Rent.

The Subscriber offers for sale or to rent, the premises opposite the G. T.
R. Station, consisting of a Brown Frame House, and one-quarter of an acre of land, with a new barn and stable.
Title indisputable. Easy terms of payment. For further particulars apply on the premises to

MRS. A. J. COULTER.

18-4in.

Local News

MOONLIGHT evenings, and delightfully cool.

EVERYBODY, with his wife and family, went on the Excursion to-day.

BOATING on the river now all the rage. Belleville supplies the means.

STREET PRACHING regularly sustained. Napanee must be a good field for evangelical work.

A SCENT of new-mown hay is on the breeze. The click of the scythe is heard over the hill.

PEOPLE will sleep in church and get scolded by the preacher. It is a bad habit.

REV. PROF. BADGELY, of Albert University, preached in the M. E. Church last Sunday evening.

DEATHS are frequent in our midst. The measured tones of the funeral bell announce one more place vacant.

RASPBERRIES are the coming luxury, and they're coming along rapidly. Recent rains have produced a large growth.

FOREPAUGH's great show will be here on the 30th, inst. It is somewhat doubtful whether we have a field big enough to permit the immense concern to swing in.

MR. YOUMANS has chartered two steamers to run from Kingston and four from other parts of the Bay of Quinte, for his mammoth pic-nic in Allison's grove, Adolphustown.

BABY SHOWS.—They are getting popular, and why not? Nice babies are more deserving of prizes than nice hogs, sheep, cows and horses. Kingston thinks so, and will have a baby show during the Central Exhibition in September. Napanee expects the first prize at that show, and will have it, too.

TEG SMART.—Ye quill-driver of the New Nation talks up to the little steamer Shannon for being so unnecessarily "smart" as to leave Napanee ten minutes before time, whereby somebody was left behind, and had to get a conveyance to Mill Point. Capt. Johnston must regulate his patent-lever—it's too fast.

ICE CREAM.—It is delicious, and PERSONAL.—Mr. T. S. Carman, of the Belleville Ontario, was in town on Wednesday, and called to pay his respects to the EXPRESS, of which he retains kindly recollections.

Remember that the great sale of the furniture &c., of Mrs. David Roblin, will take place on Saturday next at one o'clock, at the late residence of Dr. Oronhyatekha. A rare chance to those who may need first class furniture cheap.

THE RAIN on Tuesday did considerable damage to grain, especially barley. It fell with such volume and force that the stalks were beaten down flat, and it is feared the grain will be injured in consequence. Considerable hay was also caught in a condition unsuited for a soaking.

NEW DOMINION MONTHLY for July received. The Frontispiece,—"Reconciled Powers," represents Emperor Joseph, of Austria, and King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, side by side, as they sat in a gondola going up and down the canals of Venice. The contents are, as usual, varied and highly interesting. Price $1.50; John Dougall & Son, Montreal.

SACRILEGE.—The Newburgh Reporter last week announced that some person, or persons had torn up the corner stone of the new C. M. Church at Napanee Mills, and removed the few pieces of coin deposited thereunder. Whoever did such a mean act would steal the coppers off a dead man's eyes, or cheat a printer.

ROWING.—Mr. Mark Bottoms, of Belleville, has anticipated the wants of Napanee denizens by bringing down a number of neat, light rowing boats for hire. His enterprise will doubtless be well rewarded, for our river offers admirable facilities for indulging such pastime. Mr. Bottoms we know to be a young man with whom it is pleasant to have dealing, and we expect to see him well patronized during the summer.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Monday, the 12th. inst., while a man named McGahy was returning from the Orange celebration at Marlbanh he was thrown from his horse and so severely injured that his life is despaired of. When found he was unconscious and has remained in that state since, or up to ten o'clock on Tuesday, when our reporter

JUVENILE BELL RINGERS.—Forepaugh's Museum contains a troupe of girl bell ringers, automatically constructed. They play a great variety of delightful melodies upon silver bells.

SUNDAY MAGAZINE for July received from Mr. Henderson. It contains seventeen distinct articles, each one of the highest excellence, besides numerous illustrations. Try a copy of this excellent publication.

EXCURSION.—The annual excursion in connection with the Napanee Canada Presbyterian S. S., will take place on Tuesday 20th July, to Belleville and Trenton per steamer Norfolk. A day of uncommon pleasure may be expected. For full particulars see bills. Tickets, only 50 cents.

FIRE AT CAMPBELLFORD.—A serious fire occurred in Campbellford about two o'clock on the morning of the 7th. Carnaeen & Co's extensive works and contents were totally destroyed. Origin of fire not known; supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Loss about $9,000; insured for $3,500.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—We are informed that a young man met with a very painful accident at Belleville on Monday. Some parties were rolling a barrel of salt on board the steamer Norfolk, and he, attempting to jump over the barrel when in motion, was caught and both legs were broken. We have not learned the name of the unfortunate person.

GOT WET.—One of our excursionists met with an accident on the 12th. A lady, when getting on board the Pierrepoint at Belleville, fell into the water with a splash. She was immediately rescued, not much harmed, but a little damp. It was a big fright for her, however, and she had a chance of realizing how uncertain are the ways of life—even when on an excursion.

THE STORM.—During the thunder storm on Tuesday a building belonging to Mr. Clarke, of Violet, and situated in Ernesttown, was struck by the lightning and burned. A drive house, owned by Mr. P. S. Wartman, of Camden, was also set on fire by the electric fluid, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done. A large elm tree on the farm of Mr. E. Bell, and another on Mr. James Daly's property, near Newburgh,

Mr. YOUNG has chartered two steamers to run from Kingston and four from other parts of the Bay of Quinte, for his mammoth pic-nic in Allison's grove, Adolphustown.

BABY SHOWS.—They are getting popular, and why not? Nice babies are more deserving of prizes than nice hogs, sheep, cows and horses. Kingston thinks so, and will have a baby show during the Central Exhibition in September. Napanee expects the first prize at that show, and will have it, too.

TEG SMART.—Ye quill-driver of the New Nation talks up to the little steamer Shannon for being so unnecessarily "smart" as to leave Napanee ten minutes before time, whereby somebody was left behind, and had to get a conveyance to Mill Point. Capt. Johnston must regulate his patent-lever—it's a fast.

ICE CREAM.—It is delicious, and Messrs. Williams, Henry, and Casey intend to gratify the longing desires of every Good Templar who reports himself or herself present at the Lodge meeting next Thursday evening. This should be sufficient inducement to bring out every member, and we are sure their reward will be ample.

PERSONAL.—Mr. S. G. Beatty, Principal of Ontario Commercial College, Belleville, was in town last week, on business connected with his school. He is now on an extensive advertising tour of the Province, which will consume a large share of the summer. Specimens of penmanship, business and ornamental can be seen at this office, and also at the Post Office and hotels. We are pleased to learn of the continued prosperity and popularity of this important business College, and wish our friend the success his energy deserves.

A VALUABLE MONTHLY.—If you want a real first class reliable monthly of the class, we commend the Mechanics Magazine, published monthly in Montreal by Desbats's Lithographic Company. It is well printed and copiously illustrated publication, full of valuable, practical information for mechanics and scientific men. Each number contains a full list of all the patents granted, with illustrations of the most important ones. We say advisedly that no other publication in Canada supplies the place of this magazine. Price $2 per year.

A NEW BUSINESS.—Mr. M. N. Hawley of the Perry Block, Dundas street, is particularly skilled in fine at Napanee Mills, and removed the few pieces of coin deposited thereunder. Whoever did such a mean act would steal the coppers off a dead man's eyes, or cheat a printer.

ROWING.—Mr. Mark Bottoms, of Belleville, has anticipated the wants of Napanee denizens by bringing down a number of neat, light rowing boats for hire. His enterprise will doubtless be well rewarded, for our river offers admirable facilities for indulging such pastime. Mr. Bottoms we know to be a young man with whom it is pleasant to have dealing, and we expect to see him well patronized during the summer.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Monday, the 12th. inst., while a man named McGahy was returning from the Orange celebration at Marlbanh he was thrown from his horse and so severely injured that his life is despaired of. When found he was unconscious and has remained in that state since, or up to ten o'clock on Tuesday, when our reporter saw him. Several physicians were in attendance, and their opinion was that the spine was injured, or broken near the neck.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—Lovers of fine arts would do well to visit Hulett's photographic gallery, Mills Block. He has been many years established in business in Napanee, and has a well earned reputation as a good artist. Mr. Hulett has lately added a large solar camera, which he claims to be the largest of the kind in the Province. He can now produce photographs as large as life, and almost as natural, far exceeding anything of the kind that he has ever done before. By this process ordinary photographs of departed friends are enlarged and beautified wonderfully. We are glad to learn that his business is rapidly extending. His enterprise deserves success.

A GOOD BUSINESS.—Notwithstanding the backward spring and long period of drouth there are tangible evidence of a fine business among the farmers this year and of those engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements. In one day last week Mr. Herring delivered from his machine shop no less than thirty of his superior horse rakes, and the next day his sales amounted to over $2,200. We understand that Mr. Herring has sold this year something like 400 wheel horse rakes and between 125 and 150 reapers and mowers; and more probably would be sold if they were ready. The advantage of well sustaining a large establishment of this kind in our own midst ought not to be overlooked. A large number of good both legs were broken. We have not learned the name of the unfortunate person.

GOT WET.—One of our excursionists met with an accident on the 12th. A lady, when getting on board the Pierrepoint at Belleville, fell into the water with a splash. She was immediately rescued, not much harmed, but a little damp. It was a big fright for her, however, and she had a chance of realizing how uncertain are the ways of life—even when on an excursion.

THE STORM.—During the thunder storm on Tuesday a building belonging to Mr. Clarke, of Violet, and situated in Ernesttown, was struck by the lightning and burned. A drive house, owned by Mr. P. S. Wartman, of Camden, was also set on fire by the electric fluid, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done. A large elm tree on the farm of Mr. E. Bell, and another on Mr. James Daly's property, near Newburgh, were struck and torn to splinters.

GREATLY IMPROVED.—We speak of the re-construction which Mr. Smith, of the Merchant's Bank, has been ordering on the old, dilapidated frame building adjoining. As it stood this spring it was little better than an eyesore; now, after the judicious outlay of a few hundred dollars, a neat and commodious double residence appears. The whole has been rebuilt, from foundation upwards, the original frame alone remaining of the former building. The improvement to the immediate neighborhood is wonderful.

NEW CHURCH.—Father Davis is building a new Church in Marmora. In response to his invitation last week, the Roman Catholics of that section drew 180 loads of stone, all the required timber, and excavated the greater part of the foundation for the new edifice, which is to be made one of the finest rural churches in Canada. In one Sunday $3,500 was subscribed towards its erection. A grand pic nic is to be given in its aid, and Bishop O'Brien of this city is to lay the corner stone.—Whig.

FORCE PUMPS.—Mr. Dunning (brother of A. B. Dunning Esq.,) has located himself at Napanee, and commenced the manufacture of a superior force pump, on quite an extensive scale. For simplicity, cheapness and durability this pump seems superior to any before offered at this market. There is no intricate gear to get out of order, and the valve, being in the bottom of the well, cannot be effected by frost, nor is "priming" necessary at any time. The

2 W
8 Ly
ford.

At
of Ch
At Wild

Rye
Barl
Whe
Buc
Cor
Pea
Oats
Oni
Flou
Mut
Bee
Egg
Chi
But Che
Por
Lar
Hay
Stra Hid
Pot
Calf
Dea
Tall
Lan
Woo
Woo
Tan Man

A pre tried simp
fello
Nass

Ecl
Wei wh
cine core shiti olds Cate
wor
the year trac have Can ficie Coll me sold now Mag
all t

now form am high used
—"
Ecl
ne such Woo
Ecl
Not Ulv

tour of the Province, which will consume a large share of the summer. Specimens of penmanship, business and ornamental, can be seen at this office, and also at the Post Office and hotels. We are pleased to learn of the continued prosperity and popularity of this important business College, and wish our friend the success his energy deserves.

A VALUABLE MONTHLY.—If you want a real first class reliable monthly of the class, we commend the Mechanics Magazine, published monthly in Montreal by Desberat's Lithographic Company. It is well-printed and copiously illustrated publication, full of valuable, practical information for mechanics and scientific men. Each number contains a full list of all the patents granted, with illustrations of the most important ones. We say advisedly that no other publication in Canada supplies the place of this magazine. Price $2 per year.

A NEW BUSINESS.—Mr. M. N. Hawley of the Perry Block, Dundas street, is particularly skilled in fine scroll sawing and fancy work, and has opened a fine shop for this purpose. All kinds of fancy brackets, what-nots, and many other things of that kind, that are articles of convenience and ornament at home he makes with rare skill and good taste. Any special order or pattern he will work out most satisfactorily. He is also well skilled in picture framing, and bird cage making. Ladies or gentlemen wishing neat home ornaments, made exactly to their own taste and convenience, would do well to give Hawley a visit. Rooms over Perry's drug store.

AMUSING.—A picture on exhibition in the window of Henry Bro's Book Store is calculated to excite the risibilities of a hypochondriac. We don't know whether the artist got his inspiration from a fugitive newspaper item, or the local scribe his from the production of the artist, but we have read an exceedingly humorous account of the actual scene. If we mistake not the devotional language of the good man was painfully interrupted when the enraged cat took refuge from the dog's attack upon his back, and a sudden change came over his spirit. We are not inclined to be merry over serious things, but the picture above referred to is so ridiculously amusing it would "tickle a calf, and make the brute laugh in the face of a quarterly meeting."

largest of the kind in the Province can now produce photographs as large as life, and almost as natural, far exceeding anything of the kind that he has ever done before. By this process ordinary photographs of departed friends are enlarged and beautified wonderfully. We are glad to learn that his business is rapidly extending. His enterprise deserves success.

A GOOD BUSINESS.—Notwithstanding the backward spring and long period of drouth there are tangible evidence of a fine business among the farmers this year and of those engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements. In one day last week Mr. Herring delivered from his machine shop no less than thirty of his superior horse rakes, and the next day his sales amounted to over $2,200. We understand that Mr. Herring has sold this year something like 400 wheel horse rakes and between 125 and 150 reapers and mowers; and more probably would be sold if they were ready. The advantage of well sustaining a large establishment of this kind in our own midst ought not to be overlooked. A large number of good mechanics are constantly employed and thousands of dollars every year saved in the county instead of being sent abroad for foreign manufacture. The value of horse rakes alone sold amounts to between $10,000 and $12,000. We are glad to see that the farmers are appreciating the advantages of implements made at home, that can be at once repaired if broken or out of order.

A LARGE SHINGLE BUSINESS.—Our excellent friend and enterprising townsman, W. McMullen, Esq., has gone largely this year into the manufacture of sawed shingles, of a superior quality. He has secured a large property on the Salmon River, formerly known as Vaders Mills, where he has fitted up an establishment with the very best and most improved machinery. About 20,000 shingles are being manufactured each day, and seven men are employed about the mill. Last winter about 1,000 cords of cedar were purchased for the mill, and it is now being rapidly manufactured up. The shingles are being shipped to various places, but principally to Ogdensburgh and Kingston, where they find ready sale, considering the unfavourable state of business. He has also a store opened and a boarding house on the premises. We are glad to know that the well known business enterprise of Mr. McMullen is meeting with good success.

improvement to the immediate neighborhood is wonderful.

NEW CHURCH.—Father Davis is building a new Church in Marmora. In response to his invitation last week, the Roman Catholics of that section drew 180 loads of stone, all the required timber, and excavated the greater part of the foundation for the new edifice, which is to be made one of the finest rural churches in Canada. In one Sunday $3,500 was subscribed towards its erection. A grand picnic is to be given in its aid, and Bishop O'Brien of this city is to lay the corner stone.—Whig.

FORCE PUMPS.—Mr. Dunning (brother of A. B. Dunning Esq.,) has located himself at Napanee, and commenced the manufacture of a superior force pump, on quite an extensive scale. For simplicity, cheapness and durability this pump seems superior to any before offered at this market. There is no intricate gear to get out of order, and the valve, being in the bottom of the well, cannot be effected by frost, nor is "priming" necessary at any time. The manufactory is near Diamond's big mill, south of the canal.

PRENTICE BOYS EXCURSION.—Excursions are now all the rage, and almost every body goes, but the Prentice Boys of Napanee wish it generally understood that they have not yet come to the front. On the 12th. of August next they purpose having their annual excursion to Kingston, where ample preparations will be made to give the visitors a cordial reception. There can be no more agreeable place for such a trip than the picturesque old Limestone city, and this time special inducements will be offered, which must attract a crowd.

STILL EXTENDING.—We are glad to notice that Messrs. Gibbard & Son are still constantly extending their business. They are now erecting a considerable addition to their ware house, so as to give a much more extensive display of their manufactured furniture. Notwithstanding the hard times their business is in full blast, and as large a number of hands are employed as before. On Wednesday they received a cargo of splendid walnut lumber, by the schooner Vision, Capt. Harris, from the United States. The good reputation of the Messrs. Gibbards' establishment is being widely extended over the province.

Fore- THE REASON WHY.—Several of our e of exchanges have this item:—

con- “Napanee makes the boast that no-ty of body got drunk there on Dominion ls. Day.” Exactly, we do, and for very lived good reasons, too. There was nobody tains in town to get drunk—all skeddaddled ie of to fairer scenes. But then, we might mer- add for the information of curious ones, s ex- that few persons get drunk in Napanee on any day. The temperance Societies rsion have converted every bibulist in town, panee and bar-tenders are talking about take going to Belleville or Kingston, or en-
, to gaging in some other and more res-amer spectable business.

ulars The following is the standing of the Pupils of Mill Point Public School for the half year, ending June 30th, 1875.

rious 1st Form, (Junior).

t two Boys. Girls.

7th. 1 William Stewart. 1 Minnie Parks. and 2 Eddie Breault. 2 Jane Fox.

origin 3 Alfred Markle. 3 Annie Whitton.

the 1st Form, (Senior).

t $9.- 1 Willie Dryden. 1 Eliza Maricle.

form- 2 Simeos Kerr Loft 2 Annie Gault.

very 3 Evan Edwards. 3 Eliza Rogers.

Mon- 2nd Form,

arrel 1 Ames H. Baker. 1 Emma Woodcock folk, 2 Sidney Dryden. 2 Annie Gobie.

the 3 Herschmer Aylsworth. 3 Mary Blake

t and 3rd Form.

e not 1 William Edwards. 1 Lizzie Harband mate 2 Chas. Dougherty. 2 Celestia Scrim-onists 3 Maggie Whitton. [shaw

1. A Forth Form.

l the 1 W. J. Gracey. 1 Bertha Scrimshaw

o the 2 Wm. Jno. Buttler 2 Josephine Dryden im- 3 Lyeurgus Kirkpatrick 3 Marcy Stafrned, ford.

right MR. DEROCHE, hance MASTER.

ways DIED.

nder At Mill Point, on the 8th inst., Emeline, wife nging of Charles Davis, aged 26 years.

uated At Northport, on the 5th inst., Mr. George the Wildman, aged 26 years.

ouse, NAPANEE MARKETS.

1, of EXRESS Office, June 3th

y the Rye..... 0 60 @ 0 00

3 ex- Barley..... 0 90 @ 1 00

3 was Wheat..... 0 90 @ 0 95

farm Buckwheat..... 0 45 @ 0 50

1 Mr. Corn..... 0 70 @ 0 70

burgh, Peas..... 0 70 @ 0 75

Oats..... 0 50 @ 0 00

Onions per bush..... 1 00 @ 1 00

Flour, 100 lbs..... 2 40 @ 2 40

Mutton per lb..... 0 08 @ 0 09

Beef per cwt..... 6 00 @ 7 00

Eggs per doz..... 0 12 @ 0 13

Chickens per pair..... 0 35 @ 0 40

Butter per lb..... 0 18 @ 0 20

Cheese per lb..... 0 15 @ 0 18

Pork per cwt..... 8 50 @ 9 90

Lard per lb..... 0 12 @ 0 15

Hay per ton..... 8 00 @ 10 20

St..... 2 00 @ 2 14

NOW OR NEVER!

AN OPPORTUNITY THAT ONLY

HAPPENS IN

A Life Twice.

As we are Enlarging and Improving our Ware-rooms, and having a Large Stock of

FURNITURE

ON HAND,

We will, for the months of

JUNE

AND

JULY,

GIVE A DISCOUNT OF

Ten per Cent

ON ALL

CASH SALES O

FOUR DOLLARS

AND OVER.

DO NOT FAIL TO CALL

And beautiful lot of Ladies' Fans from 5 cts to $3.50 arrived yesterday at He

2 Wm. Jno. Buttler 2 Josephine Dryden
8 Lyeurgus Kirkpatrick 8 Marcy Stafford.

MR. DEROCHE, MASTER.

DIED.

At Mill Point, on the 8th inst., Emeline, wife of Charles Davis, aged 26 years.

At Northport, on the 5th inst., Mr. George Wildman, aged 26 years.

NAPANEE MARKETS.

EXRESS Office, June 3th

Rye	0 60 @ 0 00
Barley	0 90 @ 1 00
Wheat	0 90 @ 0 95
Buckwheat	0 45 @ 0 50
Corn	0 70 @ 0 70
Peas	0 70 @ 0 75
Oats	0 50 @ 0 00
Onions per bush	1 00 @ 1 00
Flour, 100 lbs.	2 40 @ 2 40
Mutton per lb.	0 08 @ 0 09
Beef per cwt.	6 00 @ 7 00
Eggs per doz.	0 12 @ 0 13
Chickens per pair.	0 35 @ 0 40
Butter per lb.	0 18 @ 0 20
Cheese per lb.	0 15 @ 0 18
Pork per cwt.	8 50 @ 9 90
Lard per lb.	0 12 @ 0 15
Hay per ton.	8 00 @ 10 20
Straw per load.	2 00 @ 2 14
Hides	5 00 @ 6 00
Potatoes per bush.	0 50 @ 0 50
Calf Skins, per lb.	0 10 @ 0 00
Deacon Skins,	50 0 @ 0 55
Tallow lb.	0 06 @ 0 00
Lamb Skins	1 00 @ 1 50
Wool per lb.	0 28 @ 0 30
Wood per cord.	2 00 @ 3 40
Tanbark per cord.	5 00 @ 6 00
Maple Sugar	0 12 @ 0 14

MANHOOD RESTORED

A victim of youthful imprudence, causing premature decay, nervous debility, etc., having tried in vain every known remedy, has found a simple self-cure, which he will send free to his fellow-sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, 78
Nassau St. New York. P. O. Box 5153, 5-13c

ELECTRICITY: I THOMAS' EXCELSIOR ELECTRIC OIL!—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay
where it is used. It the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common cure throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures
Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents
worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J.
Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more
now; its cures are truly wonderful." Wm
Maguire, of Franklin, writes, "I have sold
all the agent left, it acts like a charm—
as slow at first but takes splendidly
now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward dozen Thomas' Electric Oil. I am nearly out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it," J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes
—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left.
never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson Woodford, writes—"Send me some more
Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out.
Nothing takes like it." Miller and Reed,
Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric
Oil is getting a great reputation here.

AND

JULY,

GIVE A DISCOUNT OF

Ten per Cent

ON ALL

CASH SALES OF

FOUR DOLLARS

AND OVER.

DO NOT FAIL TO CALL

AND SEE OUR

Stock and get Prices

J. GIBBARD & SON.

DAVIS & BRO.

ARE NOW SHOWING AN ENTIRELY NEW STOCK OF GOODS

AT THE OLD STAND,

Bought at a discount and sold at a d

WHICH FOR CHEAPNESS HAS EQUALLED IN NAPANE

FOR JUNE

STYLISH DR

STYLISH

STYLISH

15 cts to $3.50 arrived yesterday at Henry & Bro's Bookstore. The L

AT THE OLD STAND,

Bought at a discount and sold at a d

WHICH FOR CHEAPNESS HAS EQUALLED IN NAPANE

FOR JUNE

STYLISH DR

STYLISH

STYLISH

STY

ELECTRICITY: THOMAS' EXCELSIOR
ELECTRIC OIL!—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.—Pain cannot stay
where it is used. It the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common cough. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures
Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents
worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J.
Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes " send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more
now; its cures are truly wonderful." Wm
Maguire, of Franklin, writes, "I have sold
all the agent left, it acts like a charm—
as slow at first but takes splendidly
now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, " please forward a dozen Thomas' Electric Oil. I am nearly out; nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it," J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes
—"Send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left.
never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson
Woodford, writes—"Send me some more
Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out.
Nothing takes like it." Miller and Reed,
Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric
Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb and Co., Buckingham, P. Q., write—"Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well."

S. N. THOMAS Phelps, N. Y.

And NORTHROP and LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion

NOTE—Electric—Selected, and Electrified.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

STEAMER

"NORFOLK."

CAPTAIN L. COLLIER,

WILL Leave Picton for Napanee.
every Monday, Wednesday and Friday Morning at 6 calling at Mill
Point, and all intermediate Ports.
Returning will leave Napanee at 3 p. m., same days.

Will leave Picton for Belleville every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at 5.30 a. m., calling at Mill Point, North Port, Big Island and intermediate ports. Returning will leave Belleville at p. m., same days.

For freight or passage apply to C.
Garner, Wharfinger, Picton; R. Downey
& Bros., Napanee; W. H. Campbell &
Co., Belleville, or Captain on board.

Excursion Parties, etc., arranged for on liberal terms.

FOR SALE.

One case of Native Stuffed Birds, also one Ducking Skiff. The Case of Birds is on exhibition at Dr. Bedford's Dental Rooms.

Farm & Fireside

FLOWERS THAT NEVER WITHER.

There are flowers that never wither.
There are skies that never fade,
There are trees that cast forever
Cooling bowers of leafy shade.
There are silver wavelets flowing,
With a lulling sound of rest,
Where the west wind softly blowing
Fans the far lands of the blest.

Thitherward our steps are tending,
Oft through dim oppressive fears,
More of grief than pleasure blending
In the darkening woof of years,
Often would our footsteps weary
Sink upon our winding way,
But that, when all looks most dreary,
O'er us beams a cheering ray.

Thus the Father who hath made us
Tenants of this world of care,
Knoweth how to kindly aid us
With the burdens we must bear;
Knoweth how to cause the spirit
Hopefully to raise its eyes
Towards the home it doth inherit,
Far beyond the azure skies.

There's a voice that whispers lowly Down within this heart of mine,
Where emotions the most holy Ever make their sacred shrine,
And it tells a thrilling story
Of the great Redeemer's love!
And the all bewildering glory
Of the better land above.

O, this life with all its sorrow,
Hasteth onward to a close
And a few more brief to-morrows
Will have ended all our woes;
Then o'er death the part immortal
Shall sublimely rise and soar
O'er the star resplendent portal,
There to dwell for evermore.

OUR HOME ON THE HILL

"We live to learn?" I say, we learn to live; that is, everything we learn helps us to live—not exist—that belongs to a higher power; but to gather, as we walk this life, things pleasant and useful, certainly helps us to live. Our home on the hill is like thousands of others where the daily home duties glide along. I shall only introduce the inmates, when they can suggest useful and pleasant things to the readers of the EXPRESS.

CLEANING GILT MOULDINGS, p. 237.—Last fall, when everyone was busy fixing up for winter, Rabie came to me with a perplexed face exclaiming:

"What shall I do with the guilt frames? Why are we so tormented with flies? Little pests, I would like to take the last one of them, and—"

"Stop," I said, "save your breath and time. Go quickly into the kitchen; get some onion skins; boil them; take the water, and with a sponge or small camel's hair-brush, you can easily get off the last speck."—

"Oh, Brunie! you are a treasure," and away she went.

While we were at tea, she announced

WHY HE DIDN'T MARRY.

It is said that Sir Walter Campbell, who was lately in a merchantile firm in New York, wished to marry an American lady, of good position in the Empire State. Upon his applying to the young lady's father, the parent stated that he always referred all those questions to his wife. The mother, in her turn, stated that she must refer it to the Duke of Argyle. The duke pleaded that, considering his connection with the royalty, he must consult his eldest son. The marquis could do nothing without the Queen's consent. Her Majesty felt that the issue must be referred to the Duke of Saxe Cobourg-Gotha, as head of the family. The duke rejoined that, since the recent changes in Germany, he looked upon the Emperor William as his sovereign, and must bow to his advice. The Emperor said he could do nothing without Prince Bismarck's opinion; and Prince Bismarck declared he had no opinion at all, one way or the other; and so the question—to marry or not to marry—was brought to a dead lock.

WOMEN IN THE GARDEN.

However aghast some "fine ladies" may regard the idea of working in the garden, I consider it one of the most wholesome means of exercise within our reach. Wholesome especially, because we have an object—and an interesting one in this exercise—which is the growth of flowers and plants. Before commencing work in the garden, put on a pair of worn-out leather gloves, a broad-brimmed sun-hat, and a pair of good, stout boots; if not stout, then wear a pair of thin gum overshoes. The dampness of the soil is very liable to produce a "cold." Don't be afraid that the labor will hurt you, even if you should become very tired; on the contrary, it will strengthen you, give you rosy cheeks and may add years to your life. There is not a spring that I do not spend two weeks at least a twerk in the garden, and I tell you that to me there is nothing so agreeable, I may say fascinating; and this feeling is doubled when I see the fine flowers and good vegetables growing and put upon the table from my own handiwork.

STICK TO OLD FRIENDS.

Never give up old friends for new

"FOUR GREAT TRIALS."

"These boys are the torment of my life," exclaimed Mrs. Lee, as three ruddy, wide-awake urchins came prancing into the sitting-room, right through the tidy kitchen, to ask permission to go down to the common to play an hour, which was given, rather ungraciously, by their mother.

"I always thought they were nice children," Anna. You cannot expect they will behave like old men," said a maiden aunt, who had that day come for a week's visit to her favorite niece; "boys will be boisterous any way."

"I suppose so, but mine are so heedless! Did you see their muddy boots, tracking clear through the house?"

"No, I was looking at their round, healthy faces. They are fine boys; you ought to be thankful that they are so healthy."

"Yes, but they are so noisy and rude! Girls are not half the bother, they are quiet sometimes."

"I think there is little difference, Anna, in the care between girls and boys, when they are small; if children are healthy, and have common sense, a mother should be contented. There is care in training, but as the twig is bent"—

"Oh, Aunt, you know nothing about bringing up children. All the old proverbs in the world can't convince me that children are anything but nuisances."

"Why, Aunt Lee, I am perfectly astonished! You do not know what you are talking about! These little darling boys to be called torments and nuisances!" and the lips of the speaker quivered with emotion.

"You are just like their father. He says I don't love them as I ought, or I should not fret so much at them."

"I think, Anna, you love your children, but you have allowed yourself to become fretful and impatient, and I am afraid you will not make a pleasant home for the children."

"I cannot help it if I don't. They keep the house in a general hubbub, their playthings are scattered everywhere, and there is no end of litter. I used to keep things tidy."

"I think you do not know, Anna, and I really think it is a weakness to be so particular about your house. Your husband and children would be happier, if you were a little less particular about your housekeeping."

to live; that is, everything we learn helps us to live—not exist—that belongs to a higher power; but to gather, as we walk this life, things pleasant and useful, certainly helps us to live. Our home on the hill is like thousands of others where the daily home duties glide along. I shall only introduce the inmates, when they can suggest useful and pleasant things to the readers of the EXPRESS.

CLEANING GILT MOULDINGS, p. 237.—Last fall, when everyone was busy fixing up for winter, Rabie came to me with a perplexed face exclaiming:

"What shall I do with the gilt frames? Why are we so tormented with flies? Little pests, I would like to take the last one of them, and—"

"Stop," I said, "save your breath and time. Go quickly into the kitchen; get some onion skins; boil them; take the water, and with a sponge or small camel's hair-brush, you can easily get off the last speck."

"Oh, Brunie! you are a treasure," and away she went.

While we were at tea, she announced that the frames were as good as new. I hope H.W.M. will be as successful.

FANCY WORK, p. 247.—Though Saturday is a busy day with us, two hours of it are devoted to a little band of workers, who meet and are taught to sew. The articles made are sold, and the proceeds given to the poor of the parish. The children bring their mite, a penny, which also goes into the fund. I mention it thinking perhaps the same may be done by others, and I know

NEVER BEEN DISCOUNTED

are

are

are

are

wholesome means of exercise within our reach. Wholesome especially, because we have an object—and an interesting one in this exercise—which is the growth of flowers and plants. Before commencing work in the garden, put on a pair of worn-out leather gloves, a broad-brimmed sun-hat, and a pair of good, stout boots; if not stout, then wear a pair of thin gum overshoes. The dampness of the soil is very liable to produce a "cold." Don't be afraid that the labor will hurt you, even if you should become very tired; on the contrary, it will strengthen you, give you rosy cheeks and may add years to your life. There is not a spring that I do not spend two weeks at least a twork in the garden, and I tell you that to me there is nothing so agreeable, I may say fascinating; and this feeling is doubled when I see the fine flowers and good vegetables growing and put upon the table from my own handiwork.

STICK TO OLD FRIENDS.

Never give up old friends for new ones. Make new ones, too, if you like; and when you have learned that you can trust them love them if you will, but remember the old ones still. Do not forget that they have been tried and true, that they have been merry with you in time of pleasure, and when sorrow came to you they sorrowed also.—No matter if they have gone down in the social scale and you up; no matter if poverty and misfortune have come to them while prosperity and plenty have fallen to you, are they any the less true for that? Are not their hearts as warm and tender if they do beat beneath homespun instead of velvet? Yes, friends, they are as true and tender, and loving; and don't forget old friends.

AN INVITATION TO SMALL BIRDS.

The Rural World has discovered a use for the old discarded fruit and oyster cans, which commonly constitute a decided nuisance in the domestic economy, as no one knows just how to get rid of them. Its suggestion is as follows:

hem in the trees so that you can by driving a small corner of the cans, place them so they will leaves come out. on the shady giving two nails can into the except such homes, in All this is bringing up children. All the old proverbs in the world can't convince me that children are anything but nuisances."

"Why, Aunt Lee, I am perfectly astonished! You do not know what you are talking about! These little darling boys to be called torments and nuisances!" and the lips of the speaker quivered with emotion.

"You are just like their father. He says I don't love them as I ought, or I should not fret so much at them."

"I think, Anna, you love your children, but you have allowed yourself to become fretful and impatient, and I am afraid you will not make a pleasant home for the children."

"I cannot help it if I don't. They keep the house in a general hubbub, their playthings are scattered everywhere, and there is no end of litter. I used to keep things tidy."

"I think you do not know, Anna, and I really think it is a weakness to be so particular about your house. Your husband and children would be happier, if you were a little less particular about your housekeeping."

"Mr. Lee says he wishes I would not kill myself trying to be so neat; but what would folks say if I should let things go at odds and ends, I could not stand being talked about as a slack housewife."

"I should rather be called that than a cross, fretful wife and mother; but no danger, Anna, but you will always keep things tidy, it is natural for you."

"Perhaps too it is natural for me to be fretful; my husband says it is, but I did not use to be so; everything was pleasant."

"My dear Anna, your temper was not tried before you had a home of your own; no one can tell what their disposition is till they have tested it by trials and cares."

"Well, I have enough of them, anyway."

"I presume so, but Anna, you may live to see the day that you will look back and call this the happiest time of your life—your husband and children all with you and are all in health and prosperity."

"But, Anna, just think of the cares and anxieties, and Edward is not as he used to be; he gets out of patience as well as I."

"Perhaps he has trials to bear, my dear; men have cares and anxieties that annoy them as much as the petty troubles that women have to bear. Do you ever think of that?"

The baby in the crib just then awoke, and as Mrs. Lee lifted the little creature in her arms she turned to her sister.

Na
J sue N
Ha
Work cute the sl reason exper found PAR
All ceive ped t
D.
STO
TI
I BE
STE
MI
N
The respec
new s cast of a well
DR.
R
FAMI
The cash r est liv
Call
ble to Mill P
N
The
to the prepar
for bu

I mention it. Thinking perhaps the same by others, and I know, if they have our my real object is, thereby answer L. "fancy work," as constantly making long ago one of dled "a hair re one side of a d. Take a piece out eight inches made smaller, zephyr or terns, tune have come to them while prosperity and plenty have fallen to you, are they any the less true for that? Are not their hearts as warm and tender if they do beat beneath homespun instead of velvet? Yes, friends, they are as true and tender, and loving; and don't forget old friends.

AN INVITATION TO SMALL BIRDS.

The Rural World has discovered a use for the old discarded fruit and oyster cans, which commonly constitute a decided nuisance in the domestic economy, as no one knows just how to get rid of them. Its suggestion is as follow: Put them in the trees so that you can reach them by driving a small nail in the corner of the cans, and then place them so they will hang down. The leaves come out. Put them on the shady side, giving two nails to hang the can into the trees, except such as are in homes, in all this is done by these living the it.

"Perhaps too it is natural for me to be fretful; my husband says it is, but I did not use to be so; everything was pleasant."

"My dear Anna, your temper was not tried before you had a home of your own; no one can tell what their disposition is till they have tested it by trials and cares."

"Well, I have enough of them, anyway."

"I presume so, but Anna, you may live to see the day that you will look back and call this the happiest time of your life—your husband and children all with you and are all in health and prosperity."

"But, Anna, just think of the cares and anxieties, and Edward is not as he used to be; he gets out of patience as well as I."

"Perhaps he has trials to bear, my dear; men have cares and anxieties that annoy them as much as the petty troubles that women have to bear. Do you ever think of that?"

The baby in the crib just then awoke. and as Mrs. Lee lifted the little creature in her arms she turned to her visitor: "Here is another trial you have never seen."

"Another blessing, Anna! a boy, I suppose, by your calling him another trial! I am ashamed of you! Such a lovely baby!"

"Edward says he is a beauty; but just think, Aunt, four great rough boys; it is enough to discourage any woman."

"Anna, that is just as you receive them and feel. I should call you a happy woman, with your surroundings; but you try to be miserable, and I fear you will succeed."

FARMERS WIFE.

A young student of a quiet disposition wants "to get board in a private family."

A man may wear the color of a cardinal on his nose and yet not be strictly religious.

Railway agents in St. Lewis advertise "grasshopper rates" to the East. Is that fare?

Grass widow means "grace widow," one who becomes a widow by grace or favor, and not by death.

There has always been trouble about the mouth of the Mississippi river: it is too far from the head.

A patent medicine agent recently stuck his handbills on all the grave-stones in the cemetery at Melrose, Mass.

MILL POINT ADVERTISEMENTS.

APOTHECARIES HALL,
MILL POINT.

DRUGS & STATIONERY, HORSE & CATTLE MEDICINES, FAMILY RECEIPTS & PRESCRIPTIONS,

A SPECIALITY.

Paints, Oils, Seeds, and everything required in the Drug line.

OPEN DAY OR NIGHT.

Office of Dr. Newton.
WM. GEO. EGAR,
LICENSED CHEMIST,
Mill Point.

REMOVAL.
F. W. FELSON HARNESS-MAKER,
MILL POINT.

Wishes to announce to the citizens of Mill Point and surrounding country,
that he has

REMOVED HIS HARNESS-SHOP.

To the premises one door East of the store of Climie, Millner and Co., where he intends to manufacture and
keep on hand a general stock of Harness, Whips, Curry-Combs, Brushes
and everything in his line, of the best description, as cheap as can be obtained elsewhere.

CALL AND EXAMIN.
F. W. FELSON.
Napace, Oct. 3rd, 1874.

James Birrell

Manufacturer of

BUGGIES, CUTTERS, SLEIGHS, WAG-
GONS, &c.,

MILL POINT.

Having recently erected a commodious Workshop, I am now prepared to execute all orders for any of the above on the shortest possible notice, and the most reasonable terms. As I employ none but experienced workmen, my work will be found second to none in the County.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID
TO JOBBING.

All Orders from a distance will receive the promptest attention, and ship ped to any part.

JAS. BIRREL.

D. McRae & Son

Ontario

THE BEST PATRONIZED, MOST THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL

BUSINESS SCHOOL IN CANADA

An institution for Business training, where Boys, Young and Middle-aged Men can procure an Education suited to the wants of every day life.

The subjects taught are just such as every Merchant, Farmer, Mechanic and Professional Man require in transacting every day business, and embrace the following:—

Book-Keeping by Single and Double Entry, Spencerian Penmanship, Commercial Paper Banking, Steamboating, Correspondence, Arithmetiz, Brokerage, Spelling, Commercial Law, Practical Grammar, Mechanical Drawing, Actual Business Course, Telegraphing, Phonography, &c.

Our Course of Training is under the supervision of
SEVEN COMPETENT AND EXPERIENCED TEACHERS.

Our Patronage is much larger, and our terms less than any other Business College in Canada. The united admission of over one thousand of our Graduates, now filling lucrative positions as Accountants and Telegraph Operators, are the guarantees of competency and success we offer.

Specimens of Penmanship and College Journal sent "free of charge." on application to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, Ont.

The British American

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

TORONTO,

Has a better Course of Instruction, and furnishes more Situations for Young Men, than all the other commercial colleges in Ontario combined.

CALL AND EXAMIN.
F. W. FELSON.
 Napanea, Oct. 3rd, 1874.

James Birrell

Manufacturer of
BUGGIES, CUTTERS, SLEIGHS, WAG-GONS, &C.,

MILL POINT.

Having recently erected a commodious Workshop, I am now prepared to execute all orders for any of the above on the shortest possible notice, and the most reasonable terms. As I employ none but experienced workmen, my work will be found second to none in the County.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO JOBBING.

All Orders from a distance will receive the promptest attention, and shipped to any part.

JAS. BIRREL.

D. McRae & Son

DEALERS IN

STOVES,

TINWARE,

HARDWARE, and

GENERAL HOUSE
 FURNISHINGS.

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO

BELL-HANGING

AND

STEAMBOAT FIXTURES.

Mill Point, May 5th, 1875. 9-3m.

NEW BUSINESS.

Those doing business at Mill Point are respectfully informed that in T. Close's new store N. Clark's Block, two doors east of Egar's Drug Store, may be found a well selected stock of

DRY GOODS OF ALL KINDS.
 READY MADE CLOTHING.
 BOOTS AND SHOES.
 HARDWARE AND GLASS.
 FAMILY GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS.

These were all purchased at lowest cash rates, and will be sold at the smallest living profit.

Call and see for yourselves. No trouble to show you our goods.

THOMAS CLOSE.

Mill Point, June 16th, 1875.

NOTICE.

The undersigned beg leave to announce to the public generally that they are now prepared to do all kinds of SAWING, for building and other purposes, by the

of competency and success we offer.
 Specimens of Penmanship and College Journal sent "free of charge," on application to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, Ont.

The British American

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

TORONTO,

Has a better Course of Instruction, and furnishes more Situations for Young Men, than all the other commercial colleges in Ontario combined.

REFERENCES:

HON. ALEX. MACKENZIE, Premier of Canada.
 HON. WM. MCMASTER, President of Canadian Bank of Commerce.
 HON. JOHN CRAWFORD, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario.
 W. H. HOWLAND, President of the Dominion Board of Trade.
 HON. JOHN SLIPSON, President Ontario Bank.
 HON. THOS. N. GIBBS, M. P., Oshawa.
 WM. GOODERHAM, Esq., President Bank of Toronto.
 J. AUSTIN, Esq., President Dominion Bank.
 HON. J. HILLYARD CAMERON, President Provincial Insurance Co.
 HON. JOHN MCMURRICH, President Dominion Telegraph Co.
 P. HALDANE, Esq., General Manager Western Insurance Co.
 JOHN MAUGHAN, Esq., Manager Isolated Risk Insurance Co.
 HUGH SCOTT, Esq., General Manager Queen City Fire Insurance Co.
 DUN, WILMAN & Co., Mercantile Agency.
 JAMES YOUNG, Esq., M. P., Gall.
 ADAM OLIVER, Esq., M. P., Ingersoll.

Our friends among the merchants are entirely too numerous to mention, and we can only refer our patrons to the leading business firms throughout every town and city in Ontario.

FOR TERMS, SPECIMENS OF PENMANSHIP, &c., address,

ODELL & TROUT,

TORONTO.

ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE.

WHITBY, ONT.

WINTER TERMS. BEGINS FEB. 10TH. SPRING TERMS BEGINS
 APRIL 27TH.

Pupils admitted at any time and charged only from the date of Entrance.

TERMS OF TUITION.

Tuition, Primary Department,	$3 00	French and Drawing, each,	4 00
" Preparatory "	4 00	Painting and Music, each,	8 00
" Collegiate "	6 00	Board with Furnish'd Room 1/2 week	2 75
Fuel, Lights and Washing	50 cents per week.

BELL-HANGING

AND

STEAMBOAT FIXTURES.

Mill Point, May 5th, 1875. 9-3m.

NEW BUSINESS.

Those doing business at Mill Point are respectfully informed that in T. Close's new store N. Clark's Block, two doors east of Egar's Drug Store, may be found a well selected stock of

DRY GOODS OF ALL KINDS.
READY MADE CLOTHING.
BOOTS AND DHOES.
HARDWARE AND GLASS.
FAMILY GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS.

These were all purchased at lowest cash rates, and will be sold at the smallest living profit.

Call and see for yourselves. No trouble to show you our goods.

THOMAS CLOSE.

Mill Point, June 16th, 1875.

NOTICE.

The undersigned beg leave to announce to the public generally that they are now prepared to do all kinds of SAWING, for building and other purposes, by the thousand or on shares, on the shortest notice.

Farmer's bring along your Logs.
PERRY AND JOY,
Napanee, Dec. 25th, 1874.

CHAIRS RE-SEATED.

PERSONS wishing their

CANE CHAIRS RE-SEATED, may have them done

NEATLY AND CHEAPLY
by leaving their orders at GIBBARD'S CABINET SHOP, or at the residence of the undersigned, Water Street, West Ward.

W. S. BENNETT.

Napanee, March 3, 1875. 53

NAPANEE MARBLE FACTORY

W R MOORE

WOULD announce to his friends and the public generally that he has removed his shop from Odessa, where he has been in business for the past 7 years to Napanee, to enlarge and otherwise improve his business. He is determined not to be outdone, either in quality of work or price. All work warranted, and a careful man sent to put up and otherwise fix the stones. None but First-Class Workmen kept.

Monuments of all descriptions on hand, such as American and Italian Marbles, Scotch Granite, &c.

Shop just in rear of Campbell House and one door this side of Belfast Tea House.

W. R. MOORE.

J. T. CLARK, Agent.
Napanee, May 21, 1873

town and city in Ontario.

FOR TERMS, SPECIMENS OF PENMANSHIP, &c., address,

ODELL & TROUT,

TORONTO.

ONTARIO LADIES' COLLEGE.

WHITBY, ONT.

WINTER TERMS. BEGINS FEB. 10TH. SPRING TERMS BEGINS
APRIL 27TH.

Pupils admitted at any time and charged only from the date of Entrance.

TERMS OF TUITION.

Tuition, Primary Department,	$3 00	French and Drawing, each,	4 00
" Preparatory "	4 00	Painting and Music, each,	8 00
" Collegiate "	6 00	Board with Furnish'd Room & week	2 75
Fuel, Lights and Washing		50 cents per week.

Buildings and Grounds unequalled! An excellent and full Staff of Teachers and charges lower than in any similar institution in Canada.

For Circulars, address,

REV. J. E. SANDERSON, M. A., GOVERNOR.

JUST ARRIVED,

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW HATS AND CAPS, FOR THE SPRING TRADE.

ALL NEW STYLES, AND CHEAP.

—:O:—

ALSO,

NEW BOOTS and SHOES, Arriving Daily.

A LARGE QUANTITY OF CLOTHING and GENTS
FURNISHING GOODS,

AT VERY LOW PRICES,

ALL WINTER GOODS AT COST.

BOOTS MADE TO ORDER

—AND—

REPAIRING DONE ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

ROSE & EMPEY.

Napanee

T. W. CASEY, Publisher.)

THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE

VOL. 14.]

NAPANEE, ONTARIO, THURS.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

ALEX. C. DAVIS,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee
Ontario.

CHARLES LANE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Office—Front of Grammar School, Bridge Street, Napanee.

S. D. CLARKE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Odessa,
Ontario.

J. J. WATSON,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Adolphustown.

PETER E. R. MILLER,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Switzer-
ville, Ont.

JAMES AYLSWORTH.
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Tam-
worth.

ROBERT GRAHAM,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office—
In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver
and Toronto Fire Insurance Company, and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont

LEGAL.

H. M. DEROCHE,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, Notary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-licitors in Chancery and Insolvency, No-
taries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,

INDIAN PERISHED.

From our Shannonville Correspondent.

On Tuesday night last, two Indians named Williams and Jacob Claws, started from Northport to cross the ice to the Indian Reserve. When near the latter shore they separated, Claws saying he was going ashore at Bluff Point to spend the night at a house there. Instead of doing so he appears to have attempted to return to Northport, as he was found on the ice near that place, the next morning, where he is supposed to have laid down and perished. Both of them, it is said, were intoxicated, having obtained their whiskey in Demorestville.

Is it not time the municipalities assumed the functions they have so long neglected in respect to limiting licenses, and appointing persons to look after those to whom licenses were granted. We think that if those who in the face of the law are daily dealing out to the poor Indian that which kills both body and soul, were judicially dealt with, and in one or two cases at least, the extreme penalties of the law were enforced; it would have a salutary effect upon the liquor venders generally; and we would suggest the present as a very proper case with which to commence.

On Friday last, as John Davenport was taking dinner at S. Rombough's, in Shannonville, leaving his horse tied at the fence, it being a cold day, the horse justly thinking himself badly used, broke loose and started for home, making a complete wreck of the buggy, which was a new one. That horse does not believe in the cruelty too often practised toward animals.

the girl went to Davis for pills and drops with the advice of the prisoner, but voluntarily went to have the operation, which caused her death performed; then they must acquit the prisoner. There was not a tittle of corroboration of Davis' evidence, and on the testimony of that man depends the whole case. Another point was that if a week did not intervene between the prisoner going to Davis' office in reference to the girl being able to stay at his, Davis' house, and the girl herself going there, then the whole story must be a lie. His Lordship's advice to the jury was to acquit the prisoner. The jury then without leaving the box consulted with each other for a minute, and the Foreman rose on being asked if they had agreed and said "Not Guilty." His Lordship at once told the prisoner he was discharged, the announcement being received with considerable applause, mingled with a few hisses. Mr. Clements then left the Court, amidst the congratulations of his friends.

It is considered probable that the Crown will not go on with the prosecution of Wm. Fraser, charged with being accessory after the fact of the murder of Jane Vaughan Gilmour.

AN ICELANDIC HOME.

The boys of Iceland must be content with very few acquaintances or playmates. The valleys which produce grass enough for ponies, cattle and sheep, are generally scattered wide apart, divided by ridges of lava so hard and cold that only a few wild flowers succeed in growing in their cracks and hollows. Then, since the farms must be all the larger because the grass is narrow salt fish was unfire of pfrom Si coats. ful. a co found s instruct seemed in the w floor, a a color and a g precious Gudrid They w fear of and Gu laid on ed that years a down fi in St. I

THE

The f County afterno Every 1 followi tives of current Adol Reeve. Amh Bath Cam and R. Dent Erne John L ties.

worth.

ROBERT GRAHAM,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Office—
In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUE of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. A. B. Agent for the Beaver
and Toronto Fire Insurance Company,
and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont

LEGAL.

H. M. DEROCHE,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, No-
tary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency, No-
taries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law
Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers
etc. OFFICE—Perry's New Block
Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.
W. A. REEVE, M. A., A. L. MORDEN.
Co. Crown Attorney.

E. A. DEROCHE.
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under New Act
of 1875.
Office in H. M. Deroche's Law Office

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency,
Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.,
Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, E. J. HOOPER, M. A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson.) Office of Napanee Paper Mills, this side of A.
N. Diamond's

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,
GRADUATE University of Victoria
College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y.
Member of the College of Physicians
and Surgeons, Ontario.
Special Attention paid to Diseases of the Eye.
Office and Residence: Centre Street,
Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West
Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications
and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.
TEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest
notice.

and appointing persons to look after those to whom licenses were granted.
We think that if those who in the face of the law are daily dealing out to the poor Indian that which kills both body and soul, were judicially dealt with,
and in one or two case at least, the extreme penalties of the law were enforced; it would have a salutary effect upon the liquor venders generally; and we would suggest the present as a very proper case with which to commence.

On Friday last, as John Davenport was taking dinner at S. Rombough's, in Shannonville, leaving his horse tied at the fence, it being a cold day, the horse justly thinking himself badly used, broke loose and started for home, making a complete wreck of the buggy, which was a new one. That horse does not believe in the cruelty too often practised toward animals.

FROM MORDEN.

The Rev. F. Chishlom, agent of the
I. O. G. T., delivered a very fine discourse here last evening, in the M. E.
Church, on Prohibition. The chair was ably filled by Mr. Clancy, who introduced the speaker with a few well timed remarks. I shall not attempt even a synopsis of the lecture; suffice it to say, that though this is the first visit we have had from this able speaker, an earnest desire prevails that it will not be the last; and we must heartily join in the commendations elsewhere bestowed upon him. We congratulate the executive of that noble band of Temperance workers on their having secured such a worthy gentleman to defend the right. At the conclusion of the address, resolutions of thanks were unanimously accorded to the chairman and speaker. Mr. Clancy then
(by request) took possession of the Organ, and rendered one of his choice songs, after which the Choir sang God
save the Queen, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. F. B. Stratton.
Thus closed one of the most pleasant
temperance meetings ever held here.

The Singing School in this locality is now in full blast. A large attendance of anxious pupils is found here on Monday and Tuesday evenings of each week. Under the tuition of so faithful and laborious a man as Mr. Clancy we cannot fail of success.

It is now settled that the Rev. F. B.
Stratton has consented, after repeated
and urgent solicitations, to bring out
his well trained band of Juveniles again next week. We have but to announce that fact to secure a crowded prisoner he was discharged, the announcement being received with considerable applause, mingled with a few hisses. Mr. Clements then left the Court, amidst the congratulations of his friends.

It is considered probable that the Crown will not go on with the prosecution of Wm. Fraser, charged with being accessory after the fact of the murder of Jane Vaughan Gilmour.

AN ICELANDIC HOME.

The boys of Iceland must be content with very few acquaintances or playmates. The valleys which produce grass enough for ponies, cattle and sheep, are generally scattered wide apart, divided by ridges of lava so hard and cold that only a few wild flowers succeed in growing in their cracks and hollows. Then, since the farms must be all the larger because the grass is short and grows slowly in such a severe northern climate, the dwellings are rarely nearer than four or five miles apart; and were it not for their swift and nimble ponies, the people would see very little of each other except on Sundays, when they ride long distances to attend worship in their little wooden churches.

But of all boys in the island, not one was so lonely in his situation as Jon Sigurdson. His father lived many miles beyond that broad, grassy plain which stretches from the Geysers to the sea, on the banks of the swift river Thiorva. On each side there were mountains so black and bare that they looked like gigantic piles of coal; but the valley opened to the southward as if to let the sun in, and faraway, when the weather was clear, the snowy top of Mount Hecla shone against the sky.
The farmer Sigurd, Jon's father, was a poor man, or he would not have settled so far away from any neighbors, for
he was of a cheerful and social nature,
and there were few at Kyrkedal who could vie with him in knowledge of the ancient history and literature of Iceland.

The house was built on a knoll, under a cliff which sheltered it from the violent west and north winds. The walls, of lava stones and turf, were low
and broad; and the roofs over dwelling,
storehouses, and stables, were covered deep with earth, upon which grew such excellent grass that the ponies were fond of climbing up the sloping corners of the wall in order to get at it. Sometimes they might be seen, cunningly
balanced on the steep sides of the roof,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson.) Office of Napanee Paper Mills, this side of A. N. Diamond's.

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,
GRADUATE University of Victoria
College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y.
Member of the College of Physicians
and Surgeons, Ontario.
Special Attention paid to Diseases of
the Eye.
Office and Residence: Centre Street,
Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West
Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications
and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.
TEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest
notice.
Remember the place, opposite the old City Hotel, corner of Adelaide and Bridge Streets.

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.

—O— EDMUND HOOVER,

Agent for the following first-class Companies
HAND IN HAND.....FIRE
NATIONAL.....LIFE
EQUITABLE.....LIFE.

NOTICE.

I hereby forbid any person purchasing a note made by me 8th December last in favor of Helen Hoskins, or bearer, as no value has been received for the same.

JOHN GENGE.

Napanee, 6th Jan. 1875.

3in

CAUTION.

All persons are hereby cautioned against purchasing two promissory notes of $100 each payable to Patrick Lacey, bearing date August 1st 1875 and payable respectively one and two years after date, as no value has been received for them by us the makers.

WM. WET, Sr.

WM. WEST, Jr.

Sheffield 2nd Con. Jan 7th 1875.

44-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent

Notice.

All parties indebted to the estate of the above Insolvent, either by note or book account, are requested to call at the office of the undersigned and pay the same at once.

Immediate attention to the above will save costs. 43-3in W. F. HALL, Assignee.
Dated at Napanee, this 29th day of Dec., 1875

DENTAL NOTICE.

Call and pay your accounts for Dental services without further delay, and oblige

Office over Spencer & Hogan. 43

Temperance workers on their having secured such a worthy gentleman to defend the right. At the conclusion of the address, resolutions of thanks were unanimously accorded to the chairman and speaker. Mr. Clancy then
(by request) took possession of the Organ, and rendered one of his choice solos, after which the Choir sang God
save the Queen, and the benediction
was pronounced by Rev. F. B. Stratton.
Thus closed one of the most pleasant
temperance meetings ever held here.

The Singing School in this locality is now in full blast. A large attendance
of anxious pupils is found here on Monday and Tuesday evenings of each week. Under the tuition of so faithful and laborious a man as Mr. Clancy we cannot fail of success.

It is now settled that the Rev. F. B.
Stratton has consented, after repeated
and urgent solicitations, to bring out
his well trained band of Juveniles
again next week. We have but to announce that fact to secure a crowded house. Instead of the usual 'Goodies,' we believe there is to be a great lecture from Bishop Carman, D. D., in connection with the entertainment, which will be far preferable to the eatables.

THE CLEMENTS TRIAL.

THE ACQUITTAL OF THE PRISONER.

On the assembling of the Court of Assizes on Saturday, it was announced that there were no more witnesses to be called in the Clements case. Hon.
J. H. Cameron then addressed the jury for the prisoner, winding up an address which was listened to with breathless silence, with an earnest appeal to the jury that he might be acquitted without their leaving the box. Mr. Britton then addressed the jury for the prosecution, in a speech for which he was afterwards complimented by Mr.
Justice Galt on its moderation. Justice Galt commenced his charge by explaining to the Jury that in allowing Davis to become a witness he did not by any means admit his credibility, that was for them to decide. He had the strongest doubts as to his competency to give his evidence at all, but that was a point for him, the Judge, to decide, and not for them. It was a point on which, if necessity arose, he intended to take the opinion of his brother judges. One thing for the jury to understand was if looked like gigantic piles of coal; but

the valley opened to the southward as
if to let the sun in, and faraway, when
the weather was clear, the snowy top of Mount Hecla shone against the sky.
The farmer Sigurd, Jon's father, was a poor man, or he would not have settled so far away from any neighbors, for
he was of a cheerful and social nature,
and there were few at Kyrkedal who
could vie with him in knowledge of the ancient history and literature of Iceland.

The house was built on a knoll, under a cliff which sheltered it from the violent west and nothern winds. The walls, of lava stones and turf, were low
and broad; and the roofs over dwelling,
storehouses, and stables, were covered
deep with earth, upon which grew such excellent grass that the ponies were
fond of climbing up the sloping corners
of the wall in order to get at it. Sometimes they might be seen, cunningly
balanced on the steep sides of the roof, grazing along the very ridgepoles, or looking over the end of the gable when some member of the family came out of the door, as much as to say, "Get me down if you can!" Around the buildings there was a square wall or inclosure, giving the place the appearance of a little fortress.

On one side of the knoll a hot spring bubbled up. In the morning or evening, when the air was cool, quite a little column of steam arose from it, whirling and broadening as it melted away; but the water was pure and wholesome, as soon as it became cold enough for use.
In the front of the house, where the sun shone warmest, Sigurd had laid out a small garden. It was a great labor for him to remove the huge stones and roll them into a protecting wall, to carry good soil from the place where the mountain rills had gradually washed it down from above, and to arrange it so that frosts and cold rains should do the least harm: and the whole family thought themselves suddenly rich, one Summer, when they pulled their first radishes, saw the little bed of potatoes coming into blossom, and the cabbages rolling up their leaves, in order to make, at least, baby-heads before the Winter came.

Within the house, all low was, dark, and dismal. The air was very close and bad, for the stables were only separated from the dwelling room by a ants

this ion v betw
Fred
Erne
bers cure tions
with long dens

On H. V ballo bein
F
Two
tere
5, H havi no e
S Hog tion
frier that
T Stor ing
F
Mr.
ed.
T
the
the oath
Jud
T Cou
and mer duti be a with

T
wou
and Arn mov ed l of o Wa
mer firm cusi
of Cou
the larg eve
por

Express.

WOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

($1 50 per a

THURSDAY, JAN. 27, 1876.

[No. 46

narrow passage, and bunches of dry, salt fish, hung on the wall. Besides, it was unusually full of smoke from the fire of peat, and, after a rain, of steam from Sigurd's and Jon's heavy woolen coats. But to the boy it was a delightful, a comfortable home, for within he found shelter, warmth, and food and instruction. The room for visitors seemed to him the most splendid place in the world, because it had a wooden floor, a window with six panes of glass, a colorprint of the King of Denmark, and a geranium in a pot. This was so precious a plant that Jon and his sister Gudrid hardly dared to touch its leaves. They were most afraid to smell it for fear of sniffing away some of its life; and Gudrid, after seeing a leaf of it laid on her dead sister's bosom, instated that some angel, many hundred years ago, had brought the seed straight down from heaven.—Bayard Taylor, in St. Nicholas.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

FIRST SESSION.

The first regular session of the new County Council was held on Monday afternoon, commencing at two o'clock. Every representative was present. The following is a full list of the representatives of the various Townships for the current year:

Adolphustown, Peter C. Davis, Reeve.

Amherst Island, Geo. Wright, Reeve.

Bath, H. W. Purdy, Reeve.

Camden, J. W. Bell, Reeve; G. Paul and R. Madden, Deputies.

Denbeigh, S. Lane, Reeve.

Ernesttown, L. C. Spafford, Reeve; John Hogle and C. W. Huffman, Deputies.

N. Fredericksburgh, W. N. Dollar, Reeve.

S. Fredericksburgh, Ira Ham, Reeve.

Walden, P. W. Miller, Reeve.

honored with an election. The following nominations were made: Peter Aylsworth, of Napanee, nominated by W. N. Dollar; George Lake, Esq., of Camden, by Geo. Paul; Daniel E. Rose, of Tamworth, by J. Joyner; Robert Collins, Esq., of Adolphustown, by P. C. Davis; W. A. Hope, of Newburg, by W. A. Bell; Geo. Wilson, of Napanee, by L. C. Spafford; John O. Sexsmith, Esq., of Richmond, by Henry Wilson. The result of the ballot was as follows: Aylsworth, 6; Lake, 2; Rose, 4; Collins, 5; Hope, 2; Wilson, 2; Sexsmith, 2. There was no election.

On the second ballot, Geo. Madole, Esq., of Richmond, and Cyrus Allison, of Fredericksburgh, were nominated in addition, but there was no election.

On the third ballot, Mr. Daniel E. Rose, of Tamworth, received a majority of the votes cast and was declared elected.

On motion of Mr. Bell, sec. by Mr. Storr, the Council proceeded to ballot for a committee of seven members to name the several standing committees. Four ballots were taken and resulted in the election of the following members: Messrs. J. W. Bell, Dollar, Ham, J. C. Huffman, Paul, Spafford and Storr. The Council then adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

Wednesday, 26th Jan. 1876.

The Council met at 10.30 A. M. the Warden in the chair.

Minutes of previous meeting read, and after discussion by several members as to the appointment of Auditors, on motion the minutes were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A Communication was received from the Immigration Department, Toronto, relative to the immigration of farm laborers and domestic servants, and asking the Council to state about how many would be required in this section.

On motion it was referred to a Special Committee composed of Messrs. Dollar, Storr, Lane and J. C. Huffman.

Also, one from H. M. Deroche, calling the attention of the Council to the fact that $6,000 had been granted by the Legislature for alterations and improvements on the jail and jail wall.

Accounts from T. H. Waller and Rober Light for repairs on County buildings.

At this stage the Mayor of Napanee make in a passable state said bill—referred to Committee on County Roads.

W. A. Bell moved, sec. by J. Paul, that E. Hooper and J. W. Bell be appointed members of the Board of Audit for 1876.

C. W. Huffman moved, sec. by J. C. Huffman, that E. Hooper and Ira Ham be members of the Board of Audit for 1873.

On a casting vote, E. Hooper and J. W. Bell were appointed.

On motion the Council adjourned till 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Council met at 2 o'clock, members all present.

Ira Ham moved seconded by P. W. Miller, that the Clerk be instructed to procure the necessary assessment rolls for the several municipalities.—Carried.

The Special Committee appointed to draft an address for presentation to Mr. Raper, reported as follows:—Mr. J. H. Raper.

Parliamentary Agent of the United Kingdom Alliance:

We, the Warden, and members of the County Council, of the County of Lennox and Addington, do hereby express our full sympathy with you in the grand cause of Temperance, inasmuch as you, respective of any local association, take the broad and exalted platform of uniting all the temperance associations in one grand onset to overthrow one of the most painful agencies, and also one of the most prolific sources of crime, degradation and misery with which suffering humanity is beset; and as you are laboring as you are to lift up and ameliorate the condition of our suffering fellow-creatures, we do most heartily wish you God speed.

Mr. Storr moved that the Warden sign the address just read, and that the Council meet this evening and proceed in a body to the church, where the Warden will present the address. The motion was seconded by J. W. Bell, and carried.

C. W. Huffman presented some accounts from Lemuel Storms, for expenses incurred in hunting up the prisoner Clute now in penitentiary. The account was a somewhat lengthy one, and Mr. Storms was heard in his own behalf, as well as a short statement from the Chief of Police of Napanee.

years ago, and brought the seed straight down from heaven.—Bayard Taylor, in St. Nicholas.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

FIRST SESSION.

The first regular session of the new County Council was held on Monday afternoon, commencing at two o'clock. Every representative was present. The following is a full list of the representatives of the various Townships for the current year:

Adolphustown, Peter C. Davis, Reeve.

Amherst Island, Geo. Wright, Reeve.

Bath, H. W. Purdy, Reeve.

Camden, J. W. Bell, Reeve; G. Paul and R. Madden, Deputies.

Denbeigh, S. Lane, Reeve.

Ernesttown, L. C. Spafford, Reeve; John Hogle and C. W. Huffman, Deputies.

N. Fredericksburgh, W. N. Dollar, Reeve.

S. Fredericksburgh, Ira Ham, Reeve.

Kaladar, P. W. Miller, Reeve.

Napanee, J. C. Huffman, Reeve;

C. Miller, Deputy.

Newburgh, W. A. Bell, Reeve.

Richmond, E. Storr, Reeve; Henry Wilson, Deputy.

Sheffield, G. D. Joyner, Reeve;

R. McDonnell, Deputy.

The County Clerk, W. V. Detlor, Esq., presided, and having examined all of the certificates announced that all was now ready for the election of the Warden. It had been previously understood that the number of aspirants for the chair was unusually large this year, but the prevailing impression was that the real contest would be between Messrs. W. N. Dollar of N. Fredericksburgh, and John Hogle of Ernesttown, as they are both old members of the Council, and have both secured a large vote in former years elections. The room was densely crowded with people, some of whom had come a long distance to be present at the Warden election.

THE BALLOT.

On motion of E. Storr, seconded by H. Wilson, the Council proceeded to ballot without any formal nominations being made. The result of the

First Ballot was as follows:—Twenty votes were cast, and were scattered as follows:—W. A. Bell 2, Dollar 5, Hogle 4, Spafford 4, Storr 5. None having received a majority there was no election.

Second Ballot.—Dollar 5, Bell 1, Hogle 7, Storr 4, Spafford 4. No election. A committee of seven members named the several standing committees. Four ballots were taken and resulted in the election of the following members: Messrs. J. W. Bell, Dollar, Ham, J. C. Huffman, Paul, Spafford and Storr. The Council then adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

Wednesday, 26th Jan. 1876.

The Council met at 10.30 A. M. the Warden in the chair.

Minutes of previous meeting read, and after discussion by several members as to the appointment of Auditors, on motion the minutes were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A Communication was received from the Immigration Department, Toronto, relative to the immigration of farm laborers and domestic servants, and asking the Council to state about how many would be required in this section.

On motion it was referred to a Special Committee composed of Messrs. Dollar, Storr, Lane and J. C. Huffman.

Also, one from H. M. Deroche, calling the attention of the Council to the fact that $6,000 had been granted by the Legislature for alterations and improvements on the jail and jail wall.

Accounts from T. H. Waller and Rober Light for repairs on County buildings.

At this stage the Mayor of Napanee entered and introduced to the Council Dr. Palmer, of the Belleville Deaf and Dumb Asylum, as well as Messrs. Gibbard & Casey, of Napanee, on behalf of the Workingman's Temperance Association.

They were welcomed by the Warden, in a few appropriate remarks.

Dr. Palmer expressed his thanks to the members for the cordial reception given him. He had always heard favorable reports of Napanee, and did not know that he had anything further to say in addition to what he had said last night. He was of opinion his visit here would not be in vain, as since his coming he had heard of two or three mutes, whom he thought he would soon have in the institution. He had now four pupils from the County in the asylum, and requested the members to do all they could in seeking persons who were mutes. He referred in particular to a young lad by the name of Denne, who was formerly an inmate of the institute, but who had been taken away by his uncle, who was too poor to keep him in clothes. The lad was a very smart one, and made rapid progress, and ought to have had about two years more education, when he would be a very useful man in society. He was now at work in the shoemaking department in connection with the institute, and was one of the smartest employed there. The only requirements were now, if unable to pay, they would be admitted for seven years free of charge, by a certificate being given from the Reeve of the municipality, or Judge of the County. He also referred to a young person by the name of Meek, near Overton, and asked the members to look after him, as he had formerly been a pupil of the institute.

Mr. Williams announced to the Council that Mr. Raper, a gentleman from

Parliamentary Agent of the United Kingdom Alliance:

We, the Warden, and members of the County Council, of the County of Lennox and Addington, do hereby express our full sympathy with you in the grand cause of Temperance, inasmuch as you, respective of any local association, take the broad and exalted platform of uniting all the temperance associations in one grand onset to overthrow one of the most painful agencies, and also one of the most prolific sources of crime, degradation and misery with which suffering humanity is beset; and as you are laboring as you are to lift up and ameliorate the condition of our suffering fellow-creatures, we do most heartily wish you God speed.

Mr. Storr moved that the Warden sign the address just read, and that the Council meet this evening and proceed in a body to the church, where the Warden will present the address. The motion was seconded by J. W. Bell, and carried.

C. W. Huffman presented some accounts from Lemuel Storms, for expenses incurred in hunting up the prisoner Clute now in penitentiary. The account was a somewhat lengthy one, and Mr. Storms was heard in his own behalf, as well as a short statement from the Chief of Police of Napanee.

Discussion then took place as to whether the Council ought to deal with this matter, many being of opinion it was the municipality of Ernesttown ought to settle it.

Mr. J. W. Bell thought there was no Committee to whom this account could be referred, and said as the dignity of this Council was to be maintained, he would favor the appointment of a committee to whom such matters might be referred.

Mr. Storr suggested it be referred to a Committee composed of Messrs. J. W. Bell, N. Dollar and J. C. Huffman.

It was moved by C. W. Huffman, sec. by Mr. Spafford that $25 be paid Mr. Storms.

In amendment by J. W. Bell, sec. by J. C. Huffman, that this Council do not entertain the account. Carried.

Mr. Dollar moved, sec. by Mr. Davis, that the Warden, Mr. Wright, and C. W. Huffman, be a Committee to inquire into the sureties of the County Treasurer, to report to this Council. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davis, Sec. by Mr. Dollar, that Ira Ham be added to the Committee on County Reports. Lost.

Mr. Spafford moved, sec. by Mr. Huffman, that Benj. Davy be granted a license to peddle with one horse for one year, at the sum of $8, and stated that the young man was in very poor health, and hoped the Council would grant it. Carried.

Mr. Miller moved, sec. by C. W. Huffman, that S. M. L. Detlor be appointed Trustee for Napanee High School for the year 1876.

In amendment by J. C. Huffman, sec. by Mr. McDonnell, that Dr. Bristol be appointed the Trustee.

The original motion was carried.

Mr. Spafford arose for information on the by-law for the protection of sheep from dogs. It was a question years ago, and brought these seeds straight down from heaven.—Bayard Taylor, in St. Nicholas.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

FIRST SESSION.

The first regular session of the new County Council was held on Monday afternoon, commencing at two o'clock. Every representative was present. The following is a full list of the representatives of the various Townships for the current year :

Adolphustown, Peter C. Davis, Reeve.

Amherst Island, Geo. Wright, Reeve. Bath, H. W. Purdy, Reeve. Camden, J. W. Bell, Reeve; G. Paul and R. Madden, Deputies.

Denbeigh, S. Lane, Reeve. Ernesttown, L. C. Spafford, Reeve; John Hogle and C. W. Huffman, Deputies.

N. Fredericksburgh, W. N. Dollar, Reeve.

S. Fredericksburgh, Ira Ham, Reeve. Kaladar, P. W. Miller, Reeve.

Napanee, J. C. Huffman, Reeve; C. Miller, Deputy.

Newburgh, W. A. Bell, Reeve.

Richmond, E. Storr, Reeve; Henry Wilson, Deputy.

Sheffield, G. D. Joyner, Reeve; H. McDonnell, Deputy.

The County Clerk, W. V. Detlor, Esq., presided, and having examined all of the certificates announced that all was now ready for the election of the Warden. It had been previously understood that the number of aspirants for the chair was unusually large this year, but the prevailing impression was that the real contest would be between Messrs. W. N. Dollar of N. Fredericksburgh, and John Hogle of Ernesttown, as they are both old members of the Council, and have both secured a large vote in former years elections. The room was densely crowded with people, some of whom had come a long distance to be present at the Warden election.

THE BALLOT.

On motion of E. Storr, seconded by H. Wilson, the Council proceeded to ballot without any formal nominations being made. The result of the

First Ballot was as follows:—Twenty votes were cast, and were scattered as follows:—W. A. Bell 2, Dollar 5, Hogle 4, Spafford 4, Storr 5. None having received a majority there was no election.

Second Ballot.—Dollar 5, Bell 1, Hogle 7, Storr 4, Spafford 4. No election. A committee of seven members name the several standing committees. Four ballots were taken and resulted in the election of the following members: Messrs. J. W. Bell, Dollar, Ham, J. C. Huffman, Paul, Spafford and Storr. The Council then adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

Wednesday, 26th Jan. 1876.

The Council met at 10.30 A. M. the Warden in the chair.

Minutes of previous meeting read, and after discussion by several members as to the appointment of Auditors, on motion the minutes were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A Communication was received from the Immigration Department, Toronto, relative to the immigration of farm laborers and domestic servants, and asking the Council to state about how many would be required in this section.

On motion it was referred to a Special Committee composed of Messrs. Dollar, Storr, Lane and J. C. Huffman.

Also, one from H. M. Derpche, calling the attention of the Council to the fact that $6,000 had been granted by the Legislature for alterations and improvements on the jail and jail wall.

Accounts from T. H. Waller and Rober Light for repairs on County buildings.

At this stage the Mayor of Napanee entered and introduced to the Council Dr. Palmer, of the Belleville Deaf and Dumb Asylum, as well as Messrs. Gibbard & Casey, of Napanee, on behalf of the Workingman's Temperance Association.

They were welcomed by the Warden, in a few appropriate remarks.

Dr. Palmer expressed his thanks to the members for the cordial reception given him. He had always heard favorable reports of Napanee, and did not know that he had anything further to say in addition to what he had said last night. He was of opinion his visit here would not be in vain, as since his coming he had heard of two or three mutes, whom he thought he would soon have in the institution. He had now four pupils from the County in the asylum, and requested the members to do all they could in seeking persons who were mutes. He referred in particular to a young lad by the name of Denne, who was formerly an inmate of the institute, but who had been taken away by his uncle, who was too poor to keep him in clothes. The lad was a very smart one, and made rapid progress, and ought to have had about two years more education, when he would be a very useful man in society. He was now at work in the shoemaking department in connection with the institute, and was one of the smartest employed there. The only requirements were now, if unable to pay, they would be admitted for seven years free of charge, by a certificate being given from the Reeve of the municipality, or Judge of the County. He also referred to a young person by the name of Meek, near Overton, and asked the members to look after him, as he had formerly been a pupil of the institute.

Mr. Williams announced to the Council that Mr. Raper, a gentleman from

Parliamentary Agent of the United Kingdom Alliance:

We, the Warden, and members of the County Council, of the County of Lennox and Addington, do hereby express our full sympathy with you in the grand cause of Temperance, inasmuch as you, respective of any local association, take the broad and exalted platform of uniting all the temperance associations in one grand onset to overthrow one of the most painful agencies, and also one of the most prolific sources of crime, degradation and misery with which suffering humanity is beset; and as you are laboring as you are to lift up and ameliorate the condition of our suffering fellow-creatures, we do most heartily wish you God speed.

Mr. Storr moved that the Warden sign the address just read, and that the Council meet this evening and proceed in a body to the church, where the Warden will present the address. The motion was seconded by J. W. Bell, and carried.

C. W. Huffman presented some accounts from Lemuel Storms, for expenses incurred in hunting up the prisoner Clute now in penitentiary. The account was a somewhat lengthy one, and Mr. Storms was heard in his own behalf, as well as a short statement from the Chief of Police of Napanee.

Discussion then took place as to whether the Council ought to deal with this matter, many being of opinion it was the municipality of Ernesttown ought to settle it.

Mr. J. W. Bell thought there was no Committee to whom this account could be referred, and said as the dignity of this Council was to be maintained, he would favor the appointment of a committee to whom such matters might be referred.

Mr. Storr suggested it be referred to a Committee composed of Messrs. J. W. Bell, N. Dollar and J. C. Huffman.

It was moved by C. W. Huffman, sec. by Mr. Spafford that $25 be paid Mr. Storms.

In amendment by J. W. Bell, sec. by J. C. Huffman, that this Council do not entertain the account. Carried.

Mr. Dollar moved, sec. by Mr. Davis, that the Warden, Mr. Wright, and C. W. Huffman, be a Committee to inquire into the sureties of the County Treasurer, to report to this Council. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davis, Sec. by Mr. Dollar, that Ira Ham be added to the Committee on County Reports. Lost.

Mr. Spafford moved, sec. by Mr. Huffman, that Benj. Davy be granted a license to peddle with one horse for one year, at the sum of $8, and stated that the young man was in very poor health, and hoped the Council would grant it. Carried.

Mr. Miller moved, sec. by C. W. Huffman, that S. M. L. Detlor be appointed Trustee for Napanee High School for the year 1876.

In amendment by J. C. Huffman, sec. by Mr. McDonnell, that Dr. Bristol be appointed the Trustee.

The original motion was carried.

Mr. Spafford arose for information on the by-law for the protection of sheep from dogs. It was a question all was now ready for the election of the Warden. It had been previously understood that the number of aspirants for the chair was unusually large this year, but the prevailing impression was that the real contest would be between Messrs. W. N. Dollar of N. Fredericksburgh, and John Hogle of Ernesttown, as they are both old members of the Council, and have both secured a large vote in former years elections. The room was densely crowded with people, some of whom had come a long distance to be present at the Wardens election.

THE BALLOT.

On motion of E. Storr, seconded by H. Wilson, the Council proceeded to ballot without any formal nominations being made. The result of the

First Ballot was as follows:—Twenty votes were cast, and were scattered as follows:—W. A. Bell 2, Dollar 5, Hogle 4, Spafford 4, Storr 5. None having received a majority there was no election.

Second Ballot.—Dollar 5, Bell 1, Hogle 7, Storr 4, Spafford 4. No election. Mr. Spafford briefly thanked his friends for their support and stated that he retired.

Third Ballot.—Dollar 8, Hogle 8, Storr 4. Mr. Storr now retired thanking those who supported him.

Fourth Ballot.—Hogle 11, Dollar 9. Mr. Hogle was therefore declared elected.

The Warden was then escorted to the chair by Messrs. Dollar and Storr, the defeated candidates, and the usual oath of office was administered by Judge Wilkinson.

The Warden briefly addressed the Council, thanking them for the honor, and asked the co-operation of every member in performing the responsible duties of the position, so that he may be able to retire at the close of his term with honors.

THE AUDITORS.

The Warden stated the first duty would be the appointment of the two auditors. He would nominate Mr. Arnold P. Booth, of Odessa. Mr. Storr moved that the nomination be confirmed by the Council. Mr. Spafford was of opinion that the nomination of the Warden was equivalent to an appointment, and did not require to be confirmed. There was a considerable discussion on the point, the Warden being of opinion that it was desirable for the Council to confirm the nomination. For the second Auditor there was the usual large number of nominations, almost every member present having a supporter whom he would like to have say in addition to what he had said last night. He was of opinion his visit here would not be in vain, as since his coming he had heard of two or three mutes, whom he thought he would soon have in the institution. He had now four pupils from the County in the asylum, and requested the members to do all they could in seeking persons who were mutes. He referred in particular to a young lad, by the name of Denne, who was formerly an inmate of the institute, but who had been taken away by his uncle, who was too poor to keep him in clothes. The lad was a very smart one, and made rapid progress, and ought to have had about two years more education, when he would be a very useful man in society. He was now at work in the shoemaking department in connection with the institute, and was one of the smartest employed there. The only requirements were now, if unable to pay, they would be admitted for seven years free of charge, by a certificate being given from the Reeve of the municipality, or Judge of the County. He also referred to a young person by the name of Meek, near Overton, and asked the members to look after him, as he had formerly been a pupil of the institute.

Mr. Williams announced to the Council that Mr. Raper, a gentleman from England, and a representative man, would address an audience in the M. E. Church this evening, and invited the Council to attend in a body.

Mr. J. C. Huffman moved, seconded by Mr. Madden, that a Committee be appointed to draft an address to be presented to Mr. Raper this evening. said committee to be composed of Messrs. Storr, J. W. Bell, Madden, Wright, C. R. Miller and the mover.—Carried.

J. W. Bell moved, sec. by I. Ham, that the thanks of the Council be tendered Dr. Palmer for the deep interest taken by him in the care and instruction of Deaf and Dumb mutes from these counties attending the institution at Belleville, and also reciprocate with him in his labor of love for the unfortunate. Carried unanimously by a standing vote.

The Committee appointed to strike the Standing Committees for the year reported as follows:

On Finance—J. W. Bell, Chairman, Ira Ham, E. Storr, Peter Davis, J. C. Huffman.

Roads and Bridges—W. A. Bell, Chairman; Robt. Madden, C. W. Huffman, P. W. Miller, Ross, McDonnell, Henry Wilson.

County Property—Dollar, Chairman; Geo. Paul, C. R. Miller, W. A. Bell, L. C. Spafford.

Education and Printing—Spafford, Chairman; S. Lane, Ham, Joyner, Purdy, Wright.

Moved and sec. that the report as presented be adopted. Carried.

Mr. McDonnell brought in a numerous signed petition, praying that the hill on the road from Sheffield to Napanee, known as Asselstine's Hill, be granted a sum of money to repair and

Mr. Storr suggested it be referred to a Committee composed of Messrs. J. W. Bell, N. Dollar and J. C. Huffman.

It was moved by C. W. Huffman, sec. by Mr. Spafford that $25 be paid Mr. Storms.

In amendment by J. W. Bell, sec. by J. C. Huffman, that this Council do not entertain the account. Carried.

Mr. Dollar moved, sec. by Mr. Davis, that the Warden, Mr. Wright, and C. W. Huffman, be a Committee to inquire into the sureties of the County Treasurer, to report to this Council. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davis, Sec. by Mr. Dollar, that Ira Ham be added to the Committee on County Reports. Lost.

Mr. Spafford moved, sec. by Mr. Huffman, that Benj. Davy be granted a license to peddle with one horse for one year, at the sum of $8, and stated that the young man was in very poor health, and hoped the Council would grant it. Carried.

Mr. Miller moved, sec. by C. W. Huffman, that S. M. L. Detlor be appointed Trustee for Napanee High School for the year 1876.

In amendment by J. C. Huffman, sec. by Mr. McDonnell, that Dr. Bristol be appointed the Trustee.

The original motion was carried.

Mr. Spafford arose for information on the by-law for the protection of sheep from dogs. It was a question on which legislation was required.

Mr. Ham said this Council had power to revive such a law if they so desired it.

Mr. Spafford said he was aware the first law imposing a tax on dogs had been made by the Legislature, who gave municipalities power to enact such a law.

Several other members spoke on the subject and the general opinion seemed to be that a By-Law ought to be enacted imposing a tax on all dogs, there was a greater slaughter of sheep now than when a tax was imposed.

Mr. Spafford gave notice that he would to-morrow introduce a By-Law reviving a repealed By-Law in reference to the taxing of dogs.

On motion the Council adjourned till to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

FROM ADOLPHUSTOWN.

The Division Court was held here Saturday. The Court room was crowded to its utmost to hear the suit tried between Thos. Trumpour, plaintiff, and Downey Bro's. Agent, defendants. The plaintiff claiming pay for a load of barley put on the Nellie. P. Downey, at Mallory's Point, last fall, that defendants had no account of. It seemed by the evidence that the boat was loaded in a very unbusiness-like manner. The Judge considered it an error, and gave a verdict for plaintiff. The Judge's decision and address was realized by the people to be one of the best.

Rowe for plaintiff, Morden for defendant.

Farm & Fireside

BAY OF QUINTE NAVIGATION CO.

The Annual Meeting of the stockholders of the Bay of Quinte and Oswego Navigation Company, was held at the office of Downey & Pope on Wednesday last and was largely attended.

The report of Mr. R. Downey, Managing Director and Treasurer, was brought up before the meeting and unanimously approved of.

It was decided to fit out the Kincardine and Oswego Belle in first class style in every respect, and place on the Oswego route the coming season.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr Downey for the able manner in which he had managed the affairs of the Company, and the judgement and taste displayed by him in the fitting out of the new steamer Oswego Belle.

The following named gentlemen were chosen Directors for the ensuing year, C. Allison, of Oswego; E. W. Rathbun, of Mill Point; R. Downey and W. S. Williams of Napanee; W. H. Campbell and Geo. H. Pope of Belleville, and Mr. Simpson of St. Catharines.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Mr. E. W. Rathbun was re-elected President, Mr. C. Allison, Vice-President and Mr. R. Downey, Managing Director and Treasurer.

A cordial vote of thanks was tendered to the President for the able manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Board, and the interest taken by him in the prosperity of the Company. The Board then adjourned to meet in Napanee in March. Ontario.

POTATOES PLANTED DEEP.—We tried the experiment this year, on several alternate rows of potatoes about thirty rods long, of planting a part about two or three inches deep, and another part five inches deep. The latter invariably produced about 20 to 25 per cent. more potatoes, the treatment in every other respect being the same: They were cultivated flat, which always give more than when ridged.—Country Gentleman.

—Keep plenty of dry dust for poultry to wallow in and they never will be suffer from mankind. The havoc made of their nests by the egg-hunter is almost beyond computation. On the Madeira alone about 4,000,000 eggs are annually sacrificed in the manufacture of butter.

This substance is chiefly used for lampoil, yet in the cuisine of the natives it is often employed in the cooking. It is a villainous compound, being made with a magnificent disregard of purity and cleanliness, both in the materials and in the process of manufacture. The eggs are dug out of the nests and thrown—whether fresh or addled—into the canoe of the hunter. The shells are broken by treading upon them, and the fat yolks mingled in a thick, yellow fluid. Exposed to the rays of the sun the oil rises to the surface, is skimmed off into jars, and is then ready for use. "The decomposition of manifold impurities," says Mr. Keller, "and the circumstance that often some of the eggs have been already half-hatched by the sun, give it an abominable flavor, recalling to mind Russia-leather and tanneries."

The tartaruga and other turtles are hunted with the bow and arrow, out of the laying season. A long, fine strip of pineapple fiber is attached to the arrow-head and wound about the shaft. This unrolls as the stricken animal dives, and the loosened shaft, floating on the water, shows the position of the victim. The fisherman has then but to haul in his prey, and, as soon as it reaches the surface, finish it with a heavy blow.—Chicago Tribune.

WHITE FLOUR NOT THE BERT.

Those who have thoroughly investigated the matter assures us that bread made from the fine white flour is "starvation food." It does not contain the elements necessary to properly nourish and sustain the human body. If parents expect their children to grow up with good health, strong nerves, perfect teeth, good eyes and hair, they must not give them fine white flour bread as a constant article of diet. It is believed that the prevalence of early decaying teeth and premature grayness and baldness of the head are largely due to the general use of the white flour. The whole of the wheat, reduced to a uniform condition, without loss or injury of the food elements, makes a nutritious food, which contains all the elements necessary for

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership

THE partnership heretofore subsisting between the undersigned, carrying on trade and business as Druggists and Booksellers, in the Village of Tamworth, in the County of Lennox and Addington, under the name or firm of Aylsworth & Huffman, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All Accounts, Notes, Judgments in Courts, or other debts due the said firm, are to be paid to James Aylsworth, who will pay the liabilities of the said firm.

Napanee, December 31st, 1875.

(Signed) JAS. AYLSWORTH,
JAS. C. HUFFMAN.

Witness:
T. A. HUFFMAN.

In reference to the above I beg to say I will continue the same business in the same premises, and hope by strict attention and fair dealing to receive a share of public patronage. All parties indebted to the late firm of Aylsworth & Huffman are requested to call at once and pay up, for cash will be wanted more promptly than heretofore to successfully carry on the business.

Sincerely thanking the public for the liberal patronage bestowed on the late firm, under my management, and purposing to merit a continuance thereof, I wish you the compliments of the season, and invite you to call and examine goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

Your much obliged servant,
JAS. AYLSWORTH.

Tamworth, January 1st, 1876. 43-3t

VALUABLE PINE LOTS FOR SALE

Under the powers contained in the last will and testament of Peter Carroll, late of the Township of Camden, deceased, the undersigned offer for sale lot no. 14 in the 12th concession, and lot no. 14 in the 13th concession of the Township of Hinchinbrook, in the county of Frontenac.

These lots are heavily timbered with splendid pine. For particulars enquire of
THOMAS KIDD,
MATHEW RYAE,
Executors

43-8in

TO THE SUFFERING. CANCER CURE.

Any person afflicted with the above disease can be cured by either writing to the undersigned, or calling on B. C. Martin, Centre Street, near Depot, Napanee.

NO CURE NO PAY.

J. I. MARTIN.

48-3in

Napanee.

CAL

SE

for L
this Cana deep Look embr lock rebu prese of re piers ine, s basin exist
Th
the r map plans work at th at eit of Te Ter is cal
No. 1
until weste day o cation place
Wedn
next.
For will b
day o
and s respe
and Marcel Cor mind ed un with case o
the ac
occup each r an a availa one to ing to must shall declin for th so, at mitted
The will b
der.
The
will be ties w
For treat erines.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Mr. E. J. W. Rathbun was re-elected President, Mr. C. Allison, Vice-President and Mr. R. Downey, Managing Director and Treasurer.

A cordial vote of thanks was tendered to the President for the able manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Board, and the interest taken by him in the prosperity of the Company. The Board then adjourned to meet in Napanee in March. Ontario.

POTATOES PLANTED DEEP.—We tried the experiment this year, on several alternate rows of potatoes about thirty rods long, of planting a part about two or three inches deep, and another part five inches deep. The latter invariably produced about 20 to 25 per cent. more potatoes, the treatment in every other respect being the same: They were cultivated flat, which always give more than when ridged.—Country Gentleman.

—Keep plenty of dry dust for poultry to wallow in and they never will be troubled with vermin. Dust scattered along the back, from horns to tail, will remove lice from cattle.

SNOW SHEDS.—Nearly a mile in length of snow sheds have been erected along the exposed parts of the Intercolonial Railway through the London-derry mountains, Nova Scotia. In former winters these covered portions of the road were the scenes of many snow blockades, and the new sheds, in addition to those formerly built, will keep the road free from heavy drifts in future. They will hardly be required this winter, unless there is more snow East than about Napanee.

BRAZILIAN TURTLES AND TURTLE-BUTTER.

ONE of the most abundant and useful animals of tropical South America is the turtle, which yields to the natives a large supply of food in its flesh and its eggs. So eagerly and incessantly has the animal been hunted for many years that, great as are its numbers at the present time, they have susceptibly diminished within a quiet recent period, and the day seems not far distant when it may be altogether exterminated. According to Mr. Franz Keller, there are five species of turtles living on the Amazon and its affluents, the largest

This unrolls as the stricken animals dives, and the loosened shaft, floating on the water, shows the position of the victim. The fisherman has then but to haul in his prey, and, as soon as it reaches the surface, finish it with a heavy blow.—Chicago Traction.

WHITE FLOUR NOT THE BERT.

Those who have thoroughly investigated the matter assures us that bread made from the fine white flour is "starvation food." It does not contain the elements necessary to properly nourish and sustain the human body. If parents expect their children to grow up with good health, strong nerves, perfect teeth, good eyes and hair, they must not give them fine white flour bread as a constant article of diet. It is believed that the prevalence of early decaying teeth and premature grayness and baldness of the head are largely due to the general use of the white flour. The whole of the wheat, reduced to a uniform condition, without loss or injury of the food elements, makes a nutritious food, which contains all the elements necessary for growth and health. Fortunately many people are beginning to understand this important matter.

PERMANENT CURE FOR CANCER.

Mrs. M. A. V., gives in the Country Gentleman this process for curing cancer: A sticking plaster is put over the cancer, with a circular piece cut out of the center a little larger than the cancer, and a small circular rim of healthy skin next to it is exposed. Then a plaster, made of chloride of zinc, blood root, and wheat flour, is spread on a piece of muslin of the size of the circular opening, and is applied to the cancer twenty-four hours. On removing it the cancer will be found as though burned into it, appearing of the color and hardness of an old shoe, and the circular rim outside of it will appear white and parboiled as if scalded by hot steam. The wound is now dressed, and the outside rim soon suppurates, and the cancer comes out a hard lump, and the place heals up.

The plaster kills the cancer, so that it sloughs out like dead flesh, and never grows again. The application is painful, but the pain is of comparatively brief duration which any one so affected cheerfully endures. Not a case has been known of the reappearance of cancer where this remedy has been applied. This cure for cancer was publish-

VALUABLE PINE LOTS FOR SALE

Under the powers contained in the last will and testament of Peter Carroll, late of the Township of Camden, deceased, the undersigned offer for sale lot no. 14 in the 12th concession, and lot no. 14 in the 18th concession of the Township of Hinchinbrook, in the county of Frontenac.

These lots are heavily timbered with splendid pine.

For particulars enquire of
THOMAS KIDD,
MATHEW RYAN,
Executors

43-8in

TO THE SUFFERING.

CANCER CURE.

Any person afflicted with the above disease can be cured by either writing to the undersigned, or calling on B. C. Martin, Centre Street, near Depot, Napanee.

NO CURE NO PAY.

J. I. MARTIN.

48-8in

Napanee.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT.

Ottawa, Nov. 12th, 1875.

Authorized Discount on American Invoices until further notice, 12 per cent.

J. JOHNSON.

Commissioner.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED

Notices of the Press.

The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Some of the most popular of modern novels have first appeared as serials in this Magazine. In all respects, it is an excellent periodical, and fully deserves its great success.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TERMS:

Postage free to all Subscribers in Canada.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, one year.....

$4.00 includes prepayment of postage by the publishers.

Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR, to one address for one year, $10.00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7.00; postage free.

An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of FIVE SUBSCRIBERS at $4.00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20.00, without extra copy: postage free.

addition to those formerly built, will keep the road free from heavy drifts in future. They will hardly be required this winter, unless there is more snow East than about Napanee.

BRAZILIAN TURTLES AND TURTLE-BUTTER.

ONE of the most abundant and useful animals of tropical South America is the turtle, which yields to the natives a large supply of food in its flesh and its eggs. So eagerly and incessantly has the animal been hunted for many years that, great as are its numbers at the present time, they have susceptibly diminished within a quiet recent period, and the day seems not far distant when it may be altogether exterminated. According to Mr. Franz Keller, there are five species of turtles living on the Amazon and its affluents, the largest and most valuable of which is called the tartarog. The market price of this species has doubled during the last half-dozen years, showing that it is gradually growing more scarce. It is hunted at all seasons and the annual slaughter is enormous.

In the month of September the turtles visit the sandy shoals of the rivers to deposit their eggs, and are then assembled in incredible numbers. So blinded are they to all danger while engaged in providing for the perpetuation of their species that they easily become a prey to the hunter, who has only to turn as many upon their backs as he had a mind to and afterward dispatch them at his leisure. At a single point, Prair de Tamundua, on the Madeira River, 3,000 or 4,000 turtles are regularly caught in each laying season besides those, amounting to many hundreds, that are taken by passing canoes for immediate consumption, or to be kept as live-stock.

The turtle, with wonderful rapidity, digs a large hole in the sand a foot and a half deep, wherein it lays from 100 to 200 eggs. So great is the throng of builders intent upon the same work eager for an opportunity, that the nests already made are often broken up and their contents scattered about. Yet the depredations that the turtles unwittingly practice upon each other are as nothing compared with those which they plaster, made of chloride of zinc, blood root, and wheat flour, is spread on a piece of muslin of the size of the circular opening, and is applied to the cancer twenty-four hours. On removing it the cancer will be found as though burned into it, appearing of the color and hardness of an old shoe, and the circular rim outside of it will appear white and parboiled as if scalded by hot steam. The wound is now dressed, and the outside rim soon suppurates, and the cancer comes out a hard lump, and the place heals up.

The plaster kills the cancer, so that it sloughs out like dead flesh, and never grows again. The application is painful, but the pain is of comparatively brief duration which any one so affected cheerfully endures. Not a case has been known of the reappearance of cancer where this remedy has been applied. This cure for cancer was published 1866. Perhaps there are many who can tell more about it.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

WELSH RAREBIT.—Cut up cheese fine, and place in a saucepan with a little butter and a spoonful or two of vinegar, and boil until the cheese is well dissolved. Cut a slice of bread, pour on the cheese, season with pepper, salt and ketchup.

POUND CAKE.—To a pound of sifted sugar add a pound of fresh butter; and mix them with the hand ten minutes; put to them nine yolks and five whites of eggs well beaten; whisk all well, and add a pound of sifted flour, a few caraway seeds, a quarter of a pound of candied orange peel or citron cut in slices, a few currants washed and pickled, and mix all together as lightly as possible.

E. W. HETH, of Grand Rapids, Mich., writes to the Detroit Free Press that he has succeeded admirably in keeping his stock of onions over until spring each season by cutting a hole in the middle of his hay mow and burying his crop, to remain there for the advanced prices of late spring. He says, however, that he past year his crop was more bulky than his yield to hay, and the plan could not be carried out.

ILLUSTRATED

Notices of the Press.

The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public minds.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Some of the most popular of modern novels have first appeared as serials in this Magazine. In all respects, it is an excellent periodical, and fully deserves its great success.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TERMS:

Postage free to all Subscribers in Canada.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, one year.....

$4.00 includes prepayment of postage by the publishers.

Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR, to one address for one year, $10.00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7.00: postage free.

An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of FIVE SUBSCRIBERS at $4.00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20.00, without extra copy: postage free.

Back Numbers can be supplied at any time.

A Complete Set of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, now comprising 51 Volumes, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, freight at expense of purchaser, for $2.25 per volume. Single volumes, by mail, postpaid, $3.00. Cloth cases, for binding, 58 cents, by mail, postpaid.

A Complete Analytical Index to the first Fifty Volumes of HARPER'S MAGAZINE has just been published, rendering available for reference the vast and varied wealth of information which constitutes this periodical a perfect illustrated literary cyclopedia. 8vo, Cloth, $3.00; Half Calif, $5.25. Sent postage prepaid.

A series of papers under the title of "The First Century of the Republic," contributed by the most eminent American publicists, is now being published in HARPER'S MAGAZINE. This series of over twenty papers gives a comprehensive review of Progress during the century now closing, in every department of our national life.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

WORK DONE CHEAP!

AT

S. HUFF & SONS,

Manufacturers of Sash, Doors, Blinds
Window Frames, &c., &c.,

WATER STREET, NAPANEE, ONT.

Having recently added some new machinery to our premises, we are prepared to execute all orders entrusted to us on very short notice, and the most reasonable terms.

[SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.]

TURNING DONE TO ORDER

NAPANEE LIME WORKS

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to inform the public that they are now prepared to furnish Lime to all orders entrusted to their care. Lime kept in Limehouse at Perry's Plaster Mill and at Limehouse Mill Point.

All orders left at Ferguson Bros' or at Office Brisco House, will be promptly attended to. Lime shipped to all parts of Canada.

GALT & BROTHER.

Napanee, April 7th, 1875.

Th
bind Tend De
taw
A VAI
U ture
Twel
and cilla there dowe Esqu prod will Tow
On T
At 2
J
Th lar, t
and in th of La west follo side dred west then two John
and chair
then Stree
Up very Resi
Th
ject
Mort
Cana
the I Te made furth Napa
$5 of eith at wor the tin
free.
addr es

LACHINE

CANAL ENLARGEMENT

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALD TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, endorsed "Tender for Lachine Canal," will be received at this Office for the enlargement of this Canal, consisting of the widening and deepening from a short distance above Lock No 3 or St Lawrence, at Lachine; embracing the construction of a new lock at Cote St. Paul, taking down and rebuilding the upper portions of the present lock at the place, construction of regulating weirs, culverts, bridge piers, and a new entrance lock at Lachine, and the formation of a canal and basin on the south or river side of the existing entrance.

The work will be let in sections of the respective lengths indicated on a map of the line, which together with plans and specifications of the various works, can be seen at this Office, and at the Lachine Canal Office, Montreal; at either of which places printed Forms of Tender can be obtained.

Tenders for Sections No. 9, or what is called the "Rock But," and Sections No. 10 at Lachine, will be received until the arrival of the eastern and western mails on Wednesday the 12th day of January next, plans and specifications for which can be seen at the places above mentioned on and after Wednesday the 5th day of January next.

For other part of the works, tenders will be received until Tuesday, the 21st day of March next, and for which plans and specifications can be seen at the respective places above mentioned, on and after Tuesday, the 7th day of March.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque, or other available security, for the sum of from one to three hundred dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines or fails to enter into contract for the works when called upon to do so, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in, will be returned to the respective parties whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract satisfactory security will be re-

FALL 1875.

ONTARIO DRUG STORE!

WINTER, 1876.

Our Stock of LAMPS is now complete, comprising the NEWEST DESIGNS and Latest Improvements of the day, including

THE CELEBRATED REFLECTOR HANGING LAMP,

Which can be lighted, filled and trimmed, without removing shade or chimney. Equal to any two light chandelier. No Explosions.

The most economical Lamp in the Market.

BRONZE AND FIGURED LAMPS,

FOOTED, GLASS AND HAND LAMPS,

VARIOUS SIZES AND PATTERNS

SHADES, GLOBES, CHANDELIERS, BRACKETS AND LAMP FIXTURES OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS,

—AT THE—

LOWEST POSSIBLE CASH VALUE.

DETLOR & SCOTT.

Napanee, Nov. 5th, 1875.

THE BEST PATRONIZED, MOST THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL

LOWEST POSSIBLE CASH VALUE.

DETLOR & SCOTT.

Napanee, Nov. 5th, 1875.

Ontario

THE BEST PATRONIZED, MOST THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL

BUSINESS SCHOOL IN CANADA

An institution for Business training, where Boys, Young and Middle-aged Men can procure an Education suited to the wants of every day life.

The subjects taught are just such as every Merchant, Farmer, Mechanic and Professional Man require in transacting every day business, and embrace the following:—

Book-Keeping by Single and Double Entry, Spencerian Penmanship, Commercial Paper Banking, Steamboating, Correspondence, Arithmetic, Brokerage, Spelling, Commercial Law, Practical Grammar, Mechanical Drawing, Actual Business Course, Telegraphing, Phonography, &c.

Our Course of Training is under the supervision of
SEVEN COMPETENT AND EXPERIENCED TEACHERS.

Our Patronage is much larger, and our terms less than any other Business College in Canada. The united admission of over one thousand of our Graduates, now filling lucrative positions as Accountants and Telegraph Operators, are the guarantees of competency and success we offer.

Specimens of Penmanship and College Journal sent "free of charge," on application to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, Ont.

MONEY TO LEND.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

Are weekly lending large amounts of money at low rates of interest, and on the terms specified in the following table:—

REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments on each $100 loaned, for periods varying from two to twenty years.

No. of	2	3	5	6	8	10	15
YEARS.	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	$6 15	$5 43
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 24	22 45	18 20	15 72	12 55	11 12

The full amount of the loan is advanced (no commission being charged), and the above payments, if properly met, cancel the whole mortgage, interest as we as principal. They also lend upon the terms of the whole principal being paid at the end of a term of years, and the interest payable annually.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

April 1st, 187

For other part of the works, tenders will be received until Tuesday, the 21st day of March next, and for which plans and specifications can be seen at the respective places above mentioned, on and after Tuesday, the 7th day of March.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque, or other available security, for the sum of from one to three hundred dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines or fails to enter into contract for the works when called upon to do so, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in, will be returned to the respective parties whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate or by deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stock to the amount of five per cent on the bulk sum of the contract, of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the works.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of works embraced in the contract.

This Department does not however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, Dec. 23rd, 1875.

F. BRAUN,
43-3in Secretary.

AUCTION SALE

—OF—

VALUABLE TOWN PROPERTY.

UNDER and by virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the Twelfth day of December, A. D. 1874, and made by Belyat Conger, and Priscilla Conger his wife, (who was a party thereto, for the purpose of barring her dower) to one Jonathan Marcus Parrott, Esquire, which said Mortgage will be produced at the time of Sale, there will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

—AT THE—

Town Hall, in the Town of Napanee

On Thursday, the 27th day of January, A. D., 1876.

embraced in the contract.
 This Department does not however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.
 By Order.
Department of Public Works, Ottawa, Dec. 23rd, 1875.
 F. BRAUN,
 43-8in Secretary.

AUCTION SALE
 —OF—
VALUABLE TOWN PROPERTY.

UNDER and by virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the Twelfth day of December, A. D. 1874, and made by Belyat Conger, and Priscilla Conger his wife, (who was a party thereto, for the purpose of barring her dower) to one Jonathan Marcus Parrott, Esquire, which said Mortgage will be produced at the time of Sale, there will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,
 —AT THE—
Town Hall, in the Town of Napanee
On Thursday, the 27th day of January, A. D., 1876.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, by
JAS. ALLEN, AUCTIONEER.

The following property all and singular, that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate lying and being in the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox & Addington, being on the west side of John Street described as follows:—Commencing on the west side of John Street at a point one hundred and fifty feet north of the north west corner of John and Isabella Streets, then west and parallel to Isabella Street, two chains, then north and parallel to John Street, forty-eight feet, then east and parallel to Isabella Street, two chains to the west side of John Street, then south along the west side of John Street to the place of beginning.

Upon the said premises is erected a very handsome and commodious Brick Residence, with suitable outbuildings. The above property will be sold subject to the terms and conditions of two Mortgages thereon, to the Western Canada Loan and Savings Society, and the Rev. Conway Edward Cartwright.

Terms and conditions of Sale will be made known at the time of Sale. For further particulars apply to

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.
 Vendor's Solicitors.
 Napanee, 28th day of Dec. A.D. 1875.

43.
$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agents Wanted. All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents address, G. STINSON & Co. Portland, Maine. 5-39

filling lucrative positions as Accountants and Telegraph Operators, are the guarantee of competency and success we offer.
 Specimens of Penmanship and College Journal sent "free of charge," on application to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, Ont.
 3

MONEY TO LEND.
MESSRS. WILLIAMS & HOOPER.
 Are weekly lending large amounts of money at low rates of interest, and on the terms specified in the following table:—

REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments on each $100 loaned, for periods varying from two to twenty years.

No. of	2	4	5	6	8	10	15
YEARS.	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	$6 15
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 24	22 45	18 20	15 72	12 55
							$5 43
							11 12

The full amount of the loan is advanced (no commission being charged), and the above payments, if properly met, cancel the whole mortgage, interest as well as principal. They also lend upon the terms of the whole principal being repaid at the end of a term of years, and the interest payable annually.
WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

April 1st, 1876

TOYS, TOY, TOYS,
AND FANCY GOODS.

$1,000 WORTH TO BE DISPOSED OF BEFORE CHRISTMAS,

At whatever they will fetch, as I intend to go out of these two lines, will sell off at

HALF THE COST,

to get rid of them, so come along and get bargains at

WOODS TOBACCO STORE

SIGN OF THE INDIAN AT THE DOOR.

JUST ARRIVED.

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
NEW HATS AND CAPS, FOR THE SPRING TRADE.
ALL NEW STYLES, AND CHEAP.

ALSO,

NEW BOOTS and SHOES, Arriving Daily;

A LARGE QUANTITY OF CLOTHING and GENTS
FURNISHING GOODS,

AT VERY LOW PRICES,

ALL WINTER GOODS AT COST.

BOOTS MADE TO ORDER

—AND—

REPAIRING DONE ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

ROSE & EMPEY.

STOVES. STOVE. STOVES

OUR STOCK OF

STOVES IS NOW COMPLETE

IN EVERY DEPRNT,

AND INTENDING PURCHASERS SHOULD EXAMINE OUR

STOCK AND GET OUR

REMOVAL.

F. W. FELSON HARNESS-MAKER,
MILL POINT.

Wishes to announce to the citizens of Mill Point and surrounding country,
that he has

REMOVED HIS HARNESS SHOP.

To the premises one door East of the store of Chimie, Millner and Co.,
where he intends to manufacture and
keep on hand a general stock of Harness, Whips, Curry-Combs, Brushes
and everything in his line, of the best description, as cheap as can be obtained elsewhere.

CALL AND EXAMIN.
F. W. FELSON.
Napanee, Oct. 3rd, 1874.

HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED - 1810.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000.

A MOUNT DEPOSITED IN CAN-ADA in accordance with the Ac-$130,000.

Insures property against fire as low
as any other reliable company. All losses equitably adjusted and promptly
paid in Canada funds or Gold. Isolated dwellings insured at exceedingly
low rates.

H. L. GEDDES, Agent
for Napanee and vicinity

A Gem worth Reading!—A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES.

By reading our Illustrated PHYSIOLOGY

AND ANATOMY of the

EYE SIGHT. Tells

how to Restore Impair-

ed Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and

Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING

HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DIS-

FIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100

pages Mailed Free. Send your address to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $5 to $10 a day guaranteed.

Full particular sent free. Write immediately,

to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 957,

No. 91 Liberty St., New York City, N. Y.

MANUFACTURERS, NOTICE!

The undersigned having purchased

at Public Auction, the Estate of F.

Lane and Brocher, Insolvent Debtors,

begs to notify the public, that he will continue the Manufacturing business,

formerly carried on by them in West

Napanee.

Wanted immediately, One Thousand

Cords of first-class Shingle Bolts, either

Cedar or Pine. Also Five Hundred

Cords first-class Water Elm. Soft Ma-

ttio and Ash Stave Bolts, $\frac{1}{2}$ to be Thir-

ple Eight inches long, and the balance

IN EVERY DEPTNT,

AND INTENDING PURCHASERS SHOULD EXAMINE OUR

STOCK AND GET OUR

PRICES BEFORE PURCHASING.

Napanee, Oct. 13th,

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

R. DOWNEY & BROS

ARE SHOWING THEIR

FALL IMPORTATIONS.

Embracing the greatest possible variety of the Newest and most Attractive Styles

And containing some of the Best Lines of the leading Manufacturers.

WE HAVE THE BEPUTATION OF KEEPING THE

MOST ATTRACTIVE GOODS

And our Imports of the Present Season give evidence of the bestowment of much care and taste in the selection.

EVERY DEPARTMENT

Will Exhibit a Completeness Beyond Anything we have Reached in any Former Season.

DRESS GOODS,
WINCEYS,

LUSTRES,

SHAWLS,

JACKETS,

SEAL SKINS,

MANTLES,

HOSIERY,

GLOVES,

CARPETS,

MATTINGS.

MANUFACTURERS, NOTICE!

The undersigned having purchased at Public Auction, the Estate of F. Lane and Brocher, Insolvent Debtors, begs to notify the public, that he will continue the Manufacturing business, formerly carried on by them in West Napanee.

Wanted immediately, One Thousand Cords of first-class Shingle Bolts, either Cedar or Pine. Also, Five Hundred Cords first-class Water Elm. Soft Matto and Ash Stave Bolts, $\frac{1}{2}$ to be Thirple Eight inches long, and the balance y- be Thirty-Two inches long. Bills will soon be sent out among the farmers.

CHARLES LANE.

Napanee, Jan. 5th, 1875.

HULETT'S COLORED

PORTRAITS WON

FIRST PRIZE AT THE MIDLAND FAIR.

See our collection of large beautiful colored portraits that won the first and highest prize in the Photographic Art at the Midland Central Fair. (See prize list). As I now hold the palm in this department, I can give the best satisfaction in the town, and at the lowest living prices. I've spared neither pains nor expense to give my customers pictures that are second to none in this part of the country. Call and examine. My work will bear the closest inspection, Cabinet Photos and Carte de Visites taken and finished in all the latest and improved styles. Strict attention paid in copying and enlarging old pictures of deceased friends to any required size, and made almost as natural as when living. Please give us a call. Next door to Downey's.

J. S. HULETT,

Photographer, Napanee.

JOB MOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in its cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions and a speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is especially suited. It will, in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all Cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain Iron, Calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR

\$1.00 and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., General Agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sold in Napanee by 11 Druggists. Will be by W. G. Erer Ten well, Aylsworth and Nan, and a medicine dealers.

LET

NAPANEE FLOURISH

Are you aware that you can have ALL KINDS OF JEWELRY MANUFACTURED AT HOME, without sending to a distance for it, where your are paying TWO PROFITS ON YOUR GOODS?

Napanee, Oct. 13th,

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

R. DOWNEY & BROS

ARE SHOWING THEIR

FALL IMPORTATIONS.

Embracing the greatest possible variety of the Newest and most Attractive Styles

And containing some of the Best Lines of the leading Manufacturers.

WE HAVE THE REPUTATION OF KEEPING THE

MOST ATTRACTIVE GOODS

And our Imports of the Present Season give evidence of the bestowment of much care and taste in the selection.

EVERY DEPARTMENT

Will Exhibit a Completeness Beyond Anything we have Reached in any Former Season.

DRESS GOODS,

WINCEYS,

LUSTRES,

SHAWLS,

JACKETS,

SEAL SKINS,

MANTLES,

HOSIERY,

GLOVES,

CARPETS,

MATTINGS,

FLOWERS,

FEATHERS,

RIBBONS,

SILKS,

FANCY GOODS,

BERLIN WOOLS,

TWEEDS AND CLOTHS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
AND IN FACT

Full Lines in Every Department.

We would simply say in reference to our Stock.

SEE IT, AND FURTHER, SEE IT EARLY!

R. DOWNEY & BROS.

See our collection of large beautiful colored portraits that won the first and highest prize in the Photographic Art at the Midland Central Fair. (See prize list). As I now hold the palm in this department, I can give the best satisfaction in the town, and at the lowest living prices. I've spared neither pains nor expense to give my customers pictures that are second to none in this part of the country. Call and examine. My work will bear the closest inspection, Cabinet Photos and Carte de Visites taken and finished in all the latest and improved styles. Strict attention paid in copying and enlarging old pictures of deceased friends to any required size, and made almost as natural as when living. Please give us a call. Next door to Downey's.

J. S. HUEETT,
Photographer, Napanee.

JOBMOSSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions and speedy cure may be relied on.

FOR MARRIED LADIES

It is especially suited. It will, in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all Cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed; and although powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

JOBMOSSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to

Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle containing over 80 pills, by return mail.

Sold in Napanee by the Druggists. Mail to by W. G. Egan, Tanworth, Aylsworth and Napanee, and a medicine dealers.

LET

NAPANEE FLOURISH

Are you aware that you can have

ALL KINDS OF JEWELRY

MANUFACTURED AT HOME,

without sending to a distance for it, where your are paying

TWO PROFITS ON YOUR GOODS?

If not, learn now and forever, that I not only sell, but manufacture everything

IN THE JEWELRY LINE

on my premises, so that you will effect

A GREAT SAVING,

by giving me a call before going elsewhere.

ENGRAVING

of all kinds done on short notice, the services of a First-class Engraver having been secured for that purpose.

A larger stock than ever before of

WATCHES, CLOCKS,

EAR & FINGER RINGS,

BROOCHES, CHAINS,

NECKLETS, SILVER-WARE,

which cannot fail to suit the taste of the most fastidious.

F. W. SMITH

FURNITURE! FURNITURE!

A FULL STOCK OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

AS USUAL.

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Planing, &c.

Call and get Price List of Sash and Doors and cut of our Mouldings.

Undertaking Department Complete!

COFFINS OF ALL SIZES AND KINDS.

Shrouds, Scarfs, &c., &c.

J. C. GREEN & SON.

LARGEST AND CHEAPEST

LOT OF LAMPS IN NAPANEE,

JUST RECEIVED AT

MALLORY'S DRUG STORE.

SAVE TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT BY BUYING OF HIM,

For he defies any person to compete with his prices.

at the place,

M. B. MALLORY'S DRUG STORE,

Opposite A. O. Davis & Bro's.

FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF NAPANEE

A Brick Store and dwelling adjoining Blewett's Bakery, together with the open space at the side of the building. The Lot has 40 feet frontage on the Market Square, running back to Bridge Street with the same frontage. There is on the premises, both hard and soft water in abundance, and a good Frame Barn suitable for stabling or for storage. The property is in the most desirable place that can be offered in the Town of Napanee for a speculator in farm produce, butter, eggs, poultry, etc., and may be used to good advantage for a grocery store.

Terms made easy for the purchaser. For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

JAMES BLAKELY.

Napanee, Thur. 10th 1875.

SPECIAL NOTICE

FROM THE

NAPANEE STOVE DEPOT

A. McLEOD.

The Subscriber having on hand a large stock of IRON, from 15 to 40 lbs. offers special inducements to purchasers. All manufactured of the best material, by first-class workmen, every article guaranteed to give satisfaction.

IRON AND STEEL ROOFING, BRASS KETTLES, BEER PUMPS, BIRD CAGES, BATHS, BUTTER BOWLS, PLUMBS, AGRICULTURAL FURNACES, COAL GRATES, ENAMELLED WARE, WIRE BASKETS, WASH TUBS, HOT WATER RADIATORS, MILK PANS, MILLING PAIRS, STAMMER PAIRS, GALVANIZED IRON PAILS.

He has the largest assortment of first-class COOKING STOVES in Napanee, every Stove warranted to give satisfaction.

Sheet Zinc, Pumps, Sinks, Lead Pipe, Brass Kettles, Beer Pumps, Bird Cages, Baths, Butter Bowls, Plumbs, Agricultural Furnaces, Coal Grates, Enamelled Ware, Wire Baskets, Wash Tubs, Hot Water Radiators, Milk Pans, Milling Pairs, Stammer Pairs, Galvanized Iron Pails.

A call respectfully solicited.

A. McLEOD

Napanee Stove Depot

DE!
 chased
 of F. btors,
 e will iness,
 West usand either ndrec
 it Ma-Thiralance
 Bills
 e far-NE.
 ED FAIR. autiful e first raphic Fair.
 id the n give town, l've
 to give ond to Call ir the
 and ed in Strict arging o any bat as re us a panee.
 LS.
 ir h cases to ct. It obstruc-
 n. ortime rity lectionn slight-ysteria re who ough calome onstituid each rved.
 RITOR sed to general bottle
 B. Mil
 rth and ISH ave
 ME,
 for it,
 !

THE LARGEST AND LOT OF LAMPS IN NA
JUST RECEIVED AT MALLORY'S DRUG
YOU CAN SAVE TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT
For he defies any person to compete
Remember the place,
M. B. MALLORY'S DRUG

Only $1.50.

Price Complete

NOTICE.

In the Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington.
 In the goods of Edward Samuel Dill Stevenson, deceased.
 Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will on Friday the 28th day of January next, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon apply to the judge of the Surrogate Court, of the County of Lennox and Addington for letters of administration to the estate of the said Edward Samuel Dill Stevenson limited to the administration of the sum of one thousand dollars in American Currency being the amount of insurance on the life of the said deceased in the Montreal Life Insurance Company of Chicago.
 Dated this 22d day of December, A. D. 1875.
 JOHN B. MCGUIN,
 by his attorney E. J. HOOPER.

Land for sale.

A desirable Investment, near Kingston.
 For sale, 25 acres of excellent land within one mile of the city of Kingston on the Napanee road. It is well adapted for farming purposes. There is a good house on the premises, and a stream of water running across.
TERMS EASY.

UNDERTAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to notify his friends and the public generally that he has removed to his farm, at Moscow, and has complete arrangements for keeping on hand, at all times ready made coffins of every size and style. Shrouds always on hand and every other funeral requisite.
 A first class hearse always ready free of charge, and prompt attention to all orders.
 43-4in MILES STORMS.

JAMES BIRRELL

Manufacturer of
BUGGIES, CUTTERS, SLEIGHS, WAG-GONS, &C.,
MILL POINT,

Having recently erected a commodious Workshop, I am now prepared to execute all orders for any of the above on the shortest possible notice, and the most reasonable terms. As I employ none but experienced workmen, my work will be found second to none in the County.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO JOBING.
 All Orders from a distance will receive the promptest attention, and shipped to any part.
JAS. BIRRELL.

A call respectfully solicited.
A. McLEOD
 Napanee Stove Dealer

Ontario Veterinary College.
 May be consulted on all diseases of domesticated Animals, personally at Campbellville, or by letter.
TERMS MODERATE.
 OFFICE—Under the EXPRESS OFFICE, Warner Block.

MERRY X'MAS.

OLD SANTA CLAUS IS COMING WHERE SHALL WE LOAD HIS SLEIGH?

Remember, we belong to Cheapside. Send him up to

MILES N. HAWLEY, PERRY BLOCK

Where he will find Home Ornament, to make home pleasant, and parents and children happy. Buy something that will be useful and ornamental as long as you and your children live. We have in stock.

- Mirrors With Scroll Frames,
 - Comb Baskets,
 - Match Safes,
 - Side Brackets, (various styles)
 - Corner Brackets, do.
 - Clock Shelves, (various sizes)
 - Towel Racks, from $1.50 to $2.50.
 - Slipper Pockets,
 - Book Shelves,
 - Hat Racks,
 - Paper Racks,
 - Autumn Leaf Wreaths,
- And other articles in the Bracket line too numerous to mention. We make to order Frames and Boxes for Wreaths, all sizes. We have also a fine lot of Chromos and Lithos, with and without Frames. All styles of Frames on hand or made to order on the shortest notice. Our work will be found second to none in the country. Anything we have in stock will be sold Cheap for Cash, during the holidays. Now is your time. Come One, Come All. Both Great and Small. Please accept our sincere thanks for past favors and humbly solicit a share of your patronage in the future.

REMEMBER THE PLACE,
 Miles N. Hawley, Perry Block,
 Up-Stairs.

Entrance Door between Perry's Drug Store and Rose & Empey's Boot and Shoe Store, Opposite Chinneck's.

N.B.—Our shop will be open evenings from the 14th of the present month, up to the 1st of January, in order to give all a chance. Call early and have the first choice. First come first served.

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE OF CANADA.
HEAD OFFICE . TORONTO.

Price Complete

NOTICE.

In the Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington.

In the goods of Edward Samuel Dill Stevenson, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will on Friday the 28th day of January next, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon apply to the judge of the Surrogate Court, of the County of Lennox and Addington for letters of administration to the estate of the said Edward Samuel Dill Stevenson limited to the administration of the sum of one thousand dollars in American Currency being the amount of insurance on the life of the said deceased in the Montreal Life Insurance Company of Chicago.

Dated this 22d day of December, A. D. 1875.

JOHN B. McGUIN,
by his attorney E. J. HOOPER.

Land for sale.

A desirable Investment, near Kingston.

For sale, 25 acres of excellent land within one mile of the city of Kingston on the Napanee road. It is well adapted for farming purposes. There is a good house on the premises, and a stream of water running across.

TERMS EASY.

Apply to

DR. BROWN,
Napanee.

FARMERS' & LEADS CO., LTD.
June 20, 1875.

ASTHMA.

I have been one of the greatest sufferers from the effects of Asthma, having had it in its most severe form for twenty years. For the last six years of that time I had not lain six nights in bed, for seven years had such severe pain in my left side that I could not rest on it, my appetite was gone, and I had swelling in the region of my stomach, and general weakness. This condition was constantly becoming worse until last December, when I had GRAHAM'S PAIN EXTRACTOR, although I had no hope of it benefiting me, I yielded to the suggestion. The first dose I took relieved the difficulty of my breathing, and before I had two bottles used I was completely cured and have since enjoyed a good health as ever I did.

MARK MOORE.
Mr. Moore has since remained well.

UNDERTAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to notify his friends and the public generally that he has removed to his farm, at Moscow, and has complete arrangements for keeping on hand, at all times ready made coffins of every size and style. Shrouds always on hand and every other funeral requisite.

A first class hearse always ready free of charge, and prompt attention to all orders.

43-4in

MILES STORMS.

JAMES BIRRELL

Manufacturer of

BUGGIES, CUTTERS, SLEIGHS, WAGGONS, &c.,

MILE POINT,

Having recently erected a commodious Workshop, I am now prepared to execute all orders for any of the above on the shortest possible notice, and the most reasonable terms. As I employ none but experienced workmen, my work will be found second to none in the County.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID

TO JOBING.

All Orders from a distance will receive the promptest attention, and shipped to any part.

JAS. BIRRELL.

SEWING MACHINES

That have been fully tested by thousands in all kinds of family sewing in both the new and old world.

NEEDLES

Best made needles for Webster, Lockman, Wanzel, Royal, and other Sewing Machines.

OL

That will not clog or cause the machine to run heavy. Manufactured in New York expressly for Sewing Machines.

For sale cheaper than any other dealer in town.

Call and try it and you will always buy it.

Webster Sewing Machine Office, four doors west of Post Office, Napanee.

V. KOUBER,

Agent for Napanee district.

TERMS MODERATE

OFFICE—Under the EXPRESS OFFICE, Warner Block.

MERRY X'MAS.

OLD SANTA CLAUS IS COMING

WHERE SHALL WE LOAD HIS SLEIGH?

Remember, we belong to Cheapside. Send him up to

MILES N. HAWLEY & PERRY BLOCK

Where he will find Home Ornaments to make home pleasant, and parents and children happy. Buy something that will be useful and ornamental as long as you and your children live. We have in stock.

Mirrors With Scroll Frames,

Comb Baskets,

Match Safes,

Side Brackets, (various styles)

Corner Brackets, do.

Clock Shelves, (various sizes)

Towel Racks, from $1.50 to $2.50.

Slipper Pockets,

Book Shelves,

Hat Racks,

Paper Racks,

Autumn Leaf Wreaths,

And other articles in the Bracket line too numerous to mention. We make to order Frames and Boxes for Wreaths, all sizes. We have also a fine lot of Chromos and Lithos, with and without Frames. All styles of Frames on hand or made to order on the shortest notice. Our work will be found second to none in the country. Anything we have in stock will be sold Cheap for Cash, during the holidays. Now is your time. Come One, Come All, Both Great and Small. Please accept our sincere thanks for past favors and humbly solicit a share of your patronage in the future.

REMEMBER THE PLACE,

Miles N. Hawley, Perry Block, Up-Stairs.

Entrance Door between Perry's Drug Store and Rose & Empey's Boot and Shoe Store, Opposite Chinnick's.

N. B.—Our shop will be open evenings from the 14th of the present month, up to the 1st of January, in order to give all a chance. Call early and have the first choice First come first served.

PROVINCIAL INSURANCE OF CANADA.

HEAD OFFICE . TORONTO.

HON. J. H. CAMERON, Q.C., M.P. Pres
LEWIS MOFFATT, Esq., Vice-President.
ARTHUR HARVEY, Manager.

BEING guided by its own lengthened experience, and desirous of adjusting the rates of insurance to each hazard in accordance with the laws of average, has Not Joined the Insurance Combination.

On some descriptions of property its charges may be above the established Tariff, on others considerably lower, and the Public are respectfully invited to call upon W. V. Dettlor, agent, Napanee; A. Caton, Edinburgh; R. Clapp, Milford; J. Aylsworth, Tamworth, and ascertain the Company's rates for insurance before insuring elsewhere.

Premium Income 250,000 per annum

Persons not within reach of the above Agents are requested to communicate directly with the Manager

The Express.

NAPANEE, JAN. 27, 1876.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.—The Publisher of the EXPRESS desires to procure live agents in every locality, to whom a liberal commission will be given. Every subscriber of the paper is requested to act as a special agent. Our paper is daily becoming more popular and influential. We intend to make it such a journal as all classes will be the wiser and better by perusing it.

MR. RAPER'S VISIT.

A MOST ENTHUSIASTIC TEMPERANCE DEMONSTRATION.

Mr. J. H. Raper of England, one of the leading spirits in connection with the United Kingdom Alliance—an association similar in its objects to our Prohibitory League, visited Napanee yesterday, in connection with his tour of observation through the United States and Canada, to learn by personal observation what have been the result of legislation on this continent in behalf of the temperance movement. His name is so well known and so much respected by intelligent temperance men every-where that wherever he has gone he has been received with becoming honours. At his landing in New York he was publicly entertained by the National Temperance Association, and some of the leading men of the nation were present. Others of the American cities also did him honour. At Montreal there was a splendid demonstration in his favour in connection with the Quebec Prohibitory League, and at our Dominion capital he received an ovation.

We doubt, however, if since he landed on our shores he any where had a more enthusiastic reception than that given him at Napanee last night. His coming had been thoroughly announced through the press, and the pulpit, and for days past the streets have been placarded, and hundreds of neatly printed circulars have been in circulation inviting all to attend his meeting.

Mr. Raper reached Napanee yesterday morning and was the guest of Mayor Williams. Before the time for

Mr. Raper was then received with enthusiasm. He is a gentleman of fine appearance, about 60 years of age, and yet in his full vigour. He is an easy and pleasant speaker, and his address of an hour and a half was listened to with the greatest interest, most seeming to regret when it was closed.

THE SPEECH.

We much regret that want of space compels us to give but the merest mention to the different points of the speech delivered. He said he did not make any pretensions to oratory, but had been one of the lay workers in connection with the efforts in England to suppress the evils of the drink traffic. In England the movement had reached such a stage that the experience of the workings of temperance legislation on this side of the Atlantic became a matter of great interest and controversy with them. There the reports were busily spread that the Maine law was a failure, and other prohibitory efforts had been of no practical value, and he had come to see for himself what were the results and what were the defects, if such exist. He had been in Maine and a number of the other States and did not hesitate to say that he had seen liquors sold contrary to law in some places, but he could say the same of London, or Liverpool, or any town in England where he had ever been. In fact, all our laws were violated, but the existence and partial enforcement of the laws did much to suppress crime, and to maintain good order and protection to society.

In reference to the address from the County Council, he remarked that he felt a great desire to visit the Council while in session, that he might see something of its practical workings. In England the body had no counterpart, and it was felt that in local matters the people had not so direct a control as they ought to have. When Mr. Forster, one of England's most prominent statesmen, was in Canada a year or so ago, he carefully noticed the system of our Councils, and had since recommended the adoption of something of the kind at home. They have a sort of local parliament, but it was not so amenable to public opinion; it was not a body elected direct by the people that they could thrust out at pleasure. They had been told of the system in the United States, but in England there was a strong prejudice against "Yankee Institutions," and anything branded with that epithet was received with disfavor; but when they found these municipal institutions thriving on British soil, as in Canada, they were received with greater favor. He had been anxious to ascertain since he came here, how the Council had disposed of the intolerable nuisances of toll-bars, such as they had everywhere with them yet, and was glad to find in this county that such had been removed.

He also referred, in fitting terms, to bition no licenses can be granted. It had its origin in England the same year as the Dunkin Bill in Canada, but here it was obtained and with them they would have to work hard yet before they get it, as public opinion was much less advanced than among ourselves on the subject. The Bill was usually spoken of among them as The Permissive Bill, just as though it was the only one. Last session of their Parliament fifteen permissive bills were passed, but people seemed to think that this was the only one worthy of such a designation. The speaker then gave some interesting facts in regard to the struggle in Parliament in reference to it. The majority of the Irish members vote in its favor, and the representatives of the largest constituencies in Scotland and England. He had full confidence that the day would soon come when it would become the established law of the nation. He then closed his interesting address with an eloquent appeal for all to unite in the great temperance effort.

A vote of thanks was moved by the Warden of the County, seconded by Dr. Palmer, of Belleville, and unanimously adopted. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. B. Lane, A. B.

TOWN COUNCIL.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held at the Council Chamber, on Thursday evening of last week, on a petition presented to the Mayor by six of the Councillors.

The meeting was called to consider a petition from the Workingman's Temperance Association, praying the Council to draft a by-law to be submitted to the people at an early day, raising the present license of shops and taverns to somewhere in the vicinity of $400.

The Council met at 7:30 o'clock. the Mayor in the chair, all the members being present except Councillor Spencer.

The Mayor briefly stated the object for which the meeting had been called, and read the petition presented, as well as one from the tavern and shop keepers, praying that the licenses be allowed to remain as at present.

Dr. Ruttan asked if the meeting had been called legally, and was told by the Mayor that it had, due notice being given to each member.

Mr. Gibson moved, sec. by Mr. Huffman, that the prayer of the petition of the Workingman's Temperance Association be granted.

In amendment by Mr. Geddes, sec. by Mr. Ruttan, that the prayer of the petition of the tavern and shop keepers be granted.

Dr. Ruttan said he thought this move a very important one, and one that required the very gravest consideration, and thought that those who

After for t woul it eit Di petit or th was man done pera to se their ough the l he m to h the c could had a p stake men fare not argu sion ting busi peop sell If it ture we h were to g ness than to co if c puni it wa to su the t that and same have doin man on and He v not l ers v ringi year of a to se resp ough gran them sobei asha Mi petit tor l over on it rema Th lost. Mr intro Huffi Th men every-where that wherever he has gone he has been received with becoming honours. At his landing in New York he was publicly entertained by the National Temperance Association, and some of the leading men of the nation were present. Others of the American cities also did him honour. At Montreal there was a splendid demonstration in his favour in connection with the Quebec Prohibitory League, and at our Dominion capital he received an ovation.

We doubt, however, if since he landed on our shores he any where had a more enthusiastic reception than that given him at Napanee last night. His coming had been thoroughly announced through the press, and the pulpit, and for days past the streets have been placarded, and hundreds of neatly printed circulars have been in circulation inviting all to attend his meeting.

Mr. Raper reached Napanee yesterday morning and was the guest of Mayor Williams. Before the time for the meeting arrived the Workingman's Temperance Association marched from their hall, proceeded by the Napanee Brass Band, to escort the gentleman to the meeting. When the procession came in front of the fine mansion of the Mayor a halt was made and Mr. Raper was introduced to the Association by the President, Mr. Allen, Chief of Police. He was received with three rousing cheers and an appropriate piece by the Band, after which Mr. Raper acknowledged the honour in appropriate terms. He said never before had he enjoyed the honour of standing, as he now did, with the Mayor on the one side and the Chief of Police on the other, both supporting him cordially in the great temperance work. He was a Good Templar, a Son of Temperance and a member of other associations, but it was as a representative of a principle and not of an association that he now was honoured. He thanked the Association most warmly for this honour.

Dr. Palmer, Superintendent of the Government Deaf and Dumb Institution was also introduced as a thorough going tee-totaler, and received with hearty cheers. He acknowledged the honour in a few words.

The procession now reformed, headed by Mr. Raper, Mayor Williams, R. G. Secretary of the Good Templars, Dr. Palmer, T. W. Casey G. W. Secretary of Canada, Mr. Gibbard, and Chief Allen, preceded by the Band.

THE PUBLIC MEETING

The Methodist Episcopal Church, the

while in session, that he might see something of its practical workings. In England the body had no counterpart, and it was felt that in local matters the people had not so direct a control as they ought to have. When Mr. Forster, one of England's most prominent statesmen, was in Canada a year or so ago, he carefully noticed the system of our Councils, and had since recommended the adoption of something of the kind at home. They have a sort of local parliament, but it was not so amendable to public opinion; it was not a body elected direct by the people that they could thrust out at pleasure. They had been told of the system in the United States, but in England there was a strong prejudice against "Yankee Institutions," and anything branded with that epithet was received with disfavor; but when they found these municipal institutions thriving on British soil, as in Canada, they were received with greater favor. He had been anxious to ascertain since he came here, how the Council had disposed of the intolerable nuisances of toll-bars, such as they had everywhere with them yet, and was glad to find in this county that such had been removed.

He also referred, in fitting terms, to the address from the Workingmen and the Good Templars. These associations were necessary, so that those once having the appetite of drink could be helped by their comrades if they slipped, or gave way to temptation. In England they are working hard for the establishment of the two principles of First, total abstinence for the individual, and Second, total prohibition towards the traffic.

In regard to their own progress at home he had nothing new to tell. It is true they have three million total abstainers, and four thousand Good Templar lodges, and that the U. K. Alliance is expending twenty thousand pounds Sterling, a year in their agitation while the various leagues and other national organizations are hard at work. But having said that he must yet admit that though England never before had so many church and other christian societies and organizations, its jails and hospitals were never so full and never more paupers caused by the terrible liquor traffic were never more numerous. It was the richest nation in the world, and yet had amongst its people the most wretchedness and destitution. The people however were fast making the discovery that a man can live and prosper without liquor and they are now trying to establish the fact that a town can live without liquor. Such towns were now in existence among themselves and their prosperity and success were doing much to convince the nation. In the Province of Canterbury there were 1400 places without a liquor shop, and with men and women without liquor in them, and the statement on the authority of hundreds of the Church of England clergymen including the Bishops, was such as might be expected in regard to the beneficial effects.

Some seemed to be of the opinion that, at any rate, a community in Ireland could not be without liquor, but

Council to draft a by-law to be submitted to the people at an early day, raising the present license of shops and taverns to somewhere in the vicinity of $400.

The Council met at 7:30 o'clock. the Mayor in the chair, all the members being present except Councillor Spencer.

The Mayor briefly stated the object for which the meeting had been called, and read the petition presented, as well as one from the tavern and shop keepers, praying that the licenses be allowed to remain as at present.

Dr. Ruttan asked if the meeting had been called legally, and was told by the Mayor that it had, due notice being given to each member.

Mr. Gibson moved, sec. by Mr. Huffman, that the prayer of the petition of the Workingman's Temperance Association be granted.

In amendment by Mr. Geddes, sec. by Mr. Ruttan, that the prayer of the petition of the tavern and shop keepers be granted.

Dr. Ruttan said he thought this move a very important one, and one that required the very gravest consideration, and thought that those who presented the petitions should take the floor and show why the prayer should be granted.

Mr. Gibson said he had got short notice of the meeting, but he thought the matter a step in the right direction. If we must have licenses, he went in for such public houses as would be for the public good, and thought the present move of raising the licenses would have a tendency to do away with some of the smaller houses, and make the remaining ones much better in every particular, better kept, better accommodation, and less drunkenness. It had been said by some that if the liquor business was done away with the town would not prosper, but he maintained the town would prosper just as well, and the public houses would succeed just as well without liquor selling. The fewer houses there were the better able they would be to pay a higher license. However, the Council would have no power to pass such a law, that was in the hands of the people, and it was for them to say whether it would become law or not. It was within the power of the Council to make such a law, but then the people could either ratify or reject it. In moving the granting of the prayer he did so freely. It was nothing more than right that the petition of any number of people of the town should have consideration at the hands of the Council.

Mr. Huffman endorsed what had been said by Mr. Gibson. The Council were in duty bound to consider the petition, but it was for the people to say whether it would become a law or not.

Mr. Geddes thought Mr. Gibson's remarks very plausible in some respects, but did not think it advisable at the present time to raise the license fee, especially to the amount asked for in the petition, as it was altogether too large. Our taxes were already very high, and with high rents and the in-he enjoyed the honour of standing, as he now did, with the Mayor on the one side and the Chief of Police on the other, both supporting him cordially in the great temperance work. He was a Good Templar, a Son of Temperance and a member of other associations, but it was as a representative of a principle and not of an association that he now was honoured. He thanked the Association most warmly for this honour.

Dr. Palmer, Superintendent of the Government Deaf and Dumb Institution was also introduced as a thorough going tee-totaler, and received with hearty cheers. He acknowledged the honour in a few words.

The procession now reformed, headed by Mr. Raper, Mayor Williams, R. G. Secretary of the Good Templars, Dr. Palmer, T. W. Casey G. W. Secretary of Canada, Mr. Gibbard, and Chief Allen, preceded by the Band.

THE PUBLIC MEETING

The Methodist Episcopal Church, the largest and finest public building in town was kindly furnished for the meeting. Though it is capable of holding over one fourth of our entire population it was found too small for the occasion, as every part of the building was crowded and more room was wanted.

The Mayor presided, and religious exercises were conducted by Rev. W. S. Blackstock of the Wesleyan Church.

The chairman said that Mr. Raper was the Parliamentary Agent of the United Kingdom Alliance, and probably no man in England better understood the workings of Legislation in behalf of the temperance movement. As the Mayor he could in behalf of the town assure him of a cordial welcome here. He was glad to say that our County Council, now in session, had accepted an invitation to be present in a body and would present an address. It was the first time our County Council had ever so appeared. He was also glad that the large and prosperous Workingmen's Association was present as a body and would present an address; and one would also be presented by the Good Templars.

Mr. Hogle, the Warden, then presented the address of the County Council, Mr. Allen that of the Workingmen, and Mr. Hanson of the Good Templars.

upon while the various leagues and other national organizations are hard at work. But having said that he must yet admit that though England never before had so many church and other christian societies and organizations, its jails and hospitals were never so full and never more paupers caused by the terrible liquor traffic were never more numerous. It was the richest nation in the world, and yet had amongst its people the most wretchedness and destitution. The people however were fast making the discovery that a man can live and prosper without liquor and they are now trying to establish the fact that a town can live without liquor. Such towns were now in existence among themselves and their prosperity and success were doing much to convince the nation. In the Province of Canterbury there were 1400 places without a liquor shop, and with men and women without liquor in them, and the statement on the authority of hundreds of the Church of England clergymen including the Bishops, was such as might be expected in regard to the beneficial effects.

Some seemed to be of the opinion that, at any rate, a community in Ireland could not be without liquor, but there the experiment had been more fully tried. In Tyrone there was a section of 61½ miles, including seven townships, without a liquor shop. There was once a Police Station in the centre but now it had been abandoned as there was no use for it. The London Times once denied there was such a place. He (Mr. Raper) went there to see for himself. He was met by Mr. J. K. Tenner, of Dungannon Station, Tyrone, and was drawn by a carriage and pair of horses that had been presented to Mr. Tenner by his tenants as a token of their gratitude for having swept off the liquor shops. When at a public meeting there he asked if it was true that no liquors could be got by the people. One man in the vast hall stated that he got it but had to go nine miles for the purpose. When asked if he wanted it nearer he remarked that, on the whole, it was probably as well where it is. Now in regard to the financial results he would say that inside of that line the tax rates were 9½ pence, and in the adjoining County they were 16 pence.

The Marquis of Hartington reduced the number of public houses on his estate to one, thinking there ought to be some at least. One Sunday in going from church, he saw seven drunken men about there, and then he resolved to have that one swept off, and Eggleston had none now, with most satisfactory results.

The great work of the United Kingdom Alliance has been the agitation for a Permissive Bill by the Parliament, providing, as does the Dunkin Act in Canada, that where a majority of the electors in any locality vote for prohi-the town would prosper just as well, and the public houses would succeed just as well without liquor selling. The fewer houses there were the better able they would be to pay a higher license. However, the Council would have no power to pass such a law, that was in the hands of the people, and it was for them to say whether it would become law or not. It was within the power of the Council to make such a law, but then the people could either ratify or reject it. In moving the granting of the prayer he did so freely. It was nothing more than right that the petition of any number of people of the town should have consideration at the hands of the Council.

Mr. Huffman endorsed what had been said by Mr. Gibson. The Council were in duty bound to consider the petition, but it was for the people to say whether it would become a law or not.

Mr. Geddes thought Mr. Gibson's remarks very plausible in some respects, but did not think it advisable at the present time to raise the license fee, especially to the amount asked for in the petition, as it was altogether too large. Our taxes were already very high, and with high rents and the increased taxation on liquors, he thought the keepers of public houses had as much to pay as they ought to. He was of opinion that if an Inspector were appointed who would do his duty, they might be able to pay a small advance, as there were a number of unlicensed houses in town that were known to be selling liquor by the glass.

Mr. James said, the question to be considered was, shall the by-law remain as it is now, at its extreme limit, or shall a new one be drafted and submitted to the people for ratification. The parties whose petitions were before the Council had a perfect right to make the request they did. The Council were the representatives of the people, and as such were bound to entertain their reasonable requests, no matter from what source they emanated. If they (the people) saw fit, they could put the sum of each license at $400 or $1,000. Mr. Crooks, in the Ontario Legislature, the other day, had brought up a motion on this very subject, and he was very sorry it had been deferred till a future day; but he understood the motion to be one that would take the matter of licensing public houses out of the hands of municipalities, and he would be glad such a thing would become law. He was in favor of granting the prayer of the petition.

There arose some discussion as to the increase of each license asked for in the petition, and some of the members were of opinion that if the petition were granted the by-law would leave to raise the license to $400, but the Mayor ruled such was not the case.

After the by-law was introduced it was for the Council to say what amount would be inserted. They could make it either greater or less.

Dr. Rutan wished to know if this petition had come from the taxpayers or the business men of the town. He was free to admit that the Working-man's Temperance Association had done a good work in the cause of temperance in the town, and was very glad to see it, and congratulated them on their success, but thought the petition ought to be set aside. In looking over the list of names attached to the petition, he missed hundreds of names who ought to have been on it before it should have the consideration of the Council. He could not see why a special meeting had been called on the strength of such a petition. Were these men heavy stakeholders in the town; were they men who were interested in the welfare of it? On the contrary, they were not even a respectable minority. He argued there was a great misapprehension in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors. It was a perfectly legal business, and in all civilized countries people had a right to manufacture and sell any commodity of a legal nature. If it could be shown that the manufacture and sale of liquor was wrong, then we had a right to put it down. People were not forced to become drinkers or to go into taverns, they had no business to, but some of them would rather than not. It was not the use we had to contend against, but the abuse; and if carried to excess we had laws to punish the offenders. In olden times it was the custom of the Government to supply everything for sale, and now the tavern keepers received a certificate that they had complied with the law and were entitled to sell liquor just the same as any other commodity, and to have the protection of the people in so doing. The revenue received from the manufacture of liquor was greater than on any other thing, except tobacco, and he did not believe in cutting it off. He was a friend of temperance, but did not believe in injustice. The petitioners were misled by men who had been ringing this subject into their ears for years; had read nothing but what was of a one-sided nature. He would like to see at least six hotels here, kept by responsible men, and that the Council ought to know before licenses were granted, to whom they were giving them. On the whole, Napanee was a sober place, and we had no right to be ashamed of it as it was.

Mr. James followed in defence of the petitioners, on whom, he said, the Doctor had cast a slur, because in looking over the names he had found no doctors on it, and, after some further rebutting remarks, took his seat.

The amendment was then put and lost.

Mr. Gibson then moved for leave to introduce a by-law, seconded by Mr. Huffman.

The by-law was then read a first

READ THIS TWICE.—Five to drops of THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL, will cure common Sore Throat. It never fails in Croup. It will cure a Cold or Cough in twenty-four to forty-eight hours. One bottle has cured Bronchitis of eight years standing; recent cases are cured in three or six days. It has restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper in five years. As an outward application in all cases of pain or lameness, nothing like it has ever been known. One bottle will cure any case of Lamé Back or Cerk in the Back. For diseases of the Spine and Contraction of the Muscles it is unequalled. In Rheumatic or any other pain the first application does you good. It stops Ear Ache and the pain of a Burn in three minutes, and is altogether the best and cheapest medicine ever offered to the people—the cheapest, because it takes so little to do you good. It is composed of six of the best oils known, and nothing but oils. Is worth its weight in gold. Why not buy it today?—A. B. Des ROCHERS, assistant postmaster, Arthabaskaville, P. Q., writes:—"Thirteen years ago I was seized by a severe attack of rheumatism in the head, from which I have nearly constantly suffered. After having used 'Thomas Electric Oil' for nine days, bathing the forehead. I have been completely cured, and have only used half a bottle. This I can certify under oath if you wish."—Rev. J. MALLORY, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes "Dr. Thomas Electric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in ONE WEEK. Dealers all over the country say, 'We have never sold a medicine that has given such complete satisfaction as this.'" Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

S. N. THOMAS, PHELEPS, N. Y. And NORTHEROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion.

NOTE—Electric—Selected and Flec-trized

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

THE GRAND principle that operates in these wonderful medicine is the power they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Lumbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats; Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetters, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness. Pains

FOR CASH ONLY.

ALL GOODS MARKED

AT GREAT BATES

and were entitled to sell liquor just the same as any other commodity, and to have the protection of the people in so doing. The revenue received from the manufacture of liquor was greater than on any other thing, except tobacco, and he did not believe in cutting it off. He was a friend of temperance, but did not believe in injustice. The petitioners were misled by men who had been ringing this subject into their ears for years; had read nothing but what was of a one-sided nature. He would like to see at least six hotels here, kept by responsible men, and that the Council ought to know before licenses were granted, to whom they were giving them. On the whole, Napanee was a sober place, and we had no right to be ashamed of it as it was.

Mr. James followed in defence of the petitioners, on whom, he said, the Doctor had cast a slur, because in looking over the names he had found no doctors on it, and, after some further rebutting remarks, took his seat.

The amendment was then put and lost.

Mr. Gibson then moved for leave to introduce a by-law, seconded by Mr. Huffman.

The by-law was then read a first time and Council went into Committee of the whole on the second reading, Mr. Bartlett in the chair.

Mr. James moved, sec. by Mr. Huffman, that $300 be inserted as the sum to be charged for each such license granted. Carried.

Mr. Huffman moved, sec. by Mr. James, that the date for polling be filled in by inserting the 14th day of February next.

The usual polling places, and the same Returning Officers as held the late municipal elections were then named and inserted in the by-law.

The Committee then rose and reported, and on motion the by-law as filled in was adopted.

Mr. James moved, sec. by Mr. Joy, that the by-law be read a third time on the 21st day of February.

In amendment by Dr. Rutan, sec. by Mr. McNeil, it be read a third time six months from now. Lost.

The Council then adjourned.

THE MERCER TRIAL.

A FAILURE OF THE PLAINTIFF'S CASE.

Public attention has lately been directed to the Mercer will case, which for weeks past has been argued before Vice-Chancellor Blake in the Court of Chancery, Toronto. The revelations which the trial brought out have proved the eccentricities of a lonely bachelor, but they have at the same time shown the serpentine wiles of a woman. The late Andrew Mercer died in Toronto about 1871 and left property estimated at some $200,000, which in consequence of the deceased having made no will was taken possession of by the Crown. During his life time Mercer

S. N. THOMAS, PHELEPS, N. Y. AND NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion.

NOTE—Electric—Selected and Flec-trized

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

THE GRAND principle that operates in these wonderful medicine is the power they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Lumbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetters, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on each.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; giving in buying large sizes.

Metropolitan Medicine Co., Props.

9, College Place, New York.

J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,

WHOLESALE AGENTS. NEW YORK

THE PRINCE EDWARD

COUNTY

Mutual Fire Insurance Co'y

HEAD OFFICE—PICTON, ONT.
(Established 30th Sept., 1854).

PRESIDENT—LEWIS B. STINSON

VICE-PRESIDENT—J. VANALSTINE,

MANAGER—L. B. STINSON.

SECRETARY—JOHN TWIGG.

TREASURER—PHILIP LOW, Q. C.

INS. OF LOSSES & AG'S.—J. HOWELL.

SOLICITOR—W. H. R. ALLISON

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—JAS. JOHNSTON, WILLIAM DELONG, H. A. McFAUL, S. B. HUBBS, WELLINGTON BOULTER

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. Striker

Esq., M.P.P., Picton; Robert Clapp

Esq., Milford; Ketchan Graham, Esq.

M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas.

A. Lloyd, Jno. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adol-

phustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John

T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee;

John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton;

George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Tho

Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner

Esq., Rednerville; Owen Roblin Esq.,

Ameliasburgh.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, Insuring farming property in Townships, and

GETTING A RING SATISFIED NOW GO TO
AT MOLLLOY'S
GOODS MARKED DOWN TO COST FOR 3

NEW GOING ON COY'S!
NO COST FOR 30 DAYS.

FOR CASH ONLY.

HEAD OFFICE—PICTON, ONT.
 (Established 30th Sept., 1854).

PRESIDENT—LEWIS B. STINSON
VICE-PRESIDENT—J. VANALSTINE,
MANAGER—L. B. STINSON.
SECRETARY—JOHN TWIGG.
TREASURER—PHILIP LOW, Q. C.
INS. OF LOSSES & Ac's.—J. HOWELL.
SOLICITOR—W. H. R. ALLISON

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—JAS. JOHN-
STON, WILLIAM DELONG, H. A.
McFAUL, S. B. HUBBS, WELLING-TON BOULTER

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. Striker
Esq., M.P.P., Picton; Robert Clapp
Esq., Milford; Ketchan Graham, Esq.
M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas.
A. Lloyd, Jno. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adol-
phustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John
T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee;
John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton;
George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Tho
Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner
Esq., Rednerville; Owen Roblin Esq.,
Ameliasburgh.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, Insuring farming property in Townships, and
 property not more hazardous in Towns
 and Villages; and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for THREE years either on the Premium Note to Cash System.
 25th March, 1874.

TO THE LADIES.

MRS. JACKSON,

Takes this opportunity of thanking the ladies of Napanee for their kind patronage, since she came to the town, and wishes to intimate to them that she

HAS REMOVED

her place of business to the

SHOP OF S. McLAUGHLIN,

Opposite the

TITCHBORNE HOUSE,

Where she will be glad to wait upon all who wish to have their hair re-arranged into

SWITCHES, PUFFS, BRAIDS, &c.

AND COMBINGS done in first-class style, and all roots turned one way.

Napanee, Jan. 14th '75.

NAPANEE LIME WORKS

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to inform the public that they are now prepared to furnish Lime to all orders entrusted to their care.
Lime kept in Limehouse at Perry's Plaster Mill
and at Limehouse Mill Point.
 All orders left at Ferguson Bros' or at Office
 Brisco House, will be promptly attended to.
 Lime shipped to all parts of Canada.

GALT & BROTHER.

Napanee, April 7th, 1875.

Mr. James moved, sec. by Mr. Joy, that the by-law be read a third time on the 21st day of February.

In amendment by Dr. Ruttan, sec.
 by Mr. McNeil, it be read a third time six months from now. Lost.

The Council then adjourned.

THE MERCER TRIAL.

A FAILURE OF THE PLAINTIFF'S CASE.

Public attention has lately been directed to the Mercer will case, which for weeks past has been argued before Vice-Chancellor Blake in the Court of Chancery, Toronto. The revelations which the trial brought out have proved the eccentricities of a lonely bachelor, but they have at the same time shown the serpentine wiles of a woman.
 The late Andrew Mercer died in Toronto about 1871 and left property estimated at some $200,000, which in consequence of the deceased having made no will was taken possession of by the Crown. During his life time Mercer had in his employ as housekeeper Bridget O'Reilly, who appears from the evidence given at the trial, to have led him the 'devil's own life.' While looking after the domestic affairs of Mercer, this woman was confined of a son.
 After the old man's death an alleged will was found by a lawyer's clerk in a book at the residence of the late Andrew Mercer, and also at the same time Bridget O'Reilly became possessed of a marriage certificate purporting to be the record of a marriage ceremony between herself and the late Andrew Mercer. The alleged will conveyed all the property left by Mercer to his said wife and son. The evidence given at the trial was of a very conflicting character, although the weight of the testimony was against the claim Bridget O'Reilly sets up of being the wife of the late Andrew Mercer. Vice Chancellor Blake gave judgement, declaring positively that in his opinion the evidence brought forward to prove that Bridget O'Reilly was by general reputation regarded as the wife of Andrew Mercer was entirely inadequate, that the marriage entry in the parish register of Toronto Gore was a forgery, that the alleged will was equally a forgery, and the whole case of the plainaiff's was evidently an attempt to perpetrate a gross fraud upon the defendants the Attorney General and Mr. R. D. Mercer, nephew of deceased. The case will be carried to appeal.

LIST OF NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Hard Times—J. C. Huffman & Son.
Insolvent Act—W. F. Hall.
For Sale—W. F. Hall.
Wanted—Mrs. T. W. Casey.
Prohibition—R. Aylsworth.
For Sale—Fred Membrey.

Local News.

MARKET TOLLS.—The market tolls were sold on Tuesday last to Philip Embury, for $980,—$60 in advance of what was paid for them this year.

FOX CHASE.—Will come off at the Land Rink, this Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. A Carnival will also take place at the above rink next Wednesday night. 2nd of February.

HAMBURG.—The Anniversary services of the M. E. Church in this place are to be held D. D., on Sabbath the 6th Feb. First class men are being provided for the occasion. Two or three sermons on Sabbath, and able addresses on Monday evening in connection with the Tea.

SNOW.—On Tuesday we had a slight fall of snow, so that the sleighs and cutters were once more in use, and the merry jingle of the bells had an enlivening tendency. We are in hopes it will soon be followed by another and still greater fall, as there is nothing more required just now.

THE FIRE ENGINE.—The firemen had the steamer out on Monday afternoon for practice, but she was not deemed to be in very good condition for a fire, and she was overhauled by G. L. Mair & Bro., and again taken out on Tuesday, when everything was found to be in good order. We trust it will not soon be required, however.

CLEARING SALES.—Intending purchasers will do well to read our advertising columns. T. Molloy and the Davis Bros. announce great sacrifices in their entire stock of goods for the next thirty days, everything being marked down to cost. Both of these firms have immense stocks, and they have concluded, though early in the season, to meet the demands of the times, and let the people have the benefit of their profits.

We direct attention to the advertisement of Samuel Huff & Sons in other columns. They have recently added new machinery to their premises.

It will be seen that the Dunkin By-Law is again to be tested in the Township of Ernestown. We have only space this week to refer to the advertisement, to be found in another column.

REMEMBER the Missionary Anniversaries in the U. Methodist Church here next Sunday and Monday evening. Rev. T. W. Jeffrey, so popular at Napanee, is expected to preach morning and evening on Sunday.

A BY-LAW raising the rate of tavern and shop licenses in Napanee to $300 a year, has been submitted by the Council for a vote of the people. The vote will take place on the 14th of February. See our report of the Council's proceedings on another page.

SCOTTISH VOCALISM.—Many sons of Auld Scotia in Napanee and vicinity will be pleased to learn that the Kennedy Family of Scottish Vocalists are to give an entertainment here on Monday evening, February 14th. There is probably no vocalists in Canada better known than the Kennedy's, and all who attend will enjoy the programme of "Twa Hours at Hame."

STILL INCREASING.—The business at the Brisco House is wonderfully increasing since it came under Mr. Soby's control. Already he has added large commercial sample rooms, and more are needed. This morning he informs us that he has seven Commercial Travellers and hardly knows where to find room for them.

Twenty suits, of Fine Clothing made to order will be sold at less than cost price at Slaven & Ironsides.

SELBY.—The first anniversary in connection with the new M. E. Church will be celebrated on Sunday, Feb. 13th. A sermon will be preached morning and evening by Bishop Carman. On Monday evening the annual tea meeting will be held, after which Bishop Carman will give his great lecture on "Trade and get rich." Mrs. Lane of Napanee and others will give splendid music.

The Missionary meetings in connection with the C. M. Church of the Selby circuit were held last week and were successful. The meeting at the new Selby Church on Thursday evening was unusually good, and the financial receipts in advance of last year. The meeting was addressed by Revs. A. Smith, W. Blackstock, and S. Might.

of Miss Churchill, that by unanimous request she was induced to remain over and give one more right. On Saturday evening a better audience, composed principally of the elite of the town, greeted her, as her fame had been spread around during the day by "dodgers" issued at the request, and signed by some of the leading persons present the first night. To say that Miss Churchill is a lady of very high culture is "drawing it very mildly." As a reader and delineator of the characters portrayed by the poets, she excels. It would be hard to particularize any of her selections, but her rendition of "Hiawatha" (famine scene), invests the piece with a grandness that few, even of accomplished readers, ever could find in it before. In this piece, as well as in "My Darling's Shoes," the reader displayed a great deal of emotion, not only bringing tears from many of her audience, but the crystal drops may be seen to course down her own cheek. In the piece "Widow Bedotte's Courtship," she had her audience convulsed in laughter, and the fine looking lady of a few minutes before could hardly be recognized as the shrivelled up "Widow Bedotte." We have no space to give any further remarks on her different pieces, but we unhesitatingly recommend Miss Churchill to our brethren of the press, and the public throughout the Dominion.

THE TRACT SOCIETY,

As an additional sign of progress we have to report this week the formation of a Napanee branch of the Upper Canada Religious Tract Society, in affiliation with the parent Tract Society of London, England. The Rev. Mr. Eastman preached in both of the Methodist Churches of the town, on Sabbath, and addressed a public meeting in the Methodist Episcopal Church on Monday evening. On the latter occasion the Rev. gentleman gave a lucid statement of the principles of the Society, and the mode of its operations; he gave an interesting description of some of the principle fields of its labors, and of the results which it had achieved, and he pointed out some of the advantages which might be expected to accrue from its operations in this place in furnishing suitable employment for persons connected with the several ed to be in very good condition for a fire, and she was overhauled by G. L. Mair & Bro., and again taken out on Tuesday, when everything was found to be in good order. We trust it will not soon be required, however.

CLEARING SALES.—Intending purchasers will do well to read our advertising columns. T. Molloy and the Davis Bros. announce great sacrifices in their entire stock of goods for the next thirty days, everything being marked down to cost. Both of these firms have immense stocks, and they have concluded, though early in the season, to meet the demands of the times, and let the people have the benefit of their profits.

WE direct attention to the advertisement of Samuel Huff & Sons in other columns. They have recently added new machinery to their premises, and are now turning out their work better and with greater despatch than ever before. They are displaying a great deal of enterprise, and deserve the patronage of the public. Their work wherever seen, speaks for itself. They will not be undersold, and their work will be found as good as the best.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.—Our friend Mitchell Nevell, Esq., and W. N. Harris, Esq., have been appointed Deputies by the Dominion Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry with power to organize granges wherever desired. Those desiring information or public lectures on the subject will do well to address them to Napanee P. O. They are both gentlemen of good standing and ability, and well able to present favorably the claims of the Order to the public.

LECTURES—A course of three lectures will be delivered in the Town Hall here, by the Rev. Mr. Marples, of Underwood controversy fame, on the evenings of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 25th, 26th and 27th instants. Subject, 1st night, "St. Patrick, and the introduction of Christianity into Ireland." 2nd night, "John Knox and the Reformation in Scotland." 3rd night, "Oliver Cromwell and the Commonwealth of England." Admission 10 Cents. Tickets for the whole course, 20c. To commence each evening at 8 o'clock.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.—A Grange was formed at Morven on the 22nd inst., which promises great efficiency. Officers—Master, Jacob Rombough; Overseer, Frederick Kaylor; Lecturer, Hiram Steward; Geo. Gordanier; room for them.

Twenty suits, of Fine Clothing made to order will be sold at less than cost price at Slaven & Ironsides.

SELBY.—The first anniversary in connection with the new M. E. Church will be celebrated on Sunday, Feb. 13th. A sermon will be preached morning and evening by Bishop Carman. On Monday evening the annual tea meeting will be held, after which Bishop Carman will give his great lecture on "Trade and get rich." Mrs. Lane of Napanee and others will give splendid music.

The Missionary meetings in connection with the C. M. Church of the Selby circuit were held last week and were successful. The meeting at the new Selby Church on Thursday evening was unusually good, and the financial receipts in advance of last year. The meeting was addressed by Revs. A. Smith, W. Blackstock, and S. Might.

NAPANEE MILLS.—We are glad to learn that the Social on Friday evening last at the new Napanee Mills Church was a very successful one. The handsome sum of $84 was raised by tickets and subscriptions. The Sunday services were well attended. The sermons were in the morning by Rev. W. S. Blackstock; in the afternoon by Rev. B. Lane, and in the evening by Rev. J. Fergusson. The congregation now boasts of one of the best Churches in the County.

The paper mills are now in full blast, day and night, and we are glad to learn that the paper is being sold as fast as made. Indeed we believe there are now orders for some tons of paper more than there is on hand. We are not aware that any mill of the kind in the Province is now turning out so good a quality of printing paper.

A SAD SPECTACLE.—There is now in the jail here an idiot boy by the name of Abrams, who has been an inmate for over a year. During that time he has taken fits, sometimes as many as eight a day. On Thursday last while standing near the stove in one of the corridors he fell upon it in a fit and had his face and hands burned in a frightful manner, making him one of the most hideous looking creatures we have ever seen. Is it not a pity that such cases are sent to the jail to be got rid of, while there are asylums for the idiotic and insane, and where the government have a large number of men and women employed who are annually drawing large salaries for the care of such persons?

A SENSATION.—On Saturday last

As an additional sign of progress we have to report this week the formation of a Napanee branch of the Upper Canada Religious Tract Society, in affiliation with the parent Tract Society of London, England. The Rev. Mr. Eastman preached in both of the Methodist Churches of the town, on Sabbath, and addressed a public meeting in the Methodist Episcopal Church on Monday evening. On the latter occasion the Rev. gentleman gave a lucid statement of the principles of the Society, and the mode of its operations; he gave an interesting description of some of the principle fields of its labors, and of the results which it had achieved, and he pointed out some of the advantages which might be expected to accrue from its operations in this place in furnishing suitable employment for persons connected with the several churches, who would otherwise be idle so far as church work is concerned, and in bringing religious influence to bear upon an outlying and neglected part of the community, scarcely touched by the ordinary operations of the churches. The result was the formation of a Branch Society, of which the following are the officers:—President, Charles Lane; vice President, A. C. Davis; Sec., J. McGee; Treasurer, M. Nevill. The committee is composed of a representative from each of the churches of the town as follows:—L. Gibson, Thomas Henry, Thomas Gibson, and R. J. Wright, together with the several Protestant ministers of the town.

THE DEAF MUTE EXHIBITION.

DR. PALMER'S VISIT.

The promised visit of Dr. Palmer, the Superintendent of the Provincial Deaf and Dumb Asylum, of Belleville, with a number of the unfortunate inmates of the Asylum, was made to Napanee on Tuesday, and his visit here will long be remembered with satisfaction. Seldom has any visit to our town created greater interest and more sympathy with the noble object. The desire of Dr. Palmer is to inform the general public of the manner in which the unfortunate "children of silence" are being taught and cared for in our Provincial Institution, and at the same time to secure the co-operation of all in giving the advantages of the institution to every child in the Province thus unfortunate. We may here state that while in Napanee Dr. Palmer ascertained the names of several children in this county, and steps are being taken

Those desiring information of public lectures on the subject will do well to address them to Napanee P. O. They are both gentlemen of good standing and ability, and well able to present favorably the claims of the Order to the public.

LECTURES—A course of three lectures will be delivered in the Town Hall here, by the Rev. Mr. Marples, of Underwood controversy fame, on the evenings of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 25th, 26th and 27th instants. Subject, 1st night, "St. Patrick, and the introduction of Christianity into Ireland." 2nd night, "John Knox and the Reformation in Scotland." 3rd night, "Oliver Cromwell and the Commonwealth of England." Admission 10 Cents. Tickets for the whole course, 20c. To commence each evening at 8 o'clock.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.—A Grange was formed at Morven on the 22nd inst., which promises great efficiency. Officers—Master, Jacob Rombough; Overseer, Frederick Kaylor; Lecturer, Hiram Amey; Steward, Geo. Gordanier; Asst. Steward, Jno. Davy; Lady Asst. Steward, Mrs. Keller; Chaplain, Silas Lake; Treasurer, Thilston Irish; Secretary, Wm. Ryerson Gordanier; Gate-keeper, Frederick McGuin; Ceres Mrs. Rombough; Pomona, Mrs. McGuin; Flora, Mrs. Amey; Name of Grange, Morven; P. O. Address, Morven; Organized by M. Neville, Esq., of Napanee.

All parties indebted to Slaven & Ironside will find it to their advantage to pay their accounts before the end of the month.

WIDE AWAKE for February is a very noticeable number of this rapidly-growing magazine for the children and young folks. The engravings are unusually fine. The magazine opens with an excellent picture by Miss C. A. Northam, illustrating a charming Valentine story by Mrs. Mary E. Bradley, "How They Made it Up." But the two distinguished features of WIDE AWAKE this month are the long letter in the "Poets' Homes" series, relative to Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, and the initial paper of the "Behaving" series. The latter is prepared by the author of "The Ugly Girl Papers." Dr. Tourjee's musical page contains a hint of infinite value to every person who teaches music to children. Only $2.00 per annum. D. Lothrop & Co., Boston.

day and night, and we are glad to learn that the paper is being sold as fast as made. Indeed we believe there are now orders for some tons of paper more than there is on hand. We are not aware that any mill of the kind in the Province is now turning out so good a quality of printing paper.

A SAD SPECTACLE.—There is now in the jail here an idiot boy by the name of Abrams, who has been an inmate for over a year. During that time he has taken fits, sometimes as many as eight a day. On Thursday last while standing near the stoye in one of the corridors he fell upon it in a fit and had his face and hands burned in a frightful manner, making him one of the most hideous looking creatures we have ever seen. Is it not a pity that such cases are sent to the jail to be got rid of, while there are asylums for the idiotic and insane, and where the government have a large number of men and women employed who are annually drawing large salaries for the care of such persons?

A SENSATION.—On Saturday last quite a sensation was created on our streets by a procession of youngsters trimmed up with flying colors, the foremost wearing a beaver hat and having a "collar" round his neck which almost extended to his feet, made of board, on which was pasted T. Molloy's great clearing sale bills. Following him came two others bearing an immense tin horn blown by a third, while the rear of the procession was brought up by "bell ringers" and others distributing bills. On the line of march, several horses became enchanted with the music and began to dance a reel, and one team we happened to see standing alone, dashed away at a lively gait, spilling the contents of their load along the street. Where they brought up we don't know. Tom may rely upon it, it was a capital advertisement, and if he does not have crowds flocking to his store this week it will not be his fault.

"AN HOUR WITH THE POETS".—On Friday evening last, Miss F. H. Churchill,—an American lady of some celebrity,—appeared at the Town Hall in the above entertainment. There was a very small audience present, as her entertainment had not been sufficiently announced, but so enraptured were those who did attend, with the reading

Henry, Thomas Gibson, and Mr. Wright, together with the several Protestant ministers of the town.

THE DEAF MUTE EXHIBITION.

DR. PALMER'S VISIT.

The promised visit of Dr. Palmer, the Superintendent of the Provincial Deaf and Dumb Asylum, of Belleville, with a number of the unfortunate inmates of the Asylum, was made to Napanee on Tuesday, and his visit here will long be remembered with satisfaction. Seldom has any visit to our town created greater interest and more sympathy with the noble object. The desire of Dr. Palmer is to inform the general public of the manner in which the unfortunate "children of silence" are being taught and cared for in our Provincial Institution, and at the same time to secure the co-operation of all in giving the advantages of the institution to every child in the Province thus unfortunate. We may here state that while in Napanee Dr. Palmer ascertained the names of several children in this county, and steps are being taken to get them to the Institution as soon as possible.

He was accompanied to Napanee by Prof. Green, of the Institute, and seven of the scholars, four of whom are from this County. They are Master William Johnson, of Napanee; John Coxall, of Napanee; Anson P. Vanluven, of Mervin; Hannah M. Barnhart, (an Indian girl, whose parents lived in Adolphustown;) Nellie Flight, of Toronto; Georgiana McCallum, of Toronto; and Wm. Kay of Stratford. In the afternoon the children of all the schools in town were invited to go to the Town Hall, and witness the proficiency of those scholars. The Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity by the interested little ones, who were delighted with what they saw. Dr. Palmer explained to them how, by showing an object, such as hat, or a key, to one of these children and writing its name on the black board, they first learned what its name was, and then they were taught what sign of the hand would represent each letter, and thus the Deaf and Dumb alphabet was taught them, and so by being taught to write, and the sign alphabet, they soon were able to communicate with others. They are then

TO CH HI COI Ha
DOW CLAR
ROGE
VANE
HUYC LAKE
TH is pro mun fair-s actual patien not se no me
ment
may
Dr. P who direct or ere only compl living under such benef
"Con which who busin reaso comp doub
"hon

taught to read and soon have the means of informing themselves and becoming intelligent.

In the evening it was announced that there would be a public entertainment in the Town Hall, but long before the time appointed the Hall was crowded, and as hundreds more were coming, it was announced that the Trustees of the large M. E. Church had kindly offered to throw it open for the evening. There was a rush for the church and a jam and press at the door such as we never before saw in Napanee.

Probably over one thousand persons found admission in the church, and numbers went away, either fearing that the building would give way, or because they could not find room at all.

Mayor Williams took the chair and Dr. Palmer again gave an exhibition of the method of teaching and the proficiency of the scholars, most of whom showed much intelligence, with an intimate knowledge of Scripture history, and of the current events of the country. Prof. Green, himself a deaf mute, gave some recitations, and renderings of the character of the Policeman, the Lawyer, the Doctor, and the politician, such as few words could add to the force of, much to the amusement of all present. His rendering of Christ stilling the tempest was very graphic and impressing.

The party remained in town until Wednesday evening, and were driven about to points of interest and every attention paid them by our citizens. They expressed themselves delighted with the visit here, and went home by the evening train.

We intend, in a future issue of the EXPRESS to give an illustration of the Asylum and a fuller article in regard to the extent and method of work. We are glad to say that Prof. Green has promised us a letter for next issue giving his impressions of Napanee and its people.

MARKET REPORT.

"EXPRESS" OFFICE.

Thursday, Jan. 27th, '76

There is no charge of whatever nature to note in the market for the past week. The attendance has continued poor, and prices remain the same. There is prospect, however, of better markets and better times in the future, now that snow has once more come. Already its enlivening influence is felt.

EPPE'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.
—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Eppe has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."
—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in Packets labelled—"JAMES EPPE & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle Street, and 160, Piccadilly London." 43

READ THIS.

The subscriber has nine First-Class Colts for sale. Six of them four years old, and three, three years old. One pair four years old, matched; color, Black. Breed—Tippo and Wild Deer. One four years old Brown Grey, Tippo and French. One Rattler, Bay, four years old; one Brown, aged four, Tippo and Black Lock. Will sell one or more, to suit purchaser, and will offer them cheap. Remember, the man to buy from, is the "man that wants to sell."

FRED. MEMBRY.

Adolphustown Village, Jan. 28th 1876.

PROHIBITION.

The undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Municipality of the Township of Ernestown, hereby require that a Poll be taken, in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality will adopt, under the authority and for the enforcement of the Act, the By-Law following, which we hereby propose for their adoption, to wit:

The sale of Intoxicating Liquors, and the issuing of License therefor, is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Corporation of the Township of Ernestown, under authority and for the enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hands, this 21st day of January, in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy Six. Duly signed by J. R. Fraser, and 34 others.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is therefore, hereby given, to the aforesaid Electors, that a Meeting will be held to poll the votes of the Municipal Electors of the Corporation of the Township of Ernestown, for the adoption or rejection of the aforesaid By-Law, at the Drill Shed in Odessa, on Friday the 25th day of Feb. next,

at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and will be continued on Saturday and the following Monday, if required, as the Law directs.

Dated this 26th Day of January, 1876.

ROBERT AYLSWORTH.

Township Clerk.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Township of Kennebec hereby require that a poll be taken in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality, under authority and for enforcement of the said Act, the By-Law following, which we propose for adoption, to wit:—The sale of intoxicating liquors, and the issuing of licenses therefor is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Municipality of Kennebec, under authority and for enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hand the 3rd day January, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy Six.

James Kelley
W. B. Mills
Robert Paul
George Woodcock

Shadrach Wage
Gilbert Thompson
Daniel Wagon
George W. Wood

HARD TIMES.

On account of the hard times, we have decided to fix our prices to meet the times,

"FOR CASH ONLY."

Always on hand a complete stock of

DRUGS,

PAINTS,

OILS,

PATENT MEDICINES,

DYE-STUFFS,

SCHOOL BOOKS,

And in fact everything usually found in a

FIRST-CLASS DRUG STORE,

which will be sold at the lowest possible prices

FOR CASH.

Thanking you for past favors, we remain

Yours &c.,

J. C. HUFFMAN & SON.

Napanee, Jan. 25th/1876.

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS.

Messrs. Perry & Joy beg leave to announce to the public that their Saw Mill is now running, and they are prepared to do any amount of Custom Sawing, or on Shares, on the shortest notice. Farmers bring along your logs.

PERRY & JOY.

Napanee, Jan. 19, 1876.

45-3 mos.

HOUSE TO LET.

A Comfortable Roughcast House, between Graham and Isabella street, near the residence of A. McNeil, Esq. Rent moderate. Apply to

ROBERT EASTON.

45-2in

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address.

Rev. E. A. WILSON.

194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, New York.

45-6 in.

IN THE QUEENS BENCH.

THE DOMINION CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT, 1874.

Election of a Member for the House

attention paid them by our citizens. They expressed themselves delighted with the visit here, and went home by the evening train.

We intend, in a future issue of the Express to give an illustration of the Asylum and a fuller article in regard to the extent and method of work. We are glad to say that Prof. Green has promised us a letter for next issue giving his impressions of Napanee and its people.

MARKET REPORT.

"EXPRESS" OFFICE.

Thursday, Jan. 27th, '76

There is no change of whatever nature to note in the market for the past week. The attendance has continued poor, and prices remain the same. There is prospect, however, of better markets and better times in the future, now that snow has once more come. Already its enlivening influence is felt. The following is the price list:—

Wheat—95c to $1.00.
Barley—60 to 62c No. 1, 50 to 55c No. 2.
Oats—32c.
Rye—50c
Peas—70c.
Buckwheat.—50c.
Eggs—17c to 18c. per dozen.
Butter—18c to 20c per lb.
Cheese—10c to 11c.
Onions—$1.00 per bushel.
Potatoes—50 to 70c per bag.
Dressed Hogs—$6.50 to $7.50.
Mutton—6c to 7c per pound.
Beef, $4 to $6 per 100.
Geese—50c to 60c each, or 6c per lb
Turkeys—50c to $1.00.
Chickens—25c to 30c per pair.
Hides.—$5.50 to 6.00.
Cordwood —$3 for best.
Hay—$10 to 11 per ton.

MARRIED.

DOWNEY—PENNYCOOK.—At the residence of the bride, on Wednesday, 26th inst., by the Rev. J. J. Bogert, Mr. John Downey to Miss Jeanette Pennycook, both of Napanee.

CLARK—FRASER.—On the 24th at the residence of the Brides father by Rev. B. Lane, Mr. John Clark Fraser, of North port, son of Mr. Daniel Fraser, to Miss Sarah Jane Bell of Ernesttown.

DIED.

ROGERS.—Very suddenly, at Bath. on the 20th inst. Samuel Rogers Esq., aged 68 years. Mr. Rogers was one of the oldest and most successful business men in the County and was very widely known and respected.

VANEST.—At Morven on the 20th inst., Mr. John Vanest aged 97 years. He was one of the veterans of 1812 who received his pension at Nap-

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is therefore, hereby given to the aforesaid Electors, that a Meeting will be held to poll the votes of the Municipal Electors of the Corporation of the Township of Ernesttown, for the adoption or rejection of the aforesaid By-Law, at the Drill Shed in Odessa, on Friday the 25th day of Feb. next,

at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and will be continued on Saturday and the following Monday, if required, as the Law directs.

Dated this 26th Day of January, 1876.

ROBERT AYLSWORTH.

Township Clerk.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Township of Kennebec, hereby require that a poll be taken in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality, under authority and for enforcement of the said Act, the By-Law following, which we propose for adoption, to wit:—The sale of intoxicating liquors, and the issuing of licenses therefor is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Municipality of Kennebec, under authority and for enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hand the 3rd day January, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-Six.

James Kelley
W. B. Mills
Robert Paul
George Woodcock
Richard Newton
Andrew Boomhower
James Williams
Jacob W. Kellar
Elias Wood
William B. Perry
David Wood
Samuel Fuller
W. W. Prindle
Scovel Schoolcraft
George W. Clark
William Peterson
Henry Baker
Joseph Shandee
Baptist Shandee
Levi Kellar

Shadrach Wage
Gilbert Thompson
Daniel Waser
George W. Wood
George Monds
Phillip Baker
C. C. Baker
Edwin Jenkins
Walter Boomhower
Gilbert Boomhower
Nelson Walker
George Miller
Isaiah Thompson
George N. Parks
John Pearson
Andrew Lovst
William Wood
Charles Kellar
Anson Clark
Samuel Baker

NOTICE.

At the Town Hall Arden, on Friday February 18th, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, a meeting of the Municipal Electors of the Municipality of Kennebec, will be held for the taking of the poll to decide whether or not the By-Law is adopted by the Electors.

THOS. YOUNG, S.
Township Clerk.
44 in.

Arden, Jan. 15th 1876.

WANTED.

A general servant for household work.

Apply to
Mrs. T. W. Cairns.
Dundas St. West.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

For Sale by Tender.

Tenders will be received by the undersigned until Tuesday the eighth day of February next, for the purchase of 1 Shingle Machinery, Belting and other appliances belonging thereto, the property of the above Insolvent, and also for the purchase at so much per cord of about 500 cords of cedar shingle bolts, which are situated and lying as follows:—

About 250 Cords at Lime Lake.
" 75 " Crovden.
" 175 " at the Shingle Mill, which contains the above machinery, adjacent to Vador's Mills.

The cedar will be sold either in one lot, or in separate lots to suit purchasers. The Lease of the Mill and premises will be sold by Public Auction, and the purchaser will have an opportunity of purchasing it. The Mill is situated on the Salmon River, about nine miles from Napanee, is driven by water power, and affords a first-class opportunity to any party wishing to engage in that branch of manufacture.

The lowest nor any tender not necessarily accepted.

Full particulars respecting the property may be obtained on application to the undersigned.

W. F. HALL.

Assessee.

A Comfortable Roughcast House, between Graham and Isabella street, near the residence of A. McNeil, Esq. Rent moderate. Apply to
ROBERT EASTON.
45-2in

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address.

Rev. E. A. WILSON.

194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, New York.
45-6 in.

IN THE QUEENS BENCH.

THE DOMINION CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS ACT, 1874.

Election of a Member for the House of Commons, for the Electoral District of the County of Addington.

Dominion of Canada,) Election Pe-PROVINCE OF ONTARIO,) titution of David
TO WIT: James Wag-
goner, against the Election of Schuyler
Shibley.

Take notice that the above will be tried at

THE COURT HOUSE.

IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE,

On Tuesday, the Eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1876.

and on such other subsequent days as may be needful.

Dated the Twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1875.

By Order.

ROBERT J. DALTON.

Clerk of the C. & P. Q. B.

POSTPONEMENT.

Trial of the above petition is postponed until

Wednesday the Second day of February A. D. 1876.

At noon.

By Order of Judges.

ROBERT J. DALTON.

EXTENSIVE FARM FOR SALE.

Lots 3 and 4, 3rd Concession of Sheffield, containing in all 300 Acres of Land, 200 of which are in the very best state of cultivation, is offered for sale by the undersigned, as he is unable longer to work his farm. The property is situated within three miles of Tamworth, and is bounded on the north by White Lake, and is one of the best grain producing farms in the township. There are 175 Acres of best quality of wood.

There is a Frame House and three barns on the place, a splendid orchard,

Beef, $4 to $6 per 100.
 Cattle—50c to 60c each, or 6c per lb
 Turkeys—50c to $1.00.
 Chickens—25c to 30c per pair.
 Hides.—$5.50 to 6.00.
 Cordwood —$3 for best.
 Hay—$10 to 11 per ton.

MARRIED.

DOWNEY—PENNYCOOK.—At the residence of the bride, on Wednesday, 26th inst., by the Rev. J. J. Bogert, Mr. John Downey to Miss Jeanette Pennycook, both of Napanee.

CLARK—FRASER.—On the 24th at the residence of the Brides father by Rev. B. Lane, Mr. John Clark Fraser, of North port, son of Mr. Daniel Fraser, to Miss Sarah Jane Bell of Ernesttown.

DIED.

ROGERS.—Very suddenly, at Bath, on the 20th inst. Samuel Rogers Esq., aged 68 years. Mr. Rogers was one of the oldest and most successful business men in the County and was very widely known and respected.

VANEST.—At Morven on the 20th inst., Mr. John Vanest aged 97 years. He was one of the veterans of 1812 who received his pension at Napanee last autumn.

HUYCK.—At the residence of Mr. Paul Howell of North Fredericksburgh, Mrs. Jemima Huyck, aged 92 years. She was one of the oldest inhabitants of Adolphustown.

LAKE.—At Morven on the 25th inst Marget Lake, relict of the late James Lake. Aged 87 years.

THE SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN.—There is probably no man to whom the community owe so much as to the honest, fair-spoken physician, who does his actual duty both to himself and to his patients. Really skilful physicians are not so numerous that their virtues need no mention, and hence the advertisement of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, may well claim the reader's attention. Dr. Pierce is a type of a class of men who obtain success by careful and well-directed effort, not attempting too much, or creating false ideas as to ability. The only reliable physician in these days of complicated disorders and high-pressure living is the "Specialist," the man who understands his one branch of business, such in his line is Dr. Pierce. For the benefit of his readers he has written a "Common Sense Medical Adviser," which is well worth reading by those who need such a work. With strict business honor, high professional skill, reasonable fees, and a large corps of competent assistants, Dr. Pierce will doubtless make his name familiar as "household words."—St. Louis Globe.

noon, a meeting of the Municipal Electors of the Municipality of Kennebec, will be held for the taking the poll to decide whether or not the By-Law is adopted by the Electors.

THOS. YOUNG, Townshipp Clerk.

Arden, Jan. 17th 1876.

WANTED.

A general servant for household work.

Apply to
 Mrs. T. W. Casev.
 Dundas St. West.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

For Sale by Tender.

Tenders will be received by the undersigned until Tuesday the eighth day of February next, for the purchase of the Shingle Machinery, Belting and other appurtenances belonging thereto, the property of the above Insolvent, and also for the purchase at so much per cord of about 500 cords of cedar shingle bolts which are situated and lying as follows:—

About 250 Cords at Lime Lake.

" 75 " Crowden.

" 175 " at the Shingle Mill, which contains the above machinery, adjacent to Vaders Mills.

The cedar will be sold either in one lot, or in separate lots to suit purchasers. The Lease of the Mill and premises will be sold by Public Auction, and the purchaser will have an opportunity of purchasing it. The Mill is situated on the Salmon River, about nine miles from Napanee, is driven by water power, and affords a first-class opportunity to any party wishing to engage in that branch of manufacture.

The lowest nor any tender not necessarily accepted.

Full particulars respecting the property may be obtained on application to the undersigned.

W. F. HALL.

Assignee.

Napanee, Jan. 26th, 1876.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that under the authority of an order made in this matter, by William Henry Wilkison, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the County of Lennox & Addington, dated January 25th, 1876, I will offer for sale at Public Auction, at my office on East street, in the town of Napanee, on Wednesday the twenty-third day of February next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all the rights of the above named Insolvent, in the frame shingle mill, and four acres of land thereto attached, situate on Lot number seven, in the eighth concession of the township of Richmond, in the said County of Lennox and Addington, north of Salmon River, held by the said Insolvent, under a lease thereof from one William Vader bearing date December 8th, 1874, to him, the said Insolvent, for the term of five or ten years from the first day of February, A. D. 1875, at an annual tender of $100. The lease includes water privilege for running the said mill, together with the use of water wheel, and shafting, also a good frame dwelling house erected by the Insolvent at his own expense. The above property is adjacent to Vaders Mills, and affords excellent facilities for the manufacture of shingles.

The above lease may be inspected, and all further particulars obtained on application to me at my office in Napanee.

Dated at Napanee, January 26th, 1876.

W. F. HALL.

Assignee of the above Insolvent.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence.

JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.

and on such other subsequent days as may be needful.

Dated the Twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1875.

By Order.

ROBERT J. DALTON.

Clerk of the C. & P. Q. B.

POSTPONEMENT.

Trial of the above petition is postponed until

Wednesday the Second day of February A. D. 1876.

At noon.

By Order of Judges.

ROBERT J. DALTON.

EXTENSIVE FARM FOR SALE.

Lots 3 and 4, 3rd Concession of Sheffield, containing in all 300 Acres of Land, 200 of which are in the very best state of cultivation, is offered for sale by the undersigned, as he is unable longer to work his farm. The property is situated within three miles of Tamworth, and is bounded on the north by White Lake, and is one of the best grain producing farms in the township. There are 175 Acres of best quality of wood.

There is a Frame House and three barns on the place, a splendid orchard, wherein the best of fruit is raised, and a never failing supply of water.

In addition to the above, I will sell the entire stock on the premises, consisting of 10 Cows, 3 span of Horses, two span of which are blood, 20 sheep, 10 hogs, best quality, as well as all the farming implements on the place, such as plows, drags, cultivators, threshing machine, reaper and mower, roller, waggons, sleighs, cutters, buggies, and other things too numerous to mention.

Will sell the whole for $11,000. Terms, one half down, balance yearly payments.

For further information enquire of Wm. Miller, or T. W. Casev.

WM. WEST.

STOLEN.

From the premises of the undersigned, Lot 3d, 2d Con. Sheffield, on the night of Thursday, 12th inst., a Dark Bay Blood Mare, fair size, four years old. Has black Main, natural plat, and Black Feet up to knees; white star on forehead. Any person giving such information as will lead to the recovery of the beast will be handsomely rewarded.

WM. WEST, Sr.

BOARDERS

A few respectable boarders can be comfortably entertained at reasonable rates, in West Napanee.

Apply to
MRS. BENNETT,

Literature.

RELEASE.

If one had watched a prisoner many a year,
Standing behind a barred window-pane,
Fettered with heavy handcuff and with chain,
And gazing on the blue sky, far and clear;
And suddenly some morning he should hear
The man had in the night contrived to gain
His freedom and was safe, would this bring pain?

Ah! would it not to duldest heart appear
Good tidings?

Yesterday I looked on one
Who lay as if asleep in perfect peace.
His long imprisonment for life was done.
Eternity's great freedom his release Had brought. Yet they who loved him called him dead,
And wept, refusing to be comforted.
—N. Y. Independent.

We and Our Neighbors.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
ETC., ETC.,

"Mrs. Wouwermans, you are not my mistress, and this is not your house; and I am not going to answer to you, but Mrs. Henderson, about my matters."

"Mary, don't you speak to me in that way," said Mrs. Wouwermans, drawing herself up.

"I shall speak in just that way to anybody who comes meddling with what they have no business with. If you was my mistress, I'd tell you to suit yourself to a better girl; and I shall ask Mrs. Henderson if I am to be over-looked in this way. No lady would ever do it," said Mary, with a hot emphasis on the word lady, and tears of rath in her eyes.

"There's no use in being impertinent, Mary," said Mrs. Wouwermans, with stately superiority, as she turned and sailed up stairs, leaving Mary in a temper of important anger.

Just about this time Eva returned from her walk with a basket full of cut flowers, and came singing into the kitchen and began arranging flower vases; not having looked into the parlour on her way, she did not detect the traces of Aunt Maria's presence.

"Well, Mary," she called, in her usual cheerful tone, "come and look at my flowers."

But Mary came not, although Eva perceived her with her back turned in the parlour.

"I never pet servants," said Mrs. Wouwermans, briefly. "Depend on it, Eva, when you've lived as long as I have, you'll find it isn't the way. It makes them presumptuous and exacting. Why, as to the air, it's mostly due to Mary's perfect neatness and carefulness. I'm sorry to say you wouldn't always find my room as trimly arranged as hers, for I am a sad hand to throw things about when I am in a hurry. I love order, but I like somebody else to keep it."

"I'm afraid," said Aunt Maria, returning with persistence to her subject. "that you are beginning wrong with Mary, and you'll have trouble in the end. Now I saw she had white sugar in the kitchen sugar-bowl, and there was the tea caddy for her to go to. It's abominable to have servants feel that they must use such tea as we do."

"Oh, well, aunty, you know Mary has been in the family so long I don't feel as if she were a servant; she seems like a friend, and I treat her like one. I believe Mary really loves us."

"It don't do to mix sentiment and business," said Aunt Maria, with sententious emphasis. "I never do. I don't want my servants to love me—that is not what I have them for. I want them to do my work, and take their wages. They understand that there are to be no favors—everything is specifically set down in the bargain I make with them; their work is all marked out. I never talk with them, or encourage them to talk to me, and that is the way we get along."

"Dear me, Aunt Maria, that may be very well for such an energetic, capable housekeeper as you are, who always know exactly how to manage, but such a poor little thing as I am can't set up in that way. Now I think it's a great mercy and savour to have a trained girl that knows more about how to get on than I do, and that is fond of me. Why, I know rich people that would be only too glad to give Mary double what we give, just to have somebody to depend on."

"But, Eva, child, you're beginning wrong—you ought not to leave things to Mary as you do. You ought to attend to everything yourself. I always do."

"But you see, aunty, the case is among the notables, and, with due care and thought and economy, a person with your air and style, and your taste, can appear as well as anybody. I came down here, among other things, to look over your dresses, and see what can be done with them."

"Oh, thank you a thousand times, aunty, dear, but what do you think all my little wedding finery would do for me in an assemblage of Worth's spick-and-span new toilettes? In our own little social circle I am quite a leader of the mode, but I should look like an old last night's bouquet among all their fresh finery!"

"Well, now, Eva, child, you talk of economy and all that, and then go spending on knick-knacks and mere fancies what would enable you to make a very creditable figure in society."

"Really, aunty, is it possible now, when I thought we were being so prudent?"

"Well, there's your wood fire, for instance; very cheerful, I admit, but it's a downright piece of extravagance. I know that the very richest and most elegant people, that have everything they can think of, have fallen back on the fancy of having open wood fires in their parlours, just for a sort of ornament to their rooms, but you don't really need it—your furnace keeps you warm enough."

"But, aunty, it looks so bright and cheerful, and Harry is so fond of it! We only have it evenings, when he comes home tired, and he says the very sight of it rests him."

"There you go, new Eva—with wood at fifteen dollars a cord!—going in for a mere luxury just because it pleases your fancy, and you can't go into society because it's so expensive. Eva, child, that's just like you. And there are twenty other little things that I see about here," said Aunt Maria, glancing round, "pretty enough, but each costs a little. There for instance, those cut flowers in the vases cost something."

"But, aunty, I got them of a poor little man just setting up a green-house, and Harry and I have made up our minds that it's our duty to patronize him. I am going up to Sophie's to get her to take flowers for her parties of him."

"It's well enough to get Sophie to do it, but you oughtn't to afford it," said Aunt Maria: "nor need you buy stately superiority, as she turned and sailed up stairs, leaving Mary in a tempest of important anger.

Just about this time Eva returned from her walk with a basket full of cut flowers, and came singing into the kitchen and began arranging flower vases; not having looked into the parlour on her way, she did not detect the traces of Aunt Maria's presence.

"Well, Mary," she called, in her usual cheerful tone, "come and look at my flowers."

But Mary came not, although Eva perceived her with her back turned in the pantry.

"Why, Mary, what is the matter?" said Eva, following her there and seeing her crying. "Why, you dear soul, what has happened? Are you sick?"

"Your Aunt Maria has been here."

"Oh, the horrors, Mary. Poor Aunt Maria! you mustn't mind a word she says. Don't worry, now—don't—you know Aunt Maria is always saying things to us girls, but we don't mind it, you mustn't; we know she means well, and we just let it pass for what it's worth."

"Yes; you are young ladies, and I am only a poor woman, and it comes hard on me. She's been round looking into every crack and corner, and picked up those old cabbage leaves, and talked to me about keeping a cellar that would give you all a fever—it's too bad. You know yesterday I hurried and cut up that cabbage to help make out the dinner when those gentlemen came in and we had only the cold mutton, and I was going to clear them away this very morning."

"I know it, Mary; and you do the impossible for us all twenty times a day, if you did drop cabbage leaves once; and Aunt Maria has no business to be poking about my house and prying into our management; but, you see, Mary, she's my aunt, and I can't quarrel with her. I'm sorry, but we must just bear it as well as we can—promise not to mind it—for my sake."

"Well, for your sake, Miss Eva," said Marry wiping her eyes.

"You know we all think you are a perfect jewel, Mary, and couldn't get along a minute without you. As to Aunt Maria, she's old, and set in her way, and the best way is not to mind her."

And Mary was consoled, and went on her way with courage, and with about as much charity for Mrs. Wou-vermans as an average good Christian under equal provocation.

but such a poor little thing as I am can't set up in that way. Now I think it's a great mercy and savour to have a trained girl that knows more about how to get on than I do, and that is fond of me. Why, I know rich people that would be only too glad to give Mary double what we give, just to have somebody to depend on."

"But, Eva, child, you're beginning wrong—you ought not to leave things to Mary as you do. You ought to attend to everything yourself. I always do."

"But you see, aunt, the case is very different with you and me. You are so capable and smart, and know so exactly how everything ought to be done, you can make your own terms with everybody. And, now I think of it, how lucky that you came in! I want you to give me your judgment as to two pieces of linen that I've just had sent in. You know, aunt, I am such a perfect ignoramus about these matters."

And Eva tripped up stairs, congratulating herself on turning the subject, and putting her aunt's busy advising faculties to some harmless and innocent use. So, when she came down with her two pieces of linen, Aunt Maria tested and pulled them this way and that, in the approved style of a domestic expert, and gave judgment at last with an authoritative air.

"This is the best, Eva—you see it has a round thread, and very little dressing."

"And why is the round thread best, aunt?"

"Oh, because it always is—everybody knows that, child; all good judges will tell you to buy the round threaded linen, that's perfectly understood."

Eva did not pursue the inquiry farther, and we must all confess that Mrs. Wou-vermans' reply was about as satisfactory as those one gets to most philosophical inquiries as to why and wherefore. If our reader doubts that, let him listen to the course of modern arguments on some of the most profound problems; so far as can be seen, they consist of inflections of Aunt Maria's style of statement—as, "Oh, of course everybody knows that now," or, negatively, "Oh, nobody believes that, now-a-days." Surely, a mode of argument which very wise persons apply fearlessly to subjects like death, judgment and eternity, may answer for a piece of linen.

"Why, by-the-by, Eva, I see you are twenty other little things that I see about here," said Aunt Maria, glancing round, "pretty enough, but each costs a little. There for instance, those cut flowers in the vases cost something."

"But, aunt, I got them of a poor little man just setting up a green-house, and Harry and I have made up our minds that it's our duty to patronize him. I am going up to Sophie's to get her to take flowers for her parties of him."

"It's well enough to get Sophie to do it, but you oughtn't to afford it," said Aunt Maria; "nor need you buy a new matting and pictures for your servant's room."

"Oh, aunt, mattings are so cheap; and those pictures didn't cost much, and they make Mary so happy!"

"Oh, she'd be happy enough any way. You ought to look out a little for yourself, child."

"Well, I do. Now, just look at the expense of going to parties. To begin with, it annihilates all your dresses, at one fell swoop. If I make up my mind, for instance, not to go to parties this winter, I have dresses enough and pretty enough for all my occasions. The minute I decide I must go, I have nothing, absolutely nothing to wear. There must be an immediate outlay. A hundred dollars would be a small estimate for all the additions necessary to make me appear with credit. Even if I take my old dresses as the foundation, and use my unparalleled good taste, there are trimmings, and dress-maker's bills, and gloves, and slippers, and fifty things; and then a carriage for the evening, at five dollars a night, and all for what? What does anybody get at a great buzzing party, to pay for all this? Then Harry has to use all his time, and all his nerves, and all his strength on his work. He is driven hard all the time with writing, making up the paper, and overseeing at the office. And you know parties don't begin till near ten o'clock, and if he is out till twelve he doesn't rest well, nor I either—it's just so much taken out of our life—and we don't either of us enjoy it. Now, why should we put out our wood-fire that we do enjoy, and scrimp in our flowers, and scrimp in our home comforts, and in our servant's comforts, just to get what we don't want after all?"

"Oh, well, I suppose you are like other new married folks, you want to play Darby and Joan in your chimney-corner," said Aunt Maria, "but, for all that, I think there are duties to soci-

"Yes; you are young ladies, and I am only a poor woman, and it comes hard on me. She's been round looking into every crack and corner, and picked up those old cabbage leaves, and talked to me about keeping a cellar that would give you all a fever—it's too bad. You know yesterday I hurried and cut up that cabbage to help make out the dinner when those gentlemen came in and we had only the cold mutton, and I was going to clear them away this very morning."

"I know it, Mary; and you do the impossible for us all twenty times a day, if you did drop cabbage leaves once; and Aunt Maria has no business to be poking about my house and prying into our management; but, you see, Mary, she's my aunt, and I can't quarrel with her. I'm sorry, but we must just bear it as well as we can—promise not to mind it—for my sake."

"Well, for your sake, Miss Eva," said Mary wiping her eyes.

"You know we all think you are a perfect jewel, Mary, and couldn't get along a minute without you. As to Aunt Maria, she's old, and set in her way, and the best way is not to mind her."

And Mary was consoled, and went on her way with courage, and with about as much charity for Mrs. Wou-vernans as an average good Christian under equal provocation.

Eva went on singing and making up her vases, and carried them into the parlour, and was absorbed in managing their respective positions, when Aunt Maria came down from her tour in the chambers.

"Seems to me, Eva, that your hired girl's room is furnished up for a princess," she began, after the morning greetings had been exchanged.

"What, Mary's? Well, Mary has a great deal of neatness and taste, and always took particular pride in her room when she lived at mamma's, and so, I have arranged hers with special care. Harry got her those pictures of the Madonna and infant Jesus, and I gave the penitier for holy water, over her bed. We matted the floor nicely, and I made that toilet table, and draped her looking-glass out of an old muslin dress of mine. The pleasure Mary takes in it all makes it really worth while to gratify her."

and putting her aunt's busy advising faculties to some harmless and innocent use. So, when she came down with her two pieces of linen, Aunt Maria tested and pulled them this way and that, in the approved style of a domestic expert, and gave judgment at last with an authoritative air.

"This is the best, Eva—you see it has a round thread, and very little dressing."

"And why is the round thread best, aunty?"

"Oh, because it always is—everybody knows that, child; all good judges will tell you to buy the round threaded linen, that's perfectly understood."

Eva did not pursue the inquiry farther, and we must all confess that Mrs. Wouvernans' reply was about as satisfactory as those one gets to most philosophical inquiries as to why and wherefore. If our reader doubts that, let him listen to the course of modern arguments on some of the most profound problems; so far as can be seen, they consist of inflections of Aunt Maria's style of statement—as, "Oh, of course everybody knows that now," or, negatively, "Oh, nobody believes that, now-a-days." Surely, a mode of argument which very wise persons apply fearlessly to subjects like death, judgment and eternity, may answer for a piece of linen.

"Why, by-the-by, Eva, I see you have cards there for Mrs. Wat Sydney's receptions this winter," said Aunt Maria, turning her attention to the card plate. "They are going to be very brilliant, I'm told. They say nothing like their new house is to be seen in this country."

"Yes," said Eva, "Sophie has been down here urging me to come up and see her rooms, and says they depend on me for their receptions, and I'm going up some day to lunch with her, in a quiet way; but Harry and I have about made up our minds that we shan't go to parties. You know, auntie, we are going in for economy, and this sort of thing costs so much."

"But, bless your soul, child, what is money for?" said Aunt Maria, innocently. If you have any thing you ought to improve your advantages of getting on in society. It's important to Harry in his profession to be seen and heard of, and to push his way for instance, not to go down stairs in winter, I have dresses enough and pretty enough for all my occasions. The minute I decide I must go, I have nothing, absolutely nothing to wear. There must be an immediate outlay. A hundred dollars would be a small estimate for all the additions necessary to make me appear with credit. Even if I take my old dresses as the foundation, and use my unparalleled good taste, there are trimmings, and dress-maker's bills, and gloves, and slippers, and fifty things; and then a carriage for the evening, at five dollars a night, and all for what? What does anybody get at a great buzzing party, to pay for all this? Then Harry has to use all his time, and all his nerves, and all his strength on his work. He is driven hard all the time with writing, making up the paper, and overseeing at the office. And you know parties don't begin till near ten o'clock, and if he is out till twelve he doesn't rest well, nor I either—it's just so much taken out of our life—and we don't either of us enjoy it. Now, why should we put out our wood fire that we do enjoy, and scrimp in our flowers, and scrimp in our home comforts, and in our servant's comforts, just to get what we don't want after all?"

"Oh, well, I suppose you are like other new married folks, you want to play Darby and Joan in your chimney-corner," said Aunt Maria, "but, for all that, I think there are duties to society. One cannot go out of the world, you know; it don't do, Eva."

"I don't know about that," said Eva. "We are going to try it."

"What! living without society?"

"Oh, as to that, we shall see our friends other ways. I can see Sophie a great deal better in a quiet morning-call than an evening reception; for the fact is, whoever else you see at a party you don't see your hostess—she hasn't a word for you. Then, I'm going to have an evening here."

"You an evening?"

"Why, who do you propose to invite?"

"Oh, all our folks, and Bolton and Jim Fellows; then there are a good many interesting, intelligent men that write for the magazine, and, besides, our acquaintances on this street."

"In this street? Why their isn't a creature here," said Aunt Maria.

how or how, I way; —I ne Eva, t backs can be find th Now, t telling duty to business got a g spectab reason two or the ot again Nelly w If I wer set him Nelly is She was she ev family v things t but a wi it."

"Poor, But ar that her to papa Papa is quiet Then, a deal of and ent you kno business seems to are up e tomorrow these ti best."

"But, the girls society—out of it all their and that thing o Alice an saying ought to

"Oh, world i have a has sho family. confusio us hear care rson your ody,

ings,
see mes,
k all
for pick-own ader te an their

"Yes, there are those old ladies across the way."

"What? old Miss Dorcas Vanderheyden and that Mrs. Benthussen? Well, they belong to an ancient New York family, to be sure; but they are old as Mathusaleh."

"So much the better, aunty. Old things, you know, are all the rage just now; and then their's my little Quaker neighbor."

"Why, how odd! They are nice enough, I suppose, and well enough to have neighbors; but he's nothing but a watchmaker. He actually works for Tiffany!"

"Yes; but he is a very modest, intelligent young man, and very well informed on certain subjects. Harry says he has learned a great deal from him."

"Well, well, child, I suppose you must take your own way," said Aunt Maria.

"I suppose we must," said Eva, shaking her head with much gravity. "You see, aunty, dear, a wife must accommodate herself to her husband, and if Harry thinks this is the best way, you know—and he does think so, very strongly—and isn't it lucky that I think just as he does? You wouldn't have me fall in with those strong-minded Bloomer women, would you, and sail the ship on my own account, independently of my husband?"

Now, the merest allusion to modern strong-mindedness in woman was to Aunt Maria like a red rag to a bull; it aroused all her combativeness.

"No; I am sure I wouldn't," she said with emphasis. "If there's anything, Eva, where I see the use of all my instructions to you, it is the good sense with which you resist all such new-fangled, abominable notions about rights and sphere of woman. No; I've always said that the head of the woman is the man; and it's a wife's duty to live to please her husband. She may try to influence him—she ought to do that—but she never ought to do it openly. I never used to oppose Mr. Wouwermans. I was always careful to let him suppose he was having his own way; but I generally managed to get mine," and Aunt Maria plumed herself and nodded archly, as an aged priestess who is communicating to a young neophyte secrets of wisdom.

—and we all like him. Alice likes him, and I don't wonder at it."

"Well, are they engaged?" said Aunt Maria, with an air of statistical accuracy.

"How should I know? I never thought of asking. I'm not a police detective, and I always think that if my friends have anything they want me to know, they'll tell me; and if they don't want me to know, why should I ask them?"

"Dear me, aunty; how you excite my curiosity. Pray who is it?" said Eva.

"Well, I'm not at liberty to tell you more particularly; but I knew he's thinking about her; and this report about her and Jim would operate very prejudicially. Now shall I have a talk with Alice, or will you?"

"Oh, aunty dear, don't, for pity's sake, say a word to Alice. Young girls are so sensitive about such things. If it must be talked of, let me talk with Alice."

"I really thought, if I had a good chance, I'd say something to the young man himself," said Aunt Maria, reflectively.

"Oh, good heavens! aunty, don't think of it. You don't know Jim Fellows."

"But Jim is the most peculiar—"

"Oh, I know all about him. Do you suppose I've seen him in and out in the family all this time without understanding him perfectly?"

"But I don't really think that there is the least of anything serious between him and Alice."

"Very likely. He would not be at all a desirable match for Alice. He has very little property, and is rather a wild, rattling fellow; and I don't like newspaper men generally."

"Oh, aunty, that's severe now. You forgot Harry."

"Oh, well, your husband is an exception; but, as a general rule, I don't like 'em—unprincipled lot I believe," said Aunt Maria, with a decisive nod of her head. "At any rate, Alice can do better, and she ought to."

The ringing of the lunch bell interrupted the conversation, much to the relief of Eva, who discovered with real alarm the course her represented relative's thoughts were taking.

Of old she had learned that the only

"That's because you let them have their own way," said her sister. "You can keep servants if you don't follow them up, and insist on it that they shall do their duty. Let them run all over you and live like mistresses, and you can keep them. For my part, I like to change—new brooms always sweep clean."

"Well, it's a different thing, Maria—you with your small family, and mine with so many. I'd rather bear anything than change."

"Oh, well, yes; I suppose there's no help for it, Nelly. Of course I wasn't blaming you, so don't fire up about it. I know you can't make yourself over," said Aunt Maria. This was the tone with which she usually settled discussions with those who differed from her on modes and measures. After all, they could not be like her, so where was the use of talking?

Aunt Maria also had the advantage in all such encounters of a confessed reputation as an excellent manager. Her house was always elegant, always in order. She herself was gifted with a head for details that never failed to keep in mind the smallest item, and a wiry, compact constitution that never knew fatigue. She held the keys of everything in her house, and always turned every key at the right moment. She knew the precise weight, quantity, and quality of everything she had in possession, where it was and what it might be used for; and, as she said, could go to anything in her house without a candle in the darkest night. If her servants did not love, they feared her, and had such sense of her ever vigilant inspection that they never even tried to evade her. For the least shadow of disobedience she was ready to send them away at a moment's warning, and then go to the intelligence office and enter her name for another, and come home, put on apron and gloves, and manfully and thoroughly sustain the department till they came.

Mrs. Wouwermans, therefore, was celebrated and lauded by all her acquaintances as a perfect housekeeper and this added sanction and terror to her pronouncements when she walked the rounds as a police inspector in the houses of her relations.

It is rather amusing to a general

new-fangled, abominable notions about rights and sphere of woman. No; I've always said that the head of the woman is the man; and it's a wife's duty to live to please her husband. She may try to influence him—she ought to do that—but she never ought to do it openly. I never used to oppose Mr. Wouvermans. I was always careful to let him suppose he was having his own way; but I generally managed to get mine," and Aunt Maria plumed herself and nodded archly, as an aged priestess who is communicating to a young neophyte secrets of wisdom.

In her own private mind, Eva thought this the most terrible sort of hypocrisy; but her aunt was so settled and contented in all her own practical views, that there was not the least use in arguing the case. However, she couldn't help saying innocently,

"But, aunty, I should be afraid sometimes he would have found me out, and then he'd be angry."

"Oh, no; trust me for that," said Aunt Maria, complacently. "I never managed so bunglingly as that. Somehow or other, he didn't exactly know how, he found things coming round my way; but I never opposed him openly—I never got his back up. You see, Eva, these men, if they do get their backs up, are terrible, but any of them can be led by the nose—so I'm glad to find that you begin the right way. Now, there's your mother—I've been telling her this morning that it's her duty to make your father go back into business and retrieve his fortunes. He's got a good position, to be sure—a respectable salary; but there's no sort of reason why he shouldn't die worth his two or three millions as well as half the other men who fail, and are up again in two or three years. But Nelly wants force. She is no manager. If I were your father's wife, I should set him on his feet again pretty soon. Nelly is such a little dependent body. She was saying this morning how would she ever have got along with her family without me! But there are some things that even I can't do—nobody but a wife could, and Nelly isn't up to it."

"Poor, dear little mamma," said Eva.

"But are you quite sure, Aunt Maria, that her ways are not better adapted to papa than any one's else could be? Papa is very positive, though so very quiet. He is devoted to mamma. Then, again, aunty, there is a good deal of risk in going into speculations like newspaper men generally."

"Oh, aunty, that's severe now. You forgot Harry?"

"Oh, well, your husband is an exception; but, as a general rule, I don't like 'em—unprincipled lot I believe," said Aunt Maria, with a decisive nod of her head. "At any rate, Alice can do better, and she ought to."

The ringing of the lunch bell interrupted the conversation, much to the relief of Eva, who discovered with real alarm the course her represented relative's thoughts were taking.

Of old she had learned that the only result of arguing a point with her was to make her more set in her own way, and she therefore bent all her forces of agreeableness to produce a diversion of mind to other topics. On the principle that doctors apply mustard to the feet, to divert the too abundant blood from the head, Eva started a brisk controversy with Aunt Maria on another topic, in hopes, by exhausting her energies there, to put this out of her mind. With what success her strategy was crowned, it will remain to be seen.

CHAPTER VI.

THE KENTLING OF THE WATERS.

It will not be doubted by those who know the ways of family dictators, that Mrs. Maria Wouvermans left Eva's house after her day's visit in a state of the most balmy self-satisfaction, as one who has done a good day's work.

"Well, I've been up at Eva's," she said to her sister, as she looked in on returning, "and really it was well I went in. That Mary of hers is getting careless and negligent, just as all old servants do, and I just went over the whole house, and had a plain talk with Mary. She flew up about it, and was impertinent, of course; but I put her down, and I talked plainly to Eva about the way she's beginning with her servants. She's just like you, Nelly, slack and good-natured, and needs somebody to keep her up. I told her the way she is beginning—of petting Mary, and fussing up her room with carpet and pictures, and everything, just like any other—wouldn't work. Servants must be kept in their places."

Now, Mrs. Van Aradel had a spirit of her own; and the off-hand, matter-of-fact manner in which her sister was accustomed to speak of her as no manager touched a vital point. What housekeeper likes to have her capacity to

to send them away at a moment's warning, and then go to the intelligence office and enter her name for another, and come home, put on apron and gloves, and manfully and thoroughly sustain the department till they came.

Mrs. Wouvermans, therefore, was celebrated and lauded by all her acquaintances as a perfect housekeeper and this added sanction and terror to her pronunciamentos when she walked the rounds as a police inspector in the houses of her relations.

It is rather amusing to a general looker-on in this odd world of ours to contrast the scene, cheerful good faith with which these constitutionally active individuals go about criticising, and suggesting, and directing right and left, with the dismay and confusion of mind they leave behind them wherever they operate.

They are often what the world calls well-meaning people, animated by a most benevolent spirit, and have no more intention of giving offence than a nettle has of stinging. A large, vigorous, well-growing nettle has no consciousness of the sting it leaves in the delicate hands that have been in contact with it; it has simply acted out its innocent and respectable nature as a nettle. But a nettle armed with the power of locomotion on an ambulatory tour, is something the results of which may be fearful to contemplate.

So, after the departure of Aunt Maria our little housekeeper, Eva, was left in a state of considerable nervousness and anxiety, feeling that she had been weighed in the balance of perfection and found woefully wanting. She was conscious, to begin with, that her characteristic virtues as a housekeeper, if she had any, were not entirely in the style of her good relative. She was not by nature statistical, nor given to accounts and figures. She was not sharp and keen in bargains; she was, he felt in her inmost, trembling soul, a little mollusk, without a bit of a shell, hiding in a cowardly way under a rock, and ready at any time to be crushed up by big fishes. She had felt so in her unlimited trust in Mary, knew more than she did "about" sleeping—but she had been convinced by her aunt's cross-questions of signed the very signet ring of her house into her hands, and she let Mary go all over the house? Did she put away the washing?

CHAPTER VI.

THE SETTling OF THE WATERS.

It will not be doubted by those who know the ways of family dictators, that Mrs. Maria Wouvernans left Eva's house after her day's visit in a state of the most balmy self-satisfaction, as one who has done a good day's work.

"Well, I've been up at Eva's," she said to her sister, as she looked in on returning, "and really it was well I went in. That Mary of hers is getting careless and negligent, just as all old servants do, and I just went over the whole house, and had a plain talk with Mary. She flew up about it, and was impertinent, of course; but I put her down, and I talked plainly to Eva about the way she's beginning with her servants. She's just like you, Nelly, slack and good-natured, and needs somebody to keep her up. I told her the way she is beginning—of petting Mary, and fussing up her room with carpet and pictures, and everything, just like any other—wouldn't work. Servants must be kept in their places."

Now, Mrs. Van Ardel had a spirit of her own; and the off-hand, matter-of-fact manner in which her sister was accustomed to speak of her as no manager touched a vital point. What housekeeper likes to have her capacity to guide a house assailed? Is not that the spot where her glory dwells, if she has any? And it is all the more provoking when such charges are thrown out in perfect good nature, not as designed to offend, but thrown in par parentheses as something everybody would acknowledge, and too evident to require discussion. While proceeding in the main part of a discourse Mrs. Wouvernans was quite in the habit of these frank side disclosures of her opinion of her sister's management, and for the most part they were submitted to in acquiescent silence, rather than to provoke a controversy; but to be called "slack" to her face without protest or rejoinder was more than she could bear; so Mrs. Van Ardel spoke up with spirit:

"Maria, you are always talking as if I don't know how to manage servants. All I know is that you are always changing, and I keep mine years and ous, well-growing nettle has no consciousness of the sting it leaves in the delicate hands that have been in contact with it; it has simply acted out its innocent and respectable nature as a nettle. But a nettle armed with the power of locomotion on an ambulatory tour, is something the results of which may be fearful to contemplate.

So, after the departure of Aunt Maria our little housekeeper, Eva, was left in a state of considerable nervousness and anxiety, feeling that she had been weighed in the balance of perfection and found woefully wanting. She was conscious, to begin with, that her characteristic virtues as a housekeeper, if she had any, were not entirely in the style of her good relative. She was not by nature statistical, nor given to accounts and figures. She was not sharp and keen in bargains; she was,

he felt in her inmost, trembling soul, a little mollusk, without a bit of a shell, hiding in a cowardly way under a rock, and ready at any time to be picked up by big fishes. She had felt so in her unlimited trust in Mary, who knew more than she did about housekeeping—but she had been convicted by her aunt's cross-questions of having signed the very signet ring of her house into her hands. Did she let Mary go all over the house? Did she put away the washing? Did Eva allow her to open her drawers? Did she count her towels and sheets every week, and also her tea-spoons, and keep every drawer and cupboard locked? She ought to. To tell all these inquiries Eva had no satisfactory response, and began to doubt within herself. If whether she had begun aright. If she was sensitive, conscientious people, the result is always a resignation after discussion of the nature we have indicated, how ever vigorously and skillfully they may have defended their courses at the

Eva went over and over in her own mind her self-justification—she told herself that she and her aunt were essentially different people, incapable of understanding each other sympathetically, and that in each other's ways, and what that the well-meant, positive dicta of her relative were to be let go for what they were worth, and no more.

TO BE CONTINUED.

Family Reading

A CANADIAN HERMIT—NAKED FOR FORTY YEARS

Incredible as the following may appear, it is an authentic fact, to which hundreds can bear testimony:—

About forty years ago a young man named Wilson, residing near the town of Perth, conceived the lunatic idea of leading a hermit's life. The youth had from his early age showed symptoms of derangement, and this proceeding on his part was not considered strange by his friends. The chosen place of his hermitage was about three-quarters of a mile from his parental homestead, in the recess of a dense bush, where he erected a small hovel, and furnished it with an old log canoe, which he used as a couch to sleep in. Divesting himself of all clothing he has ever since remained perfectly nude, with the exception of a tattered remnant of a shirt, which his fancy leads him to retain. In his nude state, for forty years, he has lived walking in the depth of winter through the snow, and yet he has never been known to receive a frost bite. When he requires a drink he walks deliberately into the river, it mattering not to him what season of the year it may be, and wades out till the water reaches his waist, and then he stoops and quenches his thirst. His food is brought to him by his friends, and when given to him is eaten with the voraciousness of an animal which he now resembles more than man, his body being as heavily coated with hair as that of a cow. He never shows a dangerous disposition, and chatters in monosyllables. When people cross his path he evidently begs for tobacco, for which he has an evident partiality, and in chattering tones will utter "bacca" until his request is granted. His hair is long, gray, and unkempt, falling far over his shoulders, and his beard, which is similar, reaching down below his waist. He is now between sixty and seventy years of age, and is possibly the only living being ever known to have lived year after year perfectly naked and exposed to all inclemencies of the weather which mark our Canadian winters.

SOME QUEER RAILWAY BUILDERS.

There were workmen on the Pacific Railway even more curious than the Irish or Chinese natives. During the Summer of 1868, the Laramie River became very low, much to the distress of a contractor who had cut a great many thousand cross-ties—the timbers on which the rails are laid—and which he expected to float down to the point where the railroad was to cross. He was at first at a loss to know what to do, but resolved, finally, to build dams across the river at various points, and, when the stream was thus made high enough, set his rafts afloat. Large parties of men, therefore, went to work building dams. No sooner would the men leave off work at night, than thousands of beavers would begin, and work hard at the dam during the whole night.

Water is always as necessary to the comfort of beavers as on this occasion it was probably for this reason, and not because they wished to see the railroad finished, that the beaver community joined in the labor of building the dams.

ANCIENT USAGE.

That the ladies may more fully realize their advantage a book has been hunted up entitled "Love, Courtship, and Matrimony," published in 1660, ten years before the death of Shakspeare, which contains this explanation regarding ladies' privileges in leap-year:—"Albeit, it is now become a part of the common law, in regard to social relations of life, that as often as every bisextile year doth return, the ladies have the sole privilege, during the time it continueth, of making love unto the men, which they doe, either by wordes or looks, as to them it seemeth proper; and, moreover, no man will be entitled to the benefit of the clergy who dothe in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely."

WHY DO THE CLOUDS FLOAT?

For too long a time the scientific world has believed in the idea of De Saussure—that the water particles of which clouds and fogs consists, are yetticles. analogous to soap-bubbles.

NEW FLOUR STORE.

SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY WANTS.

PASTRY FLOUR,
CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM FLOUR,

MADE FROM THE PUREST

WHITE FALL WHEAT
SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,

OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.

OAT MEAL,
CORN MEAL,
POT BARLEY,
TEA,

TOBACCO, SALT,

FISH,
AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KINDS.

ALSO

FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,

OF ALL KINDS.

Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,

AT THE

NAPANEE FLOUR STORE,

ON DUNDAS ST., OPPOSITE GRANGE BROS.

THOS. SYMINGTON.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

TO THE LADIES.

MRS. JACKSON,

Takes this opportunity of thanking the ladies of Napanee for their kind patronage, since she came to the town, and wishes to intimate to them that she

HAS REMOVED

her place of business to the

SHOP OF S. McLAUGHLIN,

Opposite the

TICHBORNE HOUSE,

Where she will be glad to wait upon all who wish to have their hair re-arranged into

SWITCHES, PUFFS, BRAIDS, &c.

COMBINGS done in first-class style, and all roots turned one way.
Napanee, Jan. 14th 75.

STOVES, HARDWARE, TINWARE
MILL POINT.

which he now resembles more than man, his body being as heavily coated with hair as that of a cow. He never shows a dangerous disposition, and chatters in monosyllables. When people cross his path he evidently begs for tobacco, for which he has an evident partiality, and in chattering tones will utter "bacca" until his request is granted. His hair is long, gray, and unkempt, falling far over his shoulders, and his beard, which is similar, reaching down below his waist. He is now between sixty and seventy years of age, and is possibly the only living being ever known to have lived a year after year perfectly naked and exposed to all inclemencies of the weather which mark our Canadian winters.

A WISE KING.

His Majesty King Kalakaua, who, it will be remembered, visited the United States last year, has inaugurated a good movement amongst his people. Recently, it is said, he called a meeting at Honolulu, of the soldiers and all employed in the palace, and urged upon them the importance of their adopting total abstinence principles. Whilst he would refrain from issuing any authoritative order on this point, the king expressed a wish that all before him would examine the question for themselves. He desired, he said, to see his people temperate, industrious, and prosperous. A reform was needed throughout the islands and he was anxious that it should begin in the palace. Such an example would be highly influential, and would be certain to extend to the rest of his subjects. It would be difficult to enforce a prohibitory law in the Hawaii Islands, as liquor would be smuggled into the country or retailed to the natives by masters of vessels, and to enforce the law would be almost, if not quite, an impossibility for the Government. Next day the pledge was prepared, and all who choose were invited to sign the document.—Religious Intelligencer.

AN EXAMPLE.

The following story is told of the late Dr. Hook, Dean of Chichester. His great interest in the working classes was shown, among other acts, by his signing the temperance pledge in order to save a man whom he saw to be giving way to drinking. Telling the story in his own words, in speaking of the time when he was the Rector of Leeds, he said :

"Albeit, it is now become a part of the common law, in regard to social relations of life, that as often as every bisextile year doth return, the ladies have the sole privilege, during the time it continueth, of making love unto the men, which they doe, either by wordes or looks, as to them it seemeth proper; and, moreover, no man will be entitled to the benefit of the clergy who dothe in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely."

WHY DO THE CLOUDS FLOAT?

For too long a time the scientific world has believed in the idea of De Saussure—that the water particles of which clouds and fogs consist, are vesicles, analogous to soap-bubbles, consisting of a watery envelop. with a vacuum inside so as to be specifically lighter than the air. It is strange that the fact is continually being overlooked that if particles are only small enough they may be kept up in a liquid or gas, notwithstanding that the material of which they are parts is considerably heavier than the medium in which they float. Powders of heavy material may be kept up in water for days and weeks, as those who prepare polishing powders know. The finest emery is only obtained from water from which the coarse particles have been deposited in different periods of time, according to their fineness, when at last after collecting the deposits of many hours, and even days, the very finest parts do not settle until after many weeks' rest.

It is the same in the air, if we collect the dust deposited in a room which has been closed for some weeks, and examine it, we will find it all to consist of particles of very heavy materials, and if machine shops are in the neighborhood, even metallic dust will be recognized.

Now when heavy metallic dust can be carried in the air, why not water dust, which is much lighter? In viewing the grand fall of Niagara, we have noticed that, when the atmosphere was not too dry, so as to cause the spray to disappear, while the sky was covered with loose floating clouds, the spray in ascending formed a cloud identical to the others, with which it floated away.

The height at which clouds will float depends chiefly on the size of the watery particles; the larger they are the lower the clouds will float. This was recently verified by Mr. Angus Smith in Iceland where he observed a of Napanee for their kind patronage, since she came to the town, and wishes to intimate to them that she

HAS REMOVED

her place of business to the

SHOP OF S. McLAUGHLIN,

Opposite the

TICHBORNE HOUSE,

Where she will be glad to wait upon all who wish to have their hair re-arranged into

SWITCHES, PUFFS, BRAIDS, &c.

COMBINGS done in first-class style, and all roots turned one way.
Napanee, Jan. 14th '75.

STOVES, HARDWARE, TINWARE MILL POINT.

COOKING,
PARLOUR,
BOX & HALL STOVES,
FOR WOOD AND COAL.

DUMB STOVES, PAINTS,
BOILED AND RAW PAINT OILS, MACHINE OILS,
COAL OIL,
LAMPS & LAMP TRIMMINGS
GLASS OF ALL SIZES,
PUTTY,
CUTLERY.

FANCY GOODS & SMALL WARES
SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO EAVETROUGHING, BELL-HANG-ING, & GENERAL JOBBING.

A SPLENDID VARIETY OF HALL & PARLOR COAL STOVES,
BASE-BURNERS,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD AT COST PRICE.

D. McRAE & SON.

Jan. 12th, 1876.

FARM FOR SALE.

A Farm of 100 acres of good land in the Seventh Concession of Tyndinassa, Lot No. 38. The second lot west of the Richmond Boundry. For terms and further particulars, enquire on the premises.

F. McARTHUR.

Albert P. O.

FOR SALE.

Choice Six Panel Doors,
At $1.50 each;
Sash, 3 Cents per Light.
A FULL STOCK OF
Lumber, Lath, Shingles, and Dressed Lumber.

AT NAPANEE LUMBER YARD.
R. S. SHIPMAN Agent.
Napanee, Dec. 9th, 1875. 40-6in.

Rupture SEELEY'S HARD
Twice Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and and prosperous. A reform was needed throughout the islands and he was anxious that it should begin in the palace. Such an example would be highly influential, and would be certain to extend to the rest of his subjects. It would be difficult to enforce a prohibitory law in the Hawaii Islands, as liquor would be smuggled into the country or retailed to the natives by masters of vessels, and to enforce the law would be almost, if not quite, an impossibility for the Government. Next day the pledge was prepared, and all who choose were invited to sign the document.—Religious Intelligencer.

AN EXAMPLE.

The following story is told of the late Dr. Hook, Dean of Chichester. His great interest in the working classes was shown, among other acts, by his signing the temperance pledge in order to save a man whom he saw to be giving way to drinking. Telling the story in his own words, in speaking of the time when he was the Rector of Leeds, he said :

'Now, suppose you abstain altogether for six months'

'Well, if I will, will you, sir?' was his reply.

'Yes, I said, 'I will.'

'What !' said he 'from beer, from spirits, and from wine ?'

'Yes.'

'And how shall I know if you keep your promise ?'

'Why, you ask my missus and I'll ask yours.'

'It was agreed between us for six months at first; and afterwards we renewed the promise. He never resumed the bad habit that he left off, and is now a prosperous and happy man in business at St. Petersburg, and I am Dean of Chichester.'

Two gamblers have been converted by Methodists in Portland, Oregon. One of them upon his first attendance at a class meeting, handed to the leader a worn dice box and the dice. "Those have been my means of livelihood for years," he said "and I've become so expert with them that I can beat a game in which loaded dice are used against me. I haven't any other trade, and it is like trading competence for poverty to give up my tools." Nobody doubted the genuineness of that conversion.

when at last after collecting the deposits of many hours, and even days, the very finest parts do not settle until after many weeks' rest.

It is the same in the air, if we collect the dust deposited in a room which has been closed for some weeks, and examine it, we will find it all to consist of particles of very heavy materials, and if machine shops are in the neighborhood, even metallic dust will be recognized.

Now when heavy metallic dust can be carried in the air, why not water dust, which is much lighter? In viewing the grand fall of Niagara, we have noticed that, when the atmosphere was not too dry, so as to cause the spray to disappear, while the sky was covered with loose floating clouds, the spray in ascending formed a cloud identical to the others, with which it floated away.

The height at which clouds will float depends chiefly on the size of the watery particles; the larger they are the lower the clouds will float. This was recently verified by Mr. Angus Smith in Iceland where he observed a cloud or fog rolling down the street like dust or smoke; it came from the sea, and the particles hollow, but concrete throughout, and in his account refers also to the absurdity of the theory that the cloud particles should consist of hollow spheres of vesicles.

The power which holds small and heavy particles up in a liquid or gas, is simply the adhesion, which increases with the surface. The finer the dust is the larger is the surface as compared with the volume, and when the adhesive action of the liquid or gas on this large surface is great enough, it may overcome gravitation, and the particles can not fall, but will be kept floating.

That there is a strong adhesion between air and water is proved by the effect of wind on the surface of the water, especially when compared with the effect of the wind on a watery surface lubricated with a film of oil; then the air glides over it without causing even a ripple. On this depends the quieting effect of oil when poured on turbulent waves when they are caused by wind. Oil poured on the waves of the rapids of the St. Lawrence river would by no means have that same quieting effect.

BASE-BURNERS,
WHICH WILL BE SOLD AT COST PRICE.
D. McRAE & SON.
Jan. 12th, 1876.

FARM FOR SALE.

A Farm of 100 acres of good land in the Seventh Concession of Tyn-dinaga, Lot No. 38. The second lot west of the Richmond Boundry. For terms and further particulars, enquire on the premises.

F. McARTHUR.
Albert P. O.

FOR SALE.

Choice Six Panel Doors.

At $1.50 each;

Sash, 3 Cents per Light.

A FULL STOCK OF

Lumber, Lath, Shingles, and Dressed Lumber.

AT NAPANEE LUMBER YARD.

R. S. SHIPMAN Agent.

Napanee, Dec. 9th, 1875. 40-6in.

Rupture Trusses.

SEELEY'S HARD Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and Cure for Herni or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated with hard rubber, highly polished. Free from all sour, rusty, chafing, strapping or girthing unpleasantness. Cool cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable. Sold by all dealers. Estab'ts, 1347 Chestnut St., Phila., and 717 Broadway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitations Canadian trade supplied by Messrs. Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Drug-gists, Montreal.

BOOTS AND SHOES,

FOR THE COLD WEATHER.

Ladie's Gents & Children's

FELT & WOOLEN LINED BOOTS & SHOES,

PLAIN & FANCY OVERBOOTS,

ARCTIC BOOTS,

SNOW EXCLUDERS, &c.,

Also just received a new and beautiful lot of

FENCH CHINA—CHEAP.

M. DWYER & CO.

Hore
PRIC
FOE

BL
T
T.H

Fo
from reco Fo
and

As t
and ious eithe to gi
Th
So
cont
—sul
the g
BY MEI worl
Sole
APO
Sold Me
W
On a EVA
N
Not Audi will Cour
Tues
at te
All the c Off
Lenn
22d, 1

C PUBI of Yc NER
ect going free c ANA
53, B

OYSTERS ! OYSTERS!!

We are selling the celebrated

ANCHOR BRAND OYSTERS

RETAIL, 30 CENTS PER CAN.

EQUAL TO ANY OTHER BRAND IN THE MARKET.

We are now in a position to "do" job lots,

CHEPER THAN ANY OTHER
HOUSE IN TOWN.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

SMITH & ANDERSON.

NEW GOODS ! NEWG OODS!

F. CHINNECK,

Has just received a splendid

Stock of

Watches and Jewelry,

which he will sell cheaper, than

any other house in Town.

Repairing done on the shortest
notice and warranted.

DUNDAS STREET, EAST. NAPANEE

To the Public.

WHILE in Philadelphia I obtained a recipe from the Eclectic Hospital for curing all skin diseases. The same remedy has never been known to fail to cure cancers when taken in time.
Any person afflicted with the above
diseases can obtain the Medicine already

MERRY HRISTMAS" FROM C H E A P S I D E.

As the season of compliments and congratulations is at hand, we heartily wish our customers and friends a very "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year," with many returns of the festive season. We are deedly grateful because of the more than liberal patronage which we have received during the past year. It is a significant fact that while others are bemoaning the less trade and dull times, our business has steadily increased with each month and by the close of this year we shall be able to show a clear increase of thirty per cent over last years' trade. So much for Fair Square dealing and no "Jewing" it is a proof to us that our endeavors to keep our stock constantly assorted with the newest and most attractive goods, and also to dispose of them at the Smallest Living Profits, have been duly appreciated by the discriminating public. We shall continue to preserve the same course of action as during the past year, mending where we have erred or changing our course where our experience with a large and increasing business and extended knowledge of the requirements of the trade may dictate. We hope, with the inaugural of the new year, to see many new customers as well as old friends, and every energy will be put forth to please and give the very best value for their money. We may mention here that although we have always been noted for keeping the BEST BLACK LUSTRES, we have lately made arrangements for the supply of a PARTICULAR BRAND, which is superior to anything we have ever before offered, and we believe, superior in value to anything now offered for sale in town. Everything in the line of Dry Goods, Carpets, Millinery, &c., is now offered at very close prices. A call and inspection will convince.

Again wishing you many Happy New Years,

We remain faithfully yours,

E. HOOPER & SON.

Napanee, Dec. 22d, 1875.

F. CHINNECK,

Has just received a splendid

Stock of

Watches and Jewelry,

which he will sell cheaper, than
any other house in Town.

Repairing done on the shortest
notice and warranted.

DUNDAS STREET, EAST. NAPANEE

To the Public.

WHILE in Philadelphia I obtained a recipe from the Eclectic Hospital
for curing all skin diseases. The same remedy has never been known to fail to cure cancers when taken in time.

Any person afflicted with the above
diseases can obtain the Medicine, already prepared, at my office on John St., next door to Paisley's Hotel, Napanee.

W. S. FRALEIGH, M. D. C. M.
Napanee, June 3rd, '75.

POTTER BROS.. LIVERY AND SALE STABLES

(ADJOINING THE BRISCO HOUSE,
NAPANEE, ONT.)

We keep nothing but First-Class
Horses and Vehicles, and at REASONABLE
PRICES

FOR HEBLOOD IS THE LIFE

CLARKE'S WORLD FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE.

Trade Mark.—"Blood Mixture."
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND
RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood
from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvey, Skin Diseases,
and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing
permanent cure.

It cures old Sores

Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.

Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs.

Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face,

Cures Scurvy Sores.

Cures Cancerous Ulcers.

Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.

Cures Glandular Swellings.

Clears the Blood from all impure
Matter.

From whatever cause arising.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste,
and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of
either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers

well as old friends, and every energy will be put forth to please and give the very best value for their money. We may mention here that although we have always been noted for keeping the BEST BLACK LUSTRES, we have lately made arrangements for the supply of a PARTICU-LAR BRAND, which is superior to anything we have ever before offered, and we believe, superior in value to anything now offered for sale in town. Everything in the line of Dry Goods, Carpets, Millinery, &c., is now offered at very close prices. A call and inspection will convince.

Again wishing you many Happy New Years,

We remain faithfully yours,

E. HOOPER & SON.

Napanee, Dec. 22d, 1875.

Now on hand a full stock of Crockery and Glassware
the latest styles and best quality. A greater variety than ever before.

The very best cheese in town---Try it and be convinced.

Fresh groceries of all kinds---Cheap and good.

Call and see our stock, whether you purchase or not.
We will be glad to show you round.

CHEAP SALE.

PRICE.
SON.

E.

od land
f Tven.
cond lot
ry. For enquire

Y.
P. O.

S.

Dressed

D.
Agent.
40-5in.

HARD sses, re-rt and erni or , coated
ed. Free
, straps. Cool
e. Unreliable.
ts, 1347
Broaditations
Messrs.
e Drug-

OES,

en's

BOOTS

OOTs,

RS, &c.,

beauti-

AP.

t CO.

NAPANEE, ONT.

We keep nothing but First-Class
Horses and Vehicles, and at REASONABLE
PRICES

FOR HEBLOOD IS THE LIFE

CLARKE'S WORLD FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE.

Trade Mark,—"Blood Mixture."
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND
RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood
from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvey, Skin Diseases,
and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing
permanent cure.
It cures old Sores
Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs.
Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face,
Cures Scurvy Sores.
Cures Cancerous Ulcers.
Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.
Cures Glandular Swellings.
Clears the Blood from all impure
Matter.

From whatever cause arising.
As this mixture is pleasant to the taste,
and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of
either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers
to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts
Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases
containing six times the quantity, $4 each
—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in
the great majority of long-standing cases,
BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout
world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist.
APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN.
ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent
Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for the Provinces
Ontario and Quebec:—
EVANS, MERCER and CO., Montreal.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Audit for the County of Lennox and Addington will meet to audit the public accounts at the Court House, in the town of Napanee, on Tuesday the Fourteenth of January A. D. 1876, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

All accounts for audit must be delivered to the clerk of the Peace on or before January 1st.
Office of the Clerk of the Peace, County of Lennox and Addington, Napanee, December
22d, 1875.

W. J. Reeve,
Clerk of the Peace,
County of Lennox and Addington

CONFESSIONS OF A VICTIM.

PUBLISHED AS A WARNING and for the benefit of YOUNG MEN AND OTHERS who suffer from NERVOUS DEBILITY, LOSS OF MANHOOD, after giving his rules of Self-Cure, after undergoing much suffering and expense, and mailed free on receiving a post-paid directed envelope
AN Address NATHIEL MAYFAIR, P. O. Box
53, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Now on hand a full stock of Crockery and Glassware
the latest styles and best quality. A greater variety than ever before.

The very best cheese in town---Try it and be convinced.

Fresh groceries of all kinds---Cheap and good.

Call and see our stock, whether you purchase or not.
We will be glad to show you round.

CHEAP SALE.

WEES & SHOREY

WILL OFFER SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRY GOODS DURING THE HOLIDAYS.

CARPETS AT COST---NO RESERVE.

—:O:—

ANOTHER CASE OF OUR CHEAP

BLACK LUSTERS JUST RECEIVED.

—:O:—

Seal, Brown Lustres, Merinos, Empress Cloths, and Metz Cords,

JUST TO HAND.

JOB LINE OF CHECKED FLANNELS,
Furs and Robes still cheaper than ever.

TEN DOZEN SILK SCARFS
just received from New York.

IF YOU WANT A STYLISH SUIT
Look at our Tweeds before purchasing,

FIT OR NO SALE.

SHAWLS SPECIAL BARGAINS.

WEES & SHOREY.

Dec. 21st, 1875.

News Summary

CANADIAN.

A bankrupt firm in Montreal owes $8,000 to its employees.

Oyer $30,000 was paid for grain on the Goderich market on three market days of last week.

Mr. McDougall has introduced a bill providing that the Legislature shall meet each year on the first Wednesday in November.

A team belonging to Mr. James Hill was drowned between Massassaga Point and Big Island on Saturday last.

Four hundred and fifty persons are reported as converts from the Roman Catholic faith in Montreal, through the preaching of Rev. Father Chiniquy.

The Ottawa Times, speaking of their Protectionist resolutions, passed by the Dominion Board of Trade, says that "No Government which acted on these resolutions could hold power for a day."

The act to appoint a Minister of Education provides that the new appointee shall go to the country election.

There were 1,000 cases of diphtheria before the Halifax Free Conference. The amount received for fines and fees amounted to over $10,000.

The water rates of the city of Montreal last year amounted to the enormous sum of $342,000, whereupon an exchange remarks the people must bathe there occasionally.

A man by the name of Templeton was drowned while attempting to cross the Rideau, on the 18th inst., below Smith's Falls, and his body was not recovered till two days later.

The Union Navigation Company's officials deny that the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company has bought up $60,000 worth of mortgages on their boats say the Company is perfectly solvent, and that it will run the "Athenian" and "Abyssinian," as usual.

On the 20th, the Bay was opened at a point called Nigger Island, Bay of Quinte, so that boats could cross from shore to shore, an occurrence unknown at this time of the year in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

The work of grading the Belleville and North Hastings Railway has reach-

GREAT CASH DISCOUNT CLEARING SALE

FOR ONE MONTH ONLY,
COMMENCING ON THE 19th

A. C. DAVIS & BE

y to stock taking, will offer their entire stock (v

ERY GOODS,

EVERYTHING,

CLOTHS,

TWEEDS,

GENTS FURNISINGS,

HATS

CAPS,

FURS,

CA

At Cash Discount of from 10 to 1

with few exceptions from regular prices.

THE STOCK IS NEW AND ATTR

AND GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE

Citizens of Napanee, and Farmers of Lennox & Addington, loo
attend this Sale.

ALL ADVERTISED WILL BE STRICTLY CARI

A. C. DA

amounted to over $10,000.

The water rates of the city of Montreal last year amounted to the enormous sum of $342,000, whereupon an exchange remarks the people must bathe there occasionally.

A man by the name of Templeton was drowned while attempting to cross the Rideau, on the 18th inst., below Smith's Falls, and his body was not recovered till two days later.

The Union Navigation Company's officials deny that the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company has bought up $60,000 worth of mortgages on their boats say the Company is perfectly solvent, and that it will run the "Athenian" and "Abyssinian," as usual.

On the 20th, the Bay was opened at a point called Nigger Island, Bay of Quinte, so that boats could cross from shore to shore, an occurrence unknown at this time of the year in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

The work of grading the Belleville and North Hastings Railway has reached the Lake, two miles south of Madoc, and a full force of men are busy at the south embankment. Another force are driving the piles for the railway bridge across the Lake.

FOREIGN.

—Germany is fast converting her silver currency into one of gold.

—The Woman's Journal warns young girls to look out for the men who want to make "sis-ters" of them.

—Mr. Tilton is very moderate in his price, only asking $150 for his last lecture.

—A movement is on foot in Maine to repeal the prohibitory law of that State.

—Miss Braddon will soon visit America to see the idiots made by reading her novels.

—Twelve thousand dollars worth of dried fish are every month sent from San Francisco to China by the Chinese.

—Mr. Moody says that no one attends church much more regular than the Devil.

—A humming-bird or butterfly fastened to the neck of trimming of a lace fichu is the latest novelty.

—A New York professor makes old women young for five dollars. Cheap enough.

—The British Government has declared that the schools at Natal, South

At a Cash Discount of from 10 to 1

with few exceptions from regular prices.

THE STOCK IS NEW AND ATTR
AND GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE

Citizens of Napanee, and Farmers of Lennox & Addington, look
attend this Sale.

ALL ADVERTISED WILL BE STRICTLY CARE

, A. C. DAY

NEW FLOUR STORE.

SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY
WANTS.

PASTRY FLOUR,
CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM
FLOUR,

MADE FROM THE PUREST
WHITE FALL WHEAT
SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,

OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.
OAT MEAL,
CORN MEAL,
POT BARLEY,
TEA,
TOBACCO, SALT,

FISH,
AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KINDS.

ALSO

FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,

[OF ALL KINDS.]

Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,

AT THE

NAPANEE FLOUR STORE,

ON DUNDAS ST., OPPOSITE GRANGE BOS.

THOS. SYMINGTON.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

MEAGHER

CLEARING SALE OF BAL

GREAT REDUCTION

GOODS CHEAPER THAN

Owing to the dullness in trade, we have decided to
MONTREAL

GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE DRY GOODS, READY MADE CLOTH
BOOTS & SHOES,

2000 DOLLARS WORTH OF READY MADE
FOR CASH.

WHOLE TWEED SUITS FOR $8.00, W

$1000 WORTH OF BOOTS & SHO

A SPLENDID KIP LONG BOOT FOR
LEAST $3.50.

Don't fail to give us a call, as the whole stock must of cost, to make room for Spring and Summer Goods

REMEMBER THIS IS A STRICT

And consequently we can give you better value for giving credit. Where credit is given, the goods are when the cash customer buys in these houses, he pays

WE SELL FOR CASH

And the goods are marked to suit. Don't fail to give us
elsewhere.

REMEMBER THE STAND, BEAVER BLOCK,

—Mr. Tilton is very moderate in his price, only asking $150 for his last lecture.

—A movement is on foot in Maine to repeal the prohibitory law of that State.

—Miss Braddon will soon visit America to see the idiots made by reading her novels.

—Twelve thousand dollars worth of dried fish are every month sent from San Francisco to China by the Chinese.

—Mr. Moody says that no one attends church much more regular than the Devil.

—A humming-bird or butterfly fastened to the neck of trimming of a lace fichu is the latest novelty.

—A New York professor makes old women young for five dollars. Cheap enough.

—The British Government has declared that the schools at Natal, South Africa, are to be open alike to all, without regard to color.

—The Pope has been confined to his bed through illness since a week ago Friday. His Holiness will have completed his eighty fourth year on May the 13th.

—Grain Receivers of the New York Produce Exchange have resolved not to submit to the increased charges for weighing and elevating.

—Two executions took place in Illinois on Friday—Marshall J. Crain at Marion, and Jacobs, a wife murderer, at Joliet.

A young man who went into the Black Hills last May with an outfit costing $582, has just returned with a nugget of gold which is valued at $1.67.

STREET RAILWAY.—M. James Morrison, of Toronto, Vice-President of the Street Railway Company, arrived here to-day to make arrangements for the construction of the road, a commencement on which will be made as soon as the frost leaves the ground in the Spring. Mr. Morrison and the local manager visited a couple of the mills to-day, procuring estimates of certain timber which will be required in the building of the track. The Company evidently means business.—Whig

MADE FROM THE PUREST
WHITE FALL WHEAT
SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,
OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.
OAT MEAL,
CORN MEAL,
POT BARLEY,
TEA,
TOBACCO, SALT,
FISH,
AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KINDS.

ALSO
FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,
[OF ALL KINDS.]
Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,
AT THE
NAPANEE FLOUR STORE,
[ON DUNDAS ST., OPPOSITE GRANGE BOS.
THOS. SYMINGTON.
PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS!!

We are selling the celebrated

ANCHOR BRAND OYSTERS

RETAIL, [30 CENTS PER CAN.

EQUAL TO ANY OTHER BRAND IN THE MARKET.

We are now in a position to "do" job lots,

CHEAPER THAN ANY OTHER HOUSE IN TOWN.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

SMITH & ANDERSON.

Owing to the dullness in trade, we have decided to
MONTREAL
GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE DRY GOODS, READY MADE CLOTHING,
BOOTS & SHOES, [1
2000 DOLLARS WORTH OF READY MADE
FOR CASH.

WHOLE TWEED SUITS FOR $8.00, W
$1000 WORTH OF BOOTS & SHO
A SPLENDID KIP LONG BOOT FO
LEAST $3.50.

Don't fail to give us a call, as the whole stock must
of cost, to make room for Spring and Summer Goods

REMEMBER THIS IS A STRICT
And consequently we can give you better value for giving credit. Where credit is given, the goods are when the cash customer buys in these houses, he pa
WE SELL FOR CASH
And the goods are marked to suit. Don't fail to give elsewhere.
REMEMBER THE STAND, BEAVER BLOCK, I

TOYS, TOY,

AND FANCY G

$1,000 WORTH TO BE DISPO

CHRISTMA

At whatever they will fetch, as I intend to g sell off at

HALF THE

to get rid of them, so come along a

WOODS TOBACCO

SIGN OF THE INDIAN AT

EE EXPRESS

COUNT

SALE,

ONLY,

19th INST.

BRO., stock (valued at $30,000) of

S,

RS,
CARPETS,
OIL CLOTHS,

) to 15 per cent,

prices.

ATTRACTIVE

L BE OFFERED.

ton, look to your interest and

7 CARRIED OUT.

DAVIS & BRO.

DISSOLVING PARTNERSHIP.

GREAT AUCTION SALE.

In consequence of MR. IRONSIDE retiring from the firm, the subscribers will offer their whole stock for sale

BY PUBLIC AUCTION,

IN LOTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

COMMENCING ON

MONDAY NEXT, the 17th of JANUARY.

AND ON

SATURDAY EVENING the 22nd Inst.

A SPECIAL SALE WILL BE HELD OF

READY MADE CLOTHING,

TWEEDS,

SHIRTS,

UNDER CLOTHING,

AND OTHER GOODS FOR GENTLEMAN WARE.

The sale will be held in the show room upstairs where a good fire will be kept on and seats provided for the ladies.

THE TERMS WILL BE STRICTLY CASH, AS THE SALE PROCEEDS.

RS,
CARPETS,
OIL CLOTHS,
to 15 per cent,
prices.

ATTRACTIVE
L BE OFFERED.

on, look to your interest and

CARRIED OUT.

DAVIS & BRO.

ER BRO'S.
OF BANKRUPT STOCK.

CTION IN PRICES.
ER THAN EVER.

ve decided to offer the whole of our stock at AL PRICES.

SS WILL BE GIVEN IN E CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS, SHOES, ETC.

EADY MADE CLOTHING CHEAP
& CASH.

$8.00, WORTH AT LEAST $15.00.

S, & SHOES FROM $1.00 UP.

BOOT FOR $2.50, WORTH AT ST $3.50.

le stock must be sold in 60 days, regardless mmer Goods, which are already purchased.

A STRICTLY CASH SALE,
ter value for your money than any house e goods are marked to suit the customer, and ouses, he pays the credit price.

OR CASH ONLY,

it fail to give us a call before purchasing sewhere.

ER BLOCK, DUNDAS ST., NAPANEE.

MEAGHER BROS'.

SATURDAY EVENING the 22nd Inst.

A SPECIAL SALE WILL BE HELD OF

READY MADE CLOTHING,

TWEEDS,

SHIRTS,

UNDER CLOTHING,

AND OTHER GOODS FOR GENTLEMAN WARE.

The sale will be held in the show room upstairs where a good fire will be kept n and seats provided for the ladies.

THE TERMS WILL BE STRICTLY CASH, AS THE SALE PROCEEDS.

The Sale will commence each day at 12 o'clock noon, and on Thursday and Saturday evenings at seven o'clock p. m.

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE.

15,000 ! 15,000 ! 15,000 ! 15,000 !

IN

FURNITURE, CHAIRS, &C.,

AND MUST BE SOLD.

Having enlarged and improved our Warerooms, enabling us to do business to better advantage.

WE ARE BOUND TO SELL OUR LRGE STOCK

OF

FURNITURE,

CHAIRS,

SPRING BEDS,

MATTRASSES,

we have decided to offer the whole of our stock at REAL PRICES.
 ARGAINS WILL BE GIVEN IN MADE CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS,
 TS & SHOES, ETC.

OF READY MADE CLOTHING CHEAP
 FOR CASH.

FOR $8.00, WORTH AT LEAST $15.00.

BOOTS & SHOES FROM $1.00 UP.
 LONG BOOT FOR $2.50, WORTH AT LEAST $3.50.

the whole stock must be sold in 60 days, regardless and Summer Goods, which are already purchased.
THIS IS A STRICTLY CASH SALE,
 you better value for your money than any house given, the goods are marked to suit the customer, and these houses, he pays the credit price.
ALL FOR CASH ONLY,
 t. Don't fail to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.
 BEAVER BLOCK, DUNDAS ST., NAPANEE.
MEAGHER BROS'.

TOY, TOYS,
FANCY GOODS.

BE DISPOSED OF BEFORE CHRISTMAS, as I intend to go out of these two lines. will sell off at

THE COST
 so come along and get bargains at TOBACCO STORE
 INDIAN AT THE DOOR.

FURNITURE, CHAIRS, &C.,
AND MUST BE SOLD.

Having enlarged and improved our Warerooms, enabling us to do business to better advantage.

WE ARE BOUND TO SELL OUR LARGE STOCK

FURNITURE,
CHAIRS,
SPRING BEDS,
MATRASSES,

AND EVERYTHING USEFUL FOUND IN A FIRST-CLASS

FURNITURE WAREROOM

At prices lower than any other manufactory in Canada.
 Remember for

STYLE MAKE AND FINISH

OUR GOODS ARE SECOND TO NONE.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

COFFINS, CASKETS AND METALIC BURIAL CASES

FURNISHED ON SHORT NOTICE. EVERY-THING IN THE UNDERTAKING
DEPARTMENT COMplete.

J. GIBB RD & SON

Napanee

T. W. CASEY, Publisher.)

"THE GREATEST GOOD TO

VOL. 14.]

NAPANEE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

ALEX. C. DAVIS,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee
Ontario.

CHARLES LANE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Office—Front of Grammar School, Bridge Street, Napanee.

S. D. CLARKE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Odessa,
Ontario.

J. J. WATSON,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Adolphustown.

PETER E. R. MILLER,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Switzer-
ville, Ont.

JAMES AYLSWORTH.
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Tam-
worth.

ROBERT GRAHAM,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office—
In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver
and Toronto Fire Insurance Company,
and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont

LEGAL.

H. M. DEROCHE,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, No-
tary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency, No-
taries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law
Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers

LONDON BY GAS LIGHT AND DAY LIGHT.

MR. EDITOR:

Mr. W. Bell from England lectured here on Tuesday evening the 25th, on "London by Gas Light," and again on Thursday evening on "Rambles in London and what I saw there."

Mr. Bell's lecture on "London by Gas Light," is certainly a treat. He has labored in the City among the lowest classes of society, and is thoroughly conversant with London life in all its phases. To give an idea of the extent of London, he said that it is 15 miles in length, 10 miles across, and 50 in circumference. If the inhabitants stood side by side, just allowing standing room for each, they would extend 900 miles. Were you to have them pass some given point at the rate of one every second for 10 hours each day, it would be 14 weeks before all would have passed that point. Again there is a death every eight and a birth every six minutes. He took us to the Gin Palaces and showed us some of the scenes to be seen there. There are in round numbers 10,000 Public houses in London, while there are only 1300 churches, of all denominations, and, said he, no one minister can counteract the evil influences of 10 Public houses. He pictured some of the fearful scenes to be witnessed in the slums and alleys of the city, from the effects of strong drink. He showed up the thieves and pick-pockets, and how they learned their profession. He took us to Spurgeon's Chapel with its congregation of 6000, to Exeter Hall, where the great May meetings are held, and to the large building where Moody

spoke and Sankey sang to congregations of 20,000 hearers at a time.
On Thursday evening he took us to

THE COUNCILLORS' PAY.

Ed. EXPRESS.

The remarks made in your paper of 13th inst., expressing regret and surprise, that the old Councillors, at the late municipal election, neglected giving an account of their stewardship respecting the finances, &c., of the town, has induced me to make the following inquiries and suggestions:—

Would you have the goodness to inform the public through your valuable paper, by what authority our Town Councillors pay themselves $20 each, yearly. (intensively in some instances as members of Committees,) but in reality in their capacity as Councillors. If the Municipal Act authorizes these payments, well and good, the tax payers must submit, if not, then it becomes rather a serious matter. I understand these payments have extended over a period of some ten years, more or less, and as the corporation comprizes 12 members, at $20 each, or $240 yearly, amounting in the aggregate to between $2000 and $3000.

Now this is a nice little sum of money, and if the said sum of money, or any other sum is paid illegally for said purpose, it should be refunded with interest to the corporation, by the parties who received it, to be applied towards reducing the debt of the town.
If on the contrary, as before stated, it is lawful according to the Municipal Act to pay the members of the Town Council $20 each, per annum, it will be quite easy for some member of the board to point out the clause in the Act for that purpose.

TAX PAYER.

Napanee, Jan. 26th, 1876.

THE BUFFALO.

It is reported that the Dominion Government are about to adopt strong measures for preserving the Buffalo,
and it is to be hoped such is the case,
as it is not too late yet, but whatever is to be done should be done at once.

We
young to tak ferred matri
we wa
It is v deepe years privile the an en No year v
her.
alty, v gentle dame is a right the ci posed scarle lower hibit idea b cover dire f tion o that i Love 1660, Shaks
ing la
"Albe
the co
relatic bissex have t it con
men, or loo and m to the any w or con law as least,
ing ou

WIT
The witness that in for tre
which

Notaries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law
Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers
etc. OFFICE—Perry's New Block
Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.
W. A. REEVE, M. A., A. L. MORDEN.
Co. Crown Attorney.

E. A. DEROCHE.
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under New Act
of 1875.
Office in H. M. Deroche's Law Office

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency,
Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.,
Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, E. J. HOOPER, M. A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson.) Office of Napanee Paper Mills, this side of A.
N. Diamond's

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,
GRADUATE University of Victoria
College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y.
Member of the College of Physicians
and Surgeons, Ontario.
Special Attention paid to Diseases of
the Eye.
Office and Residence: Centre Street,
Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West
Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications
and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.
TEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest
notice.
Remember the place, opposite the old City Hotel, corner of Adelaide and Bridge Streets.

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.
—O—
EDMUND HOOPER,
Agent for the following first-class Companies
HAND IN HAND.....FIRE
NATIONAL.....LIFE.
EQUITABLE.....LIFE.

CAUTION.
All persons are hereby cautioned against purchasing two promissory notes of $100 each payable to Patrick Lacey, bearing date August 1st, 1875 and payable respectively one and two years after date, as no value has been received
for them by us the makers.
W. M. WET, Sr.
W. M. WEST, Jr.
Sheffield 2nd Con. Jan 7th 1876. 44-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.
In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent

gation of 6000, to Exeter Hall, where
the great May meetings are held, and
to the large building where Moody
spoke and Sankey sang to congregations of 20,000 hearers at a time.

On Thursday evening he took us to the British Museum, where he showed us some of the many interesting sights to be seen there, among others the Mummies of Egypt, who had slept the long sleep of 3,600 years, and who perhaps lived in the days of Joseph or his father Jacob. The slabs from ancient Nineveh, on which is written the history of that great city, confirming the authority of the Holy Bible. Thence we went with him to the National Gallery, and saw some of the great works of art, especially Cruickshank's fine painting representing the worship of Bacchus. From there to the Tower of London, where we read the history of the country in the old armour displayed there, ancient headsman's block and axe, on which many a good man had lost his life for daring to have a mind of his own; then he showed us the Crown and Jewels which cost about one million pounds. We then went with him to St. Pauls, and then to Westminster Abbey, where the Kings and Queens of England have been crowned for centuries, and where repose England's honored dead, and among them David Livingstone, once a poor weaver lad, and ultimately the great and noble African Missionary.
Thence to the House of Parliament, and the Bible Society's rooms, where we saw stacks of Bibles in almost every language, and he said at the present rate of printing the Good Book, it would require 500 years to put a copy in the hands of every man, woman and child in the world, but take the money spent in one year on drink in Canada and England, and you will within two years be able to give a forty cent copy to every inhabitant of the globe.
From these rooms we proceeded to the Crystal Palace, and then returning to London, we saw a London Sabbath, when you may hear the first preachers of the day, or you may see some of the markets and shops as busy as if it were the middle of the week. Were all the shops doing business on the Lord's day put in a row, they would make a street 60 miles long. He took us to the Midnight Meetings for the reclaiming of fallen women, to the Servants Home, Ragged Schools, Ragged Churches, Sick Children's Home, and Miss Cooper's Work. This Lady is doing a great work among the poor and destitute Street Arabs.

It is reported that the Dominion Government are about to adopt strong
measures for preserving the Buffalo,
and it is to be hoped such is the case,
as it is not too late yet, but whatever
is to be done should be done at once.
Not many years ago these animals ranged through the vast prairies stretching to the Rocky Mountains unmolested, but as the great North-West Territory began to be known and opened up by white men and half-breeds, the buffalo began to die out. Year after year thousands of these animals are needlessly slaughtered. Indians have killed them for food as they were required. Half-breeds and white men have killed them, some for sport only, others merely for the sake of their tongues, leaving the carcass and skin lying on the ground. Others, again, took the skin for robes, and left the carcass. Were these things to go on, in a very few years no buffalo would remain, and the Indians and half-breed settlers, as well as the white men, would be in a starving condition, as most of these people live on the plains hunting, few of them doing little farming or caring to do so, their habits being careless and indifferent as to the future. If the Government will adopt prompt measures during the calving season, say from January to May, their needless destruction will be stopped, so that any buffalo meat wanted could be got during the other eight months of the year. Can nothing, however, be done towards trying to induce the half-breed settlers to farm.
And Indians too?

KINGSTON STREET RAILWAY.

A Bill of the Kingston Street Railway Company, which has received a second reading, is before us. The capital stock of the Company will be $50, 000. When $10,000 of stock is subscribed and ten per cent. of it paid the Company may commence to run cars within two years from the time of the passing of the Act, or the charter will become void. The Board of Directors shall consist of six members. The bill empowers the builders to "construct, maintain, complete and operate, on Sundays and weekdays, a double or single track iron railway with the necessary side tracks and turnouts for the passage of cars, carriages and other vehicles adapted to the same, upon and along such streets and highways within the jurisdiction of the city, but we believe this clause has been amended, only allowing the construction of a single track. It is provided that the fare on the railway shall not exceed five cents for any distance not over three miles within the limits of the city, and one cent additional over three miles, the return fare to be charged separately.—Whig.

HOW TO CREATE BUSINESS.

An old merchant, whose ample fortune was acquired by judicious advertising, says: It is thought absurd for a man to sit and wait for trade. Micaw-

W. S. WILLIAMS, E. J. HOOPER, M.A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, (successor to the late W. S. Robinson.) Office of Napanee Paper Mills, this side of A. N. Diamond's

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,

GRADUATE University of Victoria College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y. Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Special Attention paid to Diseases of the Eye. Office and Residence: Centre Street, Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,

ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.

TEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.

Remember the place, opposite the old City Hotel, corner of Adelaide and Bridge Streets.

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.

EDMUND HOOPER,

Agent for the following first-class Companies
HAND IN HAND..... FIRE
NATIONAL..... LIFE.
EQUITABLE..... LIFE.

CAUTION.

All persons are hereby cautioned against purchasing two primassary notes of $100 each payable to Patrick Lacey, bearing date August 1st. 1875 and payable respectively one and two years after date, as no value has been received for them by us the makers.

WM. WET, Sr.

WM. WEST, Jr.

Sheffield 2nd Con. Jan 7th 1876. 44-3in

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent

Notice.

All parties indebted to the estate of the above Insolvent, either by note or book account, are requested to call at the office of the undersigned and pay the same at once.

Immediate attention to the above will save costs. 43-3in W. F. HALL, Assignee.
Dated at Napanee, this 29th day of Dec., 1875

DENTAL NOTICE.

Call and pay your accounts for Dental services without further delay, and oblige

S. T. CLEMENTS.

Office over Spencer & Hogan. 43

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS.

Messrs. Perry & Joy beg leave to announce to the public that their Saw Mill is now running, and they are prepared to do any amount of Custom Sawing, or on Shares, on the shortest notice. Farmers bring along your logs.

PERRY & JOY.

Napanee, Jan. 19, 1876.

45-3 mos.

or art, especially Cruickshank's fine painting representing the worship of Bacchus. From there to the Tower of London, where we read the history of the country in the old armour displayed there, ancient headsman's block and axe, on which many a good man had lost his life for daring to have a mind of his own; then he showed us the Crown and Jewels which cost about one million pounds. We then went with him to St. Pauls, and then to Westminster Abbey, where the Kings and Queens of England have been crowned for centuries, and where repose England's honored dead, and among them David Livingstone, once a poor weaver lad, and ultimately the great and noble African Missionary. Thence to the House of Parliament, and the Bible Society's rooms, where we saw stacks of Bibles in almost every language, and he said at the present rate of printing the Good Book, it would require 500 years to put a copy in the hands of every man, woman and child in the world, but take the money spent in one year on drink in Canada and England, and you will within two years be able to give a forty cent copy to every inhabitant of the globe. From these rooms we proceeded to the Crystal Palace, and then returning to London, we saw a London Sabbath, when you may hear the first preachers of the day, or you may see some of the markets and shops as busy as if it were the middle of the week. Were all the shops doing business on the Lord's day put in a row, they would make a street 60 miles long. He took us to the Midnight Meetings for the reclaiming of fallen women, to the Servants Home, Ragged Schools, Ragged Churches, Sick Children's Home, and Miss Cooper's Work. This Lady is doing a great work among the poor and destitute Street Arabs.

On Wednesday evening he lectured a short distance from here, on "Old Rags and Bones." I will only say the Rags and Bones are worth picking up. I would say to your readers if Mr. Bell is coming into your neighborhood be sure and hear his lectures on "London by Gas Light," and "Rambles in London and what I saw there." If he is not coming invite him and you will have a treat.

A.

South Mountain, Jan. 28th, 1876.

Rabbits are so thick on the lower portion of Beaver river, Utah, that no crops can be raised.

took the skin for robes, and left the carcass. Were these things to go on, in a very few years no buffalo would remain, and the Indians and half-breed settlers, as well as the white men, would be in a starving condition, as most of these people live on the plains hunting, few of them doing little farming or caring to do so, their habits being careless and indifferent as to the future. If the Government will adopt prompt measures during the calving season, say from January to May, their needless destruction will be stopped, so that any buffalo meat wanted could be got during the other eight months of the year. Can nothing, however, be done towards trying to induce the half-breed settlers to farm. And Indians too?

KINGSTON STREET RAILWAY.

A Bill of the Kingston Street Railway Company, which has received a second reading, is before us. The capital stock of the Company will be $50,000. When $10,000 of stock is subscribed and ten per cent. of it paid the Company may commence to run cars within two years from the time of the passing of the Act, or the charter will become void. The Board of Directors shall consist of six members. The bill empowers the builders to "construct, maintain, complete and operate, on Sundays and weekdays, a double or single track iron railway with the necessary side tracks and turnouts for the passage of cars, carriages and other vehicles adapted to the same, upon and along such streets and highways within the jurisdiction of the city, but we believe this clause has been amended, only allowing the construction of a single track. It is provided that the fare on the railway shall not exceed five cents for any distance not over three miles within the limits of the city, and one cent additional over three miles, the return fare to be charged separately.—Whig.

HOW TO CREATE BUSINESS.

An old merchant, whose ample fortune was acquired by judicious advertising, says: It is thought absurd for a man to sit and wait for trade. Micawbers in business do not, in fact, make large fortunes. "But," say some men, "I cannot leave my store to go about and stir up my trade." Perhaps, indeed, he cannot, but he can send out his winged messengers of enterprise in the shape of such lively advertisements as will cause people to "stop and talk" with him before buying elsewhere. Advertisements are good scouts and first-rate skirmishers.

One cannot easily get away from the effect of advertising. If a man advertises that his stock is fresh and fashionable, it is difficult to believe that he has not really a finer stock than those who do not so advertise. This influence of advertising affects the natural qualities of a human being, and may be safely appealed to.

OOD

(21 37 11)

TURSDAY

[No. 47]

We have heard whether the young ladies of this town have begun to take advantage of the privileges conferred upon them by leap year in the matrimonial line. If they have not, we warn them that time is on the wing. It is very well understood, to go a little deeper into the subject, that in three years out of every four, man has the privilege of "popping the question," and the annoyance of having a plain-spoken No! for the reply. On the fourth year woman may propose, if it so please her. In the event of refusing, the penalty, we believe, is that the gallant gentleman shall present the tender damsel with a new silk dress. There is a reservation, however, that the right to claim this penalty depends on the circumstances that when she proposed, the damsel was the wearer of a scarlet petticoat, which (or a little of lower portion of which) she must exhibit to the gentleman, the understood idea being that the silken dress shall cover the petticoat, and thus assuage dire feminine indignation at the rejection of her offered hand. It is stated that in a book entitled "Courtship, Love and Matrimony," published in 1660, ten years before the death of Shakspeare, is this explanation regarding ladies' privileges in leap year: "Albeit, it is now become a part of the common law, in regards to social relations of life, that as often as every bissextile year doth return, the ladies have the sole privilege, during the time it continueth, of making love unto the men, which they doe, either by words or looks, at them it seemeth prefer; and moreover, no man will be entitled to the benefit of clergy who dothe in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely." This, therefore, is the law and if you do not act upon it we, at least, shall have done our duty in pointing out and making plain the way.

WITNESSES IN CRIMINAL CASES.
The Bill for the payment of Crown witnesses in criminal cases provides that in case of a prosecution or trial for treason or felony, or any offence

THE FISHERY INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The annual report of the Fishery Overseer of the Bay of Quinte division shows the yield and value of fish caught to be largely in excess of the preceding year.
The whitefish caught were generally of extraordinary size and superior quality.
There are natural causes which act upon and do effect the Fisheries. Among the most noticeable are the prevailing high winds, which have in a degree caused the diminution of the choice kinds of fish for a few years past.
The sudden influx and receding of the water from large to lesser bodies and their tributaries, will impede and change the usual course of the fish from their wonted feeding grounds and spawning beds, and cause them to seek other places, thus lessening this choice kind of fish for a time in certain localities.
More fish are destroyed wantonly and unnecessarily by the destructive mode of fishing with gill nets than from any other cause. The nets are allowed to remain for an indefinite period, and when they are set across the channel or allowed to interfere with the course or passage instinctively chosen by the fish leading to their feeding ground or spawning beds, it will divert them from their usual course and cause them to seek other and different places for feeding grounds and spawning beds.
If this mode of fishing should be an act of the Dominion Legislature be entirely prohibited and a rigid enforcement of the Fisheries Act be insisted upon the time will not be far distant when the Fisheries of the Bay of Quinte will stand among the first in commercial value in Ontario.
The doubtful problem of breeding fish, which existed for a time has been finally solved by practical demonstrations in this as well as other counties.

CANADIAN.

Mr. T. N. Gibbs, of Oshawa, has purchased the Joseph Hall Manufacturing Company for $135,000.
A company has been formed in Prince Edward's Island to run a winter steamer from the Island to Nova Scotia, and an engineer has gone to Scotland to superintend the building of the boat.
GLENGARRY ELECTION CASE.—The trial of the petition against the election of Mr. A. McNab, the sitting member for the county of Glengarry, which has been in progress for some days at Alexandria, was adjourned to February 15th, at Osgoode Hall, in order to obtain the evidence of His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Macdonald.
CAPE BRETON.—Cape Breton is known to be a very rich mineral and mining country. Besides her enormous deposits in coal, oil wells have been sunk at Lake Ainslie, a lead mine has been opened near Sydney, iron and manganese is also known to exist in large quantities, and a large mountain of marble of the finest quality is being worked. Capital alone, is needed to develop the mining resources of this rich island.
THE DISALLOWANCE.—The Ottawa Citizen says: The Government have received from the Colonial Secretary, Earl Carnarvon, a formal notification of the disallowance of the clause in the Supreme Court Bill debarring right of appeal to the Privy Council of England.
FROZEN FISH.—A large business is being carried on in the export of frozen fish from the North shore of New Brunswick to Boston and Portland. In one week 124,212 lbs. passed over the Intercolonial Railway to St. John, whence they were shipped to the New England States.
VICTORIA BRIDGE.—It is said the Grand Trunk Railway Company contemplates the alteration of Victoria Bridge so that a double track can be laid across it. This alteration is ren-

Press.

GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER.

($1.50 m.)

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1876.

[No. 47]

LEAP YEAR.

We have not heard whether the young ladies of this town have begun to take advantage of the privileges conferred upon them by leap year in the matrimonial line. If they have not, we warn them that time is on the wing. It is very well understood, to go a little deeper into the subject, that in three years out of every four, man has the privilege of "popping the question," and the annoyance of having a plain-spoken No! for the reply. On the fourth year woman may propose, if it so please her. In the event of refusing, the penalty, we believe, is that the gallant gentleman shall present the tender damsel with a new silk dress. There is a reservation, however, that the right to claim this penalty depends on the circumstances that when she proposed, the damsel was the wearer of a scarlet petticoat, which (or a little of lower portion of which) she must exhibit to the gentleman, the understood idea being that the silken dress shall cover the petticoat, and thus assuage dire feminine indignation at the rejection of her offered hand. It is stated that in a book entitled "Courtship, Love and Matrimony," published in 1660, ten years before the death of Shakspeare, is this explanation regarding ladies' privileges in leap year: "Albeit, it is now become a part of the common law, in regards to social relations of life, that as often as every bissextile year doth return, the ladies have the sole privilege, during the time it continueth, of making love unto the men, which they doe, either by words or lookes, at them it seemeth prefer; and moreover, no man will be entitled to the benefit of clergy who dothe in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely." This, therefore, is the law and if you do not act upon it we, at least, shall have done our duty in pointing out and making plain the way.

WITNESSES IN CRIMINAL CASES.

The Bill for the payment of Crown witnesses in criminal cases provides that in case of a prosecution or trial for treason or felony, or any offence

THE FISHERY INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The annual report of the Fishery Overseer of the Bay of Quinte division shows the yield and value of fish caught to be largely in excess of the preceding year.

The whitefish caught were generally of extraordinary size and superior quality.

There are natural causes which act upon and do effect the Fisheries. Among the most noticeable are the prevailing high winds, which have in a degree caused the diminution of the choice kinds of fish for a few years past.

The sudden influx and receding of the water from large to lesser bodies and their tributaries, will impede and change the usual course of the fish from their wonted feeding grounds and spawning beds, and cause them to seek other places, thus lessening this choice kind of fish for a time in certain localities.

More fish are destroyed wantonly and unnecessarily by the destructive mode of fishing with gill nets than from any other cause. The nets are allowed to remain for an indefinite period, and when they are set across the channel or allowed to interfere with the course or passage instinctively chosen by the fish leading to their feeding ground or spawning beds, it will divert them from their usual course and cause them to seek other and different places for feeding grounds and spawning beds.

If this mode of fishing should be an act of the Dominion Legislature be entirely prohibited and a rigid enforcement of the Fisheries Act be insisted upon the time will not be far distant when the Fisheries of the Bay of Quinte will stand among the first in commercial value in Ontario.

The doubtful problem of breeding fish, which existed for a time has been finally solved by practical demonstrations in this as well as other counties.

CANADIAN.

Mr. T. N. Gibbs, of Oshawa, has purchased the Joseph Hall Manufacturing Company for $135,000.

A company has been formed in Prince Edward's Island to run a winter steamer from the Island to Nova Scotia, and an engineer has gone to Scotland to superintend the building of the boat.

GLENGARRY ELECTION CASE.—The trial of the petition against the election of Mr. A. McNab, the sitting member for the county of Glengarry, which has been in progress for some days at Alexandria, was adjourned to February 15th, at Osgoode Hall, in order to obtain the evidence of His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Macdonald.

CAPE BRETON.—Cape Breton is known to be a very rich mineral and mining country. Besides her enormous deposits in coal, oil wells have been sunk at Lake Ainslie, a lead mine has been opened near Sydney, iron and manganese is also known to exist in large quantities, and a large mountain of marble of the finest quality is being worked. Capital alone, is needed to develop the mining resources of this rich island.

THE DISALLOWANCE.—The Ottawa Citizen says: The Government have received from the Colonial Secretary, Earl Carnarvon, a formal notification of the disallowance of the clause in the Supreme Court Bill debarring right of appeal to the Privy Council of England.

FROZEN FISH.—A large business is being carried on in the export of frozen fish from the North shore of New Brunswick to Boston and Portland. In one week 124,212 lbs. passed over the Intercolonial Railway to St. John, whence they were shipped to the New England States.

VICTORIA BRIDGE.—It is said the Grand Trunk Railway Company contemplates the alteration of Victoria Bridge so that a double track can be laid across it. This alteration is ren-ing out and making plain the way.

WITNESSES IN CRIMINAL CASES.

The Bill for the payment of Crown witnesses in criminal cases provides that in case of a prosecution or trial for treason or felony, or any offence which is punishable by imprisonment only, or any offence for which whipping may be imposed, the judge who holds the Court before which a prosecution or trial for the offence takes place may grant to any one who attends on recognizance or subpoena to give evidence, or who gives evidence, on the part of the Crown, an order for payment of such sum of money as to the judge shall seem reasonable and sufficient to compensate such witness for the costs and charges incurred by him in his attendance as such witness; such sum not to exceed the amount then payable to the like witnesses in civil cases in the Superior Courts; and no allowance is to be made to any witness who resides in the county town where the offence is tried, or within one mile thereof, except in the case of medical or indigent witnesses. Where no indictment has been prepared, or where the trial has not been proceeded with, the Court may still order any person who has attended in obedience to a recognizance to be paid as though they had actually been called upon to give evidence. The order of the Court in any case is not to be made except on a certificate of the counsel acting for the Crown and the County Attorney. The order is to be paid forthwith by the Treasurer for the county, and one-third of the amount so paid is to be reimbursed to the municipality, from the Consolidated Revenue fund.

THE STANDING ARMIES OF THE WORLD.

Just think of it! Three millions of men, or about three-quarters the population of Canada are maintained in the various standing armies of the civilized nations of the world. All these are snatched away from useful industries, and condemned to idleness and a vicious life, while the laboring people are taxed for their support and for the costly armaments they require. The annual amount of military and naval budgets of Europe is $596,963,300; the loss of labor involved by the withdrawal of so many men from productive industry costs $660,874,460; and the interest of capital invested in military and naval establishments amounts to $152,200,000. This makes a total of more than $1,400,000,000 taken every year from the people of Christendom for the maintenance of military establishments. But this is not all; for nearly as many more men are required to wait upon them in some form or other, and they, too, become consumers of the world's supply of food. The first effect of this is that the finances of nearly all European States are embarrassed. On the other hand, let us for a moment suppose that, by an understanding with the great powers, a disarming in the proportion of one-half was effected. Immediately more than 2,500,000 upon the time will not be for distant when the Fisheries of the Bay of Quinte will stand among the first in commercial value in Ontario.

The doubtful problem of breeding fish, which existed for a time has been finally solved by practical demonstrations in this as well as other counties—and the beneficial result is now made manifest by the large quantity of salmon seen in the Trent, passing up the Government slide at Chisholm's Rapids during the past year, which is the growth of the salmon fry put in the river by Samuel Wilmot, overseer of the fish-breeding establishment at Newcastle, Ont. The same encouraging demonstration in other rivers where the fry has been put is becoming more and more manifest.

The yield of fish prepared for commercial sale in Ontario during the past year, as per return made, is—
2,676 bbls. $ 18,588
Fish for home consumption and shipping 13,000

$31,588

NEARLY A MURDER.

A Kingston report gives the following particulars of a shooting affair: W. J. McGinn, a young baker, who had to leave his home in consequence of the drunkenness and disagreeableness of his step-father, John McGinn, hearing that his mother was being abused and the family starved, bought a pistol about eleven a. m. and went down to the house. While he was there his step-father came in and ordered him out, calling him bad names. Young McGinn then carried out his purpose of revenge by firing twice at the elder, who rushed out of the house and fell on the street. One ball entered behind the ear and came out near the nose. He bled so profusely that it was thought he was fatally shot, but the doctors say no vital spot has been touched. The affair created great commotion on the public street, being opposite the barracks. The assailant walked at once to the police station and gave himself up. He has borne the name of being quiet and orderly, and the only known motive for the crime is his affection for his mother and the desire to protect her. He is quite cool and feels as if he had done an unpleasant duty forced upon him. The Whig states that the same afternoon the man so far recovered as to chase a step-daughter around the room.

ASEA-SERPENT CONFLICT WITH A WHALE.

The Zanzibar correspondent of the Western Morning News, writing under date Oct. 20, says: "The bark Pauline has arrived at Zanzibar, with coals for Her Majesty's ships. When off Cape St. Roque, South America, a sight was presented that made the crew aghast—nothing less than the great sea-serpent engaged in the conflict with a whale. It had wound itself twice round the whale, and was twirling it with tremendous velocity, lashing the water into the Intercolonial Railway to St. John, whence they were shipped to the New England States.

VICTORIA BRIDGE.—It is said the Grand Trunk Railway Company contemplates the alteration of Victoria Bridge so that a double track can be laid across it. This alteration is rendered more and more necessary from the immense and daily increasing traffic which passes over the bridge.

THE GRANGERS.—There are in Niagara District nearly twenty Granges with a membership, varying from 40 to 100 members each or a total of perhaps 1,400 members. This is doing well for the short time they have been instituted, and they are becoming a power in the land. They have lately made arrangements to start a mutual insurance company of their own.

DEATH OF GEN. STISTED.—A cable despatch announces the death of Lieut.-General Stisted, first Governor of Ontario. The news received of his demise some time ago must have been premature, or the despatch of last night has been delayed.

FOREIGN.

Oswego farmers are holding their butter for fifty cents a pound.

At the University of Heidelberg this winter there were thirty-nine American students.

Sankey's voice is giving out from over straining. Music, like mercy, must not be strained.

The Duke of Edinburg is to take command of the Monarch, one of the Channel Squadrons.

The woman suffragists claim that they can count upon at least 55 votes in the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

The Chinese immigration into California last year amounted to 18,144 persons while the State gained a total increase of population of 69,172.

A woman weighing 380 pounds died of suffocation from excessive fat at Stratford, Mass., last week.

No less than thirty-five parties made default yesterday at the Recorder's Court, Montreal, to answer the summons for arrears of taxes.

A Pennsylvania father, ninety years of age, boxed his son's ears severely for abusing his wife. The boy is sixty.

A Roman Catholic priest has refused to perform the funeral service over a man who died in Armagh, on Christmas Day through an overdose of whiskey.

EDUCATION IN JAPAN.—An agricultural college is about to be established in Japan, and President William S. Clark, of the Amherst (U. S.) Agricultural College has leave of absence for a year to superintend its establishment.

MOODY & SANKER.—The great revivalists commence meetings in New York this week, where great prepara-allowance is to be made to any witness who resides in the county town where the offence is tried, or within one mile thereof, except in the case of medical or indigent witnesses. Where no indictment has been prepared, or where the trial has not been proceeded with, the Court may still order any person who has attended in obedience to a recognizance to be paid as though they had actually been called upon to give evidence. The order of the Court in any case is not to be made except on a certificate of the counsel acting for the Crown and the County Attorney. The order is to be paid forthwith by the Treasurer for the county, and one-third of the amount so paid is to be reimbursed to the municipality, from the Consolidated Revenue fund.

THE STANDING ARMIES OF THE WORLD.

Just think of it! Three millions of men, or about three-quarters the population of Canada are maintained in the various standing armies of the civilized nations of the world. All these are snatched away from useful industries, and condemned to idleness and a vicious life, while the laboring people are taxed for their support and for the costly armaments they require. The annual amount of military and naval budgets of Europe is $596,963,300; the loss of labor involved by the withdrawal of so many men from productive industry costs $660,874,460; and the interest of capital invested in military and naval establishments amounts to $152,200,000. This makes a total of more than $1,400,000,000 taken every year from the people of Christendom for the maintenance of military establishments. But this is not all; for nearly as many more men are required to wait upon them in some form or other, and they, too, become consumers of the world's supply of food. The first effect of this is that the finances of nearly all European States are embarrassed. On the other hand, let us for a moment suppose that, by an understanding with the great powers, a disarmament in the proportion of one-half was effected. Immediately more than 2,500,000 of men, from twenty to thirty-five years of age, are restored to the labors of peace, and at once an annual saving of $640,000,000, is effected on the totality of European budgets—a sum which would pay off in twenty years all the European national debts.

A novel plan for promoting habits of economy among children has been in successful operation for several years in the public schools of Ghent, Belgium. Savings banks were established in each of the schools, and the children encouraged to deposit their pennies. At the present time 13,000 of the 15,000 scholars attending the public schools in Ghent have succeeded in getting themselves accounts opened at the State savings banks, with about $90,000 to their credit.

Fish for home consumption and shipping..... 13,000

$31,588

NEARLY A MURDER.

A Kingston report gives the following particulars of a shooting affair: W. J. McGinn, a young baker, who had to leave his home in consequence of the drunkenness and disagreeableness of his step-father, John McGinn, hearing that his mother was being abused and the family starved, bought a pistol about eleven a. m. and went down to the house. While he was there his step-father came in and ordered him out, calling him bad names. Young McGinn then carried out his purpose of revenge by firing twice at the elder, who rushed out of the house and fell on the street. One ball entered behind the ear and came out near the nose. He bled so profusely that it was thought he was fatally shot, but the doctors say no vital spot has been touched. The affair created great commotion on the public street, being opposite the barracks. The assailant walked at once to the police station and gave himself up. He has borne the name of being quiet and orderly, and the only known motive for the crime is his affection for his mother and the desire to protect her. He is quite cool and feels as if he had done an unpleasant duty forced upon him. The Whig states that the same afternoon the man so far recovered as to chase a step-daughter around the room.

A SEA-SERPENT CONFLICT WITH A WHALE.

THE Zanzibar correspondent of the Western Morning News, writing under date Oct. 20, says: "The bark Pauline has arrived at Zanzibar, with coals for Her Majesty's ships. When off Cape St. Roque, South America, a sight was presented that made the crew agast—nothing less than the great sea-serpent engaged in the conflict with a whale. It had wound itself twice round the whale, and was twirling it with tremendous velocity, lashing the water into foam. The noise could be distinctly heard on board, and after battling for some time both disappeared. The serpent's length can be imagined. It had two coils around a full-sized sperm whale, with thirty feet clear at each end. Its diameter was from three to four feet. They saw it twice afterward. Once it came very close to the vessel, and raised itself about sixty feet out of the water, as if about to attack them. I have questioned men and officers, trying to find out any discrepancy between their statements, but am a convert to the belief that it was seen." Another naval officer writes to the Western Morning News to precisely the same effect; and the officers of Her Majesty's ships on the station are said to be convinced of the truth of the story.—Liverpool Courier.

General Stisted, first Governor of Ontario. The news received of his demise some time ago must have been premature, or the despatch of last night has been delayed.

FOREIGN.

Oswego farmers are holding their butter for fifty cents a pound.

At the University of Heidelberg this winter there were thirty-nine American students.

Sankey's voice is giving out from over straining. Music, like mercy, must not be strained.

The Duke of Edinburgh is to take command of the Monarch, one of the Channel Squadrons.

The woman suffragists claim that they can count upon at least 55 votes in the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

The Chinese immigration into California last year amounted to 18,144 persons while the State gained a total increase of population of 69,172.

A woman weighing 381 pounds died of suffocation from excessive fat at Stratford, Mass., last week.

No less than thirty-five parties made default yesterday at the Recorder's Court, Montreal, to answer the summons for arrears of taxes.

A Pennsylvania father, ninety years of age, boxed his son's ears severely for abusing his wife. The boy is sixty.

A Roman Catholic priest has refused to perform the funeral service over a man who died in Armagh, on Christmas Day through an overdose of whiskey.

EDUCATION IN JAPAN.—An agricultural college is about to be established in Japan, and President William S. Clark, of the Amherst (U. S.) Agricultural College has leave of absence for a year to superintend its establishment.

MOODY & SANKEY.—The great revivalists commence meetings in New York this week, where great preparations have been made for them. A building capable of holding over 8,000 has been procured and fitted up. Their recent meetings at Philadelphia were, as usual, successful.

An explosion of dynamite occurred recently at Llanbedry Quarry in Wales. Two men named William Morgan and Even Williams went to the smithy where Owen Williams, a blacksmith, and his son were at work. They incautiously placed six dynamite cartridges in a shovel over the fire, instead of putting them in warm water, to prepare them for use. On the cartridges being stirred with a brick a terrible explosion occurred. Morgan's hand was blown off, and the blacksmith's son lost an arm. The blacksmith was blinded. Morgan died next day.

Farm & Fireside

HINTS ABOUT WORK.

An account should be opened with every field upon the farm, and with every kind of stock kept, commencing with the first of the year. Each field should be numbered or named, and whatever labor, seed or manure goes into or upon that field should be charged a fair price, just as if it were sold to a neighbor. When the crop is sold or used, the proceeds should be credited to the field just as if it had been received in payment from a neighbor. If some of it be fed to stock, the stock should be charged with full value, as it had been bought for them, and credited for the amount. To commence the accounts an inventory should be made, and the value of everything fairly estimated and put down. If any work has been done upon the field, and should be charged to it. It may not be very easy at first, but very soon will be, and when once it has been begun it will be kept up. Do not mind some mistakes at first.

Stock should be well fed at this season. Do not spare feed, but do not waste any. It is easier to keep flesh on an animal now than to put it on in March.

Perfect cleanliness should be the rule in all stables, pens and sheds. Filth is the most frequent cause of disease. To much warmth is not healthful. Pure air, dry beds and clean skins, will keep well fed animals in sleek condition.

Icy paths and roads are dangerous for men and beast. After every fall of snow the roads should be broken down with a snow plow or a snow boat, and the paths shoveled out or packed down on a similar manner. A heavy plank drawn along the path will clear off or pack down the snow. Coal ashes or sand are the best materials to scatter upon roads and paths when they become smooth and slippery.

Work horses should be either sharpshod or protected in some other secure manner against slipping on icy roads. Sharp calks are dangerous, and many horses are badly blemished by them. The rubber overshoe is an excellent device. It is an effective prevention against falling or slipping. We do not advise the use of sharp calks.

flame to pass down the wick and explode the lamp.

1. A lamp may be standing on a table or mantel, and a slight puff of air from the open window, or the sudden opening of a door cause an explosion.

2. A lamp may be taken up quickly from a table or mantel and instantly explode.

3. A lamp is taken into an entry where there is a draft, or out of doors, and an explosion ensues.

4. A lighted lamp is taking up a flight of stairs, or is raised quickly to place it on the mantel, resulting in an explosion. In all these cases the mischief is done by the air movement—either by suddenly checking the draft, or forcing air down the chimney against the flame.

5. Blowing down the chimney to extinguish the light is a frequent cause of explosion.

6. Lamp explosions have been caused by the using a chimney broken off at the top, or one that has a piece broken out, whereby the drafts is variable and the flame unsteady.

7. Sometimes a thoughtless person puts a small-sized wick in a larger burner, thus leaving considerable space along the edges of the wick.

8. An old burner, with its air-draughts clogged up, which rightfully should be thrown away, is sometimes continued in use, and the final result is an explosion.—Sci. American.

A GRATE FOR WOOD FIRES.

Insert a broad, strong iron bar securely from side to side of the fireplace, and directly in front, about six inches above the hearth. From this bar let others of like diameter, and about four or five inches apart, extend at right angles to the back of the fireplace, where they must be fastened in the wall, or to a transverse bar or secured properly upon bricks. No andirons are needed with a grate of this kind; the wood burns well, and the ashes fall down and are easily removed. If a second bar is fixed a few inches above the large front bar the danger of the wood rolling forward and out of the fireplace will be averted.—Scribner.

A WARM BED FOR PIGS.

TO THE LADIES.

MRS. JACKSON,

Takes this opportunity of thanking the ladies of Napanee for their kind patronage, since she came to the town, and wishes to intimate to them that she

HAS REMOVED

her place of business to the

SHOP OF S. McLAUGHLIN,

Opposite the

TICHBORNE HOUSE,

Where she will be glad to wait upon all who wish to have their hair re-arranged into

SWITCHES, PUFFS, BRAIDS, &c.

COMBINGS done in first-class style, and all roots turned one way.

Napanee, Jan. 14th '75.

THE PRINCE EDWARD

COUNTY

Mutual Fire Insurance Co'y

HEAD OFFICE—PICTON, ONT.
(Established 30th Sept., 1854).

PRESIDENT—LEWIS B. STINSON
VICE-PRESIDENT—J. VANALSTINE,
MANAGER—L. B. STINSON.
SECRETARY—JOHN TWIGG.

TREASURER—PHILIP LOW, Q. C.
INS. OF LOSSES & A's.—J. HOWELL.
SOLICITOR—W. H. R. ALLISON.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—JAS. JOHNSTON, WILLIAM DELONG, H. A. McFAUL, S. B. HUBBS, WELLINGTON BOULTER.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. Striker Esq., M.P.P., Picton; Robert Clapp Esq., Milford; Ketchan Graham, Esq. M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas A. Lloyd, Jno. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adolphustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee; John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton; George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Thos Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner Esq., Rednerville; Owen Roblin Esq., Ameliasburgh.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, insuring farming property in Townships, and property not more hazardous in Towns and Villages; and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for THREE years either on the Premium Note or Cash System.

25th March. 1874.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Farm & Fireside

HINTS ABOUT WORK.

An account should be opened with every field upon the farm, and with every kind of stock kept, commencing with the first of the year. Each field should be numbered or named, and whatever labor, seed or manure goes into or upon that field should be charged a fair price, just as if it were sold to a neighbor. When the crop is sold or used, the proceeds should be credited to the field just as if it had been received in payment from a neighbor. If some of it be fed to stock, the stock should be charged with full value, as it had been bought for them, and credited for the amount. To commence the accounts an inventory should be made, and the value of everything fairly estimated and put down. If any work has been done upon the field, and should be charged to it. It may not be very easy at first, but very soon will be, and when once it has been begun it will be kept up. Do not mind some mistakes at first.

Stock should be well fed at this season. Do not spare feed, but do not waste any. It is easier to keep flesh on an animal now than to put it on in March.

Perfect cleanliness should be the rule in all stables, pens and sheds. Filth is the most frequent cause of disease. To much warmth is not healthful. Pure air, dry beds and clean skins, will keep well fed animals in sleek condition.

Icy paths and roads are dangerous for men and beast. After every fall of snow the roads should be broken down with a snow plow or a snow boat, and the paths shoveled out or packed down on a similar manner. A heavy plank drawn along the path will clear off or pack down the snow. Coal ashes or sand are the best materials to scatter upon roads and paths when they become smooth and slippery.

Work horses should be either sharpshod or protected in some other secure manner against slipping on icy roads. Sharp calks are dangerous, and many horses are badly blemished by them. The rubber overshoe is an excellent device. It is an effective prevention against falling or slipping. We do not advise the use of sharp calks.

flame to pass down the wick and explode the lamp.

1. A lamp may be standing on a table or mantel, and a slight puff of air from the open window, or the sudden opening of a door cause an explosion.

2. A lamp may be taken up quickly from a table or mantel and instantly explode.

3. A lamp is taken into an entry where there is a draft, or out of doors, and an explosion ensues.

4. A lighted lamp is taking up a flight of stairs, or is raised quickly to place it on the mantel, resulting in an explosion. In all these cases the mischief is done by the air movement—either by suddenly checking the draft, or forcing air down the chimney against the flame.

5. Blowing down the chimney to extinguish the light is a frequent cause of explosion.

6. Lamp explosions have been caused by the using a chimney broken off at the top, or one that has a piece broken out, whereby the drafts is variable and the flame unsteady.

7. Sometimes a thoughtless person puts a small-sized wick in a larger burner, thus leaving considerable space along the edges of the wick.

8. An old burner, with its air-draughts clogged up, which rightfully should be thrown away, is sometimes continued in use, and the final result is an explosion.—Sci. American.

A GRATE FOR WOOD FIRES.

Insert a broad, strong iron bar securely from side to side of the fireplace, and directly in front, about six inches above the hearth. From this bar let others of like diameter, and about four or five inches apart, extend at right angles to the back of the fireplace, where they must be fastened in the wall, or to a transverse bar or secured properly upon bricks. No andirons are needed with a grate of this kind; the wood burns well, and the ashes fall down and are easily removed. If a second bar is fixed a few inches above the large front bar the danger of the wood rolling forward and out of the fireplace will be averted.—Scribner.

A WARM BED FOR PIGS.

TO THE LADIES.

MRS. JACKSON,

Takes this opportunity of thanking the ladies of Napanee for their kind patronage, since she came to the town, and wishes to intimate to them that she

HAS REMOVED

her place of business to the

SHOP OF S. McLAUGHLIN,

Opposite the

TITCHBORNE HOUSE,

Where she will be glad to wait upon all who wish to have their hair re-arranged into

SWITCHES, PUFFS, BRAIDS, &c.

COMBINES done in first-class style, and all roots turned one way.

Napanee, Jan. 14th '75.

THE PRINCE EDWARD

COUNTY

Mutual Fire Insurance Co'y

HEAD OFFICE—PICTON, ONT.
(Established 30th Sept., 1854).

PRESIDENT—LEWIS B. STINSON
VICE-PRESIDENT—J. VANALSTINE,
MANAGER—L. B. STINSON.
SECRETARY—JOHN TWIGG.
TREASURER—PHILIP LOW, Q. C.
INS. OF LOSSES & A's.—J. HOWELL.
SOLICITOR—W. H. R. ALLISON.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—JAS. JOHNSTON, WILLIAM DELONG, H. A. McFAUL, S. B. HUBBS, WELLINGTON BOULTER.

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. Striker Esq., M.P.P., Pictou; Robert Clapp Esq., Milford; Ketchan Graham, Esq. M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas A. Lloyd, Jno. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adolphustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee; John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton; George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Thos Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner Esq., Rednerville; Owen Roblin Esq., Ameliasburgh.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, insuring farming property in Townships, and property not more hazardous in Towns and Villages; and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for THREE years either on the Premium Note or Cash System.

25th March. 1874.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

ful. Pure air, dry beds and clean skins, will keep well fed animals in sleek condition.

Icy paths and roads are dangerous for men and beast. After every fall of snow the roads should be broken down with a snow plow or a snow boat, and the paths shoveled out or packed down on a similar manner. A heavy plank drawn along the path will clear off or pack down the snow. Coal ashes or sand are the best materials to scatter upon roads and paths when they become smooth and slippery.

Work horses should be either sharp-shod or protected in some other secure manner against slipping on icy roads. Sharp calks are dangerous, and many horses are badly blemished by them. The rubber overshoe is an excellent device. It is an effective prevention against falling or slipping. We do not advise the use of sharp calks when these can be produced.

In-coming cows should be well cared for. Some linseed cake, meal or bran in their feed will do no harm, but more exciting food should be avoided. A roomy stall or loose box should be provided in which the cow may remain at night without being tied. Milking cows will be benefited by a pailful of milk-warm water with two quarts of bran or middlings stirred in twice a day. Cold water for milking will greatly reduce the quantity of milk.

Young stock will need close attention to keep thriving and free from vermin. A mixture of lard and kerosene oil rubbed along the backbone from head to tail will free them from lice. Young animals need better protection from the cold than full grown ones, which have thicker hides, and are better furnished with fat as a protection from the cold.

Sheep should have plenty of exercise and fresh air. Above all things they should not be allowed to lie upon warm manure piles, which they will do if permitted. A pailful of boiling water should be put in the trough to take the chill off from the water. This is especially useful in colds for lamb ewes to which a chill from drinking ice water may be hurtful. Where they are yarded they should be kept dry. Dry feet are never troubled with the foot-rot.

This is the best season to repair and paint wagons, carts and implements. Everything of the kind should be put in the best order for future use.

A GRATE FOR WOOD FIRES.

Insert a broad, strong iron bar securely from side to side of the fireplace, and directly in front, about six inches above the hearth. From this bar let others of like diameter, and about four or five inches apart, extend at right angles to the back of the fireplace, where they must be fastened in the wall, or to a transverse bar, or secured properly upon bricks. No andirons are needed with a grate of this kind; the wood burns well, and the ashes fall down and are easily removed. If a second bar is fixed a few inches above the large front bar the danger of the wood rolling forward and out of the fireplace will be averted—Scribner.

A WARM BED FOR PIGS.

To make a hog profitable, you should not let him ever see a winter; and we think we have satisfied ourselves that spring pigs, well kept and nursed, is far less expensive, and yield more in return for their keep, than those which are fifteen or eighteen months old. Every observant farmer knows that if his cattle are not sheltered from cold weather and storms, they will require much more food to keep them in tolerable order than if they are kept warm and comfortable. Just so it is with pigs. If they are suffered to run over your premises in the snow and sleet, without a warm and dry bed of clean straw to resort to when they choose, they will not only, in all probability, come out with mange in the spring, but every grunt they give will convince you that all food they have devoured has been thrown away: for shoats that have a cold, damp, uncomfortable bed, will get mangy, and mangy pigs cannot grow. Let any one who has a mind to try the experiment, take two pigs of the same litter, suffering the one to run as above, and let the other be well-fed and well-housed, and it will be found that the superior growth of the latter will pay for the care bestowed on him with good interest. Hogs that are confined, and cannot get to the earth, will frequently be benefited by having a little charcoal, soft brick-bats, or soft rotten wood thrown into them; and a trifling quantity of brimstone, mixed in their food occasionally is an excellent thing.

Scene at a Brooklyn wedding breakfast. Company all seated about the table. A pause in the general conver-

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. STRIKER Esq., M.P.P., Picton; Robert Clapp Esq., Milford; Ketchan Graham, Esq. M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas A. Lloyd, Jno. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adolphustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee; John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton; George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Thos Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner Esq., Rednerville; Owen Roblin Esq., Ameliasburgh.

This Company is established upon strictly Mutual principles, Insuring farming property in Townships, and property not more hazardous in Towns and Villages; and offers great advantages to insurers at low rates for THREE years either on the Premium Note to Cash System.

25th March. 1874.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

THE GRAND principle that operates in these wonderful medicine is the power they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Lumbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats; Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetters, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on each.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; greatly varying in buying large sizes.

Metropolitan Medicine Co., Props.

9, College Place, New York.

J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,

WHOLESALE AGENTS. NEW YORK

STOLEN.

From the premises of the undersigned, Lot 3d, 2d Con. Sheffield, on the night of Thursday, 12th inst., a Dark Bay Blood Mare, fair size, four years old. Has black Main, natural plat, and Black Feet up to knees; white star on forehead. Any person giving such information as will lead to the recovery of the beast will be handsomely rewarded.

WM. WEST. Sr.

BOARDERS

A few respectable boarders can be comfortably entertained at reasonable rates, in West Napanee.

V Under and tes Towns ed offer ion, an Towns Front: These did pin For p

TO

Any disease to the Martin Napan

Auth Invoice cent.

Unques

Hai

The excellent n tion to 1 when we trates ev of the ed public in The ch for vari literary c has not 1 tors to re The Mag the days Some c have fir In all res fully des Ledger.

Posta HARPE $4.00 in publishe Subscr LY, and: $10.00; o address: An Ex WEEKLY every Cl in one r without

Back 2 A Com comprisi will be s purchas by mail. ing, 58 ce A Com

of maddings stirred in twice a day. Cold water for milking will greatly reduce the quantity of milk.

Young stock will need close attention to keep thriving and free from vermin. A mixture of lard and kerosene oil rubbed along the backbone from head to tail will free them from lice. Young animals need better protection from the cold than full grown ones, which have thicker hides, and are better furnished with fat as a protection from the cold.

Sheep should have plenty of exercise and fresh air. Above all things they should not be allowed to lie upon warm manure piles, which they will do if permitted. A pailful of boiling water should be put in the trough to take the chill off from the water. This is especially useful in colds for lamb ewes to which a chill from drinking ice water may be hurtful. Where they are yarded they should be kept dry. Dry feet are never troubled with the foot-rot.

This is the best season to repair and paint wagons, carts and implements. Everything of the kind should be put in the best order for future use.

WHY AND WHEN LAMPS EXPLODE.

All explosions of coal-oil lamps are caused by the vapour or gas that collects in the space above the oil. When full of oil, of course a lamp contains no gas, but immediately on lighting the lamps consumption of oil begins, soon leaving a space for gas, which commences to form as lamp warms up, and after burning a short time sufficient gas will accumulate to form an explosion. The gas in a lamp will explode only when ignited. In this respect it is like gunpowder. Cheap or inferior oil is always the most dangerous.

The flame is communicated to the gas in the following manner:—The wick tube in all lamp burners is made larger than the wick which is to pass through it. It would not do to have the wick work tightly in the burner; on the contrary, it is essential that it move up and down with perfect ease. In this way it is unavoidable that space in the tube is left along the sides of the wick sufficient for the flame from the burner to pass down into the lamp and explode the gas.

Many things may occur to cause the tolerable order than if they are kept warm and comfortable. Just so it is with pigs. If they are suffered to run over your premises in the snow and sleet, without a warm and dry bed of clean straw to resort to when they choose, they will not only, in all probability, come out with mange in the spring, but every grunt they give will convince you that all food they have devoured has been thrown away: for shoats that have a cold, damp, uncomfortable bed, will get mangy, and mangy pigs cannot grow. Let any one who has a mind to try the experiment, take two pigs of the same litter, suffering the one to run as above, and let the other be well-fed and well-housed, and it will be found that the superior growth of the latter will pay for the care bestowed on him with good interest. Hogs that are confined, and cannot get to the earth, will frequently be benefited by having a little charcoal, soft brick-bats, or soft rotten wood thrown into them; and a trifling quantity of brimstone, mixed in their food occasionally is an excellent thing.

Scene at a Brooklyn wedding breakfast. Company all seated about the table. A pause in the general conversation. Happy husband, to his wife's seven-year-old sister at the other end of the room: "Well, Julie, you have a new brother now." Julie: "Yes, but mother said to papa the other day that she is afraid that you would never amount to much, but that it seemed to be Sarah's last chance." Intense silence for a moment, followed by a rapid play of knives and forks.

WORTH $10 TO ANY FARMER.

Take one part (by weight) resin, one part beeswax, and four parts good fresh or sound lard. Mix and melt well together over a slow fire, so as to be sure not burn the mixture. It makes an ointment that is superior to anything that I have seen tried for the flesh of either horses or cattle, for fresh or old sores, and especially good to remove old, dry scabs. It softens the scab, and it comes off, leaving the skin soft and tough.

The mixture is the best thing I ever used for boots or shoes for out-door wear, as it makes spongy leather waterproof, and hard leather soft—S. D., in Southern Cultivator."

Mrs. Ross thinks Charley is alive.

Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetters, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on each.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; great saving in buying large sizes. Metropolitan Medicine Co., Props. 9, College Place, New York. J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., WHOLESALE AGENTS. NEW YORK

STOLEN.

From the premises of the undersigned, Lot 3d, 2d Con. Sheffield, on the night of Thursday, 12th inst., a Dark Bay Blood Mare, fair size, four years old. Has black Main, natural plat, and Black Feet up to knees; white star on forehead. Any person giving such information as will lead to the recovery of the beast will be handsomely rewarded. WM. WEST. Sr.

BOARDERS

A few respectable boarders can be comfortably entertained at reasonable rates, in West Napanee.

Apply to [MRS. BENNETT,

EXTENSIVE FARM FOR SALE.

Lots 3 and 4, 3rd Concession of Sheffield, containing in all 300 Acres of Land, 200 of which are in the very best state of cultivation, is offered for sale by the undersigned, as he is unable longer to work his farm. The property is situated within three miles of Tamworth, and is bounded on the north by White Lake, and is one of the best grain producing farms in the township. There are 175 Acres of best quality of wood.

There is a Frame House and three barns on the place, a splendid orchard, wherein the best of fruit is raised, and a never failing supply of water.

In addition to the above, I will sell the entire stock on the premises, consisting of 10 Cows, 3 span of Horses, two span of which are blood, 20 sheep, 10 hogs, best quality, as well as all the farming implements on the place, such as plows, drags, cultivators, threshing machine, reaper and mower, roller, waggons, sleighs, cutters, buggies, and other things too numerous to mention. Will sell the whole for $11,000. Terms, one half down, balance yearly payments.

For further information enquire of Wm. Miller, or T. W. Casey.

WM. WEST.

Unques

Hai

The excellent condition to which when we treat of the education of the public mind. The cl for var literary has not. The Mag the day. Some have fir in all re fully de Ledger.

Posta HARPI $4.00 i publish. Subsc LY, and $10.00; c address. An E WEEKLY every Cl in one r without

Back A Con compri will be i purchas by mail ing, 58 c A Con Fifty Vc been pu ence the which c ulated Half Ca A seri First Ce the mo being pt series of hensive now close ife. Newsy ment wi BROTHE Address

WOI

Manuf

WAT

Having to our pr orders of the most

'S.

TU

CON

PUBLISH of YOUNG NERVOR ect givis going ma free on re ANAddre 33, Brook of muds stirred in twice a day. Cold water for milking will greatly reduce the quantity of milk.

Young stock will need close attention to keep thriving and free from vermin. A mixture of lard and kerosene oil rubbed along the backbone from head to tail will free them from lice. Young animals need better protection from the cold than full grown ones, which have thicker hides, and are better furnished with fat as a protection from the cold.

Sheep should have plenty of exercise and fresh air. Above all things they should not be allowed to lie upon warm manure piles, which they will do if permitted. A pailful of boiling water should be put in the trough to take the chill off from the water. This is especially useful in colds for lamb ewes to which a chill from drinking ice water may be hurtful. Where they are yarded they should be kept dry. Dry feet are never troubled with the foot-rot.

This is the best season to repair and paint wagons, carts and implements. Everything of the kind should be put in the best order for future use.

WHY AND WHEN LAMPS EXPLODE.

All explosions of coal-oil lamps are caused by the vapour or gas that collects in the space above the oil. When full of oil, of course a lamp contains no gas, but immediately on lighting the lamps consumption of oil begins, soon leaving a space for gas, which commences to form as lamp warms up, and after burning a short time sufficient gas will accumulate to form an explosion. The gas in a lamp will explode only when ignited. In this respect it is like gunpowder. Cheap or inferior oil is always the most dangerous.

The flame is communicated to the gas in the following manner:—The wick tube in all lamp burners is made larger than the wick which is to pass through it. It would not do to have the wick work tightly in the burner; on the contrary, it is essential that it move up and down with perfect ease. In this way it is unavoidable that space in the tube is left along the sides of the wick sufficient for the flame from the burner to pass down into the lamp and explode the gas.

Many things may occur to cause the

tolerable order than if they are kept warm and comfortable. Just so it is with pigs. If they are suffered to run over your premises in the snow and sleet, without a warm and dry bed of clean straw to resort to when they choose, they will not only, in all probability, come out with mange in the spring, but every grunt they give will convince you that all food they have devoured has been thrown away: for shoats that have a cold, damp, uncomfortable bed, will get mangy, and mangy pigs cannot grow. Let any one who has a mind to try the experiment, take two pigs of the same litter, suffering the one to run as above, and let the other be well-fed and well-housed, and it will be found that the superior growth of the latter will pay for the care bestowed on him with good interest. Pigs that are confined, and cannot get to the earth, will frequently be benefited by having a little charcoal, soft brick-bats, or soft rotten wood thrown into them; and a trifling quantity of brimstone, mixed in their food occasionally is an excellent thing.

Scene at a Brooklyn wedding breakfast. Company all seated about the table. A pause in the general conversation. Happy husband, to his wife's seven-year-old sister at the other end of the room: "Well, Julie, you have a new brother now." Julie: "Yes, but mother said to papa the other day that she is afraid that you would never amount to much, but that it seemed to be Sarah's last chance." Intense silence for a moment, followed by a rapid play of knives and forks.

WORTH $10 TO ANY FARMER.

Take one part (by weight) resin, one part beeswax, and four parts good fresh or sound lard. Mix and melt well together over a slow fire, so as to be sure not burn the mixture. It makes an ointment that is superior to anything that I have seen tried for the flesh of either horses or cattle, for fresh or old sores, and especially good to remove old, dry scabs. It softens the scab, and it comes off, leaving the skin soft and tough.

The mixture is the best thing I ever used for boots or shoes for out-door wear, as it makes spongy leather waterproof, and hard leather soft—S. D., in Southern Cultivator."

Mrs. Ross thinks Charley is alive.

Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetters, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on each.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; great saving in buying large sizes.

Metropolitan Medicine Co., Props.
9, College Place, New York.
J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,
WHOLESALE AGENTS. NEW YORK

STOLEN.

From the premises of the undersigned, Lot 3d, 2d Con. Sheffield, on the night of Thursday, 12th inst., a Dark Bay Blood Mare, fair size, four years old. Has black Main, natural plat, and Black Feet up to knees; white star on forehead. Any person giving such information as will lead to the recovery of the beast will be handsomely rewarded.
WM. WEST. Sr.

BOARDERS

A few respectable boarders can be comfortably entertained at reasonable rates, in West Napanee.

Apply to [MRS. BENNETT,

EXTENSIVE FARM FOR SALE.

Lots 3 and 4, 3rd Concession of Sheffield, containing in all 300 Acres of Land, 200 of which are in the very best state of cultivation, is offered for sale by the undersigned, as he is unable longer to work his farm. The property is situated within three miles of Tamworth, and is bounded on the north by White Lake, and is one of the best grain producing farms in the township. There are 175 Acres of best quality of wood.

There is a Frame House and three barns on the place, a splendid orchard, wherein the best of fruit is raised, and a never failing supply of water.

In addition to the above, I will sell the entire stock on the premises, consisting of 10 Cows, 3 span of Horses, two span of which are blood, 20 Sheep, 10 hogs, best quality, as well as all the farming implements on the place, such as plows, drags, cultivators, threshing machine, reaper and mower, roller, waggons, sleighs, cutters, buggies, and other things too numerous to mention.

Will sell the whole for $11,000. Terms, one half down, balance yearly payments.

For further information enquire of Wm. Miller, or T. W. Casey.

WM. WEST.

Unques

Hai

The excellent tion to when we trates ev of the ed public n
The cl for var literary has not tors to r
The Mag
the day
Some have fir
In one r fully de Ledger.

Posta
HARPI
$4.00 i publish Subsc
LY, and $10.00; c address
An E WEEKL every Cl in one r without

Back
A Con
compris will be purchas by mail ing, 58 c
A Con
Fifty V been pu ence the which c ustrated
Half Ca
A seri
First Ce
the mor being pr series of hensive now close ife.
Newspr
ment wi
BROTHER
Address

WOI

Manuf

WAT

Having to our p orders o
the most
's.

TU

CON

PUBLISH of YOUNG NERVOU
ect giv going m
free on r
ANAddr
33, Brook

NOTICE.

Dissolution of Partnership

THE partnership heretofore subsisting between the undersigned, carrying on trade and business as Druggists and Booksellers, in the Village of Tamworth, in the County of Lennox and Addington, under the name or firm of Aylsworth & Huffman, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All Accounts, Notes, Judgments in Courts, or other debts due the said firm, are to be paid to James Aylsworth, who will pay the liabilities of the said firm.

Napanee, December 31st, 1875.

(Signed) JAS. AYLSWORTH,
JAS. C. HUFFMAN.

WITNESS:

T. A. HUFFMAN.

In reference to the above I beg to say I will continue the same business in the same premises, and hope by strict attention and fair dealing to receive a share of public patronage. All parties indebted to the late firm of Aylsworth & Huffman are requested to call at once and pay up, for cash will be wanted more promptly than heretofore to successfully carry on the business.

Sincerely thanking the public for the liberal patronage bestowed on the late firm, under my management, and purposing to merit a continuance thereof, I wish you the compliments of the season, and invite you to call and examine goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

Your much obliged servant,
JAS. AYLSWORTH.

Tamworth, January 1st, 1876. 43-3t

VALUABLE PINE LOTS FOR SALE

Under the powers contained in the last will and testament of Peter Carroll, late of the Township of Camden, deceased, the undersigned offer for sale lot no. 14 in the 12th concession, and lot no. 14 in the 13th concession of the Township of Hinchinbrook, in the county of Frontenac.

These lots are heavily timbered with splendid pine.

For particulars enquire of

43-8kn

THOMAS KIDD.
MATHEW RYAE.
Executors

TO THE SUFFERING.

CANCER CURE.

Any person afflicted with the above disease can be cured by either writing to the undersigned, or calling on B. C. Martin, Centre Street, near Depot, Napanee.

FALL 1875.

ONTARIO DRUG STORE

WINTER, 1876.

Our Stock of LAMPS is now complete, comprising the NEWEST DESIGNS and Latest Improvements of the day, including

THE CELEBRATED REFLECTOR HANGING LAMP,

Which can be lighted, filled and trimmed, without removing shade or
ney. Equal to any two light chandelier. No Explosions.

The most economical Lamp in the Market.

—also—

BRONZE AND FIGURED LAMPS,

FOOTED, GLASS AND HAND LAMPS,

VARIOUS SIZES AND PATTERNS

SHADES, GLOBES, CHANDELIERS, BRACKETS AND LAMP FIXTURES OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS,

—AT THE—

LOWEST POSSIBLE CASH VALUE.

DETLOR & SCOTT.

Napanee, Nov. 5th, 1875.

Ontario

Napanea, Nov. 5th, 1875.

Under the powers contained in the last will and testament of Peter Carroll, late of the Township of Camden, deceased, the undersigned offer for sale lot no. 14 in the 12th concession, and lot no. 14 in the 13th concession of the Township of Hinchinbrook, in the county of Frontenac.

These lots are heavily timbered with splendid pine.

For particulars enquire of 43-8kn

THOMAS KIDD,
MATHEW RYAE.
Executors

TO THE SUFFERING. CANCER CURE.

Any person afflicted with the above disease can be cured by either writing to the undersigned, or calling on B. C. Martin, Centre Street, near Depot, Napanea.

NO CURE NO PAY.

J. I. MARTIN.

43-8in

Napanea.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT.

Ottawa, Nov. 12th, 1875.

Authorized Discount on American Invoices until further notice, 12 per cent.

J. JOHNSON.

Commissioner.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED

Notices of the Press.

The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public minds.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Some of the most popular of modern novels have first appeared as serials in this Magazine. In all respects, it is an excellent periodical, and fully deserves its great success.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TERMS:

Postage free to all Subscribers in Canada.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, one year.....

$4.00 includes prepayment of postage by the publishers.

Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR, to one address for one year, $10.00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7.00: postage free.

An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of FIVE SUBSCRIBERS at $4.00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20.00, without extra copy: postage free.

Back Numbers can be supplied at any time.

A Complete Set of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, now comprising 51 Volumes, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, freight at expense of purchaser, for $2.25 per volume. Single volumes, by mail, postpaid, $3.00. Cloth cases, for binding, 58 cents, by mail, postpaid.

A Complete Analytical Index to the first

Ontario

THE BEST PATRONIZED, MOST THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL

BUSINESS SCHOOL IN CANADA

An institution for Business training, where Boys, Young and Middle-aged Men can procure an Education suited to the wants of every day life.

The subjects taught are just such as every Merchant, Farmer, Mechanic and Professional Man require in transacting every day business, and embrace the following:—

Book-Keeping by Single and Double Entry, Spencerian Penmanship, Commercial Paper Baking, Steamboating, Correspondence, Arithmetic, Brokerage, Spelling, Commercial Law, Practical Grammar, Mechanical Drawing, Actual Business Course, Telegraphing, Phonography, &c.

Our Course of Training is under the supervision of

SEVEN COMPETENT AND EXPERIENCED TEACHERS.

Our Patronage is much larger, and our terms less than any other Business College in Canada. The united admission of over one thousand of our Graduates, now filling lucrative positions as Accountants and Telegraph Operators, are the guarantees of competency and success we offer.

Specimens of Penmanship and College Journal sent "free of charge," on application to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, Ont.

3

MONEY TO LEND.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

Are weekly lending large amounts of money at low rates of interest, and on the terms specified in the following table:—

REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments on each $100 loaned, for periods varying from two to twenty years.

No. of	2	4	5	6	8	10	15
YEARS.	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	$6 15	$5 43
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 84	22 45	18 20	15 72	12 55	11 12

The full amount of the loan is advanced (no commission being charged), and the above payments, if properly met, cancel the whole mortgage, interest as well as principal. They also lend upon the terms of the whole principal being paid at the end of a term of years, and the interest payable annually.

Apri

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

Commissioner.
 'Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World.'
Harper's Magazine.
ILLUSTRATED
Notices of the Press.

The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public minds.—Boston Globe.
 The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with it, it has not let the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.
 Some of the most popular of modern novels have first appeared as serials in this Magazine. In all respects, it is an excellent periodical, and fully deserves its great success.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TERMS:
 Postage free to all Subscribers in Canada.
 HARPER'S MAGAZINE, one year.....
 $4.00 includes prepayment of postage by the publishers.
 Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR, to one address for one year, $10.00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7.00: postage free.
 An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of FIVE SUBSCRIBERS at $4.00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20.00, without extra copy: postage free.
 Back Numbers can be supplied at any time
 A Complete Set of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, now comprising 51 Volumes, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, freight at expense of purchaser, for $2.25 per volume. Single volumes, by mail, postpaid, $3.00. Cloth cases, for binding, 58 cents, by mail, postpaid.
 A Complete Analytical Index to the first Fifty Volumes of HARPER'S MAGAZINE has just been published, rendering available for reference the vast and varied wealth of information which constitutes this periodical a perfect illustrated literary cyclopedia. 8vo, Cloth, $3.00; Half Calif, $5.25. Sent postage prepaid.
 A series of papers under the title of "The First Century of the Republic," contributed by the most eminent American publicists, is now being published in HARPER'S MAGAZINE. This series of over twenty papers gives a comprehensive review of Progress during the century now closing, in every department of our national life.
 Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.
 Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

WORK DONE CHEAP!
 AT
S. HUFF & SONS,
Manufacturers of Sash, Doors, Blinds
Window Frames, &c., &c.,
 WATER STREET, NAPANEE, ONT.

Having recently added some new machinery to our premises, we are prepared to execute all orders entrusted to us on very short notice, and the most reasonable terms.
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.
TURNING DONE TO ORDER

CONFESSIONS OF A VICTIM.
 PUBLISHED AS A WARNING and for the benefit of YOUNG MEN and OTHERS who suffer from NERVOUS DEBILITY, LOSS OF MANHOOD, &c., giving his rules of Self-Cure, after undergoing much suffering and expense, and mailed free on receiving a post-paid directed envelope to Address NATHIEL MAYFAIR, P. O. Box 33, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Our Course of Training is under the supervision of SEVEN COMPETENT AND EXPERIENCED TEACHERS.
 Our Patronage is much larger, and our terms less than any other Business College in Canada. The united admission of over one thousand of our Graduates, now filling lucrative positions as Accountants and Telegraph Operators, are the guarantees of competency and success we offer.
 Specimens of Penmanship and College Journal sent "free of charge," on application to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, Ont.

MONEY TO LEND.
MESSRS. WILLIAMS & HOOPER.
 Are weekly lending large amounts of money at low rates of interest, and on the terms specified in the following table:—
REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments on each $100 loaned, for periods varying from two to twenty years.

No. of YEARS.	2 YEARS	4 YEARS	5 YEARS	6 YEARS	8 YEARS	10 YEARS	15 YEARS
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	$6 15
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 84	22 45	18 20	15 72	12 55

The full amount of the loan is advanced (no commission being charged), and the above payments, if properly met, cancel the whole mortgage, interest as well as principal. They also lend upon the terms of the whole principal being paid at the end of a term of years, and the interest payable annually.
WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

TOYS TOYS TOYS
AND FANCY GOODS.

$1,000 WORTH TO BE DISPOSED OF BEFORE CHRISTMAS,

At whatever they will fetch, as I intend to go out of these two lines. will sell off at

HALF THE COST

to get rid of them, so come along and get bargains at

WOODS TOBACCO STORE
SIGN OF THE INDIAN AT THE DOOR.

JUST ARRIVED.

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW HATS AND CAPS, FOR THE SPRING TRADE.

ALL NEW STYLES, AND CHEAP.

—:O:—

ALSO,

NEW BOOTS and SHOES, Arriving Daily;

A LARGE QUANTITY OF CLOTHING and GENTS
FURNISHING GOODS,

AT VERY LOW PRICES,

ALL WINTER GOODS AT COST.

BOOTS MADE TO ORDER

—AND—

REPAIRING DONE ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

ROSE & EMPEY.

STOVES, STOVE, STOVES

—:O:—

OUR STOCK OF

STOVES IS NOW COMPLETE

IN EVERY DEPTNT,

AND INTENDING PURCHASERS SHOULD EXAMINE OUR

REMOVAL.

F. W. FELSON HARNESS-MAKER,
MILL POINT.

Wishes to announce to the citizens of Mill Point and surrounding country,
that he has

REMOVED HIS HARNESS SHOP.

To the premises one door East of the store of Olimie, Millner and Co.,
where he intends to manufacture and
keep on hand a general stock of Harness, Whips, Curry-Combs, Brushes
and everything in his line, of the best description, as cheap as can be obtained elsewhere.

CALL AND EXAMIN.

F. W. FELSON.

Napanee, Oct. 3rd, 1874.

HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED - 1810.

CAPITAL, $1,000,000.

A MOUNT DEPOSITED IN CAN-ADA in accordance with the Ac-$130,000.

Insures property against fire as low
as any other reliable company. All losses equitably adjusted and promptly
paid in Canada funds or Gold. Isolated dwellings insured at exceedingly
low rates.

H. L. GEDDES, Agent
for Napanee and vicinity

A Gem worth Reading!—A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES.

By reading our Illustrated PHYSIOLOGY

AND ANATOMY of the

EYESIGHT. Tells

how to Restore Impair-

ed Vision and Overworked Eyes; how

to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and

Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING

HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DIS-

FIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100

pages Mailed Free. Send your address

to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $7 to $10 a day guaranteed.

Full particulars free. Write immediately,

to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 967,

No. 91 Liberty St., New York City, N. Y.

MANUFACTURERS, NOTICE!

The undersigned having purchased
at Public Auction, the Estate of F.
Lane and Brocher, Insolvent Debtors,
begs to notify the public, that he will
continue the Manufacturing business,
formerly carried on by them in West
Napanee.

Wanted immediately, One Thousand
Cords of first-class Shingle Bolts, either
Cedar or Pine. Also, Five Hundred
Cords first-class Water Elm, Soft Ma-
tto and Ash Stave Bolts, 1 to be Thir-

OUR STOCK OF

STOVES IS NOW COMPLETE

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT,

AND INTENDING PURCHASERS SHOULD EXAMINE OUR

STOCK AND GET OUR

PRICES BEFORE PURCHASING.

Napane, Oct. 13th,

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

R. DOWNEY & BROS

ARE SHOWING THEIR

FALL IMPORTATIONS.

Embracing the greatest possible variety of the Newest and most Attractive Styles

And containing some of the Best Lines of the leading Manufacturers.

WE HAVE THE REPUTATION OF KEEPING THE

MOST ATTRACTIVE GOODS

And our Imports of the Present Season give evidence of the bestowment of much care and taste in the selection.

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES,

By reading our Illustrated

PHYSIOLOGY

AND ANATOMY of the

EYESIGHT. Tells

how to Restore Impair-

ed Vision and Overworked Eyes; how

to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and

Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING

HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DIS-

FIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100

pages Mailed Free. Send your address

to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $7 to $10 a day guaranteed.

Full particulars sent free. Write immediately,

to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 967,

No. 91 Liberty St., New York City, N. Y.

MANUFACTURERS, NOTICE!

The undersigned having purchased at Public Auction, the Estate of F. Lane and Broeher, Insolvent Debtors, begs to notify the public, that he will continue the Manufacturing business, formerly carried on by them in West Napanee.

Wanted immediately, One Thousand Cords of first-class Shingle Bolts, either Cedar or Pine. Also, Five Hundred Cords first-class Water Elm, Soft Maple and Ash Stave Bolts, $\frac{1}{2}$ to be Thirteen Eight inches long, and the balance $\frac{1}{2}$ to be Thirty-Two inches long. Bills will soon be sent out among the farmers.

CHARLES LANE.

Napane. Jan. 5th, 1875.

HULETT'S COLORED

PORTRAITS WON

FIRST PRIZE AT THE MIDLAND FAIR

See our collection of large beautiful colored portraits that won the first and highest prize in the Photographic Art at the Midland Central Fair. (See prize list). As I now hold the palm in this department, I can give the best satisfaction in the town, and at the lowest living prices. I've spared neither pains nor expense to give my customers pictures that are second to none in this part of the country. Call and examine. My work will bear the closest inspection, Cabinet Photos and Carte de Visites taken and finished in all the latest and improved styles. Strict attention paid in copying and enlarging old pictures of deceased friends to any required size, and made almost as natural as when living. Please give us a call. Next door to Downey's.

J. S. HULETT,

Photographer, Napane.

JOSEPH MOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions and speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is especially suited. It will, in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all Cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed; and although powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel or anything hurtful to the constitution.

R. DOWNEY & BROS

ARE SHOWING THEIR

FALL IMPORTATIONS.

Embracing the greatest possible variety of the Newest and most Attractive Styles

And containing some of the Best Lines of the leading Manufacturers.

WE HAVE THE REPUTATION OF KEEPING THE

MOST ATTRACTIVE GOODS

And our Imports of the Present Season give evidence of the bestowment of much care and taste in the selection.

EVERY DEPARTMENT

Will Exhibit a Completeness Beyond Anything we have Reached in any Former Season.

DRESS! GOODS,
WINCEYS, LUSTRES,
SHAWLS,
JACKETS,
SEAL SKINS,
MANTLES,
HOSIERY,
GLOVES,
CARPETS,
MATTINGS,
FLOWERS, FEATHERS, RIBBONS,
SILKS,
FANCY GOODS,
BERLIN WOOLS,

TWEEDS AND CLOTHS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
AND IN FACT

Full Lines in Every Department.

We would simply say in reference to our Stock.

SEE IT, AND, FURTHER, SEE IT EARLY!

R. DOWNEY & BROS.

Art at the Midland Central Fair. (See prize list). As I now hold the palm in this department, I can give the best satisfaction in the town, and at the lowest living prices. I've spared neither pains nor expense to give my customers pictures that are second to none in this part of the country. Call and examine. My work will bear the closest inspection, Cabinet Photos and Carte de Visites taken and finished in all the latest and improved styles. Strict attention paid in copying and enlarging old pictures of deceased friends to any required size, and made almost as natural as when living. Please give us a call. Next door to Downey's.

J. S. HUEETT,
Photographer, Napanee.

JOB MOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions and a speedy cure may be relied on.

FOR MARRIED LADIES

It is especially suited. It will, in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all Cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR $1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sold in Napanee by all Druggists. Mailed by W. G. Egan, The World Aylsworth and Napanee, and a medicine dealers.

LET NAPANEE FLOURISH

Are you aware that you can have

ALL KINDS OF JEWELRY

MANUFACTURED AT HOME,

without sending to a distance for it, where you are paying

TWO PROFITS ON YOUR GOODS?

If not, learn now and forever, that I not only sell, but manufacture everything

IN THE JEWELRY LINE

on my premises, so that you will effect

A GREAT SAVING,

by giving me a call before going elsewhere.

ENGRAVING

of all kinds done on short notice, the services of a First-class Engraver having been secured for that purpose.

A larger stock than ever before of

WATCHES, CLOCKS,

EAR & FINGER RINGS,

BROOCHES, CHAINS,

NECKLETS, SILVER-WARE,

which cannot fail to suit the taste of the most fastidious.

F. W. SMITH

NOTICE

In the

of Lennox

In the

Stevens

Notice

undersig

day of J o'clock i judge of County

letters o

of the

Stevens

of the su

America

of insur

deceased

ance Co

Dated

D. 1875.

} b

La

A desire

For s within o

on the m ed for good h

stream

TE

A

25-tf

FURNITURE! FURNITURE!

A FULL STOCK OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

AS USUAL.

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Planing, &c.

Call and get Price List of Sash and Doors and cut of our Mouldings.

Undertaking Department C

COFFINS OF ALL SIZES AND F

Shrouds, Scarfs, &c.,

J. C. GREEN

LARGEST AND CHEAPEST

LOT OF LAMPS IN NAPANEE,

JUST RECEIVED AT

MALLORY'S DRUG STORE.

SAVE TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT BY BUYING OF HIM,

For he defies any person to compete with his prices.

at the place,

M. B. MALLORY'S DRUG STORE,

Opposite A. C. Davis & Bro's.

FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF NAPANEE

A Brick Store and dwelling adjoining Blewett's Bakery, together with the open space at the side of the building. The Lot has 40 feet frontage on the Market Square, running back to Bridge Street with the same frontage. There is on the premises, both hard and soft water in abundance, and a good Frame Barn suitable for stabling or for storage. The property is in the most desirable place that can be offered in the Town of Napanee. A full description in farm products, butter, poultry, etc., and may be used to the advantage for a great many purposes. For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

He has the largest and best assortment of first-class stoves and ranges, and every stove warranted to give satisfaction.

Pumps, Sinks, Lead Pipe, Brass Kettles, Beer Pumps, Bird Cages, Baths, Butter Bowls, Prints,	Agricultural Furnaces Coal Grates, Enamelled Ware, Fire Baskets, Roses, Sifters, Milk Pans, Milking Pails, Trainer Pails, Galvanized Iron Pails.
--	--

A call respectfully solicited.

A. McLEOD,

Napanee Stove De

Jno. A. REID

THE LARGEST AND CHEAPEST

LOT OF LAMPS IN NAPANEE,

JUST RECEIVED AT

MALLORY'S DRUG STORE.

YOU CAN SAVE TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT BY BUYING OF HIM.

For he defies any person to compete with his prices.

Remember the place,

M. B. MALLORY'S DRUG STORE,

Opposite A. C. Davis & Bro's.

Only $1.50.

Price Complete

NOTICE.

In the Surrogate Court of the County of Lennox and Addington.
In the goods of Edward Samuel Dill Stevenson, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will on Friday the 28th day of January next, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon apply to the judge of the Surrogate Court, of the County of Lennox and Addington for letters of administration to the estate of the said Edward Samuel Dill Stevenson limited to the administration of the sum of one thousand dollars in American Currency being the amount

UNDERTAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to notify his friends and the public generally that he has removed to his farm, at Moscow, and has complete arrangements for keeping on hand, at all times ready made coffins of every size and style. Shrouds always on hand and every other funeral requisite.

A first class hearse always ready free of charge, and prompt attention to all orders.

43-4in

MILES STORMS.

JAMES BIRRELL

The subscriber has a large stock of specimens of All kinds of
first-class
give satisfaction
TO AND EAVE-TROU
IRO LOGG
ING AND IN A
ON

He has the st and largest assortment of
first-class
every Stove art anted to give satisfaction.

h Pumps, Sinks, Lead Pipe, Brass Kettles Beer Pumps, Bird Cages, Baths, Butte r Bowls, Prints,	Agricultural Furnaces Coal Grates, Enamelled Ware, ire Baskets, lth es Milk Pans, Milk Pails, Galvanized Iron Pails.
---	---

A call respectfully solicited.

A. McLEOD,
Napanee Stove De

GRADUATE OF

Ontario Veterinary College.

May be consulted on all diseases of Domesticated Animals, personally at Campbell House, or by letter.

TERMS MODERATE

OFFICE—Under the EXPRESS OFFICE, Warner Block.

MERRY X'MAS.

OLD SANTA CLAUS IS COMING
WHERE SHALL WE LOAD HIS SLEIGH?

Remember, we belong to Cheapside. Send him up to

MILES N. HAWLEY'S, PERRY BLOCK.

Where he will find Home Ornaments sufficient to make home pleasant, and parents and children happy. Buy something that will be both useful and ornamental as long as you and your children live. We have in stock.

Mirrors With Scroll Frames,
Comb Baskets,
Match Safes,
Side Brackets, (various styles)
Corner Brackets, do.
Clock Shelves, (various sizes)
Towel Racks, from $1.50 to $2.50.
Slipper Pockets,
Book Shelves,
Hat Racks,
Paper Racks,
Autumn Leaf Wreaths,

And other articles in the Bracket line too numerous to mention. We make to order Frames and Boxes for Wreaths, all sizes. We have also a fine lot of Chromes and Lithos, with and without Frames. All styles of Frames on hand or made to order on the shortest notice. Our work will be found second to none in the country. Anything we have in

The Express.

NAPANEE, FEB. 3, 1876.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.—The Publisher of the EXPRESS desires to procure live agents in every locality, to whom a liberal commission will be given. Every subscriber of the paper is requested to act as a special agent. Our paper is daily becoming more popular and influential. We intend to make it such a journal as all classes will be the wiser and better by perusing it.

FEMALE SUFFRAGE.

A question of more than usual political interest came up in the Ontario Legislature, and we regret that it did not receive more attention of the House, as few questions are of more political importance to the future well-being of the country. It involved the principle of Female Suffrage. Mr. Creighton introduced a Bill providing that females should be allowed to vote in reference to municipal affairs. He made a vigorous speech in its favor, and a vote was at once taken without farther debate. Only 64 members were present, and of these 31 votes in favor of the Bill.

We have no hesitation in expressing our full sympathy and support in favor of the right of female suffrage, to its full extent. We see no reason whatever why females should not be allowed to vote on exactly the same conditions as the men. They are amendable to the same laws, and have therefore an equal interest in electing the law makers. The principle of excluding females from any right of political suffrage is a relic of other ages and countries, and to our mind, it is high time that it was abandoned. It may do for countries where women are looked upon and treated as a lower order of creation than men, but in our own land, where females have the right of holding property, and of engaging in business pursuits on her own account it is quite another thing. The argument that women does not possess sufficient intelligence to have access to the ballot box is now seldom used, for few entertain

YEAS.—Messrs. Appleby, Barr, Bell, Clarke, (Wellington), Coutts, Creighton, Currie, Deacon, Fleisher, Grange, Hargraft, Hunter, Lane, Lauder, Long, McCraney, McDougall, (Middlesex), Macougall (Simcoe), Merriek, Miller, Mostyn, Paxton, Richardson, Robertson, Rosevear, Sexton, Sinclair, Striker, Tooley, Widdifield, Wigler. Total—81.

NAYS.—Messrs. Bishop, Bonfield, Broder, Cameron, Chisholm, Cole, Crooks, Dawson, Deroche, Finlayson, Fraser, Gibson, Gow, Graham, (Lambton), Grant, Hardy, Harkin, Hodgins, Lyon, McLeod, McMahon, Meredith, Monk, Mowat, O'Donohue, Pardee, Preston, Snetsinger, Springer, Watterworth, Williams, Wilson, Wood.—83.

C. M. MISSIONARY ANNIVERSARY.

The Missionary anniversary in connection with the C. Methodist Church of Napanee, was held this week. On Sunday, morning and evening, the pulpit was occupied by Rev. T. W. Jeffrey, of Toronto. He is an old and popular favorite in Napanee, and, as was expected, the church was filled at both services.

On Monday evening the public meeting was held, and there was again a large audience. Charles James, Esq., occupied the chair. Extracts from the Annual Report of the general Society were read by Mr. C. F. Hall, the Secretary of the Napanee Committee. This Society is now the largest by far of the Missionary Societies in Canada. To give some idea of its extent we publish the following table in reference to its general work in detail:—

	Missions.	Missionaries.	Members.
Toronto Conference	62	69	5,954
London do	38	43	4,317
Montreal do	71	78	5,973
Nova Scotia do	62	63	4,236
New Brunswick & P.E.I. do	57	61	3,291
Newfoundland Conference	19	19	2,300
Missions to the settlers of B. Columbia & Red River	16	16	585
Missions to the Indians in the Saskatchewan, Hud. Bay Territory, Brit. Columbia, and the Province of Ontario and Quebec	40	29	3,029
Missions to the French	9	6	119
Missions to the Germans	7	6	230
Missions to Japan	2	2	37
Total	383	392	30,071

The Missions are supplied in different localities, acting under a Superintendent, by thirteen native Assistants. There are thirty-one Day Schools and thirty-one Teachers, twenty-five Interpreters, and five Ministers on Circuits supplying small bands of Indians—

Making a paid agency in the Missionary Department of the Methodist

COUNTY COUNCIL.

THIRD DAY.

THURSDAY, Jan. 27.

At 10 a. m. the Council met. All the members present. The Warden in the chair.

The minutes of yesterday were read and approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Storr, seconded by Mr. Paul, the by-law providing for the appointment of a County Engineer, which was read a first time at the December Session, was referred to a Committee of the whole.

Mr. C. W. Huffman in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported that the first clause of the by-law had been lost in Committee, and upon motion to receive the report, it was moved in amendment by Mr. Storr, seconded by Mr. J. C. Huffman, that the report be not now received, but that the by-law be recommitted to a Committee of the Whole for a second reading, upon which the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. J. W. Bell, Ham, J. C. Huffman, Lane, Madden, P. H. Miller, Purdy, Storr and Wilson—9.

NAYS.—Messrs. W. A. Bell, Davis, Dollar, C. W. Huffman, Joyner, McDonnell, C. R. Miller, Paul, Spafford and Wright—10.

The amendment was lost.

Mr. Spafford, according to notice, introduced a by-law for amending by-law No. 31, which was read and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Dollar in the chair.

The Council resumed and the Chairman reported and asked leave to sit again this afternoon. Leave granted.

The Council adjourned until 2 p. m.

At 2 p. m. the Council resumed.

Upon motion of Mr. Storr, seconded by Mr. Spafford, the By-law to amend by-law No. 31 was recommitted.

Mr. Dollar in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported that the by-law had been negatived in Committee, and on motion of Mr. Joyner, seconded by Mr. McDonald, the report was received and adopted.

A communication from C. Aishton, with reference to purchasing a Washing Machine for use at the Gaol, was read, and the matter referred to the Committee on County Property.

On motion of Mr. J. W. Bell, seconded by Mr. Storr, the by-law respecting planting trees along the County Roads was referred to Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Storr in the Chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported that the by-law had been negatived in Committee, the report was received and adopted.

Moved by Mr. W. A. Bell, seconded by Mr. Paul, that A. K. Aylesworth, Esq., M. D., be appointed Trustee of the Newburgh High School.—Carried.

Upon motion of Mr. J. W. Bell, seconded by Mr. Dollar, the Treasurer was requested to lay before the Council at the present session a statement of the amounts due, if any, by the different municipali-

Bill.

We have no hesitation in expressing our full sympathy and support in favor of the right of female suffrage, to its full extent. We see no reason whatever why females should not be allowed to vote on exactly the same conditions as the men. They are amendable to the same laws, and have therefore an equal interest in electing the law makers. The principle of excluding females from any right of political suffrage is a relic of other ages and countries, and to our mind, it is high time that it was abandoned. It may do for countries where women are looked upon and treated as a lower order of creation than men, but in our own land, where females have the right of holding property, and of engaging in business pursuits on her own account it is quite another thing. The argument that women does not possess sufficient intelligence to have access to the ballot box is now seldom used, for few entertain such an idea. We have too many evidences to the contrary all around us. Among the most successful authors, editors, and teachers of our day stand many females, and should these be deprived of the rights of voting accorded to thousands of men, by no means their equal in education, intelligence, or intellectual force? We cannot understand any process of reasoning by which such a conclusion may be reached.

In the British nation a woman is deemed fit and competent to occupy the highest position in the realm, why should she be deemed unfit for one of so much less importance? If a woman is not excluded from the Throne why should she be excluded from the Ballot box?

The existing anomaly has too long continued, and we trust that many years will not pass until the unreasonable distinction has been abolished.

We write earnestly on this subject because of the conviction that our present system is being perpetrated much to the injury of the country. We have no doubt but that the politics of the country would be much elevated and purified by giving the women the right to vote. Many a man who has been elected through the influence of whiskey and the rowdy element in society, would be then left at home; many practices that now prevail in elections would be at once abandoned. Instead of the franchise degrading woman, as some like to assert, we fully believe that the presence and influence of women would do much in elevating political issues, and making them more in accordance with the

its general work in detail:—

	Missions.	Missionaries.	Members.
Toronto Conference	62	69	5,954
London do	38	43	4,317
Montreal do	71	78	5,973
Nova Scotia do	62	63	4,236
New Brunswick & P.E.I. do	57	61	3,291
Newfoundland Conference	19	19	2,300
Missions to the settlers of B. Columbia & Red River	16	16	585
Missions to the Indians in the Saskatchewan, Hud. Bay Territory, Brit. Columbia, and the Province of Ontario and Quebec	40	29	3,029
Missions to the French	9	6	119
Missions to the Germans	7	6	230
Missions to Japan	2	2	37
Total	383	392	30,071

The Missions are supplied in different localities, acting under a Superintendent, by thirteen native Assistants. There are thirty-one Day Schools and thirty-one Teachers, twenty-five Interpreters, and five Ministers on Circuits supplying small bands of Indians—

Making a paid agency in the Missionary Department of the Methodist Church of Canada of 466.

The Income and Expenditure of this Society, for the year ending June 30th, 1875, is as follows:—

INCOME.

Sub. and Coll. from Circuits & Missions	$119,561 07
Juvenile Offerings	22,051 81
Legacies	456 50
Miscellaneous	1,291 60
	$143,360 98
Special con's for Indian Orphanage &c.	333 69
From the Indian Department, for the Mount Elgin Industrial Institution.	1,779 83
From the Indian Department, for Indian Day Schools	500 00
From the Indian Department, British Columbia, for school purposes.	850 00
From other sources	344 00
Total	$147,168 50

EXPENDITURE.

The Total Expenditure is	$185,268 81
Excess of Expenditure over income for the year.	38,100 34
Of this amount this Conference contributed	$42,337 59
Belleville District	5,825 08
" Circuit	836 60
" Sabbath School	67 10

Last year about $500 was contributed by the congregation at Napanee.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. T. W. Jeffrey, of Toronto, and Rev. James Elliott, of Kingston, the President of the Montreal Conference. Both spoke eloquently in reference to the claims of the Mission work, but failed to give much information in reference to the work now being carried on through the agency of the Missionaries employed by the Society. They were listened to with great interest by all present. On motion of Rev. Mr. Blackstock a Missionary Committee by Mr. Spafford, the By-law to amend by-law No. 31 was recommitted.

Mr. Dollar in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported that the by-law had been negatived in Committee, and on motion of Mr. Joyner, seconded by Mr. McDonald, the report was received and adopted.

A communication from C. Ashton, with reference to purchasing a Washing Machine for use at the Gaol, was read, and the matter referred to the Committee on County Property.

On motion of Mr. J. W. Bell, seconded by Mr. Storr, the by-law respecting planting trees along the County Roads was referred to Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Storr in the Chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported that the by-law had been negatived in Committee, the report was received and adopted.

Moved by Mr. W. A. Bell, seconded by Mr. Paul, that A. K. Aylesworth, Esq., M. D., be appointed Trustee of the Newburgh High School.—Carried.

Upon motion of Mr. J. W. Bell, seconded by Mr. Dollar, the Treasurer was requested to lay before the Council at the present session a statement of the amounts due, if any, by the different municipalities as County rates to the present date.

Mr. Paul gave notice that he will tomorrow introduce a by-law to repeal the by-laws of this corporation passed for assuming County Roads.

On motion of Mr. Paul, seconded by Mr. Lane, the Council adjourned until 10 a. m. to-morrow for the convenience of Committees.

FOURTH DAY.

FRIDAY, Jan. 28.

At 10. m. the Council met.

PRESENT—All the members except Mr. Wilson.

The Warden in the chair.

The minutes of yesterday were read and approved.

Moved by Mr. J. C. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Storr, that the Chairman of the Committee on Education and Printing be requested to advertise in all the newspapers for tenders for the printing of List of Convictions, Minutes of Council and Public accounts, and all other printing that may be required by this Council for the year 1876.—Carried.

Upon motion of Mr. C. W. Huffman, seconded by Mr. J. C. Huffman, Mr. Lane was added to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Dollar, Chairman, brought up the report of the Committee on County Property, which was read and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Spafford in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported the passing of the Report without amendment, and the Report of the Committee on County Property was then adopted.

Moved by Mr. Dollar, seconded by Mr. W. A. Bell, that this Council grant the sum of $100 for rebuilding the Bridge on the County Road near Hiram Amey's.

Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Moved by Mr. C. W. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Spafford, that this Council grant the sum of $160 to Emmett intellectual force? We cannot understand any process of reasoning by which such a conclusion may be reached.

In the British nation a woman is deemed fit and competent to occupy the highest position in the realm, why should she be deemed unfit for one of so much less importance? If a woman is not excluded from the Throne why should she be excluded from the Ballot box?

The existing anomaly has too long continued, and we trust that many years will not pass until the unreasonable distinction has been abolished.

We write earnestly on this subject because of the conviction that our present system is being perpetrated much to the injury of the country. We have no doubt but that the politics of the country would be much elevated and purified by giving the women the right to vote. Many a man who has been elected through the influence of whiskey and the rowdy element in society, would be then left at home; many practices that now prevail in elections would be at once abandoned. Instead of the franchise degrading woman, as some like to assert, we fully believe that the presence and influence of women would do much in elevating political issues, and making them form more in accord with civilization of our times than they often now are.

Many stand aloof from this question because they fear it is not "popular," and prefer to "poo, poo" at it than to meet it on its actual issues. Those favoring female suffrage, however, stand side by side with such men as the present Premier of England and four of his leading colleagues, who last year voted in its favor in the Imperial Parliament. It is known, too, that the late John Stuart Mill, one of the master minds of this century, was simply in its favor, and wrote a book on the subject. We look upon it as one of the leading political issues of the future. It is a measure of reform, and it surprises us to notice that a number of the most prominent members of the Reform party in this Province have recorded their votes against it. Either they must cease to count themselves as reformers or the party must re-organize unless they change their position.

As a matter of curiosity we publish the list of yeas and nays in the House in this question. It will be seen that Mr. Grange favored the Bill, while Mr. Deroche voted in opposition.

Legacies	456 50
Miscellaneous	1291 60
	$143390 98
Special con's for Indian Orphanage &c.	333 69
From the Indian Department, for the Mount Elgin Industrial Institution.	1779 83
From the Indian Department, for Indian Day Schools	500 00
From the Indian Department, British Columbia, for school purposes.	850 00
From other sources	344 00
Total	$147168 50

EXPENDITURE.

The Total Expenditure is	$185268 84
Excess of Expenditure over income for the year.	38100 34
Of this amount this Conference contributed	$42,337 59
Belleville District	5,825 08
" Circuit	836 60
" Sabbath School	67 10

Last year about $500 was contributed by the congregation at Napanee.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. T. W. Jeffrev, of Toronto, and Rev. James Elliott, of Kingston, the President of the Montreal Conference. Both spoke eloquently in reference to the claims of the Mission work, but failed to give much information in reference to the work now being carried on through the agency of the Missionaries employed by the Society. They were listened to with great interest by all present. On motion of Rev. Mr. Blackstock, a Missionary Committee for Napanee was appointed; and lady collectors were also named, but we have not been supplied with the names.

The Choir, as usual, did excellent service. The usual votes of thanks were tendered, and the meeting closed about 10 o'clock. The amount raised by the subscriptions and the Sunday collections was $469, being an advance on the proceeds of last year's meeting. This amount will be increased when the collectors do their work, as several large contributors were absent.

The oldest nation is the first on hand with its contribution to the Centennial Exhibition of the youngest. Egypt has sent over 6,000 costly and curious articles illustrating the life and work of the subjects of the Khedive, as well as weapons and ornaments from the barbarous tribes of Central Africa.

POPE PIUS has been setting a commendable example to philanthropists by building a number of tenement houses for poor people in Rome. Each house is divided into thirty-two convenient, comfortable, well-ventilated lodgings of two, three, or four rooms, each apartment having a kitchen, and all rented at a moderate rate.

FOURTH DAY.

FRIDAY, Jan. 28.

At 10. m. the Council met.

PRESENT—All the members except Mr. Wilson.

The Warden in the chair.

The minutes of yesterday were read and approved.

Moved by Mr. J. C. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Storr, that the Chairman of the Committee on Education and Printing be requested to advertise in all the newspapers for tenders for the printing of List of Convictions, Minutes of Council and Public accounts, and all other printing that may be required by this Council for the year 1876.—Carried.

Upon motion of Mr. C. W. Huffman, seconded by Mr. J. C. Huffman, Mr. Lane was added to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Dolier, Chairman, brought up the report of the Committee on County Property, which was read and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Spafford in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported the passing of the Report without amendment, and the Report of the Committee on County Property was then adopted.

Moved by Mr. Dolier, seconded by Mr. W. A. Bell, that this Council grant the sum of $100 for rebuilding the Bridge on the County Road near Hiram Amey's.

Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Moved by Mr. C. W. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Spafford, that this Council grant the sum of $160 to Ernestown Municipality, that amount having been paid from the funds of that Corporation for rebuilding the bridge on the Napanee and Kingston road, near the residence of F. Kayler, Esq., in Ernestown. Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Paul, according to notice, introduced a by-law for abandoning County Roads, which was read, and upon motion of Mr. Paul the further consideration thereof deferred until the next session.

Moved by Mr. Madden, seconded by Mr. Storr, that the sum of $400 be granted for the purpose of re-building the bridge known as Mink's Bridge, crossing Napanee River on the Napanee and Colebrook Road. Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

The Council adjourned until 2 p. m.

At 2 p. m. the Council resumed.

Mr. Spafford, Chairman, brought up the report of the Committee on Education and Printing, which was read and adopted.

Mr. Wright brought up the Report of the Special Committee respecting the Treasurer's sureties, which was read and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Storr, seconded by Mr. Madden, that the Chairman of the Committee on Education and Printing be instructed to include in the Tenders for Printing a sufficient number of blank forms for Tax bills for each Municipality.—Carried.

Mr. W. A. Bell, Chairman, brought up the Report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges, which was read and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

such a conclusion may be reached.

In the British nation a woman is deemed fit and competent to occupy the highest position in the realm, why should she be deemed unfit for one of so much less importance? If a woman is not excluded from the Throne why should she be excluded from the Ballot box?

The existing anomaly has too long continued, and we trust that many years will not pass until the unreasonable distinction has been abolished.

We write earnestly on this subject because of the conviction that our present system is being perpetrated much to the injury of the country. We have no doubt but that the politics of the country would be much elevated and purified by giving the women the right to vote. Many a man who has been elected through the influence of whiskey and the rowdy element in society, would be then left at home; many practices that now prevail in elections would be at once abandoned. Instead of the franchise degrading woman, as some like to assert, we fully believe that the presence and influence of women would do much in elevating political issues, and making them form more in accord with civilization of our times than they often now are.

Many stand aloof from this question because they fear it is not "popular," and prefer to "pooch, pooch" at it than to meet it on its actual issues. Those favoring female suffrage, however, stand side by side with such men as the present Premier of England and four of his leading colleagues, who last year voted in its favor in the Imperial Parliament. It is known, too, that the late John Stuart Mill, one of the master minds of this century, was simply in its favor, and wrote a book on the subject. We look upon it as one of the leading political issues of the future. It is a measure of reform, and it surprises us to notice that a number of the most prominent members of the Reform party in this Province have recorded their votes against it. Either they must cease to count themselves as reformers or the party must re-organize unless they change their position.

As a matter of curiosity we publish the list of yeas and nays in the House in this question. It will be seen that Mr. Grange favored the Bill, will Mr. DeRoche vote in opposition

Special con's for Indian Orphanage &c.	$143360 98
From the Indian Department, for the Mount Elgin Industrial Institution.	333 69
From the Indian Department, for Indian Day Schools	1779 83
From the Indian Department, British Columbia, for school purposes.	500 00
From other sources	850 00
	344 00

Total $147168 50

EXPENDITURE.

The Total Expenditure is	$185268 81
Excess of Expenditure over income for the year.	38100 34
Of this amount this Conference contributed	$42337 59
Belleville District	5,825 08
" Circuit	836 60
" Sabbath School	67 10

Last year about $500 was contributed by the congregation at Napanee.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. T. W. Jeffrev, of Toronto, and Rev. James Elliott, of Kingston, the President of the Montreal Conference. Both spoke eloquently in reference to the claims of the Mission work, but failed to give much information in reference to the work now being carried on through the agency of the Missionaries employed by the Society. They were listened to with great interest by all present. On motion of Rev. Mr. Blackstock, a Missionary Committee for Napanee was appointed; and lady collectors were also named, but we have not been supplied with the names.

The Choir, as usual, did excellent service. The usual votes of thanks were tendered, and the meeting closed about 10 o'clock. The amount raised by the subscriptions and the Sunday collections was $469, being an advance on the proceeds of last year's meeting. This amount will be increased when the collectors do their work, as several large contributors were absent.

The oldest nation is the first on hand with its contribution to the Centennial Exhibition of the youngest. Egypt has sent over 6,000 costly and curious articles illustrating the life and work of the subjects of the Khedive, as well as weapons and ornaments from the barbarous tribes of Central Africa.

POPE PIUS has been setting a commendable example to philanthropists by building a number of tenement houses for poor people in Rome. Each house is divided into thirty-two convenient, comfortable, well-ventilated lodgings of two, three, or four rooms, each apartment having a kitchen, and all rented at a moderate rate.

At 10. m. the Council met.
PRESENT—All the members except Mr. Wilson.

The Warden in the chair.
The minutes of yesterday were read and approved.

Moved by Mr. J. C. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Storr, that the Chairman of the Committee on Education and Printing be requested to advertise in all the newspapers for tenders for the printing of List of Convictions, Minutes of Council and Public accounts, and all other printing that may be required by this Council for the year 1876.—Carried.

Upon motion of Mr. C. W. Huffman, seconded by Mr. J. C. Huffman, Mr. Lane was added to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Doller, Chairman, brought up the report of the Committee on County Property, which was read and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Spafford in the chair.

The Council resumed.

The Chairman reported the passing of the Report without amendment, and the Report of the Committee on County Property was then adopted.

Moved by Mr. Doller, seconded by Mr. W. A. Bell, that this Council grant the sum of $100 for rebuilding the Bridge on the County Road near Hiram Amey's.

Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Moved by Mr. C. W. Huffman, seconded by Mr. Spafford, that this Council grant the sum of $160 to Ernestown Municipality, that amount having been paid from the funds of that Corporation for rebuilding the bridge on the Napanee and Kingston road, near the residence of F. Kayler, Esq., in Ernestown. Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Paul, according to notice, introduced a by-law for abandoning County Roads, which was read, and upon motion of Mr. Paul the further consideration thereof deferred until the next session.

Moved by Mr. Madden, seconded by Mr. Storr, that the sum of $400 be granted for the purpose of re-building the bridge known as Mink's Bridge, crossing Napanee River on the Napanee and Colebrook Road. Referred to Committee on Roads and Bridges.

The Council adjourned until 2 p. m.

At 2 p. m. the Council resumed.

Mr. Spafford, Chairman, brought up the report of the Committee on Education and Printing, which was read and adopted.

Mr. Wright brought up the Report of the Special Committee respecting the Treasurer's sureties, which was read and adopted.

Moved by Mr. Storr, seconded by Mr. Madden, that the Chairman of the Committee on Education and Printing be instructed to include in the Tenders for Printing a sufficient number of blank forms for Tax bills for each Municipality.—Carried.

Mr. W. A. Bell, Chairman, brought up the Report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges, which was read and referred to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. J. W. Bell in the Chair.

The Council rose.

The Chairman reported that the Committee recommended that the report be referred back to the Committee on Roads and Bridges for amendment. The Report was received.

Mr. J. W. Bell presented the statement of the Treasurer as to amounts due by municipalities for County rates, which was read, and on motion of Mr. J. W. Bell, seconded by Mr. Wright, it was ordered to be printed with the Minutes of the Council.

The Council adjourned until 10 a. m. to-morrow.

FIFTH DAY.

SATURDAY, Jan. 29.

At 10 a. m. the Council met.

The Warden in the Chair.

The minutes of yesterday were read and approved.

Mr. Doller, Chairman, brought up the second report of the Committee on County Property, which was read and adopted.

Mr. W. A. Bell, Chairman, brought up the report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges, which was read and adopted.

Moved by Mr. C. R. Miller, seconded by Mr. Lane, that Wm. George be paid $5 for attendance at this session of Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davis, seconded by Mr. Wright, that the County Treasurer be requested to furnish the Council with a statement of the amount of money borrowed by this Corporation during the year 1875, other than the proceeds of Debentures and Bank discounts.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Storr, seconded by Mr. J. W. Bell, that the following be added to the rules of this Council, and be designated Rule No. 45, "That all Standing Committees be required to report on all matters referred to them, not later than the morning of the third day of each session."—Carried.

Upon motion the Council adjourned until Tuesday, the 14th day of March next, at 2 p. m.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

A TYENDINAGA FARMER BURNED UP IN HIS OWN DWELLING.

One of the most shocking results of strong drink that has occurred in our midst for some time was Thursday evening last when Mr John Kelley, a well to do farmer about eight miles from here, in Tyendinaga, was burned to death in his own dwelling. From the best information we can obtain it seems the unfortunate man had been drinking to excess during the day, and in his frenzy he had driven his wife and family away from the house. They had taken refuge with a neighbor. When last seen he was lying on a bed

LAUGH AND LIVE.

—Not a bad-bred boy—Johnny Cake.

—The "Spirit of '76"—hooked whiskey.

—Carvers of their own fortune—Butchers.

—The first duty on T—Don't forget to cross it.

—"The coming horse" must be able to go as well.

—A pair of slippers—A span of smooth shod horses.

—A New-York firm is manufacturing battle-field relics to sell to centennial greenhorns.

—A Virginian goes to school to his wife, and she makes him stay after school when he's unruly.

—"Don't let's have any words about it," as the man said when he dodged the dictionary his wife threw at him.

—The language of flowers is tender and beautiful, but it contains no satisfactory expression for the man who stubs his toes.

A maiden once said: "I'll not mate With a man who has not fortune great;" So she pouted and waited, And scorned to be mated, She's maiden yet—age forty-eight.

—The Fulton Times says there is a girl in that village named 'Sponge.' Her young man sees the point and squeezes her.

—Kate Field took a ride in a London cab and was sick for a week. She says she can't see why an American should object to a ride on a fence rail.

—The most glowing passages in a minister's sermon will attract scarcely half the attention that centers on the man who blows his nose in church.

—"I say, Colonel, did you hear my last speech?" asked a young political aspirant of an old veteran. "I hope it was your last!" sneered the veteran."

—The proprietor of a rope-walk says that what makes it hard on rope-makers is that at least fifty men die daily of natural causes who ought to be hanged.

—A Pennsylvania paper thinks a dog's tail resembles a manufacturing establishment, because it is a "waggin factory." It is pretty close to a bark mill, too, you know.

—P. T. Barnum has resolved to be a travelling showman no longer, but when it was announced that New Haven had a two legged horse, his wife had to hide his hat.

—Scripture is the name of a New-York lawyer, and of the Deputy Superintendent of the Albany penitentiary, the only one in the United States which pays expenses.

—When we reflect that soap may be had in abundance at ten cents a cake, or three for a quarter, the number of public officeholders with dirty hands seems incredible.

FOR CASH ONLY.

ALL GOODS MARKED

AT

GREAT CLEARING

CLEARING SALE NOW GOING

DS MARKED DOWN TO COST FOR 30

AT MOLLOY'S!

each session."—Carried.

Upon motion the Council adjourned until Tuesday, the 14th day of March next, at 2 p. m.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

A TYENDINAGA FARMER BURNED UP IN HIS OWN DWELLING.

One of the most shocking results of strong drink that has occurred in our midst for some time was Thursday evening last when Mr John Kelley, a well to do farmer about eight miles from here, in Tyendinaga, was burned to death in his own dwelling. From the best information we can obtain it seems the unfortunate man had been drinking to excess during the day, and in his frenzy he had driven his wife and family away from the house. They had taken refuge with a neighbor. When last seen he was lying on a bed adjoining the kitchen and a light burning near him. About 8 o'clock it was discovered that the house was in flames, and when it was reached it was impossible to do anything to save the unfortunate inmate, who had probably, before that time been smothered in the in the flame and smoke. In consequence of the great heat nothing could be done until the following morning. The unfortunate man was almost totally consumed, but little remaning but a few bones, and the heart. We understand that all that could be gathered was at the time placed in a half bushel.

On Sunday a very large procession of the neighbours followed the remains to Napanee, where funeral services were performed in the church of England, and there mains buried in the Cemetery here.

Mr Kelley was a man between 60 and 70 years of age. He leaves a wife and two sons who are married.

AN AMUSING MISTAKE.—The Belleville Intelligencer is responsible for the following:—A thirsty Frenchman, who was prowling about for a "drink" after the prohibited hour on Saturday night, made a sad mistake of supposing the Police Station to be a saloon. Entering, he asked Sergt. Snider, who was on duty, for a drink. Snider, who is always ready for a joke, told the bibulous individual to come inside, which he did; and after a hint that he could help himself, Snider showed his victim into a cell, and prepared to close the door. The siglet of the grated iron door swinging to showed the would-be violator of the liquor law what a mis-aspirant of an old veteran. "I hope it was your last!" sneered the veteran."

—The proprietor of a rope-walk says that what makes it hard on roap-makers is that at least fifty men die daily of natural causes who ought to be hanged.

—A Pennsylvania paper thinks a dog's tail resembles a manufacturing establishment, because it is a "waggin factory." It is pretty close to a bark mill, too, you know.

—P. T. Barnum has resolved to be a travelling showman no longer, but when it was announced that New Haven had a two legged horse, his wife had to hide his hat.

—Scripture is the name of a New-York lawyer, and of the Deputy Superintendent of the Albany penitentiary, the only one in the United States which pays expenses.

—When we reflect that soap may be had in abundance at ten cents a cake, or three for a quarter, the number of public officeholders with dirty hands seems incredible.

—A New-Jersey editor, under the head of "Cure for Hard Times," spins out a whole column of stuff, when he might have named the cure in one word—i. e., "Money."

—"So you wouldn't take me to be twenty?" said a rich heiress to an Irish gentleman, while dancing a polka. "What would you take me for, then?" "For better or worse," replied the son of the Emerald Isle.

—There is as much truth as poetry, and altogether far too much of the former in this verse:

"When politicians catch your sleeve
And lead you off to 'beer,'
The fall election days have come,
The drunkest of the year."

—A white man running for office in South Carolina, sought to propitiate a colored constituent with whisky. "Well, yes, sah," said the constituent, "I don't care ef I duz." Sides, in dese times a white candidate is just as good as a colored vote, especially when de colored vcter is dry."

—A gentleman once called on the late Mr. Astor to solicit a donation for a charitable purpose. He gave $5. "Why Mr. Astor," said the solicitor, "how is it you give so little? Your son John Jacob gave us $100." "Well," replied the old man, "he could afford it. He has a rich father and I haven't."

—We are grieved to learn from the Port Hope Guide that "the country has no faith in Mr. Cameron's state-manship nor in Mr. McDougall's political honesty, and both of them are political failures." "The country" in this case, sits up stairs in a back office in Port Hope and smokes a short clay pipe.

—"General, said a United States Senator to a distinguished official in Washington, "why do you take two drinks before breakfast? Wouldn't one tone you up enough?" To which the General replied, "Senator, the reason is this: when I take one drink it until the following morning. The unfortunate man was almost totally consumed, but little remaining but a few bones, and the heart. We understand that all that could be gathered was at the time placed in a half bushel.

IT IS NOW GOING ON LOY'S!

TO COST FOR 30 DAYS.

FOR CASH ONLY.

On Sunday a very large procession of the neighbours followed the remains to Napanee, where funeral services were performed in the church of England, and there mains buried in the Cemetery here.

Mr Kelley was a man between 60 and 70 years of age. He leaves a wife and two sons who are married.

AN AMUSING MISTAKE.—The Belle-ville Intelligencer is responsible for the following:—A thirsty Frenchman, who was prowling about for a "drink" after the prohibited hour on Saturday night, made a sad mistake of supposing the Police Station to be a saloon. Entering, he asked Sergt. Snider, who was on duty, for a drink. Snider, who is always ready for a joke, told the bibulous individual to come inside, which he did; and after a hint that he could help himself, Snider showed his victim into a cell, and prepared to close the door. The siglet of the grated iron door swinging to showed the would-be violator of the liquor law what a mistake he had made, and with a bound he was outside of the cell. He was profuse in his excuses, and after enjoying the mortification of his visitor for a short time, Snider allowed him to go. The next time that Frenchman wants a drink late on Saturday night he will not mistake a police station for a saloon or tavern.

Two hundred thousand Northerners and an Irish member of Parliament are wintering in Florida.

Reports from the plains say the buffaloes are moving south in vast numbers, in search of fodder.

The Chief Justice of Cape Colony, South Africa, has given a decision in a lawsuit of an unprecedented kind. Kruger sued Schalkwyk for damage to reputation. A game of forfeits was in progress at Schalkwyk's house, and Miss Schalkwyk, a pretty damsel, incurred the penalty of having to kiss every man in the room. She kissed a dozen persons, but stopping the osculatory process when she came to Kruger. In the very next round of forfeits it devolved on Kruger to kiss Miss Schalkwyk. He refused. The male Schalkwyk's thereupon denounced Kruger as a drunken Hottentot. Hence the suit, which resulted in a farthing damages for the plaintiff.

of the Emerald Isle.

—There is as much truth as poetry, and altogether far too much of the former in this verse:

"When politicians catch your sleeve
And lead you off to 'beer,'
The fall election days have come,
The drunkest of the year."

—A white man running for office in South Carolina, sought to propitiate a colored constituent with whisky. "Well, yes, sah," said the constituent, "I don't care if I duz. Sides, in dese times a white candidate is just as good as a colored voter, especially when de colored voter is dry."

—A gentleman once called on the late Mr. Astor to solicit a donation for a charitable purpose. He gave $5. "Why Mr. Astor," said the solicitor, "how is it you give so little? Your son John Jacob gave us $100." "Well," replied the old man, "he could afford it. He has a rich father and I haven't."

—We are grieved to learn from the Port Hope Guide that "the country has no faith in Mr. Cameron's state-manship nor in Mr. McDougall's political honesty, and both of them are political failures." "The country" in this case, sits up stairs in a back office in Port Hope and smokes a short clay pipe.

—"General," said a United States Senator to a distinguished official in Washington, "why do you take two drinks before breakfast? Wouldn't one tone you up enough?" To which the General replied, "Senator, the reason is this: when I take one drink it always makes me feel like another man, and then, you see, I am bound by common courtesy to treat that man, and so I take a second."

—Ramsay, in his "Scotch Reminiscences," relates this anecdote: "How is it sir," said a Scotchman, who had all the aversion of his country to the sight of a paper in the pulpit, "how is it that you read instead of preaching your sermons?" "I read them because I cannot remember them." "And, sir, if ye that mak' them canna mind them, how do you think that we can?"

—The Government of British Columbia sent Premier Walkem all the way to England to tell it's Ma that the Dominion Government would not play fair. It's Ma made the Dominion Government behave itself. But it got naughty again, and British Columbia decided on telling it's Ma a second time, and then the people rose up in their might and chased the Columbia school-boys out of the Legislature.—Sun.

—Said a Nevada young lady, who has a passion for pretty babies, to a little four year old angel who has a bran new sister: "I say, bub, won't you give me your baby sister? I love little babies." Young hopeful: "No, I tant." Young lady (winking at her young man): "Why, sonny, why won't you give the baby to me? Hopeful (indulgently): "Fy, he'd tarve to death; your dress opens behine." Painful silence for the next fifteen minutes.

For School Books & Stationery of every description, try Henry & Br

LIST OF NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Napanee Stove Depot—A. McLeod.
Ocean Tickets—A. Allison.
House for Sale—Williams & Hooper.
Two Hours at Home—Mr. Kennedy.
Clearing Sale—Rose & Fralick.

Local News.

DEAD HORSE.—Tuesday a horse belonging to a span of Mr. Wilder Joy of this town dropped dead while drawing wood.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.—At the meeting of the board of School Trustees last evening, James Perry, Esq., was elected Chairman for this year.

REMINDERS.—The anniversary services of the M. E. Church, Hamburg, on Sunday next. Sermons morning, afternoon, and evening. The annual tea-meeting on Monday evening.

The anniversary of the M. E. Church, Selby, on Sunday and Monday evening 13th and 14th.

DON'T FORGET.—To go and see and hear Bengough (Grip) next Wednesday evening at the Town Hall. The Toronto and other leading papers speak in the highest terms of this new lecture.

Remember the regular Sunday Temperance meeting in the Town Hall on Sunday next, commencing at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Workingman's Association. A full house is expected.

THE NEW LICENSE BILL.—The Government License Bill passed a second reading in the House this week without any amendment or a division of the House. It will doubtless become law and go into effect at once.

THE RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—The general annual meeting of the County Rifle Association will be held at Odessa Drill shed on Monday next at 6 o'clock for the election of officers. Those interested will please take note.

AT WILTON.—A public temperance meeting under the auspices of the Good Templars of Wilton is to be held in that village on Tuesday evening next. Messrs. Jas Allen and T. W. Casey, of Napanee, are expected among the speakers.

THE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.—The meeting of the Lennox & Addington Teachers Association will be held at the High RECOVERING.—Our much respected friend Mr. Councillor Spencer has been ill for some time, and for a week or two has been confined to his house. We are glad to learn that he is so far recovering as to be able to visit his shop again. Few faces are more familiar to all doing business in the town than that of Henry Spencer, Esq., of the enterprising firm of Spencer & Hogan.

GRIP COMING.—Bengough, the celebrated cartoonist of Grip, has arranged to give his celebrated lecture entitled "Heads and Tails," in the Town Hall, Napanee, on Wednesday evening next, 9th inst. As a caricaturist, probably he has no equal in Canada, and his lectures are most entertaining and enjoyable. A rich treat is in store for those who will attend. Remember the time and place.

MORE DUNKIN.—We understand that it is the purpose of the temperance men of the Township of Camden to carry a Dunkin By-Law for that municipality if possible. A convention was held last week and it was resolved to circulate the necessary requisitions, and have them presented at the next meeting of the Township Council, asking for such a by-law to be submitted to the electors as soon as practicable.

GREAT CLEARING SALES.—The great clearing sales, in order to make way for the spring trade, are now the order of the day, among our Napanee merchants. It will be seen by the large advertisement of Messrs. Rose & Fralick that they have put in an oar also, and are determined to sell if low prices can induce people to buy. If any one is skeptical in regard to this being a real sale they can be convinced by calling and inspecting for themselves.

MOLLOY'S SENSATION.—Thomas Molloy well knows how to attract public attention, and no wonder, therefore, that so many throng his store. For the past two Saturdays he has had a procession of boys, grotesquely dressed, parading the streets with bells and streamers, announcing his great clearing sale, and they have caused no little sensation. The last time they passed our window, two policemen had joined the procession.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT.—The Dominion Parliament will be convened at Ottawa on Thursday of next week,

FROM MORVEN.

All aboard for the M. E. Church, Anderson's neighborhood. Rev. F. B. Stratton announced here last night that two teams were engaged to take his large band of singers to the "Big Festival," to be held in the above church, on Friday, 14th inst., at 6:30 P. M.

A grand time is promised. It will surely be worth more than 20 cents, Singing, Speaking, Eating and all; so we better all go. It is pleasing to find a public man taking such a deep interest in the welfare of the youth. Let us encourage him.

The Juvenile Concert, and lecture of Bishop Carman, M. A. D. D., here, are postponed until the 15th inst. More particulars next week.

Twenty suits, of Fine Clothing made to order will be sold at less than cost price at Slaven & Ironsides.

All parties indebted to Slaven & Ironsides will find it to their advantage to pay their accounts before the end of the month.

AROUND HOME.

An act has passed its third reading in the Ottawa Legislature, incorporating the Belleville Street Railway Company.

NEW FERRY BOAT.—The Kingston Whig says: "A new boat is now being built at Picton by the Messrs. McMurchy Brothers of that town for the Bay of Quinte trade. The contract is given to Mr. Brokenshire, of the Atlantic Foundry of this city, for the erection of the engine and boiler. The cylinder is to be 16 x 18, and everything in connection is to be done in a first-class manner.

The Picton Gazette says: We have to congratulate Wm. R. Dempsey, Esq., upon his elevation to the Warden's chair—a position which we feel convinced that he will fill with credit to himself and advantage to the County. The extensive repairs required on the jail, the High School question, and other important matters will come up and have to be disposed of, and we feel convinced that the Council of 1876 will show a record that will redound to their credit.

M. Bowell, Esq., of Belleville, has been elected by the Fourth Agricultural Division a member of the Board of Agricultural and Arts Association for the ensuing three years. The Fourth

AT WILTON.—A public temperance meeting under the auspices of the Good Templars of Wilton is to be held in that village on Tuesday evening next. Messrs. Jas Allen and T. W. Casey, of Napanee, are expected among the speakers.

THE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MEETING—The Teachers Association will be held at the High School, Napanee, on Saturday 12th inst. The election of officers for the year will take place, and an interesting programme of exercises may be expected.

THE LICENSE BY-LAW.—The by-law raising the rate of Tavern and Shop licenses in Napanee to $300 per year is now fairly before the people, and Monday, 14th inst., has been appointed for the day when a vote of the election shall be taken. Next week we intend to make some fuller comments respecting it.

MRS. YOUMANS.—We are glad to be able to announce that Mrs. Youmans, of Picton, so widely known over the Province as an earnest and eloquent temperance worker, will address a mass meeting in Napanee in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening next. We hope to see a very full house that night.

ATTEMPTED THEFT AT ODESSA.—The Standard learns that some thief attempted to gain admittance in the Odessa Post Office through the window on Saturday night. He was heard by Mr. Timmerman, who fired a pistol shot after him, which missed its aim and lodged in the shutter. He will now probably turn his attention to some place where less vigilance is observed.

KENNEDY IS COMING.—Kennedy the great Scottish vocalist is billed to give a concert in the Music Hall, Napanee, on Monday evening 14th inst. He always draws a good house, and has the best success where known. The very name of Kennedy has become suggestive of something unusually good in the way of Scotch song. This time his programme is unusually attractive.

WORKINGMAN'S TEMPERANCE MEETING.—In the early stages of the Washingtonian Temperance Society it is said that one great reason of its success was that men just reformed took the stand and spoke to men needing reformation, in a language both well understood. The Workingman's Temperance Society of Napanee resolved to try a similar experiment, and last evening held a public meeting in the parading the streets with bells and streamers, announcing his great clearing sale, and they have caused no little sensation. The last time they passed our window, two policemen had joined the procession.

THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT.—The Dominion Parliament will be convened at Ottawa on Thursday of next week, 10th inst. The session will probably be one of a good deal of interest, though from a mere party point of view little interest will be attached, from the fact that there seems no probability whatever of anything like a political crisis or party changes during the session. We intend giving full summary reports of the proceedings in the EXPRESS.

JUVENILE TEMPLARS.—We are glad to know that the Juvenile Templars have been reorganized again in Napanee, under the efficient management of Mr. Henry Frahm. The object of the organization is to pledge all children under 14 years against the use of alcohol and tobacco—a most worthy object. A meeting will be held on Friday evening in the Good Templars Hall, over Henderson's bookstore to select the officers.

COUNTY ORANGE LODGE LENNOX AND ADDINGTON.—At the County Orange Lodge held at the Orange Hall, Tamworth, the following Brethren were elected officers for the current year: Bro. Alex. Henry, C. M.; Bro. Robt. Cox, D. M.; Bro. D. Henwood, Treas.; Bro. Ed. Ring, Sec.; Bro. Clark, Chap, Bro. Ed. Roberts, County D of C. The next annual meeting will be held at Centerville on the 1st Tuesday in February, 1877.

ON THE WAR-PATH.—We are glad to learn from the Brockville Recorder that our friend, Rev. S. G. White, formerly of Odessa, is at it again—at the Temperance work in his usually vigorous and effective style. He lectured in Delta, Leeds Co., a few evenings ago, and is announced for a number of other places in the county. The Recorder says: "Mr. White has the power of fascinating his audience, in other words he is a natural orator, and his mind is thoroughly stored with facts in connection with the subject. We would strongly advise all the friends to make a point to hear him."

HORSE DROWNED.—On Saturday evening last a man by the name of McLaughlin, a tavern keeper near Newboro, left Westport in company with another man for his home, and other important matters will come up and have to be disposed of, and we feel convinced that the Council of 1876 will show a record that will redound to their credit.

M. BOWELL, Esq., of Belleville, has been elected by the Fourth Agricultural Division a member of the Board of Agricultural and Arts Association for the ensuing three years. The Fourth Division comprises East, West and North Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox.

The Grand Trunk viaduct at Port Hope, over which trains have been for some time run at "slow" is undergoing repairs.

John Wood, lately of Newburg, has succeeded in establishing a claim against a railroad company at Detroit for $5,307, for the loss of his son and his wife, who were both killed by being run over a year ago.

PRINCE EDWARD TRIAL.—The trial of the protest of the election of G. Striker, M. P. P., is put down for February 8th. Some are saying that he will be unseated.

A SUICIDE.—On Saturday 22nd ult., a skeleton was found on the Sand Banks near Picton. A Coroner's inquest was held by Dr. Platt, and the evidence goes to show that the remains are probably those of a young man named John Finnigan, who disappeared about sixteen months ago, and had not since been heard of. There was a bullet in the skull and a revolver under the body, indicating suicide. He showed signs of insanity before his disappearance.

The Hon. C. Fraser, of the Ontario Government, is announced to lecture in Kingston under the auspices of the St. Vincent De Paul Society.

THE ROYAL COMMISSION.—The financial affairs of Belleville have become so muddled that a Government Commission was asked for to investigate them, and to report on whom lies the blame of a deficit of some thousands of dollars. We are glad to learn that A. L. Morden, Esq., of Napanee, and J. McGibbon of Lindsay, are appointed.

SALT WATER.—The Milford correspondent of the Picton New Nation relates: Mr. Jackson, of Point Traverse, while boring for water on the farm of Richard Wattam, struck a vein of salt water. He had reached the depth of 65 feet when the water rose nearly to the surface. On separating the salt from the water it contained one pound

ment
Buffa sician skille order to his tacula the fl eases
gans;
estive
the m diseas high medic estab
the U
the ch sider writin sands visit ampl linger
the d on wh not h a mo a per
of the

TH princ enters succe ments health digest lead t imper
and th which hered
WHE Phos
tonic,
in a v

EPPI
—By laws w and nu
the fin Epps
delicat us mar cious u tution enough Hundr around weak p shaft b pure bl
Civil S
labeller
Chemist
Piccad

TO
The cured simple his fell who de scriptio tions fo
they wi
ASTHM
Parti
address
Rev

ERI
A gen Nervou
the effe sake of

shall be taken. Next week we intend to make some fuller comments respecting it.

MRS. YOUNG — We are glad to be able to announce that Mrs. Young, of Picton, so widely known over the Province as an earnest and eloquent temperance worker, will address a mass meeting in Napanee in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening next. We hope to see a very full house that night.

ATTEMPTED THEFT AT ODESSA.—The Standard learns that some thief attempted to gain admittance in the Odessa Post Office through the window on Saturday night. He was heard by Mr. Timmerman, who fired a pistol shot after him, which missed its aim and lodged in the shutter. He will now probably turn his attention to some place where less vigilance is observed.

KENNEDY IS COMING.—Kennedy the great Scottish vocalist is billed to give a concert in the Music Hall, Napanee, on Monday evening 14th inst. He always draws a good house, and has the best success where known. The very name of Kennedy has become suggestive of something unusually good in the way of Scotch song. This time his programme is unusually attractive.

WORKINGMAN'S TEMPERANCE MEETING.—In the early stages of the Washingtonian Temperance Society it is said that one great reason of its success was that men just reformed took the stand and spoke to men needing reformation, in a language both well understood. The Workingman's Temperance Society of Napanee resolved to try a similar experiment, and last evening held a public meeting in the Town Hall, addressed by working men of their own Association, whose personal experience, it was supposed, would be of profit to others. The Town Hall was crowded with men. James Allen, Esq., presided, and Messrs. Saunders, Moss and Schryver were the speakers. As it was their maiden efforts, a good deal of merriment was created at the somewhat amusing way in which some questions were handled. They made the mistake of attempting to grapple with the most important political problems of the question, which are subjects of anxious study by the ablest of men, instead of giving their own personal experience of the advantages of total abstinence.

under the efficient management of Mr. Henry Fralek. The object of the organization is to pledge all children under 14 years against the use of alcohol and tobacco—a most worthy object. A meeting will be held on Friday evening in the Good Templars Hall, over Henderson's bookstore to select the officers.

COUNTY ORANGE LODGE LENNOX AND ADDINGTON.—At the County Orange Lodge held at the Orange Hall, Tamworth, the following Brethren were elected officers for the current year: Bro. Alex. Henry, C. M.; Bro. Robt. Cox, D. M.; Bro. D. Henwood, Treas.; Bro. Ed. Ring, Sec.; Bro. —Clark, Chap. Bro. Ed. Roberts, County D of C. The next annual meeting will be held at Centerville on the 1st Tuesday in February, 1877.

ON THE WAR-PATH.—We are glad to learn from the Brockville Recorder that our friend, Rev. S. G. White, formerly of Odessa, is at it again—at the Temperance work in his usually vigorous and effective style. He lectured in Delta, Leeds Co., a few evenings ago, and is announced for a number of other places in the county. The Recorder says: "Mr. White has the power of fascinating his audience, in other words he is a natural orator, and his mind is thoroughly stored with facts in connection with the subject. We would strongly advise all the friends to make a point to hear him."

HORSE DROWNED.—On Saturday evening last a man by the name of McLaughlin, a tavern keeper near Newboro, left Westport in company with another man for his home, and sleighing not being first-rate, took the ice on the canal. Being somewhat under the influence of liquor he got off the road, and in a very short time was precipitated into the water. He swam around in the water and did all he could to save the horse, and finally he got out and both he and his friend ran to the nearest farm houses for assistance. The night being a very dark one, and a piercing wind prevailing at the time, his clothes were frozen stiff, and he himself was in a very bad state. On going back to the spot after assistance had been received, the horse and cutter had disappeared under the ice. Next morning the cutter was got out, but robes etc., were gone. The horse and robes were valued at $200.

wife, who were both killed by being run over a year ago.

PRINCE EDWARD TRIAL.—The trial of the protest of the election of G. Striker, M. P. P., is put down for February 8th. Some are saying that he will be unseated.

A SUICIDE.—On Saturday 22nd ult., a skeleton was found on the Sand Banks near Picton. A Coroner's inquest was held by Dr. Platt, and the evidence goes to show that the remains are probably those of a young man named John Finnigan, who disappeared about sixteen months ago, and had not since been heard of. There was a bullet in the skull and a revolver under the body, indicating suicide. He showed signs of insanity before his disappearance.

The Hon. C. Fraser, of the Ontario Government, is announced to lecture in Kingston under the auspices of the St. Vincent De Paul Society.

THE ROYAL COMMISSION.—The financial affairs of Belleville have become so muddled that a Government Commission was asked for to investigate them, and to report on whom lies the blame of a deficit of some thousands of dollars. We are glad to learn that A. L. Morden, Esq., of Napanee, and J. McGibbon of Lindsay, are appointed.

SALT WATER.—The Milford correspondent of the Picton New Nation relates: Mr. Jackson, of Point Traverse, while boring for water on the farm of Richard Wattam, struck a vein of salt water. He had reached the depth of 63 feet when the water rose nearly to the surface. On separating the salt from the water it contained one pound of salt to eleven pounds of water.

RATHBUN'S MILLS.—It has been understood for some time that the Messrs. Rathbun intend closing up their large lumbering establishment at Belleville, and transferring the business to Mill Point. They have been induced to propose to Belleville to continue there 8 years still, providing they can have the Island rent and tax free, and receive about $1,500 per year, and to give up all the improvements to the town at the expiration of the time. The proposal is being considered. The removal would be a serious loss to Belleville.

—The best music—The laughter of an innocent child.

TI
prin ente succ men heal dige lead impr
and whic
here
WH
Pho tonic
in a

EP
—B laws
and
the Epps
delic us m cious tutio enou
Hunc
arou weak shaft pure Civil label
Chen
Picci

T
Th cure simp
his f who scrip tions they ASTE
Pat admir

E
A Nerv
the e sake who ing t Suffe
expe confi
JOI

R
Th
for s three matc
Wild
Tipp years Blac
chase the n
to sel

Ad
H
A Grah
of A. I

ODESSA.—Mrs. Youmans of Picton, will give a public temperance lecture at the Methodist Church, Odessa, on Wednesday evening next, 9th inst.

MARKET REPORT

"EXPRESS" OFFICE.

Thursday, Feb. 3rd, '76

Wheat—95c to $1.00.
Barley—60 to 62c No. 1, 50 to 55c No. 2.
Oats—32c.
Rye—50c
Peas—70c.
Buckwheat.—50c.
Eggs—17c to 18c. per dozen.
Butter—18c to 20c per lb.
Cheese—10c to 11c.
Onions—$1.00 per bushel.
Potatoes—50 to 70c per bag.
Dressed Hogs—$6.50 to $7.50.
Mutton—6c to 7c per pound.
Beef, $4 to $6 per 100.
Geese—50c to 60c each, or 6c per lb
Turkeys—50c to $1.00.
Chickens—25c to 30c per pair.
Hides.—$5.50 to 6.00.
Cordwood —$3 for best.
Hay— $10 to 11 per ton.

DIED.

McAFEE.—At the residence of her father Mr. R. McAfee, Napanee, Sarah Jane, wife of Mr. Henry Robertson, on Friday 28 ult.

UNLIMITED REMEDIAL RESOURCES.

People sometimes suppose that Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines represent the entire extent of his resources for curing disease. This is an error. Experience proved that while the Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription, Pleasant Purgative Pellets, Compound Extract of Smart-Weed, and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, would, if faithfully used, cure a large variety of chronic complaints, there would be here and there a case which, from its severity, or from its complication with other disorders, would resist their action. These exceptional cases required a thorough examination into their symptoms, to ascertain the exact nature and extent of the disease or diseases under which the patient was laboring, and the use of specific remedies to meet and overcome the same. This led to the establishment of the World's Dispensary, at Buffalo, N. Y., with its Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons, each of whom is skilled in the treatment of chronic disorders in general and those belonging to his own special department in particular. To one is assigned diseases of the throat and lungs; to another, diseases of the kidneys and urogenital organs; to another, diseases of the digestive system; to another, diseases of the nervous system; and to another, diseases of the eye and ear. Thus the highest degree of perfection in the

FOR THE SPRING OF 1876.

The subscriber has much pleasure in announcing to Cheese Manufacturers, that he is in a position to receive orders for Cheese Vats and other Cheese Factory apparatuses.

I will have on had a large and well assorted stock of

MILK CANS,

from 15 to 40 gallons, which I will sell at prices as low as any other in the trade.

A. McLEOD'S, NAPANEE STOVE DEPOT

Is the best place to buy Coal Heating and Coal Cook Stoves. Wood Stoves of every description.

Box and Parlor Stoves, Elevated Oven Stoves, Double Box Stoves, Low Oven Stoves, Parlor Stoves, Coal Grates.

A LARGE AND WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF TINWARE.

A Liberal Discount to Merchants.

A full stock of Pumps and Sinks.

Leavetroughing and general jobbing done in a prompt and satisfactory manner by experienced workmen.

A call solicited before purchasing elsewhere.

ANGUS McLEOD.

"TWA HOURS AT HAME."

MUSIC HALL, - - - - NAPANEE,
ONE NIGHT ONLY,
MONDAY, 14th FEBRUARY.

MR. KENNEDY,

THE SCOTTISH VOCALIST,

Will give his Entertainment on the Songs of Scotland, assisted by the following Members of his Family:

Miss Hellen Kennedy, - - - - Soprano.
Miss Marjory Kennedy, - - - - Contralto.
Mr. David Kennedy, - - - - Tenor.
Mr. Robert Kennedy, - - - - Tenor.
Mr. James Kennedy, - - - - Baritone.

Who will perform a Selection of Glees, Madrigals and Harmonized Scottish Airs.

Commence at 8. Admission, 25 & 50c.

Children in Arms not Admitted.

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.

A good Comfortable Frame Dwelling House, situated on the south side of Dundas street, between West and Robinson streets, the property of A. Garrison, now occupied by Samuel

OCEAN TICKETS.

Storage rates for passengers from Quebec to Liverpool, Londerry and Glasgow $25.00; Children under one, free, from one to twelve half fare—return tickets $30.00—charges to London $3.15. Extra railway fare Glasgow line storage rates same as to Liverpool. Prepaid passage certificates, Liverpool, Derry or Glasgow to Quebec $15.00. The Allan Line offer inducements to all classes of Passengers which cannot be excelled by any other Line. Baggage can be checked from any G. & T. R. Station to Quebec wharf. There is no custom examination as is the case via New York, and Passengers have no incidental expenses whatever, once on their way to join the Allan Steamer. The last connecting train carrying the Canadian mails, leaves Toronto at 8:37 on every Friday.

Tickets can be purchased to and from Liverpool to Londonderry at a great reduction and sent by mail to bring friends to Canada, also return Tickets.

H. H. ALLISON, Agent, Napanee, Montreal Telegraph Office.

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agents Wanted. All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents address, G. STINSON & Co. Portland, Maine. 5-39

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

For Sale by Tender.

Tenders will be received by the undersigned until Tuesday the eighth day of February next, for the purchase of the Shingle Machinery, Belting and other appendages belonging thereto, the property of the above Insolvent, and also for the purchase at so much per cord, of about 500 cords of cedar shingle bolts which are situated and lying as follows:—

About 250 Cords at Lime Lake.

" 75 " Croyden.

" 175 " at the Shingle Mill, which contains the above machinery, adjacent to Vider's Mills.

The cedar will be sold either in one lot, or in separate lots to suit purchasers. The Lease of the Mill and premises will be sold by Public Auction, and the purchaser will have an opportunity of purchasing it. The Mill is situated on the Salmon River, about nine miles from Napanee, is driven by water power, and affords a first-class opportunity to any party wishing to engage in that branch of manufacture.

The lowest nor any tender not necessarily accepted.

Full particulars respecting the property may be obtained on application to the undersigned.

W. F. HALL,

Assignee

Napanee, Jan. 26th, 1876.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that under the authority of an order made in this matter, by William Henry Wilkison, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the County of Lennox & Addington, dated January 25th, 1876, I will offer for sale at Public Auction, at my office on East street, in the town of Napanee, on Wednesday the twenty-third day of February next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all the rights of the above named Insolvent, in the frame shingle mill, and four acres of land thereto attached, situate on Lot number seven teen, in the eighth concession of the township of Richmond, in the said County of Lennox and Addington, north of Salmon River, held by the said Insolvent, under a lease thereof from one William Vider bearing date December 8th, 1874, to him, the said Insolvent, for the term of five or ten years from the first day of February, A. D. 1875, at an annual tender of $100. The lease includes water privilege for running the said mill, together with the use of water wheel and shafting, also a good frame dwelling house erected by the Insolvent at his own expense. The above property is adjacent to Vider's Mills, and affords excellent facilities for and we

of 1876
redound

ille, has riculturoard of tion for Fourth est and urd and

at Port been for largoing

urg, has a against
for $5.
and his y being

he trial of G. own for ng that nd ult., e Sand ner's inand the the re-young who dis-his ago,

f. There revolver
ide. He his dis-

Ontario lecture of the re financome so ommis-

e them, blame of dol-
A. L.
J. Me-
ed.

correstion reaverse, arm of
of salt pth of urly to he salt pound

Buffalo, N. Y., with its Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons, each of whom is skilled in the treatment of chronic disorders in general and those belonging to his own special department in particular. To one is assigned diseases of the throat and lungs; to another, diseases of the kidneys and urogenital organs; to another, diseases of the digestive system; to another, diseases of the nervous system; and to another, diseases of the eye and ear. Thus the highest degree of perfection in the medicine and surgery is attained. The establishment of this institution enables the Doctor to meet a longfelt want in the treatment of the more severe chronic affections. By a careful consideration of the symptoms as given in writing, he successfully treats thousands of cases at their homes. Others visit the Dispensary in person. The amplest resources for the treatment of lingering affections are thus placed at the disposal of every patient, and those on whom the proprietary medicines do not have the desired effect can procure a more thorough and efficient course by a personal application to the proprietor of the World's Dispensary.

THE STOMACH IS THE principal portal through which disease enters the system, and it is only by the successful treatment of the derangements of this organ that we can restore health and fortify the constitution. Indigestion and malassimilation of food lead to impoverishment of the blood, imperfect nourishment of the tissues, and that condition of general debility which promotes the development of hereditary and acquired diseases. DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, a nutritive tonic, maintains the digestive apparatus in a vigorous condition.

EPP'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING. —By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in Packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homeopathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle Street, and 160, Piccadilly London." 43

TO CONSUMPTIVES.
The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.
Parties wishing the prescription will please address,
Rev. E. A. WILSON,
194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, New York.
45-6 m.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.
A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for mak-

Who will perform a Selection of Glees, Madrigals and Harmonized Scottish Airs.
Commence at 8. Admission, 25 & 50c.
Children in Arms not Admitted.

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.
A good Comfortable Frame Dwelling House, situated on the south side of Dundas street, between West and Robinson streets, the property of A. Garrison, now occupied by Samuel Wilson. The house contains nine rooms, is nearly new and well built, with good outbuildings. For further particulars, apply to
WILLIAMS & HOOPER.
Napanee, Feb. 1st, 1876.

Tuesday the twenty-third day of February next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all the rights of the above named Insolvent, in the frame shingle mill, and four acres of land thereto attached, situate on Lot number seven teen, in the eighth concession of the township of Richmond, in the said County of Lennox and Addington, north of Salmon River, held by the said Insolvent, under a lease thereof from one William Vader bearing date December 8th, 1874, to him, the said Insolvent, for the term of five or ten years from the first day of February, A. D. 1875, at an annual tender of $100. The lease includes water privilege for running the said mill, together with the use of water wheel and shafting, also a good frame dwelling house erected by the Insolvent at his own expense. The above property is adjacent to Vader's Mills, and affords excellent facilities for the manufacture of shingles.
The above lease may be inspected, and all further particulars obtained on application to me at my office in Napanee.
Dated at Napanee, January 26th, 1876.
W. F. HAL
Assignee of the above Insolvent.

DISSOLVING PARTNERSHIP.

GREAT AUCTION SALE.

In consequence of MR. IRONSIDE retiring from the firm, the subscribers will offer their whole stock for sale

BY PUBLIC AUCTION,

IN LOTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

COMMENCING ON

MONDAY NEXT, the 17th of JANUARY.

AND ON

SATURDAY EVENING the 22nd Inst.

A SPECIAL SALE WILL BE HELD OF

READY MADE CLOTHING,

TWEEDS,

SHIRTS,

UNDER CLOTHING,

a more thorough and efficient course by a personal application to the proprietor of the World's Dispensary.

THE STOMACH IS THE principal portal through which disease enters the system, and it is only by the successful treatment of the derangements of this organ that we can restore health and fortify the constitution. Indigestion and malassimilation of food lead to impoverishment of the blood, imperfect nourishment of the tissues, and that condition of general debility which promotes the development of hereditary and acquired diseases. DR. WHEELER'S Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, a nutritive tonic, maintains the digestive apparatus in a vigorous condition.

EPP'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in Packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle Street, and 160, Piccadilly London." 43

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address,

Rev. E. A. WILSON.

191 Penn St., Williamsburgh, New York.
45-6 m.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence.

JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York.
45-6 m.

READ THIS.

The subscriber has nine First-Class Colts for sale. Six of them four years old, and three, three years old. One pair four years old, matched: color, Black. Breed—Tippo and Wild Deer. One four years old Brown Grey, Tippo and French. One Battler, Bay, four years old; one Brown, aged four, Tippo and Black Lock. Will sell one or more, to suit purchaser, and will offer them cheap. Remember, the man to buy from, is the "man that wants to sell."

FRED. MEMBURY.

Adolphustown Village, Jan. 28th 1876.

HOUSE TO LET.

A Comfortable Bungalow House, between Graham and Isabella street, near the residence of A. McNeil, Esq. Rent moderate. Apply to ROBERT EASTON.
45-2m

GREAT AUCTION SALE.

In consequence of MR. IRONSIDE retiring from the firm, the subscribers will offer their whole stock for sale

BY PUBLIC AUCTION,

IN LOTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

COMMENCING ON

MONDAY NEXT, the 17th of JANUARY.

AND ON

SATURDAY EVENING the 22nd Inst.

A SPECIAL SALE WILL BE HELD OF

READY MADE CLOTHING,

TWEEDS,

SHIRTS,

UNDER CLOTHING,

AND OTHER GOODS FOR GENTLEMAN WARE.

The sale will be held in the show room and seats provided for the ladies upstairs where a good fire will be kept

THE TERMS WILL BE STRICTLY CASH, AS THE SALE PROCEEDS

The Sale will commence each day at 12 o'clock noon, and on Thursday and Saturday evenings at seven o'clock p. m.

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE

Literature.

MY MOTHER.

May God in all his bounty,
Throughout the coming year,
Bestow His gifts with plenty,
On you, my mother dear.
And may each of his blessings
Be richer than the last,
And may each day seem brighter,
More joyous than the past.

And if a thought of sadness
Should cloud your dear sweet face,
May God send light and gladness
To shine there in its place.

We and Our Neighbors.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
ETC., ETC.,

Still she looked eagerly and anxiously for the return of her husband, that she might reinforce herself by talking it over with him. Here was a nature so transparent that, before he had been five minutes in the house, he felt that something had gone wrong; but, the dinner bell ringing, he retired at once to make his toilet, and did not open the subject till they were fairly seated at the table.

"Well, come now, puss—out with it! Why that anxious brow? What domestic catastrophe? Anything gone wrong with the ivies?"

"Oh, no; the ivies are all right, growing beautiful—it isn't that—"

"Well, then, what is it? It seems there is something."

"Oh, nothing, Harry; only Aunt Maria has been spending the day here."

Eva said this with such a perplexed and woful face that Harry leaned back in his chair and laughed.

"What a blessing it is to have relations," he said; "but I thought, Eva, that you had made up your mind not to care for anything Aunt Maria says."

"Well, she has been all over the house, surveying and reviewing as if she owned us, and she has lectured Mary and sent her into hysterics—"

and sharp," said Eva, "and so I may as well take the advantages of my sort of nature."

"Certainly you may; people never succeed out of their own line."

"Then there's another trouble. I'm afraid Aunt Maria is going to interfere with Alice, as she tried to do with me. She said that everybody was talking about her intimacy with Jim, and that if I didn't speak to Alice she must."

"Confound that woman," said Harry; "she's an unmitigated old fool! She's as bad as a runaway steam engine; somebody ought to seize and lock her up."

"Come, sir, keep a civil tongue about my relations," said Eva, laughing.

"Well, I must give off a little to you, just to lower steam to the limits of Christian moderation."

"Alice isn't as fond of Aunt Maria as I am, and has a high spirit of her own, and I am afraid it will make a terrible scene if Aunt Maria attacks her, so I suppose I must talk to her myself; but what do you think of Jim, Harry? Is there anything in it, on his part?"

"How can I say? you know just as much as I do and no more, and you are a better judge of human nature than I am."

"Well, would you like to have Alice take Jim—supposing there were any thing."

"Why, yes, very well, if she wants him."

"But Jim is such a volatile creature—would you want to trust him?"

"He is constant in his affections, which is the main thing. I'm sure his conduct when your father failed showed that; and a sensible, dignified woman like Alice might make a man of him."

"It's odd," said Eva, "that Alice, who is so prudent, and has such a high sense of propriety, seems so very indulgent to Jim. None of his escapades seem to offend her."

"It's the doctrine of counterparts," said Harry; "the steady sensible nature admires the brilliancy and variety of the volatile one."

"For my part," said Eva, "I can't conceive of Jim's saying anything in serious earnest. The very idea of his being sentimental seems funny—and how can anybody be in love without being sentimental?"

warm corner under the gas-light, and began looking over the outside of her Parisian letters with that sort of luxurious enjoyment of delay with which he examines the post-marks and directions of letters that are valued as a great acquisition. There was one from her sister Ida, and one from Harry's cousin Caroline. Ida's was opened first. It was dated from a boarding-house in the Rue de Clichy, giving a sort of journalized view of her studies, their medical instructors, their walks and duties in the hospital, all told with an evident and vigorous sense of enjoyment. Eva felt throughout what a strong, cheerful, self-sustained being her sister was, and how fit it was that a person so sufficient to herself, so equable, so healthfully balanced and poised in all her mental and physical conformation, should have undertaken the pioneer work of opening a new profession for women. "I never could do as she does, in the world," was her mental comment, "but I am thankful that she can." And then she cut the envelope of Caroline's letter.

To a certain extent there were the same details in it—Caroline was evidently associated in the same studies, the same plans, but there was missing in the letter the professional enthusiasm, the firmness, the self-poise, and calm clearness. There were more bursts of feeling on the pictures in the Louvre than on scientific discoveries; more sensibility to the various æsthetic wonders which Paris opens to an uninitiated guest than to the treasures of anatomy and surgery. With the letters were sent two or three poems, contributions to the Magazine—poems full of color and life, of a subdued fire, but with that undertone of sadness which is so common in all female poets. A portion of the letter may explain this:

"You are right, my dear Eva, in saying, in our last interview, that it did not seem to you that I had the kind of character that was adapted to the profession I have chosen. I don't think I have. I am more certain of it from comparing myself from day to day with Ida, who certainly is born and made for it, if ever a woman was. My choice of it has been simply and only for the reason that I must choose something as a means of self-support, and more than that, as a refuge from key which confidence in fancy, ting close your ivies round you everlasting lars, while without. such a ho thousand. Send us your pret me warm fireside.

Eva fitting it up into the tents. If was revol a scheme lover, and at house- where she five minu whole pro the altar, the furnit vision of cosy nook side, and at his eas compared py young for match ers spring losing her char, whe bark of a house cal world.

Now th dog-barks the comm nothing, the conve moonligh the impe means im at the fro was loud indignant one accus mediately Eva fle ed it, and darling of and her s

"Oh, nothing, Harry; only Aunt Maria has been spending the day here."

Eva said this with such a perplexed and woful face that Harry leaned back in his chair and laughed.

"What a blessing it is to have relations," he said; "but I thought, Eva, that you had made up your mind not to care for anything Aunt Maria says."

"Well, she has been all over the house, surveying and reviewing as if she owned us, and she has lectured Mary and got her into hysterics, and talked to me till I am almost bewildered—wondering at everything we mean to do, and wanting us to take her ways and not ours."

"My dearest child, why need you care? Take it as a rainstorm, and when you've been caught out without your umbrella. That's all. Or why can't you simply and firmly tell her that she must not go over your house or direct your servants?"

"Well, you see, that would never do. She would feel so injured and abused. I've only just made up and brought things to going smoothly, and got her pacified about our marriage. There would be another fuss if I should talk that way. Aunt Maria always considered me her girl, and maintains that she is a sort of special guardian to me, and I think it very disagreeable to quarrel with your relations, and get on unpleasant terms with them."

"Well, I shall speak to her, Eva, pretty decidedly, if you don't."

"Oh, don't, don't, Harry! She'd never forgive you. No. Let me manage her. I have managed her all day to keep the peace, to keep her satisfied and pleased; to let her advise me to her heart's content, about things where I can take advice. Aunt Maria is a capital judge of linens and cottons and all sorts of household stuffs, and can tell to a certainty just how much of a thing you'd want, and the price you ought to pay, and the exact place to get it; and I have been contriving to get her opinion on a dozen points where I mean to take it; and I think she left, on the whole, highly satisfied with her visit, though in the main I didn't give in to her a bit about our plans."

"Then why so tragic and tired looking?"

"Oh, well, after all, when Aunt Maria talks, she says a great many things that have such a degree of sense in them that it worries me. Now, there's a good deal of sense in what who is so prudent, and has such a high sense of propriety, seems so very indulgent to Jim. None of his escapades seem to offend her."

"It's the doctrine of counterparts," said Harry; "the steady sensible nature admires the brilliancy and variety of the volatile one."

"For my part," said Eva, "I can't conceive of Jim's saying anything in serious earnest. The very idea of his being sentimental seems funny—and how can anybody be in love without being sentimental?"

"There are diversities of operation," said Harry. "Jim must make love in his own way, and it will probably be an original one."

"But, really now, do you know," persisted Eva, "I think Alice might be mated with a man of much higher class than Jim. He is amiable, and bright, and funny, and agreeable. Yet I don't deny but Alice might be better."

"So she might, but the perversity of fate is that the superior man isn't around, and Jim is; and, ten to one, if the superior man were in the field, Alice would be perverse enough to choose Jim. And, after all, you must confess, give Jim Fellows a fortune of a million or two, a place in Newport, and another on the North River, and even you would call it a brilliant match, and think it a fortunate thing for Alice."

"Oh, dear me, Harry, that's the truth, to be sure. Am I so worldly?"

"No; but deal heroes are not plentiful, and there are few gems that don't need rich setting. The first questions as to a man are, is he safe, has he no bad habits, is he kind and affectionate in his disposition and capable of constant affection? and, secondly, does the woman feel that sort of love that makes her prefer him even to men that are quite superior? Now, whether Alice feels in that way toward Jim is what remains to be seen. I'm sure I can't tell. Neither can I tell whether Jim has any serious intentions in regard to her. If they were only let alone, and not watched and interfered with, I've no doubt the thing would adjust itself in the natural course of things."

"But see here, I must be going to my club, and, now I think of it, I've brought some Paris letters from the girls for you, to pass the evening with."

"You have? Letters from Ida and Caroline? You naughty creature, why the letter may explain this:

"You are right, my dear Eva, in saying, in our last interview, that it did not seem to you that I had the kind of character that was adapted to the profession I have chosen. I don't think I have. I am more certain of it from comparing myself from day to day with Ida, who certainly is born and made for it, if ever a woman was. My choice of it has been simply and only for the reason that I must choose something as a means of self-support, and more than that, as a refuge from morbid distresses of mind which made the still monotony of my New England country life intolerable to me. This course pretended itself to me as something feasible. I thought it, too, a good and worthy career—one in which one might do one's share of good in the world. But, Eva, I can feel that there is one essential difference between Ida and myself: she is peculiarly self-sustained and sufficient to herself, and I am just the reverse. I am full of vague unrest; I am chased by seasons of high excitement, alternating with deadly languor. Ida has hard work to know what to do with me. You were right in supposing, as you intimate in your letter, that a certain common friend has something to do with this unrest, but you cannot, unless you knew my whole history, know how much. There was a time when he and I were all the world to each other—when shall I ever forget that time! I was but seventeen; a young girl, so ignorant of life! I never had seen one like him; he was a whole new revelation to me; he woke up everything there was in me, never to go to sleep again; and then to think of having all this tide and current of feeling checked—frozen. My father overwhelmed him with accusations; every baseness was laid to his charge. I was woman enough to have stood for him against the world if he had come to me. I would of left all and gone to the ends of the earth with him if he had asked me, but he did not. There was only one farewell, self-accusing letter, and even that fell into my father's hands and never came to me till after his death. For years I thought myself wantonly trifled with by a man of whose attentions I ought to be ashamed. I was indignant at myself for the love that might have been my glory, for it is my solemn belief, that if we had been let alone he would have been saved all those wretched falls, those blind struggles that have marred a life in

"Well, you see, that would never do. She would feel so injured and abused. I've only just made up and brought things to going smoothly, and got her pacified about our marriage. There would be another fuss if I should talk that way. Aunt Maria always considered me her girl, and maintains that she is a sort of special guardian to me, and I think it very disagreeable to quarrel with your relations, and get on unpleasant terms with them."

"Well, I shall speak to her, Eva, pretty decidedly, if you don't."

"Oh, don't, don't, Harry! She'd never forgive you. No. Let me manage her. I have managed her all day to keep the peace, to keep her satisfied and pleased; to let her advise me to her heart's content, about things where I can take advice. Aunt Maria is a capital judge of linens and cottons and all sorts of household stuffs, and can tell to a certainty just how much of a thing you'd want, and the price you ought to pay, and the exact place to get it; and I have been contriving to get her opinion on a dozen points where I mean to take it; and I think she left, on the whole, highly satisfied with her visit, though in the main I didn't give in to her a bit about our plans."

"Then why so tragic and tired looking?"

"Oh, well, after all, when Aunt Maria talks, she says a great many things that have such a degree of sense in them that it worries me. Now there's a good deal of sense in what she said about trusting too much to servants, and being too indulgent. I know mamma's girls used to get spoiled so that they would be perfect tyrants. And yet I cannot for the life of me like Aunt Maria's hard, ungracious way of living with servants, as if they were machines."

"Ah, well, Eva, it's always so. Hard, worldly people always have a good deal of what looks like practical sense on their side, and kindness and unselfishness certainly have their weak points; there's no doubt of that. The Sermon on the Mount is open to a great deal of good hard worldly criticism, and so is every attempt to live up to it practically; but, never mind. We all know that the generous way is the strong way, and the best way, in the long run."

"And then you know, Harry, I have n't the least talent for being hard of fate is that the superior man isn't around, and Jim is; and, ten to one, if the superior man were in the field, Alice would be perverse enough to choose Jim. And, after all, you must confess, give Jim Fellows a fortune of a million or two, a place in Newport, and another on the North River, and even you would call it a brilliant match, and think it a fortunate thing for Alice."

"Oh, dear me, Harry, that's the truth, to be sure. Am I so worldly?"

"No; but deal heroes are not plentiful, and there are few gems that don't need rich setting. The first questions as to a man are, is he safe, has he no bad habits, is he kind and affectionate in his disposition and capable of constant affection? and, secondly, does the woman feel that sort of love that makes her prefer him even to men that are quite superior? Now, whether Alice feels in that way toward Jim is what remains to be seen. I'm sure I can't tell. Neither can I tell whether Jim has any serious intentions in regard to her. If they were only let alone, and not watched and interfered with, I've no doubt the thing would adjust itself in the natural course of things."

"But see here, I must be going to my club, and, now I think of it, I've brought some Paris letters from the girls for you, to pass the evening with."

"You have? Letters from Ida and Caroline? You naughty creature, why didn't you give them to me before?"

"Well your grave face when I first came in put everything else out of my head; and then came on all this talk; but it's just as well, you'll have them to read while I'm gone."

"Don't stay late, Harry."

"No; you may be sure I've no temptation. I'd much rather be here with you watching our own backlog. But then I shall see several fellows about articles for the magazine, and get all the late news, and, in short, take an observation of our latitude and longitude: so, au revoir!"

CHAPTER VII.

LETTERS AND AIR-CASTLES.

After Harry went out, Eva arranged the fire, dropped the curtains over the window, drew up an easy chair into a vague unrest; I am chased by seasons of high excitement, alternating with deadly languor. Ida has hard work to know what to do with me. You were right in supposing, as you intimate in your letter, that a certain common friend has something to do with this unrest, but you cannot, unless you knew my whole history, know how much. There was a time when he and I were all the world to each other—when shall I ever forget that time! I was but seventeen; a young girl, so ignorant of life! I never had seen one like him; he was a whole new revelation to me; he woke up everything there was in me, never to go to sleep again; and then to think of having all this tide and current of feeling checked—frozen. My father overwhelmed him with accusations; every baseness was laid to his charge. I was woman enough to have stood for him against the world if he had come to me. I would of left all and gone to the ends of the earth with him if he had asked me, but he did not. There was only one farewell, self-accusing letter, and even that fell into my father's hands and never came to me till after his death. For years I thought myself wantonly trifled with by a man of whose attentions I ought to be ashamed. I was indignant at myself for the love that might have been my glory, for it is my solemn belief, that if we had been let alone he would have been saved all those wretched falls, those blind struggles that have marred a life whose purpose is yet so noble.

"When the fates brought us together again in New York, I saw at a glance that whatever may have been the proud, morbid conscientiousness that dictated his long silence, he loved me still—a woman knows that by an unmistakable instinct. She can feel the reality through all disguises. I know that man loves me, and yet he does not now in word or deed make the least profession beyond the boundaries of friendship. He is my friend; with entire devotion he is willing to spend and be spent for me—but he will accept nothing from me. I, who would give my life to him willingly—must do nothing for him!

"Well, it's no use writing. You see now that I a very unworthy disciple of your sister. She is so calm and philosophical that I cannot tell her all this; but you, dear little Eva, you know the heart of woman, and you have a magic key which unlocks everybody's heart in confidence to you. I seem to see you, in fancy, with good Cousin Harry, sitting closely in your chimney-corner; your ivies and nasturtiums growing round your sunny windows, and an everlasting summer in your pretty parlors, while the December winds whistle without. Such a life as you two lead, such a house as your home, is worth a thousand 'careers' that dazzle ambition. Send us more letters, journals, of all your pretty, lovely home life, and let me warm myself in the glow of your fireside.

"Your Cousin, CARRY."

Eva finished this letter, and folding it up sat with it in her lap, gazing into the fire, and pondering its contents. If the truth must be told, she was revolving in her young, busy brain a scheme for restoring Caroline to her lover, and setting them up comfortably at house-keeping on a contiguous street, where she had seen a house to let. In five minutes she had gone through the whole programme—seen the bride at the altar, engaged the house, bought the furniture, and had before her a vision of parlors, of snuggeries and cosy nooks, where Caroline was to preside, and where Boulton was to lounge at his ease, while she and Caroline compared house-keeping accounts. Happy young wives develop an aptitude for match-making as naturally as flowers spring in a meadow, and Eva was losing herself in this vision of Alnashar, when a loud, imperative, sharp bark of a dog at the front door of the house called her back to life and the world.

Now there are as many varieties to dog-barks as to man-talks. There is the common bow-wow, which means nothing, only that it is a dog speaking; the conversational bark, which, of a moonlight night, means gossip; and the imperative staccato bark which means immediate business. The bark at the front door was of this kind: it was loud and sharp, and with a sort of indignant imperativeness about it, as of one accustomed to be attended to immediately.

Eva flew to the front door and opened it, and there sat Jack, the spoiled darling of Miss Dorcas Vanderheyden and her sister, over the way.

"Why, Jacky! where did you come from?" said Eva. Jacky sat up on his staircase in an equal state of dishabille:

"Oh dear, Mrs. Henderson, we are so shocked!"

Dear me, never speak of it. I think it was a cunning trick of Jack. He knew you were gone to bed, and saw I was up, and so got me to ring his doorbell for him. I don't doubt he rode up town in the omnibus. Well, good-night!"

And Eva closed the door, and flew back to her own little nest just in time to let in Harry.

The first few moments after they were fairly by the fireside were devoted to a recital of the adventure, with dramatic representations of Jack and his mistresses.

"It's a capital move on Jack's part. It got me into the very interior of the fortress. Only think of seeing them in their night-caps! That is carrying all the outworks of ceremony at a move."

"To say nothing of their eternal gratitude," said Harry.

"Oh, that of course. They were ready to weep on my neck with joy that I had brought the dear little plague back to them, and I don't doubt are rejoicing at this moment. But, oh, Harry, you must hear the girls' Paris letters."

"Are they very long?" said Harry.

"Fie now, Harry; you ought to be interested in the girls."

"Why, of course I am," said Harry, pulling out his watch, "only—what time is it?"

"Only half-past ten—not a bit late," said Eva. As she began to read Ida's letter, Harry settled back in the embrace of luxurious chair, with his feet stretched out towards the fire, and gradually the details of Paris life mingled pleasingly with a dream—a fact of which Eva was made aware as she asked him suddenly what he thought of Ida's views on a certain point.

"Now, Harry—you haven't been asleep?"

"Just a moment. The very least in the world," said Harry, looking anxiously alert and sitting up very straight.

Then Eva read Caroline's letter.

"Now, isn't it too bad?" she said, with eagerness, as she finished.

"Yes, it is," said Harry, very gravely.

"But, Eva dear, it's one of those things that you and I can do nothing to help—it is an ananke."

"What's an ananke?"

"That I do, I'm always keeping my eyes open when I go about New York for bits and hints that you can work up, and I'm sure you ought to do something with this old Vanderheyden house. I know there must be ghosts in it; I'm perfectly certain."

"But you wouldn't meet them in a morning call," said Harry "that's contrary to all ghostly etiquette."

"Never mind, I'll get track of them. I'll become intimate with old Miss Dorcas and get her to relate her history, and if there is a ghost-chamber I'll be into it."

"Well, success to you," said Harry; "but to me it looks like a formidable undertaking. Those old ladies are so padded and wadded in buckram."

"Oh, pshaw! there's just what Jack has done for me, he has made a breach in the padding and buckram. Only think of my seeing them at midnight in their night-caps! And such funny night-caps! Why, it's an occasion long to be remembered, and I would be willing to wager anything they are talking it over at this minute; and, of course, you see it's extremely proper and quite a part of the play that I should come in this morning to inquire after the wanderer, and to hope they didn't catch cold, and to talk over the matter generally. Now, I like that old Miss Dorcas; there seems to me to be an immense amount of character behind all her starch and stiffness and I think she's quite worth knowing. She'll be an acquisition if one can only get at her."

"Well, as I said, success and prosperity go with you!" said Harry, as he rose and gathered his papers to go to his morning work.

"I'll go right out with you," said Eva, and she snatched from the hat-tree a shawl and a little morsel of white fleecy worsted, which the initiated surname "a cloud," and tied it over her head. "I'm going right in upon them now," she said.

It was a brisk, frosty morning, and she went out with Harry and darted across from the door. He saw her in the distance, as he went down the street, laughing and kissing her hand to him on the door-step of the Vanderheyden house.

Just then the sound of the door-bell—unheard of in that hour in the morn-

the common bow-wow, which means nothing, only that it is a dog speaking; the conversational bark, which, of a moonlight night, means gossip; and the imperative staccato bark which means immediate business. The bark at the front door was of this kind: it was loud and sharp, and with a sort of indignant imperativeness about it, as of one accustomed to be attended to immediately.

Eva flew to the front door and opened it, and there sat Jack, the spoiled darling of Miss Dorcas Vanderheyden and her sister, over the way.

"Why, Jacky! where did you come from?" said Eva. Jacky sat up on his haunches and waved his forepaws in a vigorous manner, as was his way when he desired to be specially ingratiating.

Eva seized him in her arms and carried him into the parlor, thinking that as he had accidentally been shut out for the night she would domesticate him for a while, and return him to his owners on the morrow. So she placed him on the ottoman in the corner and attempted to caress him, but evidently that was not the purpose he had in view. He sprang down, ran to the door and snuffed, and to the front windows and barked imperiously.

"Why, Jack, what do you want?"

He sprang into a chair and barked out at the Vanderheyden house.

Eva looked at the mantel clock—it wanted a few minutes of ten—without, it was a nice moonlight night.

"I'll run across with him, and see what it is," she said. She was young enough to enjoy something like an adventure. She opened the front door and Jack rushed out, and then stopped to see if she would follow; as she stood a moment he laid hold on the skirt of her dress, as if to pull her along.

"Well, Jacky, I'll go," said Eva. Thereat the creature bounded across the street and up the steps of the opposite house, where he stood waiting. She went up and rang the door-bell, which appeared to be what he wanted, as he sat down quite contented on the doorstep.

Nobody came. Eva looked up and down the street. "Jacky, we shall have to go back, they are all asleep," she said. But Jacky barked a contradiction, sprang nearer to the door, and insisted on being let in.

"Well, if you say so, Jacky, I must ring again," she said, and with that she pulled the door-bell louder, and Jack barked with all his might, and

ed pleasingly with a dream—a fact of which Eva was made aware as she asked him suddenly what he thought of Ida's views on a certain point.

"Now, Harry—you haven't been asleep?"

"Just a moment. The very least in the world," said Harry, looking anxiously alert and sitting up very straight. Then Eva read Caroline's letter.

"Now, isn't it too bad?" she said, with eagerness, as she finished.

"Yes, it is," said Harry, very gravely. "But, Eva dear, it's one of those things that you and I can do nothing to help—it is ananke."

"What's ananke?"

"The name the old Greeks gave to that perverser Something that brought ruin and misery in spite of and out of the best human efforts."

"But I want to bring the two together."

"Be careful how you try, darling. Who knows what the results may be? It's a subject Bolton never speaks of, where he has his own purposes and conclusions; and it's the best thing for Caroline to be where she has as many allurements and distractions as she has in Paris, and such a wise, calm, strong friend as your sister."

"And now, dear, mayn't I go to bed?" he added, with yawns. "You've no idea, dear, how sleepy I am."

"Oh, certainly, you poor boy," said Eva, bustling about and putting up the chairs and books preparatory to leaving the parlor.

"You see," she said, going up stairs, "he was so imperious that I really had to go with him."

"He! Who?"

"Why, Jack to be sure, he did all but speak," said Eva, brush in hand, and letting down her curls before the glass. "You see I was in a reverie over those letters when the barking roused me—I don't think you ever heard such a barking; and when I got him in, he wouldn't be contented—kept insisting on my going over with him—wasn't it strange?"

Harry, by this time composed for the night and half asleep, said it was.

In a few moments he was aroused by Eva's saying, suddenly,

"Harry, I really think I ought to bring them together. Now, couldn't I do something

"With Jack?" said Harry, drowsily.

"Jack!—oh, you sleepy-head! Well, never mind. Good night."

"I'll go right out with you," said Eva, and she snatched from the hat-tree a shawl and a little morsel of white fleecy worsted, which the initiated surname "a cloud," and tied it over her head. "I'm going right in upon them now," she said.

It was a brisk, frosty morning, and she went out with Harry and darted across from the door. He saw her in the distance, as he went down the street, laughing and kissing her hand to him on the door-step of the Vanderheyden house.

Just then the sound of the door-bell—unheard of in that hour in the morning—caused an excitement in the back breakfast-parlor, where Miss Dorcas and Mrs. Betsey were at a late breakfast, with old Dinah standing behind Miss Dorcas' chair to get her morning orders, giggling and disputing them inch by inch, as was her ordinary wont.

The old door-bell had a rustling, harsh, rusty sound, as if cross with a chronic rheumatism of disuse.

"Who under the sun!" said Miss Dorcas. "Jack, be still!"

But Jack wouldn't be still, but ran and snuffed at the door, and barked as if he smelt a legion of burglars.

Eva heard, within the house, the dining-room door open, and then Jack's barking came like a fire of artillery at the crack of the front door, where she was standing. It was slowly opened, and old Dinah's giggling countenance appeared. "Laws bless your soul, Mis' Henderson," she said, flinging the door wide open, "is that you? Jack, be still, sir!"

But Eva had caught Jack in her arms, and walked with him to the door of breakfast room.

"Do pray excuse me," she said, "but I thought I'd just run over and see that you hadn't taken any cold."

The scene within was not uninviting. There was a cheerful wood fire burning on the hearth behind a pair of gigantic old-fashioned pair of brass fire-irons. The little breakfast-table, with its bright old silver and India china, was drawn comfortably up in front. Miss Dorcas had her chair on one side, and Mrs. Betsey on the other, and between them there was a chair drawn up for Jack, where he had been sitting at the time the door-bell rang.

"We are ashamed of our late hours," said Miss Dorcas, when she had made Eva sit down in an old-fashioned claw-footed arm chair in the warmest corner.

the ottoman in the corner and attempted to caress him, but evidently that was not the purpose he had in view. He sprang down, ran to the door and snuffed, and to the front windows and barked imperiously.

"Why, Jack, what do you want?"

He sprang into a chair and barked out at the Vanderheyden house.

Eva looked at the mantel clock—it wanted a few minutes of ten—without, it was a nice moonlight night.

"I'll run across with him, and see what it is," she said. She was young enough to enjoy something like an adventure. She opened the front door and Jack rushed out, and then stopped to see if she would follow; as she stood a moment he laid hold on the skirt of her dress, as if to pull her along.

"Well, Jacky, I'll go," said Eva. Thereat the creature bounded across the street and up the steps of the opposite house, where he stood waiting. She went up and rang the door-bell, which appeared to be what he wanted, as he sat down quite contented on the doorstep.

Nobody came. Eva looked up and down the street. "Jacky, we shall have to go back, they are all asleep," she said. But Jacky barked a contradiction, sprang nearer to the door, and insisted on being let in.

"Well, if you say so, Jacky, I must ring again," she said, and with that she pulled the door-bell louder, and Jack barked with all his might, and the two succeeded after a few moments in causing a perceptible stir within.

Slowly the door unclosed, and a vision of Miss Dorcas in an old-fashioned broad-frilled night-cap peeped out. She was attired in a black water-proof cloak, donned hastily over her night gear.

"Oh, Jack, you naughty boy!" she exclaimed, stooping eagerly to the prodigal, who sprang tumultuously into her arms and began licking her face.

"I'm so much obliged to you, Mrs. Henderson," she said to Eva. "We went down in the omnibus this afternoon, and we suddenly missed him, the naughty fellow," she said, endeavouring to throw severity into her tones.

Eva related Jack's ruse.

"Did you ever!" said Miss Dorcas "the creature knew that we slept in the back of the house, and he got you to ring our door-bell. Jacky, what a naughty fellow you are!"

Mrs. Betsey now appeared on the where he has his own purposes and conclusions; and it's the best thing for Caroline to be where she has as many allurements and distractions as she has in Paris, and such a wise, calm, strong friend as your sister.

"And now, dear, mayn't I go to bed?" he added, with pathos. "You've no idea, dear, how sleepy I am."

"Oh, certainly, you poor boy," said Eva, bustling about and putting up the chairs and books preparatory to leaving the parlor.

"You see," she said, going up stairs, "he was so imperious that I really had to go with him."

"He! Who?"

"Why, Jack to be sure, he did all but speak," said Eva, brush in hand, and letting down her curls before the glass. "You see I was in a reverie over those letters when the barking roused me—I don't think you ever heard such a barking; and when I got him in, he wouldn't be contented—kept insisting on my going over with him—wasn't it strange?"

Harry, by this time composed for the night and half asleep, said it was.

In a few moments he was aroused by Eva's saying, suddenly,

"Harry, I really think I ought to bring them together. Now, couldn't I do something

"With Jack?" said Harry, drowsily.

"Jack!—oh, you sleepy-head! Well, never mind. Good night."

CHAPTER VIII.

THE VANDERHEYDEN FORTRESS TAKEN.

"Now, Harry, I'll tell you what I'm going to do this morning," said Eva, with the air of a little general, as she poured out his morning coffee.

"And what are you going to do?" replied he, in the proper tone of inquiry.

"Well, I'm going to take the old fortress over the way by storm, this very morning. I'm going to rush through the breach that Jack has opened into the very interior and see what there is there. I'm perfectly dying to get the run of that funny old house; why, Harry, it's just like a novel, and I shouldn't wonder if I could get enough out of it for you to make an article of."

"Thank you, dear; you enter into the spirit of article-hunting like one to the manner born."

harsh, rusty sound, as if cross with a chronic rheumatism of disuse.

"Who under the sun!" said Miss Dorcas. "Jack, be still!"

But Jack wouldn't be still, but ran and snuffed at the door, and barked as if he smelt a legion of burglars.

Eva heard, within the house, the dining-room door open, and then Jack's barking came like a fire of artillery at the crack of the front door, where she was standing. It was slowly opened, and old Dinah's giggling countenance appeared. "Laws bless your soul, Mis' Henderson," she said, flinging the door wide open, "is that you? Jack, be still, sir!"

But Eva had caught Jack in her arms, and walked with him to the door of breakfast room.

"Do pray excuse me," she said, "but I thought I'd just run over and see that you hadn't taken any cold."

The scene within was not uninviting. There was a cheerful wood fire burning on the hearth behind a pair of gigantic old-fashioned pair of brass fire-irons. The little breakfast-table, with its bright old silver and India china, was drawn comfortably up in front. Miss Dorcas had her chair on one side, and Mrs. Betsey on the other, and between them there was a chair drawn up for Jack, where he had been sitting at the time the door-bell rang.

"We are ashamed of our late hours," said Miss Dorcas, when she had made Eva sit down in an old-fashioned claw-footed arm-chair in the warmest corner; "we don't usually breakfast so late, but, the fact is, Betsey was quite done up with the adventure last night."

"Perhaps," said Eva, "I had better have tried keeping Jack till morning."

"Oh no, indeed, Mrs. Henderson," said Mrs. Betsey, with energy; "I know it's silly, but I shouldn't have slept a wink all night if Jack hadn't come home. You know he sleeps with me," she added.

Eva did not know it before, but she said "Yes" all the same, and the good lady rushed on:

TO BE CONTINUED.

A very unsatisfactory sort of bread—the roll of fame.

Disraeli is growing fat. He says it's owing to fatigue.

Ottawa Normal School has been re-opened.

The Pope is a good man on a pinch of snuff.

Young People.

AN UNSPOKEN QUESTION.

I thought I must be dreaming
The day you whispered low,
And told me the sweet secret
That I alone must know.

I listened quite in silence,
Perhaps you thought me cold;
My heart was overflowing
With tenderness untold.

Just for one fleeting moment,
One only, did you stay,
Were you and I both dreaming
That happy summer's day?

"ALMOST PERSUADED."

Almost persuaded now to believe;
Almost persuaded Christ to receive;
Seems now some soul to say,
Go, spirit, go thy way,
Some more convenient day
On thee I'll call.

Almost persuaded, come, come to-day;
Almost persuaded, turn not away;
Jesus invites you here,
Angels are wandering near,
Prayers rise from hearts so dear;
O wanderer come.

Almost persuaded, harvest is past!
Almost persuaded, doom comes at last!
Almost cannot avail;
Almost is but to fail!
Sad, sad that mournful wail—
Almost—but lost!

One hundred years ago, a young woman did not loose caste by wetting her hands in dish-water or rubbing the skin off her knuckles on a wash-board.

One hundred years ago the physician who could not draw every form of disease from the system by tapping a large vein in the arm, was not much of a doctor.

One hundred years ago there was no Boss Tweed to steal the funds of New York city with one hand and hold the reins of justice with the other.

One hundred years ago the producer carried his surplus products to market on his horse, the products being placed in one end of the bag and the jug in the other.

One hundred years ago our fathers did not light their pipes with matches, but carried fire in their pockets in the shape of a piece of spunk, a piece of steel and a flint.

One hundred years ago a public officer or other citizen could not steal enough to make the act respectable and insure the actor a prominent position in the "first circles."

One hundred years ago the condition of the weather on the 1st day of January was not telegraphed all over the continent on the evening of December 31st. Things have changed.

One hundred years ago the right of the schoolmaster to "whip" was not questioned; a deeper and more lasting impression was often made with the gad than with the blackboard.

One hundred years ago people did not worry about rapid transit and cheap transportation, but threw their grain across the backs of their horses and uncomplainingly "went to mill."

One hundred years ago every man cut his coat according to his cloth—every man was estimated at his real value—shoddy was not known—no body had struck "ile"—and true merit the honest worth were the only grounds for promotion.

One hundred years ago to tell the truth, people generally died from natural causes, while in our day they step out through steamboat explosions, railroad smash-ups, hurricanes earthquakes, circular saws, and in a thousand other ways discovered since the birth of the oldest inhabitant.

LACHINE

CANAL ENLARGEMENT

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, endorsed "Tender for Lachine Canal," will be received at this Office for the enlargement of this Canal, consisting of the widening and deepening from a short distance above Lock No 3 or St Lawrence, at Lachine; embracing the construction of a new lock at Cote St. Paul, taking down and rebuilding the upper portions of the present lock at the place, construction of regulating weirs, culverts, bridge piers, and a new entrance lock at Lachine, and the formation of a canal and basin on the south or river side of the existing entrance.

The work will be let in sections of the respective lengths indicated on a map of the line, which together with plans and specifications of the various works, can be seen at this Office, and at the Lachine Canal Office, Montreal; at either of which places printed Forms of Tender can be obtained.

Tenders for Sections No. 9, or what is called the "Rock But," and Sections No. 10 at Lachine, will be received until the arrival of the eastern and western mails on Wednesday the 12th day of January next, plans and specifications for which can be seen at the places above mentioned on and after Wednesday the 5th day of January next.

For other part of the works, tenders will be received until Tuesday, the 21st day of March next, and for which plans and specifications can be seen at the respective places above mentioned, on and after Tuesday, the 7th day of March.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque, or other available security, for the sum of from one to three hundred dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines or fails to enter into contract for the works when called upon to do so, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in, will be returned to the respective parties whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfillment of the con-

STOV

M

COOK

D

BOILI

MACH

CO.

FANC

SE

EAVE

INC

HALL

WHIC

Jan.

NEW

F.

I

Wa

wh

I

DOND

W

for cur

remed

cure ci

Any disease

prepar

door t v

Nap

Every man was estimated at his real value—shoddy was not known—no body had struck "ile"—and true merit the honest worth were the only grounds for promotion.

One hundred years ago to tell the truth, people generally died from natural causes, while in our day they step out through steamboat explosions railroads smash-ups, hurricanes earthquakes, circular saws, and in a thousand other ways discovered since the birth of the oldest inhabitant.

WHY THE SUN-DIAL FAILED.

Old Mills, the optician at New Castle sold a sun-dial to Pittman a few weeks ago with the assurance that it was quite a reliable time-keeper. About a fortnight afterward, Pittman called, one day at the shop and said:

"Say, Mills, that sun-dial ain't worth a cent. It's no good as a time piece, anyway."

"Mayby you haven't got it fixed in a good place," said Mills.

"Yes I have," replied Pittman; "but I tell you it won't work. There must be something wrong about it."

"No it's in perfect order," said Mills. "Did you ever time it by your watch?"

"Certainly I did. I've stood close to it a hundred times exactly at seven and the cussed thing has never struck the time once."

"Merciful Moses! Why, you didn't expect to strike the hours, did you? Thunder! why, it don't strike, of course. It has no works inside."

"That's what gets me," said Pittman. "If it ain't got no inside, how's it goin' to go?"

"Mr. Pittman, where have you put that sun-dial? In the garden?"

"Garden! Be gracious, no! What do I want with a timepiece in the garden? It's hung in the settin' room agin the wall."

Then Mills explained it to him, and Pittman has since traded the sun-dial off for a four dollar clock.

FORTY DOLLARS THIS TIME.—"Open that safe," said a merchant to an expert who had been sent for. "Open it in twenty minutes and I will give you $20."

The safe was opened in five minutes. "All right said the merchant, "here is $10; enough for five minutes work."

The $10 was looked at but not taken, and the next moment the safe was closed as tight as ever.

"Oh, how is that?" "The how," said the man, "is that I charge nothing for closing the safe, but $20 more for the next opening—$40 in all—and want my pay in ad-

an accepted bank cheque, or other available security, for the sum of from one to three hundred dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines or fails to enter into contract for the works when called upon to do so, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in, will be returned to the respective parties whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate or by deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stock to the amount of five per cent on the bulk sum of the contract, of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the works.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of works embraced in the contract.

This Department does not however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, Dec. 23rd, 1875.

F. BRAUN,
Secretary.

43-3in

FOR SALE.

Choice Six Panel Doors.

At $1.50 each.

Sash, 3 Cents per Light.

A FULL STOCK OF

Lumber, Lath, Shingles, and Dressed Lumber.

AT NAPANEE LUMBER YARD.

R. S. SHIPMAN Agent.
Napanee, Dec. 9th, 1875. 40-3in.

Rupture Trusses.

SEELEY'S HARD Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and Cure for Herni or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated with hard rubber, highly polished. Free from all soft, rusty, chafing, strapping or girthing unpleasantness. Cool, cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable. Sold by all dealers. Estab'ts, 1347 Chestnut St., Phila., and 717 Broadway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitations Canadian trade supplied by Messrs. Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Drug-gists, Montreal.

BOOTS AND SHOES,

FOR THE COLD WEATHER.

Ladies Gents & Children's

FELT & WOOLEN LINED BOOTS & SHOES,

PLAIN & FANCY OVERBOOTS,

W for cu remed
cure c
Any diseas prepai door t
Nai

LIVE

(AI

Horse
PRICE

FOR

BL

Tr
THE

For from a recom
For and S pu

It
C
C
C

C
C
C
C
C

F
As thi and w ious t either to giv

The Sole contai
—suff

the gr
BY A MEN
world
Solep
APOI

E
Sold i
Med
Wh
On'tar
EVAL

One hundred years ago, wedding tours were not fashionable.

One hundred years ago, the gin best known was not the cotton gin.

One hundred years ago, there were no Pacific railroad subsidies.

One hundred years ago, men did not die of Presidential maggots on the brain.

One hundred years ago, farmers did not cut their legs off with mowing machines.

One hundred years ago, horses which could trot a mile in 2:14 were somewhat scarce.

One hundred years ago "crooked" whiskey was not known. Our forefathers took their's straight.

One hundred years ago, people did not enjoy the inestimable pleasure of growling about gas bills.

One hundred years ago, University boat clubs were not entered at pool-sales like fighting cocks in a pit.

One hundred years ago, every young man was not an applicant for a position as a clerk or bookkeeper.

One hundred years ago, false teeth were not considered very much preferable to the original grinders.

One hundred years ago, time and tide waited for nobody, and now no body waits for either time or tide.

One hundred years ago, kerosene lamps did not explode and assist women to shuffle off their mortal coil.

One hundred years ago, men did not commit suicide by going up in balloons and coming down without them.

One hundred years ago, there was no steam on the canals—even the driver on the tow-path didn't steam up in those days.

One hundred years ago, there were no Turkish harems at Salt Lake, and no Ann Eliza suing for the nineteenth part of a divorce.

One hundred years ago, England was not very far behind the United States in all that goes to make a nation powerful and progressive.

One hundred years ago, the great cry heard throughout all this section of country, was not for "zwer glass lager beer."

good place," said Mills.

"Yes I have," replied Pittman; "but I tell you it won't work. There must be something wrong about it."

"No it's in perfect order," said Mills. "Did you ever time it by your watch?"

"Certainly I did. I've stood close to it a hundred times exactly at seven and the cursed thing has never struck the time once."

"Merciful Moses! Why, you didn't expect to strike the hours, did you? Thunder! why, it don't strike, of course. It has no works inside."

"That's what gets me," said Pittman. "If it ain't got no inside, how's it goin' to go?"

"Mr. Pittman, where have you put that sun-dial? In the garden?"

"Garden! Be gracious, no! What do I want with a timepiece in the garden? It's hung in the settin' room agin the wall."

Then Mills explained it to him, and Pittman has since traded the sun-dial off for a four dollar clock.

FORTY DOLLARS THIS TIME.—"Open that safe," said a merchant to an expert who had been sent for. "Open it in twenty minutes and I will give you $20."

The safe was opened in five minutes. "All right said the merchant, 'here is $10; enough for five minutes work.'"

The $10 was looked at but not taken, and the next moment the safe was closed as tight as ever.

"Oh, how is that?"

"The how," said the man, "is that I charge nothing for closing the safe, but $20 more for the next opening—$40 in all—and want my pay in advance."

Of course he did, and whoever has any thing to say on the subject can now speak.

We advise all young people to acquire the habit of correct speaking and writing, and to abandon as soon as possible any use of slang words or phrases. The longer you live the more difficult the acquirement of correct language will be, and if the golden age of youth, the proper season for the acquisition of language, be passed in abuse, the unfortunate victim, is neglected, very properly doomed to talk slang for life. Money is unnecessary to produce this education. Every man has it in his power. He is merely to use the language which he hears, to form his tastes from the best speakers and poets in the country, to treasure up choice phrases his memory and habituate himself to their use, avoiding at the same time that pedantic precision and bombast which shows the weakness of vain ambition rather than the polish of an educated man.

for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of works embraced in the contract.

This Department does not however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, Dec. 23rd, 1875.

F. BRAUN, Secretary.

43-3in

FOR SALE.

Choice Six Panel Doors.

At $1.50 each.

Sash. 3 Cents per Light.

A FULL STOCK OF

Lumber, Lath, Shingles, and Dressed Lumber.

AT NAPANEE LUMBER YARD.

R. S. SHIPMAN Agent.

Napanee, Dec. 9th, 1875.

40-8in.

Rupture Trusses. SEELEY'S HARD Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and Cure for Herni or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated with hard rubber, highly polished. Free from all soot, rust, chafing, strapping or girthing unpleasantness. Cool cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable. Sold by all dealers. Estab'ts, 1347 Chestnut St., Phila., and 717 Broadway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitations Canadian trade supplied by Messrs. Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Drug-gists, Montreal.

BOOTS AND SHOES,

FOR THE COLD WEATHER.

Ladies Gents & Children's

FELT & WOOLEN LINED BOOTS & SHOES,

PLAIN & FANCY OVERBOOTS,

ARCTIC BOOTS,

SNOW EXCLUDERS, &c.,

Also just received a new and beautiful lot of

FENCH CHINA—CHEAP.

M. DWYER & CO.

NAPANEE LIME WORKS

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to inform the public that they are now prepared to furnish Lime to all orders entrusted to their care. Lime kept in Limehouse at Perry's Plaster Mill and at Limehouse Mill Point. All orders left at Ferguson Bros' or at Office Brisco House, will be promptly attended to. Lime shipped to all parts of Canada.

GALT & BROTHER.

Napanee, April 7th, 1875.

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agents Wanted. All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents address G. STINSON & Co. Portland, Maine. 5-30

EMENT TORS.

addressed to ed "Tender received at ent of this dening and ance above at Lachine; of a new g down and ons of the onstruction arts, bridge ocket at Lach-a canal and side of the sections of ated on a gether with the various Office, and Montreal;

nted Forms

9, or what nd Sections be received astern and y the 12th and specifi-seen at the 1 and after of January

cks, tenders lay, the 21st which plans
seen at the ntioned, on 7th day of l to bear in be consider-accordance and—in the are attached ature of the residence of and further,

e, or other um of from ars, accord-
the section, nder, which ty tendering nto contract upon to do e offer sub

n each case rm of Ten-us sent in,

pective paraccepted.
of the con-
will be re

STOVES, HARDWARE, TINWAR
MILL POINT.

COOKING,
PARLOUR,
BOX & HALL STOVES,
FOR WOOD AND COAL.
DUMB STOVES, PAINTS,
BOILED AND RAW PAINT OILS,
MACINE OILS,
COAL OIL,
LAMPS & LAMP TRIMMINGS
GLASS OF ALL SIZES,
PUTTY,
CUTLERY,

FANCY GOODS & SMALL WARES.
SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO EAVETROUGHING, BELL-HANG-
ING, & GENERAL JOBBING.

A SPLENDID VARIETY OF HALL & PARLOR COAL STOVES,
BASE-BURNERS,

WHICH WILL BE SOLD AT COST PRICE.
D. McRAE & SON.
Jan. 12th, 1876.

NEW GOODS ! NEWG OODS!

F. CHINNECK,

Has just received a splendid
Stock of

Watches and Jewelry,

which he will sell cheaper, than
any other house in Town.

Repairing done on the shortest
notice and warranted.

DUNDAS STREET, EAST. NAPANEE

To the Public.

WHILE in Philadelphia I obtained a a recipe from the Eclectic Hospital for curing all skin diseases. The same remedy has never been known to fail to cure cancers when taken in time.

Any person afflicted with the above
diseases can obtain the Medicine, already prepared, at my office on John St., next door to Paisley's Hotel, Napanee.

W. S. FRALEIGH, M. D. C. M.
Napanee, June 3rd.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS"
FROM CHESAPE.

As the season of compliments and congratulations is at hand, we heartily wish our customers and friends a very "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year," with many returns of the festive season. We are deeply grateful because of the more than liberal patronage which we have received during the past year. It is a significant fact that while others are bemoaning the less trade and dull times, our business has steadily increased with each month and by the close of this year we shall be able to show a clear increase of thirty per cent over last years' trade. So much for Fair Square dealing and no "Jewing" it is a proof to us that our endeavors to keep our stock constantly assorted with the newest and most attractive goods, and also to dispose of them at the Smallest Living Profits, have been duly appreciated by the discriminating public. We shall continue to preserve the same course of action as during the past year, mending where we have erred or changing our course where our experience with a large and increasing business and extended knowledge of the requirements of the trade may dictate. We hope, with the inaugural of the new year, to see many new customers as well as old friends, and every energy will be put forth to please and give the very best value for their money. We may mention here that although we have always been noted for keeping the BEST BLACK LUSTRES, we have lately made arrangements for the supply of a PARTICULAR BRAND, which is superior to anything we have ever before offered, and we believe, superior in value to anything now offered for sale in town. Everything in the line of Dry Goods, Carpets, Millinery, &c., is now offered at very close prices. A call and inspection will convince.

Again wishing you many Happy New Years,

We remain faithfully yours,

E. HOOPER & SON.

Napanee, Dec. 22d, 1875.

To the Public.

WHILE in Philadelphia I obtained a recipe from the Eclectic Hospital for curing all skin diseases. The same remedy has never been known to fail to cure cancers when taken in time.

Any person afflicted with the above diseases can obtain the Medicine, already prepared, at my office on John St., next door to Paisley's Hotel, Napanee.

W. S. FRALEIGH, M. D. C. M.
Napanee, June 3rd.

POTTER BROS.. LIVERY AND SALE STABLES

(ADJOINING THE BRISCO HOUSE.)
NAPANEE, ONT.

We keep nothing but First-Class Horses and Vehicles, and at REASONABLE PRICES

FOR HEBLOOD IS THE LIFE

CLARKE'S WORLD FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE. Trade Mark,—"Blood Mixture." THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases, and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing permanent cure.

It cures old Sores

Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.

Cures Ulcerated Scro Legs.

Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the

Face,

Cures Scurvy Sores.

Cures Cancerous Ulcers.

Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.

Cures Glandular Swellings.

Clears the Blood from all impure Matter.

From whatever cause arising.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, $4 each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases, BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist. APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN, ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for the Provinces Ontario and Quebec:—

EVANS, MERCER and CO., Montreal.

Again wishing you many Happy New Years,

We remain faithfully yours,

E. HOOPER & SON.

Napanee, Dec. 22d, 1875.

R. IRVINE & CO. Family Grocers, NAPANEE.

Next door to Tichborne House.

Now on hand a full stock of Crockery and Glassware the latest styles and best quality. A greater variety than ever before.

The very best cheese in town---Try it and be convinced.

Fresh groceries of all kinds---Cheap and good.

Call and see our stock, whether you purchase or not.
We will be glad to show you round.

CHEAP SALE.

WEES & SHOREY

WILL OFFER SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRY GOODS DURING THE HOLIDAYS.

CARPETS AT COST--NO RESERVE.

ditions, of works
PRICES

owever, or any

ks, Ot-

AUN, cretary.

3.

Dressed

Agent. 40-Sin.

HARD

ises, ret- and rmi or coated

d. Free strap- Cool

Un- eliable.

s, 1347 Broad- itations Messrs. Drug-

DES,

n's

BOOTS

OTS,

ts, &c.,

beauti-

P.

CO.

ORKS

form the d to fur- eir care. ster Mill at Office ended to.

IER.

Wanted. g people money, or all riculars o cents 125. 5-30

FOR HEBLOOD IS THE LIFE
CLARKE'S
WORLD FAMED
BLOOD MIXTURE.
Trade Mark,—"Blood Mixture."
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvey, Skin Diseases, and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing permanent cure.

It cures old Sores
Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
Cures Ulcerated Scro Legs.

Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face,

Cures Scurvy Sores.

Cures Cancerous Ulcers.

Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.

Cures Glandular Swellings.

Clears the Blood from all impure Matter.

From whatever cause arising. As this mixture is pleasant to the taste, and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, $4 each—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the great majority of long-standing cases, BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist. APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN. ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for the Provinces Ontario and Quebec:—
EVANS, MERCER and CO., Montreal.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Audit for the County of Lennox and Addington will meet to audit the public accounts at the Court House, in the town of Napanee, on Tuesday the Fourteenth of January A. D. 1876, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

All accounts for audit must be delivered to the clerk of the Peace on or before January 1st. Office of the Clerk of the Peace, County of Lennox and Addington, Napanee, December 22d, 1875.

{ W. Reeve,
Clerk of the Peace,
County of Lennox and Addington

FARM FOR SALE.

A Farm of 100 acres of good land in the Seventh Concession of Tyndinassa, Lot No. 38. The second lot west of the Richmond Boundry. For terms and further particulars, enquire on the premises.

F. McARTHUR.
Albert P. O.

Now on hand a full stock of Crockery and Glassware the latest styles and best quality. A greater variety than ever before.

The very best cheese in town---Try it and be convinced.

Fresh groceries of all kinds---Cheap and good.

Call and see our stock, whether you purchase or not. We will be glad to show you round.

CHEAP SALE.

WEES & SHOREY

WILL OFFER SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRY GOODS DURING THE HOLIDAYS.

CARPETS AT COST--NO RESERVE.

ANOTHER CASE OF OUR CHEAP

BLACK LUSTERS JUST RECEIVED.

Seal, Brown Lustres, Merinos, Empress Cloths, and Metz Cords,

JUST TO HAND.

JOB LINE OF CHECKED FLANNELS,
Furs and Robes still cheaper than ever.

TEN DOZEN SILK SCARFS
just received from New York.

IF YOU WANT A STYLISH SUIT
Look at our Tweeds before purchasing,

FIT OR NO SALE.

SHAWLS SPECIAL BARGAINS.

WEES & SHOREY.

GREAT CLEARING SALE

The undersigned will sell at cost for cash only, during
THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF BOOTS &
WE ARE DETERMINED TO SELL.

THIS IS A GENUINE

Our stock being too large for the times, we offer the

REMEMBER THIS

For Cheap Boots & Shoes, Hats & Coats

AT ROSE & FRALICK'S, EAST END

Come and see, and be convinced yourselves.

IN THE QUEENS BENCH.

THE DOMINION CONTROVERTED
 ELECTIONS ACT, 1874.

Election of a Member for the House of Commons, for the Electoral District of the County of Addington.

*Dominion of Canada, Election Pe-PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, tion of David
 TO WIT. James Wag-
 goner, against the Election of Schuyler
 Shibley.*

Take notice that the above will be tried at

THE COURT HOUSE,

IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE,

On Tuesday, the Eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1876,

and on such other subsequent days as may be needful.

Dated the Twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1875.

GREAT CASH DISCOUNT CLEARING SALE

FOR ONE MONTH ONLY,

COMMENCING ON THE 19th

A. C. DAVIS & BRO

THE COURT HOUSE,
IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE,
On Tuesday, the Eighteenth day of January, A. D. 1876,
and on such other subsequent days as
may be needful.

Dated the Twenty-third day of December, A. D. 1875.

By Order,

ROBERT J. DALTON.

Clerk of the C. & P. Q. B.

POSTPONEMENT.

Trial of the above petition is postponed
until

Wednesday the Second day of February A. D. 1876,

At noon.

By Order of Judges.

ROBERT J. DALTON.

PROHIBITION.

The undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Municipality of the Township of Ernestown, hereby require that a Poll be taken, in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality will adopt, under the authority and for the enforcement of the Act, the By-Law following, which we hereby propose for their adoption, to
wit:

The sale of Intoxicating Liquors, and the issuing of License therefor, is by the present
By-Law prohibited within the Corporation of the Township of Ernestown, under authority and for the enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hands, this 21st day of January,
in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy Six. Duly signed by J.
R. Fraser, and 34 others.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is therefore, hereby given, to the aforesaid Electors, that a Meeting will be held to poll the votes of the Municipal Electors of the Corporation of the Township of Ernestown, for the adoption or rejection of the aforesaid
By-Law, at the Drill Shed in Odessa, on Friday the 25th day of Feb. next,

at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and will be continued on Saturday and the following Monday
if required, as the Law directs.

Dated this 26th Day of January, 1876.

ROBERT AYLSWORTH.

Township Clerk.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Township of Kennebec, hereby require that a poll be taken in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality, under authority and for enforcement of the said Act, the By-Law following, which we propose for adoption, to Wit:—
The sale of intoxicating liquors, and the issuing of licenses therefor is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Municipality of Kennebec, under authority and for enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hand the 3rd day January, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-Six.

James Kelley
W. B. Mills
Robert Paul
George Woodcock
Richard Newton
Andrew Boomhower
James Williams
Jacob W. Kellar
Elias Wood
William B. Perry
David Wood

Shadrach Wager
Gilbert Thompson
Daniel Wager
George W. Wood
George Mond's
Phillip Baker
C. C. Baker
Edwin Jenkins
Walter Boomhower
Gilbert Boomhower
Nelson Walker

A. C. DAVIS & B.

Preparatory to stock taking, will offer their entire stock (

DRY GOODS,
CLOTHING,
CLOTHS,
TWEEDS,
GENTS FURNISINGS, HATS
CAPS,
FURS,

At a Cash Discount of from 10 to

with few exceptions from regular prices

THE STOCK IS NEW AND ATT

AND GREAT BARGAINS WILL B

Citizens of Napanee, and Farmers of Lennox & Addington, lo
attend this Sale.

ALL ADVERTISED WILL BE STRICTLY CAR

A. C. DA

HARD TIMES.

On account of the hard times, we have decided to fix our prices to meet the times,

"FOR CASH ONLY."

Always on hand a complete stock of

DRUGS,

PAINTS,

OYSTERS!

OYSTERS!!

We are selling the celebrated

ANCHOR BRAND OYSTERS

RETAIL, 30 CENTS PER CAN.

EQUAL TO ANY OTHER BRAND IN THE

MARKET.

tors of the Municipality of the Township of Ernestown, hereby require that a Poll be taken, in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality will adopt, under the authority and for the enforcement of the Act, the By-Law following, which we hereby propose for their adoption, to wit:

The sale of Intoxicating Liquors, and the issuing of License therefor, is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Corporation of the Township of Ernestown, under authority and for the enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hands, this 21st day of January, in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy Six. Duly signed by J. R. Fraser, and 34 others.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is therefore, hereby given, to the aforesaid Electors, that a Meeting will be held to poll the votes of the Municipal Electors of the Corporation of the Township of Ernestown, for the adoption or rejection of the aforesaid By-Law, at the Drill Shed in Odessa, on Friday the 25th day of Feb. next,

at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and will be continued on Saturday and the following Monday if required, as the Law directs.

Dated this 26th Day of January, 1876.

ROBERT AYLSWORTH.

Township Clerk.

NOTICE.

THE undersigned qualified Municipal Electors of the Township of Kennebec, hereby require that a poll be taken in terms of the Temperance Act of 1864, to determine whether or not the qualified Municipal Electors of the said Municipality, under authority and for enforcement of the said Act, the By-Law following, which we propose for adoption, to Wit:— The sale of intoxicating liquors, and the issuing of licenses therefor is by the present By-Law prohibited within the Municipality of Kennebec, under authority and for enforcement of the Temperance Act of 1864.

Witness our hand the 3rd day January, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy-Six.

James Kelley	Shadrach Wager
W. B. Mills	Gilbert Thompson
Robert Paul	Daniel Wager
George Woodcock	George W. Wood
Richard Newton	George Mond
Andrew Boomhower	Phillip Baker
James Williams	C. C. Baker
Jacob W. Kellar	Edwin Jenkins
Elias Wood	Walter Boomhower
William B. Perry	Gilbert Boomhower
David Wood	Nelson Walker
Samuel Fuller	George Miller
W. W. Pringle	Isaiah Thompson
Seoval Schoolcraft	George N. Parks
George W. Clark	John Pearson
William Paterson	Andrew Lovst
Henry Baker	William Wood
Joseph Shandeo	Charles Kellar
Baptist Shandeo	Anson Clark
Levi Kellar	Samuel Baker

NOTICE.

At the Town Hall Arden, on Friday February 18th, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, a meeting of the Municipal Electors of the Municipality of Kennebec, will be held for the taking the poll to decide whether or not the By-Law is adopted by the Electors.

THOS. YOUNG,
Township Clerk.
45-4in.

Arden, Jan. 17th 1876.

WANTED.

A general servant for household work.

Apply to

Mrs. T. W. Casey.
Dundas St. West.

At a Cash Discount of from 10 to

with few exceptions from regular prices

THE STOCK IS NEW AND ATTR

AND GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE

Citizens of Napanee, and Farmers of Lennox & Addington, loo
attend this Sale.

ALL ADVERTISED WILL BE STRICTLY CARI

A. C. DA

HARD TIMES.

On account of the hard times, we have decided to fix our prices to meet the times,

"FOR CASH ONLY."

Always on hand a complete stock of

DRUGS,

PAINTS,

OILS,

PATENT MEDICINES,

DYE-STUFFS,

SCHOOL BOOKS,

And in act everything usually found in a

FIRST-CLASS DRUG STORE,

which will be sold at the lowest possible prices

FOR CASH.

Thanking you for past favors, we remain

Yours &c.,

J. C. HUFFMAN & SON.

Napanee, Jan. 25th, 1876.

OYSTERS!

OYSTERS!!

We are selling the celebrated

ANCHOR BRAND OYSTERS

RETAIL, 30 CENTS PER CAN.

EQUAL TO ANY OTHER BRAND IN THE

MARKET.

We are now in a position to "do" job lots,

CHEPER. THAN ANY OTHER

HOUSE IN TOWN.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

SMITH & ANDERSON.

NE

SOME

CRAC

WH

SI

OATM

CO

AND

FIE

Any o ties to s or giver

NAP

ON

T

PROI

N E E E X P R E S S

LE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

ly, during the month of February, their entire stock,
OTS & SHOES EVER SHOWN IN NAPANEE.
O SELL REGARDLESS OF PRICES,

UINE COST SALE.

offer this inducement in order to decrease it.

ER THE PLACE,

& Caps, Ready-made Clothing &c., END OF PERRY BLOCK, NAPANEE.

ISCOUNT

S A L E ,

ONLY,

E 19th INST.

& BRO.,

15,000 ! 15,000 ! 15,000 ! 15,000 !

FURNITURE

AND M.

Having enlarged and im
do busine

WE ARE BOUND

& BRO.,

re stock (valued at $30,000) of

NGS,

FURS,
CARPETS,
OIL CLOTHS,

10 to 15 per cent,

at prices.

ATTRACTIVE

LL BE OFFERED.

gton, look to your interest and

Y CARRIED OUT.

DAVIS & BRO.

NEW FLOUR STORE.
—
SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY WANTS.
—
PASTRY FLOUR,
CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM
FLOUR,
MADE FROM THE PUREST
WHITE FALL WHEAT.
SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,
OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.
OAT MEAL.

Having enlarged and improved business

WE ARE BOUND

FURNITURE,

CHAIR

AND EVERYTHING US

FURNITURE

At prices lower than

Remember for

STYLE MAKE AND FINISH

OUR GOODS ARE SECOND TO NONE.

—:—

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

—IN—

COFFINS, CASKETS AND METALIC BURIAL CASES

FURNISHED ON SHORT NOTICE. EVERY-THING IN THE UNDERTAKING
DEPARTMENT COM-PLETE.

J. GIBBARD & SON

MEAGHER BR'S.
CLEARING SALE OF BANKRUPT STOCK.

—:—

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES.

—:—

GOODS CHEAPER THAN EVER.

—:—

Owing to the dullness in trade, we have decided to offer the whole of our stock at MONTREAL PRICES.

—:—

GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE GIVEN IN DRY GOODS, READY MADE CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS, BOOTS & SHOES ETC

to 15 per cent,

prices.

ATTRACTIVE

TO BE OFFERED.

on, look to your interest and

CARRIED OUT.

DAVIS & BRO.

NEW FLOUR STORE.

SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY WANTS.

PASTRY FLOUR,
CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM FLOUR,

MADE FROM THE PUREST

WHITE FALL WHEAT.

SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,

OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.

OAT MEAL,

CORN MEAL,

POT BARLEY,

TEA,

TOBACCO,

SALT,

FISH,

AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KINDS.

ALSO

FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,

OF ALL KINDS.

Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,

AT THE

NAPANEE FLOUR STORE,

ON DUNDAS ST., OPPOSITE GRANGE BOS.

THOS. SYMINGTON.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

At prices lower than

Remember for

STYLE MAKE AND FINISH

OUR GOODS ARE SECOND TO NONE.

—:O:—

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

—IN—

COFFINS, CASKETS AND METALIC BURIAL CASES

FURNISHED ON SHORT NOTICE. EVERY-THING IN THE UNDERTAKING
DEPARTMENT COMPLETE.

J. GIBBARD & SON

MEAGHER BR'S.

CLEARING SALE OF BANKRUPT STOCK.

—:O:—

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES.

—:O:—

GOODS CHEAPER THAN EVER.

—:O:—

Owing to the dullness in trade, we have decided to offer the whole of our stock at MONTREAL PRICES.

—:O:—

GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE GIVEN IN

DRY GOODS, READY MADE CLOTHING, HATS AND CAPS, BOOTS & SHOES, ETC.

—:O:—

2000 DOLLARS WORTH OF READY MADE CLOTHING CHEAP
FOR CASH.

—:O:—

WHOLE TWEED SUITS FOR $8.00, WORTH AT LEAST $15.00.

—:O:—

$1000 WORTH OF BOOTS & SHOES FROM $1.00 UP.

—:O:—

A SPLENDID KIP LONG BOOT FOR $2.50, WORTH AT LEAST $3.50.

—:O:—

Don't fail to give us a call, as the whole stock must be sold in 60 days, regardless of cost, to make room for Spring and Summer Goods, which are already purchased.

REMEMBER, THIS

And consequently we can give you a better value for your money than any house where credit is given, the goods are marked to suit the customer, and when the cash customer buys in these houses, he pays the credit price.

WE SELL

And the goods are marked to suit. Don't fail to give us a call before purchasing where.

REMEMBER THE STAND, BEAVER

IS A STRICTLY CASH SALE,

OR CASH ONLY,

fail to give us a call before purchasing where.

BLOCK, DUNDAS ST., NAPANEE.

MEAGHER BROS.

Napanee

CA SEY, Publisher.)

"THE GREATEST GOOD"

VOL. 14.]

NAPANEE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

ALEX. C. DAVIS,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee
Ontario.

CHARLES LANE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Office—Front of Grammar School, Bridge Street, Napanee.

S. D. CLARKE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Odessa,
Ontario.

J. J. WATSON,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Adolphustown.

PETER E. R. MILLER,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Switzer-
ville, Ont.

JAMES AYLSWORTH.
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Tama-
worth.

ROBERT GRAHAM,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office—
In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver
and Toronto Fire Insurance Company,
and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont.

LEGAL.

H. M. DEROCHE,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, No-
tary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency, No-
taries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law
Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers
etc. OFFICE—Perry's New Block
Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.
W. A. REEVE, M. A., A. L. MORDEN.

FROM KINGSTON.

REVIVAL—Y.M.C.A.—MILITARY COL-LEGE—GEOGRAPHY—VENNOR—MA-RINE COMMERCE.

A very encouraging revival meeting has been in progress for some time at the Sydenham St. Methodist Church, under the special charge of Revs. Messrs. Elliott and Allen. The attendance is well sustained, and the fervent appeals made by the speakers have not been in vain. A large number of penitents have presented themselves for prayers, and several have been made to rejoice in the redeeming love of Christ. One cannot help thinking, however, when witnessing the seeming indifference of so large a proportion of the audience that the Gospel Story has lost much of its charm in these degenerate days. The gaudy trappings of fashionable life, the idolatrous worship of money, and the slavish obedience to what is thought to be the dictates of society, leave little time or inclination for more serious thought. But, "physician, heal thyself," may be the answer to all this moralizing, so I'll pass on to another and kindred subject.

The branch of the Young Men's Christian Association established in this city has already accomplished much good, and gives promise of still better things to come. From the start the interest taken in the praiseworthy object by the Christian community has been most cheering, and at the present time the Association is in a very healthy state. The rooms, on Wellington Street, are spacious and well furnished with the leading papers, magazines and other desirable publications. A visit at any hour during the day and evening will be sufficient to show what is being done, and what use is made of the facilities for improvements so liberally provided. I have frequently found the Reading public highways are for the most part "heaped up and running over," or blowing over, and temporary roads are made through the fields. The ice was not sound when the snow came, and the heavy fall has depressed it in many places to such an extent as to render travelling over it anything but pleasant. Teams are being submerged daily, and we are ready at any moment to record a first-class accident, as necessity forces the people to hazard their own and horses' lives.

Those "who go down to the sea in ships," and others more or less concerned in our marine commerce, are indulging hopeful anticipations of an improvement in their business on the opening of navigation. The outlook at present is more encouraging, and with the revival of trade everywhere, now confidently expected, why should the shipping interests longer languish? As you are aware Kingston largely depends on this branch of her industries for a favorable show, and during the past two years the experience has been far from what was desirable. It is proposed to erect two or more stationary elevators, of large capacity, in order that the expected increase in the grain trade, when the new Welland Canal is completed, may be better accommodated. An enterprise of this kind has been much needed for some time.

OUR MANUFACTURES.

Tyendinaga, Feb. 16th, 1876.

Mr. Editor:

I see by the Belleville papers that that place is likely to lose the large business now carried on there by our enterprising Mill Point firm, the Rathbuns, all apparently through excessive taxation and other restrictions imposed upon them by that municipality, which seems determined that no enterprise shall flourish there unless controlled by ISSUER of Marriage Licences, Tamiworth.

ROBERT GRAHAM,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office—In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

A. B. RANDALL,

ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver and Toronto Fire Insurance Company, and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont.

LEGAL.

H. M. DEROCHE,

BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, Notary Public, etc. Office—In Grange Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notaries Public, etc. Office—Grange Block, John Street, Napanee.

J. S. CARTWRIGHT.

S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,

BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers etc. Office—Perry's New Block Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.

W. A. REEVE, M. A.,

A. L. MORDEN.

Co. Crown Attorney.

E. A. DEROCHE.

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under New Act of 1875.

Office in H. M. Deroche's Law Office

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,

BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc., Napanee, Ontario.

W. S. WILLIAMS,

E. J. HOOPER, M. A.

Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under Insolvent Act of 1875. Fire Insurance Agent, &c. Office of Napanee Paper Mills. East Street.

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRAN GEM D.,

GRADUATE University of Victoria College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y. Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario.

Special Attention paid to Diseases of the Eye.

Office and Residence: Centre Street, Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,

ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed.

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.

STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds lost much of its charm in these degenerate days. The gaudy trappings of fashionable life, the idolatrous worship of money, and the slavish obedience to what is thought to be the dictates of society, leave little time or inclination for more serious thought. But, "physician, heal thyself," may be the answer to all this moralizing, so I'll pass on to another and kindred subject.

The branch of the Young Men's Christian Association established in this city has already accomplished much good, and gives promise of still better things to come. From the start the interest taken in the praiseworthy object by the Christian community has been most cheering, and at the present time the Association is in a very healthy state. The rooms, on Wellington Street, are spacious and well furnished with the leading papers, magazines and other desirable publications. A visit at any hour during the day and evening will be sufficient to show what is being done, and what use is made of the facilities for improvements so liberally provided. I have frequently found the Reading Room well filled by an intelligent and respectable company of men and boys, many of whom were intently perusing the Bible and other religious works. Mr. George B. Meadows is the accomplished and gentlemanly Secretary, who is always present to instruct and counsel.

The examinations for admission to the new Military College have been held in the several divisions and the papers are now undergoing the test ordeal at head quarters. As anticipated, the unreasonable severity of the programme frightened nearly all the applicants from making the trial, and hence the utility of the movement will be limited to a precious small compass, for a time at least. Only one young gentleman had the nerve to face such music as would be ground out at this place, but how he came through I cannot say. This was a Mr. Dixsen, of Belleville, a son of the Collector of Customs at that port. He is comparatively young, but intelligent and persevering. It is quite evident that too high a standard has been adopted for the beginning, and that a modification will have to be agreed to in order to ensure success.

In a late issue of the Weekly Globe I find the following bit of local geography among the "Answers to Correspondents":—

"J. M. M.—The isthmus connecting the county of Prince Edward with now confidently expected, why should the shipping interests longer languish? As you are aware Kingston largely depends on this branch of her industries for a favorable show, and during the past two years the experience has been far from what was desirable. It is proposed to erect two or more stationary elevators, of large capacity, in order that the expected increase in the grain trade, when the new Welland Canal is completed, may be better accommodated. An enterprise of this kind has been much needed for some time.

OUR MANUFACTURES.

Tyendinaga, Feb. 16th, 1876.

Mr. Editor:

I see by the Belleville papers that that place is likely to loose the large business now carried on there by our enterprising Mill Point firm, the Rathbuns, all apparently through excessive taxation and other restrictions imposed upon them by that municipality, which seems determined that no enterprise shall flourish there unless controlled by some of their own antideluvian citizens, no matter if, as in the case of Rathbuns, their town receives more money, both directly and indirectly, from such a business, than from any five or six of the other one horse mills in the town. I hope your Town Council will never come down to such a state of things as this, that enterprises from any outsider will not be as favorably received and entertained as though it originated with one of your citizens. We look to Napanee as our best grain market for this township, and trust your town will, by encouraging all kinds of manufacturing interests, give us farmers the benefit of prices caused by competition, and at the same time help build up the place, through that greatest of all agents, "the manufacturing interests."

F.

FROM ODESSA.

DEAR EXPRESS,

We had a visit from Mrs. Youmans, who's address, delivered in Napanee, you reported in last week's EXPRESS. She gave us three nights in different parts of the Township, doing us good service for the cause of temperance. The Wednesday night meeting in Odessa was said to be the most successful of its kind, held here for several years. The C. M. Church was filled, over 600 persons coming out to listen to this talented lady, and that through

Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, [E. J. HOOPER, M. A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under Insolvent Act of 1875. Fire Insurance Agent, &c. Office of Napanee Paper Mills. East Street.

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,

GRADUATE University of Victoria College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y. Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Special Attention paid to Diseases of the Eye. Office and Residence: Centre Street, Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,

ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed.

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.

STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.

Remember the place, opposite the old City Hotel, corner of Adelaide and Bridge Streets.

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.

—O— EDMUND HOOPER,

Agent for the following first-class Companies
HAND IN HAND..... FIRE
NATIONAL..... LIFE
EQUITABLE..... LIFE.

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS.

Messrs. Perry & Joy beg leave to announce to the public that their Saw Mill is now running, and they are prepared to do any amount of Custom Sawing, or on Shares, on the shortest notice. Farmers bring along your logs.

Napanee, Jan. 19, 1876. PERRY & JOY. 45-3 nos.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address,

Rev. E. A. WILSON,
194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, New York. 45-6 m.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence,

JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York. 45-6 m.

The new Military College have been held in the several divisions and the papers are now undergoing the test ordeal at head quarters. As anticipated, the unreasonable severity of the programme frightened nearly all the applicants from making the trial, and hence the utility of the movement will be limited to a precious small compass, for a time at least. Only one young gentleman had the nerve to face such music as would be ground out at this place, but how he came through I cannot say. This was a Mr. Dixsen, of Belleville, a son of the Collector of Customs at that port. He is comparatively young, but intelligent and persevering. It is quite evident that too high a standard has been adopted for the beginning, and that a modification will have to be agreed to in order to ensure success.

In a late issue of the Weekly Globe I find the following bit of local geography among the "Answers to Correspondents:"—

"J. M. M.—The isthmus connecting the county of Prince Edward with the county of Hastings is known locally as the "Carrying Place." It is not more than 15 yards wide at the narrowest part."

The isthmus known as the "Carrying Place" does not connect the county of Prince Edward with the county of Hastings, but with the county of Northumberland. The narrowest part is not 15 yards, but one mile and a half wide. With the exception of these trifling errors the geographical information conveyed by the Globe is sound. But, en passant, would it not be well for the Globe to take a few more lessons in this interesting branch of our common school education before assuming to lecture English and American writers upon their ignorance of the same? Whoever measured the distance across that isthmus for the Globe must have used an awfully elastic piece of tape, or else discovered indentations hitherto unknown. The inference is that he drew largely upon his imagination, without consulting any authority.

We came very near repudiating the supposed infallibility of our autocrat of the Weather Table, but that storm which began on the 15th, very early, and ended on the 16th, very late, redeemed him from disgrace. The snow is now deep enough in places to satisfy the hyperborean longings of an Esquimaux, and still we're not happy. The will not be as favorably received and entertained as though it originated with one of your citizens. We look to Napanee as our best grain market for this township, and trust your town will, by encouraging all kinds of manufacturing interests, give us farmers the benefit of prices caused by competition, and at the same time help build up the place, through that greatest of all agents, "the manufacturing interests."

F.

FROM ODESSA.

DEAR EXPRESS,

We had a visit from Mrs. Youmans, who's address, delivered in Napanee, you reported in last week's EXPRESS. She gave us three nights in different parts of the Township, doing us good service for the cause of temperance. The Wednesday night meeting in Odessa was said to be the most successful of its kind, held here for several years. The C. M. Church was filled, over 600 persons coming out to listen to this talented lady, and that through one of the most disagreeable storms of the season. For an hour and a quarter she held her audience in wrapt attention while she plead with pathos and power with the people to help in ridding the country of this terrible scourge.

At Wilton on Thursday night she addressed another large audience, and was listened to with marked attention.

On Friday night she visited that well known "prohibition corner" of this Township (Switzerville), and though the notice of her coming was short, and it poured rain all day, until nearly night, yet a fair audience greeted her, and she warmed their hearts into action, by her fervent appeals.

The visit of this lady at this time cannot but be of great service to the cause. Never before in the history of this township was there a more deep and settled conviction on the minds of thoughtful men of the utter failure of the license law to regulate or check the growth of intemperance. During the past two years, since the "Dunkin Bill" was defeated and Licenses were given, intemperance has been terribly on the increase. Every peacefully inclined citizen in Odessa has been distressed at the fearful length to which drunkenness, profanity, and gambling, in all its forms, with Sabbath breaking, are carried on in this place. All license restrictions have been ignored, and

Express.

OD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER.

($1 50 per

SDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1876.

[No. 50

Boys of 12 and 14 years of age may be seen reeling through our streets, the victims of this destroyer. Almost any day you may witness free fights, and see the streets spotted with the blood of victims almost butchered by this rum fiend.

This "high carnival," thus kept up so constantly, has opened the eyes of many who thought that the traffic could be regulated, and now they, seeing the utter failure of it, have turned with all their might to stop this barter in the lives and characters of their neighbors.

We are looking for a signal and complete condemnation of this work at the polls on Friday the 25th inst., and have not the least doubt that if the actual friends of Prohibition will see that their own vote is recorded against the traffic, at the close of that election the Township will say with unmistakable earnestness, that no intoxicating liquors shall be legally sold in this Township.

A WORKER IN THE CAUSE.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

A CAMDEN FANATIC PERVADES THE "EXPRESS" SANCTUM.

We had thought, that after the pains and expense we were to in assisting the authorities to find out the Sheffield Poet, the EXPRESS Office would be exempt, for a time at least, from any further invasion from the race of "fanatics" who are at large in this section of country. This time the outrage perpetrated on us hails from Camden, and the writer made good his escape, though our Devil, who saw him slip it under our door, is sure he could identify the man, unless he has washed himself since, which is not at all probable. Here is the effusion. Who doubts but extra Lunatic Asylums are needed in Ontario after this:—

LICENSES UNDER THE NEW ACT.

The new License Act continues in force the present Tavern, Shop, and other liquor licenses until the first day of May next. In order that this extension shall be obtained, it is requisite that every holder of a license must, between this and the 15th day of March next, pay to the Treasurer of the Municipality one-sixth of the fee paid last year taking a receipt to the Issuer of Licenses, and paying him one-sixth of the Provincial duty, he will endorse in the license an extension of time to the first of May next.

It will also be noticed that the duties of the present License Inspectors have ceased, and the Municipal Councils have nothing to do with regard to the extension of licenses.

EFFECTS OF LIQUOR ON THE BRAIN.

Long before the era of temperance ordinances and organizations, Hyrti, by far the greatest anatomist of the age, used to say that he could distinguish, in the darkest room, by one stroke of the scalpel, the brain of the inebriate from that of the man who lived soberly. Now and then he would congratulate his class upon the possession of a drunkards brain, admirably fitted, from its hardness and more complete perservation, for the purpose of demonstration. When the anatomist wishes to preserve a human brain for any length of time, he effects that object by keeping that organ in a vessel of alcohol. From a soft, pulpy substance it then becomes comparatively hard; and so, too, before death, the use of alcohol causes the induration of the delicate and gossamer-like tissues.

HOW TO GET ALONG.

Don't stop to tell stories in business hours.

If you have a place of business be found there when wanted.

No man can get rich by sitting around stores and saloons.

Never "fool" in business matters.

Have order, system, regularity and also promptness.

CANADIAN.

—Rev. Dr. Ormiston, formerly of Hamilton, and who is well known throughout Ontario, from having been Grammar School Inspector, has received a call to the Central Presbyterian Church, San Francisco, as successor to Rev. Dr. Cunningham. Dr. Ormiston has been in New York for several years.

—A reliable ship builder asserts that the ships built in the Maritime Provinces are very much better than those built thirty years ago, and that a ship of the class constructed in 1845 can now be built for about ten per cent less; but that the ships now being of a much better class and containing better materials than formerly, some fifty per cent is added to the cost of construction.

—The Perth Expositor tells of a Bathurst dog, which got covered up in a straw stack, and remained there thirty-three days without food. He is as frisky as ever now.

—Three members of the Methodist, and four of the Baptist denominations, were baptized at Carleton Place on Sunday last. We knew the new paper at that place would make a difference in local matters.

—The Toronto City Council offer to pay 20 per cent, on the first $100 000 spent by any company in the establishment of iron works in the city, and 15 per cent. on any sum spent above $100. 000 up to 500.000.

—A good deal of the immense business now being done by the Grand Trunk may be formed from the fact that on one day lately 37 trains were made up and despatched from the Belleville Station. The extent of the Company's operations here, and the value of their business to the town, is further evident when it is stated that they now employ 850 men at this station, whose monthly wages amount to $12,000.

—A Quebec telegram says:—"In casual conversation in the Central Police Station, at 10 o'clock to-day, Major Voyer, Superintendent of Provincial Police, took up a loaded revolver and in explaining to Captain Larue, of B. Battery, how a New York policeman shot himself, showed him by placing the muzzle of the pistol at his side he the traffic, at the close of that election the Township will say with unmistakable earnestness, that no intoxicating liquors shall be legally sold in this Township.

A WORKER IN THE CAUSE.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

A CAMDEN FANATIC PERVADES THE "EXPRESS" SANCTUM.

We had thought, that after the pains and expense we were to in assisting the authorities to find out the Sheffield Post, the EXPRESS Office would be exempt, for a time at least, from any further invasion from the race of "fanatics" who are at large in this section of country. This time the outrage perpetrated on us hails from Camden, and the writer made good his escape, though our Devil, who saw him slip it under our door, is sure he could identify the man, unless he has washed himself since, which is not at all probable. Here is the effusion. Who doubts but extra Lunatic Asylums are needed in Ontario after this:—

"THE PRAYER OF THE PUBLICANS OF CAMDEN."

Said prayer to be offered up in our bar-room altars before going to open on the 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 15th of March, with the Unbelievers who desire to break down the altars of our great god Mammon, before whom the world is almost all bowed down, at present for love of gain:

O Mammon, our god, hear the petitions that we unitedly, with all our fraternity, offer now unto thee, for we know that thou art mighty in pulling down the strong-holds of temperance and discomfiting those wicked Dunkinists who in these last days have risen up against us. Thou knowest very well those who love not our calling, in all creeds and classes of men. Wilt thou be pleased to turn the hearts of all our enemies, that we may still have liberty of conscience, and those valuable privileges that we have so long enjoyed:—the power to vend all intoxicating liquors to all men, women and children, whether their money be the price of home or lands, or the gain of toil, or theft, or otherwise.

O Mammon, hear us in our requests, and in this our time of danger, for our great trust is in thee, to help us against all of our enemies who have risen up against us, and whose numbers are daily increasing. If these cold-water-men prevail, they will break down these thine altars, and destroy our power to make Sabbath breakers, inherit thy kingdom. We will be unable to replenish poor houses, and prisons, and thou well knowest we have not spared even our own flesh and blood in sacrifice freely for thy sake. We are doing our duty, even to the sending of our spies into the Temples of the cold-

Long before the era of temperance ordinances and organizations, Hyrti, by far the greatest anatomist of the age, used to say that he could distinguish, in the darkest room, by one stroke of the scalpel, the brain of the inebriate from that of the man who lived soberly. Now and then he would congratulate his class upon the possession of a drunkard's brain, admirably fitted, from its hardness and more complete preservation, for the purpose of demonstration. When the anatomist wishes to preserve a human brain for any length of time, he effects that object by keeping that organ in a vessel of alcohol. From a soft, pulpy substance it then becomes comparatively hard; and so, too, before death, the use of alcohol causes the induration of the delicate and gossamer-like tissues.

HOW TO GET ALONG.

Don't stop to tell stories in business hours.

If you have a place of business be found there when wanted.

No man can get rich by sitting around stores and saloons.

Never "fool" in business matters.

Have order, system, regularity and also promptness.

Do not meddle with business you know nothing of.

Do not kick every one in your path.

More miles can be made in a day by going steadily than by stopping.

Pay as you go.

A man of honor respects his word as he does his bond.

Help others when you can, but never give what you cannot afford to, simply because it is fashionable.

Learn to say No. No necessity of snapping it out dog-fashion, but say it firmly and respectfully.

Use your own brains rather than those of others.

Learn to think and act for yourself. Keep ahead rather than behind the times.

Young man, cut this out and if there be any fallacy in the argument, let us know.

FIRE-PROOF JOIST.—An ingenious kind of fire-proof joist recently introduced, consists of a piece of wood five inches wide, by five-eighths of an inch thick belted between two flanged strips of quarter inch iron, making a beam quite as strong as those of wood ordinarily employed. The iron sides, in addition to affording it strength, it is claimed, render the joist substantially fire-proof, while the centre of wood affords the means of putting down floors and nailing on laths in the usual manner. The impediment to the manufacture of these joists heretofore, has been the difficulty of rolling the flanged iron sides, but this has now been successfully overcome.

PRINCE EDWARD RAILWAY.—A Pilot

three days without food. He is as risky as ever now.

—Three members of the Methodist, and four of the Baptist denominations, were baptized at Carleton Place on Sunday last. We knew the new paper at that place would make a difference in local matters.

—The Toronto City Council offer to pay 20 per cent, on the first $100 000 spent by any company in the establishment of iron works in the city, and 15 per cent. on any sum spent above $100,000 up to 500,000.

—A good deal of the immense business now being done by the Grand Trunk may be formed from the fact that on one day lately 37 trains were made up and despatched from the Belleville Station. The extent of the Company's operations here, and the value of their business to the town, is further evident when it is stated that they now employ 850 men at this station, whose monthly wages amount to $12,000.

—A Quebec telegram says:—"In casual conversation in the Central Police Station, at 10 o'clock to-day, Major Voyer, Superintendent of Provincial Police, took up a loaded revolver and in explaining to Captain Larue, of B. Battery, how a New York policeman shot himself, showed him by placing the muzzle of the pistol at his side below the heart. He had no sooner done this than the revolver went off, the ball penetrating through his bowels and coming out below the right lung."

—A man named Mitchel is making addresses in the county of Perth, to warn people of the approaching end of the world. He says it has been revealed by the "Spirit of the Lord," to the Church of God, in Listowel: that at midnight, on the first day of March, 1876, shall appear, "the sign of the Son in the Heaven;" and on the first day of April, at twenty minutes past four, morning, The Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven, to raise the dead, and change the living!" It will require no revelation, however, to declare that Mitchel is the biggest April fool in the country.

—The Quebec Corporation officials are just now putting on the screws in the collection of city revenue, and unfortunate debtors are being summoned by scores to pay up.

FOREIGN.

—Frank Leslie, the noted New York publisher, has purchased the palatial residence of Boss Tweed.

—Although a great number of logs have been cut in Michigan and Wisconsin—more than in 1875—there is not snow enough to draw them, so that the shanties are at a standstill. All through the Saginaw district the teams are idle and the logmakers have been discharged. If there is low water next spring there will be a great shortage in western lumber. In Minnesota there are one third more logs cut this year than there were last season, but there is not snow enough for drawing.

nated that we unitedly, with all our fraternity, offer now unto thee, for we know that thou art mighty in pulling down the strong-holds of temperance and discomfiting those wicked Dunkinists who in these last days have risen up against us. Thou knowest very well those who love not our calling, in all creeds and classes of men. Wilt thou be pleased to turn the hearts of all our enemies, that we may still have liberty of conscience, and those valuable privileges that we have so long enjoyed:—the power to vend all intoxicating liquors to all men, women and children, whether their money be the price of home or lands, or the gain of toil, or theft, or otherwise.

O Mammon, hear us in our requests, and in this our time of danger, for our great trust is in thee, to help us against all of our enemies who have risen up against us, and whose numbers are daily increasing. If these cold-water-men prevail, they will break down these thine altars, and destroy our power to make Sabbath breakers, inherit thy kingdom. We will be unable to replenish poor houses, and prisons, and thou well knowest we have not spared even our own flesh and blood in sacrifice freely for thy sake. We are doing our duty, even to the sending of our spies into the Temples of the cold-water fanatics, that their most secret proceedings against us may be made known on the house tops, and that the weak ones may be persuaded then how unjust it would be to take from us our birth-right. O wilt thou be pleased to be to our spies' mouths and wisdom, for their and our sakes who love and serve thee, night and day. O Mammon, we are no hypocrits; we serve no other god but thee, and are ready at all times, and in all places, to ensnare the weak ones, and to stir up strife against those who would put our craft in danger.

Deliver us from the cry of vengeance that is made against us by silly women and foolish children, who say that by our trade they have been widowed; and orphaned, and paupered; and as we look to thee supply us in pocket and in store to stir up the minds of the electors at the polls to believe that there will be no market for their grain, or no revenue for the public treasury, if this our craft is not allowed to have free course, and be licensed.

And, lastly, subvert our Councillors and all who love office, and indelibly stamp it on their hearts that we, thy servants and our associates, will rise up against them in coming elections and put them to confusion and shame, unless they vote down and destroy these devices of the Dunkinists. O Mammon, show them thy great strength in this our hour of distress, and deliver us from their hands, and we will make merry, and stagger and fall down before our enemies in great joy at their defeat, and we will go on, as ever before, in bringing our friends and supporters to thee, not sparing our kinsmen and friends for thy sake."

Learn to say No. No necessity of snapping it out dog-fashion, but say it firmly and respectfully.

Use your own brains rather than those of others.

Learn to think and act for yourself. Keep ahead rather than behind the times.

Young man, cut this out and if there be any fallacy in the argumemnt, let us know.

FIRE-PROOF JOIST.—An ingenious kind of fire-proof joist recently introduced, consists of a piece of wood five inches wide, by five-eighths of an inch thick belted between two flanged strips of quarter inch iron, making a beam quite as strong as those of wood ordinarily employed. The iron sides, in addition to affording it strength, it is claimed, render the joist substantially fire-proof, while the centre of wood affords the means of putting down floors and nailing on laths in the usual manner. The impediment to the manufacture of these joists heretofore, has been the difficulty of rolling the flanged iron sides, but this has now been successfully overcome.

PRINCE EDWARD RAILWAY.—A Picton telegram says: The County Council of Prince Edward met to-day pursuant to adjournment, for the ostensible purpose of repealing the By-law passed on November 13th, 1872, granting the sum of $87,500 in aid of the Prince Edward County Railway, but to their surprise found an injunction had been granted to restrain them from intermeddling with it, and after talking a good deal, adjourned to meet some other day in the future on the call of the Warden."

CAMP MEETING GROUNDS.—We clip the following from the "Recorder":—"The Committee appointed by the Bay of Quinte Conference of the M. E. Church, have purchased camp meeting grounds on the banks of the St. Lawrence, situated about 5½ miles above Brockville. The grounds are well adapted for the object intended, and will, on the opening of navigation, be fitted up in a manner which will reflect the greatest credit upon the Committee in charge. The land procured has been paid for, and no debt, therefore, hangs over the Association. The lots will be immediately surveyed and will be offered for sale at prices ranging from $10 and $15 to $25, according to location. The construction of the wharf has been decided upon. The location is convenient, and the movement well deserves the hearty encouragement, not only of the citizens of Brockville, but also of Central Canada. Business men will find the grounds a pleasant summer place to spend a few weeks for relaxation, and for camping out purposes for families who desire fresh air, good scenery and pleasant company. We know of no place its equal."

1876, shall appear, "the sign of the Son in the Heaven," and on the first day of April, at twenty minutes past four, morning, The Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven, to raise the dead, and change the living!" It will require no revelation, however, to declare that Mitchel is the biggest April fool in the country.

—The Quebec Corporation officials are just now putting on the screws in the collection of city revenue, and unfortunate debtors are being summoned by scores to pay up.

FOREIGN.

—Frank Leslie, the noted New York publisher, has purchased the palatial residence of Boss Tweed.

—Although a great number of logs have been cut in Michigan and Wisconsin—more than in 1875—there is not snow enough to draw them, so that the shanties are at a standstill. All through the Saginaw district the teams are idle and the logmakers have been discharged. If there is low water next spring there will be a great shortage in western lumber. In Minnesota there are one third more logs cut this year than there were last season, but there is not snow enough for drawing.

—England is again putting in its claim for "bad eminence" in the matter of wife-murder and woman-outrage. We read that, besides Wainwright, two or three others were executed in different parts of England—and all for the murder of their wives. One other man who was to have been executed was reprieved, and he also killed his wife. Still another of the "superior race" was sentenced to twenty years penal servitude for "an assault" upon his wife, which proved fatal. On the whole, wives appear to have a bad time on the other side of the water.

—The following items is among the regular telegrams to the Associated Press, this week:—Boston, Jan. 18—The Temperance Reform movement is exciting the greatest interest and enthusiasm in Maine. Large meetings are everywhere being held, while the liquor law is vigorously enforced. At Saco a druggist, for a single case of liquor selling, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, and to pay fine and costs.

—In the Milan cemetery a pavillion has been put up for the cremation of bodies which, being placed on an altar, are subject to the action of two hundred gas burners giving a heat of 1,000 degrees. Thus a body is consumed to ashes in one hour. On January 15 Chevalier Albert Keller is to be burnt, the preparations having been made by direction of his will.

—A beautiful and aristocratic Louisville girl of seventeen smokes a short, black clay pipe filled with the strongest plug tobacco. Why not just as appropriate as for our "aristocratic" boys to go round sucking dirty tobacco pipes.

Literature.

FIFTH AVENUE BELLE.

Room for the lovely
Fifth Avenue belle !
Eyes like the star-light,
Skin like a shell.
Roses and lilies
Nest in her hair,
Shamed by the forehead
Faultlessly fair.

Room on the Avenue !
Room for the belle !
Manhood, bow lowley,
Under the spell ;
Winds, kiss her softly,
Waves, still your flow ;
Hide your head, sorrow,
Sin, whisper low.

Sleep, to her pillow
Give a child's rest ;
Gold, buy her raiment
To fold her soft breast ;
Love, clasp her to thee,
And seal with a kiss,
Crave she, I wonder,
Life better than this.

Nay, in the dances
Soft whispers creep ;
"Life is not living.
Death is not sleep."
Through the gold lattice
Still the soul peers.
Under the purple.
Palpitate fears.

Room on the Avenue !
Hear you the knell ?
Room for the lovely
Fifth Avenue belle !
Waxen hands folded,
Eyes lidded now,
Roses unruffled
On bosom and brow.

What is the value
Of belle-hood to-day ?
Down on the Avenue
Death knows the way.
Whisper, oh ! casket,
Lone lying there,
"Where went thy tenant,
Young and so fair ?"

We and Our Neighbors.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN,"
ETC., ETC.,

Of course there was resistance and conflict, and more life in the old church than it had known for years ; but the conflict became at last so wearisome that, on Mr. Cushing's return up with a weak show of protest, and looking gravely into the fire. "I was up there once, and there was candles on the altar, to be sure, but they were not lighted."

"They are lighted," said Mrs. Wouwermans, with awful precision. "I've been up there myself and seen them. Now, how can you let your children run at loose ends so, Nelly ? I only wish you had heard the sermon this morning. He showed the danger of running into Popery ; and it really was enough to make one's blood run cold to hear how those infidels are attacking the church, carrying all before them ; and then to think that the only true church should be all getting divided and mixed up and running after Romanism ! It's perfectly awful."

"Well, I don't know what we can do," said Mrs. Van Arsdel, helplessly.

"And we've got both kinds of trouble in our family. Eva's husband is reading all What's his name's works—that evolution man, and all that ; and then Eva and the girls going after this St. John—and he's leading them as straight to Rome as they can go."

Poor Mrs. Van Arsdel was somewhat fluttered by this alarming view of the case, and clasped her pretty, fat, white hands, that glittered with rings like lilies with dew-drops, and looked the image of gentle, incapable perplexity.

"I don't believe Harry is an infidel," she said at last. "He has to read Darwin and all these things, because he has to talk about them in the magazine ; and as to Mr. St. John—you know Eva is delicate and can't walk so far as our church, and this is right round the corner from here ; and Mr. St. John is a good man. He does ever so much for the poor, and almost supports a mission there ; and the Bishop doesn't forbid him, and if the Bishop thought there was any danger, he would."

"Well, I can't think, for my part, what our Bishop can be thinking of," said Aunt Maria, who was braced up to an extraordinary degree by the sermon of the morning. "I don't see how he can let them go on so—with candles, and processions, and heathen robes, and all that. I'd process 'em out of the church in quick time. If I were he, I'd have all that sort of trumpery cleaned out at once ; for just see where it leads to ! I may not be as good a Christian as I ought to be—we all have

"Oh, well, the Davenports were there, and the Livingstons, and of course Polly Elmore, with her tribe, looking like birds of Paradise. The amount of time and money and thought that family gives to dress is enormous. John Davenport stopped and spoke to me coming out of the church. He says, 'Seems to me, Mrs. Wouwermans, your young ladies have deserted us ; you mustn't suffer them to stay from the fold, says he. I saw he had his eyes on our pew when he first came into church.'"

"I think, Maria, you really are quite absurd in your suspicions about that man," said Mrs. Van Arsdel. "I don't think there's anything in it."

"Well, just wait now and see. I know more about it than you do. If only Alice manages her cards right, she can get that man."

"Alice will never manage cards for any purpose. She is too proud for that. She hasn't a bit of policy."

"And there was that Jim," she allows waiting on her home. I met him this morning, just as I turned the corner."

"Well, Alice tries to exert a good influence over Jim, and has got him to teach in Mr. St. John's Sunday-school."

"Fiddlesticks ! What does he care for Sunday-school ?"

"Well, the girls all say that he does nicely. He has more influence over that class of boys than anybody else would."

"Likely ! Set a rogue to catch a rogue," said Aunt Maria. "Its his being seen so much with Alice that I'm thinking of. You may depend upon it, it has a bad effect."

Mrs. Van Arsdel dreaded the setting of her sister's mind in this direction, so by way of effecting a diversion she rang and inquired when tea would be ready. As the door opened, the sound of very merry singing came up stairs. Angelique was seated at the piano and playing tunes out of one of the Sunday-school manuals, and the whole set were singing with might and main. Jim's tenor could be heard above all the rest.

"Why, is that fellow here ?" said Aunt Maria.

"Yes," said Mrs. Van Arsdel ; "he very often stays at tea with us Sunday nights, and he and the girls sing hymns

Roses unruffled
On bosom and brow.

What is the value
Of belle-hood to-day ?
Down on the Avenue
Death knows the way.
Whisper, oh ! casket,
Lone lying there,
"Where went thy tenant,
Young and so fair ?"

We and Our Neighbors.

BY HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

AUTHOR OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
ETC., ETC.,

Of course there was resistance and conflict, and more life in the old church than it had known for years ; but the conflict became at last so wearisome that, on Mr. Cushing's return from Europe, the young angel spread his wings and fled away to a more congenial parish in a neighboring city. But many in whom his labors had wakened a craving for something real and earnest in religion strayed off to other churches, and notably the younger members of the Van Arsdel family, to the no small scandal of Aunt Maria.

The Van Arsdel pew was a perfect fort and intrenchment of respectability. It was a great high, square wall-pew, well cushioned and ample, with an imposing array of prayer-books ; there was room in it for a regiment of saints, and here Aunt Maria sat on this pleasant Sunday listening to the dangers of the church, all alone. She felt, in a measure, like Elijah the Tishbite, as if she only were left to stand up for the altars of her faith.

Mrs. Wouwermans was not a person to let an evil run on very far without a protest. "While she was musing the fire burned," and when she had again mounted in the pew at afternoon service, and still found herself alone, she resolved to clear her conscience ; and so she walked straight up to Nelly's, to see why none of them were at church.

"It's a shame, Nelly, a perfect shame ! There wasn't a creature but myself in our pew to-day, and good Dr. Cushing giving such a sermon this morning !"

This to Mrs. Van Arsdel, whom she found luxuriously ensconced on a sofa drawn up before the fire in her bedroom.

"Ah, well, the fact is, Maria, I had such a headache this morning," replied she, plaintively.

cause he has to talk about them in the magazine ; and as to Mr. St. John—you know Eva is delicate and can't walk so far as our church, and this is right round the corner from here ; and Mr. St. John is a good man. He does ever so much for the poor, and almost supports a mission there ; and the Bishop doesn't forbid him, and if the Bishop thought there was any danger, he would."

"Well, I can't think, for my part, what our Bishop can be thinking of," said Aunt Maria, who was braced up to an extraordinary degree by the sermon of the morning. I don't see how he can let them go on so—with candles, and processions, and heathen robes, and all that. I'd process 'em out of the church in quick time. If I were he, I'd have all that sort of trumpery cleaned out at once ; for just see where it leads to ! I may not be as good a Christian as I ought to be—we all have our short-comings—but one thing I know, I do hate the Catholics and all that belongs to them ; and I'd no more have such goings on in my diocese, than I'd have moths in my carpet ! I'd sweep 'em right out !" said Aunt Maria, with a gesture as if she held the bosom of destruction.

Mrs. Wouwermans belonged to a not uncommon class of Christians, whose evidences of piety are more vigorous in hating than loving. There is no manner of doubt that she would have made good her word, had she been a bishop.

"Oh, well, Maria," said Mrs. Van Arsdel, drawing her knit zephyr shawl about her with a sort of consolatory movement, and settling herself cosily back on her sofa, "It's evident that the Bishop doesn't see just as you do, and I am content to allow what he does. As to the girls, they are old enough to judge for themselves, and, besides, I think they are doing some good by teaching in that mission school. I hope so, at least. Any way, I couldn't help it if I would. But, do tell me, did Mrs. Demas have on her new bonnet ?"

"Yes, she did," said Aunt Maria, with vigor ; "and I can tell you it's a perfect fright, if it did come from Paris. Another thing I saw—friends have come round again ! Mrs. Lar-mar's new cloak was trimmed with fringe."

"You don't say so," said Mrs. Van Arsdel, contemplating at the possible consequences of this change. "There was another reason why I couldn't go out this morning," she added, rather would."

"Likely ! Set a rogue to catch a rogue," said Aunt Maria. "Its his being seen so much with Alice that I'm thinking of. You may depend upon it, it has a bad effect."

Mrs. Van Arsdel dreaded the setting of her sister's mind in this direction, so by way of effecting a diversion she rang and inquired when tea would be ready. As the door opened, the sound of very merry singing came up stairs. Angelique was seated at the piano and playing tunes out of one of the Sunday-school manuals, and the whole set were singing with might and main. Jim's tenor could be heard above all the rest.

"Why, is that fellow here ?" said Aunt Maria.

"Yes," said Mrs. Van Arsdel ; "he very often stays at tea with us Sunday nights, and he and the girls sing hymns together."

"Hymns !" said Aunt Maria. "I should call that a regular jollification that they are having down here."

"Oh, well, Maria, they are singing children's tunes out of one of the little Sunday-school manuals. You know children's tunes are so different from old-fashioned psalm tunes !"

Just then the choir below struck up

"Forward, Christian soldier,"

with a marching energy and a vivacity that was positively startling, and, to be sure, not in the least like the old, long-drawn, dolorous strains once supposed to be peculiar to devotion. In fact, one of the greatest signs of progress in our modern tunes is the bursting forth of religious thought and feeling in childhood and youth in strains gay and airy as hope and happiness—melodies that might have been learned of those bright little "fowls of the air," of whom the Master bade us take lessons, so that a company of wholesome, healthy, right-minded young people can now get together and express themselves in song of joy, and hope, and energy, such as childhood and youth ought to be full of.

Let those who will talk of the decay of Christian faith in our day ; so long as song about Jesus and His love are bursting forth on every hand, thick as violets and apple blossoms in June, so long as the little Sunday-school song books sell by thousands and by millions, and spring forth every year in increasing numbers, so long will it appear that faith is ever fresh-springing

The Van Arsdel pew was a perfect fort and intrenchment of respectability. It was a great high, square wall-pew, well cushioned and ample, with an imposing array of prayer-books; there was room in it for a regiment of saints, and here Aunt Maria sat on this pleasant Sunday listening to the dangers of the church, all alone. She felt, in a measure, like Elijah the Tishbite, as if she only were left to stand up for the altars of her faith.

Mrs. Wouvermans was not a person to let an evil run on very far without a protest. "While she was musing the fire burned," and when she had again mounted in the pew at afternoon service, and still found herself alone, she resolved to clear her conscience; and so she walked straight up to Nelly's, to see why none of them were at church.

"It's a shame, Nelly, a perfect shame! There wasn't a creature but myself in our pew to-day, and good Dr. Cushing giving such a sermon this morning!"

This to Mrs. Van Arsdel, whom she found luxuriously ensconced on a sofa drawn up before the fire in her bedroom.

"Ah, well, the fact is, Maria, I had such a headache this morning," replied she, plaintively.

"Well, then, you ought to have made your husband and family go; somebody ought to be there! It positively isn't respectable."

"Ah, well, Maria, my husband, poor man, gets so tired and worn out with his week's work, I haven't a heart to get him up early enough for morning service. Mr. Van Arsdel isn't feeling quite well lately; he hasn't been out at all to-day."

"Well, there are the girls, Alice and Angelique and Maria, where are they? All going up to that Popish, ritualistic chapel, I suppose. It's too bad. Now, that's all the result of Mr. Simon's imprudence. I told you, in the time of it, just what it would lead to. It leads straight to Rome, just as I said. Mr. Simons set them a-going, and now he is gone, and they go where they have lighted candles on the altar every Sunday, and Mr. St. John prays with his back to them, and has processions, and wears all sorts of heathenish robes; and your daughters go there, Nelly."

hat a very plumes in Aunt Maria's spoke. and with warning energy as she

"Are you lighted?" said Mr. that candles are Arsdel, sitting uncommon class of Christians, whose evidences of piety are more vigorous in hating than loving. There is no manner of doubt that she would have made good her word, had she been a bishop.

"Oh, well, Maria," said Mrs. Van Arsdel, drawing her knit zephyr shawl about her with a sort of consolatory movement, and settling herself cosily back on her sofa, "It's evident that the Bishop doesn't see just as you do, and I am content to allow what he does. As to the girls, they are old enough to judge for themselves, and, besides, I think they are doing some good by teaching in that mission school. I hope so, at least. Any way, I couldn't help it if I would. But, do tell me, did Mrs. Demas have on her new bonnet?"

"Yes, she did," said Aunt Maria, with vigor; "and I can tell you it's a perfect fright, if it did come from Paris. Another thing I saw—friends have come round again! Mrs. Larmar's new cloak was trimmed with fringe."

"You don't say so," said Mrs. Van Arsdel, contemplating at the possible consequences of this change. "There was another reason why I couldn't go out this morning," she added, rather irrelevantly—"I had no bonnet. Adrienne couldn't get the kind of ruhe necessary to finish it till next week, and the old one is too shabby. Were the Stuyvesants out?"

"Oh, yes, in full force. She has the same bonnet she wore last year, done over with a new feather."

"Oh, well, the Stuyvesants can do as they please," said Mrs. Van Arsdel; "everybody knows who they are, let them wear what they will."

"Emma Stuyvesant had a new Paris hat and a saque trimmed with ballion fringe," continued Aunt Maria. "I thought I'd tell you, because you can use what was on your velvet dress over again; it's just as good as ever."

"So I can"—and for a moment the great advantage of going punctually to church appeared to Mrs. Van Arsdel. "Did you see Sophie Sidney?"

"Yes. She was gorgeous in a mauve suit with hat to match; but she has gone on terribly in her looks—yellow as a lemon."

"Who else did you see?" said Mrs. Van Arsdel, who liked to topic on conversation better than the dangers of the church.

old-fashioned psalm tunes!"

Just then the choir below struck up

"Forward, Christian soldier,"

with a marching energy and a vivacity that was positively startling, and, to be sure, not in the least like the old, long-drawn, dolorous strains once supposed to be peculiar to devotion. In fact, one of the greatest signs of progress in our modern tunes is the bursting forth of religious thought and feeling in childhood and youth in strains gay and airy as hope and happiness—melodies that might have been learned of those bright little "fowls of the air," of whom the Master bade us take lessons, so that a company of wholesome, healthy, right-minded young people. can now get together and express themselves in song of joy, and hope, and energy, such as childhood and youth ought to be full of.

Let those who will talk of the decay of Christian faith in our day; so long as song about Jesus and His love are bursting forth on every hand, thick as violets and apple blossoms in June, so long as the little Sunday-school song books sell by thousands and by millions, and spring forth every year in increasing numbers, so long will it appear that faith is ever fresh-springing and vital. It was the little children in the temple who cried, "Hosanna to the Son of David," when chief priests and scribes are scowling and saying, "Master, forbid them," and doubtless the same dear Master loves to hear these child-songs as then.

At all events, our little party were having a gay and festive time over two or three new collections of Clarion, Golden Chain, Golden Shower, or what not, of which Jim had brought a pocketful for the girls to try, and certainly the melodies as they came up were bright and lively and pretty enough to stir one's blood pleasantly. In fact, both Aunt Maria and Mrs. Van Arsdel were content for a season to leave the door open and listen.

"You see," said Mrs. Van Arsdel, Jim is such a pleasant, convenient, obliging fellow, and has done so many civil turns for the family, that we quite make him at home here; we don't mind him at all. It's a pleasant thing, too, and a convenience, now the boys are gone, to have some young man that one feels perfectly free with to wait on the girls; and where there are so many of them, there's less danger of anything particular. There's no earthly danger were of Alice's being specially interested in Jim. He isn't at all the person she would ever think seriously of, though she likes him as a friend."

Mrs. Wouyermans apparently acquiesced for the time in this reasoning, but secretly resolved to watch appearances narrowly this evening, and if she saw what warranted the movement, to take the responsibility of the case into her own hands forthwith. Her perfect immutable and tranquil certainty that she was the proper person to manage anything within the sphere of her vision, gave her courage to go forward, in spite of the fears and remonstrances of any who might have claimed that they were parties concerned.

Mr. Jim Fellows was one of those persons in whom a sense of humour operates as a subtle lubricating oil through all the internal machinery of the mind, causing all, which might otherwise have jarred or grated, to slide easily. Many things which would be a torture to more earnest people were to him a source of amusement. In fact, humour was so far a leading faculty that it was difficult to keep him within limits of propriety and decorum, and prevent him from racing off at unsuitable periods like a kitten after a pine-ball, skipping over all solemnities of etiquette and decorum. He had not been so long intimate in the family without perfectly taking the measure of so very active and forthputting a member as Aunt Maria. He knew exactly—as well as if she had told him—how she regarded him, for his knowledge of character was not the result of study, but that sort of clear sight, which, in persons of quick perceptive organs, seems like a second sense. He saw into persons without an effort, and what he saw for the most part only amused him.

He perceived immediately on sitting down to tea that he was under the glance of Mrs. Wouyermans' watchful and critical eye, and the result was that he became full and ready to boil over with wicked drollery. With an apparently grave face, without passing the limits of the most ceremonious politeness and decorum, he contrived, by a thousand fleeting indescribable turns and sliding intonations and adroit movements to get all the girls into a tempest of suppressed gaiety. There at the present occasion, when she found herself walking in the streets of New York alone in the evening with a young man who treated her with flattering deference, it would not but strike her as a providential opportunity not to be neglected of fulfilling her long-cherished intentions and giving a sort of wholesome check and caution to the youth. So she began with infinite adroitness to prepare the way. Jim, the while, who saw perfectly what she was aiming at, assisting her in the most obliging manner.

After passing through sundry truisms, about the necessity of caution and regarding appearances, and thinking what people will say to this and that, she proceeded to inform him that the report was in circulation that he was engaged to Alice.

"The report does me entirely too much honor," said Jim.

"But of course if Miss Alice isn't disposed to deny it, I am not."

"Of course Miss Alice's friends will deny it," said Aunt Maria, decisively.

"I merely mentioned it to you that you may see the need of caution. You know, of course, Mr. Fellows, that such reports stand in the way of others who might be disposed—well, you understand."

"Oh, perfectly, exactly, quite so," said Jim, who could be profuse of his phrases on occasion, "and I'm extremely obliged to you for this suggestion; undoubtedly your great experience and knowledge of the ways of society will show you the exact way to deal with such things."

"You see," pursued Mrs. Wouyermans, in a confidential tone, "there is at present a person every way admirable and desirable, who is thinking very seriously of Alice; it's quite confidential, you know; but you must be aware—of the danger."

"I perceive—a blight of the poor fellow's budding hopes and early affections," said Jim, fluently; "well, though of course the very suggestion of such a report in regard to me is flattery far beyond my deserts, so that I can't be annoyed by it, still I should be profoundly sorry to have it occasion any trouble to Miss Alice."

"I felt sure that you wouldn't be offended with me for speaking so very plainly. I hope you'll keep it entirely

It required a scaffolding made of a chair and an ottoman to reach the top of the pictures, and a tack-hammer and little tacks. Then the precise air of arrangement and exact position had to be studied from below, after the tacks were driven, and that necessitated two or three descents from the perch to review, and the tumbling of the ottoman to the floor, and the calling of Mary in to help, and to hold the ottoman firm while the persevering little artist finished her work. It is by ups and downs like these, by daily labour of modern Eves, each in their little paradises, O ye Adams! that your houses have that "just right" look that makes you think of them all day, and long to come back to them at night.

"Somehow or other," you say, "I don't know how it is, my wife's things have a certain air; her vines grow just in the right places, and her parlors always look pleasant." You don't know how many periods of grave consideration, how many climbings on chairs and ottomans, how many doings and undoings and shiftings and changes produce the appearance that charms you. Most people think that flower vases are very simple affairs; but the keeping of parlors dressed with flowers is daily work for an hour or two for any woman. Nor is it work in vain. No altar is holier than the home altar, and the flowers that adorn it are sacred.

Eva was sitting, a little tired with strenuous exertions, contemplating her finished arrangements with satisfaction, when the door-bell rang, and Alice came in.

"Why Alice, dear, how nice of you to be down here so early! I was just wanting somebody to show my changes to. Look there. See how I've looped that ivy round mother's picture; isn't it sweet?" and Eva caressingly arranged a leaf or two to suit her.

"Charming!" said Alice, but with rather an abstracted, preoccupied tone.

"And look at this nasturtium; it is full of buds. See the yellow is beginning to show. I've fastened it in a wreath around the window, so that the sun will shine through the blossoms."

"It's beautiful," said Alice, still absently and nervously playing with her bonnet strings.

the measure of so very active and torturing putting a member as Aunt Maria. He knew exactly—as well as if she had told him—how she regarded him, for his knowledge of character was not the result of study, but that sort of clear sight, which, in persons of quick perceptive organs, seems like a second sense. He saw into persons without an effort, and what he saw for the most part only amused him.

He perceived immediately on sitting down to tea that he was under the glance of Mrs. Wouwermans' watchful and critical eye, and the result was that he became full and ready to boil over with wicked drollery. With an apparently grave face, without passing the limits of the most ceremonious politeness and decorum, he contrived, by a thousand fleeting indescribable turns and sliding intonations and adroit movements to get all the girls into a tempest of suppressed gaiety. There are wicked rogues known to us all who have this magical power of making those around them burst out into indiscreet sallies of laughter, while they retain the most edifying and innocent air of gravity. Seated next to Aunt Maria, Jim managed, by most devoted attention and reverential listening, to draw from her zealous analysis of the morning sermon which she gave with the more heat and vigour, hoping thereby to reprove the stray sheep who had thus broken boundaries.

Her views of the danger of modern speculation, and her hearty measures for its repression, were given with an earnestness that was from the heart.

"I can't understand what anybody wants to have these controversies for, and listen to these infidel philosophers. I never doubt. I never have doubted. I don't think I have altered an iota of my religious faith since I was seven years old; and if I had the control of things, I'd put a stop to all this sort of fuss."

"You then would side with his Holiness, the Pope," said Jim. "That's precisely the ground of his last allocation,"

"No, indeed, I shouldn't. I think Popery is worse yet—it's terrible! Dr. Cushing showed that this morning, and it's the greatest danger of our day; and I think that Mr. St. John of yours is nothing more than a decoy duck to lead you all to Rome. I went up there once and saw 'em genuflecting, and turning to the east, and burning candles, and that's all I want to know about them."

ly obliged to you for this suggestion; undoubtedly your great experience and knowledge of the ways of society will show you the exact way to deal with such things."

"You see," pursued Mrs. Wouwermans, in a confidential tone, "there is at present a person every way admirable and desirable, who is thinking very seriously of Alice; it's quite confidential, you know; but you must be aware—of the danger."

"I perceive—a blight of the poor fellow's budding hopes and early affections," said Jim, fluently; "well, though of course the very suggestion of such a report in regard to me is flattery far beyond my deserts, so that I can't be annoyed by it, still I should be profoundly sorry to have it occasion any trouble to Miss Alice."

"I felt sure that you wouldn't be offended with me for speaking so very plainly. I hope you'll keep it entirely private."

"Oh, certainly," said Jim, with the most cheerful good will. "When ladies with your tact and skill in human nature talk to us young fellows you never give offence. We take your frankness as a favour."

Mrs. Wouwermans smiled with honest pride. Had she not been warned against talking to this youth as something that was going to be of most explosive tendency? How little could Nelly, or Eva, or any of them, appreciate her masterly skill! She really felt in her heart disposed to regret that so docile a pupil, one so appreciative of her superior abilities, was not a desirable matrimonial parti. Had Jim been a youth of fortune she felt that she could have held up both hands for him.

"He really is agreeable," was her thought, as she shut the door upon him.

CHAPTER XII.

WHY CAN'T THEY LET US ALONE?

Harry went out to his office, and Eva commenced the morning labours of a young housekeeper.

What are they? Something in their way as airy and pleasant as the light touches and arrangements which Eva gave to her bower in Paradise—gathering up stray rose-leaves, tying up a lily that the rain has bent, looping a honeysuckle in a more graceful festoon, and meditating the while whether she shall have oranges and figs and grapes, or guavas and pineapples, for her first strenuous exertions, contemplating her finished arrangements with satisfaction, when the door-bell rang, and Alice came in.

"Why A!" said Alice, dear, how nice of you to be down here so early! I was just waiting somebody to show my changes to. Look there. See how I've looped that ivy round mother's picture; isn't it sweet?" and Eva caressingly arranged a leaf or two to suit her.

"Charming!" said Alice, but with rather an abstracted, preoccupied tone.

"And look at this nasturtium; it is full of buds. See the yellow is beginning to show. I've fastened it in a wreath around the window, so that the sun will shine through the blossoms."

"It's beautiful," said Alice, still absently and nervously playing with her bonnet strings.

"Why, darling, what's the matter?" said Eva, suddenly noticing signs of some unusual feeling. "What ails you?" "Well," said Alice, hastily untying her bonnet strings and throwing it down on the sofa, "I've come up to talk with you—I hope," she said, flushing crimson with vexation, "that Aunt Maria is satisfied now; she is the most exasperating woman I ever knew or heard of!"

"Dear me, Allie, what has she done now?"

"Well, what do you think? Last Sunday she came to our house to tea, drawn up in martial array and ready to attack us all for not going to the old church—that stupid, dead old church, where people do nothing but doze and wake up to criticise each other's bonnets—but you really would think to hear Aunt Maria talk that there was a second Babylonian captivity or something of that sort coming on, and we were getting it up. You see, Dr. Cushing has got excited because some of the girls are going up to the mission church, and it's led him to an unwanted exertion; and Aunt Maria quite waked up and considers herself an apostle and prophet. I wish you could have heard her talk. It's enough to make any cause ridiculous to have one defend it as she did. You ought to have heard that witch of a Jim Fellows arguing with her and respectfully leading her into all sorts of contradictions and absurdities till I stopped him. I really wouldn't let him lead her to make such a fool of herself."

"Oh, well, if that's all, Allie, I don't thereby to reprove the stray sheep who had thus broken boundaries.

Her views of the danger of modern speculation, and her hearty measures for its repression, were given with an earnestness that was from the heart.

"I can't understand what anybody wants to have these controversies for, and listen to these infidel philosophers. I never doubt. I never have doubted. I don't think I have altered an iota of my religious faith since I was seven years old; and if I had the control of things, I'd put a stop to all this sort of fuss."

"You then would side with his Holiness, the Pope," said Jim. "That's precisely the ground of his last allocution."

"No, indeed, I shouldn't. I think Popery is worse yet—it's terrible! Dr. Cushing showed that this morning, and it's the greatest danger of our day; and I think that Mr. St. John of yours is nothing more than a decoy duck to lead you all to Rome. I went up there once and saw 'em genuflecting, and turning to the east, and burning candles, and that's all I want to know about them."

"But the east is a perfectly harmless point of the compass," said Jim, with suavity; "and though I don't want candles in the daytime myself, yet I don't see what harm it does anybody to burn them."

"Why, that's just what the Catholics do," said Mrs. Wouwermans.

"Oh, that's it, is it!" said Jim, with a submissive air. "Mustn't we do any thing that Catholics do?"

"No, indeed," said Aunt Maria, falling into the open trap affecting naivete.

"Then we mustn't pray at all," said Jim.

"Oh, pshaw! of course I didn't mean that. You know what I mean."

"Certainly, ma'am I think I understand," said Jim, while Alice, who had been looking reprovingly at him, led off the subject into another strain.

But Mrs. Wouwermans was more gracious to Jim that evening than usual, and when she rose to go home that young gentleman offered his attendance, and was accepted with complacency.

Mrs. Wouwermans, in a general way, believed in what is called Providence. That is to say, when any little matter fell out in a manner exactly opposite to any of her schemes, she called it providential.

positive tendency? How little could Nelly, or Eva, or any of them, appreciate her masterly skill! She really felt in her heart disposed to regret that so docile a pupil, one so appreciative of her superior abilities, was not a desirable matrimonial parti. Had Jim been a youth of fortune she felt that she could have held up both hands for him.

"He really is agreeable," was her thought, as she shut the door upon him.

CHAPTER XII.

WHY CAN'T THEY LET US ALONE?

Harry went out to his office, and Eva commenced the morning labours of a young housekeeper.

What are they? Something in their way as airy and pleasant as the light touches and arrangements which Eva gave to her bower in Paradise—gathering up stray rose-leaves, tying up a lily that the rain has bent, looping a honey-suckle in a more graceful festoon, and meditating the while whether she shall have oranges and figs and grapes, or guavas and pineapples, for her first course at dinner.

Such, according to Father Milton, were the ornamental duties of the first wife, while her husband went out to his office in some distant part of Eden.

But Eden still exists whenever two young lovers set up housekeeping, even in prosaic New York; only our modern Eves wear jaunty little morning caps and fascinating wrappers and slippers, with coquettish butterfly bows. Eva's morning duties consisted in asking Mary what they had better have for dinner, giving here and there a peep into the pantry, re-arranging the flower vases, and flecking the dust from her pictures and statuettes with a gay and glancing brush of peacock's feathers. Sometimes the morning arrangements included quite a change; as, this particular day, when, on mature consideration, a spray of ivy that was stretching towards the window had been drawn back and forced to wreath itself around a picture, and a spray of nasturtium, gemmed with half-opened golden buds, had been trained in its place in the window.

One may think this a very simple matter, but whoever knows all the resistance which the forces of matter and the laws of gravitation make to the simplest improvement in one's parlour, will know better.

"Dear me, Allie, what has she done now?"

"Well, what do you think? Last Sunday she came to our house to tea, drawn up in martial array and ready to attack us all for not going to the old church—that stupid, dead old church, where people do nothing but doze and wake up to criticise each other's bonnets—but you really would think to hear Aunt Maria talk that there was a second Babylonian captivity or something of that sort coming on, and we were getting it up. You see, Dr. Cushing has got excited because some of the girls are going up to the mission church, and it's led him to an unwanted exertion; and Aunt Maria quite waked up and considers herself an apostle and prophet. I wish you could have heard her talk. It's enough to make any cause ridiculous, to have one defend it as she did. You ought to have heard that witch of a Jim Fellows arguing with her and respectfully leading her into all sorts of contradictions and absurdities till I stopped him. I really wouldn't let him lead her to make such a fool of herself."

"Oh, well, if that's all, Allie, I don't think you need to trouble your head," said Eva. "Aunt Maria, of course, will hold on to her old notions, and her style of argument never was very consecutive."

"But that isn't all. Oh, you may be sure I didn't care for what she said about the church. I can have my opinion and she hers, on that point."

"Well, then, what is the matter?"

"Well, if you'll believe me, she has actually undertaken to tutor Jim Fellows in relation to his intimacy with me."

"Oh, Alice," groaned Eva, "has she done that? I begged and implored her to let that matter alone."

"Then she's been talking to you, too! and I wonder how many more," said Alice in tones of disgust.

"Yes, she did talk with me in her usual busy imperative way, and told me all that Mrs. Thus-and-so and Mr. This-and-that said—but people are always saying things, and if they don't say one they will another. I tried to persuade her to let it alone, but she seemed to think you must be talked with; so I finally told her that if she'd leave it to me I would say all that was necessary. I did mean to say something, but I didn't want to trouble you. I thought there was no hurry."

"Well, you see," said Alice, "Jim went home with her that night, and I suppose she thought the opportunity too good to be neglected. I don't know just what she said to him, but I know it was about me."

TO BE CONTINUED.

Farm & Fireside

GENTLE WORDS AND LOVING SMILES.

The sun may warm the grass's life;
The dew, the drooping flower,
And eyes grow bright and watch the light

Of autumn's opening hour :

But words that breathe of kindness,
And smiles we know are true,
Are warmer than the summer time,
And brighter than the dew.

It is not much the world can give,
With all its subtle art,
And gold and gems are not the thing
To satisfy the heart.

But oh, if those who cluster round
The altar of the hearth,
Have gentle words and loving smiles,
How beautiful is earth !

BETTER THAN IMMIGRATION.

Much money is spent to promote immigration to this country, and for the most part we fear it is a foolish expenditure. Very few come to us and many of these do not stay. The first generation at least of those who do settle among us, do not fit well into our modes and habits, and though among us, seldom are of us. It would be much wiser, in view of the ceaseless emigration from our Province, to devise some way by which our people may be induced to remain in the land of their nativity. Nay, if we could only turn the tide and bring back our young men and women who have left us for other countries, this were a consummation devoutly to be wished. Would that our legislators and patriots (if any of this latter species still exists) might cease their political squabble and turn their attention to the development of this country.

But the thing we propose as better than immigration is to reclaim men from drunkenness and plant their feet on the solid ground of total abstinence. Convert a drunkard into a total abstainer and you have given your country a new man. This is the correct way to multiply the population. Make a man a total abstainer and when you take the census he may be counted in, but what right have you to count in the drunkard? Why at best he is only a drag on society, a source of expense and constant annoyance, and a disgrace to the community.

THE HOME FATHER.

The Home Father is one whose coming causes happy hearts to beat faster, and bright eyes to become brighter, and little feet to run pattering out to meet him, and childish voices to shout his name. When he enters his dwelling, a sun-beam seems to enter it, and his presence imparts a gleam of happiness even to the sick chamber and soothes the bed of pain. The tavern, the reading room, or the club, have no attractions for him, because his family cannot accompany him. His heart is centred in those dear ones who surrounded his heart; and though no costly furniture adorns his room, it matters not, he is rich! His wealth lies in the hearts he has made happy! His little ones crowd around him, and recount the wonders and events of the day; and the little flaxen-haired, blue-eyed baby lays his soft rosy cheek beside the rough bearded face of papa, and is not at all afraid. How patiently the strong man listens to all the wonderful nothing they have to tell him, and smiles at the tricks of the roly-poly things as they caper around him. And how proud and grateful he is that God has entrusted the happiness of so many of his creatures to his keeping. He carries his happiness in his heart, and needs no bacchanalian songs, and loud debates, or operatic music to stimulate him.

A SHEEP'S TEETH.

I often hear persons disputing about the age of a sheep, to my surprise, be it said. For them to tell the age of sheep nothing is easier. A sheep's front teeth the first year are eight in number, appearing all of a size. Second year the two middle ones are shed out and replaced by two much longer than the others. Third year two very small ones appear—one on either side of the eight. At the end of the fourth there are six large teeth. Fifth year all the front teeth are large. Sixth year all begin to show wear—not till then.

CHAPPED HANDS.—Now is the time to have a bottle of glycerine in the house. When the boys come in from husking corn or picking up potatoes with chapped or cracked hands, there is nothing so healing to apply as this substance. A good preventive to sore hands is drying them over the fire

ONTARIO DRUG

WINTER, 18

Our Stock of LAMPS is now complete, and SIGNS and Latest Improvements of the

THE CELEBRATED REFLECTOR

Which can be lighted, filled and trimmed, with any. Equal to any two light chandelier.

The most economical Lamp

BRONZE AND FIGURED LAMPS, FOOTED, GLASS AND VARIOUS

SHADES, GLOBES, CHANDELIERS, BURNERS OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS

—AT THE—

LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE

Napanee, Nov. 5th, 1875.

*Commence
of Bellevue*

BEST PATRONIZED, MOST THOROUGHLY

us for other countries, this were a consummation devoutly to be wished. Would that our legislators and patriots (if any of this latter species still exists) might cease their political squabble and turn their attention to the development of this country.

But the thing we propose as better than immigration is to reclaim men from drunkenness and plant their feet on the solid ground of total abstinence. Convert a drunkard into a total abstainer and you have given your country a new man. This is the correct way to multiply the population. Make a man a total abstainer and when you take the census he may be counted in, but what right have you to count in the drunkard? Why at best he is only a drag on society, a source of expense and constant annoyance, and a disgrace to all concerned. Here is an opportunity for all our Temperance Societies to increase the effective number of our population. Bring them in—in to your glorious temperance brotherhood, out from the dens of vice and wretchedness. Fie on these immigration schemes! say we. Let us give more heed to the quality and less to the quantity. We need rather to improve the quality. Let us multiply the number of solid temperance men—let us increase their effective capacity so that when you receive into your societies a man who has been given to strong drink you may make him worth ten of what he was before.

Had we a prohibition law, and that law faithfully and effectively administered, this method of multiplication would have free course. But we have not yet such a law, and strong drink immigrates to this country as to a dry and thirsty place. Let us do the best we can with the law we have and show that we are ready for the law that we want—the law to wit of Prohibition. This we must have and the length of time which shall elapse before its adoption depends largely upon our temperance societies. Do not slumber or sleep but rouse yourselves to the work and “swing in the heavy strokes in order,”—Alliance Journal, Halifax.

KEEPING ICE.—You recommend a thick coating of sawdust on the top of ice in the ice-houses. Professional packers tell me this layer should be composed of coarse chips from planing mills, not fine sawdust, and should be laid on very light and thin, so as not to consolidate into a mass. They say the air must permeate it readily, or the ice will melt. Have you tried both praise, be it said. For men to keep the age of sheep nothing is easier. A sheep's front teeth the first year are eight in number, appearing all of a size. Second year the two middle ones are shed out and replaced by two much longer than the others. Third year two very small ones appear—one on either side of the eight. At the end of the fourth there are six large teeth. Fifth year all the front teeth are large. Sixth year all begin to show wear—not till then.

CHAPPED HANDS.—Now is the time to have a bottle of glycerine in the house. When the boys come in from husking corn or picking up potatoes with chapped or cracked hands, there is nothing so healing to apply as this substance. A good preventive to sore hands is drying them over the fire every time after washing.

CHAPPED HANDS.

Not a few men have chapped or cracked hands, these cracks appearing on all parts of the hands, inconvenient, sore and troublesome. Few people have any idea of the cause or causes, and simply regard it as accidental, or worse still, providential. Now there is no accident in this matter, nothing beyond control, if we will but pay the price of exemption. The causes may not be the same in all cases. Generally it will be found that the victims are careless about washing the hands, seldom wiping dry, and exposing them unnecessarily in the cold air. A little care, by way of drying them before going out, might save much trouble and suffering. Again the free use of soap causes at least a part of this cracking and soreness. The soap destroys the natural oil of the skin, which, of course, becomes dry and hard and then cracks, as a natural consequence. If, after the necessary use of soap, or the action of lime on the skin, a little vinegar should be applied, destroying the alkali, a part, at least, of the result would be avoided. But, after the removal of this oil and after the use of the vinegar or some other acid, a little oily substance, as glycerine, sweet oil, etc., should be applied, restoring the softness of the skin, this cracking would be reduced.

Still, again, the free use of salt has much to do with this condition, producing an inflammatory action nearly allied to the salt-rheum. But shall we eat no salt? That is not demanded, and yet it is believed that most persons

BEST PATRONIZED, MOST TH T BUSINESS SCHC

An institution for Business training, where can procure an Education suited to the wants. The subjects taught are just such as every Professional Man require in transacting every following:— Book-Keeping by Single and Double Entry, Paper Banking, Steamboating, Corresponding, Commercial Law, Practical Grammar, Actual Business Course, Telegraphy.

Our Course of Training is unequalled. SEVEN COMPETENT AND EXPERIENCED. Our Patronage is much larger, and our terms in Canada. The united admission of over filling lucrative positions as Accountants and clerks of competency and success we offer. Specimens of Penmanship and College education to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville, O.

MONEY TO

MESSRS. WILLIAM
Are weekly lending large amounts of money on terms specified in the following:

REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Monthly interest on each $100 loaned, for periods varying from 2 to 5 years.

No. of YEARS.	2 YEARS.	4 YEARS.	5 YEARS.	YEARS.
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 84	22

The full amount of the loan is advanced (the above payments, if properly met, cancel as principal. They also lend upon the term at the end of a term of years, and the interest need rather to improve the quality. Let us multiply the number of solid temperance men—let us increase their effective capacity so that when you receive into your societies a man who has been given to strong drink you may make him worth ten of what he was before.

April

Had we a prohibition law, and that law faithfully and effectively administered, this method of multiplication would have free course. But we have not yet such a law, and strong drink immigrates to this country as to a dry and thirsty place. Let us do the best we can with the law we have and show that we are ready for the law that we want—the law to wit of Prohibition. This we must have and the length of time which shall elapse before its adoption depends largely upon our temperance societies. Do not slumber or sleep but rouse yourselves to the work and “swing in the heavy strokes in order,”—Alliance Journal, Halifax.

KEEPING ICE.—You recommend a thick coating of sawdust on the top of ice in the ice-houses. Professional packers tell me this layer should be composed of coarse chips from planing mills, not fine sawdust, and should be laid on very light and thin, so as not to consolidate into a mass. They say the air must permeate it readily, or the ice will melt. Have you tried both systems? A Try Subscriber. [We have been in the practice of covering ice with rather more sawdust at the top than at the sides, because the servants, who procure the daily supply in summer, were not careful enough in their haste to cover all the ice sufficiently, but would otherwise leave thin or bare spots. Free ventilation was given over the top. We have not tried the coarser material of chips from planing mills, but it would have the advantage of admitting a greater depth of covering in the case we have mentioned, and might answer if applied thinly where the covering can be carefully performed.]

MONTREAL PRESS.—In the Montreal despatch of our morning contemporary, this morning, by an error of the printer, we presume, it was stated that the Montreal Star was about to suspend on account of financial difficulties. The name of the journal alluded to should have been the Sun, and not the Star, which is, we are glad to know, in a solvent and flourishing condition.—Free Press.

have any idea of the cause or causes, and simply regard it as accidental, or worse still, providential. Now there is no accident in this matter, nothing beyond control, if we will but pay the price of exemption. The causes may not be the same in all cases. Generally it will be found that the victims are careless about washing the hands, seldom wiping dry, and exposing them unnecessarily in the cold air. A little care, by way of drying them before going out, might save much trouble and suffering. Again the free use of soap causes at least a part of this cracking and soreness. The soap destroys the natural oil of the skin, which, of course, becomes dry and hard and then cracks, as a natural consequence. If, after the necessary use of soap, or the action of lime on the skin, a little vinegar should be applied, destroying the alkali, a part, at least, of the result would be avoided. But, after the removal of this oil and after the use of the vinegar or some other acid, a little oily substance, as glycerine, sweet oil, etc., should be applied, restoring the softness of the skin, this cracking would be reduced.

Still, again, the free use of salt has much to do with this condition, producing an inflammatory action nearly allied to the salt-rheum. But shall we eat no salt? That is not demanded, and yet it is believed that most persons use far more than nature requires for health. A moderate use of it will not produce this cracking of the hands or an unnatural thirst, as excess manifestly does, at least in most if not in all cases.

HOW TO PRESERVE FENCE POSTS.—The American Chemist says that a Western farmer discovered many years ago that wood could be made to last longer than iron in the ground. Time and weather, he says, seem to have no effect upon it. The post can be prepared for less than two cents a piece. This is the recipe: Take boiling linseed oil and stir into it pulverized charcoal to the consistency of paint. Put a coat of this over the timber, and, he adds, there is not a man who will live to see it rot.

Somebody put pepper on the stove during a late meeting of the Mitchell Town Council, and the Mayor has offered $25 for the unearthing of the fiend who did it. He rightly thinks that such pranks are not to be sneezed at.

Our Course of Training is u
SEVEN COMPETENT AND EX
Our Patronage is much larger, and our t lege in Canada. The united admission of ov filling lucrative positions as Accountants an tees of competency and success we offer.
Specimens of Penmanship and Colleg cation to S. G. BEATY & Co., Belleville,

MONEY T

MESSRS. WILLIA

Are weekly lending large amounts of mon terms specified in the

REDUCED LOAN TABLE, showing the Mont on each $100 loaned, for periods vary

No. of	2	4	5
YEARS.	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	Y
Monthly.	$4 75	$2 49	$2 08	$1
Half-yearly.	27 90	15 15	12 64	10
Yearly.	57 00	31 00	25 84	22

The full amount of the loan is advanced the above payments, if properly met, canc as principal. They also lend upon the ter at the end of a term of years, and the inte

Apri

Now on hand a full stock of the latest styles and best quality
ever before.

The very best cheese in town

Fresh groceries of all kinds---

Call and see our stock, whet
We will be glad to s

ANEE EXPRESS

LL 1875.

DRUG STORE

INTER, 1876.

ow complete, comprising the NEWEST DE- movements of the day, including

REFLECTOR HANGING LAMP,

nd trimmed, without removing shade or ight chandelier.  No Explosions.
onomical Lamp in the Market

URED LAMPS,
LASS AND HAND LAMPS.

VARIOUS SIZES AND PATTERNS

NDELIERS, BRACKETS AND LAMP FIX OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS,

—AT THE—

OSSIBLE CASH VALUE.

DETLOR & SCOTT.

Ontario

Commercial College
Belleville
Ont.

, MOST THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL

FOR CASH ONLY.

ALL GOODS MARKED

AT

STOVES HARDWARE, TINWARE &
MILL POINT.

COOKING,
PARLOUR,
BOX & HALL STOVES,
FOR WOOD AND COAL.
DUMB STOVES, PAINTS,
BOILED AND RAW PAINT OILS,
MACHINE OILS,
COAL OIL,
LAMPS & LAMP TRIMMINGS
GLASS OF ALL SIZES,
PUTTY,
CUTLERY.

FANCY GOODS & SMALL WARES.
SPECIAL ATTENTION GIVEN TO RAVETROUGHING, BELL-HANG-ING, & GENERAL JOBBING.

A SPLENDID VARIETY OF HALL & PARLOR COAL STOVES,
BASE-BURNERS,
WHICH WILL BE SOLD AT COST PRICE.
D. McRAE & SON.
Jan. 12th, 1876.

W GOODS! NEWG OODS!

F. CHINNECK,

Has just received a splendid

Stock of

Watches and Jewelry,

which he will sell cheaper, than

any other house in Town.

 Repairing done on the shortest
notice and warranted.

DUNDAS STREET, EAST. NAPANEE

POTTER BROS..
LIVERY AND SALE STABLES

(ADJOINING THE BRISCO HOUSE,)
NAPANEE, ONT.

 We keep nothing but First-Class
Horses and Vehicles, and at REASONABLE

GREAT CLEARING

Ontario

MOST THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL

CHOICE IN CANADA

Training, where Boys, Young and Middle-aged Men to the wants of every day life.
such as every Merchant, Farmer, Mechanic and conducting every day business, and embrace the following: Penmanship, Commercial Writing, Correspondence, Arithmetic, Brokerage, Practical Grammar, Mechanical Drawing, Telegraphing, Phonography, &c.

Training is under the supervision of
AND EXPERIENCED TEACHERS. and our terms less than any other Business College of over one thousand of our Graduates, now Telegraph Operators, are the guarantee. and College Journal sent "free of charge," on application to Belleville, Ont.

TO LEND.

VILLIAMS & HOOPER.

of money at low rates of interest, and on the basis of the following table :-

The Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments varying from two to twenty years.

5	6	8	10	15	20
YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS
$1 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26	$6 15	$5 43
2 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	12 55	11 12
5 84	22 45	18 20	15 72

advanced (no commission being charged), an
net. cancel the whole mortgage, interest as we on the terms of the whole principal being pathe interest payable annually.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

AT MOLLLOY'S!
CLEARING SALE NOW GOING DOWN TO COST FOR 30

Watches and Jewelry,

which he will sell cheaper, than

any other house in Town.

Repairing done on the shortest
notice and warranted.

DUNDAS STREET, EAST. NAPANEE

POTTER BROS..
LIVERY AND SALE STABLES

(ADJOINING THE BRISCO HOUSE.)
NAPANEE, ONT.

We keep nothing but First-Class
Horses and Vehicles, and at REASONABLE
PRICES

FOR HEBLOOD IS THE LIFE

CLARKE'S
WORLD FAMED
BLOOD MIXTURE.

Trade Mark,—"Blood Mixture,"
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND
RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood
from all impurities, cannot be too highly recommended.

For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin Diseases,
and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing
permanent cure.
It cures old Sores
Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs.
Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face,
Cures Scurvy Sores.
Cures Cancerous Ulcers.
Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.
Cures Glandular Swellings.
Clears the Blood from all impure
Matter.

From whatever cause arising.
As this mixture is pleasant to the taste,
and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietors solicit sufferers
to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts
Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases
containing six times the quantity, $4 each
—sufficient to effect a permanent cure in
the great majority of long-standing cases,
BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout
world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist.
APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN,
ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent
Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for the Provinces
Ontario and Quebec :-
EVANS, MERCER and CO., Montreal.

FARM FOR SALE.

...ing is under the supervision of
T AND EXPERIENCED TEACHERS.
 r, and our terms less than any other Business Collision of over one thousand of our Graduates, now nstantants and Telegraph Operators, are the guaranre offer.
 p and College Journal sent "free of charge." on ap Belleville, Ont. 3

Y TO LEND.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.
 nts of money at low rates of interest, and on the tied in the following table :—

g the Monthly, Half-Yearly or Yearly Payments eriods varying from two to twenty years.

5	6	8	10	15	20
YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEARS	YEAR
$2 08	$1 80	$1 47	$1 26
12 64	10 97	8 90	7 69	$6 15	$5 43
25 84	22 45	18 20	15 72	12 55	11 12

s advanced (no commission being charged), an 7 met. cancel the whole mortgage, nterest as we pon the terms of the whole principal being pa nd the interest payable annually.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

W. VINE & CO.
ily Grocers,
NAPANEE.

oor to Tichborne House.

stock of Crockery and Glassware t quality. A greater variety than in town---Try it and be convinced.

kinds---Cheap and good.

k, whether you puachase or not.
 glad to show you round.

IT IS NOW GOING ON LOY'S
 TO COST FOR 30 DAYS.
 FOR CASH ONLY.

RESTORER.

For cleansing and clearing the blood
 from all impurities, cannot be too highly
 recommended,
 For Scrofula, Scurvey, Skin Diseases,
 and Sores of all kinds it is a never-failing
 permanent cure.
 It cures old Sores
 Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
 Cures Ulcerated Scro Legs.
 Cures Blackheads, or Pimples on the Face,
 Cures Scurvy Sores.
 Cures Cancerous Ulcers.
 Cures Blood and Skin Diseases.
 Cures Glandular Swellings.
 Clears the Blood from all impure
 Matter.

From whatever cause arising.
 As this mixture is pleasant to the taste,
 and warranted free from anything injur-ous to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietor solicits sufferers
 to give it a trial to test its value.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts
 Sold in Bottles $1 each, and in Cases
 containing six times the quantity, $4 each
 —sufficient to effect a permanent cure in
 the great majority of long-standing cases,
BY ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout
 world.

Sole proprietor, F. J. CLARK, Chemist.
APOTHECARIES' HALL, LINCOLN.
 ENGLAND.

Sold in England by all Wholesale Patent
 Medicine Houses.

Wholesale Agents for the Provinces
 Ontario and Quebec :—
EVANS, MERCER and CO., Montreal.

FARM FOR SALE.

A Farm of 100 acres of good land in the Seventh Concession of TyendinaSa, Lot No. 38. The second lot west of the Richmond Boundry. For terms and further particulars, enquire on the premises.

F. McARTHUR.
 Albert P. O.

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT.

Ottawa, Nov. 12th, 1875

Authorized Discount on American Invoices until further notice, 12 per cent.

J. JOHNSON.
 Commissioner.

NOTICE.

The Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Lennox Agricultural Joint Stock Company will be held at the Council Room, Napanee, on Saturday the 19th February, A. D. 1876, at 2 o'clock p.m.

By order
CHARLES JAMES.

Napanee, July 10th 1876.

MURPHY & BEDFORD.
BARRISTERS, &c.,
MILL POINT.
 Money to lend on improved Real Estate

The Express.

NAPANEE, FEB. 24, 1876.

A COUNTY DUNKIN BY-LAW.

We believe there has never before been such an agitation in favour of local prohibition, under the provisions of the Dunkin Act, as at the present time. In almost every section of the Province there are townships adopting the by-law, by a popular vote, and now the movement in favour of county by-laws has regularly set in. At one time there was a good deal of doubt existing whether a county by-law would be legal, and even if legal whether there could be the necessary machinery provided for its proper enforcement. Both of these doubts have now, we believe, been removed. The new License Act declares the original Temperance Act of 1864 to be in full force and effect, and the present Chief Justice, Mr. Harrison, has given it, over and over again, as his deliberate opinion that such a by-law is perfectly valid.

In regard to the necessary machinery for its enforcement we have only to say that the appointment of the County Commissioners and the County Inspector, who has full authority to prosecute, and is indemnified for all costs incurred, meets the wants of the case as well as they can be met by legislation. The want of some such officer, heretofore, was the weak point in connection with the enforcement of the Dunkin by-laws, wherever tried; and that want having been fully supplied there is every encouragement to go forward.

A County by-law was adopted in Prince Edward County last summer by a majority of over 600, when submitted to a popular vote. In several other counties the movement is now on foot for presenting it to the people. In Leeds and Grenville requisitions are being circulated to be submitted to the next meeting of the County Council. The same is the case in Hastings, and also in Northumberland and Durham, and in the County of York.

We are happy to announce that the initiatory steps have been taken in this County. On Saturday evening quantities of manure.

To give some idea of the value of our exportations of cheese and butter we take the following table from the address of Professor Bell of Belleville, given at the recent Dairy men's Convention at Ingersall:

CHEESE.
Port Hope.....	lbs. 470,000
Cobourg, 141 boxes.....	3,680
Trenton, 1476 ".....	95,940
Belleville, 61,589 ".....	4,285,550
Napanee, 21,200 ".....	1,268,780
Kingston, 528,37 ".....	8,838,420
Gananoque, 5,550 ".....	84,965
Brockville, 50,441 ".....	3,190,898
Prescott, 12,794 ".....	793,228
Pictou and Bay Ports, 26,276 ".....	1,819,872
Allowed places not heard from	200,16
	16,000,000
Toronto, 73,251 boxes.....	4,966,808
West of, 424,824 ".....	27,618,560
	lbs. 48,580,368

Cash value 10c per lb..... $4,858,086

BUTTER.
Port Hope.....	lbs. 414,000
Cobourg.....	22,000
Belleville.....	60,000
Napanee.....	80,000
Kingston.....	84,000
Gananoque.....	8,000
Brockville.....	1,118,802
Prescott.....	620,704
Pictou and Bay Ports.....	56,000
Toronto.....	1,658,804
	lbs. 4,119,250

Cash value 18c. per lb $7,41,465
 " " Cheese as above... 4,858,086

Total value cheese, butter, $5,599,501
 Over and above home consumption, which has not been estimated.

TOWN COUNCIL.

NAPANEE, 21st Feb., 1876.

The Council met at 7:30 o'clock, the Mayor in the chair, all the members being present except Messrs. Gibson and James—the latter of whom is confined to his house from illness, the former being absent from the town.

As the session was expected to be a very interesting one, from the fact that they were to have the license law under consideration, the gallery and all the space outside the rail was filled with spectators, who were somewhat disappointed at the abrupt manner in which the proceedings terminated.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were presented from Messrs. Marsden & More, John Soby, Robert McDonald, Charles Paisley, James McClure, John McMullen, John Phelan and James Culhane for Tavern Licenses. And from Messrs. Coxall & Paisley, W. R. McRae & Co., John R. Pruyn and Wm. Rankins for Shop

owing to the hard season through which we have passed, the amount could not have been much less. $1987.08 had been spent on the streets, and sidewalks, in keeping the streets in order, purchase of planks, cedar pickets, etc., and recommended as little improvements this year as possible. $6,338 is due the Mercants Bank, which would have to be taken up from the proceeds of Debentures. They found a balance of assets over liabilities of $11,211.30.

Also recommending the payment of $3.00 to James Emberson, Tavern Inspector, for costs incurred in the prosecution of two persons for selling liquor without license; and that $20 be paid to each of the Auditors for their services. Adopted.

The printing of the report was referred to the Committee on Printing, who were authorized to have it done by tender.

The Clerk reported the result of the vote on the By-Law raising the Tavern Licenses, giving the number for and against in each polling subdivision, showing the By-Law was defeated by a majority of ten.

MOTIONS AND GENERAL BUSINESS

Mr. Miller moved, seconded by Mr. Wilson, that the Street Committee have corner boards placed on the principal corners of the town, with the names of the streets painted thereon.—Lost.

Mr. Huffman introduced a By-Law regulating the licenses for the present year, the number of licensed houses, and the amounts to be charged.

On motion the Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading. Dr. Ruttan in the chair.

Mr. Miller moved, seconded by Mr. Joy, that the number of tavern licenses to be granted be filled in by inserting the word eight.

In amendment by Mr. Geddes, seconded by Mr. McNeil, the number be five.

The original motion was carried.

Mr. Spencer moved, seconded by Mr. Geddes, the blank for shop licenses be filled in by inserting the word four.—Carried.

Mr. Geddes moved, seconded by Mr. Bartlett, that the clause confining the shop keepers solely and exclusively to the sale of liquor, be stricken out.

Mr. Spencer said, in view of the large stock of liquors the shop keepers had on hand, it would not be doing them justice to shut them off on so short notice, but that if say six months could be given them he would go for separating the two branches of business, as he did not believe it was right to have liquor sold where there was groceries, but as matters now stood he could not favor the By-Law.

Mr. Huffman agreed with Mr. Spencer, it would be rather hard in the face of existing circumstances, to cut them off at once, but from the reading of the law no time could be granted for the disposal of their stock, and as he might not be a Councillor another year, he was going to see the winning of the

—Fur
 —Try.
 es.
 —Fav
 —Studs.
 —A t Journal.
 —A re
 concert.
 —Wh
 Sluggard
 —Mov
 a second
 —Ret
 shorten
 —Oun
 after ho
 —Jon
 girls—J
 tion.
 —"O darling, i rode."
 —A l a tight underst
 —Fa
 in this dimple
 —Wl
 picking engrav
 —Wl than a go whe be "blo
 —"E fondly she is a with a —"S ing into takes p enough
 —Wl
 unclear none;
 the oth
 —A l a Frenc a duty become sure.
 —A you cor away s and, wl over!
 —So
 and po money adays neas."
 —"E with te own ha doesn't mine p

County Commissioners and the County Inspector, who has full authority to prosecute, and is indemnified for all costs incurred, meets the wants of the case as well as they can be met by legislation. The want of some such officer, heretofore, was the weak point in connection with the enforcement of the Dunkin by-laws, wherever tried; and that want having been fully supplied there is every encouragement to go forward.

A County by-law was adopted in Prince Edward County last summer by a majority of over 600, when submitted to a popular vote. In several other counties the movement is now on foot for presenting it to the people. In Leeds and Grenville requisitions are being circulated to be submitted to the next meeting of the County Council. The same is the case in Hastings, and also in Northumberland and Durham, and in the County of York.

We are happy to announce that the initiatory steps have been taken in this County. On Saturday evening last there was a meeting of Delegates of the Workingman's Temperance Association and of the Good Templars of Napanee, with J. T. Grange, M. P. P., in the chair. It was resolved to call a convention of delegates from the various temperance organizations of the County, and the leading temperance men, to make the necessary arrangements for circulating requisitions, to be submitted to the County Council, asking for a popular vote at an early day. The convention will be held on Thursday, March 17th, and it is probable that active operations will be at once commenced. No doubt a determined fight will be given, but the opinion is prevalent that a considerable majority of the electors of this County favor the adoption and the enforcement of such a law at the earliest day possible.

THE MINISTER OF EDUCATION.

On Saturday last the Hon. A. Crooks, was sworn in Minister of Education, and at once he entered upon the duties of his office. He will for the present, at least, perform the duties of Provincial Treasurer, and also of his now position. Dr. Ryerson has retired from the office of Chief Superintendent of Common Schools, after a long and faithful service of over thirty years, during which time he has done excellent service to the country. He has been allowed his full salary as a pension, in consideration of the important service he has rendered.

Total value cheese, butter, $5,599,501
Over and above home consumption, which has not been estimated.

TOWN COUNCIL.

NAPANEE, 21st Feb., 1876.

The Council met at 7:30 o'clock, the Mayor in the chair, all the members being present except Messrs. Gibson and James—the latter of whom is confined to his house from illness, the former being absent from the town.

As the session was expected to be a very interesting one, from the fact that they were to have the license law under consideration, the gallery and all the space outside the rail was filled with spectators, who were somewhat disappointed at the abrupt manner in which the proceedings terminated.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were presented from Messrs. Marsden & More, John Soby, Robert McDonald, Charles Paisley, James McClure, John McMullen, John Phelan and James Culhane for Tavern Licenses. And from Messrs. Coxall & Paisley, W. R. McRae & Co., John R. Pruyne, and Wm. Rankins for Shop Licenses, all of which, on motion, was deferred till a later stage of the proceedings.

From Philip Embury, clerk, asking a grant of $50 for his performances of the duties of Market Clerk for the year 1875, as a like sum had been granted in former years to that officer.

Mr. Huffman moved, seconded by Mr. Wilson that the prayer of the petition be granted. In making the motion, Mr. H. said that it had been customary in years past to pay the Market Clerk for his services as such, the Market By-law providing for the appointment of a Clerk, in which the duties of the Clerk were set forth. Mr. Embury had well and truly discharged those duties, and he thought he was justly entitled to the sum asked for. Objection being taken to the grant of the prayer, on the ground that no clerk had been appointed by the Council last year, Mr. Huffman withdrew his motion, and on motion further consideration of the petition was laid over for one week.

From Mrs. Mary Pringle, a poor woman, and in destitute circumstances, asking aid. On motion referred to the Poor and Sanitary Committee, with power to act.

From the Grocers and Provision Dealers of the town, who have no shop license, praying that no licenses be granted this year to shops, unless said shops confine themselves exclusively to the sale of liquors, as, by the new law, it was in the province of the Council to say whether it should be done or not. As Mr. Huffman had a By-law to introduce later in the evening regulating the matter, it was deferred for further consideration.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was read from Mr. E. Vine, notifying the Council

Joy, that the number of tavern licenses to be granted be filled in by inserting the word eight.

In amendment by Mr. Geddes, seconded by Mr. McNeil, the number be five.

The original motion was carried.

Mr. Spencer moved, seconded by Mr. Geddes, the blank for shop licenses be filled in by inserting the word four.—Carried.

Mr. Geddes moved, seconded by Mr. Bartlett, that the clause confining the shop keepers solely and exclusively to the sale of liquor, be stricken out.

Mr. Spencer said, in view of the large stock of liquors the shop keepers had on hand, it would not be doing them justice to shut them off on so short notice, but that if say six months could be given them he would go for separating the two branches of business, as he did not believe it was right to have liquor sold where there was groceries, but as matters now stood he could not favor the By-Law.

Mr. Huffman agreed with Mr. Spencer, it would be rather hard in the face of existing circumstances, to cut them off at once, but from the reading of the law no time could be granted for the disposal of their stock, and as he might not be a Councillor another year, he was going to see the running of the law properly while he was there.

The motion on being put was lost, the vote standing 4 for and 5 against.

Mr. Huffman moved, seconded by Mr. Wilson, that the blank be filled in by inserting $200 as the amount to be paid for each tavern or shop license granted.—Carried.

The Committee rose, and Mr. Wilson moved, seconded by Mr. Huffman, the report be received and adopted.—Carried.

Mr. Wilson moved, seconded by Mr. Miller, it be read a third time one week from to-night.

Dr. Ruttan moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Spencer, it be referred back to Committee of the Whole to have $150 inserted as the amount to be charged for shop licenses. He did not think it was doing the fair thing with the shop keepers, and characterized the actions of several members of the Council as being prejudicial and very unjust. His motion was lost, and on a call for the yeas and nays the vote stood.

YEAS—Bartlett, Geddes, McNeil, Ruttan and Spencer.

NAYS—Huffman, Joy, Miller, Williams and Wilson.

The motion was lost and so declared.

To this several of the members took objection, but the Mayor ruled, sustaining his ruling by the statutory law, that by a tie a motion was lost, it taking a majority of votes to adopt. Dr. Ruttan moved, seconded by Mr. Spencer, that the report be referred back to Committee of the Whole, for the reconsideration of separating the shop licenses.—Lost.

The motion for its third reading a week from to-night was then put and carried.

A motion was here made to adjourn, as considerable confusion existed, nearly ments for circulating requisitions, to be submitted to the County Council, asking for a popular vote at an early day. The convention will be held on Thursday, March 17th, and it is probable that active operations will be at once commenced. No doubt a determined fight will be given, but the opinion is prevalent that a considerable majority of the electors of this County favor the adoption and the enforcement of such a law at the earliest day possible.

THE MINISTER OF EDUCATION.

On Saturday last the Hon. A. Crooks, was sworn in Minister of Education, and at once he entered upon the duties of his office. He will for the present, at least, perform the duties of Provincial Treasurer, and also of his now position. Dr. Ryerson has retired from the office of Chief Superintendent of Common Schools, after a long and faithful service of over thirty years, during which time he has done excellent service to the country. He has been allowed his full salary as a pension, in consideration of the important service he has rendered.

The new arrangement of making the superintendency of our Educational department a position in the Government, subject to the direct control of Parliament, was for years advocated by Dr. Ryerson, as he was convinced that the system would be best for the interest of the schools. We also have reason to know that Dr. Ryerson was desirous of seeing Mr. Crooks appointed to the position, as he is a gentleman of fine education, of liberal views, and thoroughly Canadian in all his sympathies. Under the new arrangement, we hope and trust that our educational interests—among the most important that we have—will be well served.

OUR DIARY PRODUCTS.

The manufacture of cheese and butter has now become an important branch of industry in Canada, and it seems probable that the business will yet greatly increase. In nearly every section where our farmers have gone extensively into the dairy business they are finding it more profitable and less laborious than the old system of so much grain raising, while the fertility of their farms has been greatly improved by the recess and change of cultivation, requiring so much more seeding, and giving such increased motion, Mr. H. said that it had been customary in years past to pay the Market Clerk for his services as such, the Market By-law providing for the appointment of a Clerk, in which the duties of the Clerk were set forth. Mr. Embury had well and truly discharged those duties, and he thought he was justly entitled to the sum asked for. Objection being taken to the grant of the prayer, on the ground that no clerk had been appointed by the Council last year, Mr. Huffman withdrew his motion, and on motion further consideration of the petition was laid over for one week.

From Mrs. Mary Pringle, a poor woman, and in destitute circumstances, asking aid. On motion referred to the Poor and Sanitary Committee, with power to act.

From the Grocers and Provision Dealers of the town, who have no shop license, praying that no licenses be granted this year to shops, unless said shops confine themselves exclusively to the sale of liquors, as, by the new law, it was in the province of the Council to say whether it should be done or not. As Mr. Huffman had a By-law to introduce later in the evening regulating the matter, it was deferred for further consideration.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was read from Mr. E. Vine, notifying the Council that he had appointed Robert Dennison, Esq., an arbitrator in his behalf for the settlement of his claim for land taken from him, he refusing to accept the sum voted him by the Council at its last meeting, and asking the Council to appoint an arbitrator on their behalf. Mr. Spencer moved, seconded by Mr. Geddes, that the Council proceed to appoint an arbitrator, in compliance with Mr. Vines' request. Mr. Miller moved, seconded by Mr. Joy, that the matter be laid over till next meeting for further consideration. Carried.

From Adam Crooks, Provincial Treasurer, instructing the Council in their duties under the new law. Filed.

REPORTS.

Mr. Huffman, Chairman, presented the report of the Finance Committee, after having examined the Auditors report. The following is a synopsis of the report:

They found an item of $241 due from the year 1873 on the Market Tolls, and recommended the Treasurer be authorized to collect that sum without delay. They also found $409.67 in the hands of the collector of Taxes for 1874, and recommended legal proceedings be at once taken to collect the same from said Collector or his surties. The Board of Health had spent $167.14 during the past year. A very large sum in the consideration of the committee, in the absence of an epidemic or any great amount of sickness in the town. $888.65 had been paid for benevolent purposes and maintenance of paupers during the year, which was a very large sum, but the report be received and adopted.—Carried.

Mr. Wilson moved, seconded by Mr. Miller, it be read a third time one week from to-night.

Dr. Ruttan moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Spencer, it be referred back to Committee of the Whole to have $150 inserted as the amount to be charged for shop licenses. He did not think it was doing the fair thing with the shop keepers, and characterized the actions of several members of the Council as being prejudicial and very unjust. His motion was lost, and on a call for the yeas and nays the vote stood.

YEAS—Bartlett, Geddes, McNeil, Ruttan and Spencer.

NAYS—Huffman, Joy, Miller, Williams and Wilson.

The motion was lost and so declared.

To this several of the members took objection, but the Mayor ruled, sustaining his ruling by the statutory law, that by a tie a motion was lost, it taking a majority of votes to adopt. Dr. Ruttan moved, seconded by Mr. Spencer, that the report be referred back to Committee of the Whole, for the reconsideration of separating the shop licenses.—Lost.

The motion for its third reading a week from to-night was then put and carried.

A motion was here made to adjourn, as considerable confusion existed, nearly all the members speaking at the same time, but was not put from the chair, as the business was not yet got through with.

Messrs. Ruttan, Geddes and McNeil, retired, however, and a quorum still remaining, a number of accounts were presented and passed.

The Council then, on motion, adjourned till next Monday evening.

Catarrh is a common disease,—so common that snuffing, spitting, and blowing of the nose, meet us at every turn on the street. Your foot slips in these nasty discharges on the sidewalk and in the public conveyance; and its disagreeable odor, contaminating the breath of the afflicted, renders them offensive to their associates. There is the highest medical authority for stating that with fully one-half, if not two-thirds, of those afflicted with Consumption of the Lungs, the disease commences as Catarrh in the nose or head, the next step being to the throat and bronchial tubes—lastly to the lungs. How important then to give early and prompt attention to a Catarrh! To cure this loathsome disease correct the system by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which tones it up, cleanses the blood, and heals the diseased glands by a specific influence upon them; and to assist, use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche. This is the only way to reach the upper and back cavities where the discharge comes from. No danger from this treatment, and it is pleasant to use. The two medicines with instructions are sold by dealers in medicines rough ount 1987,- s, and ts in pickle im-$6,- which

the found as of it of n In-rose-liquor paid ser-

refer-
, who e by f the avern

and ision,
l by a ss

y Mr. nittee rinci-ames
-Lost.
7-Law resent ouses,

into econd
r. y Mr. enges erting seconer be

y Mr. es be our.—

y Mr.
the ly to f the epers doing n so onths

for iness,
it to gro-d he

Spene face them
of the
the night ar, he

KOLUM OF KOMIC'S.

- Fur-fetched—Alaska seal-skins.
- Try-ling affairs—Wrestling matches.
- Favorite jewelry of horse fanciers
- Studs.
- A barrel-organ—The "Brewers"
Journal."
- A round of pleasure—A promenade
concert.
- What class of people lie the most—Sluggards.
- Moving for a new trial—Courting
a second wife.
- Retiring early at night will surely shorten a man's day's.
- Our devil says he likes to work after hours, because it is past-time.
- Jones says he loves two lively girls—Jenny Rosity and Annie Ma-
tion.
- "Oh, mamma," said the youngest darling, yesterday, "I tried to read, and I rode."
- A hint upon dress—He that wears a tight boot is likely to have a narrow understanding.
- Fact for the retiring—Cheek wins in this world, especially if the cheek is dimpled and rosy.
- Why should you be justified in picking the pockets of a vendor of engravings? Because he has pict-ures.
- Why is a church bell more affable than a church organ? Because one will go when it is tolled, but the other will be "blowed" first.
- "Birdie" is what a young husband fondly calls his wife, because, as he says, she is always associated in his mind with a bill.
- "Shingle weddings" are now coming into fashion. This novel wedding takes place when the first-born is old enough to spank.
- What is the difference between an uncleanly servant and a chicken? Why none; for one is a fool domestic, and the other is a domestic fowl.
- A French widower says that when a Frenchman loses his wife it is at first a duty to cry over his loss, and then it becomes a habit, and finally a pleasure.
- A woman is very like a kettle, if you come to think of it. She sings away so pleasantly—then she stops—and, when you least expect it, she boils
over!
- Somebody who writes truthfully and poetically says "An angel without money is not thought so much of nowadays as a devil with a bagful of guineas."
- "Bless you," said John Henry, with tears in his eyes, "she takes her own hair off so easy that perhaps she doesn't know how it hurts to have mine pulled out."

JUST ARRIVED.

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF

NEW HATS AND CAPS, FOR THE SPRING TRADE, ALL NEW STYLES, AND CHEAP.

ALSO,

NEW BOOTS and SHOES, Arriving Daily;

A LARGE QUANTITY OF CLOTHING and GENTS
FURNISHING GOODS,

AT VERY LOW PRICES,

ALL WINTER GOODS AT COST.

BOOTS MADE TO ORDER

—AND—

REPAIRING DONE ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

ROSE & EMPEY.

CHEAPSIDE.

OUR ANNUAL COST SALE

FOR THE DISPOSAL OF

ALL KINDS OF WINTER GOODS,

COMMENCES ON

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1st

And will continue for 45 days,

We have again placed a large quantity of goods of all kinds in ing into fashion. This novel wedding takes place when the first-born is old enough to spank.

BASKETS

—What is the difference between an uncleanly servant and a chicken? Why none; for one is a fool domestic, and the other is a domestic fowl.

—A French widower says that when a Frenchman loses his wife it is at first a duty to cry over his loss, and then it becomes a habit, and finally a pleasure.

—A woman is very like a kettle, if you come to think of it. She sings away so pleasantly—then she stops—and, when you least expect it, she boils over!

—Somebody who writes truthfully and poetically says "An angel without money is not thought so much of nowadays as a devil with a bagful of guineas."

—"Bless you," said John Henry, with tears in his eyes, "she takes her own hair off so easy that perhaps she doesn't know how it hurts to have mine pulled out."

—Ode to my landlady—Two weeks' board bill.

Exchange—Yes. She under stanz a joke of that kind, and that's why you're a verse to meter, we suppose.

—Boy—Can I ride, sir?

Candidate—Got a quarter in your pocket?

Boy—No; but pap's got a vote in his'n.

Canadidate—Bounce in, sonny—bounce in.

—A purchaser of a river-side property asked the estate agent if the river didn't sometimes overflow its banks.

"Well," responded he, "it isn't one of those sickly streams that are always confined to their beds."

—"A lot of us young fellows," said an unfledged speculator, "put our money in stocks and lost it."

To which an old man replied:

"A lot of us old fellows put our money in stockings and haven't lost a shilling."

—"Pa, I guess our man Ralph is a good Christian."

"How so, my boy?"

"Why, pa, I read in the Bible that the wicked shall not live out half his days; and Ralph says he had lived out ever since he was a little boy."

—"Rose, my dear," said a mother to her daughter, "if you are so stiff and reserved you will never get a husband."

"Ma," retorted the young lady, "unless the poets tell fibs, a primrose is not without attractions."

—A little boy, aged four, whose mamma thought it right to refuse him something upon which his heart was desperately set, finding that there was no hope for him, burst into a passion to tears, and exclaimed:

"Well, then, what did they born me for?"

—A contemporary exclaims: "Wouldn't it be a good plan, when the various 'walkists' get safely through their trials of walking all sorts of times

FOR THE DISPOSAL OF

ALL KINDS OF WINTER GOODS,

COMMENCES ON

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1st

And will continue for 45 days,

We have again placed a large quantity of goods of all kinds in

BASKETS

And parties who have purchased Goods from us before

KNOW WHAT BARGAINS WE OFFER!

OUR STOCK IS WELL ASSORTED, AND WE ARE OFFERING BARGAINS IN

All Kinds of Woolens,

PLAIN AND FANCY FLANNELS,

BLANKETS,

CLOUDS,

SCARFS

AND FANCY WOOLEN GOODS,

FURS!

FURS!!

We still have a few Sets of Furs left, and will clear the balance out at an immense sacrifice.

NO FLAGS FOR STREET PARADES OUTSIDE, BUT SPLENDID BARGAINS WITHIN.

E. HOOPER & SON.

HARD TIMES.

READER,

Now, while you think of it,
subscribe for THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY ($3.00
a year, or monthly part $1.75 a year)—it will do you $40 worth of good in health, mind, and

$5 TO $20 PER DAY.—Agents wanted. All classes of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Post card to States costs but two cents address, G. STINSON & Co Portland, Main. 5-39.

LIST OF NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Bankrupt Sale.—A. & C. R. Ashley.
Money to Loan.—H. M. Wright.
Auction Sale.—Williams & Hooper.
To Cheesemen.—W. C. Asselstine.
In the Surrogate Court.—J. B. McGuin.
Music Hall.—Prof. Anderson.
To Farmers and Others.—Jones and Palmer.
Hats and Caps.—Meagher Bros.
Special Notices.—Spencer and Hogan.

Local News.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Workingman's Temperance Association, of Mill Point, on Thursday last 22 members were initiated. They are bound to scoop them all in up there.

Call and see our beautiful stock of new goods.
Spencer and Hogan.

OLDEN.—The friends of Temperance in the Township of Olden are taking steps for the passage of a Dunkin By-law in that municipality at the earliest possible day. We shall soon hear more of it.

CAMDEN.—The vote of the electors of Camden on the Dunkin By-law will take place on the 13th, 14th, and 15th, of March. The friends of the movements express themselves confident of success.

We will excel ourselves in spring clothing.
Spencer and Hogan.

ARDEN.—There will be an Oyster Supper served in the Arden Temperance House, in the village of Arden, Township of Kennebec, on Wednesday evening, March 8th. An invitation is given for all to attend and have a good social time.

KENNEBEC.—The Dunkin Bill for the township of Kennebec was voted on by the electors on Friday of last week, and it was sustained by a majority of 42, there being only 4 electors of the township recording their votes against it.

Just opening a beautiful lot of new Canadian tweeds.
Spencer and Hogan.

ANOTHER FREE RIDE.—The Trustees of the C Methodist Church, of Ham-burgh, have arranged to give a free ride on Monday evening next to all purchasing tickets at Napanee for their tea-meeting. Tickets to be obtained at the Drug store of Huffman & Son, Napanee.

A FREE RIDE.—Remember that all who purchase tickets for the Odessa M. E. Tea-meeting on Monday evening

SICK.—Charles James, Esq., Clerk of the Division Court, has been ill for some time, and confined to his house, but we are glad to learn that he is improving, and will probably soon be out again. W. V. Detlor, Esq., County Clerk, is also quite ill, but has been able, most days, to come to his office for a short time.

A CALL.—We understand the members of the Canada Presbyterian Church, of this town, have given a call to the Rev. Mr. Young, of Valleyfield Province of Quebec. The rev. gentleman a few weeks since preached a sermon to the congregation, giving such satisfaction that a unanimous call was given him. We understand him to be a very able speaker, and an earnest worker in the cause of Christ. He is a Scotchman by birth, and speaks Gaelic just as fluently as English.

DUNKIN IN ERNETTOWN.—The vote of the electors of Ernesttown on the Dunkin by-law commences to-morrow morning and will continue on Saturday and Monday as well. From all that we can learn the temperance men have it in their power to carry the by-law by a good majority if they bestir themselves. If any have not voted when this reaches them, or have friends who have not, let them not forget that the opposition will leave no stone unturned. Every man should do his duty.

MONEY TO LOAN.—As will be seen by advertisement in another column, H. M. Wright, Esq., has been appointed agent for Napanee and Counties for the North of Scotland Canadian Mortgage Company, and is authorized to loan sums to any amount on approved mortgage security. The terms of loaning are very reasonable, and the interest is not required in advance, being so arranged as to pay yearly or half yearly, so that this will be a great inducement to parties desiring loans.

Alive still. Not dead yet, at Close's Mills.
So get along with your grists. 48-2in.

PROFESSOR ANDERSON.—The Wizard of the North, with his company, gives two entertainments at the Music Hall here, on the nights of Monday and Tuesday next, 28th and 29th insts. Professor Anderson is said to be without an equal since the days of his father, whose name as "the Wizard of the North" he now bears. The company have become great favorites throughout Canada.

FROM MORVEN.

THE WEATHER.—The most unusual thing about this locality is the strange winter, but I am happy to say we are a contented people and take it as it comes, instead of finding fault with providence for it as some people do.

MASONIC.—The funeral of the late Wm Sharp, who was drowned in Hay Bay a few weeks ago, was conducted in the M. E. Church here, under the auspices of Union Lodge, No. 9, A. F. and A. M., of which deceased was a member. Worthy Brother, F. B. Stratton, preached a very eloquent and telling sermon, which those who heard will long remember. Deceased was buried with Masonic honors, at Violet, by W. Bro. B. S. Abrams. The funeral services of Master Sharp, was conducted by Rev. G. S. White immediately after Rev. Stratton's discourse in the same place.

OUR SINGING SCHOOL is in a flourishing condition, under the able management of Mr. Clancy, having nearly one hundred pupils. Who could help but learn to sing under so able a tutor as Mr. Clancy?

LECTURE POSTPONED.—Owing to the heavy snow storm on Tuesday last, Bishop Carman's lecture on "Trade and get Rich," and Rev. Mr. Stratton's Juvenile Concert has been postponed until Friday, Feb. 25th, although there were considerable many who turned out through the storm for fear of missing the rare treat. Bishop Carman made a few remarks on the subject "disappointment," which completely ventilated the subject, as only the Bishop can do, and Mr. Stratton gave an exhibition of his singing class, to give the people present an idea what might be expected on Friday, the 25th, when his singers will be all present. We promise all who may attend an entertainment which we think can scarcely be beaten in cities.

OUR PASTOR.—The eloquent and faithful Mr. Stratton is fast gaining the affection of both Jew and Gentile. His pleasing, friendly, affable manners, eloquent telling sermons, his untiring endeavors to further the cause of Christ, is winning him general favor. We earnestly pray his life may long be spared, and the Executive will honor the earnest wishes of his many friends by leaving him with us at Morven.

Among many strange things that evening, March 8th. An invitation is given for all to attend and have a good social time.

KENNEBEC.—The Dunkin Bill for the township of Kennebec was voted on by the electors on Friday of last week, and it was sustained by a majority of 42, there being only 4 electors of the township recording their votes against it.

Just opening a beautiful lot of new Canadian tweeds.

Spencer and Hogan.

ANOTHER FREE RIDE.—The Trustees of the C Methodist Church, of Ham-burgh, have arranged to give a free ride on Monday evening next to all purchasing tickets at Napanee for their tea-meeting. Tickets to be obtained at the Drug store of Huffman & Son, Napanee.

A FREE RIDE.—Remember that all who purchase tickets for the Odessa M. E. Tea-meeting on Monday evening next, of Messrs. Potter & Bro, or J. C. Bogert, of Napanee, will be entitled to a free ride of 24 miles, and a first class church tea-meeting, all for 50 cents. It is a chance that does not often occur.

Just opening 30 pieces of the finest worsted clothing ever seen in Napanee.

Spencer and Hogan.

We understand an effort is being made to start branch lodges of the Workingman's Temperance Association in Odessa, Newburgh, Napane Mills, and elsewhere in the county. The Association will be sure to take with workingmen wherever introduced, and will result in much good to the community.

W. M. T. A. ANNIVERSARY.—Don't forget the literary entertainment of the Workingman's Temperance Association, on Thursday next, 2nd March,—the first anniversary of their organization. A choice programme of entertainment has been prepared, and a rare evening's enjoyment may be expected. The admission fee has been fixed at the low price of 10 cents so that all may attend.

DUKIN IN MILL POINT.—At the regular meeting of the municipal Council Mill Point, held Monday evening last, a petition signed by 86 men and 191 women, was laid before them, praying the Council to pass a By-Law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in the municipality in accordance with the provisions of the act of 1864. The Council manimously adopted such a law which comes into effect on the first day of March. Bravo, say we.

by advertisement in another column, H. M. Wright, Esq., has been appointed agent for Napanee and Counties for the North of Scotland Canadian Mortgage Company, and is authorized to loan sums to any amount on approved mortgage security. The terms of loaning are very reasonable, and the interest is not required in advance, being so arranged as to pay yearly or half yearly, so that this will be a great inducement to parties desiring loans.

Alive still. Not dead yet, at Close's Mills. So get along with your grists. 48-2in.

PROFESSOR ANDERSON.—The Wizard of the North, with his company, gives two entertainments at the Music Hall here, on the nights of Monday and Tuesday next, 28th and 29th insts. Professor Anderson is said to be without an equal since the days of his father, whose name as "the Wizard of the North" he now bears. The company have become great favorites throughout Canada, everywhere the press speaking of their performances in the highest terms. In addition to his feats of legerdemain, a large number of presents are given away nightly.

If you are going to build, try our establishment on Mill Street as we will not be undersold. S. Huff & Son's.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.—"First Lennox" Grange P. of H. was organized at Adolphustown Village on Thursday, 10th Feby., by Mitchell Neville, Esq. The following are the officers for the present year:—Elias Clapp, Master; Archibald Davis, Overseer; Joseph B. Allison, Lecturer; Fred. Mambery, Secretary; Thomas Trumpour, Treasurer; Danied Davern, Stewart; Mrs. Nelson Mallory, Lady Asst. Steward; Nelson Mallory, Chaplain; Marshall Davis, Gate Keeper; Mrs. J. B. Allison, Ceres; Mrs. Richard Carr, Pomona; Mrs. Jacob H. Roblin, Flora.

For Sash, Mouldings, and every description of House furnishings, try S. Huff & Son's.

NEW FIRM.—The bankrupt stock of Mr. William McMullen has been sold to Messrs A. & C. R. Ashley who, we are pleased to know, intend to remain amongst us permanently. One of the members of the firm has been in business in Kingston for some time, and of his qualifications as a business man we can speak with confidence. They are clearing off the bankrupt stock at tremendous sacrifices, especially in boots and shoes and leather, in order to make room for a more extensive stock of groceries and crockery, glassware etc.

of missing the rare treat. Bishop Carman made a few remarks on the subject "disappointment," which completely ventilated the subject, as only the Bishop can do, and Mr. Stratton gave an exhibition of his singing class, to give the people present an idea what might be expected on Friday, the 25th, when his singers will be all present. We promise all who may attend an entertainment which we think can scarcely be beaten in cities.

OUR PASTOR.—The eloquent and faithful Mr. Stratton is fast gaining the affection of both Jew and Gentile. His pleasing, friendly, affable manners, eloquent telling sermons, his untiring endeavors to further the cause of Christ, is winning him general favor. We earnestly pray his life may long be spared, and the Executive will honor the earnest wishes of his many friends by leaving him with us at Morven.

Among many strange things that happen now-a-days is that in Ernest-town, if a fellow catches cold, or is unfortunate enough to stub his toe and fall, strain his arms, horses run away, or such like, he only has to apply to our sympathizing Township Council and he gets redress for all his injuries. No need of friend Russell coming down here. If anything is wrong we only have to get our brother or friend to drive us to Odessa, lay our case before our Township Fathers and tell them it was the corporation's fault some way or other and we get our wrongs righted.

BIRTH.

MANG.—At Napanee, on the 28th of January, the wife of Herman Mang, of a daughter.

DIED.

ALLEN.—At Marlbank, on the 17th of February, Matilda Burley, wife of Richard Allen. Aged 23 years.

WALSH.—At Tyendinaga, on the 21st inst, Elizabeth Walsh. Aged 33 years.

CHADWICK.—Departed this life, after a painful and protracted affliction, which she bore with Christian patience, at her family residence, Odessa, Ont., Feb. 2nd, Amanda Allen, wife of Mr. Allen Chadwick, in the 56th year of her age.

OTIS.—At his residence, Tyendinaga, on the 24th inst. William Otis, aged 65 years.

MARKET REPORT

"EXPRESS" OFFICE.

Thursday, Feb. 17th '76

Wheat—95c to $1.00.

Barley—60 to 62c No. 1, 50 to 55c No. 2.

Oats—32c to 35c.

And Ont.
N. trze
—
T
W part our selv real rept alre of t ther hay stat thar Off
M aut
Tre deli exp to g stoc
—
A VA
U tain bear
A. I ler f
by t Mac
date
and said Tho
date 1874
TI
A near
Th
Att
J
T tha par lyin in t ann
and eigh
Por
T froi upo dwe
T kno
F

Workingman's Temperance Association in Odessa, Newburgh, Napane Mills, and elsewhere in the county. The Association will be sure to take with workingmen wherever introduced, and will result in much good to the community.

W. M. T. A. ANNIVERSARY.—Don't forget the literary entertainment of the Workingman's Temperance Association, on Thursday next, 2nd March,—the first anniversary of their organization. A choice programme of entertainment has been prepared, and a rare evening's enjoyment may be expected. The admission fee has been fixed at the low price of 10 cents so that all may attend.

DUKIN IN MILL POINT.—At the regular meeting of the municipal Council Mill Point, held Monday evening last, a petition signed by 86 men and 191 women, was laid before them, praying the Council to pass a By-Law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in the municipality in accordance with the provisions of the act of 1864. The Council manimously adopted such a law which comes into effect on the first day of March. Bravo, say we.

INFZ FERNANDEZ.—The performance of this colored prima donna at the Music Hall on Saturday evening last was not a success, either in point of numbers or the entertainment furnished. In justice to the lady, however, it is nothing but fair to say, had a piano instead of an organ been used on the occasion, she could have displayed her abilities to better advantage. We believe her to be an accomplished musician, but under the circumstances cannot say anything of the excellence of the entertainment.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.—Almost any day in the week small boys may be seen riding on the side-walks on sleighs, with a dog hitched to the sleigh, sometimes galloping along at a furious speed, much to the danger and annoyance of pedestrians. One day this week we observed a couple of boys on a sleigh drawn by a large dog, going at a dexterous speed up the front street, and when nearly in front of Mr. Jamieson's store a young lady was knocked down, getting a very severe fall, which certainly must have hurt her very considerably. If we are not mistaken, there is a By-law in force in the town prohibiting this sort of thing, and we think it high time it was carried out.

Thursday, 10th Feby., by Mitchell Neville, Esq. The following are the officers for the present year:—Elias Clapp, Master; Archibald Davis, Overseer; Joseph B. Allison, Lecturer; Fred. Membury, Secretary; Thomas Trumpour, Treasurer; Danied Davern, Stewart; Mrs. Nelson Mallory, Lady Asst. Steward; Nelson Mallory, Chaplain; Marshall Davis, Gate Keeper; Mrs. J. B. Allison, Ceres; Mrs. Richard Carr, Pomona; Mrs. Jacob H. Roblin, Flora.

For Sash, Mouldings, and every description of House furnishings, try S. Huff & Son's.

NEW FIRM.—The bankrupt stock of Mr. William McMullen has been sold to Messrs A. & C. R. Ashley who, we are pleased to know, intend to remain amongst us permanently. One of the members of the firm has been in business in Kingston for some time, and of his qualifications as a business man we can speak with confidence. They are clearing off the bankrupt stock at tremendous sacrifices, especially in boots and shoes and leather, in order to make room for a more extensive stock of groceries and crockery, glassware etc. We heartily recommend them to the public and bespeak for them a share of public patronage.

When you want Doors, Blinds or Window Frames, try S. Huff & Son's, Mill Street.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Mr Wm. Bell, the very popular temperance lecturer, from England, whose visit to Napanee a few weeks ago was received with so much satisfaction, is now lecturing under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, and will soon visit this County on his way westward. The following appointments have been announced for him, and we hope that large numbers may avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him. It is seldom that so popular a speaker visits us: Collin's Bay, Wed. March 1st; Bath Thursday, 2nd; South Fredericksburgh, Town Hall, Fri. 3rd; Napanee, Sunday afternoon 4th; Newburgh, Saturday evening 5th; Napanee Mills, Monday 6th; Morven Tuesday, 7th; Wilton, Wednesday 8th; Mill Point, Thursday, 9th;

A girl inquired of the Mayor of Meriden, Conn., the other day, if he could not forbid her mother to marry again. she thought the police ought to be made to interfere.

fore our Township Fathers and tell them it was the corporation's fault some way or other and we get our wrongs righted.

BIRTH.

MANG.—At Napanee, on the 28th of January, the wife of Herman Mang, of a daughter.

DIED.

ALLEN.—At Marlbank, on the 17th of February, Matilda Burley, wife of Richard Allen. Aged 23 years.

WALSH.—At Tyendinaga, on the 21st inst, Elizabeth Walsh. Aged 88 years.

CHADWICK.—Departed this life, after a painful and protracted affliction, which she bore with Christain patience, at her family residence, Odessa, Ont., Feb. 2nd, Amanda Allen, wife of Mr. Allen Chadwick, in the 56th year of her age.

OTIS.—At his residence, Tyendinaga, on the 24th inst. William Otis, aged 65 years.

MARKET REPORT.

"EXPRESS" OFFICE.

Thursday, Feb. 17th '76

Wheat—95c to $1.00.

Barley—60 to 62c No. 1, 50 to 55c No. 2.

Oats—32c to 35c.

Rye—55c

Peas—67c.

Buckwheat.—50c.

Eggs—17c to 18c. per dozen.

Butter—18c to 20c per lb.

Cheese—10c to 11c.

Onions—$1.00 per bushel.

Potatoes—50 to 70c per bag.

Dressed Hogs—$6.50 to $7.50.

Mutton—6c to 7c per pound.

Beef, $4 to $6 per 100.

Geese—50c to 60c each, or 6c per lb

Turkeys—50c to $1.00.

Chickens—25c to 30c per pair.

Hides.—$5.50 to 6.00.

Cordwood.—$3 for best.

Hay—$9 to 10 per ton.

EPP'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING. —"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in Packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homeopathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle Street, and 160, Piccadilly London." 43

Wanted to Rent.

A house in a convenient locality in the town, for a small family, at a moderate rent. Address, A. B. C., EXPRESS office.

READ THIS TWICE.—Five or six drops of THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, will cure common Sore Throat. It never fails in Croup. It will cure a Cold or Cough in twenty-four to forty-eight hours. One bottle has cured Bronchitis of eight years standing; recent cases are cured in three or six days. It has restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper in five years. As an outward application in all cases of pain or lameness, nothing like it has ever been known. One bottle will cure any case of Lamé Back or Creek in the Back. For diseases of the Spine and Contraction of the Muscles it is unequalled. In Rheumatic or any other pain the first application does you good. It stops Ear Ache and the pain of a Burn in three minutes, and is altogether the best and cheapest medicine ever offered to the people—the cheapest, because it takes so little to do you good. It is composed of six of the best oils known, and nothing but oils. Is worth its weight in gold. Why not buy it today?—A. B. Des ROCHERS, assistant postmaster, Arthabaskaville, P. Q., writes:—"Thirteen years ago I was seized by a severe attack of rheumatism in the head, from which I have nearly constantly suffered. After having used 'Thomas Electric Oil' for nine days, bathing the forehead. I have been completely cured, and have only used half a bottle. This I can certify under oath if you wish."—Rev. J. MALLORY, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes "Dr. Thomas Electric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in ONE WEEK. Dealers all over the country say, 'We have never sold a medicine that has given such complete satisfaction as this.'"

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.

S. N. THOMAS, PHELEPS, N. Y. And NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion.

NOTE—Electric—Selected and Flec-trized.

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS.

We caution the public against certain parties who are in the habit of using our catalogues and representing themselves as our agents, but who in reality have no dealings with us. The reputation of our establishment has already been injured in several parts of the country by such agents; we therefore give notice that all our agents have certificates bearing our signature, stating such fact, and of no later date than six months.

JONES & PALMER,
Nurserymen,

OFFICE OF LAKE VIEW AND MACEDON NURSERIES,

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 20th 1875.

Mr. C. F. Flamm, of Mill Point, is authorized to sell Fruit and Ornamental Trees from our nursery until close of delivery of spring 1876. Our long experience in the business enables us to guarantee an unusual good quality of

BANKRUPT SALE!

SLAUGHTER OF GOODS!

The Subscribers having bought the stock of Wm. McMullen, opposite Campbell House, Napanee, on the most advantageous terms, now offer

GREAT BARGAINS

BOOTS AND SHOES, LEATHER, &c.

IN ADDITION TO THE ABOVE, A NEW AND WELL SELECTED STOCK OF GROCERIES
Has been purchased, making this Department complete, affording the best opportunities ever offered in Town.

A. & C. R. ASHLEY.

MEAGHER BROS.

ARE SHOWING THIS WEEK,

THE CONTENTS OF FIVE CASES

OF

GENTS' AND BOYS' FELT AND SILK

HATS &

CAPS,

COMPRISING ALL THE

LATEST STYLES, BOTH ENGLISH AND AMERICAN.

50 DIFFERENT STYLES,

AND OVER 1,000 TO CHOOSE FROM.

FROM 75 CTS. TO $5.00.

MEAGHER BROS.

MUSIC HALL, NAPANEE.

A. ANDERSON, MANAGERESS.

MONDAY & TUESDAY EVENINGS,

February 1st and 2nd.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

PROF. JOHN HENRY ANDERSON,

WIZARD OF THE NORTH,

Assisted by the Asiatic Wonder LEONA ANDERSON, the young and gifted Pianist, VIRGINIA RICHMOND and others.

OCEAN TICKETS.

Cabin rates for passengers from Napanee to Liverpool, Londerry and Glasgow $89, $79, $59, Children under one, free; one to twelve half fare—return tickets $50.00—charges to London $3.18. Extra railway fare. Glasgow line steerage rates same as to Liverpool. Prepaid passage certificates, Liverpool, Derry or Glasgow to Napanee $29.50. The Allan Line make the shortest passages, and offer inducements to all classes of Passengers which cannot be excelled by any other line. Baggage can be checked from any G. T. R. Station to Quebec wharf. There is no custom examination (as is the case via New York), and Passengers have no incidental expenses whatever, once on their way to join the Allan Steamer. The last con-

LATEST STYLES, BOTH ENGLISH AND AMERICAN.

50 DIFFERENT STYLES,

AND OVER 1,000 TO CHOOSE FROM.

FROM 75 CTS. TO $5.00.

MEAGHER BROS.

MUSIC HALL, NAPANEE.

A. ANDERSON, MANAGERESS.

MONDAY & TUESDAY EVENINGS,

February 1st and 2nd.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

PROF. JOHN HENRY ANDERSON,

WIZARD OF THE NORTH,

Assisted by the Asiatic Wonder LEONA ANDERSON, the young and gifted Pianist, VIRGINIA RICHMOND, and others.

100 New and Useful
PRESENTS 100
To be given to the audience each evening.

Admission, 25cts. Reserved Seats 50.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

Napanee, Feb. 24th, 1876.

50-lin.

UNDERTAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to notify his friends and the public generally that he has removed to his farm, at Moscow, and has complete arrangements for keeping on hand, at all times ready made coffins of every size and style. Shrouds always on hand and every other funeral requisite.

A first class hearse always ready free of charge, and prompt attention to all orders.

tf. MILES STORMS.

MONEY TO LOAN.

INTEREST AT 8 PER CENT.

Payable yearly or half-yearly,

NOT IN ADVANCE.

Having accepted the Agency of the

NORTH OF SCOTLAND

CANADIAN MORTGAGE CO.

CAPITAL $1,500,000,

I am prepared to negotiate Loans on more favourable terms than any other party in this

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS.

We caution the public against certain parties who are in the habit of using our catalogues and representing themselves as our agents, but who in reality have no dealings with us. The reputation of our establishment has already been injured in several parts of the country by such agents; we therefore give notice that all our agents have certificates bearing our signature, stating such fact, and of no later date than six months.

JONES & PALMER,
Nurserymen,

OFFICE OF LAKE VIEW AND MACEDON
NURSERIES,

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 20th 1875.

Mr. C. F. Flamm, of Mill Point, is authorized to sell Fruit and Ornamental Trees from our nursery until close of delivery of spring 1876. Our long experience in the business enables us to guarantee an unusual good quality of stock for the prices quoted.

JONES & PALMER.

50-tf

AUCTION SALE.

VALUABLE FARM PROPERTY.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the Thirteenth day of September, A. D. 1869, and made by George Lott, to Schuyler Shibley, and an assignment thereof made by the said Schuyler Shibley, to James Grant Macdonald, and Richard Thomas Walkem, dated the eighth day of December, A. D. 1869, and a further assignment thereof made by the said James Grant Macdonald, and Richard Thomas Walkem, to John David Ham, bearing date the Twenty-eighth day of November, A. D. 1874.

There will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

At the Dwelling House on the Premises, near the village of Petworth, on

SATURDAY,

The Twenty-fifth Day of March, A. D. 1876.

At the hour of 2 o'clock p.m., by :

JAMES ALLEN, AUCTIONEER.

The following very valuable Farm Property, that is to say, all and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate lying and being in the Township of Portland, in the County of Frontenac, composed of Lot number eighteen, in the seventh concession, and the east half of Lot number eighteen in the eighth concession of the said Township of Portland.

The above property is situated about a mile from the flourishing village of Petworth, and upon the same there is erected a comfortable dwelling house and a large frame barn.

Terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale.

For further particulars apply to.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,

VENDOR'S SOLICITORS.

Napanee.

Napanee, Feb. 23rd, 1876.

50-lin.

TO CHEESEMEN.

OCEAN TICKETS.

Cabin rates for passengers from Napanee to Liverpool, Londerry and Glasgow $89, $79, $59, Children under one, free; one to twelve half fare—return tickets $50.00—charges to London $3.13. Extra railway fare, Glasgow line steership, rates same as to Liverpool. Prepaid passage certificates, Liverpool, Derry or Glasgow to Napanee $29.50. The Allan Line make the shortest passages, and offer inducements to all classes of Passengers which cannot be excelled by any other Line. Baggage can be checked from any G. T. R. Station to Quebec wharf. There is no custom examination (as is the case via New York), and Passengers have no incidental expenses whatever, once on their way to join the Allan Steamer. The last connecting train carrying the Canadian mails, leaves Toronto at 6:37 on every Friday.

Tickets can be purchased to and from Liverpool, Londonderry or Glasgow, at a great reduction and sent by mail to bring friends to Canada, also return tickets.

A. H. ALLISON, Agent, Napanee,
Montreal Telegraph Office.

NEW FLOUR STORE.

SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY
WANTS.

PASTRY FLOUR,

CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM
FLOUR,

MADE FROM THE PUREST

WHITE FALL WHEAT.

SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,

OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.

OAT MEAL,

CORN MEAL,

POT BARLEY,

TEA,

TOBACCO,

SALT,

FISH,

AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KIND

ALSO

FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,

OF ALL KINDS.

Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,

AT THE

NAPANEE FLOUR STORE,

ON DUNDAS ST., OPPOSITE GRANGE BROS.

THOS. SYMINGTON.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

MORTGAGE

SALE.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the Thirteenth day of September, A. D. 1869, and made by George Lott, to Schuyler Shibley, and an assignment thereof made by the said Schuyler Shibley, to James Grant Macdonald, and Richard Thomas Walkem, dated the eighth day of December, A. D. 1869, and a further assignment thereof made by the said James Grant Macdonald, and Richard Thomas Walkem, to John David Ham, bearing date the Twenty-eighth day of November, A. D. 1874.

There will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

At the Dwelling House on the Premises, near the village of Petworth, on

SATURDAY,

The Twenty-fifth Day of March, A. D. 1876.

At the hour of 2 o'clock p.m., by :

JAMES ALLEN, AUCTIONEER.

The following very valuable Farm Property, that is to say, all and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate lying and being in the Township of Portland, in the County of Frontenac, composed of Lot number eighteen, in the seventh concession, and the east half of Lot number eighteen in the eighth concession of the said Township of Portland.

The above property is situated about a mile from the flourishing village of Petworth, and upon the same there is erected a comfortable dwelling house and a large frame barn.

Terms and conditions of sale will be made known at the time of sale.

For further particulars apply to.

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,

VENDOR'S SOLICITORS.

Napanee.

Napanee, Feb. 23rd, 1876.

50-4in.

TO CHEESEMEN.

The Cheese Factory known as Baldwin's, in the York neighborhood, Township of Camden, is offered to rent. It is in one of the best localities in the county, and has a very fair patronage. For further particulars enquire on the premises of NICHOLAS WOOD, or address

W. C. ASSELSTINE,

Roblin P. O.

Napanee, Feb. 24th, 1876.

50-3in.

IN THE SURROGATE COURT

OF THE

County of Lennox & Addington.

IN THE GOODS OF DAVID ALLAN, DECEASED.

To the next of kin (if any) and all other persons bearing or pretending to have any interest in the estate or effects of David Allan, late of the Township of South Fredericksburg, in the County of Lennox and Addington, Postmaster, deceased.

Take notice that a citation was issued under seal of this Court, dated the Sixteenth day of February, A. D. 1876, whereby you and each of you are cited on or before the Seventeenth day of March A. D. 1876, to appear in the office of the Registrar of this Court at Napanee, Ontario, and accept or refuse Letters of Administration to the personal estate and effects of said David Allan, or shew cause why the same should not be granted to John Wilson, the Nephew of the wife of the said deceased, and executor of her last will and Testament, to whom in default of your appearance, such Letters of Administration will be granted.

CAMPBELL & MACDONALD,
Solicitors,
Kingston.

J. B. McGUIN,
Registrar Surrogate Court.

50-3in.

UNDERTAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to notify his friends and the public generally that he has removed to his farm, at Moscow, and has complete arrangements for keeping on hand, at all times ready made coffins of every size and style. Shrouds always on hand and every other funeral requisite.

A first class hearse always ready free of charge, and prompt attention to all orders.

tf.

MILES STORMS.

MONEY TO LOAN.

INTEREST AT 8 PER CENT.

Payable yearly or half-yearly,

NOT IN ADVANCE.

Having accepted the Agency of the

NORTH OF SCOTLAND

CANADIAN MORTGAGE CO.

CAPITAL $1,500,000,

I am prepared to negotiate Loans on more favourable terms than any other party in this locality.

Full information can be had of Messrs. Boyle & Wright, or H. L. Geddes, Esq., at his office, or my office Boyle & Wrights.

H. M. WRIGHT, Agent.

Napanee, Feb. 23rd, 1876.

50-tf

FOR SALE IN THE TOWN OF NAPANEE

A Brick Store and dwelling adjoining Blewett's Bakery, together with the open space at the side of the building. The Lot has 40 feet frontage on the Market Square, running back to Bridge Street with the same frontage. There is on the premises, both hard and soft water in abundance, and a good Frame Barn suitable for stabling or for storage. The property is in the most desirable place that can be offered in the Town of Napanee for a speculator in farm produce, butter, eggs, poultry, etc., and may be used to good advantage for a grocery store.

Terms made easy for the purchaser. For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

JAMES BLAKELY.

Napanee, Thur. 10th, 1875.

SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY WANTS.

PASTRY FLOUR,
CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM FLOUR,

MADE FROM THE PUREST

WHITE FALL WHEAT.

SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,

OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.

OAT MEAL,

CORN MEAL,

POT BAPLEY,

TEA,

TOBACCO,

SALT,

FISH,

AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KIND

ALSO

FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,

OF ALL KINDS.

Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,

AT THE

NAPANEE FLOUR STORE,

ON DUNDAS ST., OPPOSITE GRANGE BOS.

THOS. SYMINGTON.

PRODUCE & COMMISSION MERCHANT.

MORTGAGE

SALE.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale in a Mortgage dated the Second day of January, A. D. 1874, made by Belyat Conger, (and Priscilla Conger, his wife, for barring dower), to Conway Edward Cartwright, which said Mortgage will be produced at the time of sale, default having been made in payment of the moneys thereby secured, there will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

ON

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26th '76.

AT THE

TOWN HALL, IN NAPANEE,

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, by

JAMES ALLEN, AUCTIONEER,

all and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate lying and being in the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox & Addington, and Province of Ontario, described as follows: Commencing at a point on the West side of John Street, one hundred and fifty feet north of the north-west corner of John and Isabella Streets, then west and parallel to Isabella Street two chains, then north and parallel to John Street forty-eight feet, then east and parallel to Isabella Street two chains to the west side of John Street, then south along the west side of John Street forty-eight feet to the place of beginning, all being said Town of Napanee.

Upon the said premises is an entirely new Two-story Brick Dwelling House.

The said land and premises will be sold subject to a Mortgage on the same, made by the said Belyat Conger to the Western Canada Permanent Building and Savings Society.

Terms and Conditions made known at the sale. For further particulars enquire of H. L. GEDDES, or

REEVE & MORDEN,

VENDOR'S SOLICITORS.

Napanee, Feb. 12th, 1876.

49-2in

Young People.

THE LITTLE BIRD'S SONG.

A little bird with feathers brown
Sat singing on a tree ;
The song was very soft and low,
But sweet as it could be.

And all the people passing by Looked up to see the bird
That made the sweetest melody
That ever they had heard.

But all the bright eyes looked in vain,
For birdie was so small,
And with a modest dark brown coat,
He made no show at all.

"Why, father," little Gracie said,
"Where can that birdie be ?
If I could sing a song like that,
I'd sit where folks could see."

"I hope my little girl will learn
A lesson from the bird,
And try to do what good she can,
Not to be seen or heard.

"Thus birdie is content to sit,
Unnoticed on the way,
And sweetly sing his makers praise
From dawn to close of day.

"So live, my child, all through your life,
That, be it short or long,
Though others may forget your looks,
They'll not forget your song."

LIFE.

Sweet is childhood—childhood's over.
Kiss and part,
Sweet is youth ; but youth's a rover—
So's my heart.
Sweet is rest ; but by all showing Toil is nigh.
We must go. Alas ! the going ;
Say 'Good bye.'

THE LONGEST WORD.

Rod," said Tom, "which is the most dangerous word to pronounce in the English language ?"

"Don't know," said Rod, "unless it's a swearing word."

"Pooh !" said Tom, "it is stumbled, because you are sure to get a tumble between the first and last letter."

"Valetudinarianism," said Tom, promptly.

"No, sir ; it's smiles, because there's a whole mile between the first and last letter."

"Ho ! ho" cried Tom, "that's nothing, I know a word that has over three miles between its beginning and ending."

"What's that ?" asked Rod, faintly.

"Beleaguered," said Tom.

A DOG MAIL-CARRIER.

Who carries the mail from Os-tra-gounosh, away up on the Minnesota line, to the nearest frontier settlement in Dakota ? Why, Boss, a mongrel kind of dog, an apparent ultimate result of the mingling of every kind of dog found in the Territory. Boss, master a year ago was a drunken half-breed, who was paid $3 a trip in the summer, and $5 in winter for taking the mails a distance of some 60 miles. Boss' master was honest, and never purloined a letter, but he had a way of drinking on the road, and the mails were often belayed. Last January the mail-carrier never reached his destination, but was found frozen stiff in a snow-bank three miles beyond Jobley's Run. Boss was keeping guard over his master and the mail. Now Boss runs the machine in bad weather. All that has to be done is to take Boss and secure the letters around his neck in an oil-skin wrap, and away goes Boss to the end of the mail route on the biggest kind of a lope. There is no use of starving Boss, like people do pigeons, to get him to work, though he does expect a feed at the conclusion of his journey. No one as yet is intriguing for Boss' place. Sixty-two miles as the crow flies, carrying the mail through the snow, is not a position most office-seekers care for.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

THE CANARY.

In the town of Cleves a birdcatcher showed for some time a canary-bird, of which the tricks were universally known and admired in the surrounding neighborhood. The birdcatcher took the bird out of the cage, set it on his finger, and addressed it thus : "You appear here, dear Bijou, before very high and respectable people ; mind, therefore, that you do not disappoint the expectations they have formed of you." The bird seemed to listen the whole time, and remained in an attitude as if it heard the speech attentively, bending its ear towards the man's mouth ; when he ceased to speak, it twice distinctly nodded its head, and if ever a nod was knowing and full of promise, it was the canary's nod.

"Good," said the birdcatcher, raising his hat to the bird ; "let us see that you are a canary of distinction ; give

JUST A R

A LARGE ASSORTMENT

NEW HATS AND CAPS, FOR T ALL NEW STYLES,

ALSO,

NEW BOOTS and SHOES

A LARGE QUANTITY OF CL FURNISHING G

AT VERY LOW P

ALL WINTER GOOD

BOOTS MADE TO

—AND—

REPAIRING DONE ON SE

STOVES. STOVES.

OUR STOCK

STOVES IS NOW

IN EVERY DEPR

AND INTENDING PURCHASERS SH

STOCK AND GET

Rod," said Tom, "which is the most dangerous word to pronounce in the English language?"

"Don't know," said Rod, "unless it's a swearing word."

"Poon!" said Tom, "it is stumbled, because you are sure to get a tumble between the first and last letter."

"Valetudinarianism," said Tom, promptly.

"No, sir; it's smiles, because there's a whole mile between the first and last letter."

"Ho! ho!" cried Tom, "that's nothing, I know a word that has over three miles between its beginning and ending."

"What's that?" asked Rod, faintly.

"Beleaguered," said Tom.

THE CANARY AND THE MOUSE.

At different times I saw a mouse running around my room. Always my canary would seem delighted, and would fly after him. I soon was sure that he had visited "Parson's" cage every night; for the seed in the morning would be almost gone. But I did not know how very intimate the bird and mouse were. One evening I returned home late. As I lighted my lamp I heard a noise in the cage. I was very quiet, so as to see what was going on. The mouse was there! "Parson" was fast asleep on his perch, with his little head tucked under his wing, and one leg drawn up under his feathers. The mouse ate and drank all he wanted, not seeming to care at all for me. Then he ran up the side of the cage, and along the perch where "Parson" was sleeping, and with his nose poked the bird in the side, and then looked at him out of his two shining little eyes. It was just as much as to say, "Wake up, little sleepy, and we will play." "Parson" did not seem a bit afraid. He took his head out from under his wing, looked at Mr. Mouse, and then tucked it away again. He seemed to say, "I am too sleepy to play. Go to bed!" Then the mouse jumped to the bottom of the cage, nestled into a corner and went to sleep. I was surprised very much at all of this, and very much amused. Had I seen it all it would have been almost too much to believe. But the little readers of "The Nursery" may rest assured it is all true.—Nursery.

THE CHILDREN IN WEST AFRICA.

In West Africa, a society in England has a school for poor native children. One day, in that school, a little girl bird out of the cage, set it on his finger, and addressed it thus: "You appear here, dear Bijou, before very high and respectable people; mind, therefore, that you do not disappoint the expectations they have formed of you." The bird seemed to listen the whole time; and remained in an attitude as if it heard the speech attentively, bending its ear towards the man's mouth; when he ceased to speak, it twice distinctly nodded its head, and if ever a nod was knowing and full of promise, it was the canary's nod.

"Good," said the birdcatcher, raising his hat to the bird; "let us see that you are a canary of distinction; give us a song at once." The bird sang. "Oh fie, that is too harsh; that sound like the croaking of a hoarse raven; give us something sentimental." The bird then whistled as if its tiny throat had become a lute. "Quicker!" said the man, "slower! All right! but what are you about with your feet and head? No wonder, Mr. Bijou. Bravo, little man!" All that was ordered, and of which he was reminded, the canary performed admirably at once. Its head and feet beat time and expressed not only the movement but the spirit of the melody. The tune itself seemed an echo of the soul, while true to the strictest musical laws. "Bravo! bravo!" resounded from all sides of the room. "And you show no gratitude for this praise?" cried the birdcatcher indignantly, whereupon the bird testified its thanks most respectfully.

"You have done a difficult piece of work, poor Bijou," said the birdcatcher when it had finished; "now do two or three more things, and then you shall rest; show the ladies how to make a courtesy."

The bird placed one foot behind the other, sank and rose again with perfect ease and grace. "That is right, my boy, and now for a bow." It made one directly, inclining its head, and scraping with its feet.

The canary's next trick was to play with a blade of straw, which it shaped like a soldier's gun.

"You have done all I told you well," said the birdcatcher; "now go to sleep while I take your place." The canary then pretended to fall asleep, first shutting one eye, then the other, then nodding and sinking so much to one side that many hands were outstretched to save it from falling, whereupon it sat up again directly and sank down as far on the other side. At last it remained so long in one position that the man

STOVES IS NOW

IN EVERY DEPT

AND INTENDING PURCHASERS S

STOCK AND GE

PRICES BEFORE

Napanea, Oct. 13th,

R. DOWNEY

ARE SHOWING

FALL IPOR

Embracing the greatest poss

Newest and most A

And containing some of the Best Lines

WE HAVE THE BEPUTATIO

MOST ATTRACT

And our Imports of the Present Season give much care and taste in

EVERY DEPA

Will Exhibit a Completeness Beyond Any Former Seas

DRESS GOODS,
WINCEYS, LUSTRES,
SHAWLS,
JACKETS,

ing would be almost gone. But I did not know how very intimate the bird and mouse were. One evening I returned home late. As I lighted my lamp I heard a noise in the cage. I was very quiet, so as to see what was going on. The mouse was there! "Parson" was fast asleep on his perch, with his little head tucked under his wing, and one leg drawn up under his feathers. The mouse ate and drank all he wanted, not seeming to care at all for me. Then he ran up the side of the cage, and along the perch where "Parson" was sleeping, and with his nose poked the bird in the side, and then looked at him out of his two shining little eyes. It was just as much as to say, "Wake up, little sleepy, and we will play." "Parson" did not seem a bit afraid. He took his head out from under his wing, looked at Mr. Mouse, and then tucked it away again. He seemed to say, "I am too sleepy to play. Go to bed!" Then the mouse jumped to the bottom of the cage, nestled into a corner and went to sleep. I was surprised very much at all of this, and very much amused. Had I seen it all it would have been almost too much to believe. But the little readers of "The Nursery" may rest assured it is all true.—Nursery.

THE CHILDREN IN WEST AFRICA.

In West Africa, a society in England has a school for poor native children. One day, in that school, a little girl struck her schoolmate. The teacher found it out, and asked the child who was struck—

"Did you not strike her back again?"

"No ma'am," said the child.

"What did you do?" asked the teacher.

"I left her to God," said she.

A beautiful and most efficient way to settle all difficulties, and prevent all fights, among children and among men. We shall never be struck by others when they know that we shall not return the blow, but "leave them to God." Then, whatever our enemies do, or threaten to do, to us, let us leave them to Him, praying that He would forgive them, and make them our friends.

Accidents are becoming so frequent and common on the English railways that no prudent American should trust them at all.

All that was ordered, and of which he was reminded, the canary performed admirably at once. Its head and feet beat time and expressed not only the movement but the spirit of the melody. The tune itself seemed an echo of the soul, while true to the strictest musical laws. "Bravo! bravo!" resounded from all sides of the room. "And you show no gratitude for this praise?" cried the birdcatcher indignantly, whereupon the bird testified its thanks most respectfully.

"You have done a difficult piece of work, poor Bijou," said the birdcatcher when it had finished; "now do two or three more things, and then you shall rest; show the ladies how to make a courtesy."

The bird placed one foot behind the other, sank and rose again with perfect ease and grace. "That is right, my boy, and now for a bow." It made one directly, inclining its head, and scraping with its feet.

The canary's next trick was to play with a blade of straw, which it shaped like a soldier's gun.

"You have done all I told you well," said the birdcatcher; "now go to sleep while I take your place." The canary then pretended to fall asleep, first shutting one eye, then the other, then nodding and sinking so much to one side that many hands were outstretched to save it from falling, whereupon it sat up again directly and sank down as far on the other side. At last it remained so long in one position that the man took his hand away and laid it on the table, assured that it would sleep there quietly. Scarcely had he begun to display some tricks of his own than a great black cat sprang upon the table; seized the bird with her teeth, and spite of all resistance dashed with it through the window.

The birdcatcher was inconsolable for his loss, as he had gained his living many years through the poor little creature.

The Stratford Times mentions for the information of Mr. Mowat that in the past few weeks over fifty emigrants have been lodged in the Stratford lock-up to keep them from freezing to death, and something less than a half ton of bread and cheese has been devoured by them to keep them from starving. No emigrant has a right to come to Canada who can't sleep out at nights and live on love.

Napanee, Oct. 13th,

R. DOWNEY

ARE SHOWING

FALL IMPORTS

Embracing the greatest pos

Newest and most A

And containing some of the Best Lines

WE HAVE THE BEPUTATIO

MOST ATTRACT

And our Imports of the Present Season give much care and taste in

EVERY DEPA

Will Exhibit a Completeness Beyond Any Former Sea

DRESS GOODS,
WINCEYS, LUSTRES,
SHAWLS, JACKETS,
SEAL

MATTINGS, FLOWERS, FEATHERS, RIBBONS,
SILKS,
FAN

TWEEDS AND CLOTHS OF
AND IN F

Full Lines in Ever

We would simply say in ref

SEE IT, AND FURTHER

R. DOWNE

N E E X P R E S S

A R R I V E D.

ASSORTMENT OF
S, FOR THE SPRING TRADE.
YLES, AND CHEAP.

ALSO,
SHOES, Arriving Daily:

OF CLOTHING and GENTS'
SHING GOODS,

Y LOW PRICES,

GOODS AT COST.

DE TO ORDER

—AND—

E ON SHORTEST NOTICE.

ROSE & EMPEY.

LOVE. STOVES

—:O:—

STOCK OF

N O W C O M P L E T E

Y DEPRNT,

HASERS SHOULD EXAMINE OUR

AND GET OUR

THE PRINCE EDWARD

COUNTY

Mutual Fire Insurance Co'y

HEAD OFFICE—PICTON, ONT.
(Established 30th Sept., 1854).

PRESIDENT—LEWIS B. STINSON
VICE-PRESIDENT—J. VANALSTINE,
MANAGER—L. B. STINSON.
SECRETARY—JOHN TWIGG.
TREASURER—PHILIP LOW, Q. C.
INS. OF LOSSES & A's.—J. HOWELL.
SOLICITOR—W. H. R. ALLISON

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—JAS. JOHN-
STON, WILLIAM DELONG, H. A.
McFAUL, S. B. HUBES, WELLING-
TON BOULTER

HONORARY DIRECTORS.—G. Striker
Esq., M.P.P., Picton; Robert Clapp-
Esq., Milford; Ketchum Graham, Esq.,
M.P.P., Belleville; Parker Allan, Chas.
A. Lloyd, Jno. P. Dorland, Esqs, Adol-
phustown; J. C. Huffman, Esq., John
T. Grange, Esq., M.P.P., Napanee;
John E. Proctor, Esq., Brighton;
George W. Webb, Esq., Colborne; Thos
Clarke, Esq., Grafton; James Redner
Esq., Rednerville; Owen Roblin Esq., Ameliasburgh.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

THE GRAND principle that operates in these wonderful medicine e
the power they possess in purifying sthi turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Buras, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Lumbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism,
Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Skin
Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs,
Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats;
Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints,
Tetter, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds
of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTOR-
ANT for the absolute cure of Coughs,
Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains
in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on
each.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; grea
aving in buyin g large sizes.

Metropolitan Medicine Co., Props.

9, College Place, New York.

J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,

WHOLESALE AGENTS. NEW YORK

WORK DONE CHEAP!

AT

S. HUFF & SONS,

Manufacturers of Sash, Doors, Blinds
Window Frames, &c., &c.,

OYSTERS!

OYSTERS!!

We are selling the celebrated

ANCHOR BRAND OYSTERS

RETAIL, 30 CENTS PER CAN.

EQUAL TO ANY OTHER BRAND IN THE

MARKET.

We are now in a position to "do" job lots,

CHEPER THAN ANY OTHER

HOUSE IN TOWN.

CALL AND SEE THEM.

SMITH & ANDERSON.

BOARDERS

A few respectable boarders can be comfortably entertained at reasonable rates, in West Napanee.

Apply to
MRS. BENNETT,

NAPANEE LIME WORKS

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to inform the public that they are now prepared to furnish Lime to all orders entrusted to their care.
Lime kept in Limehouse at Perry's Plaster Mill
and at Limehouse Mill Point.

Ainl orders left at Ferguson Bros' or at Office
Brisco House, will be promptly attended to.
Lime shipped to all parts of Canada.

GALT & BROTHER.

Napanee, April 7th, 1875.

READ THIS.

RThe subscriber has nine First-Class Colts
for sale. Six of them four years old, and three,
three years old. One pair four years old, matched; color, Black. Breed—Tippto and Wild Deer. One four years old Brown Grey, Tippto and French. One Rattler, Bay, four years old; one Brown, aged four, Tippto and Black Lock. Will sell one or more, to suit purchaser, and will offer them cheap. Remember, the man to buy from, is the "man that wants
to sell."

FRED. MEMBURY.

Adolphustown Village, Jan. 28th 1876.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

Messrs W. N. Harris and M. Neville have been appointed Deputies by the Dominion Grange,
for the purpose of Organizing subordinate Granges. Any parties wanting their services

STOCK OF

NOW COMPLETE

RY DEPRNT,

CHASERS SHOULD EXAMINE OUR

AND GET OUR

ORE PURCHASING.

BOYLE & WRIGHT.

NEY & BROS

LOWING THEIR

PORTATIONS.

eathest possible variety of the st Attractive Styles

Best Lines of the leading Manufactoryers.

PUTATION OF KEEPING THE

ACTIVE GOODS

Season give evidence of the bestowment of d taste in the selection.

DEPARTMENT

icns; Burns, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Lumbago, Mer-
curial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism,
Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scalds, Skin
Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs,
Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats;
Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints,
Tetter, Ulcers, Venereal Sores, Wounds
of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTOR-
ANT for the absolute cure of Coughs,
Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains
in the Chest, and all affections of a Pulmonary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each article
has the Holloway & Co. trade mark on
each.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; great saving in buying large sizes.

Metropolitan Medicine Co., Props.
9, College Place, New York.
J. F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.,
WHOLESALE AGENTS. NEW YORK

WORK DONE CHEAP!

AT

S. HUFF & SONS,

Manufacturers of Sash, Doors, Blinds
Window Frames, &c., &c.,

WATER STREET, NAPANEE, ONT.

Having recently added some new machinery to our premises, we are prepared to execute all orders entrusted to us on very short notice, and the most reasonable terms.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

TURNING DONE TO ORDER

ON

The American Rural Home will be sent on Trial postpaid to any address. Thirteen T Weeks for 40 cents for the pur- R ose of introducing it to New Readers throughout the United States and British America.

T R I A L
Handsomest 8-Page A Agricultural Literary and Domestic L Weekly in the World! Price $2 a year. Lowest Club Rate $1.60. Price of a Specimen, a postal card, with your address on it!
The Rural Home, Rochester, N. Y.

MORTGAGE

SALE.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale in a Mortgage dated the Second day of January,
A. D. 1874, made by Belyut Conger, (and Priscilla Conger, his wife, for darning dower), to Conway Edward Cartwright, which said Mortgage will be produced at the time of sale, default having been made in payment of the moneys thereby secured, there will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

ON

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26th '76.

AT THE

TOWN HALL, IN NAPANEE,

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, by

JAMES ALLEN, AUCTIONEER,

All, and singular, that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate lying and being in the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox & Addington, and Province of Ontario, described as follows: Commencing at a point on the West side of John Street, one hundred and fifty feet north of the north-west corner of John and Isabella Streets, then west and parallel to Isabella Street two chains, then north and parallel to John Street forty-eight feet, then east and parallel to Isabella Street two chains to the west side of John Street, then south along the west side of John Street comfortably entertained at reasonable rates, in West Napanee.

Apply to
MRS. BENNETT,

NAPANEE LIME WORKS

THE UNDERSIGNED beg leave to inform the public that they are now prepared to furnish Lime to all orders entrusted to their care.
*Lime kept in Limehouse at Perry's Plaster Mill
and at Limehouse Mill Point.*
All orders left at Ferguson Bros' or at Office
Brisco House, will be promptly attended to.
Lime shipped to all parts of Canada.

GALT & BROTHER.

Napanee, April 7th, 1875.

READ THIS.

The subscriber has nine First-Class Colts
for sale. Six of them four years old, and three,
three years old. One pair four years old, matched; color, Black. Breed—Tippon and Wild Deer. One four years old Brown Grey, Tippon and French. One Battler, Bay, four years old; one Brown, aged four, Tippon and Black Lock. Will sell one or more, to suit purchaser, and will offer them cheap. Remember,
the man to buy from, is the "man that wants
to sell."

FRED. MEMBERY.

Adolphustown Village, Jan. 28th 1875.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

Messrs W. N. Harris and M. Neville have been appointed Deputies by the Dominion Grange,
for the purpose of Organizing subordinate Granges. Any parties wanting their services will address either of them at Napanee.

JAMES DALY.

48

Master of Division Grange.

VALUABLE PINE LOTS FOR SALE

Under the powers contained in the last will and testament of Peter Carroll, late of the Township of Camden, deceased, the undersigned offer for sale lot no. 14 in the 12th concession, and lot no. 14 in the 13th concession of the Township of Hinchinbrook, in the county of Frontenac.

These lots are heavily timbered with splendid pine.

For particulars enquire of

43-84m

THOMAS KIDD.
MATHEW RYAL.
Executors

Rupture Trusses.

SEELEY'S HARD

Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and
Cure for Herni or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated
with hard rubber, highly polished. Free
from all sour, rusty, chafing, strapping or girthing unpleasantness. Cool cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable.
Sold by all dealers. Estab'ts, 1347
Chestnut St., Phila., and 717 Broadway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitations
Canadian trade supplied by Messrs.
Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Druggists, Montreal.

EXTENSIVE FARM FOR SALE.

Lots 3 and 4, 3rd Concession of Sheffield, containing in all 300 Acres of Land, 200 of which are in the very best state of cultivation, is offered for it to New Readers throughout the United States and British America.

TRIAL

Handsome 8-Page Weekly in the Year. Lowest Club Rate $1.60. Price of a Specimen, a postal card, with your address on it! The Rural Home, Rochester, N. Y.

Township of Camden, deceased, the undersigned offer for sale lot no. 14 in the 12th concession, and lot no. 14 in the 13th concession of the Township of Hinchinbrook, in the county of Frontenac.

These lots are heavily timbered with splendid pine.

For particulars enquire of

43-8in

THOMAS KIDD,
MATHEW RYAE,
Executors

MORTGAGE SALE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale in a Mortgage dated the Second day of January, A. D. 1874, made by Belyat Conger, (and Priscilla Conger, his wife, for barring dower), to Conway Edward Cartwright, which said Mortgage will be produced at the time of sale, default having been made in payment of the moneys thereby secured, there will be sold by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

ON

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26th '76.

AT THE

TOWN HALL, IN NAPANEE,

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, by

JAMES ALLEN, AUCTIONEER,

All and singular, that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate lying and being in the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox & Addington, and Province of Ontario, described as follows: Commencing at a point on the West side of John Street, one hundred and fifty feet north of the north-west corner of John and Isabella Streets, then west and parallel to Isabella Street two chains, then north and parallel to John Street forty-eight feet, then east and parallel to Isabella Street two chains to the west side of John Street, then south along the west side of John Street forty-eight feet to the place of beginning, all in the said Town of Napanee.

Upon the said premises is an entirely new Two-story Brick Dwelling House.

The said land and premises will be sold subject to a Mortgage on the same, made by the said Belyat Conger to the Western Canada Permanent Building and Savings Society.

Terms and Conditions made known at the sale. For further particulars enquire of H. L. GEDES, or

REEVE & MORDEN,

VENDOR'S SOLICITORS.

Napanee, Feb. 12th, 1876.

49-2in

Wanted to Rent.

A house in a convenient locality in the town, for a small family, at a moderate rent. Address, A. B. C., EXPRESS office.

OCEAN TICKETS.

Cabin rates for passengers from Napanee to Liverpool, Londerry and Glasgow $39, $79, $59. Children under one, free; one to twelve half fare—return tickets $50.00—charges to London $3.13. Extra railway fare, Glasgow line—steerage rates same as to Liverpool. Prepaid passage certificates, Liverpool, Derry or Glasgow to Napanee $29.50. The Allan Line make the shortest passages, and offer inducements to all classes of Passengers which cannot be excelled by any other Line. Baggage can be checked from any G. T. R. Station to Quebec wharf. There is no custom examination (as is the case via New York), and Passengers have no incidental expenses whatever, once on their way to join the Allan Steamer. The last connecting train carrying the Canadian mails, leaves Toronto at 6:37 on every Friday.

Tickets can be purchased to and from Liverpool, Londonderry or Glasgow, at a great reduction and sent by mail to bring friends to Canada, also return tickets.

A. H. ALLISON, Agent, Napanee,
Montreal Telegraph Office.

Rupture SEELEY'S HARD Trusses.

Rubber Trusses, relief, comfort and Cure for Herni or Rupture. Fine Steel Spring, coated with hard rubber, highly polished. Free from all sour, rusty, chafing, strapping or girthing unpleasantness. Cool cleanly, light, safe and durable. Unaffected by bathing. Always reliable. Sold by all dealers. Estab'ts, 1347 Chestnut St., Phila., and 717 Broadway, N. Y. BEWARE of imitations Canadian trade supplied by Messrs. Kerry, Wats & Co., Wholesale Drugists, Montreal.

EXTENSIVE FARM FOR SALE.

Lots 3 and 4, 3rd Concession of Sheffield, containing in all 300 Acres of Land, 200 of which are in the very best state of cultivation, is offered for sale by the undersigned, as he is unable longer to work his farm. The property is situated within three miles of Tamworth, and is bounded on the north by White Lake, and is one of the best grain producing farms in the township. There are 175 Acres of best quality of wood.

There is a Frame House and three barns on the place, a splendid orchard, wherein the best of fruit is raised, and a never failing supply of water.

In addition to the above, I will sell the entire stock on the premises, consisting of 10 Cows, 3 span of Horses, two span of which are blood, 20 sheep, 10 hogs, best quality, as well as all the farming implements on the place, such as plows, drags, cultivators, threshing machine, reaper and mower, roller, waggons, sleighs, cutters, buggies, and other things too numerous to mention.

Will sell the whole for $11,000. Terms, one half down, balance yearly payments.

For further information enquire of Wm. Miller, or T. W. Casey.

WM. WEST.

STOLEN.

From the premises of the undersigned, Lot 3d, 2d Con. Sheffield, on the night of Thursday, 12th inst., a Dark Bay Blood Mare, fair size, four years old. Has black Main, natural plat, and Black Feet up to knees; white star on forehead. Any person giving such information as will lead to the recovery of the beast will be handsomely rewarded.

WM. WEST. Sr.

NEY & BROS

HOWING THEIR

PORTATIONS.

reatest possible variety of the

ost Attractive Styles

Best Lines of the leading Manufacturers.

PUTATION OF KEEPING THE

LACTIVE GOODS

Season give evidence of the bestowment of taste in the selection.

DEPARTMENT

beyond Anything we have Reached in any former Season.

S, JACKETS, SEAL SKINS, MANTLES, HOSIERY, GLOVES, CARPETS,

S, LKS, FANCY GOODS, BERLIN WOOLS,

IS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION AND IN FACT

Every Department.

say in reference to our Stock.

RATHER, SEE IT EARLY!

WNEY & BROS.

REMOVAL.
F. W. FELSON HARNESS-MAKER,
 MILL POINT.

Wishes to announce to the citizens of Mill Point and surrounding country, that he has

REMOVED HIS HARNESS-SHOP.

To the premises one door East of the store of Climie, Millner and Co., where he intends to manufacture and keep on hand a general stock of Harness, Whips, Curry-Combs, Brushes and everything in his line, of the best description as cheap as can be obtained elsewhere.

CALL AND EXAMIN.
F. W. FELSON,
 Napanee, Oct. 3rd, 1874.

HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED - - 1810.
 CAPITAL, $1,000,000.

A MOUNT DEPOSITED IN CANADA in accordance with the Act of 1830, 1831.

Insures property against fire as low as any other reliable company. All losses equitably adjusted and promptly paid in Canada funds or Gold. Isolated dwellings insured at exceedingly

E. L. GEDDIS, Agent
 for Napanee and vicinity

A Gem worth Reading!---A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES,

By reading our Illustrated

PHYSIOLOGY

AND ANATOMY of the

EYESIGHT. Tells

how to Restore Impaired

Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and

Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING

HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DIS-

FIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100

pages Mailed Free. Send your address

to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies, $7 to $10 a day guaranteed.

Full particulars sent free. Write immediately

to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 957,

No. 91 Liberty St., New York City, N. Y.

MANUFACTURERS, NOTICE!

The undersigned having purchased

at Public Auction, the Estate of F.

Lane and Broeher, Insolvent Debtors,

begs to notify the public, that he will continue the Manufacturing business,

formerly carried on by them in West

Napanee.

Wanted immediately, One Thousand

Cords of first-class Shingle Bolts, either

Cedar or Pine. Also, Five Hundred

Cords first-class Water Elm, Soft Ma-

tto and Ash Stave Bolts, $\frac{1}{2}$ to be Thir-

FURNITURE! FURNITURE!

A FULL STOCK OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

AS USUAL.

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Planing, &c.

Call and get Price List of Sash and Doors and cut of our Mouldings.

Undertaking Department! Compete!

COFFINS OF ALL SIZES AND KINDS.

Shrouds, Scarfs, &c., &c.

J. C. GREEN & SON.

BEST AND CHEAPEST

SET OF LAMPS IN NAPANEE,

JUST RECEIVED AT

MALLORY'S DRUG STORE.

AT TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT BY BUYING OF HIM,

a defies any person to compete with his prices.

Place,

MALLORY'S DRUG STORE,

Opposite A. C. Davis & Bro's,

AND ANATOMY of the EYESIGHT. Tells how to Restore Impaired Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DISFIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100 pages Mailed Free. Send your address to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $5 to $10 a day guaranteed. Full particulars sent free. Write immediately to DR. J. BLAL & CO., (P. O. Box 957, No. 91 Liberty St., New York City, N. Y.

MANUFACTURERS, NOTICE!

The undersigned having purchased at Public Auction, the Estate of F. Lane and Brocher, Insolvent Debtors, begs to notify the public, that he will continue the Manufacturing business, formerly carried on by them in West Napanee.

Wanted immediately, One Thousand Cords of first-class Shingle Bolts, either Cedar or Pine. Also, Five Hundred Cords first-class Water Elm, Soft Maple and Ash Stave Bolts, $\frac{1}{4}$ to be Three Eight inches long, and the balance to be Thirty-Two inches long. Bills will soon be sent out among the farmers.

CHARLES LANE

Napanee. Jan. 5th, 1875.

HULETT'S COLORED PORTRAITS WON

FIRST PRIZE AT THE MIDLAND FAIR

See our collection of large beautiful colored portraits that won the first and highest prize in the Photographic Art at the Midland Central Fair. (See prize list). As I now hold the palm in this department, I can give the best satisfaction in the town, and at the lowest living prices. I've spared neither pains nor expense to give my customers pictures that are second to none in this part of the country. Call and examine. My work will bear the closest inspection, Cabinet Photos and Carte de Visites taken and finished in all the latest and improved styles. Strict attention paid in copying and enlarging old pictures of deceased friends to any required size, and made almost as natural as when living. Please give us a call. Next door to Downey's.

J. S. HUEETT,
Photographer, Napanee.

JOBMOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions and as speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES

It is especially suited. It will, in a short time, restore the monthly period with regularity. It cures of Nervous and Spinal Affections, the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed; and although powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved. JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR \$1.00 and 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents for postage, enclosed to J. S. Hueett, Napanee, Ont. general

THE LARGEST AND CHEAPEST

LOT OF LAMPS IN NAPANEE,

JUST RECEIVED AT

MALLORY'S DRUG STORE.

YOU CAN SAVE TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT BY BUYING OF HIM,

For he defies any person to compete with his prices.

Remember the place,

M. B. MALLORY'S DRUG STORE,

Opposite A. C. Davis & Bro's.

Only $1.50.

Price Complete

Land for Sale.

A desirable Investment, near Kingston.

For sale, 25 acres of excellent land within one mile of the city of Kingston on the Napanee road. It is well adapted for farming purposes. There is a good house on the premises, and a stream of water running across.

TERMS

EASY.

Apply to

DR. BROWN,
Napanee.

25-tf

J. A. REID

JAMES BIRRELL

Manufacturer of

BUGGIES, CUTTERS, SLEIGHS, WAGGONS, & C.,

MILL POINT,

Having recently erected a commodious Workshop, I am now prepared to execute all orders for any of the above on the shortest possible notice, and the most reasonable terms. As I employ none but experienced workmen, my work will be found second to none in the County.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO JOBBING.

All Orders from a distance will receive the promptest attention, and shipped to any part.

JAS. BIRRELL.

Colored portraits that won the first and highest prize in the Photographic Art at the Midland Central Fair. (See prize list). As I now hold the palm in this department, I can give the best satisfaction in the town, and at the lowest living prices. I've spared neither pains nor expense to give my customers pictures that are second to none in this part of the country. Call and examine. My work will bear the closest inspection, Cabinet Photos and Carte de Visites taken and finished in all the latest and improved styles. Strict attention paid in copying and enlarging old pictures of deceased friends to any required size, and made almost as natural as when living. Please give us a call. Next door to Downey's.

J. S. HUEETT,
Photographer, Napanee.

JOBMOSES' PERIODICAL PILLS.

This invaluable medicine's unfailing cure of those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions and a speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES
It is especially suited. It will, in a short time, regulate the monthly period with regularity. Affects of Nervous and Spinal Affections, the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure where all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved. JOB MOSES, NEW YORK, SOLE PROPRIETOR $1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will insure a bottle containing over 50 pills, by return mail.

Sold in Napanee by all Druggists. Milled by W. G. Egar, The World's Dispensary and Medicine Dealers.

LET NAPANEE FLOURISH

Are you aware that you can have ALL KINDS OF JEWELRY MANUFACTURED AT HOME, without sending to a distance for it, where your are paying

TWO PROFITS ON YOUR GOODS?

If not, learn now and forever, that I not only sell, but manufacture everything IN THE JEWELRY LINE on my premises, so that you will effect A GREAT SAVING, by giving me a call before going elsewhere.

ENGRAVING

of all kinds done on short notice; the services of a First-class Engraver having been secured for that purpose.

A larger stock than ever before of WATCHES, CLOCKS, EAR & FINGER RINGS, BROOCHES, CHAINS, NECKLETS, SILVER-WARE, which cannot fail to suit the taste of the most fastidious.

F. W. SMITH

Land for Sale.

A desirable Investment, near Kingston.

For sale, 25 acres of excellent land within one mile of the city of Kingston on the Napanee road. It is well adapted for farming purposes. There is a good house on the premises, and a stream of water running across.

TERMS EASY.

Apply to

25-1f

DR. BROWN,
Napanee.

Ontario Veterinary College.

May be consulted on all diseases of Domesticated Animals, personally at Campbell House, or by letter.

TERMS MODERATE

OFFICE—Under the EXPRESS OFFICE, Warner Block.

BOOTS AND SHOES,

FOR THE COLD WEATHER.

Ladies Gents & Children's

FELT & WOOLEN LINED BOOTS & SHOES,

PLAIN & FANCY OVERBOOTS,

ARCTIC BOOTS,

SNOW EXCLUDERS, &c.,

Also just received a new and beautiful lot of

FENCH CHINA—CHEAP.

M. DWYER & CO.

JAMES BIRRELL

Manufacturer of

BUGGIES, CUTTERS, SLEIGHS, WAGGONS, &c.,

MILL POINT,

Having recently erected a commodious Workshop, I am now prepared to execute all orders for any of the above on the shortest possible notice, and on the most reasonable terms. As I employ none but experienced workmen, my work will be found second to none in the County.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION PAID TO JOBBING.

All Orders from a distance will receive the promptest attention, and shipped to any part.

JAS. BIRRELL.

3 WING MACHINES

That have been fully tested by thousands in all kinds of family sewing in both the new and old world.

NEEDLES

Best made needles for Webster, Lockman, Wanzler, Royal, and other Sewing Machines.

OL

That will not clog or cause the machine to run heavy. Manufactured in New York expressly for Sewing Machines.

For sale cheaper than any other dealer in town.

Call and try it and you will always buy it.

Webster Sewing Machine Office, four doors west of Post Office, Napanee.

V. KOUBER,

Agent for Napanee district.

ASTHMA.
FARMER, Napanee, Ont.,
June 20, 1879.

I have been one of the greatest sufferers from the effects of Asthma, having had it in its most severe form for nearly ten years; for the last six years of that time I had not lain six nights in bed, for seven years had such severe pain in my left side that I could not rest on it, my appetite was gone, and I had swelling in the region of my stomach, and general weakness. This condition was constantly becoming worse, until last December, when I tried GRAHAM'S PAIN EXPELLER, although I had no hope of it benefiting me, I yielded to the persuasion of others. The first dose I took relieved the difficulty of my breathing, and before I had two bottles used I was completely cured, and have since enjoyed as good health as ever I did. MARK MOORE.

Mr. Moore has since remained well.

E! $ $ $ $

UNDERTAKING.

The subscriber begs leave to notify his friends and the public generally that he has removed to his farm, at Moscow, and has complete arrangements for keeping on hand, at all times ready made coffins of every size and style. Shrouds always on hand and every other funeral requisite.

A first class hearse always ready free of charge, and prompt attention to all orders.

48-4in MILES STORMS.

NAPANEE STOVE DEPOT

FOR THE SPRING OF 1876.

The subscriber has much pleasure in announcing to Cheese Manufacturers, that he is in a position to receive orders for Cheese Vats and other Cheese Factory apparatuses.

I will have on hand a large and

MILK CAN

from 15 to 40 gallons, which I will sell at prices as low as any other in the trade.

A. McLEOD'S, NAPANEE STOVE DEPOT

Is the best place to buy Coal Heating and Coal Cook Stoves. Wood Stoves of every description.

Box and Parlor Stoves, Elevated Oven Stoves, Double Box Stoves, Low Oven Stoves, Parlor Stoves, Coal Grates.

A LARGE AND WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF TINWARE.

A Liberal Discount to Merchants.

A full stock of Pumps and Saws.

Carpeting and general jobbing done in a prompt and satisfactory manner by experienced workmen.

A call solicited before purchasing elsewhere.

ANGUS McLEOD.

FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF NAPANEE

A Brick Store and dwelling adjoining Blewett's Bakery, together with the open space at the side of the building. The lot has 40 feet frontage on the

NEW AMERICAN GOODS

:o:

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE.

Have just opened a large stock of

AMERICAN STAPLE DRY GOODS,

CONSISTING OF

BLACK, BROWN, AND DRAB SILK,

PLAID AND STRIPED DUCK,

AMOSKEAG AND LEWISTON TICKS,

WITTENDON AND EVERETT SHIRTINGS,

MERRIMAC AND HAMILTON MILLS PRINTS, DENIMS, JEANS CAMBRICS,

And a large stock of the following

CELEBRATED WHITE COTTONS,

CABOT, BOOTH B., ELMWOOD,

WAMSUTTA, HALLOWELL,

KING PHILLIP, and other brands.

ALSO NEW SPRING TWEEDS, CLOTHS, BLACK LUSTRES,

AND OTHER NEW GOODS SUITABLE FOR THE PRESENT SEASON.

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE.

CHEAPSIDE.

:o:

OUR ANNUAL COST SALE

FOR THE DISPOSAL OF

ALL KINDS OF WINTER GOODS,

COMMENCES ON

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1st

And will continue for 45 days,

We have again placed a large quantity of goods of all kinds in

R A S K E T S

Oven Stoves, Double
Stoves, Low Oven Stoves, Floor Stoves, Coal
Grates.

A LARGE AND WELL ASSORTED STOCK OF TINWARE.

A Liberal Discount to Merchants.

A full stock of Pumps and Saws.

Leavetroughing and general jobbing done in a prompt and satisfactory manner by experienced workmen.

A call solicited before purchasing elsewhere.

ANGUS McLEOD.

FOR SALE

IN THE

TOWN OF NAPANEE

A Brick Store and dwelling adjoining Blewett's Bakery, together with the open space at the side of the building.
The Lot has 40 feet frontage on the Market Square, running back to Bridge Street with the same frontage. There is on the premises, both hard and soft water in abundance, and a good Frame Barn suitable for stabling or for storage. The property is in the most desirable place that can be offered in the Town of Napanee for a speculator in farm produce, butter, eggs, poultry, etc., and may be used to good advantage for a grocery store.

Terms made easy for the purchaser.

For further particulars, apply to the owner on the premises.

JAMES BLAKELY.

Napanee, Thur. 10th, 1875.

NEW FLOUR STORE.

SOMETHING THAT EVERYBODY
WANTS.

PASTRY FLOUR,

CRACKED WHEAT AND GRAHAM
FLOUR,

MADE FROM THE PUREST

WHITE FALL WHEAT.

SPRING WHEAT FLOUR,

OF THE CHOICEST BRANDS.

OAT MEAL,

CORN MEAL,

POT BARLEY,

TEA,

TOBACCO,

SALT,

FISH,

AND PROVISIONS OF ALL KIND

ALSO

FIELD AND GARDEN SEEDS,

OF ALL KINDS.

Any or all of the above to be had in quantities to suit purchasers, at the lowest cash prices, or given in exchange for

FARM PRODUCE,

FOR THE DISPOSAL OF

ALL KINDS OF WINTER GOODS,

COMMENCES ON

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 1st

And will continue for 45 days,

We have again placed a large quantity of goods of all kinds in

BASKETS

And parties who have purchased Goods from us before

KNOW WHAT BARGAINS WE OFFER!

OUR STOCK IS WELL ASSORTED, AND WE ARE OFFERING BARGAINS IN

All Kinds of Woolens,

PLAIN AND FANCY FLANNELS,

BLANKETS,

CLOUDS,

SCARFS

AND FANCY WOOLEN GOODS,

FURS! FURS!!

We still have a few Sets of Furs left, and will clear the balance out at an immense sacrifice.

NO FLAGS OR STREET PARADES OUTSIDE, BUT SPLENDID BARGAINS WITHIN.

E. HOOPER & SON.

HARD TIMES.

READER.

Now, while you think of it,
subscribe for THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY ($3.00
a year, or monthly part $1.75 a year)—it will do
you $50 worth of good in health, mind and

Napanee, Thur. 10th, 1875.

Persons not within reach of the above Agents are requested to communicate directly with the Manager 1876.

11 DEY ST, N. Y.

GREAT CLEARING SALE OF

The undersigned will sell at cost for cash only, during
THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF BOOTS & SHOES
WE ARE DETERMINED TO SELL

THIS IS A GENUINE

Our stock being too large for the times, we offer this

REMEMBER THE

For Chap Boots & Shoes, Hats & Caps

AT ROSE & FRATICK'S, EAST END OF

Come and see, and be convinced yourselves.

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.

A good Comfortable Frame Dwelling House, situated on the south side of Dundas street, between West and Robinson streets, the property of A. Garrison, now occupied by Samuel Wilson. The house contains nine rooms, is nearly new and well built, with good outbuildings. For further particulars, apply to

WILLIAMS & HOOPER.

Napanee, Feb. 1st, 1876.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

For Sale by Tender.

Tenders will be received by the undersigned until Wednesday the 23rd day of February next, for the purchase of the Shingle Machinery, Belting and other appendages belonging thereto, the property of the above Insolvent, and also for the purchase at so much per cord, of about 500 cords of cedar shingle bolts which are situated and lying as follows:—

About 250 Cords at Lime Lake.

" 75 " Croyden.

" 175 " at the Shingle Mill, whicht contains the above machinery, adjacent to Vader's Mills.

The cedar will be sold either in one lot, or in separate lots to suit purchasers. The Lease of the Mill and premises will be sold by Public Auction, and the purchaser will have an op-

GREAT CASH DISCOUNT CLEARING SALE

FOR ONE MONTH ONLY,

COMMENCING ON THE 19th

A. C. DAVIS & BRO

Preparatory to stock taking, will offer their entire stock (value

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

For Sale by Tender.

Tenders will be received by the undersigned until Wednesday the 23rd day of February next, for the purchase of the Shingle Machinery, Belting and other appendages belonging thereto, the property of the above Insolvent, and also for the purchase at so much per cord, of about 500 cords of cedar shingle bolts which are situated and lying as follows:—

About 250 Cords at Lime Lake.

" 75 " Croyden.

" 175 " at the Shingle Mill, whtli. contains the above machinery, adjacent to Vader's Mills.

The cedar will be sold either in one lot, or in separate lots to suit purchasers. The Lease of the Mill and premises will be sold by Public Auction, and the purchaser will have an opportunity of purchasing it. The Mill is situated on the Salmon River, about nine miles from Napanee, is driven by water power, and affords a first-class opportunity to any party wishing to engage in that branch of manufacture.

The lowest nor any tender not necessarily accepted.

Full particulars respecting the property may be obtained on application to the undersigned.

W. F. HALL,

Assignee

Napanee, Jan. 26th, 1876.

INSOLVENT ACT OF 1875.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that under the authority of an order made in this matter, by William Henry Wilkison, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the County of Lennox & Addington, dated January 25th, 1876, I will offer for sale at Public Auction, at my office on East street, in the town of Napanee, on Wednesday the twenty-third day of February next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all the rights of the above named Insolvent, in the frame shingle mill, and four acres of land thereto attached, situate on Lot number seven teen, in the eighth concession of the township of Richmond, in the said County of Lennox and Addington, north of Salmon River, held by the said Insolvent, under a lease thereof from one William Vader bearing date December 8th, 1874, to him, the said Insolvent, for the term of five or ten years from the first day of February, A. D. 1875, at an annual tender of $100. The lease includes water privilege for running the said mill, together with the use of water wheel and shafting, also a good frame dwelling house erected by the Insolvent at his own expense. The above property is adjacent to Vader's Mills, and affords excellent facilities for the manufacture of shingles.

The above lease may be inspected, and all further particulars obtained on application to me at my office in Napanee.

Dated at Napanee, January 26th, 1876.

W. F. HALL

Assignee of the above Insolvent.

CONFESSIONS OF A VICTIM.

PUBLISHED AS A WARNING and for the benefit of YOUNG MEN AND OTHERS who suffer from NERVOUS DEBILITY, LOSS OF MANHOOD, etc. giving his rules of Self-Cure after undergoing much suffering and expense, and mailed free on receiving a post-paid directed envelope. Address NATHIEL MAYFAIR, P. O. Box 3, Brooklyn, N.Y.

COMMENCING ON THE 19th

A. C. DAVIS & BR

Preparatory to stock taking, will offer their entire stock (val

DRY GOODS,

CLOTHING,

CLOTHS,

TWEEDS,

GENTS FURNISINGS,

HATS,

CAPS,

FURS,

CAR

At a Cash Discount of from 10 to 15

with few exceptions from regular prices.

THE STOCK IS NEW AND ATTRACTIVE

AND GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE

Citizens of Napanee, and Farmers of Lennox & Addington, look attend this Sale.

ALL ADVERTISED WILL BE STRICTLY CARRIED OUT

A. C. DAVIS

ALWAYS ON HAND

LARGE ASSORTMENT

OF

CIGARS,

RETIRING FROM BUSINESS

The undersigned beg leave to inform the

Retiring From Business

IN THE SPRING

And that their entire stock, (val

DRY GOODS. HATS. CAPS. FURS.

In the matter of Wm. McMullen, an Insolvent.

Notice is hereby given that under the authority of an order made in this matter, by William Henry Wilkison, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the County of Lennox & Addington, dated January 25th, 1876, I will offer for sale at Public Auction, at my office on East street, in the town of Napanee, on Wednesday the twenty-third day of February next, at two o'clock in the afternoon, all the rights of the above named Insolvent, in the frame shingle mill, and four acres of land thereto attached, situate on Lot number seven teen, in the eighth concession of the township of Richmond, in the said County of Lennox and Addington, north of Salmon River, held by the said Insolvent, under a lease thereof from one William Vader bearing date December 8th, 1874, to him, the said Insolvent, for the term of five or ten years from the first day of February, A. D. 1875, at an annual tender of $100. The lease includes water privilege for running the said mill, together with the use of water wheel and shafting, also a good frame dwelling house erected by the Insolvent at his own expense. The above property is adjacent to Vader's Mills, and affords excellent facilities for the manufacture of shingles.

The above lease may be inspected, and all further particulars obtained on application to me at my office in Napanee.

Dated at Napanee, January 26th, 1876.

W. F. HAL

Assignee of the above Insolvent.

CONFESSIONS OF A VICTIM.

PUBLISHED AS A WARNING and for the benefit of YOUNG MEN AND OTHERS who suffer from NERVOUS DEBILITY, LOSS OF MANHOOD, &c., giving his rules of Self-Cure after undergoing much suffering and expense, and mailed free on receiving a post-paid directed envelope. Address NATHIEL MAYFAIR, P. O. Box 3, Brooklyn, N.Y.

At a Cash Discount of from 10 to 15

with few exceptions from regular prices.

THE STOCK IS NEW AND ATTRACTIVE AND GREAT BARGAINS WILL BE

Citizens of Napanee, and Farmers of Lennox & Addington, look to attend this Sale.

ALL ADVERTISED WILL BE STRICTLY CARRIED OUT.

A. C. DAVIS

ALWAYS ON HAND

—A—

LARGE ASSORTMENT

OF

CIGARS,

TOBACCOS,

SNUFF,

PIPES &c., &c.,

BEST FINE CUT CHEWING,

AT

WOOD'S TOBACCO STORE.

SIGN OF THE INDIAN AT THE DOOR.

RETIRING FROM BUSINESS

The undersigned beg leave to inform the public

Retiring From Business

IN THE SPRING,

And that their entire stock, consisting of DRY GOODS, HATS, CAPS, FUR, &c.

—AND—

READY-MADE CLOTHING

Must all be sold by 1st of

NO RESERVE.

THIS IS A GENUINE

As all goods will be sold

FOR CASH ON

The store will be closed on the 7th marking of goods.

Come along and bring your friends, at wholesale prices.

SALE TO COMMENCE

WEDNESDAY

WE

NANEE EXPRESS.

SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.

...y, during the month of February, their entire stock,
BOOTS & SHOES EVER SHOWN IN NAPANEE.
WE SELL REGARDLESS OF PRICES.

AT A LOW COST SALE.

...offer this inducement in order to decrease it.

...:0:—
AT THE PLACE,
HATS & Caps, Ready-mad Cothing &c., AT THE END OF PERRY BLOCK, NAPANEE.

S.

DISCOUNT

SALE,

ONLY,

UNTIL 19th INST.

W. B. BRO.,

...e stock (valued at $30,000) of 15,000 ! 15,000 ! 15,000 ! 15,000 !

IN FURNITURE, CHAIRS, &c.,

AND MUST BE SOLD.

—:0:—

Having enlarged and improved our Warerooms, enabling us to do business to better advantage.

WE ARE BOUND TO SELL OUR LARGE STOCK

OF

FURNITURE,

SCOUNT

SALE,

NLY,

19th INST.

BRO.,

stock (valued at $30,000) of

AS,

URS,

CARPETS,
OIL CLOTHS,

0 to 15 per cent,

r prices.

ATTRACTIVE

LL BE OFFERED.

gton, look to your interest and

Y CARRIED OUT.

DAVIS & BRO.

15,000!

15,000!

15,000!

15,000!

IN

FURNITURE, CHAIRS, &C.,

AND MUST BE SOLD.

—:0:—

Having enlarged and improved our Warerooms, enabling us to do business to better advantage.

WE ARE BOUND TO SELL OUR LRGE STOCK

OF

FURNITURE,

CHAIRS,

SPRING BEDS,

MATTRASSES,

AND EVERYTHING USEFUL FOUND IN A FIRST-CLASS

FURNITURE WAREROOM

At prices lower than any other manufactory in Canada.
Remember for

STYLE MAKE AND FINISH

OUR GOODS ARE SECOND TO NONE.

—:0:—

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

-IN-

COFFINS, CASKETS AND METALIC BURIAL CASES

FURNISHED ON SHORT NOTICE. EVERY-THING IN THE UNDERTAKING

to 15 per cent,

prices.

ATTRACTIVE

TO BE OFFERED.

on, look to your interest and

CARRIED OUT.

DAVIS & BRO.

FROM BUSINESS.

to inform the public that they intend

from Business

in SPRING,

the stock, consisting of

CAPS, FURS, CARPETS,
AND—

OF CLOTHING

to be sold by 1st of April.

RESERVE.

GENUINE SALE

will be sold at cost

ONLY.

on the 7th and 8th for the

our friends, if you want goods

COMMENCE ON WEDNESDAY 9th FEBRUARY.

WEES & SHOREY.

At prices lower than any other manufactory in Canada.
Remember for

STYLE MAKE AND FINISH

OUR GOODS ARE SECOND TO NONE.

—:O:—

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL DESIGNS

—IN—

COFFINS, CASKETS AND METALIC BURIAL CASES

FURNISHED ON SHORT NOTICE. EVERY-THING IN THE UNDERTAKING
DEPARTMENT COM-PLETE.

J. GIBBARD & SON.

NEW AMERICAN GOODS

—:O:—

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE,

Have just opened a large stock of

AMERICAN STAPLE DRY GOODS,

CONSISTING OF

BLACK, BROWN, AND DRAB SILK,

PLAID AND STRIPED DUCK,

AMOSKEAG AND LEWISTON TICKS,

WITTENDON AND EVERETT SHIRTINGS,

MERRIMAC AND HAMILTON MILLS PRINTS, DENIMS, JEANS, CAMBRICS,

And a large stock of the following

CELEBRATED WHITE COTTONS,

CABOT, BOOTH B., ELMWOOD,

WAMSUTTA, HALLOWELL,

KING PHILLIP, and other brands.

ALSO NEW SPRING TWEEDS, CLOTHS, BLACK
LUSTRES,

AND OTHER NEW GOODS SUITABLE FOR THE PRESENT SEASON.

SLAVEN & IRONSIDE.

Napanee

T. W. CASEY, Editor and Publisher.)

'THE GREATEST GOOD'

VO 15.]

NAPANEE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

ALEX. C. DAVIS,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Napanee
Ontario.

CHARLES LANE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Office—Front of Grammar School, Bridge Street, Napanee.

S. D. CLARKE,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Odessa,
Ontario.

J. J. WATSON,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates, Adolphustown.

PETER E. R. MILLER,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Switzer-
ville, Ont.

JAMES AYLSWORTH.
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses, Tam-
worth.

ROBERT GRAHAM,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office—
In the Dominion Store, Enterprise.

JOSEPH B. ALLISON ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Parma P. O., South Fredericksburg.

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver
and Toronto Fire Insurance Company,
and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont

LEGAL.

MURPHY & BEDFORD.
BARRISTERS, &c., MILL POINT.
Money to lend on improved Real Estate

H. M. DEROCHE,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, No-
tary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-
licitors in Chancery and Insolvency, No-
taries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange
Block, John Street, Napanee.

[For the Express.

THE CENTENNIAL FOURTH.

Your correspondent, with a party of some ten or twelve gentlemen, left Napanee on Monday, July 8rd, for Mill Point, there to take the Oswego Belle for Oswego. That boat arrived there about 6:30 p.m., with a large party from Belleville on board, and after embarking somewhere in the vicinity of 100 more passengers, she soon steamed away from the dock, the Miner Family Brass Band playing a lively air. A grand charge was at once made for the office by the party from this section, in order to secure state-rooms, but judge of our chagrin when we were informed there was not a room on board that had not been given out, even to the rooms of the employ-ees.

Feeling somewhat hungry, we sought out the supper table, and being determined at all events, to supply the inner man, if we could not get a place to lay our head, the supper was enjoyed. Soon after this had been got through with, Picton was reached, where we remained about three quarters of an hour, and received a very large addition to our numbers, although the steamer Rochester had already left with a large party. What was left for the Belle, however, was the most select of the excursionists.

In turn, the Stone Mills, Abolphus-town, the Island and Bath, were called at, and at all of these places our numbers were added to. At the last place, among the party who came on board, were our genial friends John Hogle, Esq., Warden of the County, and C. L. Rogers, Esq., Clerk of Bath. By this time the crowd on board was so great that there was not a seat even to be had in any part of the boat, either inside or out, up stairs or down, and it was with the greatest difficulty a passage could be effected any where.

THE PROCESSION.

which was just then passing through the streets, was the largest, we were told, they had ever seen before in Oswego. It was made up first of the State Militia, with bands, then Irish and French National and Temperance Societies, in regalia, then the firemen, with engines and hose reels beautifully decorated. After them came citizens in carriages, wagons representing the industries of the place, an immense car, containing children from the Orphan Asylum, in costume, representing the different States of the Union. The rear of the procession was brought up by a motly assemblage of raw-boned horses and dilapidated waggon, creating great merriment along the line of march. There was some four or five bands in the procession, all of which discouraged excellent music, and in their beautiful uniforms added very much to the appearance of the demonstration.

Having seen all we wanted to of the procession our party scattered in different directions, some to remain in Oswego, and others to go further. Not few took the noon train for Syracuse, as it was known there would be gala times in that city on that day. Being for many years a resident of Syracuse, I was among the number who took train for there, where we arrived about 2:15 p. m.

IN SYRACUSE.

Unfortunately, we did not arrive here in time to witness the procession, which was said to be a very grand one, made up somewhat similarly to that in Oswego, only on a much more extensive scale. The city which is one of the handsomest in the state, was literally bedecked with flags, flowers and evergreens, and presented a lively spectacle to us poor "Cannucks," who are accustomed to the quiet which usually reigns supreme in our Town of Napanee. Being pressed on with the crowd of citizens and strangers who infest the Union Depot here, we soon found ourselves in the principal street of the city, where the scene that met our gaze beggars description. Fearing we would be taken for "flats" on whom the "sharps" could operate, we did not stop long to examine the beauty of the buildings, or the tastefulness and costliness of their decorations. Bands of music were here and there to be seen

A. B. RANDALL,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses and Certificates. Also Agent for the Beaver and Toronto Fire Insurance Company, and the Mutual Life Association of Canada. Residence—Shannonville, Ont.

LEGAL.

MURPHY & BEDFORD.
BARRISTERS, &c., MILL POINT.
Money to lend on improved Real Estate.

H. M. DEROCHE,
BARRISTER and Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor in Chancery, Conveyancer, Notary Public, etc. OFFICE—In Grange Block, John Street, Napanee, Ont.

CARTWRIGHT & GIBSON,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Notaries Public, etc. OFFICE—Grange Block, John Street, Napanee.
J. S. CARTWRIGHT. S. GIBSON.

REEVE & MORDEN,
BARRISTERS and Attorneys-at-Law Solicitors in Chancery, Conveyancers etc. OFFICE—Perry's New Block Dundas Street, Napanee, Ontario.
W. A. REEVE, M. A., A. L. MORDEN.
Co. Crown Attorney.

J. E. A. DEROCHE.
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under New Act of 1875.
Office in H. M. Deroche's Law Office

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, Solicitors in Chancery and Insolvency, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc., Napanee, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, E. J. HOOPER, M. A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under Insolvent Act of 1875. Fire Insurance Agent, &c. Office of Napanee Paper Mills. East Street.

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,
GRADUATE University of Victoria College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y. Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario.
Special Attention paid to Diseases of the Eye.
Office and Residence: Centre Street, Napanee, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West Street, Napanee. Plans, Specifications and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed.

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.
STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest notice.

hour, and received a very large addition to our numbers, although the steamer Rochester had already left with a large party. What was left for the Belle, however, was the most select of the excursionists.

In turn, the Stone Mills, Abolphus-town, the Island and Bath, were called at, and at all of these places our numbers were added to. At the last place, among the party who came on board, were our genial friends John Hogle, Esq., Warden of the County, and C. L. Rogers, Esq., Clerk of Bath. By this time the crowd on board was so great that there was not a seat even to be had in any part of the boat, either inside or out, up stairs or down, and it was with the greatest difficulty a passage could be effected any where.

Soon after leaving Bath the upper part of the saloon was shut off from the rest by the slide door being drawn, and a large flag hung across, for the purpose of making "shake downs" for those not fortunate enough to have state-rooms. These accommodations were soon gobbled up, and your correspondent, who was at the time engaged with a number of gentlemen in friendly converse, had allowed this opportunity to pass, so that for the night and the balance of the trip he was literally without a place to rest either head or feet.

Up to the time of arrival at Kingston, about 1½ o'clock, a.m., the night was all that could be desired, a beautiful moon shining over-head, while the Bay was as tranquil as could possibly be, until the Lower Gap was reached, when the boat was tossed around considerably. Searching for some secluded spot on board where the beauties of the Bay might be seen undisturbed, I made the circuit of the boat several times, without finding such a place, but at almost every turn was met by the sight of lovers, either with their heads pillowed on each other, or else pouring out tales of affection. Whilst "taking stock" of such sights as these, our eye fell upon one of our Napanee gentlemen who had found a retired place, and a seat beside a charming looking lass, with whom his conversation was so eager as not to notice our prying eyes were upon him. It is not our intention to be personal, but we would suggest to married ladies the propriety of accompanying their husbands on these long trips.

At Kingston, our already crowded boat, took on board a couple of hundred more passengers, and precisely at 5.15 we cast-off for Oswego, with about 800 passengers in all. The trip across

IN SYRACUSE.

Unfortunately, we did not arrive here in time to witness the procession, which was said to be a very grand one, made up somewhat similarly to that in Oswego, only on a much more extensive scale. The city which is one of the handsomest in the state, was literally bedecked with flags, flowers and evergreens; and presented a lively spectacle to us poor "Cannucks," who are accustomed to the quiet which usually reigns supreme in our Town of Napanee. Being pressed on with the crowd of citizens and strangers who infest the Union Depot here, we soon found ourselves in the principal street of the city, where the scene that met our gaze beggars description. Fearing we would be taken for "flats" on whom the "sharps" could operate, we did not stop long to examine the beauty of the buildings, or the tastefulness and costliness of their decorations. Bands of music were here and there to be seen escorting some portion of the processionists to their places of rendezvous, while immense crowds followed.

Some idea of the magnitude of the display made here may be formed, when I say that on one building alone, — the dry goods store of D. M. Carney & Sons, — the decorations cost upwards of $1,500, and gave employment for some time in advance to a large number of men. The building stands on the corner of Salina and Fayette Streets, and the part facing each street, although five stories high, was decorated from top to the bottom with flags, streamers, mottoes, stars, &c. On the top of the buildings was four bronzed eagles, with spread wings, holding in their talons such mottoes as "Proclaim Liberty through all the land." "Freedom for all," &c. The Onondago County Savings Bank was also gorgeously decorated, while just in front of it had been erected a large arch. Everywhere was conspicuous in large figures, 1776, 1876.

About 4 o'clock a very heavy rain storm set in, which continued till after six, so that the fire-works had to be postponed till the next evening. This was a source of regret to us, as we would not be able to remain to see them. The cost of the fire-works, got up expressly for the occasion, was $3,500, and you, dear reader, will readily understand what a sight they must have made.

As Syracuse is the terminus of a number of railways, it was estimated there was upwards of 50,000 strangers in the city on that day, and day following.

Up till 8 o'clock the next evening, the time was agreeably spent by myself and companions in calling upon old friends, with whom many pleasant recollection of by-gone days were raked up and hearty laughs enjoyed.

Being informed both in Napanee and on the boat that the Kincardine would not leave Oswego till about 10 p. m. Wednesday night, we waited in Syracuse till the last train left for Oswego, thinking we would be in time for the boat. On our arrival there, however, we were informed the boat had left about 6 p. m. As things after-

J. E. A. DEROCHE.
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under New Act
of 1875.
Office in H. M. Deroche's Law Office

WILLIAMS & HOOPER,
BARRISTERS, Attorneys-at-Law, So-licitors in Chancery and Insolventcy, Conveyancers, Notaries Public, etc.,
Napanea, Ontario.
W. S. WILLIAMS, | E. J. HOOPER, M. A.
Official Assignee.

W. F. HALL,
OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, under Insolvent Act of 1875. Fire Insurance Agent, &c. Office of Napanea Paper Mills. East Street.

MEDICAL.

JAS. GRANGE M. D.,
GRADUATE University of Victoria
College, Canada, and College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y.
Member of the College of Physicians
and Surgeons, Ontario.
Special Attention paid to Diseases of the Eye.
Office and Residence: Centre Street,
Napanea, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. BARTLETT,
ARCHITECT AND BUILDER, West
Street, Napanea. Plans, Specifications
and Detail Drawings furnished. Builders' work measured, and value computed.

MAIR'S MACHINE SHOP.
STEAM ENGINES and all kinds of Boilers made to order. Also all kinds of Machinery repaired on the shortest
notice.
Remember the place, opposite the old City Hotel, corner of Adelaide and Bridge Streets.

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE.

EDMUND HOOPER,
Agent for the following first-class Companies
HAND IN HAND.....FIRE
NATIONAL.....LIFE
EQUITABLE.....LIFE

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been permanently cured of that dread disease, Consumption, by a simple remedy, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used, (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, &c.
Parties wishing the prescription will please
address,
Rev. E. A. WILSON,
194 Penn St., Williamsburgh, New York.
45-6 m.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured.
Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence,
JOHN B. OGDEN 49 Cedar St. New York.
45-6 m.

was at the time engaged with a number of gentlemen in friendly converse, had allowed this opportunity to pass, so that for the night and the balance of the trip he was literally without a place to rest either head or feet.

Up to the time of arrival at Kingston, about 1½ o'clock, a.m., the night was all that could be desired, a beautiful moon shining over-head, while the Bay was as tranquil as could possibly be, until the Lower Gap was reached, when the boat was tossed around considerably.
Searching for some secluded spot on board where the beauties of the Bay might be seen undisturbed, I made the circuit of the boat several times, without finding such a place, but at almost every turn was met by the sight of lovers, either with their heads pillowed on each other, or else pouring out tales of affection. Whilst "taking stock" of such sights as these, our eye fell upon one of our Napanea gentlemen who had found a retired place, and a seat beside a charming looking lass, with whom his conversation was so eager as not to notice our prying eyes were upon him. It is not our intention to be personal, but we would suggest to married ladies the propriety of accompanying their husbands on these long trips.

At Kingston, our already crowded boat, took on board a couple of hundred more passengers, and precisely at 5.15 we cast-off for Oswego, with about 800 passengers in all. The trip across was a rather rough one, and there were many on board who wished themselves off, fearing from their pallid countenances the way in which they were tossed around the deck. Nothing serious, however, occurred on the way over, there not being a disturbance of any kind, and but very few persons observable, on whom there were symptoms of drunkenness.

Oswego at last hove in sight about 10 o'clock, and by 10:30 we had moored alongside the dock, and the precious cargo was soon discharged. As the passengers commenced to go ashore a slight fall of rain commenced, but it was however, of short duration.

IN OSWEGO.

Having disembarked, the party betook themselves to sight-seeing, and scattered in all directions. The city was very handsomely decorated, every business house and private dwelling being literally covered with the "star spangled banner," while in a few places the dear old "flag that's braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze" was observable. The people themselves had put on holiday attire, and the frequent explosions of small cannon, &c., only gave vent to the loyalty animating their bosoms.

some time in advance to a large number of men. The building stands on the corner of Salina and Fayette Streets, and the part facing each street, although five stories high, was decorated from top to the bottom with flags, streamers, mottoes, stars, &c. On the top of the buildings was four bronzed eagles, with spread wings, holding in their talons such mottoes as "Proclaim Liberty though all the land." "Freedom for all," &c. The Onondago County Savings Bank was also gorgeously decorated, while just in front of it had been erected a large arch. Everywhere was conspicuous in large figures, 1776, 1876.

About 4 o'clock a very heavy rain storm set in, which continued till after six, so that the fire-works had to be postponed till the next evening. This was a source of regret to us, as we would not be able to remain to see them. The cost of the fire-works, got up expressly for the occasion, was $3,500, and you, dear reader, will readily understand what a sight they must have made.

As Syracuse is the terminus of a number of railways, it was estimated there was upwards of 50,000 strangers in the city on that day, and day following.

Up till 8 o'clock the next evening, the time was agreeably spent by myself and companions in calling upon old friends, with whom many pleasant recollection of by-gone days were raked up and hearty laughs enjoyed.

Being informed both in Napanea and on the boat that the Kincardine would not leave Oswego till about 10
p. m. Wednesday night, we waited in Syracuse till the last train left for Oswego, thinking we would be in time for the boat. On our arrival there, however, we were informed the boat had left about 6 p. m. As things afterwards turned out we were not at all sorry that this was the case,—or, at least, one of our party was not as on the trip over he had experienced the evil effects upon his stomach of being a lands-
man.

We took up our quarters at the Oswego Hotel, kept by Mr. Loomis, where we were made very comfortable, and in the morning took train for Watertown.

After a very tedious ride in an accommodation train we arrived in Watertown about 1 o'clock p. m., where we took dinner, and then set out to see what would be seen here.

Our treasury being somewhat depleted we were not long in finding friends who, after treating us in the manner the patriarchs of old did the traveller in the wilderness,—with true hospitality,—and having put scrip in our purse sent us on our way rejoicing.

We left Watertown about 4 o'clock, and on our arrival in Cape Vincent found the steamer Maud ready for a start for Kingston, where we were landed about 7 o'clock p. m., right glad to be once more on British soil.

Home was reached the next morning, where we were gladly welcomed by the anxious ones left behind.

AMERICUS.

It ager und reac fer asse mis ed t wee
T hith
the Soci an i by pur achi
Can D
of M ed batl oth best was wat thor que
E fell gro
Ira to t in a fall was wh
con
min
C Mei
tem
San sud
and cou
of t dro
T
acce
$5.
$26
84. por 832 dur was dur a fa
53.
T Pre offic
mer $20
of 1 clap inio 060 than crea list
new had mak last died

Express.

GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

($1 50 per annum)

THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1876.

[No. 18]

CANADIAN.

A young girl in Montreal was roughly handled by a scamp. She became hysterical, then insane, and is now imprisoned.

At Fenelon Falls during the gale on the 5th inst., a brick block of four shops in course of erection was blown down.

A boy named McEachren, 9 years old, was killed at Kirkfield on the 5th inst., by a falling tree.

The storm on the 5th inst., was very general over the country, and great damage was done to crops.

Three hundred and eleven boxes of cheese have been shipped to the great World's Fair from the counties of Oxford and Perth.

Jacob Rushton, of Ridgetown, got entangled in the machinery of a shingle mill on the 6th inst., and was killed before aid could be rendered.

A Brantford clergyman preached two sermons last Sunday, neither of which lasted longer than twenty minutes. It is not surprising that he is a popular preacher.

A young man aged 21 years, named Wm. Thomas James, has been arrested for setting fire to the premises of Mr. Malcolmson, St. Catharines. James is idiotic, and acknowledged the offence.

It is reported at Ottawa that France has admitted that all territorial rights on the shore of Newfoundland belong to great Britain, who undertakes to preserve law; while French fishermen are to be allowed to use the beach for drying fish.

It is reported in Montreal by members of the Irish Home Rule League, that Messrs. Butt, Q. C., M. P., and O'Connor Power, will visit this country in August, and have signified their intention of making a considerable sojourn in this city.

RIDGETOWN, July 6.—Yesterday Jacob Rushton, a young man living five miles north of this place, while putting on the main belt of a shingle mill, got his arm entangled, and in an instant it was torn from his body at the shoulder and thrown a distance of several feet. He died from loss of blood before the doctors arrived. Deceased leaves a wife and three small children.

The St. Catharines by-law, in reference to impounding stray animals, is said by sufferers to impose burdens grievous to be borne on the owners of the captured cattle. For every animal arrested the Chief of Police gets two dollars for the town treasury, and the pound-keeper another dollar, half of which he retains, and hands the other half to the town. Three dollars a head soon figures up when a drove is driven in, or when the solitary cow or horse repeatedly offends; but the amount will tend to cause the owners of animals to find a way to keep them off the streets.

AROUND HOME.

THE 12TH IN PICTON.—There was a grand demonstration in Picton on the 12th, of Orangemen and Young Britons. In addition to those from Picton and surrounding country, there was a large number from Belleville in the procession.

GOING TO ENLARGE.—The Municipal Council of the town of Picton intend to apply to the Governor in Council to have certain lands adjacent to the present limits added to the town, in other words the limits are to be enlarged. When this is accomplished what airs the Picton folks will put on!

MCQUILLAN.—James McQuillan, who is in goal in Belleville, charged killed are the Chief and Assistant engineers. Capt. Wilson was wounded, his hand was blown off. The Thunderer was making her trial trip on a measured mile in Stokes Bay. The vessel is now at Spithead."

A Reuter despatch from Portsmouth says that twenty-one persons were killed and sixty wounded by the explosion. Many of the wounded cannot recover.

A still later despatch from Portsmouth says it is feared that twenty-six were fatally wounded.

London, July 15.—The following is the latest from Portsmouth in regard to the Thunderer disaster:—Twenty-five of the crew are dead. The bodies were shockingly mutilated, the flesh being stripped from the limbs by the escaping steam. The forward stoke hole, where the explosion occurred, is divided from the after stoke hole by water tight bulkheads. The stokers in the latter were protected from the fragments caused by the explosion, but were literally boiled alive by the steam.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LORD DERBY DEFINES ENGLAND'S POSITION—A GENERAL WAR CONSIDERED IMPROBABLE.

(From Morning Papers.)

LONDON, July 14.—A Daily News Vienna despatch says:—"The authorities here are receiving petition of annexation to Austria from the Bosnian Catholics." The Mahomedan Boys have held a meeting and expressed

Jacob Rushton, of Ridgetown, got entangled in the machinery of a shingle mill on the 6th inst., and was killed before aid could be rendered.

A Brantford clergyman preached two sermons last Sunday, neither of which lasted longer than twenty minutes. It is not surprising that he is a popular preacher.

A young man aged 21 years, named Wm. Thomas James, has been arrested for setting fire to the premises of Mr. Malcolmson, St. Catharines. James is idiotic, and acknowledged the offence.

It is reported at Ottawa that France has admitted that all territorial rights on the shore of Newfoundland belong to Great Britain, who undertakes to preserve law; while French fishermen are to be allowed to use the beach for drying fish.

It is reported in Montreal by members of the Irish Home Rule League, that Messrs. Butt, Q. C., M. P., and O'Connor Power, will visit this country in August, and have signified their intention of making a considerable sojourn in this city.

THE FISH TRADE.—The Ottawa Citizen says: "A gentleman who arrived in the city this morning states that an immense fish trade has sprung up on the Intercolonial Railway since its opening. There was a thousand dollar cargo of fresh salmon for the Upper Province markets on the train by which he travelled."

Hon. Mr. Burpee has written a note to be forwarded to the Washington Government, through the British Ambassador, setting forth in full the Canadian case, with reference to reciprocal navigation of the canals and waters of both countries under the Washington Treaty.

It is expected that her Majesty's agent on the Fisheries Commission under the Washington Treaty will reach Halifax next Monday, and confer with the Hon. A. J. Smith about assembling the Commissioners. Commissioner Whitcher has been summoned to Halifax and left for there last week.

The French Protestants of Montreal hitherto maintaining a connection with the French Canadian Missionary Society, have formed themselves into an independent Church, judging that by assuming an unsectarian and purely national character they would achieve a larger success among French Canadian Roman Catholics.

DROWNED.—A twelve-year old son of Mr. Chaffe, of Chatham, was drowned at that place on the 6th inst., while bathing in the River Thames. Two other boys who were with him did their best to save him but failed. The body was recovered after having been in the water one half an hour. The coroner thought it unnecessary to hold an inquest.

HAMILTON, July 5.—The lad who fell dead while playing in the palace soon figures up whether a drove is driven in, or when the solitary cow or horse repeatedly offends; but the amount will tend to cause the owners of animals to find a way to keep them off the streets.

AROUND HOME.

THE 12TH IN PICTON.—There was a grand demonstration in Picton on the 12th, of Orangemen and Young Britons. In addition to those from Picton and surrounding country, there was a large number from Belleville in the procession.

GOING TO ENLARGE.—The Municipal Council of the town of Picton intend to apply to the Governor in Council to have certain lands adjacent to the present limits added to the town, in other words the limits are to be enlarged. When this is accomplished what airs the Picton folks will put on! eh!

MCQUILLAN.—James McQuillan, who is in gaol in Belleville, charged with the murder of his wife, and who some time ago tried several times in a fit of frenzy to take his own life, is now in a sound state of mind. He seems quiet and perfectly sane, much the same as on his entrance to the prison.

A VETERAN.—One of the men of "A" Battery, stationed at Kingston, Henry A. Montrose, who received an honorary discharge, was one of the Noble Six Hundred who took part in the memorable charge at Balacava. He had been wounded but was spared with 61 of his comrades to hear his name with theirs extolled for bravery. He now, as a civilian, is out of his element.

CHEAP FREIGHTS.—The Brockville Recorder says:—"Mr. Kearns, of the firm of Kearns & Marshall, goes up to Belleville to-day, to ship 1,000,000 feet of lumber purchased at that place for the American market. We understand that he has secured its transportation to Ogdensburg, for 75 cents per thousand, which we should judge was a rather cheap rate."

LOCATING.—The K. & P. Railway Board of Directors has given orders for the immediate locating of the line, as far as the Mississippi river, to which point the road is subsidized by Government. Delayed County bonus money and interest to the amount of $40,000 can be called for at once to supply the means of operation, and this section of the road may be completed is the latest from Portsmouth in regard to the Thunderer disaster:—Twenty-five of the crew are dead. The bodies were shockingly mutilated, the flesh being stripped from the limbs by the escaping steam. The forward stoke hole, where the explosion occurred, is divided from the after stoke hole by water tight bulkheads. The stokers in the latter were protected from the fragments caused by the explosion, but were literally boiled alive by the steam.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LORD DERBY DEFINES ENGLAND'S POSITION—A GENERAL WAR CONSIDERED IMPROBABLE.

(From Morning Papers.)

LONDON, July 14.—A Daily News Vienna despatch says:—"The authorities here are receiving petition of annexation to Austria from the Bosnian Catholics." The Mahomedan Boys have held a meeting and expressed their loyalty to the Porte, but agreed Austrian was preferable to Servian rule.

The Roumanian Chambers have held a secret sitting to consider a request of Russia to permit the passage of a large number of volunteers to Servia. The Telegraph has received a manifesto from Belgrade, signed by a number of Bosnians and Herzegovinians, asking for English sympathy.

VIENNA, July 14.—The Austrian Government has every reason to believe that the accounts of the Bulgarian atrocities are enormously exaggerated.

LONDON, July 14.—Lord Derby to-day received a deputation on the Eastern Question, consisting of 40 members of Parliament and 571 gentlemen from all parts of the Kingdom.

Mr. John Bright presented a memorial in favour of strict neutrality, except when it may be possible to interpose friendly offices to mitigate the horrors and to hasten the close of the conflict.

Lord Derby, in reply to Mr. Bright, acknowledged the importance of the deputation, and spoke in sympathy with its objects. He said that although he might not endorse the exact expression of the memorial, he agreed absolutely and entirely in its object. He had refused to adhere to the Berlin memorandum, because it was a compromise between the Powers who were desirous of acting together, yet not quite agreeing. He did not think, therefore, that a compromise would ultimately work. He felt sure that the Porte would not accept it, nor even the insurgents. The rendezvous of the fleet in Besika bay was not England's initiative, but of all the ambassadors at Constantinople who wanted to be armed against eventualities, and against under the Washington Treaty will reach Halifax next Monday, and confer with the Hon. A. J. Smith about assembling the Commissioners. Commissioner Whitchee has been summoned to Halifax and left for there last week.

The French Protestants of Montreal hitherto maintaining a connection with the French Canadian Missionary Society, have formed themselves into an independent Church, judging that by assuming an unsectarian and purely national character they would achieve a larger success among French Canadian Roman Catholics.

DROWNED.—A twelve-year old son of Mr. Chaffe, of Chatham, was drowned at that place on the 6th inst., while bathing in the River Thames. Two other boys who were with him did their best to save him but failed. The body was recovered after having been in the water one half an hour. The coroner thought it unnecessary to hold an inquest.

HAMILTON, July 5.—The lad who fell dead while playing in the palace grounds last night was named Edward Ira Richardson, and was an apprentice to the printing trade. He was running in a race at the time, and was seen to fall by his companions, but no notice was taken till the close of the race, when he was picked up in an insensible condition and died in three or four minutes.

CHEAPSIDE, July.—Yesterday while Messrs. Booth and Kinsley were attempting to cross the mouth of the Sandusky Creek in a buggy, the horse suddenly disappeared in a quicksand and was drowned before assistance could be rendered. Booth, the owner of the horse, had a narrow escape from drowning.

The revenue collected at Ottawa on account of excise for June was:—Spirits $5,720.29; tobacco, $2,342.70; malt, $269.75; liquors, $45.10; total $8,377.84. The customs duty collected on imports during the same month was $12,832.83. The total amount collected during the past year ending same date was $108,682.07; amount collected during the previous year $249,467.60; a falling off in the past year of $38,975.53.

THE VETERANS.—The Ottawa Free Press of the 3rd inst:—"To-day the officers of the Militia Department commenced sending away the cheques of $20 to each of the veterans of the war of 1812, who have established their claim to the gratuity voted by the Dominion Parliament. There are about 3,060 veterans all told, being 150 more than were paid last year. This increase is caused by additions to the list from remote districts where the news of the gratuity having been voted had not penetrated in time for them to make application last year. Since the last payment 120 veterans have died.

comrades to hear his name with theirs extolled for bravery. He now, as a civilian, is out of his element,

CHEAP FREIGHTS.—The Brockville Recorder says:—"Mr. Kearns, of the firm of Kearns & Marshall, goes up to Belleville to-day, to ship 1,000,000 feet of lumber purchased at that place for the American market. We understand that he has secured its transportation to Ogdensburg, for 75 cents per thousand, which we should judge was a rather cheap rate."

LOCATING.—The K. & P. Railway Board of Directors has given orders for the immediate locating of the line, as far as the Mississippi river, to which point the road is subsidized by Government. Delayed County bonus money and interest to the amount of $40,000 can be called for at once to supply the means of operation, and this section of the road may be completed this year. The preliminary surveys have been very thoroughly made.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—Kingston was again visited by the fire fiend on Tuesday evening last. Offord & Co's shoe factory, a very fine stone building, was completely demolished and by its destruction some 200 or 300 hands thrown out of employment. Very fortunately however it was confined to the factory. Had it gone beyond that the loss would have been a serious one. The insurance will amount to over $7,000.

THE GRAND JUNCTION.—The Council of the Township of Alnwick have submitted a By-law proposing a bonus of $4,000 to the Grand Junction. It will be voted upon on the 26th instant. The Hastings By-law for $5,000 will not be voted upon until the 22nd. Our western friends show in this practical manner a warm interest in the success of the road, which is worthy of imitation by the municipal body nearer home.

TERRIBLE DISASTER.

London, July 14.—The "Standard" publishes a special despatch from Portsmouth saying: "To-day one of the Thunderer's boilers exploded forward. Fifteen persons were killed and twenty wounded. Among the Question, consisting of 40 members of Parliament and 571 gentlemen from all parts of the Kingdom.

Mr. John Bright presented a memorial in favour of strict neutrality, except when it may be possible to interpose friendly offices to mitigate the horrors and to hasten the close of the conflict.

Lord Derby, in reply to Mr. Bright, acknowledged the importance of the deputation, and spoke in sympathy with its objects. He said that although he might not endorse the exact expression of the memorial, he agreed absolutely and entirely in its object. He had refused to adhere to the Berlin memorandum, because it was a compromise between the Powers who were desirous of acting together, yet not quite agreeing. He did not think, therefore, that a compromise would ultimately work. He felt sure that the Porte would not accept it, nor even the insurgents. The rendezvous of the fleet in Besikia bay was not England's initiative, but of all the ambassadors at Constantinople who wanted to be armed against eventualities, and against a massacre of British and other subjects. So far as human foresight could discern a general war was most unlikely to result from the present conflict. France and Italy for financial and other reasons do not desire war. Germany has no direct interest in the question. England will not make war, and Austria, though peculiarly placed, will not break the peace for reasons of self-interest. A powerful party in Russia sympathizes with the Slavonians, and desires the erection of a Slavonic empire under Russian guidance and influence, but that party is not in power. The Czar is a sincere lover of peace, and Russia has other reasons, her finances and the extent of her Asiatic conquests, for not wishing war. The understanding reached at Reichstadt was on the basis of absolute non-interference during the conflict, not excluding efforts in favour of peace; but if any steps should be taken they would be in concert with all the Powers. England's endeavour is to keep the conflict within its present limits, and to impress that view upon others. Lord Derby said he had no doubt of England's success and continued: "All we desire is to see a fair play. If Turkey is destroyed, we cannot help it. We have guaranteed Turkey against murder, but not against suicide or sudden death. If the opportunity of mediation offers, which opportunity may even now be at hand, we shall avail ourselves of it."

Lord Derby afterwards received a deputation of the Christian League on the same subject which was introduced by Mr. Morley, and Earl Russell's memorial was read.

Lord Derby severely criticized their memorial, though in the main he sympathized with their objects. In regard to the reported atrocities, he said that doubtless both sides committed

Farm & Fireside

[For the EXPRESS.

SUNRISE.

The sunrise fills the eastern hills
With its glittering rays outspread,
And now is seen its silvery sheen
On the fleecy clouds o'erhead.

The stars shine pale above the vale
Before the sun's rays fading,
And in the west a crimson crest
The murky sky is shading.

The bird's blithe note is heard afloat,
From quiet grove a-flowing,
And, from the still and distant hill,
Is heard the cock's shrill crowing.

Bedecked with dew the meadow too,
A field of gems is seeming,
While, clear and bright, a ray of light
From every drop is streaming.

And rising high in the eastern sky
The sun his way is moving;
And thus each day he takes his way,
New life to nature giving.

GOOD WASHING FLUID.

Some time ago I saw a recipe for making old pantaloons look like new. The lady who gave the information, said it took her one hour. It took me about half of that time, and the pantaloons were very dirty. I took a press-board—any board will do—placed it inside the legs, then took the scrubbing-brush, and with the help of a little washing fluid, that we make, and a hot flat-iron to dry with, they were soon ready to wear again, and looked nearly as good as new.

Here is a recipe for the Washing-Fluid:—Take 1 pound soda ash, a piece of unslacked lime about the size of a tea-cup and $\frac{1}{2}$ gallon of soft water. Place them in a kettle, and boil about fifteen minutes; take off the stove, then add $\frac{1}{2}$ gallon more water, let it stand, then skim. After it has thoroughly settled, turn it carefully into a jug, allow none of the settlings to escape; then add one gallon more of soft water to what remains in the kettle, let it stand for a short time, then turn this also into the jug, and you have two gallons of washing fluid at a cost of about ten cents. Soak the clothes over night in clear water, then to a boiler of water add one tea-cup of fluid, and slice thin about two ounces of soap, let this thoroughly dissolve in the warm water, by rubbing a little, and a whatever that may be, whether for heavy or light work, whether for pleasure or profit. For this there are different dispositions and characteristics. All this must be taken into careful consideration.

It will thus be seen that to teach our animals especially our horses, is a science. Yet, what recklessness do we see! It is properly termed "breaking" horses. And the principle is too largely extended to all our stock. Kind treatment is food; it is prolongation of life and of usefulness; it is increased efficiency, and contributes to the pleasure both of the man and beast.

FRUIT TREE TRIMMING.

Of all the blunders, says the Gardener's Monthly, that the common farmer and some others make with trees, none is so common or so hurtful, and which he is so long finding out and of which he might know so certainly, as the practice of cutting off lower limbs. All over the country nothing is more common than to see mutilated trees on almost every farm. Big limbs cut off near the body of the tree, and of course rotting to the heart. This is a great sin against nature. The very limbs necessary to protect the tree from wind and sun, and just where limbs are needed most, and are cut away. But the greatest injury is the rotting that always takes place when a big limb is sawed off—too big to heal over, it must rot, and being kept moist by the growing tree, is in the right condition to rot, and being on the body, the rotting goes to the heart and hurts the whole tree. It is common all over the country to see large orchards mutilated in this way. We often see holes in the trees where big limbs have been cut away, where squirrels and even raccoons could crawl in. Perhaps the only reason these trimmers would give is that lower limbs were easiest got at, and some would say they wanted to raise a crop under the tree.

TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF COARSE HAY.

The nutritive value of bog hay, prairie hay, or salt marsh hay may be greatly increased, with a clear profit to the farmer, by adding, at a trifling cost, a small proportion of other feeds containing more of the albuminoids. The

MEAGHER

ARE SHOWING THIS

THE CONTENTS OF

OF

GENTS' AND BOYS' F

HATS &

COMPRISING ALL

LATEST STYLES, BOTH ENGL

50 DIFFERENT

AND OVER 1,000 TO (C

[FROM 75 CTS.,]

THE CHEAPEST PLACE IN T GROCERY

—IS 'AT—

ASHLEY &

McMullen Block Opposite t

—:O:—

THE BEST BR

TEAS,

SUGARS,

MARKED AT FEARFULLY

WHY? BECAUSE THEY ARE

—:O:—

BOOTS AND SHOES, FAI

Call and see for y

A quantity of American Water Lime &

A

NEW GOODS AT

LARGER PREMISES AND

Subscriber having just returned from Montreal, stock of goods, would now inform the public t

DRY GOODS, CROCKERY & GLASSWARE, G

soon ready to wear again, and looked nearly as good as new.

Here is a recipe for the Washing-Fluid:—Take 1 pound soda ash, a piece of unslacked lime about the size of a tea-cup and $\frac{1}{2}$ gallon of soft water. Place them in a kettle, and boil about fifteen minutes; take off the stove, then add $\frac{1}{2}$ gallon more water, let it stand, then skim. After it has thoroughly settled, turn it carefully into a jug, allow none of the settlings to escape; then add one gallon more of soft water to what remains in the kettle, let it stand for a short time, then turn this also into the jug, and you have two gallons of washing fluid at a cost of about ten cents. Soak the clothes over night in clear water, then to a boiler of water add one tea-cup of fluid, and slice thin about two ounces of soap, let this thoroughly dissolve in the warm water, by rubbing a little, and a little soap on the dirty places. We do a washing for five in about two hours that used to take from half to two-thirds of a day. The clothes should be thoroughly rinsed.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS.

The brute is not given to reflection; he receives impressions. As these are few, compared with the thoughts of man, they are easily remembered. And every man who has ever given the thought attention knows well that the brute has a good memory; nothing seems to escape him. Here then is a chance for direction. By correct treatment, you cause him to know only what is correct; he will remember nothing else. But treated to error, he will remember that. All the impressions you make upon him, influence you him, and him, he is influenced by nothing else. If you show yourself kind to him, yet resoluteness will decide him; he will own you willingly and readily as a master. But contradict yourself to him and you will puzzle him; he will not know what to make of it; he will be uncertain, on the hint for a balk. Of all things avoid this, as it is sure to embarrass and prevent a clear course from being known.

This leads us to the next thought—give as few impressions as possible in the necessary training. The less that is to be remembered the clearer is the way. There should be no confusion if you would secure promptness and an unerring reliance.

In this way your animal becomes a machine, as certainly obedient as one of material construction. So you want and being on the body, the rotting goes to the heart and hurts the whole tree. It is common all over the country to see large orchards mutilated in this way. We often see holes in the trees where big limbs have been cut away, where squirrels and even raccoons could crawl in. Perhaps the only reason these trimmers would give is that lower limbs were easiest got at, and some would say they wanted to raise a crop under the tree.

TO IMPROVE THE QUALITY OF COARSE HAY.

The nutritive value of bog hay, prairie hay, or salt marsh hay may be greatly increased, with a clear profit to the farmer, by adding, at a trifling cost, a small proportion of other feeds containing more of the albuminoids. The latter by rendering coarse hay more digestible, make it also more nutritious.

If, for example, a farmer who has a ton of bog hay, worth perhaps five or six dollars, will judiciously add 250 lbs. of concentrated feed, costing four or five dollars, the value of the hay may be increased to twenty dollars or more. This principal is clearly illustrated in the following combination, which has been successfully tried:—

Corn meal, 100 lbs.; rye meal, 40 lbs.; oil cake (or cotton seed cake), 50 lbs.; bean meal, 50 lbs.; bog hay (cut and steamed), 2,000 lbs.—2,500 lbs.

The total cost of the above should not exceed ten or twelve dollars, while the feeding value would be twenty-five or thirty dollars. In some cases the difference is greater than this,

The following statement made by Mr. A. B. Allen to Prof. Atwater, in the Agriculturist, corresponds to the above and confirms it. Referring to the statement that 267 lbs. of average cotton-seed meal, costing, say, $5.34, would make a ton of early cut bog hay, of average composition, about equal in nutritive value to a ton of the best upland hay, he says, "Now the latter is worth $40 per ton on my farm at Tom's River, N. J., while the former, cut from my own meadows, cost me not over $5—difference I save in $35. I suspected this some time ago, and in the autumn of 1874 I commenced feeding my bog hay, and I didn't see but the cows gave just as much milk, and make just as much butter and that the horses look as well and do as much work, with the same ease as when feed good upland hay. But I have lessened the quantity of cotton-seed meal given

THE BEST BR.
TEAS, SUGARS,
MARKED AT FEARFULLY
WHY? BECAUSE THEY ARE
BOOTS AND SHOES, FAI
Call and see for y
A quantity of American Water Lime & A

NEW GOODS AT

LARGER PREMISES AND

Subscriber having just returned from Montreal, stock of goods, would now inform the public

DRY GOODS, CROCKERY & GLASSWARE, READY MADE CLOTHING,

Having removed into more extensive premises, adjacent prepared to accommodate

If you want cheap bargains, and valuable goods com

Mill Point, May 8th, 1876.

S P E C I

We have now on hand a Large and

HARVEST

Which we are off

PRICES TO MEET

Our stock is comp

GRASS SCYTHES,	CRAI
SCYTHE SNATHS,	GRAI
HAND RAKES,	REVO
HAY FORKS,	STRA
BARLEY FORKS,	GRIN
HORSE HAY FORKS,	GRIN
MANILLA ROPE,	FORI
SCYTHES,	STON

We also call particular attention to our st West Virginia Oil, Extra Machine Oil, Stear PRICES.

We have been appointed Agen

ARCHER SULKY

Which is without any doubt the best Sulky the only SELF-DISCHARGING RAKE, op springs.

ANOTHER TUMBLE DOWN II

The brute is not given to reflection; he receives impressions. As these are few, compared with the thoughts of man, they are easily remembered. And every man who has ever given the thought attention knows well that the brute has a good memory; nothing seems to escape him. Here then is a chance for direction. By correct treatment, you cause him to know only what is correct; he will remember nothing else. But treated to error, he will remember that. All the impressions you make upon him, influence you him, and him, he is influenced by nothing else. If, show yourself kind to him, yet resoluteness will decide him; he will own you willingly and readily as a master. But contradict yourself to him and you will puzzle him; he will not know what to make of it; he will be uncertain, on the hint for a balk. Of all things avoid this, as it is sure to embarrass and prevent a clear course from being known.

This leads us to the next thought—give as few impressions as possible in the necessary training. The less that is to be remembered the clearer is the way. There should be no confusion if you would secure promptness and an unerring reliance.

In this way your animal becomes a machine, as certainly obedient as one of material construction. So you want your horse, your working cattle, and not less does the cow need kind attention. She will thrive by being petted. The maternal instinct is touched by gentleness, and will yield increased quantities of milk. So will the hen lay the better, when made comfortable. Your sheep, and even the swine, are better for kind treatment. Your dog responds to faithfulness. In a word, it is with the brute as it is with man; kindness has power, and it is the lever to work with, but must go with decision; two must harmonize. Only in this way can the dominant law of repugnance be overcome and tractability established. This is a principle that cannot be ignored. It underlies all our success in brute training, of whatever kind, but particularly as applied to the motive power on the farm. This secured, the rest is less difficult. It only needs judgment to see, and care in carrying out—in making just what is wanted. Hence there is no model to be sought aid may be obtained by consulting good authorities, or applying to practical men who have a record of success. The point is to make of your animal what you want him for,

be increased to twenty dollars or more. This principle is clearly illustrated in the following combination, which has been successfully tried:—

Corn meal, 100 lbs; rye meal, 40 lbs; oil cak (or cotton seed cake), 50 lbs.; bean meal, 50 lbs.; bog hay (cut and steamed), 2,000 lbs.—2,500 lbs.

The total cost of the above should not exceed ten or twelve dollars, while the feeding value would be twenty-five or thirty dollars. In some cases the difference is greater than this.

The following statement made by Mr. A. B. Allen to Prof. Atwater, in the Agriulturist, corresponds to the above and confirms it. Referring to the statement that 267 lbs. of average cotton-seed meal, costing, say, $5.34, would make a ton of early cut bog hay, of average composition, about equal in nutritive value to a ton of the best upland hay, he says, "Now the latter is worth $40 per ton on my farm at Tom's River, N. J., while the former, cut from my own meadows, cost me not over $5—difference I save in $35. I suspected this some time ago, and in the autumn of 1874] commenced feeding my bog hay, and I didnt see but the cows gave just as much milk, and make just as much butter and that the horses look as well and do as much work, with the same ease as when feed good upland hay. But I have lessened the quantity of cotton-seed meal given above, and sstitute for this a mixture of wheat bran and Indian meal—these three costing as much as the cotton-seed alone. I find it better to vary the feed. Thus, you see, that like the Mr. W. referred to, I also corroborate the German experiments." Mr. Allen likewise fully endorses the view of Mr. Harrs, as to the high value of corn-meal for mixing with coarse foods.

Common itch is caused by a microscopic insect eating into the skin. Cover the part with sweet oil, and the disease is cured; as the insect breathes through its skin, the oil plugs up the pores and death suffers from suffocation. The mildew of plants is destroyed by sprinkling over them a mixture of two-third water and one third molasses; the water evaporates and leaves a thin film of sugar and varnish, which stops up the lungs of the plant and would die in a few days if the rain did not wash it off. A child was covered with gold-leaf for a public occasion, but came so near dying in a few hours, that the authorities ordered its removal so nearly alike are plants, animals, and man.

S F E C I

We have now on hand a Large and

HARVEST

Which we are offe

PRICES TO MEET

Our stock is comp

GRASS SCYTHES,	CRAD
SCYTHE SNATHS,	GRAI
HAND RAKES,	REVC
HAY FORKS,	STRA
BARLEY FORKS,	GRIN
HORSE HAY FORKS,	GRIN
MANILLA ROPE,	FORE
SCYTHES,	STON

We also call particular attention to our st
West Virginia Oil, Extra Machine Oil, Steam
PRICES.

We have been appointed Agent

ARCHER SULKY

Which is without any doubt the best Sulky
